To gain beauty we need to love beauty, to grow an appreciation for it in our souls. We need to see and feel the beauty of sky and field and wood and to absorb something of the grandeur and bigness of Nature. One does not need to wait for summer to see beauty. Go out now and look at an evergreen tree, decked out with balls of soft white snow, or at the white birch stretching out her gleaming arms in sharp contrast to the neighbouring pine; or at the interlacing branches of an elm or a willow, forming patterns of delicate lace against the deep blue of the winter's sky, or at the bare branches of marsh shrubbery, gleaming with deep orange and copper tints against the white background of snow.

"Three years she grew in sun and shower,
Then Nature said, 'A lovelier flower on earth was never sown;
This child I to myself will take:
She shall be mine, and I will make
A lady of my own'."

He then goes on to enumerate the characteristics she is to acquire from her understanding of Nature. She will have the sprightliness of the fawn; the silence and calm of insensate things; the stateliness of floating clouds; the gracefulness of bending willows or motions of a storm and from the dancing rivulets: "Beauty born of murmuring sound shall pass into her face."

In reading articles on facial beauty, it is noticeable that the writers almost invariably talk of the influence of character in adding to or detracting from beauty, before they mention the aids of the Beauty Shop. Happiness is one of the most valuable aids to beauty, and that is the one thing we so often feel we cannot have, yet it, too, is taught by Nature. As one writer has tritely remarked: "Flowers and birds are always bright and happy. The lily of the valley is not unhappy because she isn't a rose. She quietly does her bit and is satisfied in being her own sweet self. The robin is not unhappy because he is not as brilliant as the oriole. He keeps cheery and wastes no time in discontent. Busy people are usually happy." The same writer goes on to quote these two bits of verse which have so much truth in them and are so apropos of the subject in hand. I cannot resist quoting them:

"Two neighbours were talking. One said:
I haven't the time to list to a bird or stoop to the touch of a flower,
My days are so full of drudge-away work I need every minute and hour;'
So she bent to her task with a frown on her face, and worried and fretted along;
And she looked distressed as the work progressed, for she worked without beauty or song.'
But the other one said:
'No matter how busy my day may be, no matter how weary my feet,
There is always a minute that I can spare, to look for a bird's retreat,
To pull a weed that is choking a bloom, and drink of the fragrance rare—
Oh, never was day so burdened with work there was no such moment to spare.'
So she went to her task with a smile on her face, while her work moved merrily on;
And her face grew bright as her tasks grew light, for she worked with both beauty and song.'"

"Nobody likes a whiner" are words that should be ground into our memories with a keen edge to prevent all tendencies to self-pity and an airing of our woes. The best safe-guard against these mouth-drooping characteristics are a sense of humor and enthusiasm. Keep your willingness to laugh not only at the truly funny happenings of life, but at yourself and your grouches and you'll find the corners of your mouth turning up and not down. Be enthusiastic. Don't become bored or jaded. A bored person soon gets dull, heavy eyes, but enthusiasm lights the eyes as with a candle. Cultivate animation. It does not come naturally to every one, but it can be acquired. Lack of animation and enthusiasm are apt to make one look old. "Pep," the youth of to-day calls it, and it seems an apt word to suggest the overflowing energy of good health, with its consequent good-humour and nimble wits. And what is the result of these things in the facial expression? Brightness, a merry eye, a smiling mouth and half the battle for beauty won. Nothing shows more plainly in the face than discontent.

To attain animation one must strike a happy medium as in all other things. It would not do to make the mistake of going about with a smile apparently frozen on the face, or we would be like the Cheshire cat who left his grin even when his head disappeared. There is a time for gaiety, a time for sweetness and sympathy. If we study human nature we will soon be so interested in the needs of others that the right thoughts and actions will come, and the deepening of understanding will show in the expression.

Rest is an important factor in the race for beauty and the preservation of youth, for the last seems to go hand in hand with the first. When you rest, relax every muscle in your body. Do not think worrying thoughts, and when night comes go to sleep with thoughts of beautiful things in your mind and heart. One cannot gain beauty of face by consciously striving to show beauty of character, but if one possesses the latter, then all the beauty of purity and unselfishness will slip into the features all unawares to the owner. Here's another rhyme that appeared in a paper a short time ago, copied from an old clipping from "Punch" and one that should be memorized by every women.

"And they ought to know that beauty lies far deeper than the skin,
That the features are the creatures of the soul that works within.
Are your thoughts severe and critical?
Your cuticle gets dry,
And it crinkles into wrinkles and the lustre leaves your eye;
Vulgar spite and petty scandal play
the mischief with your hair,
Make your forehead dry and horrid and your temples bald and bare.,

Would you boast the bloom of peaches,
let your soul be pure within!
To be truthful keeps you youthful and it lubricates the skin;
If your locks are growing thinnish,
study poetry with care,
Read Othello and Sordello—they are matchless for the hair!"

Good health is the foundation of good looks, and good health is often dependent on diet. Every person should study the effects of certain foods on their own body and avoid the foods they find too fattening. Plenty of exercise in the fresh air should be taken. Many housewives think they get more than enough exercise, but they discount fresh air and sunshine. Let some of the numerous household duties slide and get out every day if even for a brief period. Walk and snowshoe and skate and soon you will notice a decided improvement in your looks and health.

There is always something beautiful about youth, but as the days and years slip by it should be our aim to carry something with us that will make middle age and old age beautiful too. In autumn the freshness of spring is gone, but to many the beauty of autumn is even greater than that of spring. So it should be with life. The passing of the years should leave us mellowed and sweetened by experience, with the hard angles rubbed off and intolerance wiped away. Long years of thinking beautiful thoughts cannot help but leave their imprint on the face and voice. Let us strive to do as Karle Wilson Baker says, in his verse, "Growing Old:"

"Let me grow lovely growing old—
So many fine things do;
Laces and ivory and gold,
And silks need not be new,
And there is healing in old trees,
Old streets a glamor hold,

THEATRE

AT THE REGENT

AUTO RACES TRAIN TO CROSSING; WINS BY NARROW MARGIN.

It looks good on the screen and it thrills all who see it, but to Priscilla Dean this business of racing a transcontinental train to a railroad crossing is spine-tingling (and breath-taking, to say the least.

In "The Speeding Venus" her latest Metropolitan star picture which comes to the Regent Theatre for 3 days, beginning to-day, Priscilla is obliged to do just that thing and no extra or double was there to substitute for her either. This is haps one of the most delicate scenes to take for a motion picture as it requires a steady nerve on the part of the automobile driver and excellent timing as well.

Miss Dean made certain that there would be no mistake and it goes without saying that she did her work so well that there was no necessity for "shooting" the stunt all over again.

"The Speeding Venus" concerns a new invention—a gearless motor, which is stolen by a rascal. Priscilla is obliged to drive an automobile across country from Detroit to California to balk the villains plans and meets many obstacles—villains, washouts, mud and sand before she reaches the home of oranges, lemons and prunes, the victor in a most gruelling race.

AT THE CAPITOL

"MARE NOSTRUM" WAS PRODUCED ABROAD

Rex Ingram Travelled More Than 10,000 Miles During Filming of Picture

Almost every known means of transportation was utilized during this time, including ocean liners, sailing vessels, motor boats, submarines, railroads, motor caravans, oxen carts, pack trains and incline railways.

This famous Blasco Ibanez story was filmed on the original locations described by the author in France, Italy and Spain. Interiors were made at the Ingram studio near Nice, France.

Among the cities and towns in which Ingram and his company worked were Pares, Nice, Mentone, Monte-Carlo, Cannes, Marseilles, Huan les Pins, Cagnes, Villefranche, Fregus, Peille, Barcelona, Cape Nao, Madrid, Naples, Pompeii, Peastum and numerous other smaller towns along the Mediterranean Coast.

One of the most difficult and at the same time interesting trips was to Pompeii and Paestum in Southern Italy, where the scenes for 'Mare Nostrum' were filmed among the ancient ruins. The trip from Pompeii to Paestum was made by motor caravan through the dreaded malaria district, and later oxen cars were used to transport the cameras and equipment on the actual locations.

Alice Terry and Antonio Moreno have the leading roles in "Mare Nostrum" and made all the trips with Mr. Ingram and the company.

OUTLINE OF SCIENCE

CXV—Invented on the Spur of the Moment

by MAX HAHN

THE INVENTION OF THE BAYONET IS CREDITED IN POPULAR HISTORY TO THE QUICK THINKING OF A SOLDIER WHEN FACING DEATH. THIS LEGEND SAYS A FEW SOLDIERS WERE TRAPPED BY THE ENEMY NEAR BAYONNE, FRANCE, IN 1647.

ALTHOUGH THE ENEMY OUTNUMBERED THE HANDFUL OF DEFENDERS, THE BATTLE WAS EVEN UNTIL AMMUNITION BEGAN TO GIVE OUT AND THE ATTACKERS CLOSED IN.

MENACED BY DEATH, ONE OF THE TRAPPED MEN CONCEIVED THE IDEA OF STICKING HIS DAGGER HANDLE IN HIS MUSKET. HIS COMPANIONS QUICKLY FOLLOWED HIS LEAD.

THUS ARMED, THE LITTLE GROUP DEFEATED THE ATTACKERS AND THE DAGGER USED ON A MUSKET WAS RENAMED A BAYONET, IN HONOR OF BAYONNE.

SHORT STORY

THE FORTUNATE ACCIDENT

(By Jane Osborn.)

Martha was preoccupied as she drove home from the office that Saturday afternoon. For Martha, who had been driving her little car only six months, it was quite necessary to concentrate all attention on the road ahead and the gears before her. But Martha was thinking of Samuel Stevens. Samuel Stevens was the youngest of the young lawyers who frequented the old law offices at which Martha was employed as stenographer. Samuel had a rambling sort of gait and no knack at dressing. Not a very favorable presence for a lawyer, but with the rare ability that indicates success.

That morning Samuel had somewhat falteringly asked Martha to go to an important football game that afternoon, and with her dainty head held rather high Martha had declined the invitation. Samuel, looking decidedly hurt and embarassed, had mumbled out something to the effect that he has only asked her because he happened to hav the tickets and it seemed a shame to waste them.

Martha felt a species of annoyance at this rather ungallant speech of his. Also she felt annoyance with herself for having declined the invitation so heartlessly. Driving home, as she saw the cars bearing toward her carrying overcoated men and fur clad women obviously going to the great game, she felt a quick eagerness to be one of them. She saw again the confused, hurt expression on Samuel's plain face. But she did not see approaching behind her on the car track to the left the "fast line trolley." Her mirror reflected the trolley well enough but Molly was too preoccupied with thoughts of Samuel to look at that important little reflector. Then suddenly she did see ahead of her a break in the pavement. There was not time to stop—for she was all but upon the break in the pavement before she saw it. A sharp turn to the left occurred to her as the best way out of her difficulty and as she turned she chanced to look at the mirror and there bearing heavily and rapidly upon her at the back was the enormous dark form of the fast-line trolley.

Martha put on her brake quickly, felt a sickening jolt, heard breaking glass and grating metal and then shut her eyes and waited. When she opend them in a second the peril seemed to have passed but she trembled on the verge of fainting and dared not slip from her seat.

"I couldn't stop on a ten cent piece," the motorman told her. "What the blazes did you think I was going to do?"

"I didn't expect you to do anything," Martha said with tears in her eyes. "But I'm very much obliged to you for doing what you did." Meantime strong-armed men were shoving and lifting her little car away from the front of the trolley. "Window's broken and she's kind of stove in," remarked one man with a grin, "but I guess she'll go. Pool's luck—ain't it?" And the conductor none too courteously was asking Martha to produce her license.

Then Martha felt a strong steady hand upon her arm. "Excuse me," said a clear voice beside her, "but I happen to be this lady's lawyer." Martha looked and saw the calm, strong face of Samuel Stevens. He seated her again at the wheel, took the number of the trolley car and in parting shook hands with the motorman. He had been going home on the trolley when the accident occurred—not caring to go to the game without her.

Passengers piled back into the trolley which was soon rolling rapidly on. Then Martha pressed forward her own light car and breathed a sigh of relief to know that Samuel was at her side.

"I saw it all," said he, "and have the names of witnesses. The trolley wasn't even scratched but there's about a hundred dollars worth of damage all told to your car. Fault of the county round should have been repaired or barred. They'll settle. I'll attend to that. Of course you ought not to have turned to the left that way."

"I know it," said Martha. "but wasn't thinking—that is I wasn't thinking of the road or anything. I was just thinking of you." Then suddenly Martha felt very weak and exhausted. She drew her car to the right out of traffic and stopped. "I can't drive any more just now," she said, and then she felt the enormous satisfaction of resting her head against Samuel's shoulder and shedding tears on his rough coat—while without the slightest hesitation or embarassment Samuel's strong arm encircled her. "Don't cry, Martha dear," he was saying. "You've been so good to me," said Martha, "and I was so horrid."

"I've only done what any man would have done for—for any woman," said Samuel. "But I wish I could have done a lot more. Because I love you. I ought not to tell you, perhaps, but God knows how I ard it is not to."

Martha, forgetting that it was still broad daylight and that they were on a busy highway, bent over toward Samuel, turned his face to her with her hands and kissed him. "Samuel, dearest, I love you, love you, love you."

Samuel told Martha she was an angel and that he was the happiest man in the world and no doubt he was. Then taking the wheel seat he said he would hurry her home.

"But I don't want to go home," said Martha. "I want to go to the game. And now that we're engaged we ought to celebrate."

NOTE Every Contestant Who Solves 6 or More Words of the Above Puzzle Correctly Will Receive an Immediate Award in Addition to any Prize They May Win.

THE PUZZLE EXPLAINED

Mrs. Astor is making a remark that seems to amuse her maid, Pauline. The remark is witty and very clever and also contains a truth that thousands of women have discovered. Can you solve Mrs. Astor's remark?

There are 11 words in the remark, each group of numbers represents a word. Number the alphabet from A to Z. A is No. 1, B-2, C-3, and so on. The first word is "NEXT". It is properly spelt. The first letter of the remaining words is in its proper place, but the remaining letters are misplaced.

Salvage

THE chair is empty. The man is gone—gone on that long journey from which there is no return.

And with him has gone the vitality—the spirit—the prestige—he gave to the business. His passing means immediate—it may be irreparable—financial loss to the concern whose destinies he controlled.

Months—perhaps years—must elapse before another man of equal strength can be found to fill the vacant chair. In the meantime the stability of the concern will be threatened by turmoil, loss of business, tightening of credit and other ills—ills which the inflow of a substantial amount of ready money would largely obviate.

Business Life Assurance is designed to meet this and other contingencies which—sooner or later—arise in every business.

You insure your business against possible loss by fire. Surely life assurance should also be carried on the lives of your partners or valuable officials.

Fire is only a possibility—death is inevitable.

This Company has given special attention to the subject of life assurance for business protection and has been privileged to serve many of Canada's most prominent concerns in this connection.

Some of the knowledge acquired during many years' study of the application of Business Life Assurance has been embodied in an interesting booklet on the subject. We'll gladly mail you a copy if you send us your name and address. There's no obligation involved.

Loosen Up That Cold With Musterole

Have Musterole handy when a cold starts. It has all of the advantages of grandmother's mustard plaster, without the burn. You feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief.

Made of pure oil of mustard and other simple ingredients, Musterole is recommended by many nurses and doctors. Try Musterole for bronchitis, sore throat, stiff neck, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, croup, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back or joints, sore muscles, sprains, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest. It may prevent pneumonia and "flu."

Waterworks Department

The total revenue from all sources was $126,749.21, being a decrease of $1,703.74 as compared with the revenue for the previous year. The reduction in water rates which came into effect on July 1st, 1926, decreased the revenue considerably but this decrease was to some extent offset by additional revenues received from new services laid and additional fixtures installed.

The actual operation and maintenance costs, exclusive of interest, sinking fund and depreciation charges for the year were $43,175.19, being a decrease of $2,560.24 over 1925. During the year $7,728.06 was spent on capital construction of mains and services. Total disbursements for the year amounted to $115,881.40 and the net surplus was $10,867.81, an increase of $106.92 over the previous year. The revenue of this department is derived from four sources, from dam for power purposes $2,000; from waterworks dwellings $577.86; from water consumers $121,881.98 and from frontage rates $2,289.37. The surplus is derived from rent from dam, $200.00; from waterworks dwellings $577.86, and surplus from water consumers, $8,289.95.

FEIRS MILL SOLD; ESTABLISHED IN 1852

OMEMEE, Feb. 28.—Over three-quarters of a century ago, when our forbears were pioneering Old Ontario, there settled in the township of Ops, in Victoria County, a miller, Alexander Feir by name, and his wife. His object was to establish, on Pigeon Creek, mills for the accommodation of a quickly populating country.

One can picture the young couple travelling by wagon, on which were piled all their earthly possessions, pausing at the top of the last long hill to look out over the beautiful valley of the Pigeon Creek, the beauty of the picture thrilling their souls and the promise of it elating their minds. Yet, ere they pressed on down the ribbon of road into their land of promise, it seems natural to suppose their eyes turned back to the end of the long road over which they had come, where loved ones would be lonely, so that their mounting anticipations would be tempered by the memory.

Mr. Feir was not the first owner. An old settler named James Cunningham had built a cabin and begun clearing the land which the miller had bought from him.

Mrs. Feir was wont to tell in later years, how as she sat on the stump of a tree near the cabin door that first day waiting for a fire to be made, an old settler came to her and said, "Well, Mrs. Feir, it's a mighty purty creek." This, she maintained, had been told her continually all through the years.

Building operations were soon under way. The dam and mills took form. A new cosy log house was built, and the real business of living begun. Think of the lack of tools that handicapped these stern old builders; yet what solid buildings they put up.

As the family grew, "lean to's" were added, until, when completed, it had the appearance of having been bodily transplanted from Ireland. There were nine children: two girls and seven boys. As they grew up a sawmill and shingle mill were added to the grist mill. A blacksmith shop was built and an adoining farm bought.

The blacksmith shop became the centre for a large group of neighboring boys to spend the long evenings. One can picture these youths gathering around the roaring fire, the kindly chaff and merry songs, the castles in Spain that grew out of the dancing sparks. One is halted here by the certain knowledge that some of these dreamers were called from this life before they had time to realize materially their castle of Spain, or saw it fall to ashes.

There was such a happy neighborhood of much coming and going among the families. It is said that the "Feir" table was never laid without its extra place for the possible stranger.

The years flew by. The family was scattered. The old lady and gentleman at a ripe old age passed on to a new life of service, leaving behind them a splendid monument of honorable service to the community.

John Feir, who owned the neighboring farm, took over the mills for some years. Later Isaiah Feir, who was living in Peterborough, had an accident which left him unable to continue his work there, so he took over the mills. He built a new grist mill and rejuvenated the saw mill. For twelve years, he carried on a splendid business there, but cruel misfortune and the piling up of years have forced him to sell "Feir's Mills" to strangers.

Yet, the community have voiced the opinion that for many years to come, the place will continue to be called "Feir's Mills."

Before leaving the old homestead, their many friends and neighbors presented Mr. Feir with a gold watch and chain, and his daughter, Miss Ruby, with a club bag, and on behalf of Ops School Mr. Fair was the recipient of a club bag in return for the gift of an organ to the school. The presentations were made in Reaboro Community Hall, where a full evening's programme was enjoyed.

Mr. Feir and Miss Ruby are making their home with his daughter, Mrs. R. H. Johnston of Omemee, for the present.

TRENT RIVER NEWS.

TRENT RIVER, Feb. 28 — The L.O.B.A. held a successful euchre and dance at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Brown, West Seymour, on Wednesday night instead of Friday night as advertised. The weather was ideal and the roads were in first class condition for many to attend from a distance. Eighteen tables of euchre were played, the following winning prizes: ladies' first, Mrs. Wm. McKee; ladies' consolation, Mrs. Reg. McCulloch; gentleman's consolation Mr. Kenneth Glenn. After refreshments two rooms were cleared for dancing to the accompaniment of several violins, and the party broke up in the wee sma' hours.

Mrs. Tom Tyler has been on the sick list but is making a good recovery.

Mrs. W. Wylde and Miss Mona have returned to Havelock after spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Brown.

A Half-Timbered House

(By S. Maclure, Architect.)

The English styles are probably furnishing inspiration for more modern Canadian homes than all other forms of architectural precedent. To find the reason for this condition it is necessary to look no further than the accompanying illustrations, which show a splendid spacious home of Elizabethian half-timbered design which possesses in full measure the comfortable homelike atmosphere characteristic of the style.

Such an abundance of commendable features have been incorporated in the ground floor plan that space permits only the outstanding items to be mentioned here. These include the provision of fireplaces in the hall, living-room, dining-room and study; a lavatory and W. C. in the hall; an abundance of cupboard space in pantry, kitchen, and larder; rear stairs; and the convenient arrangement of trades side and grade entrances.

The living-room is a fine, bright room lighted by a large bay window, and is connected with a sunroom which may be entered across a terrace, from the the garden. A beamed ceiling, wide fireplace, buffet recess, china closet, and bay window overlooking the terrace combine in the large dining-room to form a room of really unusual beauty.

Equally convenient is the second floor which contains a sleeping-balcony and five bedrooms, the two largest of which are provided with fireplaces. With each bedroom having at least one good size clothes closet, and a large linen closet being in the hall one of the most insistent demands of modern housing has been met. It will be noticed that the W. C. has been kept separate from the bathroom at the head of the stairs, an arrangement which, as these would be the fixtures most generally used, is well worthy of note.

Occupying the space over the rear stairs are the stairs to the attic, in which a bedroom, boxroom, and bathroom are located.

Rubble stone has been used for the chimney, and the walls up to the ground floor window sill level, and combines very attractively with cream lsnueco daa dark-stained half-timbers, and red-brown shingle-roof. Leaded glass casement windows contribute greatly to both the exterior and interior effects.

The approximate cost of this house, exclusive of lot, is 24,000.

Readers desiring further information regarding the plans and specifications of this house should communicate with the architect direct. Address, Mr. S. Maclure, 404 Union Building, Victoria, B. C. Copyright, 1927, MacLean Building Reports, Limited.

SEARCH OF BEAUTY SUBJECT OF PAPER

Women's Art Association Hears Interesting and Instructive Address.

Although the scheduled speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. Minna Keene, F.R.P.S., of Oakville, was prevented by illness from attending the meeting of the Women's Art Association on Saturday afternoon, the programme presented was quite interesting, including, as it did, an exhibition of the photographic portrait studies of Mrs. Keene, sent on for the occasion, and the hearing of a paper written by her, read very delightfully by Miss Mayme Montgomery. Mrs. Blackwell, the president, made the opening announcements, speaking also of the work of Caleb Keene, Mrs. Keene's husband, who has made a name for himself in Canada with his lacquer work, orders for this type of furniture having been received by him from many parts of the States and the Dominion, with a recent order from one of the Cardinals at the Vatican in Rome.

Mrs. Keene's paper, entitled "The Search of Beauty," dealt with the ever-constant desire to capture, if possible, the fleeting beauties of life. "All things have their moments of loveliness, which they disclose to those who seek them out," wrote Mrs. Keene, going on to speak of the new vistas of life opened out to her by the study and practise of photography.

"The world that seeks and aspires to beauty, ultimately attains it. All that your heart desires and that your nature fits you for, that, and its counterpart, will surely come to you," she went on comfortingly to assure her hearers. Speaking of the beauty of natural expression as discovered in the faces of those about us, she said, "No nation or race can live without beauty. They may think they can live without it, but ultimately they wither and are as dry leaves. The ancient bards sang of beauty and the glittering banners of chivalry testified to its need."

"Ugliness dwells only in ignorance. An appreciation of beauty is necessary to the development of every man and woman. Art is a kind of prayer incense, burned at the altar of beauty, and to pray is to really aspire and to live, in the truest sense."

"It is easy to understand why children love flowers. They are nearer to them than we are. Every flower contains a fairy."

The work of Mrs. Keene was spoken of in her paper as a collection of "human documents. I saw in these dear old faces the hidden beauty of their souls."

The collection of photographs, not numerous, but exceedingly interesting and worth while, were all of the "character sketch" type, with the exception of two examples of studies of fruit of flowers. This artist, for she is an artist in her own line, excels in her reproduction of expression, and she has an evident love for the old. The strange wisdom of age, the odd mingling of content and of pathos, that looks out from the eyes of aged men and women, is here in these pictures that delineate with such extraordinary effect, in many instances, the varying outstanding characteristics of the people portrayed. What might be called a series of racial types included "Mrs. Wiggins," the comfortable old English lady with a bonnet and smug demeanor and convex lap; "Madame de Villiers," with her long ear-rings; and the "Cape Malay Slave," proudly humble.

The questioning eyes of age, forward-looking to eternity, backward-glancing to the years that have gone, were in many of these attractive large portrait studies, tinted in warm sepias and soft grays, and there were wonderful wrinkles in the face of "Old John," and the mild "Aunt Sarah," a keen fanaticism in the profile and the eyes of the "Russian Jew," and some exquisite detail work in the white shawl of another old lady.

Some of the group pictures reminded one of the interiors of Rembrandt or Josef Israels, in the "Afternoon Coffee" and "The Evening Meal" pictures and all were beautifully shaded, with modulated effects in light and shadow. One outstanding study was that of the old lady, capped and shawled, who squints carefully at the needle which she solds up against the light, the thread in her left hand. The characteristic pose and expression were captured in their fleeting tenseness, by the artist.

During the afternoon, preceding the reading of the paper, two very beautiful vocal solos were given by Mr. M. H. Park, his fine tenor very attractive in a Spanish serenade, "Lolita," and the arrangement of Elizabeth Barrett Browning's poem, "How Do I Love Thee," with accompaniments by Miss Agnes Logan.

ing. His deliberate, dryly humorous mode of presentaton and the lyric quality of much of his language gave an added charm to the lovely poems which were quoted, as examples of the work of the moderns in Irish literature.

Speaking of the subtle influences exerted on the dweller in the Green Isle by "the skies, the mountains and the bogs" of that romantic country, the professor went on to describe the distinctive movement in Irish literature which has taken place within the past few years. "The speech of the Irish peasantry," said the professor, "is the speech that was used in the days of Queen Elizabeth, revivified by the Irish idiom." It was this language, with none of the inversions that we have in the English, that Yeats and Synge and Russell and Stephens have used in their works.

Going on to give several sidelights on the characters of these moderns in Irish literature, Professor DeLury spoke of the "Book of Insurrections," published first by James Stephens, a work hard and realistic, striving to get away from the ethereal, mystic quality, the romantic atmosphere which colors all the life of Ireland and its people. Later, Stephens surrendered to this very same atmosphere, as his companion writers had always done, and became one of its outstanding exponents.

George Russell was caught up by the theosophical movement and William Butler Yeats, yearning to restore its symbolic fragrance to the language, was "almost enveloped in the net of magic. A graduate of Trinity College, hard up and yet not caring to work, wishing to serve the high purpose of art," he excels in the lyric mood, while wishing always to do something in the dramatic line, while James Synge, a contemporary in this new movement, ignorant of many of the laws of the drama and its presentation, has made a name for himself with his plays. The theatres of Ireland have swarmed in recent years with people from Japan, from Russia, from Italy and from Spain, coming to try and find out the marvellous secret of the success of the Irish plays.

Simple and direct and natural, the dramas of Synge are of a vivid racial type, portraying the lives of people who are uncorrupted by civilization and who dwell mainly in the noble past and its memories, going over its rich stories in their minds.

Then came James Stephens, "the little elfish Irishman, lively and impish," with his first hard, realistic poems, and his later subtle, mystical fantasies.

Illustrative of the work of the modern Irishman were the poems read by Professor DeLury, in Yeats' "Lake of Innisfree," "The Meditations of the Old Fishermen," "Down by the Sally Gardens," "The Rose of Battle,' one of the loveliest of his lyrics; the odd measures of "When You Are Old," and of "The Man Who Dreamed of Fairyland," with its mystical, allegorical atmosphere; "The Song of the Wandering Angus," "Red Hanrahan Wishing for a Cloak for His Beloved," and the gay pathos of "The Fiddler of Dooney."

From George Russell was read "An Irish Face," and from James Stephens' "Insurrections," the curious tense emotion of "Hate" and "The Protest," the latter, a voicing of the woman's beating against the conventional mastery of the man, and savoring of a more modern and realistic note than the other poems quoted. "Little Things" was also read, and a bit from Stephens' wonderful fantasy, "The Crock of Gold," in which the touch of his country's softening, mystical fingers was more apparent.

A sincere vote of thanks to the speaker was voiced by Mr. R. F. Downey and seconded by Mr. A. Mowat, the former also taking occasion to mention the excellent work of the president and her executive, of Miss Burgess, and extending appreciation to the soloists of the evening, and the latter referring to the excellent arrangements for the dinner made by Miss F. D. Walker, assisted by Mr. R. J. Bolton, convenor of the Social Committee.

The officers of the Teachers' Institute of the city include the president, Miss M. Ross; the vice-president, Mr. V. R. Henry; and the secretary-treasurer, Miss F. D. Walker; also an executive committee composed of Mr. D. Munro and the Misses E. Fusee, C. Doughty, C. Adams, and Miss Guerin.

During the evening, very warmly-applauded vocal solos, with encores, were rendered by Miss Margaret Dickson and Mr. M. H. Park, with accompaniments by Miss Gwen Donley. Community singing was led by Mr. C. S. Browne, with Miss M. Rannie at the piano.

ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL

The regulations for Lent were read at St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday morning, and Rev. P. Costello spoke at the late Mass from the 13th chapter of the Gospel according to St. Luke, the 5th verse: "Unless ye do penance, ye shall all likewise perish."

Referring to the lesson contained in Gospel narratives and in the books of the Old Testament, the reverend speaker reminded his hearers of the forty days' fast undertaken by the people of Nineveh, when that city was threatened by the prophet with the wrath of God. Repenting in sackclot and ashes, they were saved from the Divine anger. Moses, before receiving the Decalogue, fasted for forty days and later, repeated this penance when his people had sinned against the Almighty. Christ Himself rested for forty days in the wilderness.

"The custom of Lent of penance and fasting has come down to us from Apostolic times. It is as old as the catacombs," said Father Costello, adjuring the congregation to do penance during the forthcoming season, to pray more constantly, to attend church service with greater fervor to give alms to God's poor, and to refrain from attendance at places of amusement, whether public or private.

—as you'll discover the instant pen point touches paper

We grind an ink channel between the two nibs of the Parker point. Thus a thin film of ink is always present when the pen is in writing position.

This film of ink also covers the iridium tip just as a drop of water on your finger projects beyond the surface of the skin. It's too small to be easily seen, but big enough to touch the paper ahead of the point. This instantly sets up capillary attraction. So the ink begins to flow the moment you start to write.

This celebrated point is so strong, so skilfully tempered and ground, that we guarantee it 25 years, not only for mechanical perfection but for wear! It is set in a balanced Over-size barrel, made of Permanite—Parker's new, light-weight, Non-Breakable material.

Take your choice of Black and Gold, Black-tipped Jade, or Black-tipped Lacquer-Red. But look with care for that stamp of master craftsmanship, "Geo. S. Parker—DUOFOLD." Then imitations can't deceive you.

An Effective New Frock

Charm and grace are admirably combined in this delightful frock. The two-piece skirt is shirred to the bodice having tucks at each shoulder. The original application of lace or contrasting material is effectively used on the bodice, skirt, and cuffs finishing the long tight-fitting sleeves. A wide crushed girdle fastens with a buckle at the front, and buttons adorn the bodice front, thereby giving the modish vestee effect. NO. 1494 is for ladies and misses and is in sizes 16, 18 years, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. Size 38 requires 3½ yards 39-inch material, and 1¼ yards 39-inch trimming. 20 cents.

The designs illustrated in our new Fashion Book are advance styles for the home dressmaker, and the woman or girl who desires to wear garments dependable for taste, simplicity and economy will find her tastes fulfilled in our patterns. Price of the book 10 cents the copy.

SAINT and SINNER

By ANNE AUSTIN

"You don't really hope!" Faith cried, so beside herself with grief and terror that her voice was sharp with anger. "They'll railroad her to prison, and you don't care, Bob! Nobody's doing anything! Oh! I'm going crazy! I can't stand it.

"Dad, I can't!" And regardless of the fact that reporters were crowding their cars close to Bob Hathaway's, to observe and report every movement and emotion of this obscure family that had suddenly become of such immense importance; she laid her head on her father's shoulder and began to sob convulsively. Jim Lane's arm went about her shoulder, held her close, though his own stern face stared ahead with what the reporters later called "stolid suffering."

Bob Hathaway's hands tightened on the steering wheel. "I've done all I can for the moment, dear. I've hired Churchill and told him to get anybody he wants to help him, if it comes to a defense in court. I'm prepared to spend every cent I have in the world to free Cherry, and to mortgage my income for years, if that's necessary, but I can't bomb the jail to get her out tonight."

"I know I'm unreasonable," Faith lifted her head and let her great, tragic brown eyes plead with him for understanding and forbearance. "But I can't believe it's happened to Cherry—lovely little Cherry, that never did anyone any real harm. If it were only me! I can bear things better than Cherry. She's never been punished for anything, and now that she's innocent—oh, Bob, don't you see how I feel? Don't be angry with me, Bob. I need you now."

"I know," he turned his blue eyes upon her, let her see his pity and love and understanding. "Nothing you could say now could make me love you less, dear. You're not responsible. But try to buck up, honey, for all our sakes. I'm going to have a talk with Churchill tonight, make him realize the importance of those footprints I saw under the window. The murderer made them—they've got to believe that.'

"I'm afraid you don't understand, dear," Bob told her, as gently as he could. "The district attorney, the prosecutor, you know, presents his case before the grand jury, but the defense is not represented. Churchill won't even know what transpires before the grand jury—"

"Is that fair?" Faith flamed. "They won't even give her a chance. Banning will just call his own witnesses, who made it look so black for her at the coroner's inquest, and they'll indict her—indict her for murder! Oh, Bob, Bob! Think of something!"

"I'm afraid you'll have to appear before the grand jury with the story you told to the coroner's jury." Bob asserted grimly. "And since I'll have to appear I'll do the best I can to get those footprints into the record. Well, here we are. I won't come in, darling. I want to look over my mail at the office, and then I'll have a quick bite of dinner and go to see Churchill."

"You'll be back after that?" Faith held on to his hand forlornly as she stood beside the car which had stopped before the little Myrtle street house.

"Of course. And I'll phone Morehouse and get him to arrange with the—the warden for you to see Cherry in the meantime. You'll be taking some clothes and things to her, of course."

"Yes," Faith's lips trembled. "She hasn't a thing. She must be wondering why I haven't been there already. And I'll cook something nice to take her for her supper." Because she could not bear to say anything more, she turned and ran up the snow-covered path to the house, ran zig-azggedly, blinded by her tears.

Faith and her father and Junior left the street car a block from the jail, followed by half a dozen curious passengers, delighted at this opportunity to witness even one small scene of the great drama.

As they walked up the steps of the big, gloomy, red brick building a press photographer snapped their pictures. Faith met the unexpected attack of the camera bravely, head up, both Junior and Jim Lane ducked their heads, shielding their faces with their arms.

"Pardon me, Miss Lane," a reporter stepped forward, "I see you're bringing clothes and food for your sister. May I say that she will not have to eat prison fare—?"

"Yes," Faith interrupted hastily. "And we really have nothing else to say except that we know my sister is innocent, and that her family is with her in her trouble."

They were admitted immediately to the warden's office on the first floor. The warden was expecting them, greeted them with grave courtesy. "My name is Little. Mr. Lane—Jeff Little. Mr. Banning and Mr. Morehouse have telephoned their permission for you people to see Mrs. Wiley. I'm sure you'll find her as comfortable as possible, under the circumstances. She's a powerful pretty, sweet little lady." Faith breathed a swift prayer o thanksgiving that Cherry had so easily and quickly won the heart of the man into whose keeping she had been thrust.

They followed him down a long, dim corridor, pervaded with that odor which is peculiar to prisons. Faith shuddered and leaned heavily against Junior's arm.

"There's a little room at the end of the hall here where common prisoners are permitted to see their folks, under guard," the warden told them, leading them down a corridor walled on one side by a continuous procession of rusty iron bars, reaching from floor to ceiling. Through the bars Faith saw women—white and colored, old and young, dressed in shapeless, faded prison garments. Back of the barred enclosure, shared by all the women in that ward, were open-front cells, each with two iron cot beds, made up with thin gray blankets, a built-in iron bench—nothing else—except a small barred window, set high in the gray painted walls.

"No, she has a cell by herself," Warden Little answered. "Most of these women are old offenders, in for thirty to sixty days. Mrs. Wiley hasn't been tried yet, so she has a—room to herself."

Even in her horror and numbing grief Faith was grateful to him for his hesitancy to speak of Cherry's actual condition—the fact that she was jailed on suspicion of murder.

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

Astrologers read this as a fairly promising day in which strong benefic influences prevail. There is a particularly good sign for commercial matters.

Agriculturists certainly are to benefit greatly before the end of this year, which will be marked by amazing world events.

This should be a fortunate rule for real estate, and the seers foretell increased interest in landholding here in the United States because of a new foresight.

Thrift again will be much taught by leaders of thought and American will be prepared for new responsibilities, it is prophesied.

This month should be lucky for most persons who are in established business. It is well to push development of territory and other matters.

The early hours today are much more favorable than the afternoon and evening.

Again labor is subject to the most promising influences here as well as in Europe.

War news will crowd the pages of the public press as the spring and summer advance, it is foretold.

Impetus to inventions of many sorts will be given by startling world events, it is indicated.

Chemistry, science and education are to command even more attention than usual, Germany is to guard a new discovery supposed to be vital in warfare.

Saturn is now in a place said to be disturbing to Italy, Austria and Czecho-Slovakia.

One of the leading astrologers of London predicts news of carnage an of countries devastated before the summer is far advanced.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of much varied activity.

Children born on this day are likely to be extremely brilliant. Lawyers are born under this sign.

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

This frock of grayish blue crepe de chene trimmed with pleating was chosen by a well-dressed woman for wear at church services.

"When a woman plays golf she should be dressed for golf," says one well-known French dressmaker, "and when she goes to church she should be dressed for church."

Apparently it is not so easy to persuade women to do the last thing as the first. You seldom see a woman playing golf in a frock that would be more suitable for drinking tea in a friend's drawing-room or dining in a restaurant. But women recently have been rather careless about the sort of costumes they chose for church. And since the Pope has come forward with criticism of the kind of dress that many women choose for attending church services the French dressmakers have blamed not themselves but the women for their seeming lack of modesty.

And now since women—or at least many of them—have shown such lack of ability to choose suitable clothes for church wear definite rules have been laid down for them. The queen of Spain has gone so far as to prescrib a definite uniform for ladies of her court attending mass at court. High collars, sleeves to the wrists and long skirts are included in these gowns made of pale gold cloth interwoven with castles and lions. With mantillas of white or black lace draped gracefully over high combs and hanging over the shoulders this uniform ought to be worn with much pleasure.

To have a specially planned church costume may seem rather old-fashioned to the present generation. It smacks of the "Sunday go-to-meeting" of our grandmothers. Yet the most progressive of the French dressmakers are now designing frocks especially suitable for church wear.

Long sleeves and fairly high necks are part of the present day-time mode for all occasions. The frock made for church wear must add to these details a skirt that is rather longer than usual. Plain material of dark or not too striking color is usually chosen. It must be simple without smacking at all of the sports mode. Churchmen who have voiced their disapproval of women's attire at church services ought to be gratified at the way the dressmakers have bent their energies toward making clothes that are really appropriate for church services.

Uncle Wiggily

To-day's Bed time Story.

By Howard R, Garis

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

UNCLE WIGGILY'S PAPER GUN

"Something will have to be done about it!" growled the Bushy Bear, turning slowly around and trying to get a look at his stubby little tail. He wanted to see whether it was longer or shorter than the Bob Cat's silly one.

"That's what I say! Something must be done!" snarled the Fuzzy Fox.

"When do we eat?" howled the Woozie Wolf, coming out of a dark corner of the Bear's den where this meeting of the bad chaps was taking place one afternoon.

"That's what we're talking of," snickered the Bob Cat who was laughing at the Bear, for the big bushy chap couldn't get a glimpse of his stubby tail no matter how fast he swung around. "We're talking of the best way to catch Uncle Wiggily to nibble his ears," mewed the Cat.

"We'll never catch him!" sighed the Woozie Wolf. "Didn't we all post ourselves at the sides of his bungalow the other day, and didn't he tunnel through the snow and get in the cellar window, fooling us?"

"He did," agreed the Bob Cat. "And the last two times I tried to get that rabbit he fooled me," snarled the Bob Cat. "Once he stuck some fuzzy cotton from the horse chestnut tree on my nose, tickling me so I had to run away. And day before yesterday he made rain drip down out of a tree when the sun was shining and there wasn't a cloud in the sky. Fair Magic, I thought it was, and I ran!"

"You did well to run!" said the Fox. "Only yesterday he brushed my teeth with red pepper and my mouth isn't done smarting yet. We must catch that rabbit!"

"So say we all of us!" chanted the Bear and Wolf.

"But how?" inquired the Bob Cat.

"The snow isn't deep, now," went on the Fox. "He can't crawl through a tunnel this time. I don't believe he has any more red pepper and the sun will soon go down so he can't work magic rain from frozen trees. What I say is, let's all make a rush to that rabbit's bungalow, burst in the doors and get him by surprise that way, before he knows what's what."

So the four bad chaps set off together through the woods, thinking they would surely get Uncle Wiggily this time. And now, as they say in story books, let us see what the rabbit gentleman is doing about this time. He did not know the bad chaps were coming to get him, for Uncle Wiggily was busy taking different things out of different paper bags in the kitchen of his hollow stump bungalow.

The rabbit gentleman had been to the store for his wife and Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy and had brought groceries of various kinds, such as a bottle of calico, a half pint os silk, a dozen of bread and a pound of milk and the like of that. Everything was in paper bags and when the groceries were taken out that left the bags emptied.

Baby Bunty, with Scooter, Tooter, Jingle, Jangle and the other little rabbits crowded around Uncle Wiggily, asking if they might take the empty paper bags to play store with, for it was Saturday when there was no school.

"Take the bags and welcome, my dears," said Uncle Wiggily and just then, all of a sudden, Nurse Jane looked from a window and squealed:

"Oh, here come four bad chaps—the Bushy Bear, the Woozie Wolf, the Fuzzy Fox and the Bob Cat with his silly little tail! Here they come to get you, Uncle Wiggily!"

Sure enough, up to the bungalow came the four hungry animals.

"Call the Police Dog!" cried Tooter.

"Get the fire shovel!" said Baby Bunty. But Uncle Wiggily said:

"We shall scare these bad chaps with paper guns. Quick, little bunnies, each one of you blow up a paper bag with air. And when it is blown up, clap the bag hard between your paws and it will burst with a noise like a gun. We'll fix these bad chaps!"

Up ran the bad chaps, trying to break the windows and doors. But, all of a sudden, from within the bungalow sounded: "Bang! Bang! Bang! Bing! Boom!"

"Oh, there are a lot of hunters in there with guns!" howled the Bob Cat. "Come away before they shoot us!" Then away ran the bad chaps, frightened by the popping of the paper guns, which were only blown up grocery bags. But, of course, the Bear and his companions didn't know that.

Away they ran. The Bear stubbed his paw, the Fox fell down, the Wolf stuck a sharp icicle in his nose and the Bob Cat's tail was hit by a snowball thrown by Baby Bunty. And soon all was peace and quiet in the bunny's bungalow. The bad chaps were still hungry. But, if wash rag doesn't splash water in the face of the clock so it tells the wrong kind of time, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the early wind.

EWART STARS OR MAROONS IN OVERTIME GAME

Defeat Chicago Black Hawks on Saturday by Score Two to One.

IN SECOND PERIOD

Hawks Retain Upper Hand Throughout Most of First Period.

CHICAGO, Ills., Feb. 28.—Nels Stewart, dashing centre-ice player of the world's champion Montreal Maroons, aided by other members of his team, defeated the Chicago Black Hawks in a thrilling National Hockey League intersectional struggle here Saturday night by two goals to one. The game went into overtime.

Stewart scored both goals for the winners, getting the first in the second period, after Seibert had passed him the disc, and the second on a pass from Munro after 19 minutes and 10 seconds of the overtime period had elapsed. On the winning effort Stewart beat Lehman from directly in front of the net.

The Hawks held the upper hand during most of the first period but were unable to score and the Maroon star became ascendant. Fraser, Irwin and Hay had Benedict on the jump most of the period but the lanky Maroon stopped everything they had to offer. Dutton skated the puck out of danger on several occasions. Nels Stewart led the Montreal attack but it lacked scoring punch at the beginning of the tussle.

Montreal started the second stanza with a rush and showed a marked reversal of their first period form. Seibert worked his way to the blue line four minutes after play started and passed to Stewart, the big centre driving the puck past Lehman for the first score of the game. A shot by Wilson that beat Benedict a moment later was not allowed as the pass to Cully was off-side. After several vain attempts to penetrate the Montreal defense, Irvin took Fraser's pass five minutes later skated directly into the net and drove a bullet-like shot past the lanky Maroon goalie.

Maroons poured a veritable bombardment of shots at Lehman in the third period but the Hawk goaltender was working at his best and turned them all aside. The Hawks slowed down considerably on the attack. The play was listless in the first ten minutes of the period and then became rather rough, Reefree Lou Marsh penalizing five men in three minutes of play.

Red Dutton played great hockey in the overtime period, repeatedly outskating the Hawks but he was unable to get by Lehman. Maroon's passing game was working to perfection at this stage of the game, and their combination resulted in their winning the game. Stewart's winning goal came after he and Munro had worked their way down the ice passing the puck to and fro. Munro was carried to the side of the net by a Hawk defenceman and he passed out to Nels who was uncovered at the mouth of the net. Stewart easily beat Lehman for the winning tally.

Line-up:

CHESS CHAMP HELD TO DRAW

Vienna Contender Holds Champion in Seventh Round of Play.

TIED THREE TIMES

NEW YORK, Feb. 28. Canadian Press. — Duplicating his performance in the opening round of the International chess masters' tournament, Rudolf Spielmann of Vienna, yesterday held Jose Capablanca, the world champion to a draw in the seventh round. The Cuban, although tied three times in the tourney, has yet to be beaten.

Spielmann, playing the white pieces along the lines of the double fianchetto, exchanged Rooks with Capablanca at the 19th and 20th moves after the Cuban h. adopted the Caro-Kann defence. The Queens vanished from the board at the 27th move and with only two minor pieces and six pawns remaining on each side a draw was agreed upon.

Two other matches yesterday were adjourned to be played off to-day.

Aaron Nimzowitch, of Copenhagen had a slight advantage over Frank J. Marshall, the United States champion, when time was called at 40 moves. Dr. Millan Vidmar, of Jugo Slavia, and Dr. Alex. Alekhine, of Paris suspended after the same number of plays.

The standings:

	Won.	Lost.
Capblanca	5½	1½
Nimzowitsch	5½	1½
Alekhine	2½	2½
Vidmar	2½	3½
Spielmann	2½	4½
Marshall	1½	4½

SENATORS LOSE TO AMERICANS

Victors Break Losing Streak of Four Games in N.H.L.

SCORE IN OVERTIME

NEW YORK, N.Y., Feb. 28.—(Canadian Press).—The New York Americans broke their losing streak of four games and took a lead of three to two in this season's games against the Ottawa Senators here Saturday night when they defeated the leader of the International group of the National Hockey League 3 to 2 in a contest which went sixteen seconds overtime.

Alex. McKinnon netted the winning tally on a shot from the blue line which completely fooled Connell, and ended one of the most exciting struggles witnessed in New York since the inauguration of professional hockey.

The score was tied for the second time with five minutes of the third period remaining when Connell, the Ottawa goalie, and two other Senators, were on the bench, and New York was playing minus two of their stalwarts. Joe Simpson took a pass from Shorty Green and slammed the puck past King Clancy, who was temporary custodian for the Senators.

Connell received two minutes for swinging his stick at the head of Leo. Reise as the latter rushed in anticipating a rebound which did not come. The puck landed in Connell's pads and he resented Reise's bull rush. Alex Smith and Mickey Roach were already on the bench, which became crowded when Connell, Reise and Kilrea followed in quick succession. Clancy held the fort valiantly behind Nighbor and Hooley Smith until the team returned to full strength, saving one shot and laying out Shorty Green to save another.

Clancy scored for Ottawa one and a half minutes after the game started, and Shorty Green tied the score late in the second period on a pass from Bouchard. The tie was soon broken when Frank Nighbor netted Jack Adams' rebound, and the score remained thus until the epidemic of penalties started in the final period. Up to that time play had been very clean.

It was Ottawa's seventh defeat of the season, three of which have been scored by the Americans. About 7,000 people witnessed the game.

Frank Clancy gave the Senators a goal lead shortly after the first period opened when he curved a shot past Forbes from a scrimmage near the American goal. Except for the first five minutes of the period the brand of hockey displayed gave the spectators little to enthuse over. Play was very clean, only Billy Burch being sent to the bench, for slashing. Hooley Smith relieved Alex Smith on the Senator defence, but retired near the end of the period when a charley horse came back on him. Shortly after Clancy scored the Americans opened a bombardment on the Senator net. Shorty Green firing two shots at Connell which the Ottawa custodian had difficulty in clearing. During this attack, which lasted only a couple of minutes Connell saved from Burch after he had lost his stick. For the rest of the period the Senators were more dangerous, Clancy and Kilrea participating in some effective rushes which forced Forbes to extend himself. Laurie Scott barely missed Simpson's rebound on a play that augured well for an American goal.

Play was enlivened in the second period when both teams scored and spirit was added to the game by a near fist fight between the two captains—Billy Burch and George Boucher—behind the Ottawa net. Both received minors. Shorty Green tied the score after fifteen minutes play when he netted the rubber on a pass from Bouchard. Shorty was left uncovered in front of the goal, the first break in the Ottawa back line which up to that time had been compelled to use every trick in its defensive book to prevent the Americans from registering several goals on brilliant combination attacks. Connell gave a sensational performance and robbed Billy Burch, Scott and Reise from what appeared to be sure goals. Erratic shooting lost Scott and Himes excellent opportunities. Frank Nighbor again put the Senators one up with three and a half minutes to go when he snapped in Adams' rebound. When things began to look bad for the Senators midway through the period Captain Boucher took the ice for the first time. The versatile Hooley Smith relieved Frank Nighbor at centre, and Gorman relieved Kilrea. Cy. Denneny also made his first appearance and got in a few of his stingers.

The Americans tied the score in the final period after one of the most hectic twenty minutes play seen on Garden ice, making overtime necessary. The New York goal was scored by Joe Simpson on a pass from Shorty Green when three Ottawa players, including Connell, the goal-keeper, were serving penalties, and two Americans were on the penalty bench. Alex Smith and Roach had been benched, with five minutes to play and Reise rushed a shot, tearing in to catch the anticipated rebound. The puck lodged in Connell's pads and as Reise charged him he swung his stick at Reise's head. In the melee that followed Kilrea also went off and Reise got two minutes for charging Connell. Clancy went into the Ottawa net and after Simpson scored made one save and came out to dump Shorty Green when the latter was behind the net uncovered. Shorty was laid out for a moment but no penalty was meted out.

The first shot of the overtime period ended the game. Alex McKinnon shot from the blue line in sixteen seconds, the puck travelling through the Ottawa defence past Connell, who apparently did not see it coming.

YANKEES HAVE TEN HOLDOUTS

Giants Are Worried Only By Refusal of Ed. Roush.

RUTH FIRST.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26. — There is a long range pen and ink pitching duel between Business Maager Ed. Barrow and ten Yankee holdouts.

Most of the regulars have failed to come to terms. Babe Ruth is due here next Tuesday to battle for an increase in salary—while at least nine other stars have been warming up their right arms at the end of recalcitrant pens.

The Giants' roster at Camp Sarasota was boosted to 21 with the arrival of Pitcher Burleigh Grimes, former Robin, and John Hawkins, 1st baseman recommended by Wahoo Sam Crawford, Manager McGraw put the players through two drills, under a sprinkle and then retired to do some pen-wrestling himself. The veteran pilot is in corresponence with headquarters here over Eddie Roush, perennial hold out, who has not yet come to terms.

PIRATES TIED IN OVERTIME WITH TORONTO

Langlois Knotted Score Forty Seconds Before Period Closed.

POOR SKATING

Ill-Feeling Developed in Second Period for Rough-House Game.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Feb. 28. Canadian Press. — Pittsburgh and Toronto fought to a 1-1 draw in the National Hockey League he. Saturday night after a rough struggle requiring an extra perio'.

Langlois knotted the score by making a score 40 seconds before the third period closed; Brydge scored for Toronto on a rebound in the second period.

Had the Pirates shot more carefully another result would have been achieved. White and Arbour missed sure goals several times.

Toronto's goal was a gift through Worthers' anxiety to pull puck to the boards after a stop.

The first period was quite tame, but ill-feeling developed in the second when Toronto was denied a goal on a close decision. From then on every type of roughness was brought into use, the climax coming in the extra period when Cotton and Patterson came to blows.

Langlois was the star for Pittsburgh, with Niles and Drury shining well. Brydge, Corbeau and Roach played the best for the Maple Leafs.

The teams battled on even terms during the first period, no scores resulting. Several excellent opportunities appeared, only to be cast aside by a slip up. The defences of both teams were loose but alert. Goal-keeping by Roach and Worters annulled possibilities. Clean playing prevailed, the only penalty being doled out to Brydge for slashing when a score loomed up.

Drury announced his entry into the game after about five minutes of play by rocking Roach with a rifle shot from right wing, which was converted into wasted effort by the latter.

Denneny and Corbeau along with Day valiantly invaded the Pirate net to no avail. Once in the dying minutes of the period Miles took a pass at the very portals of the goal and when a goal seemed imminent hurried his shot which Roach blocked.

During the Second period a protest over a disallowed goal, which trickled through Worters' skates and may or may not have been past the line, seemed to spur the teams on. The roughness lacking in the opening period was supplied aplenty. Scrimmages occurred incessantly at both goals but without result. Drury passed to white in front of the net, when ten minutes slipped by, but White's feeble effort was fruitless. Corbeau, Patterson and Denneny assaulted furiously for the Maple Leafs. Finally they were rewarded when Worters blocked a shot, and while groping about to push it to the boards Brydge rushed up and showed it to him by poking it in the net.

The balance of the period was wildly played.

Rough work started in the second period was resumed in the third.

The Pirates tried desperately to tie the game, but missed many chances. White had a clear shot at the net at half time, but was inaccurate. Soon after a hot scrimmage with Roach out of the net did no damage. Arbour held on to the puck and took all kinds of chances without success. Bailey from Toronto missed a shot at close range after 15 minutes passed. Brydge was guilty of some pretty rough work. Drury was sent off twice for roughing, and still the fury of the game was unabated. Langlois proved the hero of the minute when he took the puck up the ice and shooting from the blue line sunk the nibbler in the net and deadlocked the game at 19.20. The rink shook with wild applause. This sent the game into extra period.

The ill-feeling constantly in evidence finally cropped out into a fight between Cotton and Patterson in the overtime period, both men being ejected for five minutes. After this fracas things quieted down some. The defences were very tight and few free shots were available.

Brydge skated madly and shot inaccurately after being loose at half time.

Darragh at 15 minutes corraled the disc and passed to Arbour, who missed an easy shot in front of the net.

With the final gong not far off the play was cautious, a tie seeming satisfactory.

The line-up:

Pittsburgh.		Toronto.
Worters	goal	Roach
Langlois	defence	Corbeau
McKinnon		Brydge
Milks	centre	Bailey
Arbour	wings	Day
Darragh		McCaffrey
Drury	subs	Carson
Cotton		Patterson

Summary:

First period: No score.

Second period:

1: Toronto, Brydge, 15.05.

Third period:

1: Pittsburgh, Langlois, 19.20.

Penalties: First period: Brydge; second period: Brydge and Langlois; third period: Brydge, Drury, Bailey, Halderson, Cotton, Patterson.

HYDRO-MENIE ON WEDNESDAY

Country Boys Out to Demonstrate They Have Best Team.

AT CAMPBELLFORD

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 28—The big attraction from a local standpoint in hockey circles next week is the Hydro-Menie clash at Covert's Arena Wednesday night While Menie are out of the contention they are out to demonstrate to the fans, that right now they are the best team in the league and will only have to duplicate their performance of last week against the Clerks to the verify the fact.

The country boys all played great hockey against the present league leaders and although beaten in a gruelling 30 minute overtime battle the general opinion of the fans, was that they deserved a win on the nights play. Will they be more fortunate Wednesday night?

Next week's games:

Monday, February 28 — Midget series, Elks vs. Bear Cats at 7.30; senior series, Clerks vs. Mill at 8.30.

Wednesday, March 2nd — Midget series, Tigers vs. Elks at 7.30; Senior series, Hydro vs. Menie at 8.30.

Standing of the teams Town Hockey League week ending February 26.

Hydro	5		2
Menie	3		5
Mill	1		6
Midgets
Elks	4	2	3
Tigers	5	3	1
Bear Cats	2	6	2

What with a player by the name of Cannon on the squad, it is not going to be hard to tell who the big shot of the New York Yanks is next summer.

BOSTON BRUINS GIVEN SHUTOUT BY CANADIENS

SCORE 2 TO 0

Victors Hold Edge Over Opposition All Through Game.

MONTREAL, Que., Feb. 28 (Canadian Press)—With a cyclonic attack that had a highly-rated opposition defence bewildered, Canadiens flew to a 2-0 victory over the Boston Bruins at the Forum Saturday night. The meeting between the respective second-place teams in the two sections of the National Hockey League resulted in a repetition of the triumphs scored by Canadiens in recent games here, in which their dazzling speed confounded their opponents.

The hustling Bostonians made gallant attempts to crack the local guard, but statistics for the game show the Canadien defence in a light which should end all apprehensions. While Canadiens were peppering the Boston goalie, driving 31 shots at Winkler, the Bruin attack found the way to Hainsworth in the Canadien net almost completely barred. Only thirteen shots got as far as Hainsworth during the sixty minutes.

After a scoreless first period in which Canadiens, however, had the edge in attack, Art Gagne opened the scoring early in the second session. He took the puck from the face-off and travelled down the right wing slamming a terrific drive from the wing. It cut into the net like a knife and Canadiens were one up.

That goal only served to add to the local team's offensive. The Boston bulwarks were subjected to a terrific bombardment as the Canadiens skated rampant around the visitors' goal. The darting Canadiens had the Boston defence dizzy trying to keep pace with the onslaughts. But it was too much. Herb Gardiner broke up a Bruin attempt to get the play out of danger. He rushed around the Boston guard and banged a shot from close range as he was cutting in front of the Bruin goal. The puck hit Winkler and bounded out. Shore and Coutu, aided by the Boston forwards, were attempting to cover the Canadiens, but the elusive Pete Lepine trapped the rebound and flipped it back into the net before Winkler could gather himself together after staggering under the first drive.

SOME GOOD HOCKEY HERE THIS WEEK

Hastings County League Plays Off a Triple Tie, Commencing Wednesday Night.

Peterborough hockey fans are going to see a couple of real good hockey games this week, when the triple tie existing in the Hastings County League will be played off in Brock Street Rink.

On Wednesday evening Stirling Club, under the management of our old friend "Bill" Whitty, will battle it out with Marmora Club, and the winners will meet Tweed here on Friday night.

From all accounts it would appear as if there were a number of first-class players in the group who would be capable of holding their own with any O.H.A. team, and the fans will no doubt be on hand in goodly numbers to give them the "once over."

GUNNERS WIN BY TWO GOALS

London Battery Defeats Jordan in First of Finals.

SHUT OUT SCORE.

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 28. — The blaze of glory which so suddenly enveloped the Jordan wine merchants with their startling and unexpected triumph over Oshawa, was somewhat dimmed here on Saturday night when the dashing gunners of the 12th Battery scored their fourteenth straight victory of the season and gained a two goal advantage for the return game at Niagara tonight when the intermediate O.H.A. championship will be decided.

Jordan went down to a 8 to 0 defeat at the hands of the Soldiers, and the latter were deserving of their victory. The team which on their play during the season, have been regarded as potential champions, did not have a great deal of trouble in turning back the new and unexpected threat from the little hamlet of the wine belt.

The game left the little crowd nonplussed. The 12th Batterymen, though they completely dominated the game everywhere but in the Jordan goal area, did not appear up to their usual standard and whether it was a result of the Jordan checking, a good deal of which seemed to happen more by accident than design, or they actually were below form, is the problem the game left with the fans and the so-called experts.

SUCCESSIVE GAMES TIRE OUT AMERICANS

New York N. H. L. Entries Clash, Rangers Winning Easily.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28. — The New York American hockey team went down to a four to one defeat at the hands of their local rivals last night. It was the second game on successive nights for the losers, and their attacking efforts lacked a scoring punch. The victory gave the Rangers a two to one edge in the 4-game all-Gotham series.

Rangers: Goal, Chabot; defence, Abel, Bourgeault; centre, Boucher; wings, Bun Cook, Bill Cook; subs., Thompson, Murdock, Boyd, Brown, Johnson, Mackay.

Referee — Dr. W. Laflamme, Toronto.

GRADS SECURE TWO GOAL LEAD

Defeat Kitchener 5-3 in the First Game of Senior Finals.

EARN MARGIN.

TORONTO, Feb. 28. — Blazing through a whirlwind second period, during which they skated the battling green shirted men from Kitchener close to exhaustion and outscored them 3 to 1, University of Toronto Grads won the first game in the O.H.A. Senior finals 5 to 3 at the Arena Gardens Saturday night. A crowd of over 7,800 saw a contest which at times provided more than the routine thrills, but also lagged in spots as the players folded up under the withering pace. The blinding speed of the first period exacted its toll from the Green Shirts and they were not so powerful at the close of the second and third as they were in the early part of the game.

Pitted against a team, which until it tired had just as much speed, was just as adept at carrying the puck, and checked more closely than the Grads gave the lie to the repeated claim that they are a super-hockey machine. The Grads' checking was far from being that of a great team, the opposing puck carrier often being allowed to glide by without very much effort at stopping him.

Exactly doubling the possible shots on the Smythe men, smothering them beneath a swirl of speed, and brilliant individual charges, and checking all over the ice like fiends, Kitchener had their opponents scampering around like scared rabbits the first period wondering what it was all about.

The Grads were outplay by quite a margin. They could not get going at all, and though Kitchener beat Dr. Joe Sullivan for only one goal they deserved others, but the scoring punch in keeping with the rest of their play was not in evidence. Then "Little Joe" was an obstacle in the way. Three times he kicked the rubber out when goals appeared in the offing.

But in the last two periods the Grads had enough the best of the play to give them a well-earned victory, but whether their two goal lead will carry them through the return game in Kitchener to-morrow night remains to be seen. The Green Shirts are a great team on their own duck pond.

Referee—Harry Batstone, Queen's University.

BASKETBALL TEAM GOES TO KINGSTON

The local Junior basketball team journeys to Kingston to meet the Limestone City boys in the first game of a home and home series tomorrow night.

Peterborough has not had a Junior O.A.B.A. team for some years, but this year a fast cage outfit has been gotten underway coached by Bert Granike. The boys have been working hard since early Fall, and are in fine condition, so should be able to make the Kingston boys go some. The return game will be played here, in the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium on Wednesday, March 9. The boys on the team are Goheen, Hardill, Ecobichon, Sturgeon, Dormer, Ruth, Copping, and Hamilton.

CURLING NEWS

To-morrow morning at nine o'clock the Waddell Cup series will be played. For this trophy twelve local rinks will compete, as the home teams won over the all-comers in the preliminary round held during the Bonspiel. Wednesday night the Vice-skips' Bonspiel will be gotten under way.

AT MILLBROOK.

MILLBROOK, Feb. 28. — Scheduled games in the competition for the Allen Cup at the local rink this week include:

V R Hunter	G Raper
T H Collins	H R Armstrong
A A Smith	W H Hetherington
H B Allen	J Steele
Sk..... 12	Sk..... 5
A H Armstrong	Dr H Young
L J Hutchison	H J Armstrong
J Lancashire	R Smith
J N McGill	L C Russell
Sw..... 8	Sk..... 15
L H Winslow	N Gilmour
C C Garside	V C Lambert
G Hetherington	T H Bradley
Ross Edmunds	G W Sayles
Sk..... 11	Sk..... 12

The soft condition of the ice recently has made play practically impossible, and there are a number of back games to play off, besides the regular schedule to complete, before the winning rink for the second half of the schedule can be known. G. W. Sayles' rink stood highest for the first half.

The rink skipped by R. H. Edmunds, which was to have gone to Peterboro on Saturday to play off against Dr. Harvie of Orillia, for the Morrow trophy was notified not to go on account of soft ice.

WATCH THE KIDNEYS
Fatigue and that tired feeling is the result of poison in the blood. When the kidneys fail to remove this poison from the system it leads to backache, rheumatic pains and sometimes to that fatal ailment known as Bright's disease. When this condition exists, don't delay, go to your druggist and get a box of Dr. Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills and they will quickly correct the cause of your trouble.
Mr. Arthur Pinch of Smith Township states that Dr. Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills give him more speedy relief than any other preparation that he had tried.

Delany splintered a bone in his left arm during a fight with Maxie Rosenbloom two weeks ago and it became infected.

INCOME TAX IS VIGOROUSLY HIT BY CAPT. INNES

Wrong in Application and Principle Rotarians Are Told.

THE LABRADOR.

Dr. Harry Padden Enthusiastic Over Possibilities of That Country.

A vigorous attack upon the Dominion Income Tax, both in its amplification and in its principle, was a feature of to-days luncheon of the Peterboro Rotary Club, by Captain Innes of the Dominion Trade Bureau, who was the principal speaker of the day.

The luncheon was also notable through the presence of Dr. Harry L. Padden, co-worker with Dr. Grenfell in the Labrador Mission, who addressed the Rotarians briefly on Labrador, its people and its possibilities.

Rotarian Tom Dutton, chairman of the Boys' Work Committee, outlined the plan for Rotary Boys' Week in Peterboro, which he predicted would be, with the co-operation of the members, one of the biggest things of the kind ever held in this city.

Rotarians Rev. Father Paul Costello and Adjutant Ham were added as members of the committee.

In his address on the income tax, Captain Innes declared that his organization feeling the need of an emphatic stand against the tax, had been carrying on a campaign from coast to coast, during which 260 meetings had been held. The Dominion Trade Bureau, investigating the income tax, has found grievous defects. In the first place there was wholesale evasion by all kinds of schemes to dodge the tax; the revenue from this source was declining year by year, and the tax was evil as much as that in the United States placing Canada at a distinct disadvantage as compared with her neighbors.

Captain Innes declared that his organization was opposed to the tax, both because of its application which was unfair, and because of its principle, which was vicious in its effect upon Canada.

The very fact that there were only 244,000 returns from the whole of Canada, including those from corporations, showed that the tax did not reach all who were liable. Only 3068 farmers in the whole of Canada had paid last year, and the total revenue from farmers was but $66,000. On the other hand employees comprised 72 per cent. of those who had paid Dominion income tax. It had been found impossible to collect income tax from the farmers and they provided the chief opposition to any proposal to wipe out this form of levy.

As to the principle of the income tax Captain Innes pointed out that in its effect upon a country like Canada, which needed capital to develop its natural resources, it was strangling. The abolition of the income tax, he declared, would not only bring much capital into Canada but would give this country that additional population that was necessary to solve her many problems. Immigration schemes, pretty enough on paper, during the past eight years, had failed to do anything more than keep Canada's population stationary, and the speaker advocated the removal of the tax as a sure method of bringing in more people.

The Labrador.

Dr. Padden's enthusiastic references to the potentialities of Labrador, were full of interest to the Rotarians. The speaker, who is an assistant to Dr. Grenfell, declared the Labrador country offered possibilities of development that made it one of the richest undeveloped portions of the Empire. He mentioned among these possibilities the ore deposits, the splendid pulpwood tracts, the wonderful water powers, and the opportunity to rival Alaska as a future field for reindeer.

As to the people themselves, Dr. Padden was able to show how the efforts of Dr. Grenfell and his associates had been able to make new citizens capable of making a living anywhere on earth out of material that before the advent of the Grenfell Mission had looked most unpromising. Artisans, mechanics, carpenters were produced as a result of the training given in the mission schools.

Dr. Padden's short address indicated that there is a treat in store for those who hear his illustrated lecture to-night.

THREE POWERS IN CONFERENCE

ON SMALL SHIPS.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28. Canadian Press. Great Britain's response to the overture for further naval limitation, received at the state department to-day, accepted President Coolidge's invitation to discuss the subject, and said that the British delegates would do their best to further the success of the proposed conversation.

Together with the Japanese acceptance, the reply was regarded as probably opening the way for a three-power consideration of limitation of smaller classes of war craft in line with the principle applied to first line ships at the Washington conference.

JUNIOR HUMANE SOCIETY FORMED

Meeting Held in St. John's Parish Hall on Saturday.

The Peterboro Junior Humane Society was organized at a meeting held in St John's Parish Hall on Saturday afternoon.

OBITUARY.

BISHOP RIDGEWAY.

LONDON, Feb. 28. — (Canadian Press). — The Rt. Rev. Charles Ridgeway, former Bishop of Chichester, died to-day. He was 86 years old.

RODERICK HOPKINS.

There passed away at the family residence, 598 Sherbrooke street, on Saturday last, Roderick Hopkins, aged 72. Mr. Hopkins has been ill for two weeks. He spent practically his whole life in this city and was born in the township of Cavan. He was a member of Trinity United church and leaves to mourn his loss a sorrowing wife and nine children, five sons and four daughters.

The funeral will be held on Tuesday at 2 p.m from 598 Sherbrooke street with interment in Little Lake cemetery the Rev. David Wren officiating.

ROBERT J. SANDERSON.

The "Last Post" sounded on Sunday for another of Peterboro's fast diminishing company of Veterans of '66, when Robert J. Sanderson passed away at his home, 28 Braidwood Avenue, in his 80th year. Mr. Sanderson was a son of the late Rev. John Sanderson, who was a pastor here many years ago, and had lived here for the past thirty-five years.

He is survived by his widow, two sons, Harry of Detroit and John at home, and two daughters, Mrs. W. R. Wilson of Owen Sound and Mrs. (Rev.) H. J. Latimer of Pembroke.

The funeral will take place on Tuesday afternoon to Little Lake Cemetery at 2.00 o'clock, and will be conducted by the Rev. J. D. Richardson of St. James' United Church.

Activitiy In Massey Harris Features Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Feb. 28 (Canadian Press)—Active and feverish trading in Massey Harris and Seagram issues featured the proceedings during to-day's early session of trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange. Seagram was the leader in activity and declined 5-8 to 25 3-8, after opening considerably firmer at 26 5-8. Massey Harris came second in volume and evidenced a firm tone, closing unchanged at 110, after selling up three points to 113 3-4, a new high for all time. Brazilian was an active and strong feature, selling up to 120, a gain of 1-2. Industrial Alcohol was an active and weak feature, declining 1-2 to 26 3-4. City Dairy provided the outstanding movement of the market. In keen demand from the outset this stock sold upwards to 108, a gain of 4 1-2. It weakened towards the close and finished at 106, a gain of 2 1-2 over Saturday's closing quotation. A campaign on the part of shareholders of City Dairy to secure a larger dividend is attributed to the spectacular movements by this issue.

Many New Highs Touched On New York Market To-day

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.— (Canadian Press.)—Speculators for the advance continued in control of the price movement in to-day's market. High priced industrials again came to the fore. Houston Oil was the sensational individual feature, soaring over 15 points to a new record high at 118 3-4. Commercial Solvents 'B' jumped 10 points, Baldwin moved up over five points to 201, and General Motors touched 167, the highest quotation since the declaration of the 50 per cent. stock dividend. Among the score or so new industrial highs were Dupont, Bush Terminal, United States' Industrial Alcohol, Great Western Sugar, Vanadium Steel and Republic Steel.

Southwestern Rail issues were again active on merger rumors, but a splendid demand also developed for some of the seasoned dividend paying shares. Canadian Pacific was bid up five points to 192, the highest price since 1916. Establishment of a new high by Frisco common was accompanied by rumors of a possible increase in the annual dividend from $7 to $8 at Wednesday's meeting of the Board.

The first sale of Pan American western 'B' stock, following the announcement of the United States' Supreme Court decision against the Doheny interests in the Elk Hills lease case, showed a net decline of three points.

Beneficial Weather Cause Of Drop In Wheat Prices

CHICAGO, Feb. 28 (Canadian Press).—Snow south-west and west, likely to benefit the winter crop, led to a set-back in wheat prices to-day after an early upturn. Initial strength here was in sympathy with higher quotations at Liverpool. Starting unchanged to 3-8c up, the grain market underwent a moderate general decline. Corn and oats were easy, corn opening unchanged to ¼c off, and later showing downturns. Provisions led to an advance.

Opening prices were: Wheat, May, 139 3-4; July 133½. Corn, May 76 5-8; July 81 1-8. Oats, May 45 1-8; July 45¼.

General Weakness To-day On Toronto Mine Market

TORONTO, Feb. 28 (Canadian Press).—A weaker feeling was noticeable in the trading on the Standard Mining Exchange to-day. Gains during the early market were outnumbered by the constant flow of declines, which, however, were on the whole of fractional and unimportant nature. McIntyre was the firmest feature on the list, advancing 20 cents a share to 27.25. Hollinger Consolidated, Wright Hargreaves, and Teck Hughes were weak spots in the dividend-paying gold stock list. Hollinger sold off 15 cents a share to 22.00, Teck Hughes 9 cents to 6.65, and Wright Hargreaves 15 cents to 10.60. Lake Shore sold upwards to 18.70, a gain of 20 cents a share. The Quebec issues were prominent and generally weaker. Duprat sold of ½c to 18, and Laval-Quebec ¼ to 39½. Victory Silver, Barry Hollinger and Nipissing were other stocks to sell on lower levels.

ANTIQUE EXHIBIT AT MURRAY STREET

Unique Function Given By Members of Mission Circle.

The West-End group of the Women's Mission Circle of Murray Street Baptist Church were hostesses at a very unique affair on Friday afternoon. Memories of the past and interesting events of bygone years were evoked in the exhibit of antiques which was held in the ladies' parlors during the afternoon and evening. There were on view quantities of old linens and china, pieces, some of them, over a century old, old silver and ancient documents, samplers and bedspreads and antique things of almost every description, and a musical instrument nearly two hundred years old. The exhibit, which proved exceptionally interesting, was in charge of Mrs. H. G. Webber and Mrs. S. Hetherington.

Refreshments were served during afternoon and evening, and a programme given, with piano solos by Mrs. J. Ellis and Miss Mildred Hetherington, vocal solos by Mrs. L. Ingram, Mrs. P. Blade, Miss Jean Padget, and little Betty Meyers of Toronto, who sang and recited also, and was accompanied on the piano by her aunt, Miss Frances Routley, readings by Miss Mildred Archer, piano numbers by Miss Elizabeth Webber, and songs with guitar accompanied by Miss E. Maybee. Accompanists were Miss E. Webber and Miss G. Donley.

ORCHESTRA GIVES SPLENDID CONCERT

All Saints' Sunday School Musicians Delight Audience.

A very pleasing convert was presented on Friday last to a most appreciative audience in the West Room of All Saints' Parish Hall, under the auspices of the Sunday School Orchestra. Under the direction of Mrs. C. Goodley, the orchestra, assisted by Stanley Northrop, rendered a number of very enjoyable selections, opening with "Nocturne" and closing the first half of the programme with an effective pizzicato number "In a Canoe," with 'cello solo. The dainty "Springtime Gavotte" opened the programme after the interval, the closing number being the beautiful old favorite "Afton Waters," and after repeated applause, a charming "Minuet" was also rendered.

The vocal soloist, Miss Jessie Pattison, was heard to good advantage in "Sundown," with encore of "My Ain Folk," which were greatly enjoyed, also in "Smilin' Thru," of which, after persistent applause, Miss Pattison repeated the last verse.

Mrs. J. A. Foster delighted the audience with her violin solos, which were played with her usual ease and charm. "Le Canari," her first number, was rendered at the request of the orchestra, and proved more popular than ever, with encore "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice." Mrs. Foster's second number, "The Brindisi Waltz," was thoroughly appreciated, as was the encore, the dainty "Souvenir."

Another interesting feature of the programme was the Trio, composed of Mr. A. McKeown, violin; Mr. R. Farthing, 'cello, and Mrs. C. Goodley, piano. The first number was the lovely "Greek Festdance," played in splendid style, with encore "Mignonette." The ever popular "Melodie in F" was rendered as a second number and the beautiful "Haydn's Minuet" as encore. All of these numbers were greatly enjoyed.

Mr. C. Coleman gave a number of humorous selections in his own very entertaining manner, which delighted his audience and earned him persistent applause. Mr. Coleman also proved his ability as an elocutionist, in a short humorous number regarding the "New Baby."

Mrs. C. Goodley acted as accompanist for the evening, with Miss Peggy Taylor orchestra pianist.

Bootleggers Use Publicity To Further Sale Of Wares

NEWARK, N.J., Feb. 28 (Canadian Press). — Bootleg rings have publicity agents if Colonel Ira L. Reeves, Prohibition Administrator, has it right.

The story in Philadelphia of the wireless operator of the British steamer "Glackamadas," that 10,000 cases of liquor were landed here, was a gigantic advertising scheme and bootleggers will probably sell 150,000 cases as a result, the Colonel insists.

FIRST DICTIONARY DAY.

Readers Urged to Present Coupons Early and Avoid Rush.

As the early bird enjoys the worm that he catches so those who present their coupons early will be the first to enjoy the benefits of a brand new dictionary for the mere distribution expense and only three little coupons.

Daily newspapers throughout the country are giving publicity to this great educational offer, and doubtless they will vie with each other as to the number of readers who will take advantage of it.

The fact that millions of dictionaries were distributed to newspaper readers through previous similar campaigns is proof of the great value of newspaper advertising.

DISCUSS PLANS OF CELEBRATING DOMINION DAY

Citizens Name Committee to Perfect Organization and Consider Programme.

MANY SUGGESTIONS

United Effort of People Sought and Programme Proposals Asked.

More definite formulation of plans for a fitting celebration of Canada's diamond jubilee was left to a committee appointed at last night's public meeting, which was called by His Worship Mayor Holloway for consideration of the matter. About 100 citizens, representative of various organizations in the city, responded to the call, and many suggestions were received. The Mayor was the unanimous choice of the gathering for the office of Chairman of the General Committee, and F. H. Dobbin was elected Secretary.

The committee named last night consists of the Mayor and Mr. Dobbin, with Messrs. J. J. Turner, R. Denne, Father Costello, Rev. J. W. Gordon, C. H. Ackerman, Warden J. A. Middleton, and representatives from the Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs and the I.O.D.E., the Local Council of Women and the Women's Canadian Club. Its duties will be to arrange for committees to carry out various phases of the activities and to get in touch with fraternal societies, service clubs, unions and professional associations and other bodies of a similar nature to see what part of the programme they would look after.

Among those who spoke, promising the support of various organizations, were: H. C. Huffman, Chairman of the Public Affairs Committee of the Kiwanis Club; Arthur Costello, Grand Knight of the Knights of Columbus; Rev. Father Costello, A. L. Killaly, for the Rotary Club; F. D. Kerr, K.C., Vice-President of the Chamber of Commerce; Ald. C. H. Ackerman, President of the Canadian Legion, and Ald. Roland Denne, President of the Exhibition Board.

Many suggestions were received and the committee will be pleased to have others turned in by citizens, either to Mr. Armstrong or Mr. Dobbin, so that the best ideas of the whole community may be assembled into a programme worthy of the occasion. A tentative programme, suggested by J. J. Turner, would have water sports in the morning, a parade with floats, etc., in the afternoon, leading to the Exhibition Grounds, where a suitable programme would be given, and a great gathering at night with

RIFLES SEIZED BY U. S. VESSEL

NO REASON GIVEN.

WASHINGTON, March 1 (Canadian Press).—The seizure by the United States mine sweeper Pigeon at Hankow of the arms of one hundred Chinese soldiers who had debarked from the Standard Oil vessel Mai Hung was reported today to the Navy Department. No reason for the seizure was given.

The vessel, commandeered by the Chinese, was used for transporting troops. The arms are to be turned over to the proper Chinese authorities through the United States Consul General. When the Mei Hung arrived at Hankow it went alongside a pontoon above the customs house and moored there. Yesterday the Pigeon towed her to a berth alongside the United States gunboat Isabel, flagship of the Yangtse patrol force. The soldiers aboard were landed without trouble but their arms, consisting of 500 rifles and ammunition, were taken aboard the Pigeon.

IN POLICE COURT.

Two years less one day in the Ontario Reformatory, was the sentence given by His Worship Magistrate O. A. Langley, this morning, to a resident of Guelph, formerly of this city, who pleaded guilty to a charge of bigamy. On another charge of non-support preferred against him by his wife, whom he deserted, he was awarded three months in the same institution. The sentences will run concurrently.

Rails Worth Million Condemned As Useless

CAPETOWN, South Africa, Mar. 1—(Via Reuter's)—Steel rails worth £200,000, imported from continental steel firms, have been condemned as useless by South African railway experts.

Importation of iron and steel into the union has been looked upon unfavorably for some time, and a bill for promotion of the country's iron and steel industries has already been given first reading in the assembly. A semi-official corporation is to be founded, which will aid in this development.

NATIONALISTS CLAIM VICTORY NEAR SUNGKIANG

No Official Reports Received In Shanghai—Chang Concentrates Troops.

DISSENSION FEARED.

Shanghai General Refuses To Act With Northern Armies.

SHANGHAI, March 1 (Canadian Press).—Nationalist sources to-day declared that Marshal Sun Chuan Fang's troops defending Shanghai had suffered another defeat near Sungkiang, twenty-eight miles south of here. Confirmation of the report could not be obtained from competent authorities. However, local Cantonese often receive battle information far ahead of official reports.

The troops of General Chang Tsung Chang, military governor of Shantung Province, who has come to Sun's aid, continue to arrive from Nanking, 210 miles west of here. Most of the northern troops are concentrating in the vicinity of Shanghai, very few of them going to Sun's front. A battalion of Coldstream Guards arrived to-day at Hong Kong from England.

Dissension in Defense.

Serious dissension between the two allied northern armies defending Shanghai against the Cantonese was foreshadowed to-day when one of the leading generals of Marshal Sun Chuan Fang, nominal master of this territory, refused to fight with the Shantung forces, which are coming to Sun's aid. The dissenting General, Meng Chao Yueh, who had previously given Marshal Sun a good deal of trouble and his staff deserted this morning. General Meng commanded a division.

What action his leaderless division is taking is not known at present, but further serious dissension is feared in the defending armies, which are digging in at Sunkiang for an expected attack by the Cantonese.

The Shantung troops of Chang Tsung Chang, now the foremost military power in this region, were

THE WEATHER

The thermometer this morning stood at three degrees below zero. While March has not come in stormy, it can hardly be considered as having entered with lamb-like conditions. I have been told of robins having been seen by several, also blue-birds, (probably blue jays) as the real blue-bird has the reputation of never making the mistake of arriving too early. Some of the blue jays remain all winter, while the bluebird never comes until spring is well established. A few grosbeaks and other birds from the north, have also been seen, generally picking the red berries from the mountain ash. Around Toronto and Western Ontario Arctic owls have been seen, but I have not heard of any around here. —W. P.

TORY PARTY IS DIVIDED OVER DEBT PAYMENT

FAVOR TAXATION.

Younger Conservatives Bitterly Oppose Colwyn Report For Payment.

LONDON, March 1. — The Chancellor of the exchequer, Winston Churchill, is soon likely to find himself the centre of a prolonged battle on the issue of what principles are going to govern British finance in the future. The Colwyn report recently submitted to the government urges the speedy payment of the country's debts and favors high taxation, but the industrial section of the Tory party, particularly the younger members, are bitterly opposed to the perpetuation of these, which are not only handicapping British trade, but are making it almost impossible to inaugurate new ventures.

Double Burden.

It is declared that the younger traders and industrialists, in addition to bearing the burden of having fought in the war are being further handicapped by heavy taxation due to the war, and that tightening of credit everywhere is now favoring long-established concerns, which accumulated huge profits during the years preceding the armistice, particularly banks and other financial houses.

Labor is exploiting this sentiment, and favoring a devoted capital levy, which it claims will wipe out the national indebtedness and free the rising generation of the financial shackle of war.

Middle Course.

Churchill is expected to steer a middle course, but the Conservatives fear that the losses shown in his forthcoming budget, and the heavy taxation, will afford the Laborites another opportunity of making the government unpopular throughout the country, besides enlisting the support of many of the middle classes, who have hitherto voted for the Tories.

FIND LEAD MINE AT BURNT RIVER

Galena With 75 Per Cent. Lead Content Claimed.

IN THIS DISTRICT

(Special Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, March 1. — A rich find of lead is reported to have been made in the Burnt River district, fifteen miles from Fenelon Falls, and six miles from the Burnt River station. The property, which is held by the Summerville Lead Mines Limited, comprises 100 acres. One deposit that is emphasized as outstanding in value, is 175 feet long, and ten feet deep, and the ore varies in width from two to six inches, averaging four inches. This ore is said to be practically pure galena, with a 75 per cent. lead content worth approximately $130 a ton.

The company launching this mine is quoting shares at 60c, with a block of 50,000 shares already ticketed for one big buyer.

The Burnt River discovery is coming close to Peterboro. The river itself flows through Kinmount, in the Galway corner of the county.

In the northern Peterboro townships mineralization has been reported for years, and lead, zinc and other ores found in quantities that for years fed hopes of a heavy strike.

The information from the Summerville Company is that their engineers thoroughly examined the property and that their assertions are correct.

Bachelors Will Have To Pay 3 Times As Much Tax As Married Men If Bill Is Passed In Saskatchewan

REGINA, Sask., March 1.—The Saskatchewan Legislators have decided that the bachelor deserves no sympathy from the tax collector and what is in effect an additional tax on their condition is to be imposed if present proposals pass the House, and there is no doubt they will.

As a result of the general prosperity of the province, the Government this year decided to increase the exemptions of bachlors from $1,000 to $1,500 in accordance with this.

But when the proposal came before the Committee, that body, the Legislators sitting as a whole, was frankly opposed. The increases for married men and people with dependents have been tentatively approved but the lonely bachelor is to have no further exemption from his original $1,000. So that to remain single it is going to cost them three times as much pro rata in income tax as the married man, a decision that may make the bachelor conclude two can live as cheaply as one.

RIVAL COUNTIES PRESS THEIR HIGHWAY CLAIMS TO MINISTER

Reeve Bygott Pleased With Henry's Promise of Consideration.

TO TOUR ROUTES

Peterborough-Belleville Highway Only a Petition So Far.

(Special Correspondence).

CAMPBEELLFORD, March 1. — The proposed Peterboro-Belleville highway was news to the Hon. Geo. S. Henry, Minister of Highways, at least so he professed to the deputation from Northumberland and Durham Counties which asked last week that the route be laid through Campbellford and Hastings instead of by way of Havelock and Marmora.

In spite of this unexpected and temporarily discouraging greeting, the local deputation pressed their plea and were informed by the Minister that no decision would be made until he had gone over the two courses this summer.

The deputation was composed of Reeve Bygott, Councillors Stone and Abernethy, Reeve Grills of Seymour, Reeve Hess and Councillors W. M. Fowlds and R. Doxsee of Hastings; Reeve Herb Nelson of Percy, Warden Elliott of Bowmanville, Reeve Elliott of Brighton Township, Deputy-Reeve Hooton of Cavan and Geo Greer of Cobourg, county roads superintendent.

The speakers during the interview with Hon. Mr. Henry were Reeves Bygott, Grills and Hess. They stressed the agricultural, power and scenic advantages of the Trent route, and especially its attractions to tourists.

It was while Reeve Hess was speaking that the Minister interrupted with a question that suggested the project was utterly strange to him to the effect, "What is this highway anyway, and who started the talk about it?"

The deputation was halted in its tracks, thrown into a quandary by a question that was as chilling as a cold douche. It may be difficult to recall the person who first proposed this highway scheme, but this fact is certain, the Peterboro-Foxboro - Belleville highway, as it was then called, was outlined in a resolution at the inaugural meeting of the Eastern Ontario Chamber of Commerce at Belleville last June. The Stirling delegates brought the resolution from their Council and the route then recommended was the Trent course through Stirling, Campbellford, Hastings, Norwood, and Peterboro.

The resolution was thrown out largely as a result of Belleville opposition, the objection being that this was merely a local matter and did not merit the attention of the august, fledgeling Chamber of Commerce for Eastern Ontario. It was from Hastings County, therefore, the idea of this highway emanated, but Hastings sentiment has modi-

Bootleggers Engineer Big Advertising Stunt

NEWARK, N.J., March 1—(Canadian Press Service)—Bootleg rings have publicity agents, it Colonel Ira L. Reeves, prohibition administrator, has it right.

The story in Philadelphia of the wireless operator of the British steamer Clackamas, that 10,000 cases of liquor were landed here, was a gigantic advertising scheme, and bootleggers will probably sell 150,000 cases as a result, the colonel insists.

BRING 22 BODIES FROM COLLIERY; MANY NOT FOUND

Feared That Those Entombed By Explosion at Newport Are Dead.

FUMES ARE BAD.

Eighty-five Men Brought Up Alive—Miners and Rescuers Gassed.

OWM, Wales, March 1.—(Canadian Press.)—Fifty-two coal miners are believed to have lost their lives as a result of an explosion early this morning which entombed them in the gas filled workings of the marine colliery here.

The toll of known dead early this afternoon was twenty-two, while hope had been abandoned of rescuing thirty others who were trapped in a section a mile and a half from the main shaft.

Hundreds of women and children, the families of the entombed men, gathered about the pit head and there were pathetite scenes as they rushed forward to identfy each man rescued. Throughout anxious hours the greatest heroism under tragedy was displayed by these watchers.

The disaster, which is one of the worst the Welsh have known in recent years, took place on their national day, St. David's Day, and the whole country was plunged into gloom.

Bring 22 Bodies Out.

NEWPORT, England, March 1. —(Canadian Press.)—At noon today twenty-two bodies were reported to have been found in the marine colliery where an explosion occurred this morning. Three injured men who could not be moved were also located. Twenty-five men were still entombed and it was feared might be dead. The gas was so bad that rescue work was suspended to allow ventilation of the mine. The fumes seriously hampered efforts of the large body of rescuers to reach the missing men. Many of the rescuers had to receive medical treatment, but volunteers immediately took their places.

Members of the night shift were working in a special part of the pit when the explosion occurred.

Freckle-Nosed Brunette Prettiest Girl In College

ATLANTA, Ga., March 1 (Canadian Press). — Gentlemen at the Lord's Club of Oglethorpe University evidently do not prefer blondes any more. They have announced that Miss Helen Nort, eighteen, a brunette with freckles on her nose, is their idea of the prettiest girl in the University.

FEWER BIRTHS; FEWER DEATHS

Marriages Show Only Gain Over Febraury of Last Year.

VITAL STATISTICS.

There was a decided decrease in the number of births in Peterboro during February over the same month a year ago; the same number of couples were married, and there was a decrease in the number of deaths. Last month there were 29 births, 11 marriages and 18 deaths, and in February, 1926, there were 43 births, 11 marriages and 22 deaths.

FEBRUARY FIRE DAMAGE SMALL

Thirty-five alarms were received by the fire department during the month of February and the fire loss amounted to $25. In February, 1926 there were 63 alarms responded to, with a fire loss of $1,646.48.

Shrove Tuesday Spent in Traditional Way at Westminster; School Boys Scramble For Pancake—Winner Gets Guinea

LONDON, March 1 (Canadian Press Cable).—The curious and ancient ceremony of "tossing the pancake," which is the method of celebrating Shrove Tuesday at Westminster School, was performed to-day. Across the timber-work of the roof of one of the fine old chambers a bar had been placed. Meanwhile a crowd of boys of the school was assembled in the large cleared space underneath, the surrounding parts of the chamber being filled a by a distinguished body of spectators.

Preceded by the beadle of Westminster Abbey, in marched the school cook with frying pan containing a thick, non-edible pancake. Standing in the middle of the room the cook made a pretty swirl with the pan and then flung the pancake over the bar. At once arose among the boys a wild scramble for the largest portion. The lad securing this was possessed of both courage and strength, apart from any question of luck. When the struggle subsided the victor was conducted to the Dean of Westminster, who rewarded him with with a guinea.

How this event had its origin is not known. There is a tradition that when King Henry the Eighth founded the college of Westminster he put the headmaster and the ushers into the Abbey kitchen and the cook provided a meal merely by tossing something from the oven among the crowd.

Some years ago King George and Queen Mary attended the tossing of the pancake.

NOW DECLARES NO IMPROPRIETY BY CHIEF NEWHALL SUGGESTED IN EMPLOYMENT OF CONSTABLE

Did Not Mean That Policeman Was Doing Chief's Private Work While He Was Paid By the Police Commission.

EXPRESSES REGRET FOR 'MISUNDERSTANDING'

Alderman Does Not Deny Making Statements on Friday, But Says He Did Not Intend To Convey the Meaning Expressed.

Alderman Walter Stocker has apologized to Chief Constable Newhall for statements he made at last Thursday's meeting of the Committee of the Whole Council. Mr. Stocker does not deny having made the allegations, but declares that he did not intend to suggest any impropriety on the part of the Chief. Regret for any misunderstanding of his statements is expressed.

Samuel Newhall, Esq.,
Chief Constable,
City.

Dear Sir.—I notice in Friday night's Examiner that I am reported to have said that you made a convenience of the City by hiring a man on the Police Force in the winter time and using him to work in your garden in the summer time.

I did not mean to suggest, nor did I have it in mind, that any member of the Police Force was doing work for you while he was being paid by the Police Commission or the City. The only thought I had in mind was that a member of the Police Force, when he was not being employed by the City during the summer month, had been employed by you, and I want to make it clear that I never suggested any impropriety on your part by the words I used.

I regret any misunderstanding might have been attached to what I said, and I understand now that you were not, as a matter of fact, making the City a convenience by the Police Commission employing this member of the Force.

Yours truly,
WALTER STOCKER.

TROTSKY MAKES BITTER ATTACK UPON ENGLAND

Former Commissar For War Returns After Long Time in Retirement.

PROTEST USELESS.

British Note Sent To Distract Russia's Attention From China, He Says.

MOSCOW, March 1. Canadian Press. — Making his first appearance after months of retirement, Leon Trotsky, former commissar for war and marine, has launched a bitter attack against Great Britain.

Addressing a gathering yesterday he charged that Sir Austen Chamberlain, the British Foreign Secretary and his party, had authorized the execution of fifty strike breakers in Shanghai, adding:

"We would drown these foreign executioners and aid in sending them to perdition."

Referring to the British protest against the Soviet programme, he declared empahtically that a British note could prevent Soviet Russia from helping the Chinese. The real object in despatching the note, he said, was to "engage the Soviet's attention from China, while England increased her intervention there."

MOSCOW, March 1. — (United Press.)—The United States, Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan are trying to "throttle the youth movement in China," Leon Trotsky, former Minister of War of Soviet Russia declared in a speech tonight.

"We are accused of interfering with other nations, while troops of Britain are in Shanghai," he said.

The Chinese situation presents a struggle of the United States against Britain and Japan for control of Chinese markets, Trotsky added.

BREAK OPPOSED.

LONDON, March 1. — (United Press.)— Foreign Minister Chamberlain is strongly opposed to a break in diplomatic relations between England and Russia, it was learned to-day.

Government officials opposed to the break, hold that the Soviet reply is only what was to have been expected in response to a note that never should have been sent, and that the rupture of relations would only stimulate Russian propaganda.

MAY USE DAWES FUND TO MEET CLAIMS FOR LOSSES DURING WAR

If Legislation Now Under Consideration Brought Down This Session.

INVESTIGATE CASES.

Anticipated That the Total Award Will Not Exceed $10,000,000.

OTTAWA, Mar. 1—If legislation which is now under consideration by the government is brought down this session, as is likely, the amount which Canada receives from the operations of the Dawes plan of war reparations will be set aside to meet the claims of those who suffered loss es during the war.

An investigation into these cases has been in progress for some years. The original commissioner was Hon. William Pugsley, who dealt with a considerable number of cases, but never reported on any. He was succeeded by H. J. Friel, K.C., of Moncton, who has submitted an interim report that covers all the cases heard by Mr. Pugsley, as well as those by himself up to date. In each one a final award is made, but the secretary of state expressed the view in the House the other day that it would be inadvisable to bring down the initial report until all the cases shall have been completed. Nevertheless, this course may not be followed and the Friel finding may be made public.

Total $10,000,000.

The total of claims for reparations originally aggregated something like $58,000,000, but many of them were wiped out altogether or modified, while some were not proceeded with. It is anticipated that the total awards will not exceed $10,000,000. Such being the case the operations of the Dawes plan as affecting Canada will eventually produce sufficient funds to meet the awards in the different cases. The payments in respect of this fund are remitted quarterly by the British government, and they amount to about $4),000 each. The amount received up to the end of December aggregated just under $4,-000,000, while the ultimate amount is figured at between $8,000,000 and $10,000,000. It is believed that the legislation now under advisement, which as stated, would set aside the Dawes funds for the liquidation of the claims; will be introduced and proceeded with.

Weeping Of Little Girl Saves 13 From Death

MONTREAL, March 1.—(Canadian Press).—Tears of four-year-old Lucienne Lepine, when she awoke early today and found two pet canaries, in a cage by her bed, dead, saved thirteen persons from suffocation. The cries of the little girl awakened the family, who found the house filled with smoke and they in turn aroused another family in the building. The occupants made their way to a verandah on the second storey of house where they were forced to remain until firemen came with ladders and brought them down.

OBITUARY.

JAMES HENRY CLIFFORD.

WARSAW, March 1.—On Wednesday Mr. James Henry Clifford passed away at his home, after an illness of over two years, which was borne with true Christian fortitude. Those who were with him during his illness, joy in telling how very thoughtful he was at all times.

Mr. Clifford was in his seventy-first year; he was born in Cavan, but when a child accompanied his parents to a farm near Apsley, where he lived until twenty-seven years ago, when he and his family moved to a farm in Dummer, where he lived until his decease.

Forty-two years ago he married Annie MacIntosh, who died at their home about five years ago. To the couple were born four children, Margaret who married Mr. Archer, and lives in Fenelon Falls; Fred, who lives near the homestead; John, who lives on the homestead, and Sadie, who died about eight years ago. One brother, Robert Clifford, living in Peterborough, and two sisters, Mrs. Coons in Peterborough, and Mrs. John Anderson, living in Toronto, also survive him.

He was a man well known, and highly respected in the community. For some time he was a member of the school board. He belonged to the Orange order and was a staunch Presbyterian.

The funeral took place on Friday from the family residence to Warsaw cemetery, where the body was laid to rest. Rev. H. B. Herrington conducted the services at the house and at the grave. A very large number gathered to pay their last respects to him. The pallbearers were Messrs. John Rose, John Moore, Joe Tedford, William Bell, Fred Morgan and William Davis.

What might have been a serious accident happened as the last few cutters of the funeral cortege passed the Presbyterian church. A team, which had been tied in the church shed, in some way became frightened and broke loose, and took themselves out of the shed. Mr. E. Hawthorne saw the driverless team coming, and ready for a run, jumped from the cutter and caught them. Another man in an effort to stop them, turned his cutter too short and broke the shaft.

MRS BRIMFIED.

NORWOOD, March 1. — Mrs. Brimfield, who resided in Norwood for several years with her daughter, Mrs. F. B. Garlick, passed away on Feb. 17th in the Kensington Hospital, West Oxford, England, at the age of 76 years.

MRS. GEORGE FORD.

NORWOOD, March 1.—The death occurred on Wednesday night last, at the family residence, Spring Street, Norwood, of Mrs. George Ford, a highly respected resident of this community. The deceased, who was in her 69th year, had been in poor health for the past several months. She was of a quiet disposition, and loved by all who were fortunate enough to know her. Besides her sorrowing husband, she is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Stanley Johnston, of Otonabee, and two sons, Messrs. Thomas and Howard, of Asphodel, also one sister, Mrs. William Ford, of Toronto, and two brothers, Mr. James Cameron of Peterboro and Mr. William Cameron of Western Canada.

The funeral was held on Saturday afternoon from the family residence and was conducted by Rev. George Aitken, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, of which the deceased was a faithful member. Interment was made in the Norwood Cemetery.

WALTER E. JACKSON.

The funeral of the late Walter E. Jackson, who departed this life Feb. 19, 1927, was held from the family residence, 3653 Baldwin avenue, Detroit, Mich., Feb. 22, to the Woodvale cemetery. The funeral service was conducted at the house by a beloved pastor of the Presbyterian church, who was pastor for fifteen years of the church which the deceased attended. He is now in Philadelphia, but came eight hundred miles to perform the last sad rites. The funeral and services at the grave were conducted by the Masonic Order, of which deceased was a member. The floral contributions were many and bore silent testimony to the high esteem in which the deceased was held by a very large circle of friends. Standing beside his bed when he peacefully passed away to a quiet sleep, were his son, Walter E. Jackson and three of his brothers. He retained his mental faculties quite clear through his period of sickness, which lasted over five months, and knew all his friends until about three hours before he passed away. One friend most worthy of notice was Mr. Fred Morrison, who never missed a day in the whole period of his sickness without visiting him and spending some time with him. Greater love hath no man than this that a man lay down or set aside his own life for his friend.

DISCUSS PLANS

community singing of patriotic songs and a fireworks display.

Mr. Dobbin recalled that on July 1, 1867, a number of men had decided to celebrate the first Dominion Day, and made a great bonfire on top of Armour's Hill. He suggested that this could be done this year, and it was stated that the proposed national programme included the lighting of beacon fires all over Canada.

Art Costello suggested that a pageant, such as was presented by the United Empire Loyalists at their celebration in Belleville a few years ago, might be arranged, showing important events in the history of Canada. This would be both interesting and instructive and would also produce revenue to help defray the expenses.

E. F. Reid proposed that nine organizations be asked to prepare floats, each one to be representative of one of the nine Provinces.

E. A. Peck, M.P., advanced the suggestion that special services be held in the churches the Sunday before, and that on the last preceding day of school addresses on the significance of the event be given the school children. It was also proposed that Inspector Mowat and Miss Rannie, the music instructor of the schools, be asked to prepare a programme of music for the children to present at the celebration.

Among others who offered suggestions were Aldermen R. S. Cotton and J. M. Greene, Dr. J. J. Craig, R. E. Layfield and F. G. Stinson. The Mayor, in a closing address, urged the assistance of all citizens, especially those present, so that the celebration might be put over with a vim to show patriotism and love of country. His Worship then acted as leader for the hearty singing of the National Anthem.

ROADS COMMISSIONER

GEORGE H. HOOTON.

Deputy-reeve of Cavan township and chairman of the Roads and Bridges committee of Northumberland and Durham counties council and general chairman of the special roads commission. Mr. Hooton has not entirely given up hope of having the Peterborough-Lindsay highway diverted through his township instead of the original route through Peterborough and Smith township. Last week he attended the Good Roads Association convention in Toronto and was with the deputation that appealed to Hon. G. S. Henry to direct the proposed Peterborough-Belleville highway through Campbellford and Hastings. Deputy-reeve Hooton is a prominent agriculturist and is well known in Peterborough and throughout the district.

fied the original design diverting the road at Stirling by way of Marmora and Havelock; and representations urging this route were made to the Minister by a Hastings County deputation on the day following the visit of the Northumberland-Durham petitioners.

Apparently Hon. Mr. Henry has now heard "both sides of the case" for the first and probably not the last time.

If the highway project from Belleville to Peterboro was unknown to the Minister, it was familiar to his colleague of the Cabinet, the Hon. J. R. Cooke.

Reeve Bygott said he was quite pleased with the reception accorded the deputation by Hon. Mr. Henry, who said the work certainly would not be undertaken this year. However, it is hoped the Department will include it in the work and estimates for 1928.

Rector Appointed.

Rev. Clark Wallace of Toronto has been appointed rector of Christ Church and will begin his pastorate on Sunday, March 20th. Rev. Mr. Wallace is at present curate at Grace Church, St. Clair Avenue. The Christ Church has been without a resident minister for four months.

Bridge Is Assumed.

Reeve Nelson of Percy Township stated yesterday that the Hastings bridge has been assumed as a county bridge by the Government, requiring only the County Council's assenting by-law. This proposal was made by Reeve Nelson at the January session of the County Council and was relayed to the Department last week. By this change the Government bears half the cost of the maintenance of the bridge.

TRIBES HONOR ROYAL PARTY

NEW ZEALAND TOUR.

ROTORUA, New Zealand, March 1 (Canadian Press Cable, via Reuter's). — Maoris numbering 2,000 from all parts of New Zealand greeted the Duke and Duchess of York at the Rotorua race-course yesterday, when they visited Rotorua in the course of their tour of the North Island. It was one of the greatest native gatherings in history, and was held in glorious weather.

As the royal couple, accompanied by Premier J. G. Coates and Sir Maui Pomare, native minister, advanced to the grandstand, a party of natives did a spirited dance of welcome, which was followed by a fierce war dance executed by Arawa tribesmen in full war paint and feathers, waving spears and battle-axes. Before the royal visitors took their seats Sir Maui placed around the shoulders of each a Maori Mat, while feathers were stuck in the Duke's cap and the Duchess's hat. A little green stone tiki (image of an ancestor) was hung round the latter's neck.

Read Message.

Amid the acclamations of the natives, Premier Coates read a Maori message of welcome, couched in picturesque terms. "Thus is fulfilled the word which we spoke on this ground to your eldest brother, that those who govern this far-flung empire should walk and talk with its peoples in all its severed parts and so understand and be understood of them," the message said. "This is a welcome messenger of the era to be, when space and distance may be of small account and when words and works may encircle the globe as does the sun, so that no part of the empire may brood in gloom or conspire for evil. Welcome to the royal son and his august lady. Loyalty has become the tradition of the Maori tribes, who know the value of the things for which the crown stands."

The Duke began his reply with "Tenako Tou," which is Maori speech for greetings to all, and concluded by wishing them 'Kiaora,' native for good luck. After he had presented Sir Maui Pomare with silver knobbed walking sticks for the chiefs, the performance began. It comprised dances by barefooted and shingled Maori maidens and energetic "Hakas" by the men.

At the conclusion the Duke and Duchess walked through the ranks of the natives, who chanted melodious farewell ditties which changed to a mighty shout as the royal car drove away.

Unveil Memorial.

There was a moving scene at the Government Gardens later, when the Duke unveiled a memorial to Arawa tribesmen who died in the war. The memorial was a noble stone monument surmounted by a statue of His Majesty with a life-size figure of a Maori warrior, hurling a spear, in the foreground. Many Maori ex-service men were present at the ceremony.

The Duke and Duchess arrived at the Takapu fishing camp, near Tokanui, at eight o'clock last evening, after a journey of 100 miles from Roturua. All along the route they were cheered by little knots of white and Maori settlers. Darkness had fallen as the procession of 20 cars wound its way along the shores of the lake until they reached a blazing bonfire of welcome, around which the Maori inhabitants of Tokanui had gathered to greet the royal visitors, on their way to the camp on the banks of the Tongariro River. The Duke and Duchess quickly settled down to a novel life in electrically-lighted tents, assured of a quiet two days and good sport.

They are to arrive at Wellington on March 5.

JEWELRY STOLEN.

Safe of Store in Miami Was Blown Open—Loss Heavy.

MIAMI, March 1.—(Canadian Press).—The safe of the Sutton and Gibson jewelry store was blown open today and cash and jewels with an estimated value of between seventy-five and a hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars stolen. The robbers were believed to have worked throughout the night.

Pope Denounces Indecency Of the Present Fashions

ROME, March 1 (Canadian Press).—Pope Pius again denounced "the indecency of women's fashions," when he received yesterday the preachers who will deliver sermons during Lent in the churches of Rome. The Pontiff urged them to recommend strongly "the dignity of a human Christian costume, making the people feel the need to abandon certain tolerances in dances and fashions, unworthy not only of Christians but any creature with a feeling of human dignity."

Czar's Vodka Burned In Mexican Warehouse

SAN DIEGO, March 1.—(Canadian Press).—Six cases of Smarnoff Vodka from the cellars of the last Czar of Russia, and probably the last of this particular kind of liquor left on earth, was destroyed by the fire yesterday that burned the Mexican Government bonded warehouse at Ensenada with a total loss of imported liquors estimated at $100,000. The vodka was purchased from Soviet officials in Leningrad last year.

INCREASE RANGE OF WARSHIP GUNS

For Second Time Since Conference Washington House Passes Bill.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—(Canadian Press.)—For the second time since the Washington arms conference, the House passed a bill to authorize an appropriation to increase the firing range of guns on the battleships Oklahoma and Nevada. It was sent to the Senate by a vote of 243 to 111.

Representative Britten, of Illinois, ranking republican on the naval committee, said funds for this purpose had been requested by secretary Wilbur who took the position that elevation of the guns would not be in conflict with provisions of the arms treaty. The last congress appropriated money for elevation of guns on eleven battleships, but subsequently repealed the act upon request of Charles E. Hughes, the Secretary of State.

HEARING STARTED FOR LIBEL ACTION

Woodstock Sentinel-Review Seeks Damages For Comment Involving Liquor.

WOODSTOCK, Ont., March 1 (Canadian Press). — Mr. Justice Logie and an Ontario Supreme Court jury yesterday afternoon commenced the hearing of the action for $50,000 damages for alleged libel, brought by The Woodstock Sentinel-Review against The Toronto Evening Telegram. The action is based upon certain articles which appeared in The Evening Telegram during the Dominion Election campaign of 1926, in which it was alleged that "Burglars denuded The Sentinel-Review's cellar of its alcoholic contents," while that paper was advocating the enforcement of the Ontario Temperance Act. The plaintiffs declare that the liquor in question was never in the newspaper's cellar.

The defendant newspaper says that certain liquor had been stolen from the private cellar of W. J. Taylor, President of The Sentinel-Review Publishing, and that the account of the theft was published in The Sentinel-Review. The whole incident, say the defendants, was a matter of interest to the public.

Before commencing the trial of the action yesterday, Mr. Justice Logie declined the application of the plaintiff to strike out certain paragraphs of the statement of defence.

YOUTH FACES MURDER CHARGE

Harold J. Croarkin, of Chicago, On Trial For Slaying Youngster.

PLEAD INSANITY.

CHICAGO, March 1 (Canadian Press).—Slouched in his chair, staring vacantly from behind shell rimmed glasses and biting his lips nervously, Harold J. Croarkin, 16-year-old scion of a well-to-do Chicago family, yesterday heard the State demand he be hanged for slaying six-year-old Walter Schmith, Jr.

The child was beaten to death with a blacksmith's hammer in the loft of the Devon Riding Academy last December.

Croarkin confessed the slaying immediately after he was surrendered to the police by his relatives, but since has repudiated the confession, and his defence will be insanity.

Robert E. Crowe, State's Attorney outlined the case to the jury for the prosecution, referring to another incident involving Croakin with attentions to a little girl, and concluded with a demand for the death penalty for the protection of other children.

On the other hand, the defence said it would prove that Croarkin had been insane for a long time.

Hally, the Goof."

"Hally, the goof, a boy who has never become a man," began Patrick O'Donnell, in the opening statement of the defence.

"A child lacking in mind and manhood and, when the protection of his father and mother was gone, beyond control, with the result that now he is here."

"He had no capacity for learning," said the lawyer. "In all his classes among all the boys, in all the games in which he tried to participate, he was known as 'the goof.' He was always separated from the crowd, always alone and never was able to take care of himself."

Miss Agnes Furlong, former sweetheart of Croarkin, to whose home he rushed immediately after he slew the little boy, came to the Court room yesterday afternoon to testify for the State. She refused to pose for photographers and when one made a flashlight exposure she fainted. Bailiffs spent fifteen minutes in trying to revive her.

Mrs. Walter Schmith, clad in heavy mourning, made her first public appearance since her son was slain, when she came to the criminal courts building to testify. Her face was marked with grief.

BAND CONCERT

Given by Northumberland Regiment Band at Campbellford on Sunday.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 1. — The Northumberland Regiment Band gave another successful band concert in the Regent Theatre on Sunday evening. The band, under the capable leadership of the bandmaster, Mr. W. Pearson, is giving some excellent treats to the community. Mr. G. A. Kingston acted as chairman, and the following programme was given:

Overture by the Band.

Waltz—"Fairy Dreams," by the Band.

Violin solo—Mr. J. Brown. Encore—"Annie Laurie."

Selection—"Home Songs," "When you and I were young, Maggie," "Believe me, if all those endearing young charms," "Pop Goes the Weasel," "My bonnie lies over the ocean," "Home, Sweet Home," "Auld Lang Syne."

Selection—"Bells of St. Malo."

March—"Duty's Delight."

Hymn by the Band — "Onward Christian Soldiers."

Mr. Kingston, in a few words, extended appreciation to the Band for their entertainment, also to Captain Hyland for the use of the hall.

The Band then played the National Anthem.

L. O. L. No. 36, will hold a social evening in their lodge rooms in the Turner block, on Thursday evening, March 3rd. Cards at 8 o'clock.

RESIGNS PARTY.

English Labor Resigns Following Differences of Opinion.

LONDON, March 1 (Canadian Press).—Dr. Leslie Haden Guest, Labor Member of Parliament for the north division of Southwark, has resigned from the Labor Party owing to a differenec of opinion on the China policy of that body. Dr. Guest maintains that it is impossible to leave British nationals unprotected in Shanghai. The Labor party demands the withdrawal of British ships and landing forces from China.

Dr. Guest says he has no intention of joining the Conservatives and will retain his seat in the House for the present, acting as an Independent.

GENERAL CAPTURED.

Cossack Leader To Be Tried By Soviet Courts.

MOSCOW, March 1.—(Canadian Press).—It is announced that General Annenkoff, Cossack director of South Siberia in 1918-19, whom the Bolshevists charged with responsibility for the deaths of hundreds of peasant rebels, has been arrested in the territory of the Soviet Union and will soon be tried.

COURT CANCELS DOHENY LEASES

Contract To Build Storage Tanks Also Found Tainted By Fraud.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—(Canadian Press).—The government won today its fight to cancel the oil leases and contracts awarded Edward L. Doheny while Edward Fall was secretary of interior. In a sweeping opinion the court held that the lease by which the Doheny interests were to develop the Elk Hills naval oil reserve and the contract by which they were to build storage facilities at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, were tainted by fraud and corruption.

The decision cancelled both lease and contract, confirming the findings of the lower court.

SOLDIERS SUPPRESS MEXICAN BANDITS

Small Outbreaks Throughout Republic Caused By Un-Co-ordinated Groups.

MEXICO CITY, March 1.—(Canadian Press.)—Bandits and rebels who have become active again during the past few days in various parts of the republic are members of small and unco-ordinated groups which are quickly being suppressed, the war department announced yesterday.

Federal troops captured the town of San Francisco del Rincon in the State of Guanajuato, driving out rebels who had occupied it. The casualties were not stated in the army report.

Thirty bandits attacked the town of Suchitlan in the state of Colima, looted it and fled after killing nine townspeople. Federal troops are pursuing the outlaws.

A half dozen cases of bandits attacking and looting ranches in the State of Jalisco also have been reported.

Coal exported from America to Ireland during the British coal strike was found to have 15 per cent more heat than British coal.

WARSHIPS MOVING TOWARD SHANGHAI

American Vessels From Pacific Stations in Chinese Waters.

WASHINGTON. March 1. — (Canadian Press.)—The destroyers William B. Preston and Sicard have been ordered from Manila to Shanghai.

Other destroyers reported moving toward Shanghan as part of ordinary fleet routine are the McLeigh from Chinkiang; Simpson from Nanking; and Sulmer from Wuhu. The Preble, moving up the Yangtse, will replace the Bulmer at Wuhu.

The Pruitt has departed from Shanghai for Amoy, and the gunboat Villalobos has moved down the Yangtse from Shanghai to Hankow.

Shipping conditions on the Yangtse river are described as intolerable due to commandeering of vessels by Chinese military authorities, in a report received to-day from Consul-General Dockart at Hankow. All foreign vessels with the exception of two or three American ships have been either tied up at Hankow or sent to Shanghai to await improvement in the situation, he said.

The recent demonstration in Hankow, although the largest ever held in the city, passed off without undue incidents, the message added. The parade of demonstrators took about an hour and a half in passing a given point. Shouts of "Down with Sun Chuan Fang" and "Down with Chang Tso Lin," two of the war lords of the Northern Chinese aliance, marked the parade.

RANDOM SHOOTING AT TROOP TRAINS

Shots at U. S. Marines Believed Fired By Irresponsible Individuals.

CORINTO, Nicaragua, Mar. 1.—(United Press).—Random shots have been fired at troop trains carrying United States marines detailed to guard duty at Nicaraguan cities. The shots were believed to have been fired by irresponsible individuals as there was no attempt at a concerted attack on the trains.

New marine corps were established at Masaya and Grenada, where civilians had expressed alarm at nearby activities of Sacasa liberal troops.

SENATOR GOULD AWARDED SEAT

Committee Recommends Dropping of Charges Against Him.

DENIED FRAUD.

WASHINGTON, March 1. — (Canadian Press).—The right of Senator Gould, Republican, Maine, to a place in the Senate was upheld today in the report of the Senate elections sub-committee which investigated the charges against him. The sub-committee members recommended that the charges, which revolved about an alleged payment of one hundred thousand dollars to the late J. K. Fleming, former premier of New Brunswick, in connection with a railway contract several years ago be dropped.

The investigation of Senator Gould's qualifications was made at the instance of Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana. Gould, on the witness stand, denied that any fraud was involved.

HURT ARM IN FALL FROM BOX CAR

Sustains painful injury but gets quick relief

In a fall from the top of a box car, a freight brakeman on the Chicago and Northwestern Railway badly sprained his left arm and tore some of the ligaments.

"I suffered great pain," he writes from Belle Plaine, Iowa. "Then I got a bottle of Sloan's Liniment and it relieved the pain right away."

Sloan's gets results because it doesn't just deaden the pain. It stirs up the body to throw off the cause.

Just pat it on lightly. No need to rub. Sloan's does the whole job. Get a bottle today. All druggists—35 cents.

GIRL COULDN'T SLEEP ON LEFT SIDE

"I had gas on the stomach so bad that I couldn't lie on my left side and could not walk two blocks without resting. I have taken only half a bottle of Adlerika and am much better already."—Lillie Lamar.

Because Adlerika acts upon BOTH upper and lower bowel, it gives the system a REAL cleansing, and clears out old poisons, which usually cause sour, gassy stomach, nervousness, sleeplessness, headache. Just ONE spoonful stops GAS, and relieves that full, bloated feeling so that you can eat better and sleep better. Even if bowels move daily, Adlerika brings out much additional poison which you never guessed was in your system, and which may have long caused trouble. No matter what you have tried for stomach and bowels, Adlerika will surprise you. At leading druggists.

THE VETERANS OF '66.

The death of Robert J. Sanderson has left another gap in the ranks of Peterborough's little force of the veterans of 1866, only a few of the men who answered Canada's call for service sixty-one years ago remaining to talk over old days.

Looking back at the Fenian Raid in the light of what has happened since, the war excitement of 1866 to many seems to have been overdrawn, but the attack upon Canada was a very serious menace in the eyes of the people in Ontario at that time, and those who volunteered for service did so, prepared to lay down their lives in defence of the homeland.

"The Last Post" has been sounded for most of the gallant band; the passing of the years has caused heavy casualties in the ranks until a roll call today would find but a handful to answer "Here."

A JUNIOR SOCIETY.

The formation of a Junior Humane Society in Peterborough should prove of valuable assistance to the senior society in protecting our dumb animals.

The desirability of kindness to animals can be impressed with lasting effect upon youngsters, and a live junior society will justify its existence by educational work along this line.

Our public school teachers have of their own accord accomplished much in training their youthful pupils to be humane.

The fact that a colony of squirrels exists in Central Park unmolested by the hundreds of children who use that spot as a playground is proof that the teachers have been successful.

There was a time when a squirrel, a group of small boys and a few convenient stones represented all the elements of a speedy tragedy, but to the credit of the boys of today and to their teachers the busy chattering squirrels continue to frisk about Central Park, quite safe from attack at the hands of the youngsters.

THE INCOME TAX.

Captain Innes of the Dominion Trade Bureau, who addressed the Peterborough Rotary Club yesterday on the desirability of abolishing the Dominion income tax, made the interesting statement that as the Government had practically admitted that the tax could not be collected from the farmers it might as well declare the farming industry exempt from the operations of the Act.

The last figures show that 244,000 returns were made under the Income Tax Act, and only 3,068 of these came from farmers, who contributed among them only $166,000 of the $56,000,000 collected from the tax.

As against this small total employees numbered 72 per cent. of those who paid income tax, and Captain Innes stressed what has been pointed out in these columns that there was no opportunity for employees to evade the tax, because their employers were required to furnish the Government with details of their wages and income.

The small returns from the farms, especially in view of three years' good crops in the Prairie Provinces, as compared with the amount paid by urban workers undoubtedly explain the unpopularity of the income tax among the employees' class, as well as the anxiety of the Canadian Council of Agriculture and other farm organizations that the tax should be maintained at its present level or even increased.

The worker in the city believes there is something wrong with a system of taxation that produces only $166,000 in revenue from the basic industry of this country.

THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

With the annual meeting of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce one of the events of the present month, the next few weeks will see a drive for more members for this splendid organization.

In view of what the Chamber has been able to accomplish and of the low fee for membership as compared with those in vogue in other cities where a permanent organization is maintained, it is surprising to find that any special effort should be required to keep the strength of the organization at its normal level.

Not only in its own district is the influence of the local Chamber of Commerce being felt; it has been responsible for bringing about changes that are for the general benefit.

The decision of the Federal authorities to increase the period that United States tourists may spend in Canada to two months with the option of another thirty days was inspired by the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce, which for two years has fathered a resolution to that effect before the Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce of Ontario.

Recently this matter was brought before Premier Mackenzie King by a deputation from the Ontario body, and A. J. Reynolds, Treasurer of the Peterborough Chamber, was one of the speakers, who pointed out the desirability of the change as a means of increasing tourist traffic.

The Chamber of Commerce with its affiliated organizations has taken the lead in many such activities, and has proven itself a live-wire, wide-awake body whose opinion is regarded with respect by Provincial and Federal Governments.

With a permanent staff whose services are utilized in many ways in serving the interests of its members, the Chamber is able to offer real value for the annual membership fee, which, as already been pointed out, is the lowest in the Province for organizations of this nature.

There is a very important field of service for the Chamber of Commerce, and in view of its record of achievement, its membership should be double the present strength and that without any need of a membership campaign.

THE NEW OTTAWA SPIRIT.

Many Canadians accustomed to protracted and contentious debates upon the Budget must have rubbed their eyes when they read in the daily press that the ending of the Budget debate at Ottawa was in sight after little more than a week had been spent upon the discussion of its provisions—a period at which other Budget debates have only been in their inception. If Parliament was very widely (and perhaps not improperly) criticized upon other occasions for having frittered away both time and money in lengthy and sometimes useless speech-making upon subjects that were, after all, mere quibblings and technicalities, it has already done a great deal to make amends and to improve the opinion in which it is held throughout the country. It has shown the electors that public business may be conducted with despatch and that, in spite of such despatch, public interests need not suffer. It is business-like management of their affairs of such a type that the electors (and not unreasonably) demand of their representatives, and those representatives upon both sides of the House have already shown that a speeding-up of legislation need not be confined to the closing days of a session, when members are anxious to bring the public business to a close and to reach the placidity of their constituencies.

This despatch in the discussion of national affairs has resulted from the development in Parliament of a spirit of co-operation which has been sadly lacking during recent sessions. Perhaps its rise is due to the fact that one party now commands a very comfortable majority, and that its fate is consequently not in a perpetual state of jeopardy. One cannot, for instance, imagine the Hon. H. H. Stevens speaking as he did last week during the course of the preceding Parliament. Mr. Stevens is then reported to have said:

"During the last week I think this House has witnessed a spirit of courtesy and co-operation which, in my opinion, has been unparalleled during my seventeen sessions in Parliament. We have expedited the passing of various measures. I might instance the fact that this afternoon we advanced several important bills for the Minister of Finance with scarcely any comment, and I must say that the Ministry has been very prompt in making brief statements and explanations. I am exceedingly anxious that we should expedite the business of the session. We have had a couple of years of pretty hard parliamentary duty, and I think both country and Parliament will be better for a little surcease from bitterness and controversy. I can say on behalf of my colleagues on this side of the House that we have tendered to the House our hearty co-operation."

A continuance of the policy which has been pursued by the members of the opposition in forwarding the passage of legislation will be an agreeable change from the obstructive tactics in which the same opposition engaged during recent sessions and will be warmly welcomed throughout the country. It is quite true that Parliament as an institution lost much ground in public estimation through the time and the funds which were consumed in its deliberations. The people could not realize the necessity for wasting so much time to so little purpose. They lost interest in the proceedings of the national legislature, that institution in which they should have had the greatest interest, and many out of sheer disgust deliberately refrained from going to the polls and there exercising that franchise which is perhaps their most precious right. The state of public opinion in respect to Parliament Hill was not a healthy one and there are not wanting signs that the new order of things is restoring that confidence which has been withheld for a number of years.

No person believes that any piece of legislation of any importance should become law without a reasonable time being spent upon a discussion of its terms. That is what Parliament is for. But few people, apart from those members who have been anxious to place themselves upon Hansard, believe that the time-wasting and money-wasting of other sessions have been of profit. Public business will be conducted upon a more efficient and more economical basis if the present Parliament perseveres in its intention to carry on its deliberations with less of the rancour and less of the oratory that have prevailed in the past. Parliament will be happier and the people who elect that Parliament will be happier still.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

CATTLE, GRAIN AND PRODUCE

Peterboro—Toronto—Montreal

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, March 1.—With a heavy run offering, trade opened slow for butcher cattle. In the heavy export steer class there was an usually demand, local packers bidding against the regular export buyers for the choicest heavy beef steers. One firm of exporters bought about 20 cattle up to noon, from $7.50 to $7.90, about 10 cents higher than last week. The extra heavy beef steers sold up to $7.80 and one small bunch at $8.10.

In the regular butcher section, not such a big run to choose from, buyers were a little less active than usual, and trade for a time was quite slow. As the cattle began to move out, it was found that prices generally were holding about steady, except for the coarse green steers.

Choice finished butcher steers, handy weights, 950 to 1,000 lbs., steady to firm, at $7 to $7.25. Good medium butcher steers going at $6.50 to $6.75. Extra choice heavy beef steers, $7.50 to $7.75.

Good market for fat butcher cows, at $5 to $5.50, and a few special at around $6.

Calves steady at $12 to $14.

Sheep and lambs steady. Lambs $13 to $13.50.

Hogs remain steady with last week for yesterday on basis of $10.75 f.o.b. and $11.65 off cars. Packers bidding lower for today's loadings.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Que., Mar. 1 (Canadian Press)—There was practically no improvement in the demand from foreign buyers for grain on the Montreal market yesterday, and business was quiet.

There was no change in the condition of the domestic market for cash grain, prices being maintained with a moderate trade passing in car lots for immediate delivery.

The demand for spring and winter wheat grades of flour continued of a limited character, but values were firm.

The tone of the market for millfeed remains firm under a moderate demand. The market for standard grades of rolled oats was quiet and prices were unchanged.

The weakness which has characterized the local egg situation of late was again a feature of the market to-day and prices scored a further decline of two to three cents per dozen, making a net drop since this day week of eight to ten cents per dozen. Even at the lower levels the demand was limited. The receipts were 413 cases.

The potato trade continued inactive with an easy undertone, but there was no further change in prices. Sales of odd cars of Prince Edward Island Green Mountains were made at $1.60 to $1.65 per bag of ninety pounds; Quebec varieties at $1.10 to $1.15 per bag of ninety pounds in bulk, ex-track, while New Brunswick Green Mountains sold at $1.05 to $1.10 per bag of eighty pounds, ex-store.

Butter sales were confined to odd lots but the undertone was steady. The receipts were 524 packages.

The cheese market was very quiet with an easy undertone, but in the absence of any business prices were unchanged. The receipts were 67 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Mar. 1 (Canadian Press) — Chiefly as a result of heavy snow affording needed moisture to the winter crop west and southwest, wheat values yesterday turned downgrade. Closing quotations on wheat were weak, 3-8 to 7-8c net lower; with corn 3-4 to 1 1-4c off; oats unchanged to 1-8c higher and provisions varying from two cents decline to a rise of 35 cents.

For at least the time being, corn appeared virtually friendless. Liberal receipts, 534 cars, here today with 1,533,000 bushels increase of the visible supply were too much of a burden for the market to withstand. Oats, however, showed stubborn resistance to selling pressure. Choice oats were in demand.

Provisions reflected upturns in the value of hogs.

THE BLOCK ROAD.

To the Editor of The Examiner:
Sir:

The last meeting of the Council of the Township of Otonabee was featured by annual visit of the Block Road delegation, this time modestly asking for the construction of about one and a half miles of new road around a hill which would be a preliminary to further expenditure to finish their programme. This proposition with various modifications has been a hardy annual for council of Otonabee to consider for over sixty years and the results have been the same—no action. But Block Road delegations in the past have cheery souls—very trusting and very optimistic. To quote from a letter of Mr. Henderson's in The Examiner when he admitted things looked discouraging. He said: But we still have Mr. Anderson and Mr. Comrie in the Council. To promise action on the Block Road was good for a block of votes at election time, and to slip out of the promise was just as easy as to make it. So that it has become proverbial in Otonabee to say as gullible as a Block Roader.

Mr. Stark, the chairman of the delegation, presented his case creditably and with moderation. He also stated that considerable volunteer work had been promised. He made no estimate of the cost. Then why not get a competent engineer to investigate and report on the amount of material required and the cost, and submit it to the ratepayers next January and let their answer be final. There are good reasons for this procedure. This proposition has been continually condemned by previous Councils. I have heard it declared that it would cost $20,000 and Mr. Armstrong quoted figures to the Council to show that it would cost nothing. One estimate is probably as near right as another but in both cases they are only guesses. If we are going to make mistakes let experts make them get a competent engineer's report. The ratepayers are entitled to this information.

The Township of Otonabee in a moment of weakness yielded to plausible reasons and went into the good roads system. Now we are paying for it and only commencing. This year we will be billed for paving the Provincial Highway in North Monaghan, a mere item of about $6,000 as Otonabee's share or about 2¼ mills and we are helpless to avoid it. We are represented in the Legislature by an opposition member who, more than anyone else, was responsible for this system being saddled on Otonabee. If he did oppose it he has no influence with the powers that be to combat it. So we have to just grin and pay it. So it behooves the Council to watch their step in this Block Road proposition.

Yours truly,
F. S. FITZGERALD.

FROM CAMPBELLFORD, ONT.

February 27, 1927.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—In your issue of the 26th inst. there occurs a misstatement that should not pass unchallenged. It is made in connection with the obituary of a worthy gentleman once resident in the township of Seymour, near the town of Campbellford. This fact makes me hesitant in writing; but your correspondent (and I have not inquired who he is) seems to have gone out of his way to write as he did, and I feel it is only just that his error be corrected.

Your correspondent goes on to speak of the prominence of the deceased in the religious life of the community. After mentioning the fact that he was for forty years a member of the Kirk Session of St. Andrew's Church, Burnbrae, he contentiously adds, "When that congregation withdrew from Union etc., etc."

That word "withdrew" has no justification in the sentence, part of which I have quoted. In the Federal Act of Parliament 14-15 Geo. V. chap. 100, commonly known as the United Church of Canada Act, provision was made in section 10 (a) for the taking of a vote in any given congregation at any time during the six months prior to the coming into force of the Act as to whether that congregation should enter the United Church or not. Burnbrae congregation, as every person in Seymour township knows, took advantage of this provision, and decided by a majority vote not to enter. In other words, it decided to remain where and what it had always been. Why, then, does your correspondent say "When that congregation withdrew from Union?" It never was in "Union," consequently could not withdraw. It has always been robustly Presbyterian, and intends to remain in union with the parent stock. Surely your correspondent, if he has been living in Canada during the past two years, and particularly if he has been resident in Seymour East, must know these facts, and should keep within the limits of accuracy. An obituary is the last place in the world to introduce contentious matter, or be guilty of misrepresentation.

Thanking you in anticipation of your favour,

I remain,
Yours sincerely,
VERITAS.

ARE YOU A CANADIAN?

To the Editor:

Great men in bygone days moulded together a political union of various scattered settlements, and called it the Dominion of Canada. We have a land of great natural wealth, the equal of which few people can boast. When the World War threatened our national existence thousands upon thousands fought and died for Canada. They fought that others might continue to be Canadians, and that this great country should not be lost to them. This spirit of loyalty is more manifest when the country is threatened by war. The same spirit should prevail in peace time, against foreign domination of our own markets.

Who then is truly Canadian?

Is it the man who from selfish motives would buy a cheap foreign article, produced under low wages, and deprive another Canadian of just that much labor?

Is it the man who wants to receive high wages for the articles that he produces, but wants the privilege of buying cheaper foreign articles, and let the sale of his own production take care of itself?

Is it the man who wants to make Canada a wheat growing country, with a foreign market for its consumption?

Is it the man who wants lower taxes, but pursues a policy that drives thousands of people to the U.S., thereby reducing the number of taxpayers?

Is it the man who says we must have greater population, but who at the same time wishes to buy abroad, thus providing labor outside Canada?

Is it the man who wants a railroad to run past his door, but neglects to support industries upon which the railroads depend?

Is it the man who says our natural resources should be developed, but is satisfied to have them developed by American capitalists who reap all the profits?

Is is the man who advocates free imports, and at the same time expects our industrial workers to remain in Canada and accept low wages in order to compete with Japan, England, and European countries?

Is it the man who would wreck all manufacturing industries, and force every farmer's son to remain a farmer or leave the country to obtain work?

Is it the man who sponges on Mother England for protection both at home and abroad, and at the same time brags of our national independence?

Or, is it the man who advocates high wages in order to keep our population, and induce others to come to Canada; a tariff wall to protect those high wages against competition from low wage countries; the building up of large cities and towns by industrial employment, where the farmer will find a ready market for his products; emigration to our towns and cities, rather than to farms in order to put Canada in economic balance and effect an exchange of services and products; buy products of other Canadians so that they may buy yours; develop Canada by Canadians rther than by foreigners; pay our fair share towards Empire defence, without which our national existence is imperilled; one Empire and one flag; let the world know we are British, it denotes unity and strength.

High wages and values don't come from the sky,
If you want to maintain them, at home you must buy.
Protection permits them, free trade never can,
So let's have good wages for each working man.
Wealth we must have, and all wealth comes from labor,
If Canada's to prosper the people must aid her.
Then let's be united in peace as in war,
Protect the home market and we'll prosper galore.

Toronto, Ont.

DON'T STARVE TO END FAT

There is an easier way, used for 19 years. Millions of people know it. The results are seen in every circle. Excess fat is not nearly so common as it was. 10 Years' Illness Conquered

Mme. Marguerite Lavergne was weak, underweight and unhappy Tanlac brought back health, strength and energy in short time.

"For ten years I was almost an invalid," said Mme. Lavergne, who lives at 14 Montreal Road, Ottawa. "I had no appetite and ate only the lightest foods, such as toast, broths, etc. Even these caused bloating and distress.

"At night I could not sleep restfully, but walked the floor for hours. During the day I was too nervous and irritable to sit still. Ten years of that life wore me to 130 lbs. of skin and bone.

"My druggist advised Tanlac, and from the first it built me up. I took six bottles in all and that is six years ago. Since then I've enjoyed robust health, sleep soundly, eat heartily and weigh 180 lbs. I'm strong and alert all the time. Tanlac is wonderful."

If your health is low, get Tanlac today from your druggist. Nature's own body builder, made from roots, barks and herbs. Over 52 million bottles sold.

In Peterborough Churches

ST. PAUL'S PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

"The Jew, A Mystery and a Menace," was the title of an intensely interesting sermon delivered in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church Sunday evening by the pastor, Rev. Wm. Allan, before one of the largest congregations of the winter. It was the first of a series of sermons relating to the Jewish race from a prophetic standpoint which will be delivered during the next few weeks. The concluding sermon of the series will be delivered April 10. It will be illustrated by means of a table set for the Passover Feast as observed by Orthodox Jews during the Passover season. Rev. Wm. Allan stated that it will be shown that every object on the table is pregnant with meaning looking toward the Cross, as well as to the return of Christ. According to the Apostle Paul in the Epistles, the minds of the Jews have been blinded so that they cannot see the significance of the feast which they observe. Christian Jews, whose minds have been enlightened by the Gospel, do recognize the significance of these features of the Passover Table and appreciate them all the more. It was the son of a noted German Rabbi who explained their significance in detail to Rev. Mr. Allan. Last winter a series of sermons relating to the Jews was followed with great interest by large congregations. It is this fact, as well as the fact that God's purpose for the Jews is the key to a correct understanding of the Scriptures that has led to the decision to deliver this second series of addresses.

The Scripture lesson Sunday evening was taken from three chapters in the Book of Genesis, containing God's Covenant with Abraham, in which God announced many of His most important purposes for this peculiar people. These included the promise of not only the Land of Palestine but of Mesopotamia as well to this people, and the assurance that those people who bless the Jews God would bless, while those who curse them He would curse. The Jews, said Rev. Mr. Allan, are mysterious to most people in their manners and customs as well as for their pre-eminent intellects. The Jew who gathers rags and iron at your back door may appear to be a crude individual, but a few minutes' conversation with him is likely to reveal the fact that he is a man of marked intelligence.

The Jews have been peculiar for their restiveness. No other race has been as restless as they. They are referred to as the interesting Jew the persecuted Jew, the isolate Jew and the irritating Jew. No matter what you may think of them they compel your attention and deserve your admiration. True, the Jews began their national existence as a servant people, but to-day, although scattered all over the world representatives of this race occupy high positions wherever they are to be found. Egypt persecuted them but they have outlived the Egyptians. They were taken cantive in Babylon and Assyria, but have outlasted the peoples of these countries. They were made subject to Ancient Greece and Imperial Rome both of which countries have lost their pre-eminent position, while the Jews are more numerous to-day than ever before in history. People speak of the German Jew, the French Jew, the English and Polish Jews, but the emphasis is always on the word Jew instead of on that of the nation with which they happen to be associated.

Rev. Mr. Allan traced in an interesting way the history of the Jewish people from the time Abraham was called to leave the city of Ur of the Chaldeans and launched out into the unknown. (After him came Isaac and Jacob, and ever since then God has been referred to as the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. The development of the Twelve Tribes was sketched and the rebellion of the people against God's rule over them and their demand for a king like the kings of the nations round about them, which culminated in their selection of Saul. The rise of the nation to power under King David and King Solomon was outlined, followed by their division into the northern and southern kingdoms and their captivity in Babylon and Assyria, followed by their final dispersion seventy years after the birth of Christ when Titus destroyed Jerusalem. Ever since then they have been scattered all over the world, but have never lost their national identity. For two thousand years their history has been unparalleled in the history of the world.

God had three great purposes in choosing the Jews as His chosen people. First of all, He has given the world a Jewish literature in the Bible which is a revelation of His purposes for mankind. Second, He provided a Redeemer in Christ, and third, He has taught the world a lesson in the need for civic and national righteousness. The prophecy of the Prophet Baalam concerning them that they would be a people who dwell alone and should not be reckoned among the nations has been wonderfully fulfilled. They have mingled with all nations but have been accepted by none. There was a time when only one nation asked the question, "What shall we do with the Jews?" To-day most of the nations of the earth are asking this question.

The sermon was followed throughout with the deepest interest, indicating that the series of addresses on this subject just started are likely to be even more largely attended than those delivered a year ago.

The new organ and the organ recital prior to the evening service are proving increasingly popular.

AGED RESIDENT CUTS HIS THROAT

No Reason Known For Suicide of Kirkfield Man.

LINDSAY, March 1.— The body of P. O'Donnell, an old resident of Kirkfield, was found near the roadside in front of his home near the MacKenzie racing stables south of the village, on Monday morning. Two school children made the discovery. Deceased ended his life with a razor. The unfortunate man was in his sixty-eight year and was unmarried. He is survived by a sister. Coroner Dr. Johnston of Fenelon Falls deemed an inquest unnecessary. oN reason is assigned for the rash act.

TURKEY FEARS WAR WITH ITALY

Reported in Smyrna That Britain Has Sanctioned Attack.

DENIED IN LONDON.

SMYRNA, March 1 (United Press).—The Turkish Government to-day was reported to be preparing a line of fortifications on the Aegean Sea coast of Asia Minor, due to renewed fears of an impending attack by Italy.

Reports Ridiculous.

LONDON, March 1 (United Press).—Reports that Great Britain has sanctioned an Italian attack on Turkey were characterized as ridiculous in authoritative sources to-day. The only possibility of such a "campaign" in Asia Minor would be an unprovoked attempted on Turkey by Italy, it was pointed out, and no signs of preparation for such a war has been observed.

WOMEN'S GUILD SERVES SUPPER

Pleasing Programme Given Afterwards By St. George's Ladies.

IN CHURCH HALL.

The Women's Guild of St. George's Anglican Church were hostesses at an excellent hot supper, followed by a pleasing musical programme, held in the church hall on Thursday last. Convenors of the supper were Mesdames H. Rew and J. Huxley, assisted by members of the Guild. The tables were prettily decorated with colored streamers, ferns and flowers. After supper, the following programme was rendered:

String quartette selections by Messrs. A. McKeown, Searles, Gallegher and R. Farthing; song, "A Perfect Day," by Mrs. J. McWilliams; readings, "Me and Jim" and "The Quarrel," by Mrs. J. L. Hughes; song, "Roses of Picardy," by Mrs. M. Rew; song, "The Bosun, the Gunner and Me," and a musical monologue, "The Street Watchman's Story," by Rev. J. L. Hughes; reading, "The Road to Heaven," by Mrs. H. Clare; vocal duett, "Out of the Dusk," by Mrs. M. Rew and Miss Cotton; and humorous songs by Mr. C. Cole.

Rev. Mr. Hughes thanked the various contributors to the programme for their assistance in making the event a success.

THEATRE

"MARE NOSTRUM"

Harsh realism and unreal fantasy carried to an extreme are the conflicting elements that the directors mixed and brewed together when they made "Mare Nostrum." It is an odd compound, with a dash of illicit love to make the mixture stronger still, but it is one of those unforgettable pictures that will linger in the memory when lesser, more pleasant picture dramas have been long forgotten.

Two or three pictures might have been made of the threads which are woven in this feature. The action is vital and stirring from beginning to end and the interest sustained to the last moment, or nearly the last moment, because the delineation of the drowned man sinking through watery green depths to the arms of his mermaid enchantress, that forms the concluding portion of the picture, is a fantastic bit, tacked on in slovenly fashion to a wonderful climax, when the hero, whose ship has been torpedoed by a submarine, makes a final desperate attempt, which succeeds, to destroy his enemy. A last thrilling note like this could only have an anti-climax in a return to the theory of reincarnation which makes the closing fade-out.

Antonio Moreno is a Spanish sea captain, Ulysses Farragut, who has made a marriage of convenience to the sharp-tongued Dona Cinta, living in Barcelona with their small son, Esteban. He meets, amidst the ruins of the ancient Greek city of Paestum, Freya Talberg (Alice Terry) and sees in her a reincarnation of the sea goddess, Amphitrite. Freya is an Austrian spy, stationed at Naples with her companion, Dr. Fedelmann, a German woman imbued with fanatic patriotism, and the two are endeavoring to embroil Italy, during the first days of the War, in an alliance with the Central Powers. Farragut becomes enchanted by the golden-haired Freya, and promises to guide her German confreres to the "Aventua Bank," designed for a submarine base, and located somewhere in the Mediterranean Sea. It is this sea, by the way, that is the "Mare Nostrum" ("Our Sea") of the tale, it having been the burial place of the Farraguts for countless generations.

Then the German subs, whose work in action is graphically and terribly depicted, the grey menacing shadow of the submerged menace following stealthily in the wake of the white passenger ships, torpedo the boat which carries on it the small Esteban, returning to his mother in Barcelona after a fruitless search for his father. Farragut turns against the Germans who have made him their tool, and later, refuses to succor Freya, also betrayed by Dr. Fedelmann into the hands of the French, when her sympathies for the Central cause have waned. Freya is executed, and the "Mare Nostrum," Farragut's ship, is torpedoed in turn, its captain succeeding in his dying moments in destroying the enemy boat.

"Mare Nostrum" is a dramatic picture, odd in essence, and a melange, in a way, of contrasting types. The realistic portrayal of submarine warfare, as it was undoubtedly carried on through the days of the Great War, has a peculiar foil in the otherworld, unreal elements introduced by the theory of reincarnation which has a full flowering in the final bit, when the lovers resume their embraces in the depths of green water, the dead man returning to his love, who waits in subterranean caves, companioned by weird sea creatures. As an example of the unusual in moving pictures, it is distinctly worth while.—Jeanette.

AT THE REGENT

MOTOR CAR CRASHES THROUGH WINDOW AT FINISH OF BIG RACE

Thrilling Incident Marks Finale of Automobile Race Film, "The Speeding Venus."

An automobile crashing through a plate glass window is practically the final scene in Priscilla Dean's latest film of thrills and daring, "The Speeding Venus," a new Metropolita picture which will be on view at the Regent Theatre to-day.

In the picture, Priscilla drives a new type of gearless automobile in a race against time from Detroit to Los Angeles where the car was to be exhibited against another mot of a similar type shipped from Detroit by train.

All sorts of obstructions are encountered on the road from the Mich igan city: washouts, floods, deep sand and landslides. In addition the heroine has to beware of her rival who proves even a greater menace to her than nature.

At last she reaches Los Angeles, where the two cars run a breath-taking duel through street traffic.

Through a clever trick Priscilla gets in front of the other car and in order to beat it into the show she deliberately crashes through a heavy plate glass window.

The picture has many thrills that never were called for in the script. On one occasion while the company was working on the highway between Los Angeles and San Francisco, Miss Dean's car made a complete circle on the wet road pavement, over which she was travelling at breakneck speed, and upset. When Priscilla emerged from the overturned car she was smiling but limping from a slight ankle sprain.

Robert Frazer plays opposite Miss Dean as the inventor of the gearless motor car whose car she drove when he was in the wreck of his car through the efforts of his rascally rival.

The Metropolitan Company which filmed the picture travelled eight thousand miles along California roads in making the production. To get the proper climatic and topographical conditions existing along the highway from Detroit to Los Angeles, the company worked for a time in the snow belt of the high Serrias and the desert wastes of Southern California.

FOR INFLAMED BREATHING TUBES

Try Dr. Blosser's Medical Cigarettes in the Next Attack.

Nasal catarrh is not only disagreeable and offensive, but it will lead to serious trouble.

That inflamed condition of the mucous membranes of the air passages of the head, nose and throat may spread to the point where it is incurable and a danger to life.

Dr. Blosser's Cigarettes are composed of medicinal herbs, flowers and berries. The warm smoke vapor is inhaled into the affected air passages and will go where sprays, douches and salves cannot reach. They contain no tobacco or cubebs, and being harmless are used by children as well as adults.

If you suffer from any catarrhal trouble, ain nasal catarrh, catarrhal deafness, hay f , asthma, bronchial irritations, or are subject to frequent colds, get from any druggist a convenient pocket size package of Dr. Blosser's Cigarettes, and prove for yourself their pleasant, beneficial effects.

Fill Ugly Hollows With Firm Flesh

Gain Pounds of Weight in 3 Weeks with new YEAST and IRON or Pay Nothing

"Gained 10 Pounds; Still Improving"

"I have had good results from IRONIZED YEAST for the past few weeks. Gained 10 pounds in 6 weeks, and Tom still improving. I am certainly going to keep taking these wonderful tablets."

Mr. L. E. B., Last Mountain, Sask.

Thousands are amazed at IRONIZED YEAST. They can't understand the magic by which IRONIZED YEAST transforms thin, run down, pasty-faced men into well-filled-out, clear-skinned, vigorous people. Those who have been benefited could tell you (for their letters tell us) how a one course treatment of IRONIZED YEAST has given them 5 to 10 pounds of firm flesh, cleared the skin, improved digestion, assimilation and bowel action. It has put them on their feet again—given them a new interest and pleasure in life.

How New Yeast and Iron Works These Wonders

Vegetable iron and yeast have always been known as ideal blood and body builders. But it remained for us to combine these two vital elements in a highly concentrated form. By our new, special formula IRONIZED YEAST is 9 times more effective than ordinary bakers' yeast and iron alone.

IRONIZED YEAST speeds up assimilation so that you get the full benefit of the food you eat. It clears the blood of impurities that ruin complexion, giving you a nice, clear, healthy skin. It will pick you right up and fill you with the pep and "life" you have always longed for.

If you are below normal weight—take warning! Underweight people have low resistance to disease. Do something now to put on good firm flesh. Take IRONIZED YEAST. It gives all the weight-building benefits of cod liver oil. See your body build up with added pounds of good weight. Notice how your skin clears up, your digestion improves and you feel new strength and pep. Absolutely safe, containing no harmful drugs. Get your IRONIZED YEAST today! Nice, tasty, pleasant-to-take tablets.

Try it on "Money-Back" Offer

Go today to any drug store and get a full size treatment of IRONIZED YEAST. If you are not delighted, ask for your money back. In 2 styles—sanitape package, $1.00; bottle, $1.85. OUTLINE OF SCIENCE

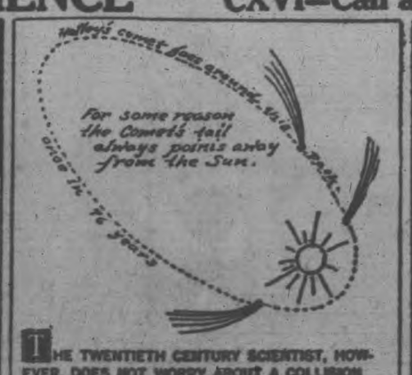
CXVI—Can a Comet Destroy the Earth?

by MAX HAHN

IT IS NOT LONG SINCE THE APPEARANCE OF A COMET IN THE SKY TERRORIZED MILLIONS OF PEOPLE. THEY FEARED THE COMET WOULD STRIKE THE EARTH AND END THEIR LIVES.



THE TWENTIETH CENTURY SCIENTIST, HOWEVER, DOES NOT WORRY ABOUT A COLLISION WITH A COMET. HE KNOWS THAT THE EARTH HAS PASSED THROUGH COMET TAILS HUNDREDS OF TIMES. THIS LEADS HIM TO BELIEVE THAT A COMET TAIL IS COMPOSED OF NON-POISONOUS GAS OR VAPOR.

IN 1682 AN OBSERVING ENGLISHMAN, EDMUND HALLEY, CONVINCED HIMSELF THAT THE BRILLIANT COMET THEN VISIBLE IN THE SKIES WAS THE SAME WHICH HAD BEEN SEEN IN 1607 AND PREVIOUSLY IN 1531 AND 1456, SO HE PREDICTED THAT IT WOULD REAPPEAR IN 1758. © McClure Newspaper Syndicate

TRUE TO HALLEY'S FORECAST THE COMET BECAME VISIBLE ON DEC. 25, 1758, AND SINCE THEN HAS BEEN NAMED HALLEY'S COMET. IT LAST APPEARED IN 1910 AND WILL COME AGAIN IN 1986.

MRS. G. WORBOY IS AGAIN PRESIDENT

Prince of Wales Home and School Association.

ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of Prince of Wales School Home and School Association was featured last night by the presentation of several musical numbers of high order. The artists were pupils of Miss Cora Smith's and Miss C. Wagar's classes, and all performed their parts in a way that speaks highly for the training they received.

Mrs. George Worboy was re-elected President for 1927, and the other officers are: Mrs. J. Freeman, first vice-president; Mrs. G. Kirkwood, second vice-president; Mrs. George Davis, secretary; and Mrs. Harold Wilson, treasurer. The committees are headed by Mrs. A. Jones, Social committee; Mrs. George Davis, Programme committee; and Mrs. H. Beattie, Membership committee. Mrs. A. Jones and Mrs. J. Freeman are appointed representatives to the Local Council of Women, and Mr. D. Munro and Miss Stout are representatives to the Home and School Council.

The installation of officers will take place at the next monthly meeting. Miss Wagar's class won the pennant for February, having the biggest representation of parents present.

Mrs. Worboy, accepting her election as president, urged the need for suggestions and asked for a larger attendance of parents. She expressed pleasure in the presence of so many of the children.

Those who helped to make the programme so entertaining last evening were: Muriel Killingbeck and Iva Pilling, who gave recitations; Marian Ralston and Eleanor Brown, who sang very sweetly; Miss Wagar's class, in a pleasing dialogue that brought out the true spirit of Valentine day, and several little girls who sang "The Cuckoo Clock."

Florida lakes supply most of the fresh water fish sold in winter in the eastern States. Lake Okeechobie is said to produce about seven million pounds of catfish alone each year.

STAR PLEASED OVER SUCCESS

ON MARCH 15TH

HAVRE, France, March 1.—Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen arrived back in France last Saturday to announce herself as her own impressario. Mlle. Lenglen, accompanied by Howard Kinsey, announced that she will start a European tour on March 15 at Beaulieu-Sur-Mer with Kinsey playing as her opponent. She stated that she will manage and finance the tour.

Despite a downpour of rain Suzanne's spirits were not at all dampened.

"My American trip was a great success," she said. "It was a demonstration of the possibilities of professional lawn tennis. Professionalism has come to stay despite what any amateur association may say."

Denies Marriage Rumor

Mlle. Lenglen was emphatic in her denial of reports that she plans to marry Baldwin Baldwin, son of "Lucky" Baldwin, of California.

"I have no intention of marrying anyone," she declared. "Mr. Baldwin and I are good friends, but I have never thought of matrimony.

"My tennis was never better. I have confidence that I could beat any player of my sex in the world.

"The suggestion that we didn't play our hardest is absurd. There was always the added inducement of a bonus for the winner. In my case I drew a bonus of $50 if Miss Browne was not allowed to win more than four games in two sets.

Pyle Retires

"I had no quarrel with C. C. Pyle. He decided not to go on with professional tennis and I wanted to finance my European tour myself. That is my present intention.'

"I am tickled to death to be a professional," said Kinsey. 'No matter what the opponents of professional tennis may say, it is going to be a standing institution in the future.

"After our tour of Southern France we are coming to Paris. Then we will tour the northern European countries and Great Britain.

"There will be one exhibition match in each place, because matches of this kind are like prize-fights. If they are repeated too often they cease to be attractions."

Mlle. Lenglen and Kinsey motored to Paris.

THIS CANADA OF OURS

CANADA'S CANAL TRAFFIC

Q.—What is the comparative extent of Canada's canal traffic?

A.—Here are some facts which lend point to the belief that the great lakes and the St. Lawrence can compare with the Mediterranean in more senses than one. In 1924 there passed through the Suez Canal 5,122 vessels with a net tonnage of 25,100,882. In 1925 there passed through the Panama 4736 vessels with a tonnage of 23,258,836. In 1924 the tonnage of the 5230 ships using it was 26,994,710. Compare this with the fact that the traffice back and forth through the American and Canadian canals at Sault Ste. Marie totalled over 90,000,000 tons—or nearly twice the annual tonnage of the Panama and Suez canals combined.

Local Druggists Have Modern Remedy for Colds

When Vicks VapoRub, the "external" method of treating sore throat, bronchitis, deep chest colds, or croup, is applied over throat or chest, the ingredients are released as vapors by the body heat.

These vapors, inhaled with each breath carry the medication directly to the affected air passages, loosening the phlegm and relieving the congestion.

Colds are usually relieved over night.

OMEMEE SAYS FAREWELL TO NEW SHERIFF

Presentations Made To Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Patterson On Leaving Village.

ADDRESS READ.

Citizens of District Congratulate Him Upon His Honorable Appointment.

OMEMEE, March 1.—On Monday evening, Feb. 28th, Coronation Hall was almost filled to capacity, when friends from far and near gathered to bid farewell to Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Patterson before they take their departure from the community for their new home in Lindsay, where Mr. Patterson has been appointed to fill the office of Sheriff for the county of Victoria.

Garfield Hawkins, of Reaboro. acted as chairman, having been introduced to the audience by F. J. Parsons.

The hearty rendition of the Maple Leaf Forever was the opening number on the programme, following which the chairman called to the platform the guests of the evening, Mr. and Mrs. Patterson, Reeve L. A. Southworth, of Omemee, Reeve Martin Carroll of Emily, Councillor McGahey of Ops, Messrs. F. Hickson of Reaboro, S. J. Mackey, E. H. Mitchell and several others who were unavoidably absent. Regrets of inability to be present were received from T. H. Stinson, M.P., R. Kylie, B. L. McLean, James Boxall and others of Lindsay.

Reeve Southworth, in a brief speech, expressed his pleasure in being present to do honor to such worthy citizens as Sheriff and Mrs. Patterson. He hoped that Omemee would continue to have numerous visits from the Sheriff, but not in his official capacity.

Reeve Martin Carroll was then called upon and in a brief speech paid a glowing tribute to the guest of the evening, knowing him to be a man of good judgment and ability in settling questions pertaining to township affairs. He was glad that Sheriff Patterson was not going farther than the county town, where Omemee would still have a claim on him.

Councillor McGahey mingled a little humor into his short address. Not being accustomed to making speeches, he said if he attempted what he had to say might be both soothing and satisfying for when he would have finished the audience would most likely be asleep and they would be so satisfied they would not care to hear him again. He was not as well acquainted with Mr. Patterson as with Mrs. Patterson. He wished them every success in their new field of labor.

In a few well chosen words regret at the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Patterson was expressed by E. H. Mitchell.

T. J. Parsons added his regrets to those already expressed, having known the ex-M.P.P. and his helpmate since they were youths. Mr. Parsons trusted that the new Sheriff would never have occasion to visit his home town in his official capacity, but always as a good friend to all.

S. J. Mackey created a ripple of merriment when he said, "If I thought for a moment there would be a crowd such as this assembled to-night, to give me an official farewell. I'd leave town in the morning." Mr. Mackey although a more recent resident of the village, had found Mr. Patterson to be a good friend and a man of sound judgment. During the last two or three years they had become confidential friends, but not to the extent of the old lady who, when the minister called, offered in a hospitable way to make him a cup of tea, which the minister refused. She then said, "Well, will ye have a cup of coffee," but again he refused, and as a last resort she asked, "Will ye not have a little whiskey and water" and the reverend gentleman replied no water."

The various speeches were interpreted with music by Messrs. J. L. and Russell Brooks and Mr. H. Hall.

The following address was then read by T. J. Parsons and the presentation was made by Messrs. Stanley Pogue and John White:

Omemee, Ont., Feb. 28, 1927.
R. J. Patterson, Esq.,
Omemee, Ontario.

"Dear Mr. Patterson,—You are here to-night as the guest of your friends of this district. On their behalf, we wish to congratulate you on your recent appointment to the office of Sheriff of Victoria County. This position is one that has an interesting history dating back to feudal days. By virtue of your appointment, you are "The King's trusty cousin" in this district, and we assure you that your friends are proud of the honor that has been conferred upon you. In honoring you, the State has also honored us. You are one of us.

"Your departure from our midst will be our misfortune. Your years of service to the community have earned a reward. Now you must move on from this neighborhood to the county town. Such is the irony of fate.

"The keynote of your life has been 'sincerity in service,' as Councillor, Reeve, Warden and member of the Provincial Parliament. Your friends have always known exactly where you stood. You have never sacrificed your self-respect by endeavoring to be 'all things to all men,' but you rather chose 'four square to all the winds that blew.' You have never designedly courted popularity for personal gain. You have given generously of your time and finances for the common good. You have assisted very materially in improving conditions in your immediate locality, in your township, and in your county and riding. This is particularly true in regard to our system of improved township, county and Provincial highways.

"We realize that every man in public life must sacrifice much of his home life in the performance of his duties. We know, too, that your good wife shared in all this sacrifice and that through her sympathy and co-operation your career has been made possible.

"On behalf of your friends in Omemee and district, we ask you to accept this watch as a remembrance of our pleasant associations. We would iso ask Mrs. Patterson to accept this cabinet of silver as a gift from the community.

"We assure you that these tokens carry with them the sincere good wishes of your many warm friends.

"We hope to see you both, not occasionally, but often, during the years to come. To others, you may be Sheriff and Mrs. Patterson, but to us you will always be Mr. and Mrs. Bob Patterson.

"Signed on behalf of your many friends,

"Lewis Windrim, David Endicott, William Skuce, Burt Pogue, Peary Lowes, John White."

Mr. Patterson, in replying, said he found this one of the hardest duties he had ever been called upon to perform. He appreciated the beautiful gifts presented to Mrs. Patterson and himself. The watch would always be a treasured possession, reminding him of his many old friends, not by the hour or by the day, but as long as time lasts. On behalf of Mrs. Patterson he expressed thanks for the beautiful cabinet of silver. Mrs. Patterson had proved a true helpmate, for during his many forced absences from home, she had never complained, although during his term as Warden of the County, she had reminded him he had been absent from home 162 times during the year. Mr. Patterson expressed his pleasure at seeing many of his old schoolmates in the audience. Thirty years ago he had been appointed Commissioner for the County of Victoria, and since that time he had given gladly 20 years' service to the county, or one-third of his life. He had been offered a splendid position in Toronto, but preferred to remain in the county of Victoria.

He assured his hearers that he would always be interested in the prosperity of this community as heretofore, and if at any time he could be of further assistance, he would gladly do so.

Prison Hens Take Motto 'Make Good' To Themselves

AUBURN, N.Y., March 1.—(Canadian Press.—Under the careful tutelage of trusties of Auburn prison, working on the prison farms, hens have lately become enthusiastic believers in the league motto, "Do good—make good." Not only have they increased the output tremendously, but today one of the prison Rhode Island Reds laid an egg seven and a half by nine and a half inches and weighing even half a pound.

JOLLY JINGLES

By Graham Hunter

SHORT STORY

"It is, indeed, a long lane that has no turning," thought Jabez Martin grimly, as he rode along the country road, bound for the farmstead of his life-long enemy, Mathew Scott. Mathew and he had been at school together—and had fought, even as little boys. Then they had grown up and had courted the same girl and Mathew had married her. Jabez never married. He devoted the rest of his life to making money—and hating his successful rival. And Mathew had prospered, too; though not to the same extent as Jabez. Mathew had gone in for apple raising and, everybody said, had made a fortune.

The prosperity of Jabez had come from cultivating mortagges and making loans at ten per cent. Also from an uncanny instinct he possessed with regard to investment in stocks. He had an office in the city and spent his time there—but he had never ceased to lay low for a chance at Mathew.

And now he had him. For Mathew, instead of sticking to his apples and peaches, had been lured afield into the thorny and troublous ways of financial speculation. And there was just this difference between Jazeb and Mathew—when Mathew bought any stock it went down; and when Jabez bought any it went up. Secretly, through agents of his own, Jabez had followed on Mathew's trail—and was now prepared to take his financial scalp.

Clarissa Thornton—the girl who had preferred to become Mrs. Scott rather than Mrs. Martin—had been dead a year now. Jabez's slit of a mouth grew firmer and his little eyes glowed with a wicked gleam as he considered the things he would do to Mathew in the near future. Just then he came to where the road forked and stopped, hesitating which fork to take. It was years since he had been along that road.

"Let's see," mused he, "I think it is the right fork that goes by Mathew's. I'll ask that young man I just passed"—and he waited for the young man who was walking behind him to come up.

"Take the road to the left," said the young man; "then the first turn to the right. I'm on my way to Mr. Scott's myself. If you will allow me to jump in I'll pilot you."

Jabez fixed his eyes upon the frank, open face of the youth and a strange, inexplicable feeling came over him. Something seemed to be calling to the old man out of the past, something stirring within him feelings long dormand—dead, as he had supposed, forever. "Jump in," he said.

After a moment's silence he turned to the young man and asked: "Do you know Mr. Scott."

"Why, yes," replied the youth with a laugh; "rather! He is my father."

"Clarissa's boy," escaped from the old man's lips in murmured tone.

"Clarissa was my mother's name," said the young man. "Did you know her, sir?"

"Yes," replied Jabez, "I knew her—and your father, too," he added grimly. Then suddenly Jabez assumed his best diplomatic manner. He drove very slowly, purposely, and before they reached the Scott place he had turned the young man "inside out," as the saying is.

He had learned the old, old story of a young man and a maiden, very much in love and kept from marrying by a stern parent who was resolved that his son should marry a girl picked out for him and not the choice of his own heart. You are quite sure that you love this Helen Barstow?" asked Jabez.

"I shall never love another woman as I do her," was the reply. "We shall marry, anyhow. In this matter I cannot conform to my father's wishes. But, you see, we will have to wait a long time. I must get a little money ahead first. I must get a job somewhere, somehow. And I do hate to break with father, awfully. But it must be done."

Jabez, while talking with William, had mellowed to an extent which would have caused his business acquaintances in the city, had they seen and heard him, to have concluded that the old man had lost his mind. But he hadn't; he had only changedn it.

"Now, William," said he when at last they arrived at the Scot t place," you show me into the parlor and go and tell your father I am waiting for him there. And don't worry about Helen. Your father and I are old—er—acquaintances. Perhaps I can persuade him."

Jabez and Mathew were closeted together for two hours. When the conference was over a treaty had been signed which appeared to be satisfactory to both. That night Mathew said to his son: "William, if you really are set upon marrying that Barstow girl—why, I suppose I'll have to give my consent."

"Hurrah!" cried William—and then, reflectingly, "Did Mr. Martin say anything about it?"

"Why, yes," replied Mathew. "I believe that, in the course of ou business talk, he did allude to some thing of the kind."

Keep Baby's Skin Soft as Velvet

Prevent and Relieve Eczema

Mrs. Albert Bishop, 38 Laplanche St., Amherst, N.S. writes:—"In one week my baby was entirely relieved of eczema by the use of two boxes of Dr. Chase's Ointment. He had sores all over his back."

EVERYWHERE Dr. Chase's Ointment is known and appreciated by mothers who have with gratitude witnessed the benefit it has brought to their suffering children.

Chafing and cracking of the skin is often the beginning of eczema. The trouble develops where two surfaces of skin rub together—as in the neck, armpits or between the legs of fleshy infants.

Dr. Chase's Ointment applied after the bath brings relief from this condition and prevents eczema.

PUPILS GIVE FINE CONCERT

Musical Programme and Oratorical Contest at Queen Alexandra School.

PRIZES PRESENTED.

The annual concert of the Queen Alexandra School, prepared by the pupils and teachers under direction of the principal, Mr. M. H. Fark, for the Home and School Association, proves to be a greater success each year. A very attractive programme for the annual event, which took place last night was presented by pupils of the Senior classes. The difficult task of judging those who took part in the oratorical contest which formed one of the main features of the entertainment was given to Mr. Ford Turner, Mr. Joseph Wearing, and Mr. E. B. Fowler, Chairman of the Board of Education.

The prizes were awarded to three contestant, as follows: (1) Shirley Pettit, speaking on "The Miscellaneous Works of Eugene Field"; (2), Virginia Deyell, on "Rubber, and its Familiar Uses; (3) Roy Parnell, on "The Life of Thomas Edison."

Others taking part in the contest were Marvin Hammond, speaking on "The Life of Beethoven"; Mary Vance, on "The First Flight to the North Pole"; and Elsie Gates, on "The Life and Reign of Queen Victoria." Gordon Dearborn, who was also to have taken part in this contest, was prevented by illness.

Prizes, wrapped in the school colors of black and gold, were presented by Mr. Ford Turner.

The musical numbers which formed a portion of the programme included choruses by the Senior Choir of the school, singing first "List to the Convent Bells" and "Men of Harlech," and, on a second appearance, giving a trio of compositions in "The Raindrops," "Ye Banks and Braes," and "Huntsmen's Chorus." The Junior Choir sang three numbers: "The Slumber Song," "Jack Frost," and "Where the Flag of Britain Flies." A number of the School Cadets gave a physical drill; readings were given by Jean Kerr, in "The Rude Boy" and "Hopscotch"; a cornet and violin duet was rendered by Eric and Mary Westbye; with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Westbye; a vocal duet by Winifred and Charlie Norton; and a playlet entitled "David Copper fid and His Aunt Betsy," was presented by Muriel Preston, Dorothy Henderson, and Arthur White, after an introduction by Hilda Phillips.

A very important feature of the evening's programme was the presentation of a medal won by Gordon Smith, for high score amongst the boys of the Queen Alexandra School team in the recent Laura Secord shooting competition. The presentation was made by Mr. E. B. Fowler.

Mr. J. Wearing, in glowing terms, spoke of the efficient work being done by Mr. Park and the staff of the school, and their unfailing interest in the welfare of the pupils.

Ice cream and cake were then served by the Social Committee, in charge of Mrs. H. Staunton, and an enjoyable evening brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

Soldiers Arrive.

SHANGHAI, March 1 (United Press).—Three battalions of British troops and 510 officers and men of the Royal Artillery disembarked today and were distributed among barracks and billets. It was simultaneously announced that 40,000 additional North China troops had been ordered to proceed direct from Nanking to the battle line near Sunkiang.

The Spanish warship Blas De Lazo arrived to-day with 150 marines who will remain on board, ready to assist other foreign detachments in the defence of Shanghai in the event of trouble.

Trouble at Canton.

CANTON, March 1 (Canadian Press).—A huge demonstration protesting against the British military movements at Shanghai was staged here yesterday. Canton merchants threatened to strike against the demands of the unions, which they consider ridiculous. Large forces of troops were concentrated here to cope with the situation, which threatened to grow into a widespread labor outbreak under Communist direction.

NEWFOUNDLAND GETS TERRITORY IN PENINSULA

Decision of Privy Council Favors Claims of Inland Dominion.

VALUABLE AREA.

Dispute Between Canada and Newfoundland Over Boundary Is Settled.

LONDON, March 1 (Canadian Press).—Newfoundland's claim to ownership of territory in the Labrador peninsula is sustained in substance with two reservations.

This is the decision of Their Lordships of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council who were asked to define the boundary between Canada and Newfoundland in the Labrador Peninsula. The dispute between the two Dominions was referred to the Privy Council by common consent of both parties.

Boundary Named.

The two reservations, or rather points of detail, are, first, that while Newfoundland claims the southern boundary of Labrador should be northward from Blanc Sablon Bay to the 52nd parallel and thence westward along the parallel line until it reaches the height of land, which point is considerably to the west of the junction of the parallel with the Romaine River, Their Lordships define the boundary as following the parallel only as far as the river, thence turning northward to the watershed, which turns northward shortly west of the river. From the wafershed it should run, according to the decision, north and west along the Atlantic Rivers watershed to Cape Chidley, at the northern tip of Labrador.

The second reservation from the concessions to Newfoundland is the decision that Woody Island, a small island opposite the boundary between Quebec and Newfoundland at Blanc Sablon Bay, belongs to Canada and not Newfoundland. This island is not named on the majority of maps.

Many Miles Westward.

The definition of the boundary places a considerable portion of the hinterland under Newfoundland's jurisdiction, because the boundary running north from the Romaine River to the northern tip of Labrador is many miles westward of the little strip along the coastline which Canada claimed was all that Labrador ws entitled to.

Newfoundland claimed ownership not only of the Atlantic coastline of Labrador, which is acknowledged to belong to Newfoundland, but also of the territory back to the peninsula's height of land, which territory includes valuable spruce timber country. Canada contended that Newfoundland was limited to the mere strip of land along the Labrador coastline, which had been granted to Newfoundland in 1763 for fishing facilities. This had been transferred to Quebec in 1774, but in 1809 was again granted to Newfoundland.

The Privy Council was asked to answer this question: "What is the location and definition of the boundary as between Canada and Newfoundland in the Labrador peninsula?" The case was not an appeal, but merely a reference for Their Lordship's decision.

An Old Dispute.

The beginning of the dispute was in 1763, when the "coast" of Labrador was put under the administration of Newfoundland. Fishing was considered the only asset at that time. In 1774 the region was transferred to the Province of Quebec, but in 1809 was again given back to Newfoundland. Another grant in 1825 gave the lower portions of the Labrador coast to Quebec. This portion, which is admittedly Quebec's, is along the south shore of Blanc Sablon Bay, in the Straits of Belle Isle, opposite Newfoundland.

Newfoundland contended that the "coasts" granted to them meant not merely the strip of seashore but extended back to the heights of land, which would give them the administration of a considerable and valuable country of spruce timber. Quebec, supported by the Canadian Government, contended that the whole Labrador peninsula belongs to the Dominion of Canada, and that Newfoundland is only entitled to such portion as was re-annexed to Newfoundland in 1809, this being, the Canadian and Quebec Governments assert, solely a strip of coastline for fishing facilities.

Negotiations For Sale.

The dispute was quickened in the nineties when Newfoundland granted timber companies permits to cut timber in the peninsula. The Quebec Government would not allow the cutting of timber, starting the dispute which resulted in negotiations between the Canadian and Newfoundland Governments for the sale of the territory. Newfoundland asked six million dollars, with a reservation of fishing rights, alternatively offering to sell the hinterland for half that sum. The negotiations fell through and it was decided by common consent to refer it to the Privy Council.

The United States possesses certain rights on the coast, guaranteed by the treaty of 1818, which promised that American citizens should fish at will east and north of Mount Joli, on the Upper St. Lawrence, and be entitled to land on unsettled parts of coast to dry and cure what they caught.

DRAMATIC READINGS DELIGHT AUDIENCE

Dr. G. A. Morley Gives Many Selections at George Street Concert.

Under the auspices of the K.E.O. ("Know Each Other") Club of George Street United Church, and their teacher, Mr. A. Lillow, a very interesting programme of music and dramatic readings was given in the Sunday School hall last night to an appreciative audience of over three hundred people. The visiting artist was Dr. G. A. Morley, B.A. of Toronto, dramatic reader, who delighted his hearers with a number of selections delivered in very fine style. Dr. Morley has a pleasing, well-modulated voice, an attractive stage presence and a splendid repertoire of varied types of readings which ranged last evening from a dramatic presentation of "Lasca," to the humorous note of one of Nellie McClung's ironic hits at the masculine gender, and the whimsical funniness of a couple of "kiddie" pieces. He was equally at home in Drummond's "Leetle Bateese," and in Service's "Idealist," the brief tale of the louse that longed to dwell in the golden head of a queen.

Rev. J. E. Todd made the announcements for the programme, which included vocal and instrumental music, as well as the readings by Dr. Morley. Every number was heartily encored, the elocutionist's work receiving in many instances a double meed of applause.

The readings included "A Donegal Christening," the story of the mistakes made by an Irish Presbyterian minister with a stammer; "Lettle Bateese"; the composition by Nellie L. McClung which tells the tale of the stingy farmer and his hard-working wife; "Somebody Did," a cunning thing in "small boy" dialect; two of Service's bits, in "Service" and "The Idealist," "Lasca," and several smaller humorous compositions, ending with "Keep Smiling," an optimistic note for a conclusion.

The musical programme included vocal solos in excellent voice, rendered by Mrs. V. Walker, who sang "May Morning" and "The Second Minuet," and by Mr. J. W. Bryan, whose fine, clear, true tenor was heard to splendid advantage in "The Song That Reached My Heart," and "Because." In duett, Mrs. Walker and Mr. Bryan sang "Ye Banks and Braes o' Bonnie Doon" and "No, Sir." Their accompaniments were played by Mrs. Harold Elliott.

The two talented Northrop brothers received the enthusiastic applause of their hearers for their solo numbers on piano and violin, Mr. Harry Northrop playing on the piano, "Murmuring Zephyrs," with a encore in a "Valse" by Friml, and Stanley Northrop, who is one of the most promising of the city's junior violinists, and is possessed of a liquid tone and pleasing rendition, playing "Ungarischer," by Houser, and an encore in a 'Serenade." Mr. Harry Northrop played his younger brother's accompaniments.

On Sunday evening, when George Street Church was filled to capacity, Dr. Morley gave one of his well-known sermon recitals, in a dramatic rendition of excerpts from "Ben Hur, A Tale of the Christ," which included a vivid presentation of the chariot race and ended with the scene depicting the Crucifixion.

On Sunday morning, Dr. Morley took for his subject the story of the talents, emphasizing eloquently in his sermon the challenges that come each lay and that, unless seized upon at once, cause life to be a failure, more or less. "The Master's 'Well Done" come only to those who are busy in faithful service to the work to which they have committed themselves."

CITIES REQUEST RELIEF FROM SHARE IN ROADS

Deputation Urges Removal of Payment on Suburban Highways.

REVENUE NEEDED.

Minister Promises Sympathy and Speaks of Tax on Freight Trucks.

Toronto, March 1. — Canadian Press. — Representatives of twenty-eight municipalities of the Province of Ontario waited on Hon. George S. Henry, Minister of Highways and Public Works, today, and strongly urged relief from the payment of the twenty per cent. share of the cost of suburban roads on the ground that increased cost in the operation of civic services of the last ten years had confronted them with the problem of obtaining sufficient revenue to meet the added expenditure. In fact, said some members of the delegation, the municipalities "do not know where to turn" for relief.

Hon. Mr. Henry said he appreciated that the municipalities had a difficult situation to handle. They were now passing through a stage of development in the province, and he was sure that the government would give their request sympathetic consideration. Although he considered the twenty per cent. impost for the cost of suburban roads was equitable he promised that the government would endeavor to give the municipalities relief if it could possibly be done.

Mr. Henry added that the government hoped in the near future to devise a scheme whereby truckers and freight haulers who competed with the railways would be compelled to pay a share of the cost of maintaining the roads of the province.

The speakers were Controller Wm. Morrison, Hamilton; Mayor Stevens, Niagara Falls; Mayor Balharrie, Ottawa; Engineer W. G. Near, London; Ald. H. Collins, Belleville; Mayor Parker Woodstock; Mayor Sleeman, Brantford; Mayor McKay, Galt; Ald. C. Gred, Kitchener, and Harry Mahoney, Guelph, and additional towns represented were Galt, Aurora, Kingston, and Owen Sound.

CHINESE PIRATES ATTEMPT ESCAPE

Four Condemned Men Wound Jailers Before Being Recaptured.

HONG KONG, March 1 (Canadian Press).—A dramatic sequel to the piracy of the British steamer Sunning near here last November, occurred here today when four of the condemned Chinese pirates made a desperate attempt to escape, which failed after they had wounded three jailers.

The prisoners mysteriously freed themselves from their shackles and sprang upon two of their warders who had been inspecting their cell. The quartette seized the wardens' revolvers and dashed out into a passage, where they were confronted by four more jailers.

The four jailers intercepted them and the desperadoes opened fire, slightly wounding three of them. The remaining jailer, an East Indian, attacked them, felling one with the butt of his rifle. The other three then fled, but locked grilles around the jail prevented their escape. Reinforcements arrived then and the four were overpowered. They are to be executed tomorrow.

BIG SISTERS ASK FOR MORE SUPPLIES

Many Calls Have Depleted Stocks of Clothing For Relief.

The Big Sisters are asking for more supplies. Insistent demands, more than usually large in number, have depleted the stocks in their receiving room in the City Buildings, and they have nothing much on hand but a few hats and some shoes.

They are asking for clothing of various sorts, but more particularly for anything in children's wear, for a warm dress, size 36 or 38, for a woman, and for outfits for babies who will arrive next month.

The Big Sisters wish to thank all who donated supplies of any sort, and the Dickson Store for large parcel received from them.

Four and a half million dollar link between Canada and U. S. now nearing completion. The $4,500,000 peace bridge between Buffalo and Fort Erie is now well advanced and it is expected it will be open to vehicular traffic by May. The date for the official opening and dedication has not yet been set. The bridge is 4,250 feet in length, including approaches. It was begun about a year and a half ago. The bonds for the bridge were underwritten by private individuals and will be retired by tolls received on the bridge. When they are paid the bridge will be turned over jointly to the United States and Canada.

SPENDID TALK ON LABRADOR

Dr. Harry Padden Speaks to Local Branch of Grenfell Mission.

LANTERN SLIDES

Dr. Harry L. Padden, assistant to Dr. Wilfrid Grenfell in his wonderful work in Labrador, delivered a powerful and interesting address at the Public Library last night under the auspices of the local branch of the Grenfell Mission.

The speaker was introduced by the Rev. J. D. Paterson, who presided in the absence, through illness, of the president, Mrs. Conway. Mr. Paterson, speaking of Dr. Padden, declared that he honored him "as a representative of one of the greatest missionaries of our day and generation."

It is really deplorable to hear so many people misrepresent the versatility of the original medical missionary," declared Dr. Padden. He described their task as the all-round missionary and stated that after fifteen years of missionary life he had come to consider it as the happiest expression of religion that could be found.

The speaker declared that the country offered possibilities of development that made it one of the richest undeveloped portions of the Empire. He mentioned among these possibilities the ore deposits, the splendid pulpwood tracts, the wonderful water powers and the opportunity to rival Alaska.

He followed his introduction with a series of beautiful lantern slides which showed the natives, Eskimos, Indians and the white people who inhabit the country. Views of the different hospitals, schools and orphanages all indicating the progress that has been made by the mission since the work was first commenced, elicited much favorable comment from the audience. His pictures removed from the mind of the audience that Labrador was a bleak and dreary country as many of the views revealed scenery of a nature that would be almost impossible to equal for splendor.

The Doctor spoke at some length of the terrible experience of the people during the 'flu epidemic in 1918, when entire villages were wiped out and many children were left orphans.

Pictures of the boys and girls at work in the schools were also interesting. In these schools the girls are taught the various branches of domestic science, while the boys are taught various trades and eventually are turned into finished artizans, making them useful citizens irrespective of where they locate.

The thanks of the Peterborough branch was conveyed to the speaker by A. A. Mowat and Mrs. Gerald Wood.

The lantern and slides were operated by V. R. Henry.

SASKATCHEWAN QUEENS

Anyone who thinks that a judge in a beauty contest in Saskatchewan has a sinecure has only to glance at the above pictures to have that impression corrected. The beauties who are pictured above are but four of a dozen beautiful young women who are candidates for the Queen's Crown at the Northern Saskatchewan Winter Carnival, which is being held in Prince Albert, March 8th to 11th inclusive. Miss Eagle and Miss Graham are Prince Albert girls; Miss Cuelenaere is from Leask, Saskatchewan, and Miss Mary Gaston from Shellbrook. Other candidates have entered from Saskatoon, Regina, Cudworth, Blaine Lake, Star City, Kinistino, Wakaw and Domremy.

Being Queen of the Northern Saskatchewan Winter Carnival is no empty honor. She and her court will start the big dog derby which has as its main prize the silver challenge trophy donated by Premier King and she will enthroned in the place of honor at all the other events, including the ball to be held every evening in the armouries. The carnival is the biggest thing ever attempted in Western Canada and the lady who will rule it with her sceptre will have to be every inch a queen.

When the heavy steel door—camouflaged to look like innocent wood, on the inside, at least—opened, Faith whirled, her arms involuntarily going out to her sister.

There stood Cherry, small head held high and proud, a smile curling her beautiful mouth, the lips freshly tinted with rouge, the apricot flush on her cheeks burning high and bright, her golden eyes clear and wide and innocent—innocent of worry, apparently, as well as of the guilt of being a murderess.

"Hello, folks. It's sweet of you to come. I knew you would. How's Mother?"

"Hello, darling," Faith dropped her arms and answered in a voice that sounded flat to her own ears. "Mother is resting well. I think she is enjoying the hospital."

The warden and the matron of the female wards, a tall, stout, pleasant-faced woman, who looked like a Sunday school worker and club woman, took seats unobtrusively, after the warden had locked the door.

"Don't look so woe-begone, Long," Cherry rallied her brother, after she had kissed him. "How's Fay? Is she going to turn you down—after this?"

"Not on your life!" Junior's worried young face broke into a broad grin. "Say, Cherry, she wants us to get married right away—to show the world what she thinks of the Lanes."

"That's sweet of her," Cherry's eyes misted over with the first tears she had permitted herself since the interview had begun. "But don't you go rushing into marriage, Long. You can't tell what will happen when you get married," she tried valiantly to be humorous. "I've brought you some clothes, honey," Faith indicated the suitcase at her father's feet. "You—you don't have to wear—anything special?" she asked lamely, remembering those drably clad women who had stared at her as she passed along that sinister wall of iron bars.

"Oh, no. I can wear anything I please. What did you bring? I hope you thought of my green charmeuse. It's so practical. Oh, yes, here it is."

"And I brought you some turkey sandwiches—white meat; some deviled eggs, some pumpkin and mince pie, some chocolate cake, and a little fruit," Faith lifted the heavy hamper and offered it to her sister with trembling hands.

"Have you seen Stephen Churchill?" Jim Lane demanded gruffly.

"Oh, yes, he was here within an hour after they brought me in," Cherry's bright voice faltered only momentarily. "He's the most magnetic thing. Positively hypnotic. Of course I told him I'm not a bit worried over what the grand jury will do Monday. I didn't do anything wrong, and I'm not afraid. I'm not going to let anything frighten me. I'll be home Monday, Dad. Don't worry."

"Gee, Cherry, you're great!" Junior breathed admiringly. "I didn't think you had it in you."

"Did Muggy send me any message?" the girl turned to Faith with the first real show of agony in her eyes. "Of course she doesn't know I'm—here——"

"I told her you and—Chris were on your honeymoon, that you were very happy. She said to tell you that your Muggy isn't mad at you at all. Those were her very words."

"Time's up, folks," Warden Little interrupted with hesitation. "We'll take good care of the little girl. I'm afraid we're going to miss her—after Monday."

Reporters were awaiting them on the porch of the little Myrtle Street house, when they returned in a taxicab, and Faith conquered her weariness to answer their questions courteously and smilingly.

"We must keep a brave front before the world," she placated her father and Junior, who were sullen and angry after the reporters had left.

"I'm going over to see Fay," Junior told her explosively. "I can't stand this. If it keeps up, I'm going to beat it out of town. Aw, Sis, I didn't mean it! I'll stand by," he gave in abruptly at the sight of her fresh tears.

Faith sent her father to bed, cajoling him into a semblance of cheerfulness. She sat alone, then, until Bob Hathaway should come to her from his conference with Stephen Churchill. But every attempt she made to marshall her thoughts to think of ways to help Cherry, was defeated by the almost constant ringing of the telephone. Reporters from all over the state were pouring into the city to "cover" the most sensational murder story that had broken for years.

When Bob arrived at last she was a quivering wreck of her former calm self, but in his arms she grew quiet, hopeful.

"I couldn't possibly live through this without you," she told him brokenly, her brown eyes drinking love and hope from his brilliant blue ones.

Drawing the shades against curious eyes, she sat beside him on the couch, his arms holding her so tightly that to breathe was a delicious pain. She told him of her visit with Cherry, of the girl's remarkable spirits, of the warden's and the matron's kindliness.

"Now tell me what Stephen Churchill says," she braced herself to hear the worst.

"I suppose Cherry told you that he talked with her," Bob began hesitatingly. "Did she tell you that he urged her to let him work up a case on self-defense?"

"No!" Faith cried out sharply. "How dare he say a thing like that to Cherry? She's innocent! Can't he see that, feel it, believe it? A fine lawyer he is!"

"Don't honey," Bob soothed her, "I'm afraid he believes Cherry did it. No, wait! We've got to face facts, darling. Things look very, very bad for Cherry. Churchill believes he can get her off scott free if she will plead self-defense. And he doesn't think she has a ghost of a show if she sticks to her story of knowing absolutely nothing of the murder. He contends that it was either Cherry or Wiley, and Cherry's own testimony before the coroner's jury clears Wiley."

Faith sprang to her feet, her whole body quivering with anger. "Bob Hathaway, tell me one thing, and tell me the absolute truth—do you believe she killed your uncle in self-defense? Tell me!' Her eyes were blazing with anger and something like scorn for the man she loved with all her heart.

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, but do not Compel.

FOR WEDNESDAY, MARCH 2, 1927

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

This is rather an unimportant day in planetary direction, according to astrology. There is one major threatening aspect however.

Travel is not well directed today, and it is wise to postpone voyages, for dangers of many sorts threaten foreign travel.

Again world upheavals are indicated by the stars and the world is to go through serious crises.

Cohesion among Americans and care to prevent the distribution of dangerous literature are advised by the seers.

Newspapers and magazines are rather well directed under this planetary government and there appears little doubt that they will publish much sensational matter in 1927.

There will be a trend toward spiritual matters and much interest in religion, it is forecast, and this precedes much human agony in the shape of war.

All the signs appear to presage for the year the introduction of amazing inventions. Aviation, telephones, radios and other methods of thought communication will be improved.

It was prophesied last year that many world celebrities would end their careers on earth and it is again foretold that our great men and women would pass on in unusual numbers.

Crime is to flourish even more than formerly, astrologers foretell, and there is to be some sort of a national or international plot for obtaining money. Forgery, perhaps, is indicated.

New modes are foreshadowed for women who will again seek to cultivate extreme femininity, if they desire to be fashionable.

Beauty is to be more and more lauded, a sign not altogether encouraging if confined to persons and not to their surroundings.

Supreme tasks are probable for the women of the world and Americans are to lead in some sort of world service.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of good news and pleasant adventures in the coming year.

Children born on this day may have strong psychic gifts and may be much interested in the occult. They should be guarded against superstition.

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

This summer ermine evening coat for spring is trimmed with a beige fox collar ornamented with a red flower.

"In 1906 a fur coat was like red flannels," observes a prominent designer of furs—"something a woman needed to keep out winter's cold." Now the warmth-giving qualities of fur coats are of only secondary consideration, and women expect to have their fur wraps as smart and as up-to-date and as becoming as cloth coats. And since the furriers have become so skillful in manipulating the lighter weights of peltries the "red flannel" property of a fur coat may hardly enter into consideration at all, for there are coats of ermine and other light furs that are really too light for winter wear and that are worn in the spring and even in the summer. Fine grades of mink, nutria, broadtail, caracul and ermine when made without interlining or heavy lining are among these spring peltries.

Many of the spring cloth coats are trimmed with the lighter, cooler furs—flat furs that show no disposition to nestle up around the neck. Calf, pony, sheared lamb and mole are suitable for this purpose and the ever useful coney has been made into soft, light, flat fur that appears in various colors on many of the less expensive cloth coats for spring.

Fox scarfs have been brought forward again as a spring fashion and their fate does not entirely rest with the success of the two-piece jacket and skirt suit.

When American women follow the lead of the French woman and adopt the little tailored suit as their street costume for spring they naturally choose a fur scarf as an accessory if they can afford a really good one. Most women would rather choose a silk scarf of some description than a really cheap "fox" scarf. They may be perfectly content to wear cheapet peltries to trim coats or frocks but when they wear a separate scarf they want one that is quite obviously fox, and not some ingeniously contrived rabbit.

Among the unusual professions followed by women are dealing in autographs, running children's parties, finding names for persons or articles, and running a roofing factory.

Uncle Wiggily

To-day's Bed time Story.

By Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE EARLY WIND

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

One day Uncle Wiggily's wife said to him:

"Don't you think we ought to let Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy go?"

"Go? My Goodness! Go where?" asked Mr. Longears. "If she wants to go to the movies I'll take her and you also."

"No, I don't mean that," explained Mrs. Longears, counting on her paw to make sure all the forty 'leven little bunnies had gone safely to the Hollow Stump School. "I mean we should let Nurse Jane go away from us."

"Oh, my goodness!" cried Mr. Longears, pulling his pink nose until it stretched like a rubber boot. "Whatever would we do without our muskrat lady housekeeper? Before I married you, my dear," and he lovingly kissed his wife, "before I married you, Nurse

The wind blew Uncle Wiggily's hat off.

Jane kept the bungalow for me. And now she helps you keep it for all our forty 'leven little bunnies, to say nothing of Baby Bunty who makes forty twelve when she comes visiting! We never could get along without Nurse Jane!"

"Oh, I don't mean to let her go forever," said Mrs. Longears. "But give her a sort of vacation. She has worked faithfully for many years, first for you and now for you and me."

"A good idea!" Give Nurse Jane a vacation!" chuckled Uncle Wiggily. "But hush! Here she comes now!" He whispered to his wife. "We'll surprise her by giving her a vactaion tomorrow. Say nothing about it now."

So Uncle Wiggily and his wife pretended to be playing tag with the piano when the muskrat lady housekeeper entered the room. Nodding to Mrs. Longears, Nurse Jane held a slip of paper out to Uncle Wiggily.

"What's this; a letter?" asked the bunny gentleman.

"It's a slip of paper with a dozen eggs written on it," squeaked Nurse Jane.

"Oh, so it is!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily, reading the writing. "But what is it for?"

"That's for you to go to the store if you please, and get a dozen eggs," answered the muskrat lady. "I wrote them on the paper so you wouldn't forget."

"I see," said Uncle Wiggily. "I'll hop to the store right away and get the eggs." So he put on his tall silk hat, took his red, white and blue striped rheumatism crutch, which Nurse Jane had gnawed for him out of a corn stalk, and away hopped the bunny. But first he carefully winked one eye at his wife to let her know he had not forgotten about giving Nurse Jane a vacation next day.

Off to the hen store, where he knew he could get eggs, hopped Uncle Wiggily, Mrs. Cluck, the hen lady, brought out the eggs, nice, clean white ones, but as she put them on the counter she said:

"I am sorry, Mr. Longears, but I have no paper bag or even a pasteboard box in which to put my eggs. I expect some new bags in very soon, but if you don't want to wait you can put the eggs in your pocket."

"Better than that!" laughed the bunny gentleman. "I will put the eggs in my tall silk hat and then I will put the hat on my head. And when I take my hat off the eggs will roll out and I won't forget to give them to Nurse Jane."

Putting the eggs in his hat, which looked like a piece of stove pipe, Uncle Wiggily started to hop to his bungalow, wondering what Nurse Jane would do on her vacation, and what she was going to make of the eggs.

Then, all of a sudden, out from behind a big pile of snow hopped the Bob Cat with a snarl on his unpleasant face and kink in his silly little tail.

"Wait!" howled the bad chap to the bunny gentleman. "I want to nibble——" But that was as far as he got. For, just then, the March Wind, which had come one day early, on the last of February, the Marc Wind, whistling and howling, quickly blew Uncle Wiggily's hat off his head. The early wind blew the hat straight toward the Bob Cat, flopping it right in his face. And, not only did the March Wind blow the hat in the Bob Cat's face, but it blew some of the eggs as well. So that the Bad Chap was all ringed, streaked and speckled with the white and yellows of broken eggs.

"Oh, wow! What has happened. This must be the end of the world!" yowled the Bob Cat and with eggs dripping all over him he turned and ran away, taking his silly little tail with him.

Uncle Wiggily picked up his hat, which wasn't damaged very much, and picked up such eggs as weren't broken. Then he hopped back to the hen lady's coop to buy more, saying as he did so:

"Thank you, early March Wind! You saved my ears!" And Nurse Jane baked a lollypop cake for the rabbit gentleman.

Youngsters Have Great Chance to Make Good During 1927 Season.

UNDER HUGGINS

New York "Big Five" Staff is Slowly Passing.

NEW YORK, March 1.—One by one the veterans are fading from the Yankee pitching staff, and it will not be long before the Big Five of the Hugmen's world's championship days will have entirely disappeared. Joe Bush was the first of that celebrated quintet which pitched the Yanks home sixteen games ahead of the Detroit Tigers. Three weeks ago Sam Jones followed, and in the meantime Bob Shawkey has ceased to perform as a regular.

Shawkey is still with the club and will remain until Huggins can fix up the veteran with the proper sort of berth. Shawkey has been a loyal performer for many years. Huggins is now relying upon him as extra pitcher and coach of youngsters. As it is necessary to build up a new hurling staff, Shawkey can be very valuable around the Yanks.

Herb Pennock and Waite Hoyt are the members of that Big Five who still remain active on the mound, and it is a question as to how long they will stick with the Yankees. Pennock has passed his thirty-third birthday and cannot have so far to go. Hoyt is only twenty-seven, but he has been pitching professional ball since he was seventeen, and it is a question if he will last as long as the pitchers who started at a later age.

Still Figure Heavily.

As the Big Five died out Huggins picked up some other veterans, and two of them—Urban Shocker and Dutch Reuther—still figure heavily in the Yankee plans for 1927. Ruether is thirty-three, and Shocker is thirty-four, so it is safe to assume that they have passed the peak of their pitching careers.

It looks like a good year for the younger members of the Huggins hurling force to show something. In the nine pitchers other than the veterans named above, the Yankees have some promising material in Myles Thomas, George Pipgras, Roy Chesterfield and Joe Giard, all of whom have had experience in the majors or the high class minors. Walter Beall is another who has had experience but he still remains as big a question as any rookie on the staff. He will remain so until he acquires control.

Several Rookies.

Thomas should be better as a result of his work last season, and Giard is supposed to be fit again after a season of illness and accident. Pipgras and Chesterfield were busy performers in Class A leagues. Henry Johnson, who was with the Yankees before, was a big disappointment last season at St. Paul, but Huggins still has hopes.

Then there are three recruits—Wilvey Moore, S. L. Gannon and Jim Wiltse—who will be having their first trial with the club. Moore is rather old for a rookie, being listed as twenty-nine, but he won thirty games and lost only four at Greenville last season, and that is quite a feat in any league.

If some of these youngsters are ready to go the route they are likely to have the opportunity.

YANKS ARE NOT CHANGING OFFER

Col. Ruppert Says That Ruth's $100,000 Demand is Unreasonable.

MAY LEAVE GAME

NEW YORK, March 1 (Canadian Press).—The New York Yankees apparently were making no idle gesture to comply with baseball law when they offered Babe Ruth a renewal of his old $52,000 a year contract for 1927. The club intends to stand pat on this proposal, it was learned on good authority yesterday in spite of the Babe's transcontinental ballyhoo for a new contract at the record-breaking figure of $100,000.

It has been generally supposed by baseball men that with the rise of player value, the Yankees would be willing to go as high as $75,000 to sign their star home run hitter, but, as interpreted in reliable sources yesterday, the club is not disposed to make any compromise.

Neither Col. Jacob Ruppert, the owner, nor Ed. Barrow, business manager, would comment on their attitude yesterday, but Col. Ruppert's statement that Ruth's $100,000 demand was "unreasonable" seemed to support the view that the club is not in a temporizing mood.

The Yankee officials, if they stick to a contention that the Babe is not worth more than his previous $52,000 salary in spite of a big 1926 season and sensational work in the world's series, may be without the services of their colorful star when the season opens. The Babe's letter put his demands on record in firm tones and emphasized that he was prepared to leave the game if they weren't met.

'SHORTY' GREEN SERIOUSLY HURT

KIDNEY DISLOCATED.

NEW YORK, March 1.—(Canadian Press).—Wilfrid (Shorty) Green, Sudbury, regular right wing player of the New York American Hockey Club, is today in the Polyclinic Hospital suffering from a dislocated kidney. The injury was sustained in Sunday night's National Hockey League match at Madison Square Garden between the Americans and their local rivals, the Rangers. Green's condition is considered serious and before his removal to hospital early today a priest of the Roman Catholic Church administered the last rites.

Officials of the Americans were uncertain today as to how "Shorty" received his injury. They said that during the first period he fell during a scramble and was buried under a heap of players. Green, however, played throughout the remainder of the session. He felt ill at the end of the period and rested until the finish of the game, when he was able to go home with his brother, Redvers (Red) Green, American left winger.

This morning, however, his condition became acute and his brother called a doctor who advised Shorty's immediate removal to the hospital. The doctor stated he considered the player's condition as "pretty serious." Green's body was found to be rather badly bruised, not as a result of last night's game but of recent games.

OWEN SOUND AND NEWMARKET IN JUNIOR FINALS

Greys Win Round From Kitchener, Although Losing Second Game.

CHECKING WINS.

Newmarket Defeats St. Michael's Again By Single Goal.

TORONTO, March 1. — Checking St. Michael's into submission Newmarket again earned a single score advantage over the Irish Collegians in the second game of the Junior O.H.A. semi-finals at the Arena last night and qualified to meet Owen Sound for the championship. The team from North York won the first game over the Irishers by a 1 to 0 score and added to their lone goal victory a 2 to 1 win last night, which gave them a 3 to 1 margin on the round. The solitary score collected by the Collegians is evidence of the winners' remarkably ability to cover plays and players, the Newmarket lads giving a superdemonstration of systematic checking in the two contests. The combination of the Students was stopped by Newmarkets defensive system, and thus the main weapon which has carried the Saints so far, was broken.

The Newmarket team worked wonders, every player playing his position to perfection from Sonny Townsley, the mid-ice marvel, to the last substitute. Townsley alone broke up most of the Irish attacks before they reached the danger zone, while on the offensive he was unbeatable. Townsley has a style all his own, a smart stickhandler with a deceptive change of pace, that puzzles and baffles. Townsley, while he is a tower of strength, going both ways, has two wonder wing men, that know how to play with him, never being offside, when he twists and turns, always waiting to accept and return a pass. The front line is the smallest seen in the Junior finals in years, but they know how to protect themselves in heavy going, have sped and condition with it to go sixty minutes, in fact Bill Hancock's Newmarket staff is almost perfect.

KITCHENER, March 1—For the fourth year in succession the Owen Sound Grey will enter the Junior O.H.A. finals, but they got the fright of their lives here at the Auditorium last night, when the Twin City kids handed them a 2 to 1 defeat. The Greys thus won the round 5 to 2. They Greys did not appear to have the powerful macnine of other years, and it blew higher than a kite in the second and third periods, the Twin City kids having it all over them in these sessions, and had the homesters shown a little more combination and shooting ability they might have been going into the final with Newmarket instead of the Greys.

It was a lightning fast Junior game of hockey, with the winners having all the better of the argument due to their great back-checking, and they were unfortunate not to win further away. The first period was scoreless, but in the second the homesters got a single goal. Had they played combination then the Green and White might have been within a goal of the Greys on the round, for the Sounders were playing disorganized hockey, but the homesters were eager to go it alone.

Until something can be done to improve on the looks of the women contestants we favor a campaign to discourage further popularity of channel swims.

It is a rather interesting fact that when he made his New York debut with Chicago he came through with a homer, his first time at bat, thereby living up to all the advancenotice the New York scribes had given him.

While Ping was a great copy producer, little of it had brain power or baseball strategy behind it. Ping broke into the limelight as a result of great mechanical ability in the field and at the bat rather than through cunning.

However, Brodie figured in a novel play in which I happened to be one of the umpires. It rather belied the thought that Ping wasn't a smart ball player.

New York was playing Cleveland. Bodie essayed a steal. As he slid into second, it was evident the fielder had dropped the ball trying to touch him. It was a hot day and a cloud of dust momentarily obscured the runner and fielder.

All the time I was watching closely the actions of Bodie. As he touched home plate I noted that he raised his left arm and the ball fell to the ground.

I immediately sent Bodie back to second base. After the game he confided to me that as the fielder dropped the ball it nestled under his arm pit, so he simply closed his arm tightly over it and proceeded on his way to the plate.

"It would have been a good one if I got away with it," was Bodie's only comment.

The incident convinced me that baseball wasn't entirely a matter of brawn with Bodie.

LONDON TEAM WINS EASILY IN SECOND GAME

First O.H.A. Championship For Forest City Since 1900.

SCORE 1-0.

Jordan Team Works Hard To Cut Down Two Goal Deficit.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., March 1. — Playing a careful and well thought out game, London Battery not only retained their lead of two goals scored in the first game of the O.H.A. intermediate finals in London on Saturday night but added one more to the margin by winning the return fixture and championship here last night 1 to 0 before 3000 hockey enthusiassts from the Niagara Peninsula.

The Gunners' tactics were entirely defensive throughout with thrusts on the opposition cage only when openings appeared. Jordan, facing a handicap of two goals, were forced to carry the play to their opponents, and at times had to head into a six defence with Sandy Somerville, an old Toronto favorite, and his long stick, the rock on which the majority of the attacks broke.

The new O.H.A. intermediate champions always appeared to be playing under wraps and they came out of the game in wonderful condition and fresh for their Allan Cup elimination contest with South Porcupine at the Toronto Arena Gardens on Wednesday night. The only goal of the game came in the third period on a sparkling rush down the right wing by defence playe Pritchard, whose back handed shot completely fooled the brilliant Fisher in the Jordan net.

London's Long Quest.

It took London 27 years to win an O.H.A. championship, the last success coming in 1900 when a team from the Forest City defeated Belleville 3 to 1 for the Intermediate title. London teams have been in the finals since but never were able to get over the last obstacle until last night.

Jordan tried hard to duplicate their brilliant ninety minute victory over Oshawa but against effective defensive play of the Soldiers the Winery Kings were unable to show a punch. Not that they did not break through for what appeared sure goals, for they had a number of splendid chances to score, but they lacked the scoring ability necessary to get the puck into the twine.

HOCKEY RESULTS.

The scores of hockey games played last night were as follows:—

O.H.A. Intermediate Final.

xLondon wins championship, 3-0.

O.H.A. Junior Semi-Final.

xNewmarket winds round, 3-1.
xOwen Sound wins round, 5-2.

Large, Red Pimples Covered Her Face

Miss Mable Moore, Blenheim, Ont., writes:—"A short while ago my face was covered with large, red pimples. I tried several remedies, but all failed. At last a friend advised me to take and I took three bottles. I will never regret the day I did this as my face is entirely cleared up.

My mother has taken B.B.B. for headaches, and she hasn't had the least sign of a headache for a long time."

This valuable remedy has been on the market for the past 48 years; put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

BRITISH WOMEN CHALLENGE FOR TENNIS TROPHY

International Matches Tentatively Scheduled Prior to National Tourney.

WIGHTMAN CUP

Will Bring Together Leading Women Players of Both Countries.

NEW YORK, March 1.—The English Lawn Tennis Association has formally challenged for the Wightman Trophy play in 1927.

As a result, the already impressive tennis schedule for the coming season will carry another international feature. This will bring together the leading women players of the United States and England. The matches will be played in this country at a place and dates to be named later.

If the usual precedent is followed, the three day international women's team match would be held at the West Side Tennis Club, Forest Hills, on August 11, 12 and 13, preceding the women's national championship already sanctioned and scheduled to begin on Monday, August 15.

Several other prominent clubs, however, are in the field for the women's international team match, and it may be that the international play committee and the sanction and schedule committee of the U.S.L.T.A. will decide to award the event to a new locality. This will be a matter reported upon and considered at the next meeting of the executive committee of the national association on March 25.

The Wightman Cup matches of 1927 will mark the fifth meeting between the leading women players of England and the United States, and may be expected to break the existing tie for possession of the trophy, as each nation has won the event and temporary possession of the cup twice. The initial contest was played in 1923 at Forest Hills and won by the United States seven matches to none. The following year the contest was resumed at Wimbledon, England winning six matches to one. In 1925 the play reverted to Forest Hills, and again England won four matches to three, while last year at Wimbledon the American players reversed the result by a similar score.

Players on winning American teams include Miss Helen Wills, Mrs. Franklin I. Mallory, Mrs. Hazel Hotchkiss Wightman, donor of the trophy; Miss Eleanor Goss, Miss Elizabeth Ryan, Miss Mary K. Browne and Mrs. Marion Zinderstein Jessup.

OMEMEE WINS BAKER TROPHY

FINAL SCORE 8-3.

OMEMEE, March 1. — On Wednesday evening, the local hockey team journeyed to Dunsford to compete for the Baker cup, where the tournament for the same was being held. They defeated the Lindsay team, thus bumping them out of the tournament, and on Thursday night they returned, and playing the same class of hockey were good enough to nose out Dunsford by the score of 8-3.

"The Colts'" perfect defensive system of checking every Dunsford play that ever saw the light of day, did more to throw their opponents of their stride and play havoc with their play than anything else.

The mild weather of the last few days left the ice in anything but good condition. It was far too soft for fast skating, but it had the advantage of having enough water on the surface to allow the puck to slip rather than roll. Had the ice be n hard fast hockey would have been displayed.

Shortly after the play started Sammy Clemett took a shot and up went the white flag and when the period ended, there was no doubt what the out come would be. The score by periods was 3-0; 5-1; 8-3.

In the final period when the game was cinched, the spectators were more than amazed to see the Colts skate to the gate and take a sandwich from a box which was being held by an Omemee young lady and then proceed down the ice with the puck.

When the game was over the management of the tournament presented the Omemee team with the cup and each player of the winning team received a belt with sterling silver buckle and initials engraved thereon.

The cup has been placed in Mr. S. J. Mackey's store window along with the Carew cup recently won. Added to these is a similar cup donated by the late Sir Sam Hughes in a rifle competition some years ago, and a smaller one won by a high school student for athletics.

TOMORROW
is Ash Wednesday, the beginning of Lent. From then until Eastern Sunday, all Christiandom will give special thought to religious subjects. A picture story of the life of Christ starts in The Examiner tomorrow. A prominent religious writer and an able artist have collaborated to make this a really valuable contribution to the spirit of the season. Its brevity and simplicity convey the story as does no other medium. Events are chronological and, through Holy Week, deal with Christ's life during those respective days.

Start the feature tomorrow and introduce it to the children. Suggest that they cut out the installments and make scrap books for their Sunday School classes.

TRUTH VERSUS ERROR.
No man or number of men have any moral right to form an organization and call it a "church" or the "church," seeing the real meaning of the original words, "the church" signifies, "those who have been called out and chosen from amongst men, and who have consecrated their all to the Lord Jesus, and who follow Him, by walking in obedience to the Holy Spirit." The "real church" is composed of saints, and will in the millenial day of judgment be associated with Jesus in judging the world. The "real church" will then be the Bride of Christ. All who comprise "the real church" recognize Jesus as Lord and Master and all they as brethren. There is a secret fellowship between all the members of "the real church." 1 John, 1, 7. If you want sham, force and hypocrisy perpetuated, boost the so-called churches by giving your money, time and influence to them. If you want to further the cause of truth and righteousness obey the call of God, "Come out of her, my people, that ye be not partakers of her sins and receive not of her plagues."—Rev. 18, 4.—M. T. Butcher.

ENOUGH TO GO AROUND.

So Do Not Be Disappointed If Not Among the First Ones.

Of all sad words of those who know,
The saddest of these: We told you so!

Those who are easily offended usually resent the sad words, "I told you so," but no offense was intended when readers were told in yesterday's issue to be as early as possible in the presentation of their dictionary coupons.

The first dictionary day has now come and gone, and everybody is happy—except those who did not get one of those useful new volumes. Never mind. It is not yet too late. The offer still holds good.

Clip the dictionary coupon printed elsewhere in this issue and learn all of the particulars contained in it.

CLUBS ENTERTAIN.

Mothers Are Guests of Girls at Y.W.C.A. on Saturday.

The Sunshine and Ever Bright Clubs of the Y.W.C.A., under the leadership of Miss Margaret Storey, entertained their mothers on Saturday afternoon. A programme was given, consisting of gymnasium exercises, recitations, songs, piano solos and three short playlets, entitled "The Magic Curtain of the Past," "Molly and I," and "Neighborly Kindness." These were much appreciated by the audience. Miss Storey then outlined the purposes of the Club, and the entertainment closed with the service of refreshments by the members.

GRENFELL MISSION

Wheat Prices Go Up On Reports On Reserves

CHICAGO, March 1. Canadian Press. — With an unexpected bullish showing made to-day by unofficial reports on domestic farm reserves wheat and corn scored a sharp early advance. On the upturn, however, profit taking sales became heavy. Opening unchanged to 3-8c higher wheat soon rose all around. Corn started unchanged to 1-8c up and displayed even greater strength than wheat. Oats and provisions held about steady.

The opening prices were: Wheat, May 139; July 133; corn May, 75 3-4, July 80 3-8; oats, May 45 3-8; July 45 3-4.

Easier Trend In Toronto; Heavy Dealing In Seagram

TORONTO, March 1 (Canadian Press).—An easier trend was in evidence on the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning, when various recent leaders eased slightly. Seagram dominated the whole market with a turnover of close to twelve thousand shares. It touched a high mark of 26 and sold down to 23¾, closing at that mark at noon for a net loss of a quarter. Massey Harris lost a full point at 108 3-4 and British Columbia Fishing softened 2½ at 87½. Brazilian continued strong this morning, selling up 1 5-8 at 120 3-4. Hiram Walker dropped nearly two points at 37¼, and Gooderham and Worts, also very active, softened 3-4 at 55¼. Shredded Wheat softened a quarter at 63½.

Reaction In Wall Street Caused By Profit-Taking

NEW YORK, March 1— (Canadian Press.) — Strong efforts of tinue the forward movement of speculators for the advance to conprices in to-day's stock market, were checked by persistent profittaking and bear selling based on the belief that the market was entitled to at least a "technical reaction." The general trend was downward throughout the morning, but by early afternoon an upward tendency developed in some of the standard industrials, notably United States' Steel common, American Smelting, and Radio Corporation. Trading, however, turned dull on the rally despite lowering of the call money rate from 4 1-2 to 4 1-4 per cent. Selling pressure against the Motors reflected increased competition in that industry indicated by recent price cuts. Oils and Equipments also were pressed for sale. Liquidation of the Rails was inspired, in part, by the disappointing character of some of the January earnings statements.

Loose Wiles Biscuit, after breaking nearly ten points to 151, rallied to 165. Colorado Fuel crossed 62 to the highest level in 30 years and a brisk demand developed for Allis Chalmers.

Specialty stocks as a group were heavy but some of those issues were in special demand. Vacuum and Standard Oil of Ohio made moderate gains but Cumberland Pipe Line on small sales, dropped over eight points. Standard Oil of India was traded on a large scale within narrow limits.

Mixed Trend In Mines In Light Trading To-day

TORONTO, March 1 (Canadian Press).—Several firm features were outstanding on the Standard Mining Exchange this morning in fairly light trading. Weak spots were also in evidence, however, although the general tone was firm. Vipond was the softest spot on the list, dropping 13 cents to 131 in heavy trading. Dome lost 25 cents at 8.60, and Hollinger lost 15 at 21.95. Teck Hughes was one of the leaders on the firmer side, advancing seven at 670. Barry Hollinger advanced 4½ at 48, and the active Argonaut was ¼ higher at 41 3-4. Laval-Quebec firmed one at 40, and Area a half at 38¾, but the other Quebec stocks were slightly easier, Amulet losing two at 183 and Duprat a half at 17.

OBITUARY.

REV. DR. BURNS
OMEMEE, March 1.—Citizens of Omemee learned with regret of the passing of Rev. Dr. Burns of Toronto, who was a faithful and much-loved pastor of the former Methodist Church here; Omemee having been his last charge before retiring from active ministry.

It was during the Rev. Dr. Burns' pastorate in Omemee that the John McCrea memorial parsonage was built, and he, with his wife and daughter Olive, now Mrs. Kirby, were the first to enjoy residence therein.

The funeral of the late veteran of the ministry was held on Friday, Feb. 25th., from Glebe United Church, Toronto, and was largely attended by a wide circle of sorrowing friends.

THOMAS HOOPER, SENIOR
The funeral of the late Thomas Hooper, Senior, whose death occurred in Orillia on Saturday morning, was held at half past three o'clock yesterday afternoon from the residence of his son, T. H. Hooper, 181 Dalhousie street, to the Little Lake Cemetery, the services being conducted by Rev. J. D. Paterson.

Pall-bearers were three grandsons of the deceased, Percy and Fred Hooper of Peterborough and Marwood Cunningham of Orillia, also Messrs. John Gillespie, James Dutton, and Charles Cheverill, of this city.

The late Mr. Hooper, who was born in England, was eighty-eight years of age. He spent the last fifty years of his life in this district, having farmed for many years in Monaghan and Otonabee, where he was well and favorably known and highly respected. On the death of his wife, four years ago, he removed to Orillia.

He is survived by three sons, Walter and Thomas H., of this city and William, of Orillia, also two daughters, Mrs. T. E. Cunningham of Orillia and Mrs. C. H. Cheverill of Peterborough.

AROUND THE CITY

At 11.53 yesterday morning the fire department received a call to a chimney fire at 432 Rogers street.

Word comes from London, Ont., with regard to a recent visit of several Peterboro men there, of the attention drawn to one of them by the marked regard of a beautiful young lady in a hotel rotunda. This gentleman, well known in the city, was conversing innocently enough with a masculine friend, when the young lady commenced to ogle him. Finally much to the consternation of the young lady at the cigar counter, she finally went so far as to expectorate in the cuspidor standing beside her, much to the astonishment of the gentleman and his friends. When she finally drifted away, they discovered that the beautiful girl was "Marjorie," of Dumbells" fame.

Keeping in Touch With The Spirit of Lent

LENTEN season begins Wednesday. It is the time when the world turns its thoughts to spiritual things.

A picture story of the life of Christ will appear daily in The Examiner during Lent. It is intended not only for reading and meditation, but as a valuable new presentation of the most interesting story in the world.

This feature strikes home to all ages, all denominations. Its clarity brevity and illustration appeal to the young reader. Its power, accuracy and accompanying Biblical references win the approval of adults.

This art strip depicts the life of Christ, the man. It is historically correct, but no word or line is out of harmony with any doctrine. It is powerful, but without prejudice. It is brief, but it will make you think. It is the essence of the spirit of the season.

Conservative Member Attacks The Drury Administration

CHIEF NEWHALL TELLS FACTS OF POLICE ADMINISTRATION ATTACKED BY ALD. STOCKER

Kept Policeman Employed in Summer To Have Him Here For Winter.

LIVES UP TO RULES.

Examiner Reporter Gave a Fair and Exact Report Within Rights.

"My attention was first drawn to the report of the insinuating remarks to the City Council by Alderman Stocker by a citizen, and naturally there is a certain class that is only too pleased to swallow and circulate any false report about a police officer, particularly an executive head.

First let me state I have nothing whatever against Ald. Stocker. I never had, and I am at a loss to know why he pursues such a vindictive course towards me. In the case of the constable he claims I placed on in the winter months, and not in the summer, it was my part to choose the least of two evils. "To keep the officer on in the summer or winter." Any person who has studied criminal methods, or who reads the various papers, know that it is during the long dark fall and winter nights that hold-ups, thefts, burglaries, etc., take place; that the danger of fires is ever present, and coupled with work being scarce, the criminally inclined are more apt to get in their work. My appropriations would not permit me to employ the constable through the summer, much as I needed his services, with ever increasing traffic, etc.

The police force of this city, is made up of excellent men and when I get such I want to keep them. A police officer is not made, as some people imagine, in a few weeks. It takes months and sometimes years. In this officer's case, which Ald. Stocker has reference to, he is a man of exceptional ability and one I wanted to retain, therefore I did the best I could to keep him employed each summer so as to have him available for the police service as soon as I could see my way clear from a financial standpoint, viz., to keep within the estimates. It is unnecessary for me to say whose money paid for his services while in my private employment. The semi-monthly pay sheet is available and is signed every two weeks by His Worship the Mayor, the chairman of the Finance committee, and the City Treasurer. The Mayor, as you know, is a member of the Police Commission, and is not asleep either.

Japanese Women Help To Pay National Debt

TOKIO, March 2. Canadian Press. — The women of Japan are in the midst of a brisk campaign to save a sen a da, (about a half cent) to aid in paying the empire's foreign debt. Already considerable money has been deposited and the promoters hope to obtain a considerable sum.

The movement was started by the Patriot Savings Society, a national organization of women, headed by leading social workers.

BELIEVE SOVIET MAY ASK BRITAIN FOR CONFERENCE

Possibility of Anglo-Soviet Conference For Discussion of Relations.

LONDON AGREEABLE.

Rumored That Liberals Expected To Raise Debate in House.

LONDON, March 2 (Canadian Press).—The Daily Sketch says there is a possibility of an Anglo-Soviet conference as a consequence of the Russian reply to the British protest against Bolshevist propoganda. The newspaper points out that the Soviet note suggested Moscow would like a discussion of Russo-British relations, and says that Great Britain is likely to agree if a definite invitation to a conference is forthcoming.

There is no sort of confirmation of this rumor from any other source. The Liberals propose to raise a debate on Anglo-Soviet relations in the House of Commons Thursday when the House of Lords also will discuss the subject.

The protest to Russia threatened to break the trade agreement and even to sever diplomatic relations unless anti-British propaganda by the Soviets was brought to an end. In reply the Soviet government declared that derogatory remarks about Russia had been made by British ministers; that no one would be frightened by the British threats and that Soviet Russia was anxious to maintain peace. Sir Austen Chamberlain stated in the House of Commons Monday that Great Britain would not reply to the Russian note.

CANAL BILL AGAIN LOSES

Sir George Perley Again Takes Stand Against Charter Renewal.

DISCUSS POINTS.

OTTAWA, Ont., Mar. 2 (Canadian Press)—The bill to renew the charter of the Montreal-Ottawa and Georgian Bay canal was again talked out in the House last night. Sir George Perley talked the bill out last Friday night; Sir George again held the floor when the hour for private bills ended last night.

When the bill was called last night, C. H. Cahan (Con.-St. Lawrence-St. George), raised the point that, in the former debate on the bill, there had been no proper adjournment and that the bill was improperly placed on the order paper in a position which gave it precedence.

E. R. E. Chevrier (Lib.-Ottawa), said the bill was quite in order and spoke of "the reprehensible practice of talking a bill out which might be within the rules of British practice, but it was not according to British fair play." He observed that 30 or 40 other private bills were being held up because members would not allow the bill now under consideration to go to the railway committee.

Sir George Perley insisted that it was not a private bill in the usual sense of the word, but very much a public one, because it gave the company rights of great value. There was no intention of trying to prevent this bill going to committee, but he wanted to impress upon the members the importance of it before it was given second reading.

If the bill was to pass, he thought it should be definitely stated that the company which was going to build the Georgian Bay Canal would be allowed to use only the water necessary for navigation purposes and that all the water powers left would be conserved by the public. It was all very well to say that the company would build the Georgian Bay canal without cost to the public if they were given the water powers, but if that were done, the users of the eelctric energy would have to pay the cost of the canal.

Sir George said he would really like to know whether the promoters of this bill actually intended to build the canal. If the canal were to be built, it was a matter for consideration by the government on the question of merits. His personal opinion was that the charter should not be renewed but if it were, the clauses of the original charter should be re-drafted.

SUN'S MIGHTY FORCES COLLAPSE AS GENERALS LEAVE ONE BY ONE; CHANG'S ARMY NOW LEFT ALONE

Northern Leader Believed To Have Men Enough To Hold Line.

BATTLE SHIFTING.

Dissension Among Cantonese Leaders Also Reported—U. S. Keeps Arms.

SHANGHAI, March 2 (Canadian Press).—The movement of Shantungese troops into the war theatre south of here was believed by competent foreign authorities today to have reached a volume sufficient to stop the Cantonese advances on Shanghai so far as actual fighting is concerned, however, the question has arisen as to whether the defenders will be able to withstand the bribery and propaganda tactics of Southerners, which hitherto has been uniformly successful.

The utter collapse of the once mighty forces of Marshal Sun Chuan Fang, who until ten days ago was the chief defender of Shanghai, has been brought about principally by "boring from within" on the part of the Cantonese. One after another Marshal Sun has lost his five provinces, and there has been a minimum of actual fighting since he started the campaign against the Nationalists.

The series of defections and betravels whereby Marshal Sun's generals aided the Nationalists in the destruction of his domain has culminated in so many withdrawals that he has been eliminated as a military factor.

Generals Withdraw

Other generals have followed the step taken by General Meng Chao-yush, one of Sun's leading commanders, who yesterday declined to fight along with the Shantung army. Meng and his staff deserted Sun.

The result of this was the announcement that all of Marshal Sun's forces were being withdrawn from the front at Sunkiang, twenty-eight miles south of here, leaving the army of General Chang Tsung, Shantung commander, alone to bar the Cantonese advance toward Shanghai. An unconfirmed report from Nanking, the provincial capital where military operations are being directed, said Sun had telegraphed his resignation as vice-commander of the Ankuochun (Allied Northern armies) to Marshal Chang Tso Lin, Northern generalissimo).

Observers believe the Cantonese may not make a drive for Shanghai immediately, and that instead they may strike for Soochow, a short distance west of Sunkiang, through the Grand Canal, and Nanking, in an attempt to cut the railway on either side of Lake Taihu and prevent the near advance of Shantungese troops. Both sides are moving troops in that direction. The Nationalists are reported to have appeared in Huchowfu, on the southern shore of the lake.

New Strike Planned

Foreign police here today obtained evidence that Labor Radicals are preparing for another general strike to take place whenever the Cantonese gain a decisive military victory. Agitators are reported to be using the militarists' own weapon, terrorism, in their plans. At least two murders and several shootings in the Chinese quarters are known to have taken place. Two were arrested on murder charges. The victims of the agitators are chiefly Chinese foremen who opposed the recent strike, which Labor leaders regarded as a preparatory test for the real demonstration. They expected that the preliminary strike would reveal "weaknesses" which they hoped to correct.

Tiny Coin Contains Lord's Prayer Complete

Something curious and unique in the way of novelties is in the possession of Mr. Frank R. Clarke, jeweller, of 300 Monaghan Road. It is the smallest engraving in the world of the Lord's Prayer. Some years ago, while attending the World's Fair at St. Louis, Mr. Clarke purchased for two dollars from the Egyptian exhibit there this tiny engraving, done by Egyptian workmen. He recently refused twenty dollars for it.

Done in infinitesimal characters, decipherable only by use of a microscope, the Lord's Prayer, in plain English block lettering, complete to the "Amen" at the end, has been engraved in a tiny square, three-sixteenths of an inch across, on a small pearl coin, whose circumference does not reach the three-quarter inch mark on a ruler.

EMPIRE UNITED IN ITS ANSWER TO PRESIDENT

Dominions Unlikely To Send Representatives To Geneva Parley.

LONDON SATISFIED.

Is Possible That Australia and New Zealand May Ask Representation.

LONDON, March 2.—If any of the British Dominions desire to be represented at the Geneva naval disarmament conference proposed by President Coolidge, the British Government will of course give its immediate consent, but it is stated in official quarters here yesterday that the Dominions are not expected to demand such representation.

Australia and New Zealand, however, indicated that they wished the British note to the Washington government to mention the special geographical position of the Empire, because they are opposed to any reduction in its cruiser strength. In view of this it is therefore possible that these countries may ask for representation at the Geneva discussions.

Canada's Attitude

What Canada's attitude would be under such circumstances is not known, but, taking into consideration the recent appointment of Hon. Vincent Massey as Canada's first minister at Washington and his expressed desire to act as interpreter for the British and American peoples, it is thought likely that Canada may ask some one to hold a watching brief at Geneva.

Empire at One.

Officials are pleased that the first note dispatched under the new conditions in imperial relationships, as defined by the imperal conference, should have incorporated in it a few words giving the views of all the Dominions excepting the Irish Free State, which has not officially informed the British Government as to its attitude on the subject of further naval disarmament.

The nature of this note indicates that unity in diplomacy has been maintained as essential to the proper functioning of the foreign policy of the British Empire.

Madeleine de Vercheres' Home Totally Destroyed

THREE RIVERS, March 2.—(Canadian Press). — Memories of Madeleine de Vercheres, heroine of early Canadian history, were recalled to-day in the total destruction by fire of her married home, the old manor of Lanaudiere at Ste. Anne De La Parade. When the fourteen-year-old girl, who immortalized her name by the successful defence of her father's chateau at Vercheres against the Indians, grew to womanhood, she married M. De La Parade and went to the home which he built in 1693.

TRAIN HELD UP BY DERAILMENT

Freight Car Off Near Hastings Blocks Belleville Line.

"ALL CLEAR" TO-DAY.

Derailment of a freight car at the swing bridge at Hastings last night, blocked the track so effectively that an engine and coaches had to be sent to the spot from Peterboro in order that the passengers on the train from Belleville which is due to arrive here around eight o'clock last night, might reach their destinations.

The accident to the freight train occurred shortly before the passenger train was due to arrive, and occurred just on the bridge which made the task of putting the car back somewhat more difficult. The track was reported "all clear" again at 5.30 this morning.

SAYS THAT DRURY GOVERNMENT "BOLSTERED UP" FINANCES SO AS TO MAKE A SHOWING ON BUDGETS

James Lyons, Conservative, Declares Were "Reckless, Inexperienced and Insincere."

BUDGET DEBATE.

TORONTO, March 2 (Canadian Press)—Attacking the Drury administration in the continued debate on the Budget in the Ontario Legislature yesterday afternoon, James Lyons (Cons., Sault Ste. Marie) declared that it was "reckless, inexperienced and insincere" and that it had "bolstered up" the finances of the province in order to make a fine financial showing to the people on its budgets. The bootleggers and the temperance people of Ontario, he declared, in discussing temperance legislation, had killed the Ontario Temperance Act. He referred to W. E. Raney, Progressive leader, as the "most profitable bar-tended the Province ever had."

Mr. Lyons dealt with the record of the Government since taking over office in 1923 when, he said, they inherited a great financial burden but had succeeded in regaining the confidence of the people in addition to improving the Provincal and the national life of the Dominion. The Government's showing of a deficit of only $812,000 for 1926 was a great financial achievement. He did not "like to hark back to the Drury government" but he considered it necessary in order to warn the people not to again make "such a gigantic mistake." Mr. Lyons charged that the Drury Government had stopped payment of its debts for 1922 on October 31, the end of the fiscal year, while it permitted revenue for 1922 which was due on that date, to be collected in the next fiscal year in order that it might be used to "bolster up" a fine financial statement for 1923. By this method of dealing with the finances of the Province the Ferguson Government on taking office was faced with the problem of having to pay debts incurred by the Drury Government which should have been met in 1922. From out of the chaos of 1923 the Ferguson administration had evolved a system of book-keeping and revenue collection such as the people of the province had never before enjoyed.

When Mr. Lyons claimed that under the present debt retiring scheme the Province would soon wipe out its financial obligations, members of the Opposition laughed ironically and were told by the speaker that responsibility for "the financial burden they imposed on this Province" would follow them to the grave. The Liberals and the Progressives, he said, had "assisted and co-operated jointly in bringing about this financial burden and it will stick on their coat tails as long as they live."

Pulpwood Export

Mr. Lyons urged that action be taken to prohibit immediately the export of pulpwood in the raw state. At present Ontario was exporting annually 1,500,000 cords of pulpwood to the United States for which the Province received $14,000,000. If this amount of pulpwood had been manufactured into newsprint in Ontario it would have brought the Province $75,000,000.

Dealing with the sale of timber limits the speaker said that the Drury Government had sold 16,000 square miles of timber containing approximately 41,000,000 cords of pulpwood. Out of this sale, he said, all the people of Ontario received was a 100-ton paper mill and a 150-ton pulp mill.

Supported Liquor Policy

The member for the Soo declared that while he was a temperance man, he was a supporter of the Government's liquor policy, and had obtained a majority of more than 4,000 at the last election in Saulte Ste. Marie, which had always supported temperance reform. The Soo had always elected a representative to the Legislature who supported temperance, but in 1919 "campaign funds supplied by distillers and brewers"

ELMINATION OF RUTS PUZZLING

TRACTOR SUGGESTED.

Ruts on the various streets have been causing considerable trouble and a great deal of inconvenience to unfortunate motorists who find themselves in positions at times over which they have no control. Several cases have occurred where two motorists travelling towards each other have met in the same rut, with the result that one or the other has had perforce to back his car for some distance in order to extricate his car from the rut. As a result a great deal of hot language and biting comment has passed and several accidents have been narrowly avoided.

His Worship Mayor W. T. Holloway told The Examiner to-day that he has been besieged with complaints in this connection, but so far no person has been able to suggest a remedy. The city authorities have tried several methods to get rid of them but they have all failed. The grader was tried but proved too light for the task; gangs of city employees have cut the ruts up with picks, only to have them form again; and the steam roller cannot find enough traction for its ponderous bulk. His Worship stated that the city authorities were considering the advisability of trying out a tractor in order that the conditions might be remedied to some extent.

Automobile Club Writes.

The following letter has been sent to the Mayor by the Peterborough Automobile Club:

"Dear Dr. Holloway,—In view of the greatly increased motor traffic this winter, evidenced in the fact that some twelve hundred licenses have been issued to date, and because many complaints have been filed with this office, the Executive Committee has been requested by the members to point out to the city officials the necessity for improving our main streets for motor traffic.

"We are especially interested at present in having the ruts filled in, graded, or in some way rendered less of a menace to motorists and pedestrians alike, especially on streets where street cars are an added hazard.

"We have no hesitation in stating that public opinion would be solidly behind the Council in the matter of any expense incurred in the performance of this very necessary work.

"Yours very truly,

"Peterborough Automobile Club."

Russian Has Invention To Stop Gas Evaporating

LENINGRAD, Russia, March 2. — The Soviet government has taken steps to obtain patents in the United States for a new Russian invention which it is said eliminates the evaporation of gasoline and other volatile petroleum products.

The new method, which is the invention of an engineer named Afonin, is said to be much superior to the present devices for preventing evaporation.

Italy Creates New "Nobility Of Good Conduct" Open To All Families With Unsullied Records

ROME, March 2 (A.P.).—The Italian Heraldic College, supreme arbiter of the aristocracy and nobility of the Cisalpine Peninsula, has created a new type of "blue-bloodedness" which has nothing to do with ancestry or birth. It is the "nobility of good conduct," into which may enter all families which are able to prove unsullied good conduct by all their members for a period of at least thirty years.

The head of the family desiring enrollment must submit documentary proof that all its members have conformed in every detail in public and in private to the high standards of honor and conduct which hit to have been more or less looked upon as the attributes exclusively of persons of gentle birth.

The Heraldic College, after a searching investigation, may permit the new "noble" to register a family coat of arms of his choosing which, however, must differ from the ancestral noble's type in the substitution for the crown of a helmet of burnished steel.

The creation of this nobility coincides with a thorough revision of the list of the old nobility now being carried on by the Heraldic College, which has twenty-one members and represents all regions of Italy and the King.

GOOD HOCKEY GAME HERE TO-NIGHT

Stirling Telephones They Are Coming With 400 Supporters.

The championship of Hastings County Hockey League will be settled in Peterborough by the two games to be played in Peterborough the first in Brock street rink to-night, and the winners playing Tweed here again on Friday night.

Special trains are being run from both Stirling and Marmora, and Stirling is bringing in 400 supporters.

The brand of hockey is equal to the best intermediate O.H.A. teams, and the Peterborough fans will see a number of players who would do themselves credit on any O. H. A. team in his section. "Bill" Whitty, a former Peterborough player, manages Stirling team and Bert McLeod is the referee.

Man Needs Seven Suits Of Clothes, At Very Least Says Cutter's Club In Outlining Coming Styles

NEW YORK, March 2.—The man of moderate means must have at least seven suits of clothes, according to spokesmen for the New York Custom Cutters' Club, which opened a two-day convention at Hotel Commodore. The essential garments are evening clothes, a cutaway, a tuxedo, three business suits and a combination sports suit. The well dressed man also must possess three overcoats—ulster, medium weight and top coat.

The white waistcoat with the tuxedo is declared taboo, despite the fact that it is said to have been sponsored by the Prince of Wales. The tendencies in business suits are toward a higher "gorge" or lapel point, with broad, square shoulders without padding, a somewhat lower and more fitted waistline, centre vent, and trousers from 17½ to 19 inches at the bottom and from 20½ to 21½ inches at the knee. The double-breasted sack suit will continue popular.

Sports coats may have as many or as few pleats as desired, but a half-belt at the back is imperative. Knickers are rather long and full pleated at the waist in front to give a "panel" effect. The favored shades will be somewhat lighter in tone than heretofore, with light grays and browns in the lead.

Ibanez Will Give Home For Novelists Of World

ANTIBES, March 2.—Blasco Ibanez has announced that he planned to bequeath his magnificient property at Mentone as an international novelists' retreat for the benefit of writers of promise who have not the means to obtain the necessary quietude to pursue their work.

"But I am only 59 and expect to live to be 80," added the Spanish novelist. "Any intellectual who allows himself to die nowadays before 80 makes a ridiculous exit. Look at Hugo, Ibsen, Bjornson and Anatole France."

Senor Blasco Ibanez said that he had forty workmen extending the premises in such a way as to prepare the novelists' retreat with separate secluded quarters amid tropical vegetation.

Spring Must Be Here: Boys Are Playing Marbles

Spring is here! At least it is if the old saying that the advent of the small boy and his marbles is considered an indication that the joyous season is at hand.

Yesterday afternoon several groups of boys were to be observed crouched down on the pavement in front of The Examiner Office playing the game of marbles as if their very lives depended upon the result of the game.

CITIES PROTEST AGAINST BURDEN OF HIGHWAY TAX

LOWER IMPOSTS.

Gas Without Levy Be Made For City Motor Apparatus.

TORONTO, March 2. — To a large deputation, representing 28 urban municipalities of the province, Hon. George Henry yesterday gave assurance that consideration would be accorded their reques for relief from sharing cost of suburban highway areas. The minister commented that spokesmen for the deputation cent tax was inequitable, and he incent tax was inequtable, and he intimated that any measures of relief would more likely be in respect to the burden carried by the cities in connection with schools, hospitals, etc.

Hon Mr. Henry also said he was inclined to be sympathetic with the deputations argument that city-owned motor equipment, such as fire trucks and street cleaning apparatus, which use only city pavements, should be relieved of the gas tax after some rebate was made to counteract it.

Excessive Burden.

"I gather from the earlier speakers today,' Mr. Henry said, "that the reason you are asking relief from this suburban tax is on account of the excessive burden you are carrying, you feel you have difficulty in carrying on your municipal development under the present tax rate, and it is not a criticism of the legislation we are operating under, but that we were justified years ago in passing the legislation, placing a certain burden upon the municipalities not connected with organized counties .For that reason it would almost suggest the idea that there might be some way of relieving, in assistance through grants otherwise to the cities for some services that Controller Morrison, of Hamilton, in particular, mentioned, in education and hospital operations, that we all know have not been carried as paying concerns, even under the fees granted recently. As far as the highway percentage you have been paying is concerned, it is equitable, but you are asking to be relieved from it because of your other responsibilities.

Usual in States.

"Now I rather think that this is in common with the practi in the United States,. I quite appreciate that you have in the eastern municipalities a very difficult situation to handle. It is partly an aftermath of the war, because for six or eight years, at any rate,there was no municipal development worth while. With an ambitious people as we have they are not satisfied to develop at a reasonable rate but want to catch up the ground lost during the war, and that is the real meaning of the urban tax rate in the province of Ontario to-day—that and ing with one another to have the best. I have seen that in the smaller cities and towns throughout the province—they have all wakened up to the fact it is essential to them to place their town on the map, that they must have high type streets and generally high type municipal government and development.

"I cannot say that there will be any relief immediately. I will be very pleased to take this whole matter up with the prime minister and other members of the government. It is true that the problem is different to what it was ten or fifteen years ago. We are passing through a stage of development that is hard for us to tell exactly where the taxation should fall. But I am satisfied the government will be sympathetic and endeavor to relieve where we can find a way where it still looks to be equitable.

Spokesmen

Spokesmen for the delegation were: Hon. Dr. Leeming Carr, Mayor Treleaven and Controller Morrison, Hamilton; Mayor Stevens of Niagara Falls; Mayor J. P. Balharrie, Ottawa; Mayor B. C. Parker, Woodstock; Mayor McKay, Galt; City Engineer W. J. Near, London; Ald. Charles Grob, Kitchener; Ald H. Collins, Belleville; Mayor Leslie, Owen Sound; Mayor Duff Slemin, of Brantford, and Ald. Mahony of Guelph.

Among those in the delegation were John H. Bell, Donald McFarlane, F. R. Waddell, city solicitor, and W. L. McFaul, city engineer, H. A. Burrell and C. E. Riselay, Hamilton; Ald. Kirkpatrick and Ald. Glass, London, accompanied by J. P. Moore, M.L.A.

'QUAKE FELT.

HAVANA, Cuba, Mar. 2 (Canadian Press) — Reports from Santiago and Bayamo, in the south eastern section of Cuba, state that a strong earthquake of short duration was felt in that region late Monday night, but that little damage was caused.

The quake at Santiago occurred in the midst of a performance at the Jural theatre and Esperanza Iris, Mexican actress, sang the national anthem to quiet the audience while it was filing to the street.

WEDDING BELLS.

BLAIR—ADAMS.

MADOC, March 2.—A quiet but pretty house wedding was solemnized on Wednesday, Feb. 24, when Miss Charlota M. Adams was united in marriage to William Blair. Miss Adams was becomingly gowned in gray crepe romaine embroidered in gold, gray shoes and stockings, and a corsage bouquet of pink sweet peas. The couple were unattended, the bride being given away by her uncle, Mr. T. Burnside. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. H. Foster of the United Church.

The house was beautifully decorated with spring flowers, daffodils and tulips in the living-room and sweet peas in the dining-room, where a dainty dejeuner was served.

The bride's going-away gown was of black satin embroidered in turquoise blue and sand. With this she wore a seal coat and hat of cloth of gold. Mr. and Mrs. Blair left on the noon train for Toronto, and on their return will reside on a farm at Hazzard's Corners. Many beautiful gifts testified to the high esteem in which both the bride and groom are held.

OLD MASTERS

Awake! awake! the stars are pale, the east is russet gray;
They fade, behold the phantoms fade, that keep the gates of Day;
Throw wide the burning valves, and let the golden streets be free,
The morning watch is past—the watch of evening shall not be.

A surer grasp your hands must know, your hearts a better trust;
Nay, bend aback the lance's point, and break the helmet bar—
A noise is on the morning winds; but not the noise of war!

For aye, the time of wrath is past, and near the time of rest,
And honor binds the brow of man, and faithfulness his breast,
Behold, the time of wrath is past, and righteousness shall be,
And the Wolf is dead in Aready and the Dragon in the sea!

POLICE CAPTURE BANK SWINDLERS

Charged With Bank Robberies and Swindles Amounting To $350,000.

WESTERN STATES.

CHICAGO, March 2 (Canadian Press).—A gang of five alleged bank bandits and swindlers, reputed to be one of the most methodical which ever operated in the northwest, directly charged with robberies totalling close to $350,000, and believed to have been involved in robberies exceeding $500,000, was in the custody of police here last night.

"Big Dave" Earsman, one of the men locked up, is reputed to have been the head of the gang. He was arrested yesterday when he appeared at the detective bureau to make inquiries about John "Shinner" Crawford, first of the five to be taken, who was arrested Monday.

On information obtained from these two, detectives raided a flat and rounded up the other three — Tony Sibra, 45, Robert Hayward, 40, and Frank Raymond, alias Doc Reed, a white-haired man of 67.

The banks which the gang are accused of robbing are in Minnesota, Wisconsin, South Dakota and Michigan. The largest robbery was that of the First National Bank of Columbus, Wisconsin, September 20, 1926, when $135,000 was stolen.

ALAN CUP HOLDERS MAY LOSE LEAGUE

Fort William Wins First of Three Games Series For Title.

PORT ARTHUR, March 2.—Port Arthur, Allan Cup holders, find themselves in imminent danger of losing their two-year-old title by reason of having lost to the Fort Williams last night in the first of a two-in-three game series for the Thunder Bay Association championship. The score was two goals to one. Although Port Arthur had perhaps a slight edge, though very slight, on the general play, they suffered a momentary lapse early in the third period, and with Marty Burke in the penalty box Fort William was so quick to take advantage that they scored two goals over a space of less than a minute, to sew up the game so tight that the defending champions were unable, in spite of a ferocious assault through the remaining sixteen minutes, to take back the lead they had then lost.

GREY SKIES

When skies are grey
Courage fadeth in despair;
Harsh and cold, seem things once fair,
Then comes the night,
Gone is the day;
Even God seems far away—
When skies are grey.

But, have ye not known
The ray's shine through the dark—
How midnight's blackness,
Breaks before the spark?
He lights the way—
Tho' even's dusk abound;
The brightness of our hope
In Christ alone is found.

When skies are grey
Man walks not far alone,
Our vaunted strength is Weakness, then we own;
Yet with face afront,
Stumbling on we go,
Placing our feet in Ways we do not know—
When skies are grey.

Still, have ye not heard
The bird's song thro' the storm—
A whisper to the soul,
To still its wild alarm?
So, when skies are grey
And night shades fetch their chill,
Cometh the morning's dawn
With hope your soul to fill.

SAYS THAT DRURY GOVERNMENT, ETC.

had defeated Sir William Hearst. He himself had seen the cheques paid over by the distillers and brewers to aid the election of Sir William Hearst's opponent. Sir William Hearst, said Mr. Lyons, was the man who had given Ontario its most advanced legislation, but his successful opponent was adopted and loved by the Drury Government, the great advocates of temperance.

"If the Ontario Temperance Act was the most advanced form of temperance legislation, why does the Government contend that the liquor control bill will be the most advanced," asked F. G. Sandy (Progressive, Oxford South).

"Because the bootleggers and the temperance people of this province killed it," replied Mr. Lyons.

Tried to "Get" Him

Concluding his speech on the Budget debate in the Ontario Legislature last night, James Lyons (Conservative, Sault Ste. Marie), charged that the members of the Opposition in the Legislature and the Liberal Government at Ottawa, had made strong efforts to "get" him during the investigation of the public accounts committee of the Legislature last year into the connection of his firm in Sault Ste. Marie with government contracts. "So called detectives" had operated in Sault Ste Marie, he declared, and even his private mail and correspondence affecting the work of his department of lands and forests had been opened and tampered with.

LLOYD GEORGE GAINS PARTNER

Sir Herbert Samuel Joins Liberal Ranks After Long Absence.

GIVEN WELCOME.

LONDON, March 2.—A new figure has appeared on the political horizon in the person of Sir Herbert Samuel, who, after an absence of several years, has explained his political faith as Liberal, and today he is being welcomed by his colleagues as a great leader.

Liberal hopes have been revived by Sir Samuel's reappearance in politics, because hitherto only Lloyd George has been able to give any inspiration to the party, and it is fully expected that Sir Samuel and he will work in the closest harmony, much as Lloyd George and Lord Asquith worked in the days before the war.

ANOTHER PUZZLE FOR WINDSOR CLERK

WINDSOR, March 2—All deputy returning officers and poll clerks who were employed at the last municipal election must be retained again in case a special election is ordered to fill the six Council vacancies, City Clerk Martha Dickinson stated yesterday. This is provided for by the Municipal Act, unless there is special provision in the shape of a court order.

This places the clerk in something of a quandary,as several of the election employees figured in the municipal vote probe, some even testifying that they had marked ballots for a candidate, while others admitted consumption of beer or liquor in their polling booths. If the law is followed, all of these people will have to be employed again.

Windsor's City Council is down to the well-known irreducible minimum. Six seats are vacant, three aldermen are on a trip through the South with the Chamber of Commerce, one is in the hospital as the result of an automobile accident, and Mayor Cecil E. Jackson is laid up at home by illness. This leaves only Ald. James Kerr, who is acting as Mayor, and Charles Henri, a new man with no municipal experience, at the helm of the corporation of state.

STRUCK BY TRAIN.

Well Known English Society Woman Found Dead Beside Railway.

WOODHALL SPA, Lincolnshire, England, March 2 (Canadian Press) —Mrs. Edith Fernie, well-known hunting and society woman, was found dead yesterday morning on a railroad track near the golf links here. Her body was badly mangled, and she apparently had been killed by a train during the night.

Mrs. Fernie, who was 52 years old, was a daring rider, and was at one time master of the famous Fernie Hunt—an exceptional position for a woman—with which the Prince of Wales and other Royalty rode.

OTONABEE COUNCIL

The insurance on the Town Hall was increased from $2,000 to $3,000.

The report of the auditors was received and adopted. Mr. Percy Davidson and Harry Reid were appointed a committee to investigate the wood cut in road allowance between the 3rd and 4th Concessions between lots 21 and 22.

The whole Council will meet on March 3rd to look over the proposed road around the hill on the 8th Concession, opposite lot 21. The following accounts were passed: John Drummond, auditing, $15; P. Gillespie, auditing, $15; Arthur Elmhirst, 1 cord wood, $10; Ambrose Doris, overseer, $16.20; Grafton & Co., clothing Peter McRae, $11.25; R. First Turkish Census Near Angora Has 58,749 People

CONSTANTINOPLE, Mar. 2.—Now that Angora has had its first census, which showed its population to be 58,749, preliminary work is under way for the first census of Constantinople in October. At that time the census of the whole of Turkey will be effected, and for the first time in history the nation will know the exact number of its population and the details.

The specialist engaged by the Turkish government, has arrived here t. superintend the task of numbering the thousands of unnumbered houses and naming the scores of nameless streets.

A campaign of propaganda will begin at once to convince the population that the census is a patriotc duty, so that on the designated day every one will stay at home.

COKE REPORT SHOWS INCREASE

Canadian Output For 1926 Has Increase of 23 Per Cent.

WASHINGTON, March 2 (Canadian Press).—The growing trade of Canada in coke is described in a Department of Commerce report, based on information from Walter J. Bonnelly, assistant trade commissioner at Montreal. The report says that the output of coke in Canada in 1926 amounted to 1,909,588 tons, or an increase of 23 per cent. over 1925. Additional coke ovens, the report says, are being talked of in Montreal, Quebec and Toronto, and it is understood at least two will be erected this year.

Others may be erected if the Dominion Government subsidizes plants using Canadian coal. At the same time prediction is made of gains in 1927 in importation by Canada of coke and soft coal from the United States.

SMUGGLING CASES BEFORE LEGATION

Hon. Vincent Massey To Settle Cases Affecting Canadian Citizens.

WASHINGTON, March 2 (Canadian Press). — Rum-running cases affecting Canadian citizens and ships of Canadian registry are beginning to find their way to the new Canadian Legation here.

Formerly they were dealt with by the British Embassy, which will dispose of most of the cases begun before the Canadian Legation opened. Others are being turned over to Vincent Massey, the Canadian Minister, and his staff, at the discretion of the Department of External Affairs at Ottawa.

Some of the cases involve difficult questions of international law and will form one of the most delicate tasks confronting the Canadian Legation. It is believed that the Legation will be able to secure more direct action in some cases, especially as regards disputed rights to package freight on ships seized because they carried a part cargo of liquor.

There are several such cases pending and the Canadian Legation will be asked to assist in establishing ownership. It is understood that the Legation staff already is working on such a case.

PONTYPOOL NEWS

PONTYPOOL, March 2.—The ladies night, held in connection with L.O.L. 82 was a huge success, on Friday, Feb. 25. .Dancing was the programme for the evening, after which a dainty lunch was served. The next event of this nature will be held on Friday, March 11.

Mr. Leonard Kellett has been confined to his home through illness.

A large crowd of the friends and neighbors of Mr. Peter Walker and family gathered at his home on Thursday evening to bid farewell to them on their departure for their new home near Bowmanville. They will be greatly missed in this community as they were a great help in church work, were prominent Conservatives and were connected with local L.O.L. and I.O.O.F. After lunch was served, the crowd were brought to order and Miss Jean McLean read a short address on behalf of the gathering. Mr. J. Fiske and Mr. W. Malley presented Mr. and Mrs. Walker and family with a Coleman lamp and carving set. Mr. Walker, on behalf of his family, thanked the friends for the kindness.

The members of the Quarterly Board, and their wives, are having a banquet in the basement of the United Church on Friday night at 7 p.m. Mr. Griffith of Blackstock and other speakers will be present for the occasion.

The auction sale held at Mr. W. Hall's on Thursday afternoon was well attended and the goods offered brought high prices. Mr. Thomas Cowan, Orono, was auctioneer for the occasion.

Mrs. W. I. Rayfield and son, Victor, and baby daughter, returned home to Sunnyside Farm on Saturday after spending the winter months in Toronto at her mothers, Mrs. Charles Hickling.

L.O.L. 82 held a R.A.P. meeting on Wednesday night, when eight candidates were advanced to the illustrious degree. Several visitors were present, from other lodges.

Capt. James Willis and Lieut. E. Youngman, who are attending the Royal Military College, Stanley Barracks, Toronto, were home over the week end.

Mr. Lorn Wannan, teacher at Carscaddus school, went to Peterboro on Friday evening to attend the Normal School "At Home" held there on that evening.

Dr. McNeil went to Totonto on Saturday to witness the Varsity-Kitchener game.

Mrs. Talbert Kellet has been away visiting at her mother's near Millbrook.

Mr. and Mrs. James Connell were recent visitors at Mr. R. Payne's.

We are sorry to learn of the death of Mr. Charles Lunn of Millbrook. He was well known in these parts, having lived near Manvers for several years. He was prominent in Orange circles being a Past Master of L.O.L. 83, Manvers, and was connected with Millbrook Orange and Black lodges. Mr. Charles Rusk of this village is a nephew.

OBITUARY.

MRS. CHARLES WHITE

The death occurred yesterday of Mrs. Charles White, beloved wife of Charles White of Bridgenorth. She leaves to mourn her loss her sorrowing husband; one daughter, Mrs. Forsythe; one son, Albert White, both of Bridgenorth; and one brother, John Copperstone of Oakwood.

The funeral will take place on Wednesday at 2 p.m. from the family residence, Bridgenorth, to Lakefield cemetery with the Rev. McNeely officiating.

BODY OF WOMAN FOUND IN BATH

Three Arrested As Suspects, Husband Later Given Freedom.

WAS STRANGLED.

CHICAGO, March 2 (United Press).—Mystery in the death of Mrs. Mabel Wood, 18, whose disrobed body was found in a partly-filled bath tub at a south side hotel, resulted yesterday in the detention of three men, including her husband.

Wood was released when police felt certain he knew nothing of the circumstances surrounding his wife's death. The other two men were still held.

Coroner's physicians said she had been strangled. Although the body was submerged, no water was in the lungs.

Added to the mystery was the fact that although the young woman's apartment was more than 30 feet from the bathroom and across the corridor, none of her clothing could be found in the bathroom.

The woman's body was found Monday night by her husband, Carl Wood, when he returned from work. Unable to find his wife in their apartment he told police he went to the bathroom.

The door was unlocked and about fourteen inches of water was in the tub. The young woman's body was fully submerged.

Pulmotors were used for more than half an hour in an attempt to revive Mrs. Wood. Doctors said she probably had been dead about 30 minutes.

"FLU" SPREADS.

LONDON, March 2 (Canadian Press). — While subsiding in London, the influenza epidemic has greatly increased in Northern England. Deaths from the disease last week in England and Wales totalled 1,023, as compared with 990 for the previous week, it was shown by figures issued yesterday.

LAPOINTE SILENT.

OTTAWA, March 2 (Canadian Press)—Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, would not comment esterday on the decision of the privy council upholding in substance Newfoundland's claim to territory in the Labrador peninsula. Mr. Lapointe stated that he would await a copy of the full judgment. From cable reports, he said, it was clear that Newfoundland's claim had been granted practically in full, the two reservations noted being of a very minor character.

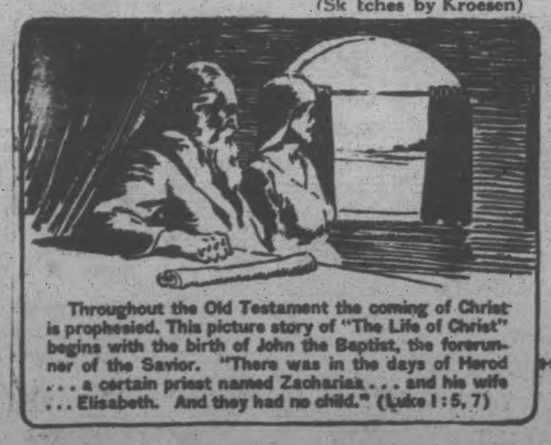
THE LIFE OF CHRIST—The Birth of John

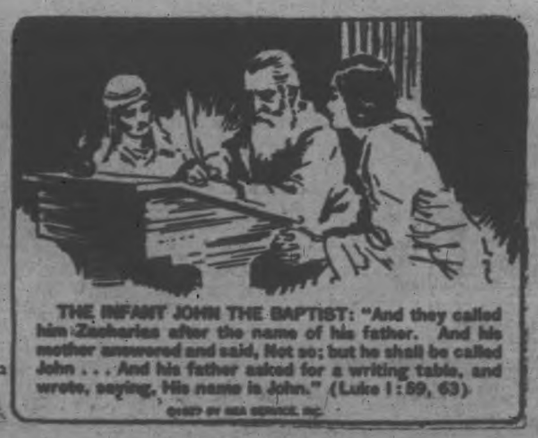
(Sketches by Kroesen)



Throughout the Old Testament the coming of Christ is prophesied. This picture story of "The Life of Christ" begins with the birth of John the Baptist, the forerunner of the Savior. "There was in the days of Herod . . . a certain priest named Zacharias . . . and his wife . . . Elisabeth. And they had no child." (Luke 1:5, 7)

One day when Zacharias went into the temple to burn incense, "there appeared unto him an angel of the Lord . . . and Zacharias was troubled and fear fell upon him." (Luke 1:9, 11, 12)

"And the angel said unto him, Fear not, Zacharias, for thy prayer is heard; and thy wife Elisabeth shall bear thee a son and thou shalt call his name John." (Luke 1:13)



THE INFANT JOHN THE BAPTIST: "And they called him Zacharias after the name of his father. And his mother answered and said, Not so; but he shall be called John . . . And his father asked for a writing table, and wrote, saying, His name is John." (Luke 1:59, 63)

Women's Changed Hygiene

New way discards like tissue

By ELLEN J. BUCKLAND
Registered Nurse

MILLIONS of women have changed from uncertain and hazardous hygienic ways to a new way called Kotex.

You dispose of Kotex as easily as a piece of tissue. No laundry, no disposal problem.

You wear lightest, filmiest gowns without fear. Five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads.

You obtain it at any store, without hesitancy, simply by saying Kotex. Many stores have it already wrapped for you to pick up, pay for, and take home without even asking.

Package of 12 costs only a few cents. 8 in 10 better class women now use this way. Be sure to get the genuine, for only Kotex itself is "like" Kotex.

GRACE CHURCH HOLDS MEETING

Millbrook Presbyterian Congregation Hears Encouraging Reports. W. A. MEETING

MILLBROOK, March 2.—Grace Presbyterian church held its annual meeting this week, the pastor, Rev. J. Riddle, occupying the chair.

Encouraging reports of the various organizations of the church were presented, Mrs. R. J. McKnight, president of the Women's League, outlining its activities which included a garden party on the church grounds, the serving of hot dinner and supper at the fall fair, and a big bazaar in the fall, with concert at night, the financial results in each case being highly satisfactory. Mrs. J. R. Eakins, secretary of the Women's Missionary Auxiliary, and Miss Kennedy, treasurer, were able to speak with enthusiasm of the excellent work done, especially financially, in connection with the department, the Sunday [illegible] were reported by Mrs. Hawthorne, and the Christian Endeavor by the pastor. The financial statement for the church was presented by the treasurer, W. T. A. Deyell, and was indicative of a decidedly satisfactory standing.

The officers for 1927 are:

General Secretary — Charles Thorndyke.

Financial Secretary—H. R. Armstrong.

Treasurer—W. T. A. Deyell.

The pastor's remarks on reviewing the few months of his ministry on this field showed appreciation of the happy relationship existing between his people and himself, and the steady advance being made along these lines.

St. Thomas' W.A.

The Woman's Missionary Auxiliary of St. Thomas' church held its February meeting at the home of Mrs. Charles McNeil, the president, Mrs. (Canon) Allen, in the chair, a good attendance of members and an active interest in the work being features of the gathering.

The treasurer, Mrs. McNeil, presented her report showing a satisfactory balance on hand, and also read a letter from the Diocesan Treasurer giving details of the year's budget, and the local levy in connection with the same.

The secretary, Mrs. E. Whyte, read selected portions from the Monthly Letter, the subject of "Worship" being emphasized, particularly in an address by Rev. R. A. Armstrong, rector of the Church of the Redeemer, Toronto.

Miss Rose Macnamara took up the chapter from the study book dealing with "The Life of the Moslem Women in the Home" and the matter of having an illustrated lecture on the book being studied this year was taken up and received favorable consideration, the dates March 18 or 25 being suggested.

Miss Muriel Smith, superintendent of the Junior W.A., gave a most encouraging report, showing a membership of 19[illegible] increased pledges toward the annual budget; sewing meetings preparing an outfit for a baby; a successful entertainment recently held leaving finances in good condition.

The Dorcas secretary, Miss Annie Armstrong, reported preparations well under way for the annual bale to be sent in March to an Indian school in Manitoba, with complete outfit for a girl student including personal clothing, and supplies for her room and bed.

The president reminded the members of the World's Day of Prayer on March 4, the gathering, of an interdenominational character, to be in the United Church this year. Women in home and foreign lands, from the sun rising to the sun setting, will be engaged in "a fellowship of intercession for every woman of every land" on that date.

The lenten offering for the missionary appotionment of the church was also mentioned by Mrs. Allen.

The hostess served lunch at the close and a very pleasant social hour was enjoyed. The March meeting will be at the home of Mrs. J. A. Vance, Mrs. H. Nattrass and Mrs. Vance being joint hostesses.

Weekly Church Night.

Mr. Wesley Brown was chairman at the weekly church night gathering, the Zion and Fourth Line being responsible for the evening.

The attendance passed all previous records, fully four hundred people filling every available seat in the large room; the pastor pointed out that about 125 were present when the weekly gatherings began a few weeks since, and each night has seen an increase of from 25 to so until it almost seems as though the capacity of the basement will not meet requirements.

The programme was opened with a chorus, "When you and I were young, Maggie", by the group, with an "A.B.C." song and encore; other numbers were:

Recitation, "When Pa Begins to Shave", by Wilbert Dunn.

Recitation, "A Visit to Grandma" by Anna Rowland.

Song, "The Black Mustache", by Miss A. Bristow.

Reading, "A Lumber Camp Episode", by Miss Moise.

Quartette, "Give Me a Home in the Dear Old South," by Messrs. W. H. Coombe, H. Anderson, H. W. Johnston, and V. C. Lambert; encore, "My Doggie".

Burlesque, "Manners", by seven young men, Messrs. Thexton, Lunn Brock, Patton, Elmer, Brown, and Bristow.

Recitation, "A Little Beau," by Wilma Armstrong.

Recitation, "Smile", by Freddie Brown.

Song, "Jingle Bells," by the young folk of the group.

Reading, "The Sinners' Parade," by Sadie Rowland.

At this point the audience was grouped around tables representing each month of the year, so that twelve "birthday parties", were arranged, and the lunch was served, after each group had responded to the call for a favorite hymn. Selections following are:

Selection with piano and violins by the Lunn Family.

Recitation, "I Doubt It", by Stanford Brown.

Violin solo by Miss Audrey Bristow.

Recitation, "Grumble Corner", by Mrs. Kennedy.

Recitation, "Little Girl" by Miss Bena Brown.

Address, "The Significance of Names", by Mrs. H. E. Smith.

Rev. Mr. Howard closed the gathering after singing of hymns thrown on the screen, and the announcement that Miss Coon, a returned missionary, will speak at the special missionary service on Sunday, March 6.

The centre [illegible] has charge next week, and there is but [illegible] other group to complete the series as at present arranged.

Mrs. J. Hatherly entertained a number of little folk on Monday in honor of the third birthday of her grandson, Master David Hatherly.

Games of various kinds kept the children happily employed until the tea hour when a handsome birthday cake, centring the table, became the object of keenest interest for little bright eyes.

The small host had the honor of lighting the candles, though unfortunately in the excitement of the occasion little fingers were rather too closely in contact with the burning match.

Mrs. Irwin Hatherly assisted Mrs. Hatherly Senior with the entertainment of the young guests.

Install Incubator.

M. McDowell, who has successfully conducted a commercial poultry farm for the past three or fours years at the south extreme of the village, has recently installed a mammoth electric incubator, with a capacity of from 4,600 to 4,700 eggs.

The ultimate idea in view is that of establishing a community hatchery for the convenience of the poultry raisers of the district, emphasis on the importance of this undertaking having been given at the annual meeting of the local Produce Association during the past week by F. H. Baker, District Poultry Promoter for Eastern Ontario. Members of the association will be specially interested in Mr. McDowell's enterprise in this matter.

Although there is considerable interest in the poultry industry in this locality, so far there has been no attempt at a hatchery of community magnitude until now, when Mr. McDowell's initiative will make such a convenience possible.

BOOK REVIEWS

RADIO ENCYCLOPEDIA.

The first encyclopedia of radio information ever published in America makes its appearance among the early publications of the new year, in S. Gernsback's Radio Encyclopedia.

From the nature of its material, this volume amounts to practically a compact review of all that has been done in radio up to this time. It presents a complete classification of the latest authoritative data on scientific discovery and experimentation in radio, and every direction of its application.

The compiler has aimed to provide not merely a dictionary of radio terms, but an actual ready-reference encyclopedia and practical handbook for the most general all-around use. Its references cover every item of importance relating to radio or the radio industry. The text comprises 1,920 definitions of words, terms, and symbols which have a specific application in radio, concisely explained, and further elucidated with over 500 illustrations, diagrams and drawings.

All the most modern instruments, every known circuit, and every part and apparatus used in radio are fully described by word and picture. Detailed treatment is given also to such subjects as aerials, amplifiers, batteries, detectors, oscillation, radiation, switches, transformers, units, vaccum tubes, waves, etc. In addition, a supplementary cross-index brings together considered subjects and material in appropriate groupings.

Added interest and educational value is given through brief biographies of the outstanding personalities in electrical and radio science. Mr. Gernsback furnishes nearly 70 such short histories of discoverers and pathfinders, inventors and technicans whose work has brought radio to its present advanced development.

The book may be recommended for informational use to every radio listener, and should also be of great service to the radio engineer as a handy reference book. It can also be used profitably as a text book or reading guide by radio and electrical students, experimenters, wireless operators, radio salesman—in short, by anyone engaged in work or study connected in any way with radio. Its definitions are in simple every-day language, understandable to anyone who reads English. At the same time, they also meet the needs of those who require exact technical information.

The book is published by the compiler, Sidney Gernsback, at 53 Park Place, New York City. Mr. Gernsback, who is editor of Radio Listeners' Guide and Call Book (Radio Review), has previously published a number of other volumes of popular scientific information, among them a Wireless Course in Twenty Lessons, One Thousand and One Formulas, Practical Electricity Course, etc.

The encyclopedia is printed on extra heavy paper, in 168 pages, 9 x 12 format, in gold-stamped leather-ette covers. It has been designed for durability and compactness, as a useful working addition to any bookshelf. The price is $2.00.

A GOOD START.

A good start has been made in the preparations for Peterborough's celebration of Canada's sixtieth birthday, and the large attendance and evident enthusiasm shown at Monday night's meeting augurs well for a memorable observance of Dominion Day.

The attendance was representative enough to indicate that organizations as well as individuals are prepared to lend their assistance and co-operation to making the programme worthy of the occasion.

It is presumed that the ceremonies to be held here will follow closely the programme to be drafted by the National Committee, and that the celebration will be a three-day affair, commencing on Friday, Dominion Day, and terminating with appropriate religious services on Sunday.

Most encouraging indeed were the signs of enthusiastic interest in evidence at the preliminary meeting, because the celebration of Canada's diamond jubilee should be one of the greatest events in the history of the Dominion, and it is vital to the general success that every centre in the country should play its part.

SHOULD BE CONSIDERED.

A bill introduced in the Legislature Monday and held over for revision proposed to exempt all wage payments of $25 or less from garnishee.

The proposal should receive careful consideration from the Legislature.

Merchants under the present law, which exempts wages from garnishee up to 70 per cent. of the total, have little enough protection against bad debts, and the $25 exemption would in many cases destroy any hope of recovery, especially in the smaller towns where the majority of wage-earners receive less than $25 per week.

The retailer, especially the grocer, finds himself imposed upon continually by families who get as much as possible on credit and make no effort to liquidate the debt.

Increasing the exemption to $25 in such cases would leave merchants without a chance to get back a dollar on account from consistent dead-beats, and this angle of the question aroused so much opposition when the bill was introduced into the House that a lower exemption is likely to be proposed in the revised measure, probably $15 a week, or possibly $12.50.

BEAUTY CONTESTS.

Toronto, when it can forget the Young-Hastings controversy, is quite stirred up over the question of whether or not beauty contests should be prohibited in the Queen City.

The Local Council of Women and other bodies oppose the beauty competition as undesirable, while the other side of the question finds its champions.

There is nothing much wrong in such contests, and there is nothing much to be said in their favour.

Most people enjoy looking at pretty girls, but it is just a question if some of the charm does not disappear when the dear things are up there on a platform trying their hardest to look pretty for a prize.

If the adjudication could be done when the girls didn't know they were being judged, and if the contestants were not paraded like animals at a fair for the benefit of the Morons in the audience, there might be some real distinction in being awarded a beauty crown.

But then such contests are usually a publicity "stunt," and they shouldn't be operated that way.

In any case why should Toronto bother with a beauty competition?; if care was not taken to bar outsiders some winsome lass from the Province would be likely to step in and carry off the prize.

BABE RUTH'S SALARY.

Is George "Babe" Ruth worth $100,000 a year as a box office attractions for the New York Americans?

The King of Swat thinks that he is and refuses to sign a contract at a lesser figure; the club owners on the other hand declare that his demand is unreasonable, and they have offered to renew his contract on the old terms, $52,000 a year.

If ability to propel a baseball out of the playing field is to be rewarded with bigger financial returns than are paid the President of the United States or the heads of railways, a lot of young men are going to ask themselves whether a college education is worth while.

At present both the club owners and the baseball star are firm in their stand, and the controversy promises to produce a vast amount of publicity before the issue is decided by one side or the other yielding ground.

And the advertising will help to take care of the salary matter—if Mr. Ruth's stipend is to be increased.

THE TELEPHONE DECISION.

The dissenting judgment of Hon. Frank Oliver in the Bell Telephone case will undoubtedly lead to a careful perusal of the majority decision with a view to taking an appeal. Whether an appeal would be justified is another matter, but a fight against an increase in rates affecting the general public, naturally, has popular approval. It cannot be said, however, that the Board of Railway Commissioners did not give all interests concerned full opportunity to present evidence. Not only did the Board go into all phases of the company's operations, costs and revenues, but also required to be satisfied as to the relations of the Bell to other companies. Nothing was found in these relations discriminating against the public interests, according to the majority judgment. On the question as a whole the judgment finds "that non-discriminatory rates should be established which will produce sufficient revenue to cover operating expenses, current maintenances, a proper depreciation rate, taxes, interest and dividends, and provide a reasonable surplus."

This is a formula which every business firm which will pay toward the additional $2,000,000 revenue of the telephone company would like to have applied to its own enterprise. It shows that the Railway Board took the position that the company's operations must be maintained in a high state of efficiency, with ample room for expansion. On this point Mr. Oliver does not differ from his colleagues, but he is not satisfied with the evidence submitted. In his opinion the 1921 rates were sufficient to meet all proper requirements, and he does not agree that the prices paid by the Bell Company to the Northern Electric for equipment were shown to be fair and reasonable. He believes there should be a revision of the contract between the two companies or of the methods followed in doing business.—Toronto Globe.

MORE AND BETTER ENGLISH.

Club women of the United States, with greater faith than was possessed by King Canute, have declared war on mispronunciation of common English words, split infinitives, double negatives, and the smart gabble which originates mostly on Broadway and passes for the latest in slang. The Federation of Women's Clubs has decided that each year there shall be a national "better English Week," and the 1927 "week" has passed into history without leaving a ripple to mark its departure.

The American club women want to eliminate "over-worked words such as 'wonderful,' 'terrible,' 'marvellous' and others," but the manner in which this is to be brought about is not explained. They are all good, sound, serviceable words, when used with discretion and moderation. They protest against calling children "childern," athletes "athaletes" and February "Febuary." We do not blame them, but if the boasted public school system of the United States does not eradicate such monstrosities we fail to see what the ladies can do about it.

The women's organizations want to reinstate "spooning" into good society—the word, of course—because they object to "necking," "cuddling" and "snuggling." They seek to abolish expressions such as "boy friend," "heavy date," "sugar daddy," "sheik," and all that tribe.

There is great room for improvement in written and spoken English not only in the United States but in this country, but in no such artificial manner as that sponsored by the Women's Club can an improvement be effected. The correct use of spoken words is developed in the home and the school or, as a rule, not at all. Perhaps the schools pay too little attention to the subject. Many perfectly estimable citizens have gone through life in a welter of double negatives and mixed tenses and have been none the worse for it, but that does not certify the practice to be a commendable one.

The use of current slang, even when it approaches vulgarity, indicates no innate moral depravity and is but a passing fancy and fashion. It satisfies youthful enthusiasm and color, and youthful passion for the bizarre and the picturesque. Like youth itself, it passes quickly enough.—Ottawa Journal.

A CITY WITHOUT MOVIES.

According to a southern exchange which comes to our hand, Brookline, Massachusetts—referred to in history as a "favored town"—is one of the most unique cities in the world. In the United States it is a municipal curiosity. Why? It has no motion picture theatre. Why is there no motion picture theatre in Brookline? Because its citizens barred the movies, fearing the pictures would have a harmful influence on their children. The action of the citizens is not recent, and therefore not the result of any of the spasmodic waves of reform that have swept the country in the last year or so. Brookline never did have a movie theatre. A determined effort was made to establish one there in 1923, and the feeling was so strong against it that a city election was held. The vote against movies was 5,634; for movies, 1,659. Since then there has been no attempt to open a movie theatre in Brookline.

Because there is no movie theatre in Brookline does not mean that no Brookline people go to movies. Hundreds of them go to the movies of course, because they realize their educational value as well as the fact that they entertain and divert and give real pleasure and enjoyment, but first they have to go to Boston or Roxbury or Allston or Jamaica Plain, where there are movie theatres. As nearly every town in the world that is big enough to afford to build one and buy film rights has a movie theatre, the citizens of this city of Brookline, by reason of their stand, become personages of unusual interest and worth something more than a passing notice, if only by way of contrast to citizens of other cities.

Brookline is a fashionable and wealthy residential suburb of Boston. It is laid out with the elegance of a park, one history of it says, and contains many handsome residences and grounds. It has a public library of about 85,000 volumes, two banks, two trust companies, a school of practical arts, high and intermediate schools, municipal baths, a gymnasium, manufacturers of scientific instruments and marine compasses, some twenty-one industrial establishments employing nearly five hundred people, a population of nearly fifty thousand—but no movies.—Kingston Whig-Standard.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Hon. Geo. S. Henry's lack of knowledge of the Peterborough-Belleville highway scheme indicates that he has not been reading The Examiner.

Saskatchewan bachelors are to pay three times as much income tax as the married men. Perhaps they will decide that it is worth the difference to stay single.

Peterborough is using less water per capita each year. Are the people less thirsty or less particular?

The Ontario Legislature is clearing the stage for the Government control bill, which promises to provide the only really interesting feature of the session.

George Young in his theatrical tour of Ontario may discover that the average person is more ready to cheer him outside than to pay at the box office for the privilege of looking at him on the stage.

The Ottawa Journal had better be careful or the Premier will stop reading that paper.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, March 2 (Canadian Press).—The export trade in Canadian grain on the Montreal market yesterday continued inactive, there being no demand from foreign buyers.

On account of the renewed strength in the Chicago future corn market, the local market for cash corn was strong and prices were marked up 2 cents per bushel. The demand was moderate and sales of car lots of No. 2 American yellow were made at 94c, No. 3 yellow at 93c, No. 4 yellow at 89c, and cool sweet corn at 86c per bushel, ex-store. A fair trade was also done in Canadian Western oats at steady prices.

In spite of the further strength in the Winnipeg cash wheat situation, a weaker feeling developed in the local market for Spring wheat grades of flour, and prices were reduced 20 cents per barrel.

The undertone to the market for Winter wheat flour was also easy, but there was no change in values.

Prices for all lines of millfeed were firmly maintained under a good demand from all sources. The trade in rolled oats was quiet and prices were unchanged.

An active business was done in eggs and prices were steady at the recent decline noted. The receipts were 408 cases.

The potato market was quiet but firm. Car lots of Prince Edward Island Green Mountains were quoted at $1.60 to $1.65 per bag of 90 pounds; quebec varieties at $1.10 to $1.15 per bag of 90 pounds in bulk, ex-track, and New Brunswick Green Mountains at $1.05 to $1.10 per bag of 80 pounds, ex-store.

There was no change in the condition of the butter market, prices being firmly maintained under an improved demand for finest grades of which the offerings were small and sales were confined principally to 25 to 50 package lots.

The receipts were 156 packages.

An easier feeling developed in the cheese market and prices were reduced 1-4c per pound. The demand was fair. The receipts were 265 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 2 (Canadian Press).—Much higher prices and greater activity appeared in all the grain pits yesterday. Unofficial estimates that farm stocks of domestic wheat, corn and oats are away below expectation, were chiefly responsible. Wheat closed firm 1 1-4 to 2c net higher; corn 2 3-8 to 2 5-8c up; oats at 1 1-8 to 1 3-4c advance, and provisions showing 5c to 30 and 32c gain.

Extra strength displayed by corn as compared with other grain, was largely a result of yesterday's farm reserve reports giving emphasis to poor feeding quality of the corn crop. Disappearance of corn in the four months since November 1 is estimated as showing a farm feed value deficiency of 250,000,000 bushels in addition to actual bushel shortage of the crop.

Farm reserve figures on oats were considered especially bullish, confirming the view that there is little likelihood of any big movement of oats from now on.

CHICAGO CATTLE

CHICAGO, March 2 (Canadian Press).—Cattle 9,000; best 1,345 lb. averages $12.85; yearlings $12.00; most heavy fed steers $11.25 to $12.50; stockers and feeders largely $7.50 to $8.50; best eligible $9.00 to $9.25; vealers, bulk, to packers, $10.50 to $12.00; outsiders $14.00 to $15.00; few $15.50.

Hogs 20,000; top $12.25; bulk better grade 150 to 200 pound averages $11.90 to $12.15; most 210 to 300 lb. butchers $11.50 to $11.90; bulk better grade packing sows $10.50 to $10.75; good and choice strong weight slaughter pigs scarce; best kinds up to $12.20.

Sheep 13,000; top fed westerns to yard traders $15.65; desirable lambs mostly $14.75 to $15.50; desirable fat ewes $8.25 to $9.00; top $9.35.

OBSTACLES TO WOMAN'S RIGHTS

By Dr. Frank Crane.

Woman's rights simply means giving women the same privileges as men and breaking the age-long slavery to which they have been subject.

There were many slave holders and slaves in the South who objected to abolition. They found the status of master and slave to be very pleasant. It doubtless was in many cases and contained many ameliorating conditions.

The condition of women is much like that of slaves. Their position is very pleasant in many cases. It is an easy thing for a woman to be "kept," that is, to be the wife or daughter of some man who is willing and anxious to support her.

The fundamental basis, however, for a good marriage is the economic independence of the woman. When she is able to stand upon her own feet she is in a much better position to drive a bargain with a man. When she is economically dependent she has to do about as he wants.

The condition of women for many thousands of years has been that of a slave, that is, she has been kept for man's enjoyment and supported by him for that purpose.

Only emerging into the condition of being an equal and free partner she finds many obstacles. One of these is the disposition of some married women to look down upon a woman who earns her own wages.

The woman wage-earner, however, is entitled to the highest respect. She is much more independent and less liable to embarrassment than the woman who is dependent for her means of support upon a man.

Every parent ought to train his daughters to make a living.

The old Jews gave every son a trade and every man ought to be able to make his living in the world and the same applies to every woman.

No better form of life insurance could be left a woman than some sort of ability or training to do something the world is willing to pay for.

She ought to have something else to sell besides her body.

That women are capable of making a living has been demonstrated many a time. There are certain kinds of calling in which a woman is more capable than a man and all discrimination against women earning their living should be stopped.

No person is entitled to higher regard than the woman who stands squarely on her own feet and is able to support herself.

Many women have various activities but they produce nothing that is of any account. Ages of tradition make them look down upon the wage-earner, but take it all in all the wage-earner is the one person in the world who is entitled to respect.

Courteous Bandits Promise To Return All Valuables

WINNIPEG, March 2.—(Canadian Press).—A new variety of armed bandits has arrived here. This new banditry combines politeness with a recording system of the names and addresse sof the victimes. The process is to force the victims to empty his pockets, after which he is politely asked for his name and address, being promised a return of his valuables. The bandits then wish a pleasant good-night, and vanish. The police are on the trail of the new order and its members.

MAKING FUN OF THE PURIST

Most of us believe in the use of good English, but we are not ready to go as far in its defense as the purist of whom "Life" told:

"A grammatical error would throw Smith into a frenzied mania.

"'At the age of nine his grandmother said 'ain't', and he pursued her around the block with a hatchet.

"'It was me,' his mother uttered one day.

"Smith promptly grabbed a horsewhip and lashed his parent until she collapsed.

"'I wish I was dead,' his sweetheart shrieked when he discarded her.

"With an ironing-board close by he gratified her wish."

ANSWERS MAMIE.

Editor, Examiner:

Dear sir:

May I reply to Mamie's letter in The Examiner on Saturday evening criticizing H. Edgar's article entitled, 'Beauty—A Transient Thing'. What he said about beauty was right for no one is really beautiful outwardly unless they are beautiful in soul, for the soul expresses itself faithfully and in every detail through its medium, the body. A hard face records a hard nature, a foolish face portrays a shallow soul, a kind face a kind nature, a thoughtful face an intelligent soull, and so forth, and is there any man worthy of the name who would prefer a made-up face in the place of these things which I have mentioned. No, he would not any more than a mother would prefer an inanimate, unresponsive doll to her cooing, innocent, irresistible, loving little child Every normal live man wants affection, not paint. He is more concerned about the depth of love in the eye than the penciled eyebrow, believe me. Think this over, Mamie, and see if you can contradict me.

HUMAN BAROMETERS

Many people boast of the fact that they can tell when a storm is approaching by a change of feeling which comes over them or by some ache or pain in some portion of their anatomy. Such people should not be proud of the fact that they are good barometers and will be surprised to learn that the reason they are so sensitive to the changing of the weather is because they are suffering from some vicious toxemia which is poisoning the body.

Many animals have the faculty of perceiving barometric depression indicating the approach of storm but the reason they can foresee bad weather is because their systems are so sensitive to any change in nature. All animal life is constantly fighting against the elements and destructive forces of nature, and the animals guided only by instinct are protected in a measure so that they can take the necessary precaution in view of the approaching storm. Flies will gather around the door to seek shelter at the slightest danger of rain; bees will return to their hives only partially loaded with honey; ants will bury themselves in the ground, and dogs will set up a whining.

When a man is affected by an approaching change in the weather, his corns will hurt or a rheumatic joint will start aching. These pains come on because elimination is interfered with on account of the humidity in the air, and as a blanket of fog or even invisible mist descends upon the earth, those people who are already toxic will find all their pains are becoming exaggerated on account of the extra amount of repression of elimination due to the moist air. If the pores of the body could be entirely stopped for four minutes it would not be possible for anyone to live, for if all the radiation of poison from the skin were suddenly stopped the body could not stand the excessive poisoning which would result. As the barometer falls these pores partially become stopped as the moisture from the body will not eliminate as completely if the air is full of an unusual amount of moisture. All nervous people will become more nervous and irritable under such conditions and one suffering from any disease will find their symptoms more acute at this time.

One experience of realizing that you are a good health barometer should suggest to you that it is necessary for you to study the causes which have producedthe poisoned state of your blood which makes you so sensitive to changes in the weather. All eliminative functions should be stimulated and everything should be done to stop further interference with elimination. The diet should be properly regulated and increased physical exercise taken vigorously enough to induce a copious perspiration,

All people who are sensitive to approaching wet weather will find that their skin is not in a good condition, and their pores will be found to be stopped with poison because the skin is not in a healthy condition and cannot carry on it proper elimination. It is a good plan to take two or three cold shower baths daily in order to restore the proper tone to the skin. After these baths it is a good plan to rub the skin vigorously with a coarse towel until every square inch of skin glows with the flow of red blood.

Do not be satisfied until you have made your skin so healthy and have increased your eliminative functions to such an extent that you will no longer be hypersensitive enough to boast of being a good health barometer.

Her Little Boy Caught Cold While Out Playing

Mrs. F. Cade, Elmwood, Man. writes:—"My little boy caught cold while out playing in the snow. He coughed incessantly all that night and the next day, and nothing I gave him seemed to relieve him. When my husband came home he brought a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup with him. After the second dose my boy was greatly relieved and after the third dose he went to sleep and slept the whole night through without any coughing. Grim Pyorrhea gets 4 out of 5

All around you are people doomed, through carelessness, to contract Pyorrhea. Four persons out of five past forty (and many younger) are its victims.

Carelessness—neglect of teeth and gums—is the cause. And the results, too often, are loss of teeth, neuritis, rheumatism, or other serious diseases.

And yet, if you start in time, it is so easy to prevent. See your dentist twice a year. And start using Forhan's for the Gums.

Used regularly and in time, Forhan's prevents Pyorrhea or checks it. It firms the gums and keeps them healthy. It protects teeth and keeps them white.

Ask your dentist about Forhan's, the formula of R. J. Forhan, D. D. S. It contains Forhan's Pyorrhea Liquid, used by dentists in the treatment of Pyorrhea.

LEAFS WIN OUT OVER PITTSBURG DURING SEASON

FINAL SCORE 4-1.

TORONTO, March 2—The Maple Leafs started the month of March like lions, and the Pittsburgh Pirates, after making a rather auspicious start, were so frightened at the fierceness of the locals and they were unable to beat Roach for more than one goal in the first period, and the Leafs came through with four counters, one in the closing minutes of the second and three in the third, to win the fourth last game of the local N.H.L. season, by 4 to 1, at the Arena Gardens last night. As a result the locals took the season's series from the Corsairs by two wins, one tie and a loss in the four games. On the night's play the locals were the better team and thoroughly deserved the victory.

NEW YORK, March 2.—The New York Americans improved their chances of giving battle to the Montreal Maroons for third place in the international division of the N.H.L. by taking a 3 to 0 decision from the Boston Bruins here last night. Three goals in the first session — two by Roach and one by "Red" Green—gave the locals the win. Boston showed rather a strong attack throughout, but the American defence, backed by Forbes splendid goalkeeping, kept the Bruins from entering the summary. Shore and "Red" Green drew major penalties for fighting in the second period.

Canadiens, 3; Detroit, 0.

MONTREAL, March 2.—Canadiens scored another shutout victory and increased their margin in second place in the international section of the National Hockey League when they blanked Detroit here last night 3 to 0. It was an ordinary hockey tilt, with Canadiens under wraps, while holding an edge over the makeshift combination of Detroiters which Duke Keats directed from the bench.

The visiting Cougars were content to play a defensive game and trust to the breaks. To this end they sent Duncan out as a forward, though actually he was a third defence man for Detroit. The Cougars' augmented guard could not cope with the Canadien attack, nor could their forwards find a scoring chance to force home.

OSHAWA LEADS SCHOOL FINAL

High School Boys Beat Deseronto in First of Play-offs.

SCORE 6-3.

OSHAWA, March 2.—Oshawa defeated Deseronto, 6 to 3, in the finals for the championship of the Central Ontario Interscholastic Hockey League played here yesterday. With the score 3 to 0 for Deseronto at the end of the first period Oshawa bulged the twine for one in the second period and five in the third, and take a three-goal lead in the return game which will be played on Friday in Napanee owing to Deseronto having no covered rink. The teams were:

Deseronto— Goal, C. McVicker; defence, Cole and L. McVicker; centre, Whitton; wings, Druyea and Dettler; subs, Green.

Referee— Ginger Edger, Bowmanville.

Troubled with Lame Back for Over 17 Years

Now feeling fine as a fiddle

Harry H. Buss of Egmont, B.C., suffered from a lame back for over 17 years. Every spring he was laid up from work. He tried many remedies, but could not obtain relief. He was advised to try Gin Pills and immediately obtained relief. Read his letter:

"There is nothing to compare with Gin Pills. I suffered unspeakably with a lame back for over 17 years. I tried almost everything, even to hot poultices. I could not sleep. After taking two and a half boxes of Gin Pills I am at work again and feel fine as a fiddle. I will not be without Gin Pills from now on. I am telling everyone in this settlement who has kidney or back trouble to give Gin Pills a trial. Publish my letter as I would like others to know what great relief Gin Pills gave me."

Pains in the back, constant headaches, swollen joints, painful urination, murky urine, brick dust deposits, scanty or too frequent voiding of urine are all symptoms of kidney trouble. Relieve your suffering and ensure a future free from kidney ailments. Get a box of Gin Pills today. 50c at all druggists. National Drug & Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited, Toronto, Canada. 124

MARY PICKFORD'S NEW FILM HER GREATEST

"Sparrows" Again Presents Famous Star in Rollicking Juvenile Role.

Rollicking Mary Pickford is back again!

The famous little star, whose screen masterpieces have delighted millions throughout the world, has produced another great picture—which has been called her greatest—and is coming to the Capitol tomorrow.

Mary's newest picture is "Sparrows". It deals with the adventures of a band of youngsters on a baby farm. While there is a little message in the picture, as there is in all good pictures, "Sparrows" first of all is entertainment and the sort of entertainment that Mary Pickford fans like.

Mary is cast as "Mama Mollie", the little girl who mothers the forlorn children on the baby farm. She pilots them through many adventures providing much laughter, many thrills and not a few tears.

That is Miss Pickford's unfailing recipe for an evening's entertainment and in "Sparrows" she is said to have one of the best pictures she has ever made.

The locale of "Sparrows" is in a swamp country of a southern state. Here on an island farm the little scraps of humanity are kept by a cruel keeper and his wife. How they finally overcome the obstacles placed in their path and find their way to a happier life makes up a story as thrilling and as interesting as can be imagined.

Plenty of comedy lightens the more drab sequences and there is action from the opening scenes to the final fade out.

Cast as ragged little girl, "Mollie" Miss Pickford finds a role that is ideal for her talents. She manages the tots with a skilled hand, and outwits the cruel keeper who thinks more of his pigs than the little children.

Miss Pickford is supported by a splendid cast including one of the most remarkable bands of little children ever assembled in a picture.

"Sparrows" is a United Artists Corporation release.

AT THE REGENT

PETER B. KYNE IS AUTHOR OF GIBSON'S NEXT.

Famous Novelist Writes "Buckaroo Kid" For Western Star.

Based on a story written especially for the star by the noted novelist and short story author, Peter B. Kyne, "The Buckaroo Kid," the Universal-Jewel starring Hoot Gibson, comes to the Regent Theatre Thursday.

"The Buckaroo Kid" is a new type of story for the popular Western star, and has its locale in a Nevada ranch and in San Francisco, particularly along the famous San Francisco waterfront.

The story—of the type which has made Peter B. Kyne one of the most popular authors of fiction now writing in America—gives Gibson ample opportunity to display the generous talents as a comedian, which have made him popular the world over, and is a breezy, swiftly-moving tale of the adventures of a carefree, romantic young American.

"The Buckaroo Kid" was adapted to the screen and directed by Lynn Reynolds, who is responsible for the excellent direction of "Chip of the Flying U," "The Phantom Bullet," "The Texas Streak," and other of Gibson's most recent successes.

PANCAKE SOCIAL VERY SUCCESSFUL

Annual Entertainment Held By St. Luke's Women's Guild.

The annual Pancake Social of St. Luke's parish, held last evening in the parish hall under the auspices of the Women's Guild, was extremely successful, with a very fine attendance. Decorations of the tables were carried out in springlike yellow hues, with long streamers on the tables, bowls of daffodils and yellow candles in silver holders. Ladies acting as general convenors were Mrs. J. M. Gemmell, Mrs. J. J. Turner, and Mrs. Ronald McKee. In charge of the tables were Mrs. Wm. Hepburn, Mrs. F. Whitehouse and Mrs. A. Long.

During the evening, a musical programme was rendered, with piano solos by Miss Lucille Doris, songs by Mrs. W. Davies, Mrs. E. Wand, Miss B. Hill, Mr. V. Boorman, and Mr. W. C. Thomson, accompanied by Mrs. W. Smith and Miss Muriel Davis. Miss Queenie Hope also gave several readings.

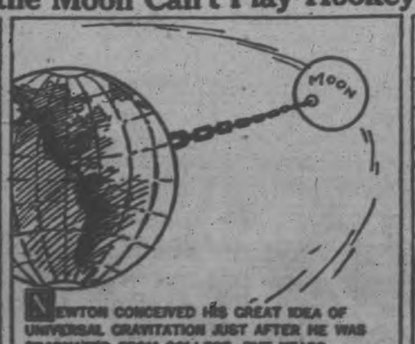
OUTLINE OF SCIENCE

CXVII—Why the Moon Can't Play Hookey

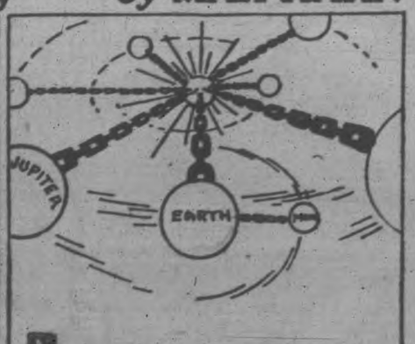
by MAX HAHN

IF MAN EVER FLIES TO THE MOON HIS AIRPLANE ENGINE WILL HAVE TO BE STRONGER THAN THE EARTH'S PULLING POWER, WHICH IS CALLED GRAVITY. ALTHOUGH THE MOON IS 240,000 MILES DISTANT THE EARTH'S PULLING POWER KEEPS THE MOON FROM PLAYING TRUANT.

ISAAC NEWTON CONVINCED HIMSELF LONG BEFORE THE FIRST STEAMBOAT CROSSED THE ATLANTIC THAT THE FORCE WHICH CAUSES APPLES TO FALL TO THE GROUND IS THE SAME WHICH KEEPS THE MOON MOVING AROUND THE EARTH INSTEAD OF FLYING OFF INTO SPACE.



NEWTON CONCEIVED HIS GREAT IDEA OF UNIVERSAL GRAVITATION JUST AFTER HE WAS GRADUATED FROM COLLEGE, BUT YEARS ELAPSED BEFORE HE COULD VERIFY HIS THEORY. FINALLY A FRENCH SCHOLAR PREPARED THE STATISTICS ON THE MOON'S DISTANCE, WHICH ENABLED NEWTON TO GIVE THE WORLD ONE OF THE MOST WONDERFUL SCIENTIFIC DISCOVERIES IN HISTORY.



NEWTON'S LAW OF GRAVITATION PROCLAIMS THAT EVERY PARTICLE OF MATTER IN THE UNIVERSE ATTRACTS EVERY OTHER PARTICLE. GRAVITY, WHICH KEEPS THE MOON MOVING AROUND THE EARTH, ALSO SWINGS THE EARTH AROUND THE SUN. © McClure Newspaper Syndicate

The Lucky Strikes Make It Worth Your While To Shop Here

TOO MANY DICTATORSHIPS

(By Sir Phillips Gibbs.)

Dictatorship of one form or another is rapidly replacing democratic rule in Europe, and argument by force is very fashionable.

Dictatorship from the Right or Left has destroyed the parliamentary system, and all chance of democratic progress in many nations, and the idea is spreading so that in Germany, and even in France, there is open talk of dictatorship among many groups as the method most suited to national efficiency.

Russia, Italy, Greece, Spain and Turkey have led this movement against popular self-government, and have established either one-man-rule or despotism by committee. I have watched the causes and effects of dictatorship in several of those countries, and recent events have convinced me that democracy, as it has been built up by centuries of liberal thought and political struggle in the attainment of self-government, is seriously threatened. It is largely the fault of democracy itself.

After all the lessons of war and endless talk of "human brotherhood," international arbitration and general idealism, ideas of intolerance took possession of many minds. For eight years since the last guns were fired there has been a new and tremendous conflict in the soul of Europe between those who stand for peace by persuasion and those who believe their objects may best be obtained by force.

In those countries I have named, force has won all along the line. In England itself the general strike was part of this spreading faith in force, and this increasing disbelief in parliamentary methods, of slow and patient progress, or in arbitration. The behaviour of all classes of our people in that crisis has fortunately relieved us of any attempt at dictatorship, either from the Left or Right, which would have followed certainly if the general strike had been more revolutionary in its character.

In Russia I have seen dictatorship from the left, as it is exercised by a minority of extreme views, and it seemed to me exceedingly unpleasant. Whatever else one may say about Russia under Soviet rule, this at least is certain and undisputed. There is no liberty there.

But exactly the same methods, though with different objects and results, are adopted by Italy under Mussolini. In Italy, as I have lately seen, there is also no freedom of speech or Press or Parliament. It is highly dangerous even for a foreigner to speak openly in public places.

When I went to see the editor of a paper not friendly to Mussolini's rule I found him behind barred doors and afraid to speak above a whisper in his own office.

Now there are good reasons why these things have happened in Italy and elsewhere. They are the same reasons which underlie this spread of dictatorship everywhere. One reason is anarchy.

It is possible that even in Russia dictatorship was necessary for some time to prevent the continuance of social and intellectual anarchy. It was either Leninism or Tsarism. Russian democracy was at that time incapable of self-government. So it was in Italy. While Liberal leaders were talking for time, Communist workers were capturing factories, trains were not running, wheels were not turning.

Mussolini's strong hand, supported by his Black Shirts and the ardour for national efficiency, swept the Parliamentary talkers on one side, and established authority and order, ruthlessly, and triumphantly.

In Hungary it was Bela Kuhn's Red dictatorship which led to a new dictatorship under a Conservative Regent who is holding the Throne for a future Emperor. In Spain it was the fear of anarchy which led to military dictatorship. In Greece it was the passion of the old officer class which prevailed over those who were responsible for the tragedy of surrender to the Turks.

In Turkey the supreme power of Mustapha Kemal is due to the military genius of a man who defied the Great Powers in Europe, scoffed at the League of Nations, and believed only in the power of the sword to settle any and all disputes. He used the sword swiftly, and with destruction.

These achievements of force may seem justified in certain cases. They may be necessary in certain crisis. But they do not make for world peace, or in the long run for social stability.

In any case they are a denial of that democratic liberty which was so hardly won through centuries of history. Those who support them proclaim that democracy has failed, and that people are unfit to govern themselves through elected representatives.

Has that happened in Europe? To some extent, I think, it has. France, in which many people hanker for dictatorship, is a most melancholy example of failure to achieve efficiency by Parliamentary methods. The strife of many conflicting parties renders strong financial and economic reforms impossible.

In Germany I found everywhere during my last visit passionate differences of thought which are now gathering strength for some display of force on the Right or Left.

It is this hark back to the ideas of force as something quicker and better than Parliamentary persuasion which is at the bottom of this denial of democratic idealism. And democracy is busy cutting its own throat.

Labour, preaching international brotherhood and world peace, betrays its own professions of faith when it turns to the weapon of a general strike to settle an economic dispute, and impose conditions on other sections of society.

In the same way, it is the impatience of strong minds which tempt them to get efficiency by dictatorship, or secure national ambitions by force of arms.

To my mind there is one important lesson to be drawn from all these dictatorships and autocracies which have falsified so many promises and hopes after the world war. Democracy, if it wishes to retain its old rights and liberties, must reassert its faith in Parliamentary government against those within its own ranks who believe in compulsion instead of argument.

If it objects to force being used against it, then it must drop force as a political weapon. If it resents dictatorship from the Right, then it must not attempt dictatorship from the Left. So far, this country has won a victory over extremists on both sides, and in my opinion we have given a lead to the rest of Europe by moderation, and commonsense.

If there is no return in other countries to popular self-government, future history, not far off, will see Europe plunged into civil strife and international war, for the only alternative to dictatorship is revolution, and the chief hobby of dictators is military adventure against weaker neighbors.

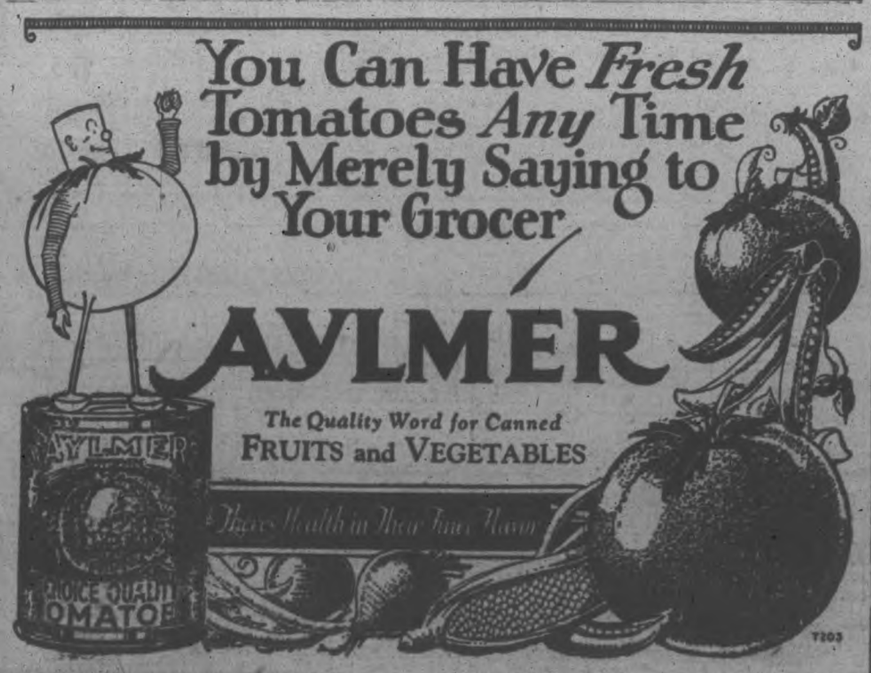
Readers of The Examiner may have been interested in observing in the illustrated portion of the paper (yesterday's date, Feb. 28th) an account of Capt. Walpole Roland, who has lately celebrated his 100th birthday. Many years ago I had the pleasure of knowing Captain Roland somewhat intimately as we were both engaged on the same party, surveying mining locations around the Rabbit Mountain Silver Mine, some forty miles distant from Port Arthur. As we both happened to be Englishmen, born in the same place in India, and of military stock, we became very good friends and many a night did I spend listening to Captain Roland's tales of adventure. He had been with Gordon in China, and, before that time, in the Crimean war.

But what I was chiefly interested in were his tales of life on the survey. He had [illegible] many strange predicaments in our own wilds Canada. On o[illegible] in the vicinity of James Bay, he was with a party of surveyors when a landslide occurred which swept everyone but himself to death down the precipitous cliff side. On another occasion, in attempting to cross on the floating ice from the little island of Red Rock, situated near the mouth of the Nipigon River, to the mainland, he got safely across but his dog was drowned.

Probably his most trying experience was when he was about eighty years old. He got lost in the woods north of Port Arthur and subsisted for a month on berries and water. He managed to reach the shores of the lake and apparently suffered no ill effects from his wanderings. Captain Roland was a man of slight build who never took particular care as to what he ate or drank and he was not remarkable for muscular development, but he had a dauntless disregard of danger which was beautiful to witness, and would venture where many a man of more powerful physique would hesitate to follow. It is wonderful to read of his having reached his hundredth year. I have jotted down these memories of a truly remarkable personality, in the belief that they would be of interest to your readers.



MOUNT PLEASANT

On Thursday evening a number of friends and neighbors were entertained at the home of Mr. George Butler, about a mile west of the village. The evening was spent in cards and dancing.

Mr. S. Deyell returned to his home in Peterboro after spending the past week in and around this vicinity.

Mr. Robert Ruth attended the farm sale of stock and implements at the old Calbert farm, on Wednesday.

Mr. Herman McLean of Toronto is spending a few days at his home in town.

Quite a number of the young people attended the dance given in the Parish Hall at Ida on Friday evening. There was a large crowd present and an enjoyable time was spent.

Mrs. Gertrude McLean is nearly recovered from her recent illness.

Mrs. Kinsman has returned to her home in Manvers after spending a pleasant visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Atchison.

On Saturday morning we had the heaviest snow fall of the winter.

HEARING COSTS BELIEVED HEAVY

Each Party Expected To Pay Own Expenses, It Is Supposed.

$12,000,000 TOTAL.

LONDON, March 2.—(Canadian Press).—Nothing is said in the decision of the Privy Council judicial commission on the Labrador boundary today as to the costs of the hearing. Unofficially the expenses are estimated at a quarter of a million pounds, or $1,2000,000. Presumably each party is expected to pay its own costs as the dispute was reefrred to the Privy Council with the full consent of all parties concerned—the Dominion and Quebec governments and the Newfoundland government.

Counsel for Canada were: H. P. MacMillan, K.C., Rt. Hon. C. J. Doherty, K.C., Aime Geoffrion, K.C., Montreal, Maurice Alexander, K.C., H. S. Moore, and C. P. Plaxton; for Newfoundland: Sir John Simon, K.C., Hon. W. J. Higgins, K.C., Attorney General of Newfoundland, W. T. Monckton, C. H. Pearson, and F. T. Barrington-Ward, K.C. Premier L. A. Taschereau of Quebec watched the argument on behalf of his province.

ANNUAL BANQUET BURNBRAE CHURCH

Members and Friends of Presbyterian Congregation Gather.

BURNBRAE, March 1.—A most enjoyable event took place on Friday evening in the basement of St. Andrew's Church, when over 150 members of the congregation and their friends gathered around the festive board for the first annual banquet of the congregation. The tables groaned with good things to eat, and were prettily decorated, thanks to the energy of the ladies who had spent most of the afternoon there. Rev. D. A. McKenzie acted as toast-master, and, after everyone had satisfied the inner man he proposed the opening toast to the King, with everyone responding in the singing of the National Anthem. Various numbers of music, readings, etc., were interspersed with a lengthy toast list. "A toast to the Presbyterian Church was proposed by Harold Rutherford. In responding, Rev. D. A. McKenzie gave some figures showing the strength of the church with 77,000 families, over 155,000 members and 900 preaching places, with 10,000 new communicants in one year.

The toast list was as follows:

To St. Andrew's Church and Session; by G. V. Taylor. Rev. Mr. McKenzie stated in response that the history of the congregation dated back 88 years during which time three church had been built. The first church at Burnbrae was found inadequate and was completely remodelled with a basement added. This work was little more than completed when a disastrous fire consumed the structure and then the present spacious edifice was erected. It is considered to be one of the finest rural church buildings in Canada.

Toast to Sabbath School; by James Stewart and Alex. Milne, superintendent of the school.

Toast to W.M.S. and Mission Band; by Mrs. George Craighead and Mrs. (Rev.) D. A. McKenzie, who spoke of the necessity of mission work both in Canada and in foreign lands.

Toast to the Managers; by Roy Walker. The response was the singing of "For They're Jolly Good Fellows."

Toast to the Ladies' Aid; by Mrs. G. V. Taylor and Mrs. John Oddie, President of the Aid, who spoke of that organizations work in paying off the Manse debt and re-decorating the basement.

Toast to the Young People's Society by Charles Little and Grant Thain.

Toast to the Choir, by Mrs. Charles Milne and George Ronald.

Toast to Ladies; by Mr. W. T. Allan and Mrs. W. H. Little.

Other interesting programme numbers were vocal solos by George Donald, Harold E. Taylor, Harold Rutherford, Mrs. Roy Walker, Miss Emma Bennett, and Mrs. Charles Milne, and readings, both humorous and otherwise, Mrs. William Hutcheon, Miss Hazel McKenzie, Master Malcolm Hutcheon, Master Harold Hutcheon.

A very interesting debate was the main feature of the programme: "Resolved that Wealth has caused more unhappiness than poverty." The affirmative was upheld by Grant Thain and Luella Matthews; the negative by Nellie Bennett and Thomas Wetherill. The judges, Harold Rutherford, G. V. Taylor, and Mrs. Roger Lair, gave the decision to the negative by a small margin. Roy Walker acted as timekeeper.

The banquet was brought to a close when Thomas Wetherill and Alex. Milne proposed a toast to the chairman, Rev. Mr. McKenzie. All assembled joined in the singing of "Auld Lang Syne." It is needless to say that everyone present enjoyed the evening's entertainment. Practically all the Burnbrae people were present in spite of a very severe storm, whil a number attended from Rylstone.

COBOURG YOUTH GOES TO PRISON

Sentenced in Hamilton For Carrying Loaded Revolver.

TAKEN ON SUSPICION.

HAMILTON, Ont., March 2.—(Canadian Press).—Harold Schrum, Cobourg, arrested in the city yesterday and held with Thomas Samson of St. Catharines and Joseph Burton of this city on nominal charges of vagrancy, was this morning sentenced by Magistrate Jelfs to three months in jail on a charge of carrying a loaded revolver. The trio were arrested yesterday at the corner of King and James streets on suspicion, the police at the time investigating reports of suspicious looking characters loitering around city's financial houses.

EDWARD HARLTON ARRESTED ON FARM

Man Sought For Murder Since September, 1925, Finally Caught.

BRAMPTON, March 2.—More than a year and five months after the crime with which he had been charged had been committed, Edward Harlton, alleged to have shot and killed County Constable John Waddell in London, Ont., on Sept. 12, 1925, was arrested at the farm of George Faulkner, near Norval, yesterday afternoon by Provincial officers.

Harlton was lodged in Brampton Jail, and this morning an officer of the London police was to take him back for trial. Credit for the arrest was last night given by Deputy Commissioner Cuddy of the Ontario Provincial Police to the police of Toronto and London.

SOCIETY

The appointment of the first Canadian Minister to Washington in the person of the Hon. Vincent Massey has a personal interest to Peterborough, owing to the fact that one of the city's old residents, Mr. G. W. Powell, George Street, is a cousin of Mr. Massey.

Mr. Andrew Brown and Mr. Raymond Brown are in Oshawa for a few days, attending the Pontiac Convention being held there.

Mrs. W. R. Morris has returned from Windsor, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. T. Q. Dench, who will spend some time with her. Mrs. Morris' sister, Miss J. Dench, who was in the city during the summer months, has gone to New Orleans to visit her sister.

Mrs. C. D. Hewett has returned home after spending a few days in Toronto.

Thirty ladies of the "Get Together" Group of St. James' Ladies' Aid Society enjoyed a pleasant social hour at the home of Mrs. S. D. Elliott, at 90 Lock Street, yesterday afternoon. A bright programme, which was much enjoyed, included readings by Mrs. L. E. Emery, Mrs. Hugh McCullough and Mrs. J. D. Richardson, a piano solo by Miss Olive Prest, vocal solos by Mrs. H. Turner and Mrs. Wm. Fell, and a vocal duett by Mrs. Elliott and Mrs. T. E. Curvin. At the conclusion of the musical programme, dainty refreshments were served, the committee in charge including Mesdames Elliott, F. D. Armstrong, J. O. Fife and W. Fell.

Friends of Mr. J. Wells Fraser, manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia, will be pleased to learn that he is convalescing slowly from a recent very serious attack of pneumonia. He is returning home today from Nicholls Hospital.

Out of town relatives attending the funeral on Monday afternoon of the late Thomas Hooper, Senior, were his son, Mr. William Hooper, of Orillia, his daughter, Mrs. T. E. Cunningham, of Orillia, two granddaughters, Mrs. A. R. Deyell and Mrs. K. Thompson of Toronto, and a grandson, Marwood Cunningham, of Orillia.

A very pretty and successful daffodil tea and musicale was held yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. L. G. Dobbin, 267 Stewart Street, under the auspices of the Wide-Awake Bible Class of All Saints' Church. The guests were received by Mrs. Dobbin, Miss Anna Simpson, president of the class, and Miss B. Dawson, the teacher. The table was charmingly arranged with a silver basket of yellow daffodils, banked with two-toned tulle in the Class colors of mauve and yellow, and yellow candles in low silver candlesticks. Tea was poured by Mrs. L. Spriggs, assisted by a number of girl members of the class. A very interesting musical programme arranged by Miss Dawson, was rendered during the afternoon, and included vocal solos by Mrs. H. F. Doig, Miss Bertha Hill, Miss Ernestine McManus, Miss Fanny Robson and Mr. J. W. Bryan. Accompaniments were played by the Misses M. Baumer, G. Donley, F. Giroux and M. Rome, while Roy Rome played a violin obligato for Mr. Bryan's solo. Piano solos were played by Miss Marthe Baumer, and a piano duett by Bob and Tom Allen. Readings were given by Miss Eva Outram and Miss Betty Payne, and violin selections by Roy Rome and George Gatfield, with accompaniments played by Miss Marguerite Rome and Mrs. C. Gilders.

Under the auspices of the Otonabee Chapter I.O.D.E., a very enjoyable bridge party was held yesterday afternoon in the Paragon Tea Rooms, when thirty tables of cards were played. The guests were received by the Regent, Miss S. A. Tomkins, and Mrs. F. L. Robinson. Mrs. D. R. Fleming and Mrs. E. F. Lawrence had charge of the tables, and Mrs. H. W. Darcy had charge of refreshments, assisted by Mesdames D. R. Fleming, D. W. Clark, E. F. Lawrence, W. J. Oke, F. A. Hodgson, J. E. Lillico, C. A. White. The prizes were donated by Mrs. J. A. Aylmer and Mrs. J. Garbutt, and were won by Mrs. J. Fanning and Mrs. P. J. Martin, in first and second awards. At each table, a souvenir for the lady getting the high score, was a dainty booklet containing an illustrated history of the Union Jack.

Friends of Mrs. G. J. Bousfield, who has been ill for some months past, will be pleased to learn that she is able to be out of bed again.

Mr. Herman Wolff of the J. H. Williams Company, Regina, Saskatchewan, while on a business trip to New York, Montreal and Toronto, spent a few days with his parents at 452 Donegal Street, returning to Regina yesterday.

The last regular meeting of Court Littlejohn Number 92, Canadian Order of Foresters, held on Monday evening, was featured by the presentation, to Thomas A. Lang, retiring financial secretary, of a gold ring and address, signed on behalf of the society by Harold Fitch, C.R., Robt. Mulligan, R.S., and J. H. Sherwood, treasurer. J. H. Sherwood made the presentation and R. Mulligan read the address, to which Mr. Lang made a suitable reply. The address referred to the loyal and devoted service given to the society by Mr. Lang, during fifteen years' tenure of the office of financial secretary, and to his constant attention to the work and patience during difficult times. "The Court," went on the address, "has never had a worry about its money while in your keeping, and we would be ungrateful if we did not tell you that this has been a great comfort to us, and it is a great pleasure to tell you that you have our absolute confidence and great esteem."

Little Frances Naomi Clarke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Clarke, 300 Monaghan Road, entertained fifteen of her small friends at her home yesterday, in celebration of her twelfth birthday. The table was done in pink, with tiny roses and artificial sprays of apple blossoms. A musical programme arranged by Mr. Clarke added to the entertainment of the little guests.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McGowan and Master Jack, who have been guests of Mrs. McGowan's sister, Mrs. T. McGarrity, Fradette avenue, left yesterday for their home in Biggar, Saskatchewan.

Rev. G. J. Bousfield was in Omemee on Monday evening, addressing the guests at the annual banquet of the A.Y.P.A. there.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two fold action, it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

SAINT and SINNER

Bob Hathaway's eyes dropped for a moment before the scorn and anger and stricken love in Faith's voice and face.

"Churchill almost had me convinced, Faith, but, before God, I believe Cherry is telling the truth. We'll stand by her, darling, in spite of the grand jury and in spite of Stephen Churchill's doubts of her innocence. She'll come out of this—triumphant, vindicated, because she's innocent. I'll spend every cent I can raise, borrow or steal, to clear her name, if that is necessary. Are you satisfied, Faith?"

The overwrought girl collapsed in his arms, realizing for the first time since Cherry's arrest that her sister's very life was at stake. Her cold fingers clung to his coat, but the face which she raised to Bob's was illuminated with love and gratitude to him. "Thank you, Bob. I—I'm sorry!—I spoke as I did."

"I don't have to remind you that nothing you say to me now can hurt me," Bob murmured tenderly. "And, by the way, here's something that may mean a lot—and nothing."

"What in the world!" Faith gasped, as he held up a short piece of old brown leather strap, the pointed end, with holes punched at half-inch intervals. The bit of strap had been broken off at the widened hole by which it evidently had been fastened countless times.

"Awful looking thing, isn't it?" His voice was straining to be casual and natural. "I found it tonight in the snow under Uncle Ralph's window. The place is being guarded by the police, of course, but the boys all know that I'm a friend of Morehouse, and that it was my uncle who was killed. Matter of fact, I found it when no one was looking."

"May be," Bob admitted. "I was fanning the snow off those footprints I told you about, to see if they were still visible at all. They were—faintly, but very much blurred as to outline. And I found this thing buried under the top dusting of snow, directly under the window. Do you get what that means? There was snow under it, as well as over it—"

"Which proves that it was dropped there after the snow began to fall," Faith interrupted in breathless excitement. "Oh, Bob, it must have been the murderer who dropped it, somehow—"

She paused, as she saw Bob lift the bit of broken strap to his nose and sniff at it, a slight frown of concentration between his eyes.

"Sweat," he explained briefly. "Human sweat. It's an unmistakable odor. Smell," he commanded, thrusting the bit of damp, dark leather toward her.

"No," she drew back with a shudder. "The thing makes me feel creepy somehow. Did you check up to see if it could have been lost by a servant or a policeman?"

"Wise girl!" he applauded, smiling at her. "Tony Salvatore, the gardener, swore that it had not been before the snow began to fall, but of course he might easily overlook a little thing like that. But he's positive that it was broken from nothing connected with my uncle's house or grounds. I thought at first it might be a piece of a cop's belt or from the strap on which a cop's billey swings. But the billeys are carried on a leather thong, not at all like this, and the belts for the gun holsters fasten with a wider strap. I managed to find out without giving my secret away. There's just one thing that occurs to me," he frowned at the bit of strap, as if trying to force it, by power of his will, to give up its secret.

"Wait," Faith begged him, pressing her fingers into her temples as she concentrated her overwrought brain on the problem. "I think I've come to the same conclusion you have. We'll take it for granted that this strap has something to do with the man who made the queer footprints. The toe half of the shoe, all of the right shoe," she repeated to herself musingly. "Oh, I'm sure I'm right, Bob. The man was a cripple, of course. All of the footprints were the same. That couldn't be an accident, could it?" She looked at him appealingly, with excitement burning in her great brown eyes.

"You're getting warm," Bob laughed his voice proud and tender.

"Bob, the man who killed your uncle was a cripple, a man with a wooden leg. That bit of strap came from the contrivance that fastened the wooden leg to the knee, or wherever it joined his flesh-and-blood leg. The smell of sweat—the narrowness of it, the long use it's had—is that what you had figured out, Bob?"

"Pretty nearly," Bob nodded. "But I'm afraid I didn't visualize a wooden leg. A man with a wooden leg could make a whole footprint as well as not. There would be an artificial foot, you know, which would undoubtedly make a whole footprint."

"Of course," Faith's voice fell.

"But I do think that the chap's some kind of cripple—he must be, of course, to make footprints like those. And the strap was, I firmly believe, fastened to his leg for some reason or other, probably to relieve the strain of walking, even if he used only half of his foot."

"Then we've got to look for a cripple, Bob!" Faith's excitement returned. "Have you told Churchill about the strap?"

"I found it after I had talked with Churchill. I simply played a hunch in going back to the scene of the crime. I think I'll keep quiet about it for a while. I want to have a talk with Cherry. Has it occurred to you that she, having been Uncle Ralph's private secretary, will know a great deal about his correspondence? She might know if there was any evidence, in his correspondence or from things he told her, that he had had an enemy whose hatred was strong enough to cause him to plot Uncle Ralph's death? I'm going to play a lone hand—with you, of course, as chief thinker for the combine," he smiled at her fondly, "until I see what he can unearth. All Churchill can think of at present is a defense of unpremeditated, justifiable homicide. I want to have something very real and definite before I go to him with a theory. In the meantime, there is something both of us can do."

"I know," Faith nodded. "We can keep our eyes peeled for cripples. A man with one leg considerably shorter than the other, due to an injury in the war, for instance, would make footprints like that, wouldn't he?"

"He would," Bob agreed grimly. "Now, darling, we've played detective long enough. I'm going home and let you get some rest. By the way, I sent a basket of hothouse fruit and some French chocolates to your mother. Ordered them by phone on the way out here."

"You're the dearest person in the world," Faith told him, as she clung to him in a good-night embrace. 'Oh Bob, I can't bear to think of Cherry's sleeping in a cell tonight! Those awful iron cots—those thin, gray, prison blankets—"

Bob flushed with embarrassment. "I sent a bundle of things to her from my apartment—two pairs of rose-bordered, woolly blankets, and a gay, Czecho-Slovakian rug for the floor. She hasn't been indicted yet. Banning will let us make her comfortable."

"She hasn't been indicted—yet," Faith repeated, then breaking into wild sobs, she ran from the room.

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, but do not Compel.

FOR THURSDAY, MARCH 3, 1927

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

Sinister planetary influences are strong in the early hours of this day, according to astrology. The evening is more promising.

Much confusion regarding public questions again is indicated. Congress and the state legislatures will furnish cause for criticism.

Women at this time may begin to realize vaguely new duties and new public responsibilities, the seers declare, for on them are to fall heavy burdens.

Agriculturists are to voice discontent with market conditions, it is foretold, but there will be a world demand for food that will bring them profit later.

This is read as an unfavorable day for promoters of every sort. Many secret agents may be expected to appear at New York and Washington.

Big business is to profit enormously, for it will be forced to assume tremendous duties. On America is to fall the responsibility of performing enormous world tasks.

This is not a lucky rule under which to seek employment or to solicit favors of any sort.

London astrologers again foretell the rise of a dictator in Great Britain, where many changes are presaged.

The seers have given repeated warning of the spread of Bolshevism and they declare that effects of this propaganda are evident in China.

Saturn's trail is held responsible for coming troubles in Ireland, France, the Central States of Europe and Spain, Italy is to feel the power of this malefic planet, in the angle of enemies.

Persons whose birthdate it is to have a year of success before them. They should push all their affairs and beware of growing egotism.

Children born on this day have the augury of fame as well as wealth. They must be taught to eliminate vanity and conceit from their natures.

The Sani-Bilt Guarantee is a Printed Replacement Contract

MOTHPROOF and Guaranteed Permanently

If Moths Get Into a Sani-Bilt Suite You Have a Signed Contract That Guarantees You a NEW Suite FREE

YOU run absolutely no risk whatever in buying Sani-Bilt Furniture. There is no room for question or dispute. The Sani-Bilt guarantee goes with every piece, and the registered trade name, Snyder's Sani-Bilt Furniture, guaranteed mothproof, is plain to view when you lift the cushions.

When you go to buy a Sani-Bilt Suite make up your mind definitely beforehand that no evasions, subterfuges or arguments will turn you aside. Sani-Bilt is the furniture you are going to have.

"Will You Replace It?"

If someone says to you, "This suite is mothproof", your reply need consist of only four words: "Will you replace it?" That is the acid test of your protection against moths. You will hear many "claims", many "suppositions". But there is little use in listening to verbal guarantees. A verbal guarantee is useless. What you should insist upon is a REPLACEMENT Guarantee in writing.

Snyder's Guarantee Stands the "Test"

Snyder's Limited guarantee to replace any and every SANI-BILT Suite of upholstered furniture, if moths do the slightest damage. And this written guarantee accompanies every piece.

The Only Mothproof Process Absolutely Sure

Snyder's Limited use the only form of mothproofing that is absolute and permanent. The process de-natures mohair, wool, feathers and hair by removing all trace of "Keratin", the food element in those materials upon which the Clothes Moth feeds.

The moth has nothing upon which to feed. And the effect on the fabrics is permanent. Sani-Bilt furniture is permanently mothproof. That's why we can guarantee it as mothproof and stand back of our statement with a printed guarantee tag. This tag is a contract by which we agree to replace FREE any Sani-Bilt Suite damaged by moths.

Therefore, when you ask to see Sani-Bilt furniture look for our guarantee tag. The Sani-Bilt guarantee assures you absolute immunity from moths, and clean, new upholstery fillings and strong, durable construction. You get it in "black and white", signed by the firm responsible, and you get the most beautiful living room furniture made in Canada.

HOSPITAL GRANT TO BE EVENED UP

Peterborough Men Told Isolation Hospital Will Be on Same Footing.

ROADS DISCUSSED.

TORONTO, March 2.—Satisfactory assurances from the Ministers concerned were received yesterday by a deputation, from the City Council of Peterborough consisting of Mayor Dr. W. T. Holloway, Aldermen R. Denne, J. O. Fife, and Nagle Phelan, who in concert with representatives of other municipalities in Ontario interviewed the Hon. G. S. Henry, Minister of Highways, asking for the removal of the taxation levied on their communities to cover the cost of the construction and maintenance of the Highways of the province, and, acting independently of the other visitors, secured a promise from the Hon. Lincoln Goldie, Provincial Secretary that the anomaly of the differentiation between the Isolation Hospital of Peterborough and similar institutions elsewhere in the Province insofar as Government aid is concerned will no longer be permitted to exist.

The delegation which interviewed the heads of the Highways Department contained citizens of practically every important town and city of the Province, from Ottawa to Western Ontario, all united in the effort to secure the removal of what they consider to be an unnecessary burden on urban residents—the imposition upon the municipalities of 20 per cent of the charges of the Highways within and in proximity to their boundaries. It was pointed out that the municipalities have to bear the expenses of the roads within their limits, in addition to having to assist to the extent of one half mill on their total municipal taxation in the upkeep of the Suburban Area Roads, over and above the levies placed on their shoulders by the Province for the Highways.

The arguments raised received a courteous and sympathetic hearing from the Minister, who agreed that it might be possible to accede to the wishes of the civic representatives. He said that the increased revenue derived by the Government from automobile licenses and the gasoline taxes might be applied to this end. He could not however, of himself, commit the Government definitely to this policy.

"I am not the Government," he said, "but I will take the matter up with the Ministry and we will discuss it from all angles."

Isolation Hospital

The gravamen of the case presented by the Peterborough men to Mr. Goldie was that Peterborough Isolation Hospital was unfairly discriminated against, in that it received no Government grant whatever, while in other municipalities, isolation hospitals which were much less modern in equipment received a subsidy of $1,000 a year. Peterborough Isolation Hospital, the delegation told the Minister, was built separate from the general hospitals, as in many other localities, the "isolation" hospital consisted merely of a wing of the general hospital and was under the same management. Yet these institutions received the grant which was denied to Peterborough!

The Minister frankly acknowledged the injustice of this position and seemed to feel that Peterborough had a real grievance. He promised to end this unfair state of matters in one of two ways. Either the Peterborough institution would be given a similar grant or the aid would be withdrawn from the other hospitals. In any case all would be placed on an equal footing.

W. H. Bradburn, the city member, accompanied the deputation.

After having transacted the business, the deputation returned with Mr. Bradburn to the House, where they sat behind the Speaker's dais and listened to Mr. Lyon's lengthy speech on the resources of the province, particularly the northern section.

FOURTH ARREST FOR BURGLARY

Woman Held in Connection With Attempted Robbery at Waterford.

POLICE HELD UP.

SIMCOE, Ont., March 2.—Mrs. Van Dusen of Scotland, Ontario, was yesterday evening arraigned before Police Magistrate Gunton of Simcoe and remanded to jail. This makes the fourth arrest in connection with the attempted shopbreaking and hold-up of police in Waterford on Wednesday last.

About 2 a.m. on that day Constable Worrell of Waterford was going his rounds when he saw a suspicious character in the alleyway at the rear of the Duncombe Block in that village. He immediately called Clark Tenth, the other constable, and entering the alley ordered the man to hold up his hands, which he did. The next moment a man from the roof of a low building ordered the policemen to put up their hands, as he had them covered with a revolver they complied. The alleged burglars then marched them out of the alley, made them face a wall and relieving them of their revolvers, made a getaway. Later an automobile was found outside of Waterford in a ditch with a bent axle.

This led to the tracing of the alleged burglars, and on Saturday night Norman Johnson and Darcy Cole were arrested in the home of William Van Dusen of Scotland. They were brought to Simcoe and remanded to jail. They gave certain information that led to the arrest Monday of Arthur Chambers of Scotland. He in turn made a statement implicating others, and Mrs. Van Dusen was arrested yesterday.

The revolvers taken from the Waterford police were found at the Van Dusen home in Scotland, as well as another revolver alleged to have been used by the holdup men. The police state that footprints were found in the snow on the low roof referred to and that the marks of a jimmy were found on a window.

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT TABERNACLE

Rev. E. B. and Mrs. Fitch Are Conducting Helpful Services.

The evangelistic meetings at the Tabernacle are increasing in numbers and blessings each service. Rev. and Mrs. E. B. Fitch are earnest gifted workers, and God is honoring their efforts. Sunday evening the church was nearly filled, and many hands were upraised at the invitation of the evangelist to live for Jesus.

The chorus choir of the Tabernacle young people is making the songs of Zion ring under the fine leadership of Mr. Fitch. The orchestra is helping in a wonderful way the music of the meetings by splendid playing. Mrs. Fitch's singing is one of the features of each service. She has a wonderfully sweet voice that sings the message of her song into the hearts of her hearers. The afternoon meetings are being attended by a goodly number of ladies, and are very helpful to all who are availing themselves of these meetings.

Mr. Fitch spoke to a splendid company for a Monday night on the subject of "The Lamb of God." His remarks were true to the Scripture, and revealed that he had a thorough and deep understanding of the doctrines of salvation as taught in the Word of God. Many were deeply stirred.

The service will begin each evening this week by the orchestra playing for ten or fifteen minutes, and the song service begins promptly at 8.00. A prayer meeting is held for Christians at 7.30 each evening in the Sunday school room below, a half hour preceding the evening service.

Join the people who are getting spiritual help at these meetings, and come to the Tabernacle. You will enjoy the singing and the sermon will help you.

NO HOPE HELD FOR 28 MINERS

All Those Still Entombed Officially Considered Dead.

PREMIER BOOED.

LONDON, March 2 (Canadian Press).—Little or no hope is held that the men imprisoned by the colliery explosion near Cwm yesterday can be rescued alive. Although one report from Cardiff said that five of the imprisoned men had been rescued, this was not confirmed by the latest despatches from the scene, which indicate that all twenty eight men officially reported missing may be considered dead. This would bring the death toll to fifty-one as the bodies of twenty-three men have been recovered.

At an early hour this morning the galleries leading to the barrier had been cleared of gas, and willing volunteers were working to clear the passage. The task, however, is a difficult one, which probably will take many hours.

When the explosion occurred there were a hundred and twenty men in the shaft. Sixty-nine of them were able to reach the surface immediately or were helped out soon afterwards, but those toiling in the lowest part of the mine were trapped by a mass of debris. In a short time dense clouds of poisonous gases enveloped the galleries, preventing the descent of rescue parties.

Fourteen at Mansfield.

Fourteen men are known to have lost their lives in a colliery accident near Mansfield, England. A cage taking eight miners into the pit was struck by tons of piping which had collapsed. It crashed to the bottom where nine men were at work.

Premier Booed.

CWM, Wales, March 2 (Canadian Press).—An angry demonstration against Premier Baldwin was staged by miners to-day around the pithead, where the disastrous mine explosion occurred yesterday. The Premier and Mrs. Baldwin, arriving at noon, were greeted with booing, and there were shouts of "Why don't you go down in the mine yourself?"

The demonstration began as Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin left the mine office, where they had inquired about the progress of the rescue work and voiced their sympathy for the stricken.

Crowds Hostile

Emerging from the offices they found a crowd of several hundred persons assembled, waiting for them. There were some exclamations in Welsh and then a voice was heard above all others, crying excitedly in English: "What about the men lying in the black vein?"

For a moment or two the Premier and his wife stood alone in the face of hostility while their car was being brought around. Mrs. Baldwin was deeply agitated and seemed on the verge of tears, clutching her husband's arm.

When they had entered the car she sank back with an expression of pained amazement. The Prime Minister, although pale and also evidently agitated, continued smoking his pipe. As the car departed, there was renewed shouting. One raucous voice said to the newspaper men: "Put that in the papers." Despite the demonstration, Baldwin drove to several stricken home where the Premier's wife spoke to women who had lost husbands or sons. Meanwhile, bodies were being brought up from the nearby pit.

Rescuers Active

All night long rescue parties had labored feverishly to drive their way through the rocks blocking them from the entombed men, although experts said there was no hope that any were alive.

Throughout long hours of darkness, women hovered about the pit head awaiting news of their missing men. For the most part they were silent, giving evidence of phenomenal courage. Canaries were used to test the quantity of gas in the mine. These were pets, brought by women from their bereaved homes.

At sunrise, Salvation Army lassies led the watchers in the moving hymn "O God, Our Help in Ages Past." All joined fervently in the singing, which took on the nature of requiem.

Nearly every house in the tiny village lost some loved one in the disaster. One of the dead miners leaves eleven children. His wife died during the local strike.

The name of Cwm is pronounced as though spelled Coomb.

...M.C.A. JUNIORS DEFEATED 32-15 ...KINGSTON IN BASKETBALL TILT

...ll Have To Return To Former Style To Win Round.

LOBSIDED SCORE.

Round To Decide Eastern Representative For O.B.A. Play-offs.

KINGSTON, March 2.— Peterboro Y.M.C.A. Junior basketball five lost out to the Kingston Collegiate team last night in Kingston by the very lob-sided score of 32-15. This means that the Peterboro team will have to return to their former style of playing, which they did not show on Tuesday night if they intend to win the round.

Kingston has a good team though and it certainly looks as if they are due to come through winners. The round is to decide a winner to represent Eastern Ontario in the O.B.A. play offs at Toronto.

The one admirable thing of the playing of Peterborough was their defence, which certainly was of the right kind, and had they been better shots in their attempt at the basket, the result would not have been as it was. The combination of Sturgeon, Dormer and Goheen of the Petes, means a lot to their chances of coming through. Hardill of the Petes' forwards also played a fine game, he being one of their heavy men, but at times he is a little loose with the ball—a malady which the Peterborough team seems to be suffering with.

While the three combination players of the Petes could take the ball well up the floor, they often lost it, which proved their undoing. Buck and Smith of the Kingston Collegiate were the means of taking the ball back to the opposing basket a great many times. Elliott tried several long shots to the basket, but he did not succeed.

Buck opened the scoring with a free throw on a foul, and in a few minutes Smith followed with the same. Sturgeon, in a hot play, strained his ankle, and was taken out, but this did not discourage the Petes; and they plugged along. MacLeish and Hamilton also showed very good combination playing, taking the ball well up the floor. Buck scored the first basket with a backward throw.

Smith and Elliot played beautiful combination, but which looked slightly risky, resulting in a basket by Smith. The Petes came into possession of the ball several times through their high jumping, and when there was a fumble they always had a man there for the ball.

Buck made a beautiful drop to the basket on a loop pass, and directly following it MacLeish was allowed to go down the floor with the ball from the toss up and scored a basket. The half ended 13-4 for K.C.I.

The second period started with a little more speed than the first and McMahon broke through for a score, followed by Dormer of the Petes from close under the basket and Buck put in one from out on the floor. The Kingston team piled up score after score in this period, allowing the Petes to get very few. MacLeish and Hardill again came into the limelight with some good demonstration of how the game is played, but they lacked the ability to put the ball right where they wanted it in the basket. The passes which were slipped around the Kingston boys were admirable, the Peterboro "Y" players often getting out of tight squeezes by slick bouncing passes, for which someone was always waiting. In the last minute of play, MacLeish shot in a basket bringing the score up to 32-15.

The players:

Peterborough: Forwards, Sturgeon and Dormer; centre, MacLeish; Guards, Goheen, Hardill; subs, Hamilton and Mitchell.

Kingston: Forwards, B. L. Smith; centre, McMahon; guards, Drew, Elliott; subs, Thompson, Connolly, Pollock, Waugh.

COMMISSION WILL INVESTIGATE ALIBIS

Taking Long Swing As Excuses For Jack Delaney's Defeat.

NEW YORK, Mar. 2 (Canadian Press)—The New York State Athletic Commission yesterday took a long swing at fight alibis in general and at excuses for Jack Delaney's defeat in particular.

In receiving reports from its own physician, Dr. W. H. Walker, that he found "nothing wrong" with the light heavyweight champion immediately after his recent fight with Jim Maloney, the commission passed a rule excluding all doctors from boxing club dressing rooms, except the official examiner, unless special permission be granted by the board's deputy in charge.

Reports that Delaney entered the ring with muscle injuries near his right elbow and that his left wrist was found after the fight to have been fractured were contradicted by Mr. Walker. The commission examiner said he visited Delaney in the dressing room after the contest and watched him unlace his shoes "freely using his ten fingers to do so, showing there was nothing wrong with him."

GROVE LOSE TO JUNIORS

First Game of Three-Cornered Tie for Casement Cup.

SCORE 7-4

LAKEFIELD, Mar. 2—Lakefield Juniors came out victors over Grove by a score of 7-4 in the first game of a three-cornered tie for the Casement Cup, played last night at Lakefield arena.

There were few penalties given through the game considering the rough tactics that were used after the second period, the referee having his hands full in keeping the players from ordinary free for alls. Stabler, Hamblin and Morin were penalized for Juniors while Grove escaped without one against them.

In the first period Wannamaker scored one minute after the start and eight minutes later Wood tallied for Grove making it a tie 1-1. Second period Hudson scored seven minutes after opening, Stabler two minutes and then Lawless. Hudson Lawless and Griffiths scored in the third with Wannamaker tallying two pointers for Juniors.

Juniors—Goal, Junkin; right defense, Sherin; left defense, Morin; centre, Wannamaker; right wing, Lawless; left wing, Stabler; subs, Hamblin.

LEGION PLAYERS LEAD IN BILLIARDS

Three From Toronto West End Club Still in Running.

TORONTO, March 2.—From last nights exhibition in the Ontario elimination contest, for the Canadian amateur English billiard championship it would appear that the West End Canadian Legion Club has a distinct edge in the chances for winning the Ontario title, at least.

A. W. Prentiss, representing the foregoing club, ran rings around W. Cakebread, of Orr Bros. Academy, in last night's fixture and with Johnston and Osborne of the same club victors in the second round of the contest, it looks as if the chances are steong in favor of the ex-soldiers nabbing the provincial honors.

Prentiss easily defeated Cakebread with a score of 500 to 239 and won the approval of the spectators with his spectacular draw shots which are the feature of his game and are very seldom used by amateurs. He is the most consistent player yet appearing in the tourney as his breaks of 36 (twice), 35, 34, 29, 26, 23, will show and will give any opponent a big argument for first place before the contest is over.

Cakebread is a careful player but needs considerably more practice before he can be considered a possibility for a contest of this kind and the balls certainly did not roll too kindly for him. If he keeps up this practice he may easily be in a far better position in next year's contest. His bets breaks were 34 and 23.

Tonight Lavell of the Central Canadian Legion, will pit his skill against G. Cass. Not very much is known about Cass, who is distinctly a "dark horse", but Lavell has the reputation of being the best player in the east end of the city and his many friends look for him to win.

Billiard fans should bear in mind that the East End General Hospital gets every cent taken at these matches and give their support accordingly.

QUEEN MARY LOSES HOCKEY TROPHY

Prince of Wales Now the Public School Hockey Champions.

SCORE 1-0.

The Prince of Wales and Queen Mary hockey teams played their final game at Brock Street Rink on Monday afternoon from 5 to 6 o'clock, the Prince of Wales winning by a score of 1 to 0.

The interest in this game was apparent as manifested by the crowd of spectators composed not only of adherents to the two schools but others from various parts of the city, although the game had not been advertised.

An interesting feature of this game is the fact that while the Prince of Wales' boys are the official champions, each team has had the same number of wins, and while opposed to each other, each scored the same number of goals.

The only goal of the game was scored by Epps at the end of nine minutes play of the second period. The Queen Mary defence had been drawn away from the goal when Epps, unaided, slipped by and scored from close in. Line-ups:

Prince of Wales.—Goal, A. Braund; defence, L. Bailey and T. Hatley; forwards, T. Robertson, H. Epps, T. Seabrooke. Subs, H. Murphy.

Queen Mary.—Goal, B. Bishop; defence, G. Doukas, R. Asquith; forwards, R. Bath, W. Thirnbeck, C. Cadd. Subs., B. Widdess and H. Bishop.

The game was efficiently refereed by Mr. Park, Principal of Queen Alexandra School.

IRVIN LEADS SCORING LIST

Captain of Black Hawks Has Sixteen Goals and Thirteen Assists.

N.H.L. HONORS.

MONTREAL, Mar. 2 (Canadian Press)—Captain Dick Irvin, of the Chicago Black Hawks, has forged to the front in the race for scoring honors in the National Hockey League. The scoring and penalty statistics up to and including games of February 27, issued yesterday by President Frank Calder show Irvin with sixteen goals and thirteen assists, for a total of twenty nine points. Frank Frederickson, of the Boston Bruins is running a in third position, with twenty-seven points, made up of sixteen goals and twelve assists. Billy Burch, of the New York Americans, follows in thirdp osition, with twenty-seven points. W. Cook of the New York Rangers with twenty-three goals and three assists, comes fourth with twenty six points. Babe Dye, of the Chicago Black Hawks, who has been out of the game for some time owing to illness, ranks next with twenty five points.

Eddie Shore, of Boston, and Fraser, of Chicago, are the leading scorers among the defence men, both having a total of eighteen points.

Nels Stewart, of the Montreal Maroons, has spent the greatest amount of time in the penalty box, with a total of 111 points. He is closely followed by George Boucher, of Ottawa, and Reg Noble of Montreal. The former has spent 107 minutes with the timers, while the latter has had enforced rests totalling 102 minutes.

GREEN IMPROVES.

New York Hockey Player Recovering Slowly From Injuries.

NEW YORK, March 2.—(Canadian Press).—The condition of Wilfred "Shorty" Green, right wing player of the New York American Hockey Club, who suffered a dislocated kidney in a scramble in Sunday night's game with the New York Rangers, was reported to be slowly improving at the Polyclinic Hospital early today.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

VARSITY GRADS WIN TITLE BY BRILLANT GAME

Make Sure of Victory Over Kitchener in Second Period.

SCORE OF GAME 4-0.

New Senior Champions Better All Through Series.

KITCHENER, March 2.—University of Toronto Graduates won the Senior O.H.A. championship here last night when they scored a decisive 4 to 0 victory over Kitchener in the second game of the finals, taking the round by 9 to 4. A brilliant contest was played on keen ice and before a crowd that tested the capacity of the rink.

The Grads played hockey unsurpassed in any previous senior final, and were masters of the "K's" at every stage of the game. The new champions scored once in the first period, twice in the second, and the final tally came half-way through the final chukker. And every goal scored was clean-cut and earned.

The Grads were a different team last night than they were against the K's in the first game or against Peterboro in the group finals. They adapted themselves to the smaller ice surface than they are accustomed to, and played wonderful hockey from gong to gong. Their speed was terrific, their combination clever and their checking perfect.

Winners Much the Best.

The K's were outskated and outplayed at every point, and not more than two or three times dufing the game were they able to get a clear shot away from close in.

The Grads back-checked along the wings, through the centre and covered up well in front of their own cage, so that they had the Green Shirts baffled at every turn. Even in the first period when Trottier and Bert Plaxton were in penalty box at the same time and the K's had the advantage of two extra men they were outplayed though every man on the team tried hard and gave everything he had in his determination to win the game.

Led by those two grand veterans, George Hiller and George Karges, Kitchener staged attack after attack but could not penetrate the Grads' defence. Seldom were they able to get inside the blue line, at least not consistently. The mystic sticks wielded by Hugh Plaxton, Trottier and Hudson breaking up the charges almost as rapidly as they were launched. When the K's did pass the first line of protection Red Porter and Ross Taylor, playing their best hockey of the season, were in the way. And Joe Sullivan was invincible between the posts.

Green Shirts Not Good Enough

The Green Shirts were not good enough. They faced a team at the top of its form and playing the hockey that earned for the blue-clad men the credit of being hockey's super team. The Grads should go on to even greater things, for displaying the ability they did to-night it is doubtful if there is an amateur team capable of taking their measure. As Goldie Prodger, manager of the Canadian pro. team, said after the game: "They are the best of them all."

Kitchener started out to try and beat Sullivan in long shots and no success coming that way tried to work in close but might just as well have battled against a stone wall for all the impression they made. Teams:

LADIES' BASKETBALL LEAGUE PLAY-OFFS

Teams Divided Into Two Groups For Competition For Cups.

A special meeting was called at the Y.W.C.A. to decided about the play-offs for the three cups. Nearly every team was represented. It was decided to have a Senior and Junior League, the first four teams to form the Senior League, and the remaining four to form a Junior League.

The standing up to date is:

Y. W. Team.
C. G. E.
De Laval.
Woollens.
Westclox.
Bell Telephone.
"Y" Elementary.
Brintons.

There are several more City League games to be played, which may make a change in the standing.

The first and fourth teams, and second and third teams in each league will play, the winners then playing off for the cups. The first cup for the championship team is the Gordon Trophy, presented by Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C. The second cup for the runners-up, the Harvey Trophy, was presented by Mrs. E. E. Harvey. The third cup, a special consolation prize, is for the championship team of the Junior league.

The first games in the play-off are scheduled for March 11th, at the Y.W.C.A., and the final games will probably be played at the Y.M.C.A., this will be announced later.

The referee for the Senior games has not been decided. Mr. Arthur McLeish will handle the Junior games.

The Kingston Junior boys' team is playing here Wednesday, March 9th, and a preliminary game played by girls' team is being arranged. An all star team is being picked from the city teams and played against the Y Seniors. Two players from each Senior team and one from each Junior team will compose the all star team.

HER KIDNEY TROUBLE QUICKLY DISAPPEARED

ZEALAND STATION, N.B., March 1.—(Special).—"I saw your advertisement for Dodd's Kidney Pills," states Miss S. A. Moorehouse, who lives at this place. "I had suffered with kidney trouble for over a year, so I decided to give your Dodd's Kidney Pills a trial. I have used several boxes now and have found great relief in them. I can highly recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills and would not be without them."

The reason Dodd's Kidney Pills have come to occupy such a prominent place in the home is that so many ordinary everyday ills come from sick kidneys.

Rheumatism, urinary troubles, backaches and heart disease can be traced directly or indirectly to sick kidneys. To be assured of good health the kidneys must be kept in good working order all the time.

CHIEF NEWELL TELLS

However, Mr. Stocker's apology speaks for itself.

Then with reference to the item of $300.00 for the Chairman of Police Commission made up by Ald. Stocker at $30.00 a meeting, the chairman has numerous other duties cast upon him besides meetings. It is to that worthy gentleman I have to go and take up much of his valuable time in business that cannot be made public. But let me state that that $300.00 is well spent.

Re the $200.00 for convention purpose. Ald. Stocker knows right well how much it costs to attend such affairs, and the City of Peterborough must be represented decently, or not at all. How he arrives at the conclusion that the railways and other agencies frank me through for nothing, I am at a loss to know. I wish I could get a leaf out of his Book of Knowledge. Let me answer him by saying that I have never yet attended a Convention without being considerable amount out of pocket. In 1922 I was over $200.00 out; in 1925 $450.00, and in 1926, $250.00. He alludes to my wife. I know nothing of her business, beyond she has her own private account and has never yet cost the City five cents.

Regarding my hours; for Ald. Stocker's information, there is a Book of Regulations which I live up to, and all other officers of the Force. The Commissioners of Police are entirely satisfied with my work, as stated at the first meeting this year. For Ald. Stocker's information, I facilitated the previous Councils securing the right to consider and approve of the police estimates, etc. Since that, I have found the Councils for the past two years or more, just the reverse to what Ald. Stocker describes them, and during my 21 years of service in this City, I have always worked in harmony with them and as far as I know the relations between the present Council and me, as Chief of Police, are the best, and I sincerely regret that the Alderman in question did not stop to think before uttering such busy-body stuff, and that The Examiner did not make a few discreet enquiries, and, to use Alderman Stocker's remarks remain "muzzled" on such a matter."

The Examiner's Position

The reporter for the Examiner gave a fair and exact report of what Alderman Stocker said in the City Council and it is the right and privilege of any newspaper to publish a fair report of what takes place at a public meeting in which the ratepayers of this City are vitally interested. The whole responsibility for the statements made by Alderman Stocker were assumed by him and a suitable retraction and explanation and apology was published in yesterday's paper under the signature of Alderman Stocker. The Examiner gladly publishes the statement of facts contained in Chief Newhall's statement. The public now have the true facts of the case which they might not otherwise have had if the Examiner were a "muzzled" press and these facts are highly creditable to Chief Newhall and to the members of the Police Force.

SUN'S MIGHTY FORCES COLLAPSE

ranks of both the Northern and Southern armies outside of Shanghai is reported by the Shanghai correspondent of The Daily Express.

The Communists at Hankow have caused a threatened split in the ranks of the Cantonese forces there by attacking General Chiang Kai-Shek, Southern military leader, who attempted to expel Michael Borodin, Russian advisor of the Cantonese.

The trouble in the Northern armies has been caused by the refusal of many followers of Marshal Sun Chuan-Fang, formerly chief defender of Shanghai, to fight under General Chang Chung Chang, who superceded Marshal Sun.

U. S. Won't Return Arms

LONDON, March 2 (United News).—Admiral Hough, in charge of the United States naval forces in Hankow, has refused to accept the apology of the Chinese military authorities for the seizure of small craft of American firms there, according to a Hankow dispatch to The London Daily Mail.

A request that arms seized from South Chinese soldiers when American naval forces forced the return of the motor vessel Meihung, the property of an American firm, was refused by Admiral Hough.

It is believed that the apology will not be accepted and the arms will remain in the hands of the American forces until Admiral Hough receives specific assurances from the Cantonese that American vessels will be immune in the future from danger of seizure by the Chinese.

Chinese Storm Legation

PARIS, March 2 (Canadian Press).—Thirty Chinese stormed the Chinese Legation in Paris today, bruised a police guard, and entered the building, from which they were forcibly driven. Later they were arrested for abusing the police and refusing to disperse. They said they wanted to register a political protest with the Chinese minister, Tchenglos, but that he refused to see more than two.

Britain Still Neutral

LONDON, March 2 (Canadian Press).—Great Britain will continue to maintain an attitude of strict neutrality in the struggle between the contending Chinese forces, Sir Austen Chamberlain said in the House of Commons today.

Asked whether the United States is co-operating with the British authorities in defence of the international settlement at Shanghai, the Secretary of Foreign Affairs said the United States was acting independently in defence of its own interests in China.

Four Murders

SHANGHAI, March 2 (United Press).—Chinese Laborites in sympathy with the cause of the Cantonese Nationalists today embarked upon a terrorist campaign which so far had resulted in the murder of four mill employes, one of them a woman. Beyond the terrorism of the Laborites, operating under the style, "Labor Protection Society," Shanghai was quiet.

The protection society was endeavoring today to renew the general strike which was called here more than a week ago but which lasted only a few days.

Sun's Forces Join Cantonese

SHANGHAI, Mar. 2 (Canadian Press)—A large number of troops from the broken army of Marshal Sun Chuan Fang tonight were reported to be going over to the Cantonese army and thousands of others were said to be deserting.

Sun's army now apparently is completely discounted as a factor of importance in the military situation. It is understood that Sun himself has made all preparations to retire. He is known to have accumulated a large fortune during his Tuchuship of Kiangsu and Chekiang provinces.

Few Advances Recorded; Mine Stocks Stationary

TORONTO, Mar. 2 (Canadian Press)—The occasional firm stocks on the Standard Mining Exchange this morning advanced on individual movements for the general market was stationary. The conspicuous feature was Argonaut, which in heavy trading reached a high of 48 and which was 3 1-4 points higher than yesterday at the noon close of 44 3-4. Duprat at 17 1-4 and Grover Daly at 19 -4 were both slightly higher. Vipond gained eleven cents at 143. Easier stocks were Potter Doal down one at 60, and Amulet, down two at 131. Area eased one at 39 and Teck Hughes was five lower at 663.

Distillery Issues Weak Affecting Most Of List

TORONTO, Mar. 2 (Canadian Press) — The big three distillery issues — Seagram, Gooderham and Worts, and Hiram Walker — were the main issues in heavy trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning. Their weakness was reflected throughout the list, reaching its greatest extent in F. N. Burt's sharp drop of 3 3-4 points to 58 1-4. Seagram lost point at 24, G. and W. 7-8 at 54 1-2, and Hiram Walker three quarters at 36 1-4. The turnover in each issue was upwards of five thousand shares. Dominion Stores and Brazilian were the firmest stocks, Brazilian advancing 1 3-4 to 121 3-4, while Stores sold up 1 1-2 at 76 1-2. Shredded Wheat slumped 1 1-2 at 62 1-2 and Massey Harris lost three at 106.

General Downward Trend In New York Exchange

NEW YORK, March 2. Canadian Press. — Further downward readjustment of prices took place in today's stock market, despite sporadic attempts to rally the general list by bidding up special stocks. Lower call money rates and fresh importations of gold from Canada emphasized the easy credit situation, but failed to halt what was widely regarded as a needed correction of weakened technical position.

The weekly Steel Trade Review reported improvement in demand with a steadier price tendency, but the steel shares generally failed to make much response, although crucible was bid up over three points. The slashing of the annual dividend on Stromberg Carburetor from $6 to $2, was followed by a break of 11 1-2 points in that stock, which touched 40 1-2, the lowest point in five years. Offerings of other automotive issues increased.

Rubbers on the other hand, were under steady accumulation, Goodrich standing out with an early gain of over 3 points. Pere Marquette jumped five points just before the announcement of a $2 extra dividend, and Erie first preferred rallied sharply, but some of the other so-called 'merger' rails were distinctly heavy. Frisco common held around its high price in expectation of favorable dividend action at to-day's meeting of the board.

Wheat Prices Firmer On Fresh Buying In East

CHICAGO, March 2.—(Canadian Press.) — With fresh buying by eastern houses and with Liverpool quotations firm, wheat values here tended upward to-day in the early dealings. Unsettled labor conditions were reported to be curtailing wheat offers from the Argentine. Wheat opened 1-4c. to 3-8c. higher and scored some gains all around, but subsequently receded a little. Corn, oats, and provisions were firmer, Corn starting unchanged to 3-8c. off and then turning upward.

Opening prices were: Wheat, May, 140 7-8, July 134 1-4. Corn. May 78, July 82 5-8; Oats, May 44, July 47 1-4.

LEGION MEMBER WINS AT BILLIARDS

Toronto Central Branch Player Almost Doubles Opponent's Score.

TORONTO, March 2.— In military parlance the Legion Club billiardists are "carrying their objective right along the line," making another advance last night in the Dominion billiard tourney at Brunswick Hall, when A. J. Lavell of the Central Legion Club handily defeated M. A. Cass of the Strand Billiard Academy, the score being 500 to 256. In the opening phases of the game. Cass apeared to have the best of the argument, making a nice break of 23 and at one point in the game being over 70 points ahead of his opponent. Lavell apparently decided that this would not do, so pulling himself together he compiled a pretty break of 29, followed by a 24 and shortly after by a beautiful 40 mostly made up of "long cannons," the prettiest shot in billiards and at the same time the most hazardous. At this point Cass appeared to break down and was not dangerous for the rest of the evening.

The game had a "freak" ending. Lavell's score stood at 493. The object while was in the jaws of the left hand lower pocket and the red just above it. He played from balk making a snappy "in off," scoring three, but the opponent's white rolled across the end of the table into the right hand corner pocket, scoring two more but loosing the ball. His only hope was a long "putting shot" on the red, he tried it and the ball "jawed." Lavell walked away from the table but the red rolled right across the table dropping into the opposite pocket, scoring three and ending the game.

To-morrow night Dave Ritchie of the West End Legion Club will fight it out with H. G. Spearman, Orr Bros.' last hope for the title at 8 p.m. And Thursday night the second round commences in earnest when Osborne and Prentiss, both West End Legion men, will put on the closest match seen in the tournament so far.

ROBB BUDGET PASSES HOUSE BY 23 MAJORITY

Conservatives Vote With the Government Against Progressive Amendment.

VOTE BY PARTIES.

No Defections on Amendment and Only Two on Main Motion.

OTTAWA, March 2.—The Robb Budget carried in the Commons at 1.50 this morning by a majority of 23, the vote being 111 to 88 on the main motion. The Coote amendment, condemning application of surplus revenues to income tax instead of tariff reduction, was previously beaten by 182 to 29, although H. E. Spencer, Progressive leader, formally claimed 21 votes in support of it.

The large discrepancy in the two separate division records was because the whole body of the Conservatives first voted with the Liberals against the Coote low-tariff amendment and then voted against the Government, with all but two of the Opposition Progressives, on the adoption of the main motion to go into Committee of Ways and Means. The debate lasted eight days.

The divisions were characterized by the usual demonstrations and singing, in which the French-speaking members were especially enthusiastic.

On the Coote amendment the Liberals, Conservatives and Liberal-Progressives on Government benches united solidly against the little group of U.F.A.'s, Progressives and Laborites sitting with the Opposition. Every one of the group, including Miss Macphail, Woodsworth and Heaps, Laborites, supported G. G. Coote (U.F.A., Macleod) on his amendment. There was, therefore, not a single defection from straight party and group lines.

Two With Government

On the vote on the main motion two Progressives—Adshead (Calgary) and Jeliff (Lethbridge)—voted with the Government for the motion.

After the main motion was carried the House went into committee to pass the one customary item.

Henri Bourassa (Independent Liberal, Labelle), who had not voted on the previous division, voted this time against the Government on the main motion.

Both Premier King and Hon. Hugh Guthrie were absent during the voting. Mr. King is on holidays, and Mr. Guthrie left early for Toronto.

It was the first serious division of this session, and, while there never was any expectation that the Government would be beaten, the Liberals expressed their jubilation by hearty desk-thumping when the final verdict was announced.

One of the notable features about the vote was that the whole body of Liberal-Progressives, sitting on Government benches, who had threatened to bolt failing a low-tariff statement from the Administration, voted with the Government. They were evidently satisfied with subsequent low-tariff declarations from Hon. James A. Robb and Hon. Charles A. Dunning.

Gas In the Stomach Is Truly Dangerous

Gas, Pain, Bloating and a feeling of fulness after eating are almost certain evidence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach.

Too much acidi irritates the delicate stomach lining, frequently causing chronic Gastritis and dangerous Ulcers. Food ferments and sours, forming a gas that distends the stomach and often seriously affects the Heart.

It is genuine folly to neglect such a condition or to treat with artificial digestive aids that cannot neutralize the stomach acid. A better way is to get from your druggist a few tiny tables of Bisurated Magnesia and take three or four of them after each meal. This famous but simple and inexpensive stomach sweetner and anti-acid can be depended upon to prove its value in less than five minutes. In most instances relief comes instantly! Pleasant and perfectly harmless to use—Bisurated Magnesia tablets do give wonderful relief in nine out of ten cases. Ask your Doctor or Druggist.

WEDDING BELLS.

SMITHSON—FISHER.

The wedding was solemnized quietly on Saturday afternoon, by Rev. J. D. Richardson, at the parsonage of St. James' United church, of Florence I. Fisher, of Bailieboro, and Richard G. Smithson, of River Road, Peterborough. The bride, who was unattended, wore a stylish tailored suit of navy cloth, with blouse, hat and shoes of moonlight grey.

Mr. and Mrs. Smithson will reside on River Road.

LEMOIRE—MAUDSLEY.

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at eight o'clock yesterday morning at St. Peter's Cathedral, when Kathleen Teresa Maudsley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Maudsley of England, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Edward Lemoire of Peterborough, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Lemoire, of Hastings. The ceremony was performed by Rev. P. Costello. Attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Emery.

PREMIER TELLS MEMBERS ABOUT HYDRO ASSETS

Answers F. G. Sandy's Question On Central Ontario System.

SOME PROFITABLE.

Peterborough Gas Plant and Street Railway Among Items Discussed.

TORONTO, March 3 (Canadian Press).—Answering F. G. Sandy (Progressive, Victoria South) in the Ontario Legislature yesterday afternoon, Premier Howard Ferguson stated that the assets acquired under the purchase of the Central Ontario system not used for the development or distribution of Hydro power still owned by the Province were gas plants at Cobourg, Napanee, Oshawa, and Peterboro, waterworks plant at Cobourg, street railway at Peterboro, and pulp mill at Campbellford. All the plants, with the exception of the gas plant at Napanee, were being operated on behalf of the Government. The operation of the plant at Cobourg showed a loss for the past year of $3,504.55, the plant at Oshawa a profit of $10,608.42, the plant at Peterboro a profit of $8,714.35, the pulp mills at Campbellford a loss of $46,241.84, the waterworks at Cobourg a profit of $3,627.90, and the Peterboro street railway an operating deficit of $33,833.20. The interest amounted to $16,490.67.

These items include charges of $54,217.52 for power supplied to the pulp mill and $14,546.11 to the Peterboro street railway, for which no other market was available. These items, less power, showed a surplus for the pulp mill of $11,875.68, and an operating deficit of $19,237.09 for the railway.

The profit and loss was credited to the operation of the Central Ontario system properties as a whole, stated the Premier.

THE WEATHER

Temperature this morning 13 degrees above zero; three degrees lower during the night. To-day is a so-called gauge day, the day that foretells weather conditions for the spring months. It is implicitly believed in by some, and however doubting and unbelieving the most of us may be, it will do no harm to put "gauge day" to the test. There is also a new moon to-day. The moon has thousands of believers in its efficiency in governing the weather, and if the reader has faith in fair Luna, it is not for me to shake confidence in that faith.—W.P.

Unknown Buried For Krassin In Red Square At Moscow, Is Tale Circulating—Wife Said To Have Made Substitution

MOSCOW, March 3 (United Press). — A remarkable report that the ashes of an unknown lie buried with full ceremony in the ancient Kremlin Wall on Red Square instead of those of Leonid Krassin, the Soviet Envoy to England, who died in London last November, was circulated through the Russian capital today.

The substitution supposedly occurred in the Soviet Embassy in London's fashionable Belgrave Square district, where the Communist Mission is occupying the magnificent building of the former Imperial Ambassador.

Religious differences between Krassin and his wife are said to have inspired the alleged hoax. Krassin was an atheist, having been an active Communist and underground agent for the revolutionists even while holding an important position in the Czar's organization as manager of the Baku Electric Works, serving Russia's valuable oil fields. His wife, however, clung to the old belief, as did also his two daughters, who are noted for their extraordinary beauty. When he died, according to the report now in circulation, his wife demanded a Christian burial, which his revolutionary colleagues resisted, as a public Christian burial for so great a Communist leader would have seemed incongruous.

MEMBERS CONTINUE TO DISCUSS BUDGET IN ONTARIO LEGISLATURE

Liberal Member Had Criticism For Government's Educational Programme.

DULL SITTING.

Expressed Regret That Conservatives Had Ridiculed Drury Administration.

TORONTO, Ont., March 3 (Canadian Press).—Two Progressives, a Conservative and a Liberal contributed to the discussion on the budget in a comparatively dull sitting of the Ontario Legislature yesterday afternoon. They were D. J. Taylor (Progressive, Grey North), who accused the Government of influencing the electorate on the eve of the last Provincial contest by promising a reduction in automobile license fees to motorists; J. W. Widdifield (Progressive, Ontario North), who alleged that the farmers of Ontario were not being fairly treated under the Hydro-Electric system; P. W. Pearson (Liberal, Yorth North), and H. C. Scholfield (Conservative, Toronto-St. George).

Mr. Pearson had criticism for the Government's educational programme, and expressed regret that members of the Government side of the House had seen fit to "ridicule" the Drury administration in a manner which should have been beneath their dignity. Mr. Scholfield pleaded for further development of Northern Ontario and urged an intense programme of settling the land adjacent to the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway with a high type of British citizen.

Mr. Widdifield adjourned the debate, which will be continued this afternoon.

Mr. Taylor urged upon the Government the necessity of having a "full-time" Minister of Education. He said that the Department at present was being "sorely neglected," because of the fact that Premier Ferguson, who held the portfolio of Education, was devoting the greater part of his time to the legislation for liquor control.

Lack Proper System.

Dealing with agriculture, the member for Grey North said that the farmers to-day were suffering from lack of a proper system of marketing, and he advocated standardization of farm products. All products of the farm, he said, should be graded and stamped in order to establish confidence in Canadian goods on foreign markets.

Mr. Taylor also urged further extension of Hydro facilities at reasonable rates to the rural sections in order that the farmers might enjoy some of the comforts and conveniences of urban communities and to eliminate some of the drudgery which attended the lives of farm women.

Favors Settlement.

H. C. Scholfield was strongly in favor of settling Northern Ontario, particularly along the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway, with a good type of British immigrant. There was a great area of arable land adjacent to the railway that could be cleared for from $10 to $15 an acre and, even if the land was

Scot Vernacular Fades A Literature In Peril

EDINBURGH, March 3. — The Scot'a vernacular is gradually losing ground, it was said at a meeting held here to for an association for its preservation. Sir Joseph Dobbie said he was afraid that there was at least a grave risk that the work of their distinguished Scottish writers might be a sealed book to the next generation of Scottish men and women. To prevent, or at all events to minimize, that risk a vernacular association has been formed.

Ceceline Delorme Knocked Down When She Jumps From Cutter.

LEG BROKEN.

Ceceline Delorme, aged 8, had her left leg broken just above the ankle as the result of being knocked down by a truck at the corner of George and Perry streets last night.

Gordon Trennum, the driver of the truck, stated that he was going north on George street when he noticed a horse and cutter coming towards him. A number of children were riding on the runners of the cutter, and when it turned east on Perry street, they jumped off, one of the little girls running into the fender of his truck. Dr. McNulty was called and had the little girl taken to St. Joseph's Hospital.

MURDER CHARGE AGAINST WOMAN

SEVEN DEATHS.

HULL, Que., March 3 (Canadian Press).—A charge of murder was read against Mrs. Diana Lacroix, a white-haired matron of 62 years, in Hull Police Court today in connection with the deaths of infants at the "baby farm" which she conducted on the outskirts of this city.

According to the evidence given at the Coroner's inquest into the deaths, within a space of ten days, of three young babies being cared for at the Lacroix home, the children died from malnutrition. Physicians say some of the infant inmates of the "farm" were so undernourished that their bones nearly protruded through the skin. All told, seven infants, ranging in age from one to three months, died at the "farm" since August last year.

BIG GAME INCREASES

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Big game animals on reservations administered by the Biological Survey of the United States Department of Agriculture have, with the exception of antelope, increased notably during the last ten years. Antelope, which had been killed by predatory animals, now are under more careful control and are again on the increase.

PEKING HEARS RAILWAY CUT BY CANTONESE

Communication Between Chang Tso-Lin and Chang-Chung-Chang Broken.

SHANGHAI CUT OFF.

Reports of Fighting On Border of Settlement Officially Denied.

LONDON, March 3. — (United Press).—A report that the Cantonese armies in China have outflanked the northern troops in the province of Anhwei and have cut the Tientsin-Pukow railroad at Wuyi was received by the Daily News today from its Peking correspondent.

The railroad is virtually the only line of communication between Marshal Chang Tso-Lin's territory and the armies of his subordinate, Chang Chung-Chang, at Shanghai.

If the Cantonese have cut it, Chang's army is isolated in Kianghu Province, and may be prevented from receiving reinforcements and supplies.

No Trouble In Settlement.

SHANGHAI, March 3 (Canadian Press).—Reports spread in various parts of China of a clash between Chinese and British troops in Shanghai are authoritatively denied. There have been a few cases of stragglers being requested to dsarm before entering the international settlement, but otherwise days have passed without incident.

Train loads of troops from Shantung Province continue to arrive from Nanking to-day to fill a gap in the Shanghai defence armies caused by the disintegration of Marshal Sun Chuan Fang's forces. Approximately eleven thousand Shantung troops are now on the Sungkiang front, while another large contingent is being despatched to Wocsung to protect Shanghai from the north.

Ichang Strike Settled.

LONDON, March 3.—(Canadian Press.)—An Anglo-Chinese agreement has been signed at Ichang, settling the strike and boycott there, the British government was officially advised to-day. The situation was described as serious when negotiations began.

British Marines Land.

SHANGHAI, March 3 (Canadian Press).—One thousand Royal Marines from the British steamer Minnesota landed to-day and marched through the settlements. Thousands of foreigners and Chinese gathered at the saluting base to welcome the Marines. Squads of soldiers, sailors and police were required to maintain sufficient room for the column to pass.

Cantonese Move North.

SHANGHAI, March 3 (Canadian Press).—There are increasing indications to-day that the next major effort by the Nationalists would not be a direct advance upon Shanghai, but a thrust in the direction of the Nanking Railway, with the object of cutting off General Chang Tsung Chang's Shantungese forces from their base. A Nationalist raiding party is reported to have engaged the northerners at Wukiang and there are other indications that the southerners are advancing in strength to the west of Taiohu Lake.

Li Pao Chang has left for the north. It is reported that he feared to remain, owing to the beheadings of strike agitators, for which he was responsible.

Japanese Cruisers Sail

TOKYO, March 3 (Canadian Press).— The Japanese cruisers Isudzu and Sendai have been ordered to Shanghai with a landing party of five hundred blue-jackets as a precautionary measure. They will sail tonight or tomorrow.

THIRTY MILLION MICE

BAKERSFIELD, Cal., March 3.—Estimates of the state horticultural and government biological department shows that there still are about 30,000,000 mice in the Buena Vista lowlands, despite the millions that have been exterminated.

Pedestrian Given Auto By Driver Who Hit Him

LONDON, March 3.—A motorist named Allen appeared in court here together with a man whom he was charged with having knocked down with his automobile. Allen's penalty was a fine of $9.60 and a six months' suspension of his license for dangerous driving.

The judge then turned to the other man with the question, "Have you been compensated?" The man answered, "Yes, he gave me his car."

Powers Ready to Fight in China

Coast Guard Vessel Pulls Steamer Off Shoals—Barges Loose.

NORFOLK, Va., March 3 (Canadian Press).—Pitched about by a strong northeast gale sweeping the south Atlantic coast, vessels of all descriptions, many in a precarious position, were awaiting responses today to a series of distress calls that kept Coastguard headquarters here in an all night buzz of activity.

No loss of life has yet been reported, although twenty-five passengers and a large crew are reported on board one of the vessels in danger of being broken up. High winds and snow have held passenger steamers close to port, sailings being deferred until the storm has abated.

Passenger Ship in Danger

Among the vessels caught in the blizzard, which also has done considerable damage and tied up traffic inland, are the coastwise steamer City of St. Louis, reported disabled off Cape Hatteras, with a broken steering gear. Last reports from the ship by the coastguard station at Wilmington, N.C., said she was about ten miles south of the Cape and drifting towards dangerous shoal waters. The vessel plies between New York and Savannah and is reported as carrying twenty-five passengers and a large crew.

The coastguard cutter Carrabassett was on the way to the vessel's aid early today, after having pulled from a sand-bar near Cape Henry lighthouse the British steamer King David, which cleared from New York yesterday for the Canal zone. The steamer Firmore, whose position is not known, also is reported aground. The Cape Charles and

Ingenious Young Liar, Says Shaw Of Student

APPLETON, Wis., March 3. (Canadian Press.) — "An ingenious young liar," is George Bernard Shaw's description of Miss Marian Stephenson, of Wausau, Wisconsin, a student at Lawrence college here. Miss Stephenson recently prepared a criticism of the Philosophy of Shaw, for her philosophy course at Lawrence. She mailed a copy to Shaw in London, who named her as above and added: "How many marks did they give you? A career as a journalist is indicated. Good luck to you."

Air Race Over Atlantic Is Planned For July

SAN DIEGO, Calif., March 3.— (A.P.)— Construction of a monoplane that will race against at least one other airplane across the Atlantic Ocean this summer, with $25,000 as the prize, was started here Tuesday.

The craft is being built for Capt. Charles A. Lindbergh, of the Air Corps Reserve, who plans to hop off from Roosevelt Field, Long Island, N.Y., July 4, and land either in Paris or on the coast of France 32 hours later. The object of Lindbergh's flight is the $25,000 Raymond Orteig prize. He plans to make the 3,400 mile jump alone. The plane will carry no flotation gear and no radio except a small receiving set.

Pitting his luck and flying skill against Lindbergh will be Commander Noel Davis, of the Navy. He will pilot a tri-motored Fokker.

Played With Explosive Child Terribly Injured

VICTORIA, B.C., March 3. (Canadian Press.)—Mary, the four year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. McIntyre, Cowichan Station, was terribly mutilated Tuesday by an explosion of dynamite caps, with which she and her sister, Florence, three years old, were playing. The dynamite caps were found in a chicken pen. The child may die.

WILL NOT BUY VICKERS PLANT

Canadian Steamship Lines Heads Deny That Negotiations Have Started.

BROUGHT MACHINERY.

NEW YORK, March 3 (Canadian Press)—W. H. Coverdale, president of the Canada Steamship lines, and I. R. Enderby, general manager, arrived on the Olympic yesterday and announced that there was no basis for reports that this line will purchase the Vickers shipbuilding plant at Montreal.

"We went to England to purchase machinery for our three new river steamers, expending $750,000 for this purpose," said Mr. Enderby.

"The three new boats will accommodate 600 passengers each and will cost $1,000,000 each. They are being built at the docks at West Hartlepool."

The line is now operating 125 ships between Montreal, Quebec and the Saguenay river, Mr. Enderby said.

The two shipping men have been in England for four and a half weeks. Mr. Coverdale will remain in New York, where his offices are, and Mr. Enderby left last night for Montreal.

CIVIL SERVICE SYSTEM CHANGED UNDER NEW PLAN

Proposed That Many of Present Classifications Will Be Eliminated.

CONSIDER REPORTS.

Understood Sub-Committee Favorable To Increases Proposed With Variations.

OTTAWA, March 3. — After receiving a delegation from the civil service employees throughout the country a committee of the mnisters has submitted to the abinet a report dealing with the question of revision of salaries in the civil service.

Some weeks ago the civil service commission reported to the goverment on the question in the light of inquiries which they had made.

While the commission has the determination of the pay of civil servants, and also their classification, the consent of the government is necessary, and parliament must make make the appropriation.

Simplify Service.

The matter is still in the confidential stage, and will have to be passed on by the cabinet as a whole, but it is understood that the sub-committee is generally favorable to the increases proposed by the commission, with certain variations. It is proposed to do away with a great many of the existing classifications and to simplify the service by a process of regrading. Within recent years following the advice of certain efficiency experts, many of the departments were divided and sub-divided extensively and new branches created,ear with a chief and subordinate staff. This has not only tended to an increase in the service but also has added to the cost. It is proposed that in the new arrangement there will be fewer classifications. Roughly that the civil service commission suggested were increases of from five to fifteen dollars a month, the lower grades receiving the larger amount. It was proposed that the increases should be applicable to all receiving salaries up to $5,100. The commission also submitted certain alternative proposals regarding a bonus system, but the cabinet committee is not favorable to that.

Up to Governament.

The government will have to decide between a ratification of the civil service commission's report, which is pretty generally favored by the cabinet, sub-committee, and an alternative, viewed less favorably, for a substantial increase horizontally of all employees receiving less than $2200. The former is more probable. It will entail an increased expenditure of $2,900,000. It is proposed to make the necessary provision in the supplementary estimates, as the matter has long been hanging fire and the demand of government employees throughout the country for a revision has been clamorous.

Many of the technical men are leaving the service, because private corporations offer larger salaries.

POSSESSION OF FALLS IN DOUBT

Ownership of Grand Falls, on Hamilton River, Not Specified.

VALUABLE POWER.

LONDON, March 3 (Canadian Press).—Counsel in the Labrador boundary case before the Privy Council are themselves doubtful concerning the possession of Grand Falls on the Hamilton River, which are capable of producing an immense water power. The judgment, while generally supporting Newfoundland's claims, fails to mention the Falls. The matter may again come before the Judicial Committee for specific interpretation of this point.

LAND NO FORCES.

Sir Austen Chamberlain Again Tells Commons Regarding Nicaragua Situation.

LONDON, March 3 (Canadian Press). — Sir Austen Chamberlain, Foreign Secretary, reiterated in the House of Commons yesterday that no forces would be landed in Nicaragua by the cruiser Colombo, which has proceeded to Corinto, where conditions are disturbed by civil war. He added that the Colombo would not remain at Corinto very long unless it should be needed as refuge for British subjects.

PREMIER BALDWIN IS TAUNTED BY MINERS AT DISASTER SCENE CAME TO EXPRESS CONDOLENCES

Half-Hearted Attempt To Rush Car Frustrated By Police.

VISITS HOMES.

All Hope Abandoned For 28 Men Still in Shaft.

CWM, Wales, March 3 (Canadian Press).—An angry demonstration that ended with a half-hearted attempt of a group of miners to rush his car yesterday met Premier Baldwin when he and Mrs. Baldwin came here to express condolences for Tuesday's mine disaster in the Ebbwvale Marine Colliery, which is now believed to have taken a toll of 52 lives.

"Why don't you go down in the mine yourself?" was one of the cries shouted, amid boos, at the Premier, as he and Mrs. Baldwin left the offices where they had inquired about the rescue work going on all day and to express sympathy for the stricken.

As the Prime Minister and his wife emerged from the office to go to their car, they were surrounded by a group of several hundred persons. "Get back to your pigs," was one cry shouted, referring to Premier Baldwin's favorite occupation of breeding pigs on his Worcestershire farm.

"Traitor!" was another cry hurled at him.

In the midst of a bombardment of exclamations in Welsh, one man in an excited voice cried in English, "What about the men lying in the black vein."

The Prime Minister and his wife for a short time waited in the face of the hostility for their car to be brought to them. Mrs. Baldwin appeared deeply agitated and clung to her husband's arm while the Premier, pale and also evidently agitated, continued smoking his pipe. As they were preparing to enter the car someone shouted "Down him!" and a half-hearted attempt of some of the miners to rush the car was made, but was frustrated by the police.

Extended Sympathy

Despite the demonstration, the Prime Minister and Mrs. Baldwin later visited several of the striken homes and extended their sympathy to women who had lost husbands or sons. They called on Mr. and Mrs. Button, who lost two sons in the disaster; Mrs. Baldwin going into the house to talk to Mrs. Button while the Premier remained outside with Mr. Sutton.

"I have come to see you as man to man," said the premier, "not as Prime Minister. I feel very sorry for you in your great loss and I felt that I must come to express my sympathy."

Mrs. Baldwin's eyes were filled with tears as she left the house.

Evan Davies, Member of Parliament for the stricken district, later said that all responsible Labor leaders wished to disassociate themselves from the unfortunate incidents that marked Premier Baldwin's visit to Cwn. He accounted for the demonstration by the fact that the men and women of the mining community were overwrought by the strain of the terrible experiences through which they had gone as a result of the disaster.

Toll Increases

One of the men rescued from the mine Tuesday after the explosion which caused the disaster, died yesterday, bringing the death toll to 52, presuming that the 28 men entombed in the so-called Black Vein are dead. Virtually no hope is held out for the latter, but rescue attempt were continued nevertheless.

Several of the men rescued were in a precarious condition last night. The work of raising bodies to the surface proceeded all day and was going on during the demonstration against the Premier.

William Michael, one of the rescued miners, attributed his escape to a canful of hot tea. He said hat he almost fainted twice and had just sufficient presence of mind to gulp a mouthful of tea, which revived him enough to enable him to stumble to the bottom of the shaft where he was picked up.

T. M. Carey, mine inspector, said that it was impossible to say what caused the disastrous explosion.

MEMBERS CONTINUE TO DISCUSS, ETC.

given for nothing, the Government would receive a good return in increased railway receipts. He favored a keen examination of all intending settlers in Northern Ontario from the British Isles so that the very finest type of settler would be obtained.

Mr. Scholfield praised the work of the Government in operating the boys' home at Bowmanville, and suggested that the members of the legislature visit the institution "and see for themselves."

Mr. Pearson urged the Government to take steps through the county councils to inaugurate a scheme of reforestation along the small streams. Mr. Pearson was of the opinion that the public generally did not believe the claim of the Conservative speakers that the Drury Government had left a deficit of $15,000,000 for the Ferguson Government to assume, and said that there were outstanding debts to the Province when the Farmers' regime relinquished office which considerably swelled the revenue of its successor.

Education Costs.

The member for York North censured the Government for what he called the mounting cost of educating rural pupils in secondary schools and protested against the sums expended in small municipalities in teaching subjects that were entirely foreign to the atmosphere in which the pupils lived and which drew them from their community which could not absorb three per cent. of those who received secondary education.

A square deal for farmers in Hydro power, the cost of which, he said, was prohibitive to them, was demanded by Mr. Widdifield. The Progressive member claimed that the farmers were helping to pay for the Hydro enterprise and were not getting fair treatment and their proper share of power and lighting facilities. He advocated placing Hydro under a Government Department in order that the people who owned the enterprise should be better acquainted with its development and operation.

Dying Man Lays Down Ten Rules Of Good Living For Different Beneficiaries Under His Will

LONDON, March 3.—A "dying recommendation," contained in the will of Juan Boedo-Yanez, of Alfonso Cottage, Brooklands, Cheshire, a naturalized British subject, gave ten rules to his beneficiaries on good living. His recommendations were:

To make work and knowledge their principal hobbies;
To control their purse, health, passions and temptations;
To be kind to mankind, especially the genuine poor;
To cultivate love;
To abhor intoxication;
Never to speculate or gamble;

Be proud of the fact that whatever they possess, apart from legacies, are fruits of their own labor;

Protect dumb animals, especially the much-abused cart-horse and costermonger's donkey.

To lead a straight, clean and honorable life; and

To prepare to meet a religious death.

Mr. Boedo-Yanez, who left $136,000, bequeathed two of his best silk mufflers and two of his best woolen mufflers to his daughter-in-law.

To maintain peace and harmony among the legatees he directed that any beneficiary who disputed the conditions of the will should forfeit all interest.

BROTHERS REPORT ON REINDEER HERDS

Two Danes Working for Canada Investigating in North.

OTTAWA, March 3.—(Canadian Press).—A wireless message has been received by the Northwest Territories Branch of the Interior Department from Porsild brothers at Point Barrow, Alaska, reporting on the progress of their work on reindeer investigation. These two Danish brothers are now on a twelve hundred mile push across Alaska and the extreme north coast of Canada making an investigation into the possibility of moving reindeer from Alaska into Canadian territories for the purpose of maintaining a food supply for the natives. Game in that section of the Canadian north is in danger of extermination and the survival of the Eskimaus is menaced. The two Porsilds went into the north country last June and will not come out until the spring of 1928 when they will make a report to the government on all phases of the reindeer question including commercial possibilities. It is expected that within a few weeks the little two man expedition will be in the Delta of Mackenzie River. The men are trained naturalists and botanists and are sons of the governor of Greenland.

CANTONESE FACE HAZARDOUS TASK

LONDON, March 3.—(Canadian Press.)— Withdrawal of the shattered forces of Marshal Sun Chuan Fang, erstwhile defender of Shanghai, from Sung Kiang, only 28 miles from Shanghai, opens a new phase in the Chinese military situation, says a Reuter's despatch from Shanghai.

Competent military authorities in close touch with events, the dispatch says, declare that the advancing army of the victorious Cantonese is confronted by an almost impossible task in attempting to break through at Sun Kiang, if the Shangtung troops of the Northern alliance, who have been hurried to the front south of Shanghai, bar their way.

The country around Sung Kiang is intersected by creeks, canals and bogs, enabling a comparatively small force, well equipped with guns, to hold miliary positions almost indefinitely against superior numbers. The Shangtung troops, said to have taken up their position, are well equipped and well fed and since their arrival in the field have been paid regularly, which is an important factor in Chinese warfare.

The Cantonese, the dispatch said, have already started propaganda behind the Shangtung lines similar to that which has hitherto been so successful, enabling them to sweep Southern China with little or no fighting

OLD MASTERS

Bright star! Would I were steadfas as thou art—
Not in lone splendor hung aloft the night,
And watching, with eternal lids apart,
Like nature's patient, sleepless Eremite,
The moving waters at their priest-like task
Of pure ablution round earth's human shores,
Or gazing on the new soft-fallen mask
Of snow upon the mountains and the moors—
No—yet still steadfast, still unchangeable,
Pillowed upon my fair love's ripening breast,
To feel forever its soft fall and swell
Awake forever in a sweet unrest,
Still, still to hear her tender-taken breath,
And so live ever—or else swoon to death.

CHANG'S TROOPS FILL GAP LEFT BY DESERTERS

Foreign Forces Believed Adequate Enough To Cope With Disturbances.

TREACHERY CAUSE.

Wu's Forces Refuse To Co-operate With Manchurians Against Southerners.

SHANGHAI, March 3 (Canadian Press)—Shantung province troops of the Northern Alliance were hurried to the front south of Shanghai yesterday to replace thousands of deserters fleeing before the Cantonese at Sun-Kiang 28 miles from this city.

The army of Marshal Sun Chuan-Fang, fallen ruler of five eastern provinces of China, its morale gone, demoralized after its defeat at Hankchow a fortnight ago, has disintegrated.

The large military and naval forces of foreign powers at Shanghai were believed more than adequate to cope with possible disturbances by the thousands of leaderless former soldiers of Sun, who entered the city or with any situation that might arise should the Cantonese push the Shantung defenders to one side and plunge into Shanghai. The foreign troops numbered about 12,000 and their war craft numbering about thirty, swarmed with fighting men. Treachery and betrayals played a large part in the collapse of Sun-Chuan-Fang, and the loss of his five provinces, but he was reported to have retired from power with rich coffers.

Join Nationalists

Deserted by their generals, large numbers of Sun's troops were said to be going over to the Cantonese army for enrollment, and only the arriving Shangtung troops deterred the way of the Cantonese toward Shanghai.

The Cantonese were believed to be bringing up heavy reinforcements before engaging the new enemy confronting them, in the struggle to determine control of China by north or south. The terrain over which the Southerners must advance to attack Shanghai is most difficult being cut up with rivers and canals, with bogs to make progress harder.

Competent observers predict that the Cantonese may attempt to slip by the Shantung army, and advancing by way of Lake Taihu cut the railroad Soochow and attack their foes from the rear. Both sides have moved troops to that area.

Check Advance

SHANGHAI, March 3 (Canadian Press)—The advance of the Peking Government's troops against the Nationalist forces at Hankow has been blocked, temporarily at least.

Soldiers of Marshal Wu Pei Fu, revolting against his authority, are reported to have refused to co-operate with the Manchurians of Marshal Chang Tso Lin, and numbers Chang's army.

Manchurians and former soldiers of them are openly hostile to of Wu Pei Fu clashed between Kaifeng and Chenchow in Honan Province, through which region the northern forces have been seeking permission from Wu's troops for two weeks to pass in their campaign against the Cantonese.

Wu Pei Fu, for years an outstanding figure in Chinese military and political history, is said to have been shorn of all military power by subordinate officers, and to have withdrawn from his old military headquarters. Less than a year ago warlord of several provinces of Central China, he is to-day without effective command.

The armies of Shantung province hitherto participating in the northerners' campaign against the Cantonese in the middle Yangtse River basin, are believed to have been withdrawn to the southeastward for the defence of Shanghai against the Cantonese advancing northward at the coast.

WANTED HIS SHARE.

LEXINGTON, Ky., March 3.—George Washington, negro, read about the per capita wealth of the United States. So when he received a check for $21.25 from the government, he thought he was being sent his share. At least that's what he said when arrested for cashing a check which had been intended for another man by the same name.

The most interesting story in the world is running on page two today.

POLICE PROTECT NEW YORK JUDGE

Big Guard Posted Around Property Following Bomb Threats.

DEMAND $50,000.

NEW YORK, March 3 (United Press)—The largest extra guard ever summoned to protect an individual and his property in this city has been assigned by Police Commissioner McLaughlin to the home of Judge John Palmieri and his 135 tenement houses scattered through Brooklyn and Manhattan.

Palmieri, former city court judge, has received several threatening letters demanding $50,000. A week ago a bomb exploded at the front of his Brooklyn home.

It was understood at police headquarters that the gang of blackmailers had included Palmieri's tenement holdings in the scope of their threats and 158 patrolmen were ordered to guard them.

Members of the bomb squad in automobiles patroled the streets of Little Italy, where many of the tenements are located, all night. Two uniformed men watched the building that houses the Bowery and East River Saving bank.

ROME, March 3 (Canadian Press).—Physicians are much concerned over the condition of Cardinal de Lai, Secretary of the Consistorial Congregation, who is seriously ill of pneumonia. He spent a restless night.

LIGHTSHIP ADRIFT

PHILADELPHIA, March 3 (Canadian Press)—The winter quarter lightship station off Chicotigue, Virginia, parted its anchor chain last night and went adrift in a northeast gale, according to wireless advices received here by the Maritime Exchange. Officials of the Exchange were unable to say whether the lightship is equipped with steam or other power, but they expressed the belief she would be able to weather the storm. The vessel carried a crew of about ten men. At 7 o'clock last night the wind off the Delaware Capes was blowing at the rate of 50 miles an hour.

OIL WELL SALTED EXPERT DECLARES

Ottawa Investigator Gives Report on Grand View, Manitoba Case.

OTTAWA, Mar. 3—The story of the salting of an oil well at Grand View, Man., which caused a great sensation in oil circles last fall, is unfolded in a report received at the interior department from one of its engineers, W. Calder, who was detailed to investigate.

The gist of the report is that the oil, supposedly extracted from the well in question, came from another stratum altogether, inasmuch as when taken out at Grand View it was not accompanied by any gas. Moreover, it analyzed very high. The minister of the interior will cancel the lease unless all the equipment of the well is removed to permit of a thorough examination. The record discloses that one prominent provincial politician gave the undertaking his blessing and proclaimed it as a great discovery, but afterwards developed cold feet and wrote the department calling for an investigation in the public interest. The engineer's report and the evidence at the inquiry strongly substantiated the theory that the well was planted.

Swedish artisans are the best paid in Europe, and common laborers there are higher paid than in most countries.

Valuable Diamond Deposit Is Not Yet Cleared Out

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, March 3.—(Canadian Press).—Diamonds estimated to be worth a quarter of a million dollars are reported to have been found in a hole on Grasfontein Farm, reputed to contain the most valuable diamond deposits in the world. The hole, 25 feet deep, is said to show no signs of having been cleared of its diamond deposits.

(Grasfontein Farm, in Transvaal, was proclaimed open to public diggings last week, but there was a premature rush to stake claims before the signal was given. The stakes set out by eager "peggers" were pulled up and the claims nullified, and the authorities are considering the advisability of arranging another "rush.")

C.P.R. TESTIMONY NEAR COMPLETION

Witnesses Practically Disposed in Freight Rates Investigation.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 3. — Canadian Press. — Good progress was made yesterday in the freight rates investigation before the Railway Commission, the Canadian Pacific Railway witnesses being practically disposed of save for a possible recall on one or two points yet to be completed. The testimony to be submitted by the Canadian National Railway started but it is understood only two or three witnesses will be called by the latter railway as much of the ground has already been covered by the Canadian Pacific.

E. R. Mallory, director of the Bureau of statistics in the C.N.R. System, was examined by Alistair Fraser, K.C., chief counsel for the company. He gave a glimpse of the information which will be contained in the annual report of the railway to be tabled shortly by the Minister of Railways, though for the reason that that document has not yet been submitted to parliament these statisics could not be disclosed in any detail.

Operating Revenue.

Witness stated that the operating revenue of the railway in 1925 was $208,718,883, and in 1926 $226,547,815, an increase of $17,828,931, or 8.32 per cent. The operating expenses were $184,372,201 in 1925, and $190,172,271 in 1926, an increase of $5,800,069, or 3.15 per cent. The net operating revenue in 1925 was $22,845,719, and last year $35,374,581, an increase of $11,528,861, or a gain of 48.35 per cent.

The amount of fixed charges due to the public in 1926 is $39,197,233, and to the government $32,090,453, so that the net earnings will be more than adequate to pay all fixed charges due the public, and leave more than $2,000,000 of a credit balance, it was stated.

Witness submitted an exhibit giving a comparison of operating costs, etc., in British Columbia and the prairie districts in 1924 and 1925. A further exhibit was tabled to show that it would take more trains to move the same amount of traffic west than east taking Biggar station as the dividing point, owing to the heavier grades and general condition of the road bed.

Before Mr. Mallory entered the box, Dr. J. R. L. Starr, representing Ontario, completed the presentation of his statistical exhibits prepared for the purpose of demonstrating the position the Province of Ontario holds to the rates controversy. Considerable opposition was shown at first to the submission of these tables which it was claimed were irrelevant to the subject matter of the enquiry, but as the case developed the opposition counsel appeared to attach less importance to the matter, and it does not seem probable that the witnesses will be subjected to any severe cross-examination.

BOYS INJURED WHILE PLAYING

Little Lads Receive Cuts in Forehead, Requiring Medical Attention.

ARE RECOVERING

CAMPBELLFORD, March 3. — While playing in the room of the Kindergarten School on Monday, "Freddie" Turner, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Turner, fell, striking his head against the sharp corner of a table and opening a nasty wound over the eye. Two steel clamps were applied to close the wound.

An accident of a similar nature happened to the six-year-old son of Mr. James Jacobs, Jr. The little fellow was playing on the street near where Mr. H. Brown was unloading wood down a grate in the walk, and although Mr. Brown warned him to keep away, he evidently came back again and a stick of wood struck him on the forehead, opening a gash that required two stitches.

Both boys are doing nicely.

Mr. Robert Fox, Grand Road, is ill at his home.

Mrs. Montgomery of Codrington is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Plumpton.

FESTIVAL ENDS IN NATIVE RIOTS

Twenty Killed in Religious Disturbances Between Hindus and Moslems.

SEVERAL INJURED.

CALCUTTA, March 3 (Canadian Press).—Celebration of a Hindu religious festival yesterday in the village of Ponabalia, 200 miles from Calcutta, ended in tragedy when twenty Moslems were killed and forty wounded after a riot between Hindus and Moslems.

The Moslems were killed by the police, who fired into the mob after it had become uncontrollable.

The first disturbance was quelled by the magistrate of the district who dispersed the Moslems after they had interfered with a Hindu procession. The Moslems again returned and attacked the magistrate and the police support. This was followed by general rioting and when the mob got out of control the magistrate ordered the police to fire.

Communal rioting between Hindus and Moslems has occurred frequently in recent months, the last riot taking place in Bombay on February 21, resulting in the deaths of three men and the wounding of twenty others. Five men were killed in rioting at Indore only the week before.

The previous most serious riot took place last April, a total of 45 persons being killed and about 400 wounded in sporadic disorders which occurred over a period of several weeks.

BROCKVILLE DENIES OPPOSING BRIDGE

BROCKVILLE, March 3.—(Canadian Press).—Emphatic denial is given by the local Chamber of Commerce to a statement emanating from the United States that Brockville is opposing the construction of an international bridge across the St. Lawrence between here and Gananoque.

THE LIFE OF CHRIST—The Birth of Jesus

(Sketches by Kroesen)

Six months after the angel appeared unto Zacharias, "the angel Gabriel was sent from God . . . unto Mary and said . . . blessed art thou among women . . . thou shalt bring forth a son and shalt call his name Jesus." (Luke I:26, 28, 31)

"And it came to pass in those days that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus that all the world should be taxed." (Luke I:1)

"And Joseph went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth . . . unto Bethlehem to be taxed with Mary, his espoused wife." (Luke I:4-5)

"And Mary brought forth her first-born son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn." (Luke II:7)

BOARD OF TRADE HOLDS MEETING

Tweed Organization Asks Council to Join Ontario Tourist Association.

PLANS TO ADVERTISE

TWEED, Mar. 1.—A general meeting of the Board of Trade was held in the council chambers on Wednesday last and about thirty enthusiastic members were present. It was decided to ask the village Council to pay a membership, amounting to forty-five dollars to the Tourist Association. This organization has information bureaus in the different states, whereby tourists can obtain information and instructions as to suitable locations, and as the Board of Trade has decided to spend some $150 on advertising matter this year, it was thought that the town should help somewhat with the cost by paying the membership fee.

Mr. Meiklejohn, President of the Horticultural Society, on the invitation gave a brief outline of the troubles that the society had gone up against, and it was decided that the Board should help in any possible way, especially by enrolling as members. The following committees were formed; entertainment committee, Messrs. Moffat, J. Quinn, L. W. Martin, A. Yule and James Ryan; highways committee, Messrs. S. B. Rollins, G. Stokes, J. F. Houston, A. C. Blakely, D. H. Morrison and W. E. Tummon, M.P.; local improvements, Messrs. S. B. Rollins, Thomas Beatty, W. Beatty, F. B. Foster, and Dr. Dales.

The Board earnestly discussed the proposition of improving the appearance of the town generally and proposals making a strong appeal to every citizen to keep their own property and the street in front of it attractive.

SALVATION ARMY CONCERT AT TWEED

Good Attendance at Entertainment by Local Corps.

TWEED, Mar. 2.—The concert given by the local Salvation Army corps in the Town Hall recently, was thoroughly enjoyed and a fine attendance was present. There was no difficulty in selling tickets for this concert when it was known that Major Urquhart was coming and would be a musical wizard. Last winter he provided a very unique programme in the Salvation Army Barracks. Major Best was also present and performed his duties as chairman in his usual pleasing manner.

Major Urquhart has the ability of producing music, not only from mouth organ, violin, mandolin, guitar, and other familiar instruments, but from a carpenter's saw, washboard, rolling pin, tea-pot, kettle and even from a tin can. He produced some very fine music from sleigh bells and hand bells.

Major Urquhart has used his gift of music in the service of God, and there is no doubt but this talent is a power for good in the work allotted to him.

Captain Kimberly expressed her appreciation of the splendid attendance from town and district.

HAVELOCK L.O.B.A. OYSTER SUPPER

MADOC INSTITUTE REGULAR MEETING

Good Programme Given—I. O. D. E. Elects Officers.

MADOC, March 3.—The February meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Friday at the home of Mrs. A. Cochrane.

The programme for the afternoon consisted of a delightful vocal solo by Mrs. C. Whytock, an excellent paper entitled "What can I do for my sister?" prepared and given by Mrs. A. H. Foster, and an appropriate poem on "Success" read by Mrs. F. Dafoe. T 1 Roll Call was answered by "Helps for Mother."

At the close of the programme, refreshments were served by the hostesses for the day, Mesdames W. Connor, D. Wellman, E. T. Nayler and C. Henderson.

The annual meeting of Moira Chapter I.O.D.E. was held on Feb. 14th, when encouraging reports of the year's activities were given. During the past year meetings have been held in the homes of members, when short, interesting programmes followed by a social hour, were enjoyed. With the co-operation of the village Council and local clergymen, a Memorial Service was arranged for Armistice Day and many citizens have expressed appreciation of this action. The collection on this day and sale of poppies amounted to $33.20. The usual bazaar was held in November, realizing $31.00.

The Chapter contributed $73 for patriotic purposes, apportioned as follows: I.O.D.E. War Memorial Fund $25; Navy League $10; Blind Soldiers $15; Disabled Soldiers $18; supplies for poor family $5.

The officers elected for 1927 are: Regent, Mrs. F. Jenkins; 1st Vice-Regent, Mrs. Harrison; 2nd Vice-Regent, Mrs. F. Dafoe; Secretary, Miss J. Mackintosh; Treasurer, Mrs. F. Curry; Standard Bearer, Mrs. E. T. Nayler; Echoes Secretary, Mrs. Maybee. Programme Convenor, Mrs. Maybee.

MAIL CARRIERS SEEK CHANGES

Want To Be Placed On Salary Basis With Positions Permanent.

TO PRESENT CASE.

Campbellford, March 3. — Local members of the Rural Mail Carriers' Association operating out of Campbellford, are expecting some relief from the present difficulties under which they are operating, when the association, through their secretary, and general agent, Mr. Garfield McKinnon of Guelph, petitions the government for several much needed reforms in connection with the performance of their duty.

Mr. Charles Cochrane, one of the local carriers interested, is in receipt of a letter from Mr. McKinnon, in part of which he states that "No other part of the government employs men under contract in Canada, except the rural mail contractors, nor are any other positions publicly tendered for at such scandalously low rates.

"The city letter carriers, postal clerks in city post offices, railway mail clerks, postmasters, and janitors who have no running equipment to maintain, all receive an income several times bigger on the average than the rural mail contractor, who has to maintain his whole running equipment, which on the average route of 20 miles, consists of two horses and rigs, the maintenance cost of which has been considerably more than the average income received from the contract.

P. N. Phelan, K.C. of Toronto, solicitor of the Association, will present strong argument before the Government in support of the following changes:

"First—Abolition of the contract system and the introduction in its place of a salary paid system where the members will be placed on a permanent salary basis at the rate of $70.00 per mile per year for the rural mail contractors and the contractors operating between post offices and post offices.

"Second — An increase for the contractors operating between post offices and railway stations of three times the present contract price.

"Third—That the permanency of occupation at the aboves mentioned rates will be continuous to the carrier consequent upon good service and where, when the carrier so desires, two months will be considered sufficient notice to terminate his engagement.

"Fourth—That the increased rates of the future will operate backwards to take in the period of time since Jan. 1st, 1917, so as to reimburse the contractors for some of their money losses sustained in carrying on the work when the cost of performing the service was so abnormally high, during the year of the war and the post-war period.

"Fifth—That the mail contractors will be given ten statutory holidays, with full salary payment, the same as in all other branches of the postal department.

"Sixth—That all rural mail boxes now located on the left hand side of the roadway will be placed on the right hand side of every roadway throughout the different provinces of Canada.

Local contractors are particularly interested in the first and third mentioned reforms. They believe the position should be permanent providing they render good service and that they should receive a salary, in keeping with the service they render, and large enough to provide them with a substantial living.

LEAGUE CONCERT VERY SUCCESSFUL

St. John's Young People Fixes Admission Fee by Unique Method.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 3. — The Young People's League of St. John's United Church gave a splendid entertainment in the Sunday school rooms on Monday evening. The orchestra, consisting of Mr. A. Hazell (pianist), Stanley Taylor ('cello), K. Godden (cornet), Ronald Hazell and Ronald and Billy Richardson (violins), rendered excellent music before and during intermissions of the entertainment.

The admission charged was unique in that the fee charged was according to a person's height.

Rev. Mr. Elliott acted as chairman for the following programme.

Duet—Misses Irene and Gladys Stephens.

The second item, "Mrs. Webster's Address," was a short play, which was well given. Mrs. Webster (Rita Palliser), the young wife, was so busy with club duties that she neglected the necessary home work, ordered frocks contrary to her husband's wishes, and regardless of expenses. Her husband, Henry Webster (Cecil Stephens), was an industrious young man, who, no matter how hard he worked, could not keep the bills from accumulating. When Mrs. Webster had prepared her address to the club on the subject, "Women's duties in the home," she made her speech to Mr. Webster for his approval. He retaliated with an address on the same line, adding that if Mrs. Webster would live up to her address, things would be much better at home. Mrs. Webster profited by these rebukes and became an efficient housekeeper.

Duet—Mrs. Turner and Miss Cherrie Turner.

Selection by the Orchestra.

The next item was a charade. Katy O'Neil (Myrtle Forde), an attractive Irish girl, writes a letter for Denis O'Hara (Raymond Fry) to a sweetheart of his in Ireland, asking her to come to America to be his wife. During the weeks that followed Katy treated Denis very coolly, for she was rather jealous. One evening Denis came over in great haste and asked Katy to marry him, but she would not consent until he told her he had never posted the letter, and there was no other girl in Ireland at all.

St. Mary's "At Home."

The members of St. Mary's held a very successful "At Home" in the assembly room of the High School on Monday evening, Feb. 28. Leonard's orchestra supplied music for the dancing. Progressive euchre was played, the winners being: Gentlemen: C. H. Davidson and John O'Sullivan. Ladies: Mrs. F. Henson (lone hands), Mrs. J. Roche (games).

A bountiful lunch was served, the tea tables being gaily decorated with bluebirds and rainbows.

A Philadelphia tailor has found a quick way of getting rid of stiffness in the hands and arms caused by constantly using a hot iron.

"I am by trade a presser," he writes. "I am always using a hot iron and my hands and arms get stiff. I have been using liniments for a long time and I find that Sloan's Liniment is the best. It always gives instant relief."

Sloan's gives real help because it stirs up your own bodily forces to throw off the trouble, and to restore normal, healthy action in the sick tissues.

Just pat it on lightly, without rubbing, and the first thing you know the aching and stiffness are gone. Get a bottle today. All druggists—35 cents.

FISH-WIVES? OH, NO!

LONDON, March 3.—From time immemorial women who work with fish have been called fish-wives in England, a name reflecting their general unattractivness and lack of refinement. But this year all the women appeared in modish short skirts, silk stockings and bobbed hair. Now they will be called "fish-fairies."

WINTER MOTORING.

The weather conditions of the past ten days have brought the city authorities up against a rather new problem of how to keep the local streets in shape for motor traffic.

A few years ago there was no such problem, for practically no automobiles were in commission during the winter months.

Winter motoring has, however, come to stay, and the present winter has seen more cars on the streets than ever before, making it necessary to introduce new methods in dealing with road conditions as they have been recently.

The deep ruts found on many of the streets as a result of the thaw have made motoring decidedly hazardous, and it is obvious that such a situation must be met by different treatment.

With more and more cars in use, this question will become each year more important; it will undoubtedly result in greater expenditure in road maintenance, but possibly there are enough motorists who want to drive in the winter months to justify the added cost.

SHOULD HAVE MORE SUPPORT.

There is no real reason why the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce should not have a membership twice its present strength.

Here is an organization well staffed, capable of splendid work on behalf of its members and of the community generally, offering the privilege of membership to the citizens of Peterborough at the unusually low fee of $15 per year.

No other Chamber of Commerce with a permanent organization manages to meet its overhead with such a fee, and incidentally, few Chambers have proved so efficient or given evidence of as much vision as the local body, which has sponsored a number of proposals for the general welfare of the Province that have been adopted by the powers that be.

It is to be hoped that many more citizens will awaken to an appreciation of the value of the services of the Chamber of Commerce, and will give evidence of that appreciation by becoming members of the organization.

The Chamber of Commerce exists to serve Peterborough, and it should have more widespread support in its efforts on behalf of this city.

SMOOTH SAILING.

The result of the Robb Budget division, which saw the Progressive amendment buried under an avalanche of votes and the Government sustained on the main motion by a majority of 23, was as expected.

There never was any indication that the Government would be in danger, and the chief interest lay in the course taken by the Liberal Progressives.

These members, who sit on Government benches, had threatened to vote against the Budget as a protest against the failure of the administration to introduce any tariff reductions, but declarations from Hon. Jas. A. Robb and Hon. Charles Dunning apparently re-assured the group and their support was given solidly to the Government.

The Coote amendment which condemned the Government for lowering the income tax instead of making tariff reductions, did not, of course, secure the backing of a single Conservative, and was voted for only by the U.F.A.'s, Progressives and Labourites sitting on the Opposition side of the House.

Unless some unexpected political crisis arrives it is evident that the Government will have smooth sailing throughout the present session, with the report of the Duncan Commission affording the only prospect of any real political warfare.

CANADA'S LOSS.

Those Peterborough citizens who on Monday heard Dr. Harry L. Padden of the Grenfell Mission wax enthusiastic over the possibilities of Labrador are in a position to realize how great a loss to Canada is to be found in the decision of the Privy Council, awarding 111,300 square miles of the peninsula to Newfoundland.

Dr. Padden declared that Labrador was the richest undeveloped territory in the British Empire, with vast tracts of pulpwood, wonderful water powers and most promising ore deposits.

The territory awarded to Newfoundland as a result of the final settlement of the long drawn out controversy over the location of the boundary line include 60,000 square miles of spruce forest, valued at $250,000,000, and huge waterfalls, one of which was described by Dr. Padden as having twice as big a fall as Niagara.

News maps of Canada will be necessary as a result of the decision, while the area of Newfoundland becomes three times its present size.

Newfoundland officials acclaim the verdict as a victory unsurpassed in the history of the colony, and they are justified in doing so.

As for Canadians they must accept the decision as cheerfully as possible, although there is regret that the territory was not purchased from Newfoundland when the opportunity presented itself.

A rich prize has been allowed to slip away.

UNCLE SAM AS A BIG BROTHER.

Uncle Sam, as a Big Brother to the South American republics, finds his position one of awkward complications. The Monroe Doctrine carries the implication at least, that the United States will preserve some sort of order in the troublesome regions within its special sphere of influence. Uncle Sam resents interference by European nations in the affairs of this hemisphere, and therefore he must accept for himself responsibility for the rights of their citizens.

This proposition sounds perfectly logical as the working basis of international policy. The difficulty comes in its application. If Uncle Sam sends his marines into a country which is playing its politics with rifles and machine guns there arise from the great American hinterland loud shrieks of alarm. The Stars and Stripes must not be desecrated by such imperialistic enterprises, it is declared with emphasis, and all the "Little Americans" join in the chorus. If Uncle lets nature take its course of shooting and looting there is not much said so long as only native lives and property are endangered, but when the interests of foreigners are endangered, as in Nicaragua at present, there is another story to tell.

The British Government has an old-fashioned habit of protecting British citizens wherever in the world they may be, and so has sent a cruiser to Nicaraguan waters—having assured the United States that troops will not be landed—at the solicitation of the English colony. It is expected that the "moral effect" of the warship's presence will prevent violence to those it seeks to protect.

The intervention of the United States in the internal affairs of Nicaragua has been deep enough to draw down denunciations from some of her own people and sarcastic comment from some European circles, but not sufficiently energetic to put the country under control. England has found, from long experience with the "white man's burden," that half-way measures in such a case are useless, but extremely provocative.—Ottawa Journal.

EDUCATION AND MIGRATION.

An unusual view of the Canadian migration to the United States is taken by a contemporary, which says that if Canada cannot take care of young men who have been educated here we ought to be grateful to the United States for giving them larger opportunities. It goes on to say:

> "Some day, perhaps not many years hence, there will be greater demand in Canada for young men, well educated and otherwise highly trained, for the business world. When that time comes we will have a supply to meet the demand, but until that time arrives let us not be too ready to condemn our friendly neighbor to the south because of the fact that an opportunity is afforded our school graduates and finished mechanics to make good with the tools supplied them in our educational institutions."

We need not feel either gratitude nor resentment toward our neighbors for taking away our educated young men. If Canadians were excluded from the United States we should regard that as an unfriendly policy; so we cannot consistently blame the the Government of that country for taking the opposite course. At the same time we regard it as inspired not only by friendship, but by an intelligent regard for the interests of the United States. Our neighbors recognize that this influx of Canadians is a desirable addition to their population. Therefore they admit them freely, and give them employment and opportunities for advancement.

Of course, what has been gained by the United States in this way has been lost by Canada, and it is gratifying to know that the southward migration is declining and that Canadians are returning in increasing numbers. This is a natural result of the prosperity of the country and the flourishing conditions of agriculture, manufacturing industry and general business.

Under the most favorable conditions, however, we must reconcile ourselves to a certain movement southward, especially of young men of special training and capacity—men educated for professions and others capable of filling positions of responsibility in business and mechanics of special skill. This is a loss which cannot be measured in numbers, nor can it be prevented by any kind of tariff policy. Even if there were no considerable exodus of mechanics employed in industries affected by the tariff, the United States would still offer invitations to men in the professions and in commercial pursuits and highly skilled artisans. The better we educate them, the more our neighbors will try to tempt them to move across the line; and there is no way of putting an embargo on them. The only way in which we can meet the difficulty is to offer encouragement and opportunity of advancement to Canadians employed in our universities, colleges, business establishments, etc.

Indirectly, the progress of Canada will lessen the migration of this class of Canadians. But we cannot expect that there will be very rapid progress in a condition which arises from so large a disparity in population as exists in regard to Canada and the United States. Scotland loses in the same way to England. But Scotland apparently does not complain, perhaps because the migrant remains under the same flag.—London Advertiser.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Que., Mar. 3 (Canadian Press)—There was practically no change in the condition of the export grain trade here yesterday, the demand being still of an indifferent character from foreign buyers and at prices which were generally below working basis.

The trade in coarse grain was also quiet and prices were steady.

The export and local trade in spring and winter wheat grades of flour continued dull, but prices were unchanged.

The volume of business transacted in millfeed to-day was again large and the undertone to the market was firm. The demand for standard grades of rolled oats was quiet but values were steady.

There was an improved demand for eggs and a more active trade was done at steady prices. The receipts were 823 cases.

Owing to the small demand for potatoes and the large supplies coming forward, a weaker feeling developed in the local market and prices were reduced five to ten cents per bag. Sales of odd cars of Prince Edward Island Green Mountains were made at $1.50 to $1.60 per bag of ninety pounds; Quebec white stock at $1.00 per bag of ninety pounds in bulk, ex-track, while New Brunswick Green Mountains sold at $1.00 to $1.05 per bag of eighty pounds.

An easier feeling developed in the butter market and values declined 1-4 cent per pound. This was attributed to the increased offerings. New Zealand finest creamery butter was quoted at 41 1-2c to 41 3-4c per pound. The receipts were 20 packages.

The cheese market continued quiet and the undertone was easy, but prices showed no further change. The receipts were 36 boxes.

HEALTH FROM MEAT

Nearly all dietitians condemn the use of meat as an article of food. When you ask your doctor what you should eat, his first reply will usually be, "Do not eat so much meat." The health seeker is constantly bombarded with the thought that meat is a poisonous food and should not be used by one wishing to remain in health.

There are many reasons to account for this false teaching. The subject of diet was not taken up seriously until about thirty years ago and from that time on the principal laboratories given over to the study of food, have been conducted by doctors who were ethically vegetarians and thus did everything in their power to prove that meat was a poisonous substance unfit for food. Doctors and nurses who have taken up the subject of diet study have found it necessary to get their information from institutions where a religious diet was taught under the name of science. Only a handful of leading dietitians have been able to break away from this old superstitious belief, and develop a common sense viewpoint in their investigations of the food problem.

There is no doubt but that a quarter of a century ago meats were a great deal more poisonous than they are at the present time, due to the fact that refrigeration was not as well developed as it is today. Fresh meat could only be kept for a few days and to avoid waste partially decomposed meat was often eaten which was as unfit for food at that time as it would be at the present day. With our up-to-date refrigerating system, meat can be kept indefinitely and, in fact, it improves somewhat after it is kept in a cool place for several months, which gives the connective tissues a chance to break down and the meat is rendered more tender, and can be more easily digested.

In the far north, where the weather is always cold enough to preserve meat, the Eskimo has lived at all times on practically an exclusive meat diet, living in good health and through a long life with almost no other food of any kind being used. The mixed diet, to which they have resorted in recent years, is making them prematurely old, and is producing stomach disorders in those past middle life similar to those diseases found in civilized America.

Steffanson, the explorer, has lived for many years in the Arctic circle, and has lived as long as nine successive months on an exclusive meat diet without it having any bad effect upon his health. The facts are that he found the exclusive meat diet worked as well when he was inactive as when active, and as well in hot weather as in cold. His hair thickened and his scalp grew healthier and tooth decay was apparently much less rapid than when he was living in a temperate climate and using a mixed diet. He reports that his sense of physical and mental well-being was at its best during that period of his life. There was no evidence of intestinal toxemia, kidney disease, or any of the cardio vascular disorders, which troubles are supposed to follow the use of meat. The facts stated in these experiences simply helps to show anyone who wishes to honestly know the scientific truth about the use of meat.

In my opinion, it is not a good plan to attempt to live for any length of time on an exclusive meat diet in any part of the world where the climate is not cold the year around, but a small amount of meat can be used each day in the hottest weather if sufficient greens are used at the same time, in cooked and raw form.

Common Errors in English and How To Avoid Them.

(By The McClure Syndicate, Inc.)

"BRACES" or "SUSPENDERS," Etc.

"To keep track of all the variations in English common speech grows ever more perplexing," said the New York Herald. "Even in the British Empire in the different component parts evolve different slang terms. Thus, in Australia 'boshter,' or 'bosca' signifies 'fine' or 'good;' 'ziff' signifies 'beard.' In New Zealand the Maori word 'mana' means that he has lost his power or prestige. Similarly, in South Africa certain Dutch words used by the Boers have become general among the British inhabitants.

"It is interesting to note the misleading connotations in some words' uses. Thus, the English, who willingly let others regard them as a slow, sure, stable, static people, might well hold up their trousers with 'suspenders.' But no, they must raise them ever higher with active, stimulating 'braces;' while the aggressive American feels quite satisfied wearing the flaccid, negative 'suspenders.' English always was a puzzle; what will it become in another generation or so."

VOICE OF PEOPLE

Letters to be printed in the Voice of the People column must be received at The Examiner office on the day before it is desired to have them published.

THANK YOU, MADAM; IT IS A CHANGE.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear sir:

I have often felt like writing to let you know how I appreciate the "Examiner". I have travelled far, been in Scotland, England, Boston, U.S.A., and in different towns in three provinces of Canada and I honestly think that our paper is the best yet. In the recent elections you played fair, giving each side equal publicity. Why don't some of you men, who wrote so freely and had your letters published, sit down once in a while and write an appreciative letter to the Examiner?

It is a clean paper, fair-minded, the editorials are good, especially one which appeared on Saturday, 26th Feb. It boosts Peterboro, which is not the case with a lot of inhabitants here. Candidly this is the only town, or city, in which I've heard residents knock the town, worse than outsiders. Why anywhere else I've lived we might criticize our town, but woe betide anyone else who did. Then The Examiner is always courteous. I could tell of a number of incidents, which made my heart warm to our paper, but one will suffice. I had had trouble about getting The Examiner after I moved, so 'phoned in and told them. They very courteously said they would send it by their own carrier, and I could pay when I came down, as I was sick. Now, wasn't that a nice thing to do for one?

There have been numbers of you write in to criticize, now for a change get busy and tell of some good The Examiner has done you. In conclusion would say that this very inadequately expresses my feelings, but those of you who think you could do better, sit down and do so. I do not know the Editor nor the staff, unless for any business dealing I've had, so you can't say "it is one of their friends who writes." Have met "Jeannette" but doubt if she would remember me, but I enjoy her articles. So now, hoping I've started the ball rolling in the right way, I am

TRUTH-TELLER.

DR. FRANK CRANE'S DAILY EDITORIAL.

MULES AND AIRPLANES

By Dr. Frank Crane.

Statistics are a wonderful thing. They sometimes knock our impressions sky high and seriously alter our opinion of things.

Time was when railroad traffic was considered rather dangerous but nowadays a man is safer on a pullman car than he is at home. Relatively more people die in their beds than do from train wrecks.

The same is true of airplanes.

Flying used to be very dangerous but now it is not considered so much so.

Statistics show that eight pilots lost their lives in commercial aviation last year while eighty persons were kicked to death by mules in Missouri alone. So it is more dangerous to keep a mule and to go near his business end than it is to keep an airplane.

The rear end of a mule seems to be more perilous than the front end of an airplane.

Many a man who drives a team of mules might lay this to heart. He thinks when he sees a person sailing in the air that it is a hazardous business, but after all it is not so hazardous as riding behind a mule.

A great many people are killed by automobiles in the United States, but there probably a great many more people killed by skittish horses before motor cars came into general usage, only their deaths were not recorded.

The old family horse was a great pet but he was a dangerous institution. You never could tell when he was going to take it into his head to run away.

Statistics are not handy just at present but probably as many people were injured by runaway horses as are now injured by automobiles.

When you drive an automobile the only uncertain element is yourself. When you drive a horse and buggy you are not only uncertain but the horse is uncertain.

Altogether it seems to be safer to trust yourself to an airplane than to a skittish horse.

Of course there are some people who think that all horses are perfectly safe if you understand them, but then there are some people who think that airplanes are just as safe.

Uncle Wiggily

To-day's Bedtime Story.

By Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY'S SNOW BERRIES

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

Baby Bunty had been visiting at Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow for two or three weeks, when at last it came time for the cute little rabbit girl to hop over to the home of Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow, the puppy dogs, with whose mother Bunty was going to stay for a month.

Baby Bunty was a little orphan rabbit, you know, and, having no home of her home, used to visit around with the other boy and girl animals of Woodland.

Best of all Baby Bunty liked to stay at Uncle Wiggily's bungalow, and the old rabbit gentleman loved Bunty. But it was part of the game that she must visit others, and now the time had come to make a change.

"Oh, I didn't know it was so dark out!" exclaimed Bunty when she looked out of the bungalow window before starting out for the dog kennel house where Jackie and Peetie were expecting her.

"Yes, it is dark," squeaked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy. "But here comes Uncle Wiggily. He'll take you over to the Bow Wow's house, Baby Bunty."

"Oh! will you," asked the little rabbit girl, trying to make her pink nose twinkle like that of Mr. Longears.

"Of course I will," answered the bunny uncle. "Though there is nothing to be afraid of in the dark. There is nothing in the dark that wasn't there in daylight. But I'll hop across the fields with you, Bunty."

The old rabbit and the little bunny were on their way.

Soon the old rabbit gentleman and the little bunny girl were on their way hopping through the darkness of early evening over the fields toward the dog house.

It wasn't so very dark, for there was snow on the ground making a white covering, and for a time Uncle Wiggily could see the way quite well. At least Bunty thought Uncle Wiggily knew the way, but after a while, when, it seemed, they had been hopping a long while, Baby Bunty said:

"Oughtn't we to be at Jackie's and Peetie's kennel by now? It must be 'most supper time and I'm hungry!"

"Why, yes, we ought to be there," said Uncle Wiggily sort of puzzled like, standing still in the midst of a clump of trees and looking around. "I wonder if anybody could have lost the dog house, Bunty," asked the rabbit gentleman.

"Lost the dog house! What do you mean," asked Bunty. "You can't lose a house. You might get lost yourself, trying to find a house, but that's all."

"Well, that's enough!" said Uncle Wiggily.

"Oh, dear," sighed Bunty. "Do you mean we are lost, Unkie Wig."

"Do you see the Bow Wow house anywhere," asked the rabbit uncle.

"No," answered Bunty, looking around as best she could in the gloomy darkness. "I don't! Oh, we're lost and I'm so hungry! What shall we do."

"Now be a brave little rabbit girl," soothed Uncle Wiggily. "If we are lost there must be some way of getting found. And if you are hungry there must be some way of finding food. Remember the lessons I have taught you of helping yourself when there is no one to help you. Perhaps you can find some snow-berries to eat."

"Snow berries!" cried Bunty. "I never knew snow had any berries."

"I mean berries that have fallen off trees," said Mr. Longears. "When berries fall from trees the snow covers the berries and if you dig for them—"

"Oh, now I know what you mean!" exclaimed Bunty, and she was so interested in looking for snow berries that she didn't think about being lost in the dark night. By this time the moon was up, and looking about Bunty saw a holly tree from which she and Uncle Wiggily had gathered branches, with green leaves and red berries, to make Christmas wreaths.

"Maybe there are snow berries under that holly tree," said Bunty. She began to dig the snow away, and Mr. Longears helped her, and, surely enough, on the ground beneath the white flakes, were many red holly berries, only Bunty called them "snow berries." They were good to eat, and soon the little rabbit girl and the big rabbit man were no longer hungry.

Then, all of sudden a barking voice was heard calling:

"Yes, we're here, and we're lost and we had to eat snow berries," Bunty answered.

"Well, you're not lost any more, for we've come to find and lead you to our house!" barked Jackie as he ran up with Peetie. The doggie boys, knowing Bunty was coming, had set out to meet her. So she and Uncle Wiggily weren't lost any more and were soon at the kennel house. Later Mr. Bow Wow took Mr. Longears back to the bungalow so the rabbit uncle wouldn't get lost again.

Had Salt Rheum All Over Her Hands

Mrs. Herbert J. Mason, Grand Falls, N.B., writes:—"I had salt rheum all over my hands and especially between my fingers. It got so bad it was impossible for me to put them in water or do my housework. After trying many medicines and salves, that did me no good, I heard of being so wonderful, and after taking three bottles I am entirely relieved of my trouble. I am sure I can't recommend B.B.B. too highly to those who have salt rheum like I had."

THEATRE

AT THE REGENT

MAKE 'EM LAUGH
THE PHILOSOPHY OF HOOT GIBSON.

Can't Go Wrong If You Keep Them Smilin', Thinks Western Star.

A sense of humor is man's greatest possession. That is the theory at least of Hoot Gibson, and he is quite qualified to speak, for his ability to view himself and his surroundings with amusement, coupled with a natural ability as an actor, an equal ability to ride any horse that ever lived and a likeable personality with it all has made him a rich and famous movie star.

But for all these things, if he hadn't possessed the sense of humor first, he probably would never have risen to his present position on the screen, and "The Buckaroo Kid," his latest Universal-Jewel production, which comes to the Regent Theatre to-day, is a splendid example of the potent results of mixing humor with Western melodrama and thrills.

Hoot, even after he had won prizes as a champion rider and signed up as a Western star, probably would not have risen to any particular prominence had not his natural abilities as a comedian asserted itself.

But he did not want to do straight melodramatic Westerns. "Let's put a laugh in it here" was his constant plea. The audience began to like it. Gibson's pictures came to be regarded as among the most entertaining and amusing on the screen.

Universal Pictures Corporation, to whom Gibson has been under contract for several years, was quick to sense the great possibility in this new type of "Western."

The result was such pictures as "The Texas Streak," "Chip of the Flying U," "The Phantom Bullet," and others, in which comedy was liberally mixed in with the more conventional type of Western material.

Lynn Reynolds, excellent as a director both of straight action pictures and light comedy, was signed by Universal some months ago and since has been directing all of Gibson's productions.

PILES GO QUICK

Without Salves or Cutting

Thousands who have piles don't know that quick and permanent relief can be accomplished with internal medicine. Cutting or any amount of treatment with ointments and suppositories will not remove the cause.

Bad circulation causes piles. There is stagnation of blood circulation in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt found the remedy and called his prescription HEM-ROID. Dr. Leonhardt tried it in many cases with a marvelous record of success, such a wonderful record that HEM-ROID is now sold by druggists everywhere under a rigid money-back guarantee.

Don't waste any more time with outside applications. Get a package of HEM-ROID from McDermid & Jury today. It has given quick and lasting relief to thousands and should do the same for you.

LAKEFIELD BAND SKATING PARTY

Large Number of People Present for Annual Event.

LAKEFIELD NEWS

LAKEFIELD, March 3.—In spite of decidedly inclement weather, heavy roads and soft ice there was a large attendance at the second annual skating party, held under the auspices of the Citizen's Band on Saturday night. The rink was gay with flags and bunting and the skaters had a delightful evening and the spectators had no chance to feel bored as there was constantly a kalerdoscopic effect of moving figures, gracefully skating to the excellent music provided by the band. After each number the skaters formed a semi-circle below the bandstand, and Mr. Jay Knox announced the draw of a lucky number which had been drawn by a very important small boy (several youngsters took turns at this much-coveted task—) and a prize was given. The prizes were donated by the following Merchants: Messrs. T. Crawford, F. J. Burgess, W. Clifford, W. W. Leonard, F. C. Crawford, M. Holland, T. C. Young, The Lakefield News, Tanner Drug Co., Hunter and Webster, Dickson's store, E. H. Northcy, C. Thomson, the Porter Co., S. S. Spence and Sons, H. G. FitzGerald, and H. J. Brown.

At Home.

The Catholic Women's League held a very successful at Home in the Hotel Lakefield on Friday evening with a large crowd present. The young people spent a delightful evening dancing to the strains of a Peterboro orchestra which rendered an excellent programme of the newest dance music. Mr. McManus was floor manager and Mr. Thomas Sullivan, Jr. played for the square dances which were interlarded with the fox trots and waltzes. There were cards provided for those who prefer less strenuous pleasures than dancing. Prizes for cards were won by Miss McGovern and Mr. Martin Coughlin and Miss E. Kennedy and Mr. D. Garvey won the consolation prizes.

This At Home will be the last to be held till after Easter and was a very enjoyable affair. The refreshments were served shortly after eleven and afterwards dancing was resumed for a couple of hours more. The ladies of the league have made a reputation for their organization for their delightful parties and they are always anticipated with pleasure. Friday night's function scored another success to add to the list.

Friday next is the Women's Day of Prayer and a short prayer meeting will be held on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the basement of the Regent Street Church.

Unique Performance.

On Thursday evening last Mr Norman Faulkner gave a remarkable exhibition of fancy skating in the rink. Mr. Faulkner lost a leg in the Great War and while he wears an artificial limb he skates remarkably with his one leg. He visited the village two years before and under more favorable conditions as; at that time the ice was keen and hard, and every figure was shown on its glassy surface. On Thursday night the ice was heavy, which must have made the performance more difficult for him, but in spite of the handicap he gave a truly wonderful performance. There was a fairly good crowd who watched spell-bound as he performed figures with his one skate which are quite beyond the majority of skaters with two skates. Mr. Faulkner has a pleasing personality and is a favorite with Lakefield audiences.

A.Y.P.A. Euchres End.

The last of the series of euchres held under the auspices of the A.Y.P.A. took place in the Parish Hall on Thursday evening with eight tables being played. The prizes were won by Mrs. C. Lake and Mr. W. S. Remnant, while Miss Ivah Windsor and Mr. A. Wannamaker won the consolation prizes.

The prizes were presented by the president of the A.Y.P.A., Mr. C. C. Stenner, who explained that the purpose of the money raised in this way was to keep up the hall and put improvements on it.

The prizes for the season's play were presented also by Mr. C. C. Stenner. The lady's prize was a handsome scarf and hand bag and was won by Miss Ivah Windsor with 1359 points and the man's prize, a club bag, was won by Mr. Walter Chappell, with 1475 points. Mrs. Stenner, with 1218 points was second among the ladies and Mr. George Pearson with 1425 points second high man.

Mrs. A. M. FitzGerald entertained at Bridge on Friday evening and the prizes were won by Mrs. H. G. FitzGerald and Mrs. Osborne.

Wednesday is Ash Wednesday, the first day of Lent, and will be marked with special services in both St. John's and St. Paul's Churches.

Owing to the extremely mild weather and the consequent soft ice, there were no hockey matches held last week. The game between The Grove and the Juniors in the three-cornered tie for the casement cup was arranged for Friday night, but the ice was not suitable, so it was postponed.

Owing to the mild weather there has been no curling since Tuesday night in the local rink. The final game in the Skip's bonspiel between D. H. Charlton's rink and C. S. Tanner's rink is still to be played and only three games have been played in the first round of the vice-skips' bonspiel. The curlers are hoping for a few crisp nights with keen ice so that the remaining games can be played.

Omission.

In the account given of the Afternoon Tea and Bean Supper given on Saturday, the 19th under the auspices of the W.M.S. of the Regent Street United Church, the names of these ladies who assisted on the tea committee were inadvertantly omitted: Mrs. J. Reid, Mrs. A. Darling, Mrs. H. J. Abbott and Mrs. Kingdon.

"SHOULD BE IN EVERY HOME" SAYS MME. VILLEMAIRE

Three Years of Stomach and Kidney Disorders Wrecked Her Health. Now fully Recovered and Feeling Splendid, She Thanks Tanlac.

Mme. Eliza Villemaire lives at 432 St. Patrick Street, Ottawa. She is ruddy and robust, showing no signs of the distressing ordeal she went through for three years. "No words can express what I suffered," she said recently. "At times I thought my back must break, and I could not even stoop over to set the table.

"M. stomach was just as bad, for food would lie there like a lump of lead. I used to bloat terribly, and at times could hardly catch my breath. Nervousness kept me awake half the night. I tried many remedies and treatments but though I spent a small fortune on them, nothing seemed to help me.

"I only wish I had taken Tanlac when my trouble first started for it certainly would have saved me a lot of suffering. The way my troubles disappeared after taking it was almost magical. It built me up and made me a new woman. Now my kidneys never bother me. I am free from all pain and my digestion is splendid. If I had my way I'd put Tanlac in every home in Canada. That's how much I think about it."

Don't neglect nature's warnings. At the first sign of trouble, take Tanlac, nature's own tonic, made from roots, herbs and barks. Your druggist has it; get a bottle today. Over 52 million bottles sold.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 3 (Canadian Press)—Wheat for sale on bulges, but wanted on setbacks, made a choppy market yesterday with bears having somewhat the advantage toward the finish. Much of the pressure to sell was due to profit taking, based on apparent slackness of export demand as well as on favorable weather for domestic winter wheat.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled at the same as Tuesday's finish, to 1-2c lower, with corn 1-4 to 5-8c off; oats a shade to 1-8c up; and provisions unchanged to a rise of 20 to 22c.

Corn, like wheat, reflected an increase of selling to realize profits. It was reported that six cargoes of Argentine corn had been bought for shipment to Montreal. Good commission house buying gave firmness to oats.

Could Not Sleep Heart and Nerves Were So Bad

Mr. Geo. Meek, Windsor, Ont., writes:—"I suffered with my heart and nerves and could not sleep at night for noises in my head. I managed to keep at my work somehow, until I began to have dizzy spells which got so bad I could not go to my work. I was afraid to go out any place, for very often I would stagger on my feet, and everything in front of me would turn black and fade away. While I was home sick a friend told me to take MILBURN'S HEART NERVE PILLS I got four boxes and by the time I had used them the pains and noises in my head ceased and I was able to get a good night's rest. Although that was six years ago I have never been troubled with that complaint again."

A.Y.P.A. HOLDS PANCAKE SOCIAL

Mock Trial Features Programme Given by Millbrook Branch.

C.G.I.T. SLEIGH DRIVE

MILLBROOK, March 3.—The pancake social, with a mock trial as the leading item on the programme, given in the Parish Hall of St. Thomas' Church, under A.Y.P.A. auspices, provided something quite novel in the way of entertainment this week, the event being well patronized in spite of counter attractions in the village the same evening.

The long tables arranged down one side of the room and displaying the A.Y.P.A. colors of blue and white, with vases of dainty flowers at regular intervals, were attractive features in the decorative scheme for the entertainment.

After an opening chorus, "O Canada," the court room was set for the Scroggins' divorce case, in which the following characters took part:

Judge Pompous of the Superior Court—Rev. P. C. Howard.
Resolute Scroggins, plaintiff — Miss M. Curtiss.
Squire Kirk, counsel for plaintiff —Mr. R. Stone.
Eli Scroggins, the defendant — Mr. A. Pitt.
Play Wright, bogus minister — Mr. L. Russell.
Polly Pry, plaintiff's mother (deaf)—Miss Gladys Gray.
Melinda Meddle, an old maid, but still waiting—Miss Ada Attwooll.
Sally Scroggins, defendant's sister—Miss Blanche Lee.
Martha Snapper, a colored scrub woman—Miss K. Fowler
Algernon Styles, a detective, disguised—Mr. A. A. Needler.

The costumes worn by the various characters and the amusing dialogue as the farcical trial proceeded, kept the audience laughing from start to finish, the ridiculous charges made and the attempts to repudiate or substantiate these being of a decidedly hilarious character.

A brief address by the rector, Rev. Canon Allen, who is Honorary President of the A.Y.P.A., and by Mr. R. Stone, a past District President, with some hearty community singing, completed the formal programme, while the delicious pancakes and maple syrup, with lighter refreshments for those who evidently feared indigestion through indulgence in this rather substantial dish at night, rounded out the evening's enjoyment most happily.

Mrs. Thomas Harkness, Convener of the Refreshment Committee, and Miss M. Christie prepared the pancakes, and were heartily congratulated on the toothsome result of the culinary efforts.

Rev. P. C. and Mrs. Howard are actively interested in the A.Y.P.A. since their coming to the village, and much of the credit for the growth of the organization and the successful meetings both of a public character and the regular business and devotional sessions is due their initiative and efforts.

Mrs. Howard is President of the association, Mr. R. Stone Vice-President and Mrs. W. Hilton Secretary.

Sleighing Party.

The Wide Awakes Group of Canadian Girls in Training enjoyed a jolly sleighing party on Friday evening, through the courtesy of Mr. A. J. Brown, who kindly furnished the team and sleigh for the occasion.

The party started about 8 p.m. and proceeded to Coe's Corners, the load numbering eighteen, including the driver. The trip was enlivened with C.G.I.T. songs and such other amusement as only active girls can think of and the limits of a crowded bob-sleigh will permit.

Returning to the leader's home about 10.30 p.m., a hot supper was in readiness, Mrs. Brown and Mrs. A. J. Henderson having attended to this important feature of the outing.

Music, with hearty votes of thanks for the hospitality extended and for kindnesses shown by the other helpers, completed the evening, and about midnight the party finally broke up.

Activities of the group included picnics and a weiner roast in the summer and fall months, the sleighing party for the winter, and it is hoped to make a basket social the leading feature of the spring season. The regular meetings are held on Tuesday evenings.

NORWOOD NEWS

NORWOOD, March 3.—Congratulations are being extended to Miss Evelyn Scott and Mr. Wesley Wildman, pupils of Prof. Edwards, F.T.S.C., who have been successful in passing their music examinations recently tried by them. Miss Scott obtained certificates in harmony, history and counterpoint for intermediate theory examinations, obtaining honors in the latter. Mr. Wildman was successful in passing the junior grade pianoforte. Great credit is due both pupils in gaining such a high percentage of marks.

Miss Lois Cuffe, who has been attending the Toronto Conservatory of Music, has been successful in passing her examinations with very high standing, obtaining 93 per cent. in one of her subjects. Norwood is justly proud of her many young musicians.

YOUNG PEOPLE HOLD BANQUET

Two Classes of Morganston United Sunday School Meet Together.

GOOD PROGRAMME

NORHAM, Mar. 3.—A most successful banquet under the auspices of the "Tuxis" and "Loyal Sisters" organized classes in the Sunday school of Morganston United church was held in the basement of the church on Friday evening. Notwithstanding the inclement weather about fifty young people and a number of teachers and officers of the school assembled for the service. Tables were neatly arranged bearing delicious viands of which everyone partook with real delight. Clarence Massey, a senior teacher in the school, was toast-master. Following is an outline of the program:

Toast to the King.

FARM NEWS AND PROBLEMS

HIGH DUTY ON CANADIAN FLOUR BY EUROPEAN COUNTRIES FORCES MANY LARGE MILLS TO CLOSE

Greater Protection Needed Against Milling-in-Bond in United States.

BIG COMPETITION

Port Colborne Mill, the Largest in the Empire, Has Been Closed.

Operations of Canadian flour mills have been considerably curtailed during the past two or three weeks and unless a decided change for the better takes place shortly in the matter of export orders, it is likely that earnings of the large companies, to say nothing of the smaller, will not even measure up to those for last year, which, on the whole, were considered unsatisfactory. Inquiry has shown that in the last two weeks production has been cut from 25 to 40 per cent. The Maple Leaf's mill at Port Colborne, the largest in the British Empire, has been closed, while mills at Kenora, Thorold and other points have suspended operations.

The lack of demand for Canadian wheat flour has been brought about by several causes, chief of which are the imposition of heavier duties by importing countries and the keen competition from Buffalo mills. As regards the former, France and Germany, ordinarily good buyers of Canadian flour, have tightened up on import regulations, and marketing in those countries has become correspondingly harder. Another good market, Greece, has imposed heavier duties and it is likely that unless some action is taken this outlet will be lost to Canadian millers. Ireland is considering putting a heavier duty on flour imports and the matter will likely become an issue at the next election.

Other Export Markets Hold.

Export orders from the Orient, South Africa and South America have been holding up well. The attempt of certain American interests on the Pacific coast to have the export freight rate on grain to Port Manp apply on domestic shipments, as mentioned in the Financial Post two weeks ago, has been withdrawn. The outlook for further business in the Far East is good and it is likely that shipments to that market will show some increase this year. South American countries are taking a greater liking to Canadian flour and additional business may develop in that quarter. But the increased business from these markets, while satisfactory, is not sufficient to offset the loss of trade in European countries, through the competition from Buffalo mills.

The milling of Canadian hard wheat in bond to avoid the 42 cents a bushel duty at Buffalo has always been a thorn in the side of the Canadian flour milling industry and in the past year or two the matter has become more serious as it threatens to do irreparable damage to the Canadian industry. During the past calendar year, for instance, some 14,000,000 bushels of wheat were shipped to Buffalo for milling in bond. This represents about 3,000,000 barrels of flour made from straight Canadian wheat which were sold abroad under United States names in direct competition with the product of Canadian mills.

Canada Loses Advantage.

Canada loses all the advantage of the sale of this flour. It is exported as U.S. domestic flour and helps the United States to retain its reputation in the world's markets for high grade flour, to the benefit, whether or not blended of all the domestic produce of that country. In selling, the American miller may represent the flour as the product of Canadian wheat, or may not. If he does not, the impression is created that perfect substitutes for Canadian wheat and flour can be found in another country and that these Canadian products have not, therefore, the special values that may be justly claimed for them.

The greater part of the milling-in-bond is done at Buffalo, but at any lake Erie port, Canadian wheat can be laid down from the head of the lakes at a freight rate lower on the average than to any Canadian port on the Lakes. The result is that freight cost chargeable against flour is lower at mill-door, Buffalo, than that against any flour in Canada, in corresponding position to the seaboard. From the mill to the seaboard the U.S. miller at Lake Erie points has an advantage, under existing tariffs and due to his position, of 2½ cents per hundred in freight rate. This difference in export cost of 5 cents a barrel, lone, makes it possible for him to take business away from Canadian mills.

Buffalo Mills Are Busy.

Working under these advantages, it is not surprising that Buffalo mills are operating at a high rate of capacity, while the Canadian millers have had to close some of their mills. During the past twelve weeks, mills at Buffalo have been working at 86.5 per cent. of capacity. This compares with 76 per cent. in the corresponding period a year ago, 73.6 per cent. two years ago and 70.7 per cent. three years ago. During the last five months of 1926, Canadian mills worked at 53.5 per cent. capacity as compared with 51.1 per cent. and 55.3 per cent. capacity in the same periods of 1925 and 1924, respectively. It might be further mentioned that the average daily output of Buffalo mills during the past twelve weeks amounted to 14,521 barrels, while production of all Canadian mills for the past year was 63,217 barrels.

For a long time Canadian millers have been agitating for a more favorable freight rate or the drawing up of some reciprocal agreement with the United States as regards milling-in-bond, in order that their business may be conducted on a more equitable basis. Not only is the Dominion losing valuable trade in this connection, but it is also driving capital out of the country, for no one would be interested in establishing a mill in Canada when he could do so at Buffalo, where he avoids high freight rates and participates in all benefits of Canadian wheat without paying the 42 cents a bushel duty. Nothing has been or is being done to provide protection. Meantime, the Canadian industry is slipping back and benefits resulting from the milling of Canadian wheat, instead of being retained within the Dominion, are going across the border.

H. W. Wood, Chairman of the Alberta Pool, maintains that the organizing of the Canadian Pools was the greatest forward step agrarians have taken in three thousand years. The movement is a crusade for economic self-determination. Our basic industry is seeking for a business basis upon which to operate. Agriculture has a right to have a voice in fixing a selling price for its products.

The Pool movement has the support of the forward-looking and straight-thinking residents of our villages, towns and cities. These people realize that popular welfare requires greater distribution of earned wealth to the primary producer. It means better times for all.

—And the pool movement is the augury of a happier and more contented Western Canada.

CANADIAN SEED STANDS THE TEST

Winter Killing Is Less With Home Grown Red Clover.

FOREIGN NOT HANDY.

Red clover which has as a back ground generations of production under Canadian conditions is definitely winter hardy. Losses from winter killing are therefore reduced to a minimum by using the seed of such plants. Our real danger arises through the use of imported seed.

A shortage of home grown seed, such as exists this year, is always associated with increased importation. The bulk of such seed has in past years come from France and Italy. Because Italian red clover seed must now be stained, to the extent of one per cent with a red stain, indicating its lack of hardiness, little of such seed is liable to be imported direct. French seed, however, will likely be imported in larger quantities than usual. The staining requirement of the latter seed is the one per cent of green colour required in connection with the seed of most European countries.

Tests for winter hardiness have been conducted at the Central Experimental Farm at Ottawa, during the past four years, with seed from representative areas of both France and Italy. The results of these tests indicate that practically all Italian-grown seed is unsafe for planting in Canada.

Of the lots imported from France only about one-fifth could be classed as even reasonably safe for use in this country. The remaining four-fifths are definitely non-hardy. The hardier lots imported from France all resemble American clovers in general type and the assumption is that they have originated from French importations of hardy American seed. Acclimatized Canadian grown seed, tested under identical conditions has never suffered a loss of over 2½ per cent in any single year during the past five years.

Canadian grown seed will be the only unstained seed that can be lawfully sold in Canada. Our growers are therefore strongly advised to use such seed if possible as home grown seed is the best assurance obtainable against loss through winter killing.

Some ice stored for summer use will help to keep cream, produced during the hot months, in the number one grade.

CERTIFICATES WILL BE GIVEN CHEESE MAKERS

First and Second Class Grades in New Legislation Before House.

SPECIAL PROVISIONS.

Factorymen Prohibited From Accepting Tainted or Rejected Milk.

The standing committee on agriculture of the Ontario Legislature has got away to an unusually vigorous start, under direction of Hon. John S. Martin, and the programme laid out by the Minister calls for two meetings a week. Col. T. L. Kennedy, of Peel, was elected Chairman. On Friday the session was devoted to discussion of live stock problems, the previous meeting having dealt chiefly with dairying, and particularly the new grading regulations, which were explained by George H. Barr, director of dairying. These regulations, which have now passed Cabinet council, provide for issue of first-class certificates to cheesemakers who in 1926 had 95 per cent. first or special grade cheese, and whose factories met the requirements as to efficiency and sanitation. Second-class certificates will be granted to makers whose percentage was not below 88. Provision is made for others to carry on for a year, and also young men entering the business, who have no record as yet. An important feature is that factorymen are prohibited from accepting milk which is tainted or in rusty containers, or which has been rejected by other factories. A dairyman whose product has been rejected cannot deliver to any factory for 10 days.

EGG CIRCLE HAD SUCCESSFUL YEAR

The annual meeting of the English Line Egg Circle held in the Ferris Block club rooms, Campbellford, on Thursday last showed that the Circle has had a very successful year. With 140 members shipping a total of 64,520 dozen of eggs were shipped, and a total sale value of eggs amounting to 19,581.83 at an average price of 30.3 cents a dozen for the year. T. K Rowe is manager and says that he will be able to accommodate more members this year.

The meeting adopted a resolution to dispense with the stamping system. This will mean less bother as each patron will merely put in a slip of paper bearing name or number with each crate of eggs.

Walter Smith, district representative and F. H. Buker, of Brockville, addressed the meeting on poultry fairs and marketing problems.

The 1927 officers are: President, W. H. Locke; Vice-President, Mrs. Garnet Curle; Secretary, E. L. Anderson; Directors, Mrs. Grills, Mrs. Craighead; Mrs. Jas. Watters, Mrs. Alfred Barnum, Mr. E. J. Bonney; Auditors, Mrs. P. B. Nelson, Mrs. McCook.

PRIVATELY OWNED DAIRIES NOT COMMON IN DENMARK.

Only 260 of Denmark's 1,660 registered dairies are in the hands of individual owners, all the rest being co-operative dairies, according to the Danish paper, Tidende. 1,600 of the dairies produce butter for export, and more than one-third of the butter export trade is conducted by co-operative butter export associations established in various parts of the country. The British Co-operative Wholesale Society has establishments in Denmark for the purpose of exporting Danish agricultural products to Britain.

The Dairymen's League of the State of New York, comprising 70,000 members and owning a million cows, has an annual turnover of one hundred million dollars.

PRIZE WINNER

That Canada, rather than Boston, breeds the finest Boston bull terriers in the world is the opinion of Mrs. McCormick Goodhart, of London, Eng and, who through W. E. G. Hudson Hobden, godson of England's grand old man, the late William Ewart Gladstone, has purchased "Highball Canuck," from Mr. Earl Brown, 19 Kenilworth avenue, Toronto, for $1,300, the highest price ever paid for a Boston bull puppy.

CLOVER CROPS IMPROVE LAND

20 POUNDS TO ACRE

In Eastern Canada, where the maintenance of soil fertility and the economical production of dairy products is essential to successful agriculture, the growing of leguminous hay crops, such as red clover, alsike and alfalfa, should receive greater attention. They make use of the free-nitrogen of the air, thus assisting in maintaining the fertility of the soil, and as feed, they are rich in protein and mineral matter.

The growing of red clover for hay has become an established practice on most dairy farms, but there are, even yet, many farms on which it is not being regularly or extensively grown. Being biennial in habit, it produces the best hay crop the year following seeding, with a small percentage appearing in the second year hay. Thus, where meadows are left down four years, the percentage of clover hay produced will not be large. Unless alfalfa is grown, the adoption of a cropping system where the seeding to clover will be more frequent is the only means of increasing the percentage of leguminous hay on the farms. The objection is raised that this method is expensive because of the necessity of re-seeding so frequently. This is hardly the case when we consider the increased value of feed produced, the beneficial effect of the clover on the fertility of the land, and, that on an average of six years, red clover seed has been produced on the Dominion Illustration Stations in Ontario and Quebec for 11 3-4 cents per pound. By growing sufficient seed for one's own requirements, the seed cost can be greatly reduced, a hardy strain is assured and no new weeds are introduced. It is important to use plenty of seed, especially if the land is poor. On heavy soils a mixture of 8 pounds red clover, 2 pounds alsike and 10 pounds timothy has proven very satisfactory. On the lighter soils and those inclined to be moist, 5 pounds red clover, 5 pounds alsike and 10 pounds timothy will give better results. In each case, 20 pounds of this mixture is seeded to the acre.

While many attempts to grow alfalfa have met with only partial success, many have succeeded, and its production is steadily increasing. Lack of drainage, acid soil, the use of un-acclimatized seed and neglecting to inoculate, have contributed to many failures. An encouraging feature with regard to the future of the crop is that a sufficient acreage is now being grown that one can procure hardy, home-grown seed at prices which warrant farmers making a trial of this crop. In districts where alfalfa has not been tried or on farms where the success of the crop is uncertain, the Division of Illustration Stations follows and advocates the method of adding a few pounds of alfalfa to the regular grass and clover mixture when seeding down. The alfalfa seed is first treated with nitro-culture, and [illegible] pounds of a mixture made up in the proportion of 6 pounds alfalfa, 6 pounds red clover, 2 pounds alsike and 10 pounds timothy, is seeded per acre. If the alfalfa flourishes in the mixture, one can with fair assurance of success, seed it alone, using 20 pounds of Grimm or Ontario Variegated seed per acre. Land for alfalfa should be fertile, well drained, and comparatively free from weeds.

CATTLE RATE LOWERED.

The Canadian Merchant Marine and the Reford Lines are now accepting Canadian cattle for shipment to Great Britain at $15 per head instead of the previous rate of $20 a head.

Ten Million Bushels Of Grain Required Daily To Satisfy Hunger Of the World Bread Eaters

The world needs wheat and that very abundantly. Approximately ten million bushels of this grain is required every day to satisfy the hunger of the bread-eaters of our planet. The surplus is never very large. If the vicissitudes of nature or a let-up among the wheat farmers of Western Canada should curtail the wheat production of our country by one hundred million bushels in one year, old Mother Earth would be running close to the hunger line, with starvation in the offing.

From the 1925 crop Canada produced four hundred and six million bushels.

The compactly organized and efficiently operated Grain Trade handled Canada's crop for many years. It owned all local elevators which first received the grain; it owned the offices and the exchange in that great primary grain market of Winnipeg; it owned or controlled huge terminals which jutted up from the lakeside at Port Arthur and Fort William. All the physical facilities required for gathering and selling wheat lay in the hands of the Grain Trade.

In this great wheat land, stretching from east to west, from Ontario to the Rocky Mountains, and north and south from the fifty-fifth to the forty-ninth parallels of latitude, it seemed predestined to rule forever.

Battled Way to Victory

SPRING TIME A BUSY SEASON FOR SHEPHERDS

Lambing Season Most Important Period With Sheep Flock.

INDIVIDUAL PENS.

Good Winter Ration For Ewes is Clover, Roots and Ensilage.

The lambing season is the most important period with the sheep flock. It is at this time that the shepherd must be on the alert to prevent loss of lambs and to give the ewes the necessary care and attention which mean increased revenue from the flock later in the year.

Taken for granted that only the best ewes, that is, those which are prolific, have healthy udders and are good milkers, have been bred, and that good, pure-bred rams have been used and that the ewes have had suitable care, attention, and feed during the winter, the conditions are such that a profitable lamb crop should follow.

A good winter ration for pregnant ewes is clean clover or alfalfa hay, roots and some ensilage. If the ewes are thin, from a half to two pounds of grain per ewe per day will put them in good condition. Oats with a little bran and oil meal makes an excellent grain ration. Salt and water should be before the ewes at all times, and if goitre has previously appeared, iodine should be given as a preventive. The ewes must be allowed plenty of exercise and fresh air and their sheds and yards should be so arranged that they will not crowd each other through doors or at the feeding trough.

As lambing time approaches, make the necessary preparations. Clip the wool from around the ewes' udders. Prepare hurdles or gates so that the ewe and her lambs may have an individual pen for a time. This will help in getting the ewes to own their lambs and will also assist in convincing ewes to adopt other lambs when necessary. Make every effort to save all lambs. Have the shed dry and free from drafts. A good light is necessary for the convenience of the attendant at night.

As the lambs arrive, mark them so that production records of the ewes may be kept accurately.

After the lambs are a few days old, lamb creeps should be provided. It is surprising how quickly the young lambs will start to nibble a little grain and roots. Get them on grass as soon as possible.

Dock all the lambs when they are about two weeks old and castrate the males at the same time. These operations are absolutely necessary to proper shepherding.

Shear the ewes as soon as the weather warms up and dip the entire flock shortly afterwards.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES.

The World's Wheat.—Of an increase of 20,000,000 acres in the world's wheat area since before the war, practically all is confined to North America, and the bulk of this to Canada. The total acreage, barring Russia and China, was 202,000,000 in 1913, whereas in 1925 this had risen to 224,000,000. In a slight decline has been reported during this time, with very small increases reported in North Africa and Asia. North America, on the other hand, increased its acreage from 57,000,000 in 1913 to almost 74,000,000 in 1925, and over 80,000,000 this year.

The Canadian potato crop of 1926 is estimated to be 43,130,000 cwt., as compared with 42,379,900 cwt. in 1925, contributed as follows: Prince Edward Island, 3,405,000 cwt.; Nova Scotia, 2,833,000; New Brunswick, 4,321,000; Quebec, 13,769,000; Ontario, 8,916,000; Manitoba, 2,248,000; Saskatchewan, 3,015,000; Alberta, 2,764,000; and British Columbia, 1,859,000 cwt.

Dairying is a long-term enterprise. The heifer calves of to-day are the milkers of to-morrow, and when skimped as calves they are sure to skimp their owners later on.

TOP-GRAFTING TREES IN ORCHARD ONE WAY OF ELIMINATING LESS POPULAR VARIETIES OF FRUITS

To Be Commercially Profitable Well Climatized Trees Must Be Produced.

SPRINGTIME LIST.

Success Depends On Establishing Good Union Between Tree and Branch.

There is a growing opinion that a determined effort should be made to eliminate the less popular varieties from our commercial orchards. Top-grafting is one means of securing this desired result. It should be emphasized, however, that top-grafting has its limitations. To be commercially profitable it must produce trees which compare favourably as to vigour, fruitfulness and longevity with new trees planted at the time the grafting was done. It is possible to graft peaches, apricots, plums and cherries with a fair measure of success, but experience has shown that in the long run it usually pays better to plant a new tree. With apples and pears, however, top-grafting frequently gives very satisfactory results.

Success in grafting depends primarily on the establishment of a good union between the stock or tree which is being worked over and the scion or branch of the new variety. To secure a good union, both stock and scion must be healthy, furthermore they must be congenial. Some varieties do not unite readily even though both stock and scion are in good condition when the grafting is done. For instance many of our best commercial varieties make poor unions when worked on Spitzenberg or Transcendent Crab, especially if the stocks are more than ten years old. On the other hand a wide range of varieties have been grafted on Northern Spy and Scott Winter with excellent results. As a general rule it is advasble to work strong growing varieties, such as Delicious, on vigorous stocks. A smaller growing variety, such as Rome Beauty may be worked on a slightly less robust stock, but under no circumstances should any variety be grafted on a stock which is not in the best of condition.

Procured in Autumn.

Scion wood should preferably be secured in the autumn and buried in a sheltered spot, or placed in damp sawdust in a root cellar to keep it dormant, but good results have sometimes followed the practice of cutting it from the trees as required. Well matured one year old wood with good plump buds should be used.

The stock is prepared for grafting by sawing off limbs so as to leave stubs which, for best results, should be less than two and a half inches in diameter. Where care is taken in the selection of branches to be worked over it is usually possible to do all the grafting in one year. It is advisable, however, to leave some branches to act as "feeders" during the first season while the grafts are becoming established. These feeders may well be comparatively small branches so spaced that they do not interfere with the development of the grafts.

The actual operation of putting in the grafts is best performed when the sap begins to flow freely in the spring. Particularly good results have been secured by the use of a type of bark grafting known as the "notch" method. In this method, starting from the end of the stub and cutting downward, a small section of bark about an inch and a half long and the same width as the scion is removed so as to leave a notch which tapers slightly towards the base. A scion carrying two or three buds is made with a slanting cut across its butt. The cut surface is the same width and length as the notch into which it is pressed. To hold the scion in place and ensure contact of the cambium or growing layers a small shoe tack is driven through the scion into the stock. The union is then protected from drying out by painting it with hot paraffin wax which may well be applied over the whole surface of the scion. Some heating device is necessary to keep the wax at the proper temperature as it does not spread evenly when too cold and runs off when too hot. With a little ingenuity a satisfactory heater can be made from a coal oil can, a kitchen lamp, and some hay wire.

It is a good plan to place several grafts in each stub according to its diameter, but all but one of these should be headed back severely after the first year's growth, and when the stub is completely healed over only one graft should be allowed to remain. This may be pruned in much the same manner as a young tree. Water sprouts should not be allowed to rob the young grafts, but it is often of advantage to allow a few to grow, especially near large cuts, as they help to prevent so called "sour sap" which is sometimes serious with top-grafted trees.

HOLSTEIN BREEDERS' JUDGING CLASSES

Campbellford District Club Holds a Very Successful Judging Competition.

The Campbellford district Holstein Breeders' Club held a very interesting and instructive judging class at Morningside farm, where P. B. Nelson, president of the club, keeps a fine herd of high-producing Holsteins.

R. M. Holtby of Port Perry, fieldman for the association was present and conducted the judging class. Three classes were shown: mature cows, dry two-year-olds and young bulls. Mr. Holtby was assisted by district representative Walter Smith, while two veteran breeders, Richard Honey and G. A. Brethen, gave valuable pointers.

In addition to a fair attendance of local breeders, including some fellow-breeders of the Ayrshire club, there were present a number from more distant points. Messrs. Arthur and George Ward, also W. A. Atkinson of Dartford, and Messrs. Sirrett and Butler of Brighton. The teacher of the neighbouring school, adjourned the afternoon classes and brought the boys along to get some practical pointers in their study of dairy cattle in connection with the agricultural course.

Mr. Holtby will be in the Belleville district for a few days picking cattle for Belleville consignment sale.

Mr. Nelson's splendid three-year-old herd sire called forth a good deal of favourable comment and several snapshots were taken of him. He is considered by many to be good enough for exhibition at the larger Canadian shows.

DECREASE SHOWN IN DAIRY EXPORTS

Increase of United States' Duty Results in Smaller Dairy Trade.

Increase of the United States duty on butter on March 6, 1926, from 8 cents to 12 cents per pound resulted in a marked decline in Canada's exports of this commodity to the United States in the twelve months ended November 1926: 3,159 cwts., against 39,261 cwts. Under the previous rate of duty the Canadian product generally sold below the domestic price, but under the new conditions it is difficult for Canadian shippers to quote a price which, plus the duty, will enable their line to compete. Canada's exports of cheese to the United States in the twelve months ended November show a marked increase: 79,159 cwts. against 2,310 cwts. The quality of Canadian cheese has an established reputation in this market. In spite of the agitation against the importation into the United States of Canadian milk and cream, Canadian exports of this commodity to the United States in the twelve months ended November 1926 show an increase as compared with the previous period: 9,271,465 gallons against 8,177,874 gallons.

Cotton Seed Meal May Poison Hogs

Cottonseed meal, fed in small amounts to pigs, proved harmless and even beneficial, but when given in large proportions it was found to be poisonous, according to the results of feeding tests conducted by the Ohio experimental station.

Cottonseed meal is at present the cheapest commercial protein concentrate available to the stockman. The feeding tests were conducted to determine the best use which the stockmen could make of this cheap food.

SPECIAL SEED TRAIN.

Horticultural Car Added To Train For Gardeners and Flower Growers.

WINNIPEG.—The "Seed Special" travelling through Manitoba is meeting with special favor and interest this season. The innovation of an horticultural car being most beneficial to market gardeners, farmers and flower growers alike. Many questions have been asked of the lecturers on the train, inquiries into the growing of special fruits and vegetables being particularly keen and searching. Various types of machinery for cleaning various grains are being shown and the men in charge of the car are most enthusiastic about its reception, and of the prospects of improved crops in consequence

First of 3,000 Families for Canada in 1927

Mr. J. Malcolm, Canadian Government Agent, Glasgow, (left) taking charge of the first family of the year to leave Scotland under the 3,000 Families Settlement Scheme. The family comprises Mr. and Mrs. Alex. L. Thomson, and their four children from New Deer, Aberdeenshire, who proceeded to Canada, on board the Canadian Pacific liner "Montnairn", to take up farming in British Columbia. They travelled all the way for the inclusive charge of £16, whereas, the full fare for the family is £142.)

PIMPLES OVER FACE AND HANDS

Irritation Caused Scratching. Healed by Cuticura.

"I had pimples all over my face and hands. The pimples were small and festered, and the irritation caused me to scratch. Scratching caused eruptions, and I could not rest or sleep either day or night.

"I used several remedies but got no relief. I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. After using it three days I got relief so purchased more, and within a month I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Adelaide Thomas, 45 Hohner Ave., Kitchener, Ont.

Use Cuticura Soap daily for the toilet, assisted by Cuticura Ointment when required, and have a clear, fresh complexion, free from pimples and blackheads.

FILM OF VALUE AS ATTRACTION

Many Prospective Tourists Seek Information About Trent Waterway.

PICTURE HELPFUL.

Many people in United States and Canada have been planning trips through the Trent Valley Canal for years back, but they have never put their plans into operation.

Since the film was taken it has been exhibited in theatres in the two countries and people seeing it decided to put their past plans into effect this coming summer.

Many letters of commendation for the film and the way of advertising the Trent are being received daily at the office of the secretary of the Trent Waterway Development Association for these people are availing themselves of the invitation which appears at the end of the picture to write for information. Information of all kinds is asked for.

The following is one of the letters received by the secretary:

Trent Waterway Development Association, Peterborough, Ontario:

Gentlemen,— For some years I have been contemplating a cruise through the Trent Valley Canal and its connecting waterways. This evening I had the pleasure of seeing the motion pictures "Kelly's Cruise" in the Tivoli Theatre. It appears to be such a delightful trip that I hope to be able to make it this coming summer in our forty foot cruiser.

I am availing myself of the invitation which appeared at the end of the picture to write you for information. I would like to know just what papers it would be necessary to obtain in order to get through the locks and over the marine railways and the cost of those clearance papers. I would also like to obtain a chart as I imagine one would be needed in going among the islands and would like to know to whom to apply for one and its cost.

I have been very carefully saving the January 1920 copy of "Motor Boating" in which an article on the Trent Canals, written by Senator Bennett, appears, as it tells considerable about the trip, but the picture to-night makes it still more alluring.

As I am anxiously waiting to see boating as a sport stage a real come-back to something like it used to be twenty years ago, I would like to suggest that you try to have the picture shown in some of the other houses here, "The Capitol" or "Pantages." I doubt if many people who saw it in the "Tivoli" would be greatly interested unless they went as we did—to see that one particular picture.

I will appreciate very much indeed any information which you may send me.

Very truly yours,
(Sgd.) S. Gordon McCandlish,

Mix-up In Voting Records May Surprise Montreal

OTTAWA, March 3.—In the Commons yesterday Sam Jacobs (Montreal, Liberal) arose to say that he noted that the official House report of pairs in the budget division classed him as a Conservative.

Hon. Mr. Chaplin—That is a great privilege.

Amid the laughter that ensued Mr. Jacobs also lamented that the official House report classed Charles H. Cahan, K.C. (Montreal, Conservative), as a Liberal, and he prayed His Honor the Speaker that Mr. Cahan and himself should be "unscrambled in the record."

Mr. Speaker—It is well-known that in Parliamentary procedure the Speaker cannot take any official notice of pairs, so both honorable gentlemen must take their punishment.

Therefore Sam Jacobs, Liberal, and Charles H. Cahan, Conservative, must go down in history on the records of the budget division as Conservative and Liberal members, respectively.

PEOPLE USE LESS WATER

Annual Report of Utilities Manager Reveals Interesting Facts.

LEAKS STOPPED

There are many interesting features and facts in the annual report of R. L. Dobbin, manager of the Utilities Commission. As has been the case in the past six years, there has been a decrease in the water pumped at the pumping station, which means that the people of Peterboro are using less water every year. The total amount pumped was 834,730,000 gallons, or 2,285,000 gallons per day. The decrease over 1926 was about 400,000 gallons a day.

This is accounted for by the fact that many leaks have been stopped, and the large consumers have been metered. The amount pumped per capita in 1926 was 106 gallons, which is a considerable reduction since 1918, when it was 164 gallons.

The steam auxiliary pump was in operation a considerable number of times during the fall, on one occasion being used for 31 hours when the hydraulic turbines were plugged with frazil ice. In the early part of December the flow of the river was so great that no surface ice formed, and thus there was nothing to prevent the formation of frazil ice.

In the electrical department there was considerable activity in the reconstruction of old lines, necessitating the placing of new poles and the stringing of heavier copper wire. This work was practically completed in the district north of Sherbrooke and west of Park street, where a total amount of $19,200 was spent. A second 2400 volt feeder was extended into the Auburn Power House, and now the 2400 volt output of this station can be taken in case of emergency. During the reconstruction work a large number of small transformers were taken down and replaced with larger ones, which give a better service and are more economical. There are at present 217 meters on power and 6581 on light installations.

During the year there were seven general interruptions to the service, all from circumstances not under the control of the commission. The average load of the year was 4930 horse power, and the maximum 5715 H.P., which occurred on October 18th at 11.35 a.m.

Peterboro has nearly 50 miles of cast iron mains, ranging from three inches in diameter to twenty inches, and there are 321 hydrants in the city.

EATS BUT CAN'T BREATHE, TOO MUCH GAS

"I had gas on the stomach and after meals I was always bloated and short of breath. Since taking Adlerika I feel like a new woman." —Mrs. L. Worstall.

Adlerika gives the system a REAL cleansing and brings out old poisons which may have caused trouble for a long time. Unlike most medicines, its acts upon BOTH upper and lower bowel. Just one spoonful relieves Gas and takes away that full bloated feeling so that you can eat better and sleep better. Even if bowels move daily, Adlerika brings out much additional poison which you never thought was in your system and which caused sour, gassy stomach, nervousness, sleeplessness, headache. No matter what you have tried for your stomach and bowels, Adlerika will surprise you. At leading druggists. In Peterboro at McDermid & Jury and other druggists.

FERGUS BOARD NEGLECTS OATH

Members Automatically Disqualified When Opponents Reveal Standing.

TEACHERS UNPAID.

FERGUS, March 3.— Fergus is without a School Board, and the teachers without pay. With the exception of Chairman Dick and the three others who were appointed, and not elected, members, all the Trustees have been automatically disqualified, it is said, because they negected to take the oath of office within the time prescribed by the Municipal Act.

This state of affairs was discovered when the board decided to build a new high school on a site owned by the Housing Commission in preference to one known as the McTavish property. The discovery was made by supporters of the rejected site.

According to Trustee Brownridge, dean of the board, no high school trustee has ever taken the oath of office. If this is so, every act of the board for the last 25 years has been technically illegal, it is claimed. The solicitor has not yet given his opinion, and the board has suspended its activities until it is decided whether it is or is not a board.

When the teachers sought their pay cheques on Tuesday they were told by the Secretary-Treasurer that he had no authority to pay them, as there was no school Board. The teachers held a conference and decided to carry on and wait developments.

WAR METHODS ARE RECALLED

Former Prisoner Has Copy of German Propaganda Sheet.

TELLS OF VICTORIES

F. E. Webster, Ontario Land Surveyor, who served with the Second Battalion in France, and was taken prisoner at the second battle of Ypres, has shown The Examiner a very interesting paper, "The Continental Times," which was issued to the prisoners of war. Mr. Webster was interned at Eissen, and this paper was handed out every day. Rabidly German in sentiment, the paper tells of victories for the German army on land and of the navy at sea; lauds the work of the submarines, and deprecates all the efforts of the Allies to break the German line.

Under "Latest News" appears the German official report for May 13, 1917, under the heading of "Crown-prince Rupprecht," as follows: "The great attacks of the English have failed! After a very heavy artillery preparation extending over the whole battlefield of Arras between Lens and Queant, the English in the early morning hours pushed forward against our lines between Gavrelle and the Scarpe, on either side of the road Asras-Cambrai. In Rouex they succeeded in breaking in; at all other places they were repulsed by fire and in hand to hand fighting with most severe losses.

In the evening several new attacks were made on both sides of Monchy, which likewise collapsed, with very heavy losses, owing to our brave defence.

Advantage gained by the English in Bullecourt were re-taken by a dashing counter-thrust of a battalion of Guards. To-day new fighting for the village has begun."

At the same time that this was published the German staff was withdrawing 40 divisions from the Russian front to oppose the Franco-British offensive, which had penetrated the German line in half-a-dozen places. The British communique, dated May 14, reports as follows: — "British troops have established themselves in the village of Bullecourt, after desperate fighting. Astride the Arras-Cambrai road, twelve hundred yards of German trench was also captured. The most of Bullecourt is now in the hands of the British. The British have taken Roeux with 700 prisoners."

"The Corpse Factory."

An effort is made in this same issue of the continental Times to explain the "ludicrous mistake about corpses." The confounding of the word "carcass" with "corpse" is blamed on a newspaper man who had a knowledge of German.

Lloyd George comes in for his share of invective, and Jellicoe is not passed over in the pithy comment of the German editor of this "Independent Cosmopolitan Newspaper." Reference is made to the destruction of St. Quentin by English and French artillery. This article ends with the sentence: "It is no exaggeration to say, that it will not be safe for an Englishman to travel in those parts after the war."

Much fun is made of President Wilson's "contradictory argument with himself," and an entire column is given over to belittling of the entry of the United States into the war.

A whole page of this German propaganda sheet is given over to advertising, and most of the advertisements are for hotels, lauding their high class cuisines and all the comforts which a prisoner of war might be expected not to enjoy. The Grand Hotel, Vienna, advertises that the price of a room includes the use of a vacuum cleaner, which is, at least, a suggestion for the hard-working hotel-man in Canada. The effort of these advertisers to put their notices into English is amusingly illustrated in the notice of the "Pension Finger," in Prague. The advertisement reads "Pension Finger, Ershercog Karl Franz Josefstrasse 9 opposite Staatsbahndirektion - Building." In the whole ad. there are only two English words.

This issue, brought home by Mr. Webster, is very interesting and indicates in a way that is not known by others than war prisoners, the lengths to which the Germans went to deceive members of the Allied forces who fell into their hands.

RUM RUNNERS USE GAS.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 3. Rum runners, driving an automobile equipped with a poison gas exhaust pipe, left federal prohibition agents far behind in a chase near here, gasping amid mustard fumes. They laid down a smoke screen that obscured all vision and also contained enough mustard gas to frustrate pursuit.

Medical men agreed a lubricant is better than a laxative

MORE than half the doctors questioned in a recent coast to coast investigation stated a lubricant is better than a laxative for constipation.

One prominent doctor stated "the continued use of laxatives produces an obstinate intestinal inflammation which only aggravates the constipation. Laxative drugs increase the condition which they are supposed to cure. The worst cases of constipation are those which have long made use of laxative drugs."

Doctors Advise Nujol

Nine doctors out of every ten told us they were advising the Nujol type of treatment for their patients in place of laxatives—and for these reasons: 1. Nujol is not habit-forming; 2. A more natural method; 3. A lubricant is better than a laxative; 4. Does not gripe; 5. Is not irritating; and 6. Nujol gives lasting relief.

Unlike Laxatives

Laxatives and cathartics act by irritating the intestinal tract. They cause the bowels to frantically expel the contents of the intestines and thus rid the system of the drugs that pills and potions contain.

Nujol acts entirely differently. It contains no drugs, no medicine. Its action is mechanical. It merely softens the dried waste matter in the intestines and lubricates the passage so that the muscles of the bowels can expel the waste matter regularly, naturally and thoroughly.

Nature-given Remedy

Nujol appeals to the medical man because it is a simple, scientific and safe remedy for constipation, no matter how severe the case may be. It is gentle in its action and pleasant to take. Children love it!

Get a bottle of Nujol from your druggist today. Doctors advise it for constipation, whether chronic or temporary. Avoid substitutes.

CHINA DETERMINED TO FIGHT TO FINISH FOR FULL RIGHTS

"Complete Mastery In Our Own House" Sought By Canton Leader—Foreigners Who Built Up Interests Legitimately Demand Protection.

DIPLOMATIC BATTLE MISSES REAL ISSUE.

In the last four months the world has been amazed by the rise of a new China and has been asking how it happened so suddenly and what it means. One of the keenest observers of Oriental affairs was on the ground when it happened. In this and following articles Upton Close (Prof. Josef Washington Hall) gives an intimate picture of this new China and of the vast revolt against white supremacy throughout Asia. Mr. Close was for seven years an editor in China, was once chief of Foreign Affairs for Marshal Wu Pei-fu, and is the author of "The New Outline History of China." "In the Land of the Laughing Buddha" and other books which have attracted wide attention.

BY UPTON CLOSE

A GREAT diplomatic campaign is now being fought out over China, with the British taking the leading role and the other interested powers assuming the position of "watchful waiting." If one were to believe the statements issuing from London the British are offering China practically all it can ask and we are led to expect an early settlement of all difficulties. But it is too soon to be optimistic. Americans, too, quickly accept the President's "We have no concessions to protect" as implying we are out of the controversy. The British charge that we have "crawled behind British guns," and accepted a share in every benefit wrested from China, is true. And we are as far as they from willingness immediately to give these up.

The real issue has not been touched. All the offers so far made to China depend on further negotiations and arrangements which will preserve the fundamental basis of privileges enjoyed by foreigners under the old treaties. The young leaders of the new Nationalist movement, on the other hand, have no intention of accepting anything less than complete sovereignty for China.

China Begs No Longer.

T. V. Soong, Alexander Hamilton of the new nation, expresses tersely the basic difference:

"The foreign powers are always talking about what concessions they can make or generosities they should offer to an awakened China," he said. "They have got it all wrong. The question now is what concessions and generosities will an awakened China allow to the powers who have built up interests here never, in our view, ethical."

Mr. Soong told me when I was in Canton the basis of the Nationalist position.

"China demands," he said, "that the world admit our complete mastery in our own house, all treaty grants made by our weak past governments notwithstanding. We propose that the disputes over foreign-governed territories and foreign-owned properties in our country be settled on the basis of such generosity as a landowner might grant an intruder who had built on his land and had been allowed to remain there many years unmolested."

The Powers, including America, in spite of their conciliatory talk, still stand on the position that China must remain in effect their ward until she has demonstrated her international coming of age by (1) unification, (2) by inclination and ability to protect foreign life and property, (3) the provision of modern and honest machinery of justice, and (4) prompt payments on all foreign debts.

Meanwhile Foreign Minister Chamberlain, Secretary of State Kellogg and Minister of Foreign Affairs Shidehara announce their willingness to conclude new pacts providing a gradual termination to China's "Period of Wardship," imposed since the Opium war.

Powers Refuse to Face Main Issue.

To the main issue, complete abrogation of the old status, demanded by the Chinese Nationalists, no power has yet assented. President Coolidge and his Secretary of State, on the contrary, have made it plain that America has no intention to assent to sweeping into oblivion the existing treaties.

It is generally understood among under-officials of the State Department that our irreducible minimum" in new negotiations would be a period during which joint Chinese-foreign courts would judge our citizens. A precedent exists in Siam, where the United States gave up extra-territorial rights in 1921 on condition that Americans be tried before special courts, consisting of Siamese and foreign judges, the latter appointed by the Siamese king from a list of nominees supplied by us.

I asked Alfred Sze, the Chinese Minister at Washington, if the Siamese scheme would satisfy the new China.

"Absolutely not!" was his reply. "We have with one bound shaken off our wardship and assumed control of our inheritance, and it is to be hoped the Powers will not be too stupid or stubborn to recognize it. We are determined to go on with our program to put an end to all foreign special privileges in China. If the foreigner wants to keep up the polite conventionalities of society and bow his way out, we shall be very pleased, and glad to welcome him when he calls on a different status. If he insists upon sticking to his seat and reiterating his right to stay, we shall have to put him out. The foreigner in China is trying to see today's show on yesterday's admission ticket."

The Foreign Resident's Side.

It all goes back to the Chinese argument: "You don't have to negotiate with a thief to get him out of your house." This argument, which was first used against the Japanese in Shantung, is now revived in widespread use against all foreign "vested interests" in China, British and American in particular. Remembering Turkey's example, the Chinese add "—especially if you are big enough to throw him out!"

But there is another side to the question; and this is what is swaying the foreign offices of the powers. While the original concessions may have been wrung from the Chinese by shady means, yet there are huge interests which have been built up by perfectly legitimate means and which will be subjected to huge losses if privileges are taken away.

The "intruder" in the Chinese house has been permitted by the lethargic and perhaps over-hospitable householder to remain in his house under special guarantees, living and working there in good faith, feeding himself and materially enriching his host by his labors. He has done great philanthropic, religious and educational work. The charge brought in India that the foreigner has impoverished the country does not apply in China. It is true he has encouraged factionalism in protecting his own interests. It is also true that he has gradually assumed a very offensive attitude of social superiority.

Such is the situation in a metaphor. The reader can see there is much more involved in securing just treatment to the American community in China than Secretary Kellogg's proposal to "put them all on ships and take them to Manila," now modified by President Coolidge's more considered advice to Americans to stay by their properites.

Foreign Invasion a Bluff.

The British now offer to give up their concessions in Hankow and Tientsin. Their real offer is to turn the concessions into "settlements" like Shanghai—the difference being that concessions belong to one nation and settlements are governed internationally, giving Chinese residents thereof a slight say in their administration.

The Chinese have seized the Hankow concessions, and have shown they can take those at Tientsin any time. Are they going to consent to the creation of several more Shanghais? That was what Japan proposed at Tsingtao, but the Chinese refused, and Japan finally got out.

Dr. Chen, Peking's minister to London, said to me the other day: "We are going to proceed with our program and expect nothing from the offers of negotiations proposed by the Powers. What that program is may be readily gleaned from the fact that young leaders such as Dr. Sze, Chinese Minister to Washington, have recently visited Turkey and studied at first hand the methods the Turks used to overthrow foreign domination.

"Foreign residents in China know better than anyone that the first effect of armed foreign intervention would be to bring all the factions together for China's defence. That is one very definite reason why this armed intervention is not going very far."

In the next article Mr. Close tells of the formidable Chinese armies and where they procure their modern weapons.

ENNISMORE NEWS

ENNISMORE, Mar. 3.—Mr. J. Purdue of Windsor visited friends here on Sunday.

Mrs. W. Bell has returned home after spending a few weeks with friends in Toronto.

On Tuesday of last week the sale of farm stock and implements on the farm of Mrs. M. J. Calvert brought good prices. The cows sold from $50 to $80, and one team of horses sold for $328.

Mr. J. K. Galvin has returned home after enjoying a few weeks with friends in Detroit.

Reeve T. Cavanagh attended the Road Convention held in Toronto last week.

Miss M. Flaherty has returned home after a pleasant visit with friends in Toronto.

The Oyster Supper and Dance held in the hall here on Thursday evening, under the auspices of the Catholic Women's League was a very successful and enjoyable event. There was a large attendance to partake of the excellent supper prepared by the ladies who were untiring in their efforts in looking after it.

The ladies who prepared the oysters were Mrs. J. Killen and Mrs. E. Murphy. The music was supplied by Mr. and Mrs. M. Twomey and M. E. Hickson. Messrs. J. Harrington and P. J. Scollard acted as floor managers for the dancing which concluded the evening's entertainment.

Only Four Cavalry Horses Found In Western Ontario

WOODSTOCK, March 3.—Unable to find a single horse in Oxford County suitable for army remount purposes, and with only 4 secured in the whole of Western Ontario, a purchasing board of officers of the Royal Canadian Dragoons returned to Toronto from Woodstock yesterday. The three officers have scoured the district wishing to purchase animals to replace those lost in a recent fire at the Stanley Barracks, but their quest has been quite unsuccessful. The officers were greatly surprised by the great lack of horses of the right type for cavalry purposes.

PRESENTATION TO WARSAW COUPLE

Mr. and Mrs. E. Payne Given Club Bag—Warsaw News.

WARSAW, March 3.—On Wednesday evening about forty friends of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Payne gathered at the home of Mrs. Payne's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Thompson, to wish them a happy time in their new home. After games and other amusements, W. S. Anderson read a short address and O. B. Mellvena presented them with a handsome club bag. Mr. and Mrs. Payne expressed their pleasure at the kind thoughts and the gift, and all sang, "Pack All Your Troubles." After refreshments provided by the visiting ladies and dancing, the guests departed.

The soft weather took the snow away very rapidly. Saturday's snow made the roads heavy, but so far there are no badly drifted roads.

The stage goes with the team. Trucks have been out nearly every day.

Miss Laura Bowen is visiting in Toronto.

Mrs. Paul Payne is visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Payne.

Mrs. James Greystock is spending a few days with her brother in South Dummer. He had his leg broken by a falling tree.

U.S. COASTGUARD SEIZES VESSEL 300 MILES OUT

Canadian Owned Rum-Runner Had Million Dollars' Worth of Liquor.

PANAMA REGISTRY.

Vessel Changed From Canadian To Panaman Lists Last Month.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 3.—(Canadian Press).—That the Government has carried its war against liquor smuggling to the high seas, without regard for the twelve-mile limit in cases where ships involved are known rum-runners, became apparent to-day as Federal officials discussed the seizure yesterday of the freighter "Federal Ship," owned by Consolidated Exporters Inc. of Canada, three hundred miles off this port with upwards of one million dollars worth of Scotch whiskey aboard.

Whether the coastguard guns were used to overcome resistance by the "Federal Ship" to being boarded was not made known. In the meagre radio despatches received here telling of the capture, but the guardsmen were authorized to open fire on her. The ship is being convoyed to San Francisco by four coastguard boats. The captain and crew were put under arrest and the ship is in charge of a prize crew of coastguards. She will arrive here to-morrow.

The "Federal Ship," which recently figured in smuggling investigations by both the Canadian and United States Governments, was watched by coastguards since February 22, when, on sailing from Vancouver, B.C., she changed her registry from British to Panama. At the time she was reported heading for Tahiti.

The coastguard cutter 'Algonquin' was sent to follow the federal ship, and later the cutters 'Cahokia,' 'Shawnee' and 'Smith' were sent from here to aid.

Three hundred miles off San Francisco and carrying orders to shoot away the federal ship's rudder and steering gear if she was flying the Panaman flag, and refused to submit to inspection, the cutter halted her.

In a few minutes the 'Cahokia' wirelessed headquarters here that the Federal ship refused to allow him to go aboard.

"If Federal ship continues refusal, fire a blank shot over her bows," headquarters flashed back; "if she still resists shoot a one pound shell over bows; then shoot away the rudder and steering gear."

Whether the rum ship then drew the coast fire was not made known. A message saying she had 'resisted,' and that she had been seized, was all that was made known.

"They had orders to take her if she was under Panama registry, even if they had to chase her across the Pacific," said Lieutenant Frank Austin, who issued the wireless orders from here.

TRY THIS TO BANISH RHEUMATIC PAINS

People who have been tormented for years—yes, even so crippled that they were unable to help themselves—have been brought back to robust health through the mighty power of Rheuma.

Rheuma acts with speed. It should bring in just a few days the relief you have prayed for. It attacks the poisons that cause agony and pain in the joints and muscles and quickly the torturing soreness completely disappears, or it costs you nothing.

While Rheuma is harmless and inexpensive, it is one discovery that has forced rheumatism to yield and disappear.

Get a bottle of Rheuma from McDermid & Jury, or any druggist today. It must give you the joyful relief you expect or your money will be refunded.

Principal Of Queen's To Wed Gotham Girl

KINGSTON, March 3.—The engagement is announced of Principal R. Bruce Taylor of Queen's University, Kingston, and Miss Muriel Bray of New York. The wedding is to take place early in the summer, and Dr. Taylor and his bride will spend their honeymoon in England.

Miss Bray is one of the editors of the Book of Knowledge, and was doing some special work at Queen's University last summer. She spent some time also visiting friends here. Last week-end she visited in Montreal.

GARDEN HILL LEAGUE WINS

Visitors Defeat Welcome Young People in Debate.

WELCOME NEWS

WELCOME, March 3.—On Thursday evening the Welcome League met the Garden League in debate as scheduled by the Conference League Executive, in the inter-league debates of the Bay of Quinte Conference.

The debate was held in the United Church, Welcome, and the subject of debate was "Resolved that the inventor has done more to promote the happiness of mankind than has the legislator."

Garden Hill had the affirmative side and was represented by Mr. Lackey and Mr. Bannister.

Welcome on the negative side, was represented by Miss Violet McCann and Mr. Earnest Bamsey.

Mr. E. H. Martyn, President of the Welcome League, was chairman, while the judges were Rev. J. Lane, Canton; Mrs. C. Seymons, Welcome; and Mr. Elwood Brown, Port Hope.

Mr. Arthur Walker of Zion and Mr. Douglas Westington of Port Hope, were critics.

Both sides put up splendid arguments and the manner and delivery were exceptionally good.

The judges, while acknowledging the decision was close, gave it to Garden Hill.

After the debate, lunch was served by the Welcome League to those present.

Personals.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Gray were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. Little on Thursday.

Mr. Elson of Millbrook visited his sister, Mrs. James Walker, on Friday.

Mr. D. Westington was a guest at the home of Mr. J. Pearce on Thursday

Rev. and Mrs. Mears were calling on friends in the village on Friday.

Mrs. L. Crossley and Miss Preston spent the week-end in Millbrook.

Notwithstanding the amount of snow that fell on Sunday and Monday, the soft weather and the rain of Friday night has caused it to disappear and the highway is bare near Port Hope.

Butterflies not only continue to live when their heads are cut off, but actually survive those not decapitated.

HIAWATHA NEWS

HIAWATHA, Mar. 3.—Some of the business visitors in Peterborough on Saturday from this vicinity were Messrs. Fred Hawkins, George Paudash, Hanlan Howard and James Howard.

Mr. William Drimmie visited his friend Ralph Loukes on Wednesday evening last.

On their way to Harwood, Messrs. Michael Duffus and Jack Kelley stopped at noon at the Lakeshore House, on Wednesday.

Mr. Harry Redmond was a business visitor here on Thursday.

DO IT TO-DAY

DAVID MORTON & SONS LTD., Hamilton, Ontario

Sharpens Morning Appetites

and sustains through vital, busy hours

Some appetites don't waken till the morning is half spent. They do not welcome breakfast, and so they take little of it. A day that is not started with an active digestive system is a day that is badly begun.

Start your day right by having Quaker Oats. It sharpens morning appetites. Its tempting aroma arouses a welcome as friendly as the genial Quaker himself.

Warm, appetizing, gratefully soft, it is pleasing to the stomach. A breakfast to enjoy. It wakens dormant digestive organs. Because it assimilates so easily, body and brain quickly reach high capacity for work.

For busiest hours, Quaker Oats satisfies and sustains. It supplies the fuel the body needs. It contains 16% protein, the tissue builder; 65% carbohydrates, the energy producer; and the all-important vitamines and mineral salts.

Quaker Oats
—you have always known

Quick Quaker
—cooks in 3 minutes

Two Kinds

You can get Quaker Oats in two forms—the large plump whole flake or the half flake, rolled thin, and partly cooked. Both are of the same Quaker Quality, famous in 58 countries.

If you wish to make porridge while you boil the coffee or make the toast, use Quick Quaker. It cooks in 3 minutes.

Every package bears the name and picture of the Quaker. No other is "just as good".

When the six year prizes were being given out, Mr. George Palmer was called to the platform, when the following memorial address (beautifully framed) was read by Rev. Mr. Harton:

Park Street Baptist Sunday School,
Peterborough.

Presented to Mr. and Mrs. George Palmer, in memory of Earl Palmer, their son, who has attended Park Street Baptist Sunday School for six years in succession.

He departed this life on Jan. 8th, 1927.

James L. Harton, Pastor; Maurice Dunkley, Superintendent; O. S. Matchett, Sec.-Treasurer.

Large congregations were present both morning, afternoon and evening, this being Rev. Mr. Harton's first Sunday since accepting the call.

OTONABEE I.O.D.E. REGULAR MEETING

Talk On Work Of Order in the West Given By Visitor.

The regular meeting of the Otonabee Chapter I.O.D.E. was held yesterday afternoon in the green room of the Y.W.C.A., the Regent, Miss S. A. Tomkins, presiding.

Mrs. D. R. Fleming was appointed as the Chapter's delegate to the Provincial meeting to be held in Hamilton in April. The Chapter decided to assist two pupils through High School this year.

Five new members were welcomed yesterday, in Mrs. J. W. Anderson, Mrs. E. L. Davis, Mrs. S. H. Mitchell, Mrs. J. Hill and Mrs. N. Andrew. Applications from five other ladies were also received and voted on.

At the conclusion of routine business, an interesting talk was given by a visitor to the city, Mrs. Randall, of Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan, who brought the greetings of the Chapter there and outlined the work being done, in the way of assistance in tubercular work and in maternity homes.

A musical programme included songs by Miss Florence Murray, who sang "Gingham Gown" and "My Dreams," and Miss Gertrude Doyle, singing "An Irish Lullaby" and "A Brown Bird Singing."

A Smart One-piece Dress

Simple yet exceedingly chic is this trim frock and a style very easily fashioned. View A shows the smart effect of contrasting material used for the shaped collar finishing the modish square neck, the vestee, and cuffs on the long dart-fitted sleeves. There is a set-in plait at the center front and two set-in pockets, while the back is in one piece. The belt fastens with a front closing buckle. View B is the same dress with short sleeves and the collar omitted. NO. 1533 is in sizes 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. Size 36 requires 4¼ yards 39-inch material, or 3 yards 54-inch, and ½ yard 39-inch contrasting for collar, cuffs and vestee. Price 20 cents the pattern.

Many styles of smart apparel may be found in our Fashion Book. Our designers originate their patterns in the heart of the style centers, and their creations are those of tested popularity, brought within the means of the average woman. Price of the book 10 cents the copy.

SAINT and SINNER

Faith divided Saturday and Sunday between the hosptial and the jail. Banning, the district attorney, was showing an unexpectedly indulgent attitude toward Cherry, in permitting her father, her brother and her sister, Faith, to see her daily until the grand jury should meet on Monday. Accompanied by Warden Little, who could hardly take his fascinated gaze off the beautiful, cheerful little prisoner, Faith and Cherry walked arm and arm down one of the interminable corridors of the county jail to Cherry's cell, which was mercifully isolated.

"Just look what Bob sent me, the angel," Cherry cried, as the great barred door swung open at the turn of the warden's key. She pointed to the neatly made bed, its ugly, gray-painted iron framework almost concealed under fresh, fragrant white linens and woolly blankets, and to the gayly colored Czecho-Slovakian rug which almost completely covered the cold, concrete floor.

"George Pruitt sent these. Aren't they gorgeous?" Cherry darted to a corner of her cell and lifted up a tin bucket holding a great sheaf of long-stemmed, golden roses, whose color exactly matched her strange, golden eyes, now a little too bright with an effort to keep back the tears.

"George is sweet," Faith acknowledged, with a catch of the breath.

"And I've gotten simply loads of telegrams and letters," Cherry ran on brightly. "Of course the matron opens them first, but—it's wonderful to know that strangers, as well as friends, believe in me."

"Yes, sir, she's the most popular visitor we ever had here," Warden Little backed her up proudly. "We're sure going to miss her."

"Have you seen—Chris?" Faith hesitated on the name. How odd that Chris Wiley was now her brother-in-law, and the husband of this gallant, tearless little prisoner.

Cherry's face tightened, and her eyes became cold and shallow, as if a light had been turned off behind them. "No," she answered briefly. "He's in jail, too, you know. We're not allowed to see each other until—until after Monday." She could not bring herself to say "until after the grand jury meets."

"I ought to visit him," Faith murmured, casting a fleeting glance at the warden, who was pretending not to listen.

"Don't bother, Cherry said with sudden fierceness. "You've got enough to worry about, between Mother and me, darling. Oh, Faith, I don't want to see Chris—again—ever—." Her voice broke on its first sob.

"Don't Cherry, honey!" Faith whispered, with another agonized glance at the apparently unheeding warden. "Anything you say now can be used against you."

When she left the jail, Faith took with her the absolute certainty that, no matter if the grand jury exonerated Cherry, the girl's life was ruined. Cherry was sorry that she had married Chris, and Faith knew that the discovery of the murder had had nothing to do with the tragedy of her marriage.

"Now," Faith braced herself to her next task, "I've got to show Mother a cheerful face. I've got to lie and lie. Poor Mother! Poor Cherry!"

When the nurse admitted her, that Sunday afternoon, to her mother's room, Faith saw the invalid propped high in bed, vases of flowers and a great basket of hothouse fruit crowding the little bedside table, a box of expensive French chocolates—Bob's gift—open on the neatly turned back white bedspread. On Mrs. Lane's broad, flushed face there was a look of supreme contentment. Her task was going to be easier than she had hoped, Faith reflected, as she deliberately quirked her lips in a tender, daughterly smile.

Faith and Bob spent a determinedly cheerful evening that Sunday, while Jim Lane sat in the kitchen, his small, stooped figure almost concealed behind a pile of Sunday papers from all over the state. When he came upon some especially sentimental word-picture of Cher y, he waded through the drift of papers to show his find to Faith and Bob.

"I don't want to read what the papers say, dear," Faith told him at last. "I can't stand it. Now, please don't be hurt," she pleaded as his mouth quivered under what he took to be a rebuke. "One member of the family at least ought to keep up with what the papers say, so that we shall know how public sentiment lies," she soothed him. Mollified, even a little pleased, he went back to his grisly task.

Junior and Fay Allen, warmly wrapped against the November cold, sat on the porch and kept reporters from knocking at the door. "Long" enjoyed his tilts with the gentlemen of the press in much the same way that Jim Lane enjoyed reading of his daughter's sudden notoriety.

With shades tightly drawn, Bob and Faith sat on the old, broken-springed davenport, hand in hand, trying to talk of other things than the tragedy and Cherry's possible fate. But again and again they came back to it.

"If the grand jury does indict, Bob," Faith asked suddenly, "what will the procedure be? I know so little about such things."

"Why," Bob cleared his throat and tried to speak in a matter-of-fact voice, "then Cherry will be—be held on a charge of—of murder, and they won't allow bail. The case will be set for trial, by one of the district judges of the county court—"

"Soon?" Faith's hand rose to conceal the beating pulse in her throat. "I can't bear to think of her in jail for months and months, awaiting trial. It isn't fair, Bob! She'll wither and die, like a transplanted flower."

"Let's don't speculate any more," Bob begged her with tender insistence. "We'd better plan about tomorrow. Junior and your father and you have received summonses to appear before the grand jury of course?"

"Yes," Faith nodded, her face going very white.

"So have I, of course. I'll call for all of you in my car. Now, darling, go to bed and try to sleep. And don't be afraid of tomorrow. You only have to tell the truth. Try to tell your story exactly as you told it to the coroner's jury. Nothing you say can hurt Cherry, remember."

He took her face between his hands, stooped to kiss her eyes, then said in a low voice, vibrant with love:

"May the Lord watch over thee and keep thee."

"I didn't know you were—religious, Bob," Faith whispered, in a shaken voice.

"I wasn't, or didn't know I was." Bob took her hands. "But you have made me believe in God, because He made you. And in a time like this, there is a need for a God. Good-night, dear heart."

It was a different Bob who sprang from his car the next morning at nine o'clock. A brisk, cheerful Bob, whose blue eyes were almost gay, whose smile flashed upon the reporters, already on the scene to gather any scraps of drama that might fall their way, as the Lane family prepared to go before the grand jury which was meeting that day to decide whether or not Cherry Lane Wiley should be indicted for the murder of Ralph Cluny, or allowed to go free.

"You look as if you were going on a picnic," Faith accused him as she opened the door to let him in.

Fire Spreads In Hotel During Search For Coin

LONDON, Ont., March 3.—George Gallagher, proprietor of the Park Hotel, Dundas and Egerton streets, yesterday discovered fire in the building, and rushed to a pay station telephone in the hotel sitting-room to give the alarm. But, according to his story, the operator was deaf to his cries of fire until she heard the clinking of the nickel in the slot of the machine. He finally got a nickel, but by that time the fire had made headway, and had appeared through the roof. The loss amounts to several hundred dollars.

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, but do not Compel.

FOR FRIDAY, MARCH 4, 1927

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

This should be a day favorable for most activities, according to astrology. Many benefic influences are strong.

Great fortunes are to be made in the next few years, it is foretold, for out of world turmoil wealth is to be gained.

Stimulation for many lines of trade again is indicated by the stars. Our ships are to carry heavy cargoes to many ports.

New leaders are to rise from unexpected places, and to gain great power that will be felt by the United States government, the seers declare.

Again a period is coming when both men and women, endowed with real foresight and intelligence will be called on to render public service.

Women are to prove themselves able to perform tasks of far-reaching benefit in a world disturbed by sinister influences.

News of much importance may be expected at this time when there is to be a sudden stimulation of industry. Factories are to be kept busy.

Late today there is a sign threatening to aviators and indicating difficulties regarding government support of big plans for aerial navigation.

Much discussion of public questions is to reveal a great divergence of opinions in the United Statse.

Criticism may be expected by legislators and officials of city, state and federal governments.

The lunation of March favors workers in this country, which will enjoy increased foreign trade.

Women will be possessed with a desire to travel in dangerous places it is prognosticated, and many Americans will serve in Europe.

Persons whose birthdate it is should have a prosperous year, but certain changes are indicated.

Children born on this day probably will have an inventive talent. They should be carefully educated along their strongest bent.

Signature For Million Confirmed By Wireless

LONDON, March 3—(Canadian Press).—A draft for one million dollars, drawn by a customer of the Mellon National Bank of Pittsburgh, Penn., on the Bankers' Trust Company here, it is learned, was paid on Tuesday on a specimen signature sent over the ocean by wireless.

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

This long-skirted frock of black lace is posed over a slip of orange silk and trimmed with an orange belt, an orange flower and an orange bow at the left side.

It is still difficult to find any indication of the passing of the fashion for short hair—but you do not have to go far to find indication of the coming of longer skirts. At the showing of a collection of spring frocks at one of the prominent dressmaking houses, observers were interested to see that the skirts were still amazingly short. But the couturiere in charge of the exhibition shrugged her shoulders and sighed as she explained that the order to have the skirts made longer had been disregarded in the workroom. When the frocks were copied for private customers they would indeed be made several inches longer. There may, of course, have been an order to disregard the first order—so that the frocks displayed would possess the chic that abbreviated skirts undoubtedly impart.

It is not, however, always merely for the sake of greater modesty that women wear longer skirts. American flappers are notably addicted to the long-skirted dance frock. When a group of young English university students made a visit to America a month or so ago they were really surprised by the long skirts that so many of the flappers wore. The fact that these bouffant, long-skirted frocks were made with "no backs," as the students observed, made it apparent that the flappers who wore them were not suffering from any excess of prudishness.

But why should the question be answered all one way or all the other? It is barely possible that skirts of different lengths might all remain fashionable at the same time—just as frocks with long sleeves and frocks with short sleeves and frocks with no sleeves may all be in fashion at the same time.

B.N.A. ACT SUBJECT FOR SCHOOL ESSAYS

Women's Liberal Association Offers Prizes for Contest Among Pupils.

The British North America Act is the subject for the prize essay competition which is being put on in the primary and secondary schools of the province by the Women's Liberal Association. The scholars are divided into three groups. The first is for all public and separate school pupils, and the essay is not to exceed 500 words. First prize is $10.00, second $7, third $5, and fourth $3. In the second class, pupils of the lower and middle schools may compete, the essay not to exceed 700 words. In this class two prizes are given, first of $15.00, and second of $10.00. The third class is for pupils of the upper school, the essay not to exceed 1,000 words. The prizes in this are the same as the second class.

Each essay must be certified by the teacher as the sole work of the pupil, and must be legibly written on one side of the paper only. The class, A, B, or C, should be marked on the envelope as well as on the essay itself, which should be sent, not later than April 1st, to Mrs. F. W. Johnston, 146 Dunn Avenue, Toronto, 3.

THE CHINESE WAR MAP

The region where China's war lords are at close grips is shown here. Driving northward through Chekiang province to attack Shanghai and gain control of all territory south of the Yangtse River, Cantonese or South China forces have taken Hangchow and Ningpo. Meanwhile Marshal Chang Tso-lin, North China's ruler, is hitting back by sending troops southward through Honan province to attack Hankow, the Cantonese capital.

Bond's Drug Store Says Emerald Oil Must Give Complete Satisfaction or Money Cheerfully Refunded.

Get a two-ounce bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil (full strength) today. Every well stocked drug store has this, with the distinct understanding that your money will be cheerfully returned if it does not reduce the inflammation, soreness and pain much quicker than any remedy you ever used.

Your bunions may be swollen and inflamed that you think you can't go another step. Your shoes may feel as if they are cutting right into the flesh. You feel sick all over with the pain and torture and pray for quick relief. What's to be done

Two or three applications of Moone's Emerald Oil and in fifteen minutes the pain and soreness disappears. A few more applications at regular intervals and the swelling reduces.

And as for Soft Corns a few applications each night at bed time and they just seem to shrivel right up and scale off.

No matter how discouraged you have been with pads, shields, or other applications, if you have not tried Emerald Oil then you have something to learn.

It's a wonderful formula—this combination of essential oils with camphor and other antiseptics so marvelous that thousands of bottles are sold annually for reducing varicose or swollen veins.

Bond's Drug Store and every good druggist guarantees Moone's Emerald Oil to end your foot troubles or money back.

WOMEN'S MUSIC CLUB MEETING

Works of Canadian and American Composers Are Discussed.

"An Afternoon With Canadian and American Composers" was the programme provided for members of the Women's Music Club at their meeting yesterday afternoon in the studio of the Conservatory of Music. Arranged by Mrs. J. D. Fletcher and Mrs. W. R. Widdess, the entertainment included an interesting paper on Canadian and American Composers, read by Mrs. Ford Turner, and a very fine programme of songs and instrumental numbers.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. J. Forbes Allan, the announcements were made by Mrs. R. Gliddon. A Nominating Committee, to bring in nominations for officers for the ensuing year, was also appointed at yesterday's meeting, on motion of Mrs. W. Sangster, seconded by Mrs. W. R. Widdess. This committee will be composed of Mesdames J. W. McDermid, W. H. Hill, and William Blackwell.

Mrs. Turner's paper dealt comprehensively with the works of Canadian and American musical composers, and was illustrated by songs and instrumental numbers. She referred to various Canadians who have made their mark on the musical life of Canada, in Dr. Alexander Muir, composer of "The Maple Leaf Forever"; Henry Herbert Godfrey, who composed "The Land of the Maple," "Men of the North," and "The Homeland"; Dr. Healy Willan, of Toronto, who has composed many organ numbers, motets and part songs also attractive selections in chamber music; Dr. Ernest McMillan, now head of the Toronto Conservatory of Music, in succession to the late Dr. Vogt, and composer, among other works, of the cantata, "England"; Gena Branscombe, a native of Picton, now of New York, whose songs have become very popular; Dr. Vroom, of Calgary, W. O. Forsyth, Clarence Lucas, formerly of Toronto, composer of pieces for organ, voice and piano; Dr. H. A. Fricker, of Toronto; the late Dr. A. S. Vogt, who, as a boy, played the organ in Elmira, Ontario, and who was the first native-born Canadian to do constructive work in the musical line for the Dominion; Geoffrey O'Hara, composer of "There Is No Death," "Give a Man a Horse He Can Ride," and "K-K-Katy"; Leo Smith; Frank Blatchford; Ernest Seitz, composer of "The World is Waiting for the Sunrise", and Horace Lapp, composer for the piano.

Dealing with American composers, Mrs. Turner spoke, first, of Stephen Foster and Edward MacDowell, leaders respectively in the realms of folk song and artistic music. Foster, of Southern descent, was born in 1826 and died in 1864. He had a genius for tender melody of sensitive perceptive quality, and composed, among other songs, the well-known selections, "Old Black Joe," "Swanee River," "Ole Kentucky Home," and "Massa's in the Cold, Cold Ground." Another contemporary of Foster's whose work shows the Creole influence is Louis Gottschalk.

Edward MacDowell, born in New York in 1861, dying there in 1908, was of Scotch-Irish descent, and was possessed of a fine artistic sense and a degree of sensitiveness which caused him to believe much in fairies and fairy lore. His death was premature, caused by the nervous strain of academic life, for which he was unfitted. His best work was done in a log cabin situated near Peterborough, New Hampshire. His best-known compositions include the piano numbers: "To a Wild Rose," "Sea Pieces" and "Fireside Tales," also "The Sea," "My Jean," and "The Swan Bent Low to the Lily."

Other American composers alluded to were John K. Payne, William Henry Fry, Charles Converse and Dudley Buck, who excels in chamber music, also John Philip Sousa, the "March" king, George W. Chadwick, Arthur Foster, Edgar S. Kelly, Horatio Parker, Arthur Whiting and Ethelbert Nevin, composer of "The Rosary" and the piano composition, "Narcissus," from "Water Scenes."

Of two types of American composers, one avails itself of the native material, while the other follows the trend of European genius in musical matters. Of the first type, Arthur Farewell is a pioneer, also Henry F. Gilbert, Charles Cadman, composer of "In the Land of the Sky Blue Water" and other works, and Mortimer Wilson. Of the romanticists, with MacDowell as an outstanding example, there are also Goldmark, Mason, Frank Ward, Homer Bartlett and Bernard Hamblen. In the operatic world, in which American composers have scored of late years, are numbered Converse, Victor Herbert, Damrosch, Reginald de Koven and Arthur Nevin.

Illustrative of the various works of the composers were songs and instrumental numbers, splendidly rendered in each instance.

Mrs. J. D. Fletcher sang "There is No Death," by Geoffrey O'Hara, "I am Fate," by Bernard Hamblen, "The Last Hour," by Walter Kramer, and "The Two Magicians," by Pearl Curran. Miss Mathilde Masson sang "I Send My Heart Up To Thee," by Gena Branscombe, "The Years At The Spring," by Amy Beach, and a French-Canadian folk song, sung in French. Miss Hurley played accompaniments for the vocal numbers. Miss Margaret Widdess played two piano solo numbers, compositions of Clarence Lucas, in "Barcarolle" and "Interlude," and Miss Elizabeth Webber played Macdowell's "To a Wild Rose." Donald Greene gave a violin rendition, with accompaniment by Miss Widdess, of Dr. Healy Willan's "Sonata."

At the conclusion of the programme, Mrs. Gliddon expressed the thanks of the Club to all who had taken part in the programme, and took occasion to mention the pioneer work in Canadian music done by Dr. Torrington of Toronto, who was for fifty years organist of the Metropolitan Church there, and composed several organ numbers and anthems.

LIVE STOCK MEN WANT TRADING SYSTEMS EQUAL

Say Legislation Should Recognize Co-operative and Commission Principles.

AGAINST ABOLITION.

Producers and Shippers Would Be Severely Menaced By This Step.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 3.—A conference of representatives of organizations interested in the livestock marketing in Eastern Canada went on record here yesterday that Federal legislation should recognize equally the principles of commission trading and co-operative trading on livestock exchanges and that both should be under Government regulation. The conference also asserted that producers and shippers would be seriously menaced were present exchanges operating in Canadian stock yards done away with or impaired and that provision should be made in the livestock act for admission to these exchanges of representatives of farmers' and breeders' associations and provincial organizations with full voting powers "but not trading privileges."

The conference was called by the Federal Department of Agriculture and was attended by representatives of the Provincial Agricultural Departments of Ontario and Quebec, representative of eastern livestock exchanges and co-operative bodies in Ontario and Quebec. J. H. Grisdale, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, presided, and Hon. W. P. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture, was in attendance.

Full agreement was expressed by the delegates with a resolution passed at a similar conference in Regina advocating the recognition with equal standing of commission and co-operative trading. The conferences were held preliminary to a consolidation of the Federal Livestock Act.

Resolutions Passed:

Other resolutions passed asked:

That recognition should be given a system of sale by auction in disposing of livestock at stockyards:

That provision should be made for the payment of patronage dividends by co-operative associations operating on livestock exchanges:

That provision should be made that all books and records of transactions by commission merchants and co-operative associations doing business at stockyards should be open to examination by a representative of the Minister of Agriculture and the Minister have discretion in making the results of the investigation known:

That applicants for a seat on a livestock exchange should first have to register with the Department of Agriculture and that the Minister of Agriculture should advise the exchange that all regulations have been complied with before the exchange can issue a membership;

That the Department of Agriculture study the question of proper protection being given sellers at stockyards.

Favor Trust Account.

The conference went on record in favor of the operation of a livestock commission account in the handling of trust monies and asked that the Federal Act be amended to make such an account practicable.

A resolution was passed strongly favoring the passage of provincial enabling legislation to put the Dominion livestock regulations into effect in all provinces. It was pointed out that Ontario and Quebec had yet to pass such legislation.

Harry Talbot, representing the Toronto Livestock Exchange, stated that a necessity existed for an annual conference between the different exchanges or for a central agency to standardize regulations throughout the Dominion. Mr. Grisdale said he was in favor of the suggestion and would appoint experts from the Department to study the problem and formulate suggestions which would be presented to the exchanges.

King Likes Side Saddle For Women On Horseback

LONDON, March 3.—(Canadian Press.)—The King dislikes the vogue of women riding astride of horses. Visiting the horse show at Islington yesterday he saw many women in manish costume astride of hunters which were being shown in the ring, and remarked to his companions: "I don't like to see women ride astride; the side seat is much more graceful."

The Queen and Princess Mary are whole-heartedly in agreement with the King on this point. The Queen never rides, but Princess Mary often follows the hounds — always riding side saddle.

NEWS FROM ARGONAUT

The following wire was received yesterday in Toronto on developments in Argonaut:

"Argonaut diamond drill seventy-fifty level cut eleven feet ore as follows: four feet thirty-two dollars, four feet twenty-six dollars, three feet six dollars, gold only, copper assays coming. This resembles upward extension vein ten eighteen will reach by cross cut Thursday. Downward extension vein 506 located six twenty-five shows ten and a half feet dollar ore drifting now."

Mine Stocks Lower; Trading Lighter To-day

TORONTO, March 3. — Canadian Press. — Depression spread throughout the list in lighter trading on the Mining Exchange to-day. McIntyre and Noranda dropped sharply, but other downward revisions were not unusually large. McIntyre sold down 40c at 26.90, and Noranda was 30c lower at 20.60; Potter Gold touched a low of 49 but recovered to 55—one point lower than yesterday. Teck Hughes lost 9 at 651 and Nipissing 15 at 905. The Area and Amulet stocks held firm, Area ever gaining at 37, but two other prominent Quebec leaders eased somewhat; Duprat was down a point at 16 and Laval

Copper Shares Feature Trading In Wall Street

NEW YORK, Mar. 3 (Canadian Press)—Sharp recoveries took place throughout to-day's stock market.

Reports that the Utah Copper company had taken steps to restrict production of the red metal, another advance of 10 points in lead prices, and the raising of the annual dividend on Park Utah from 60 to 80 cents all contributed to a more cheerful speculative outlook for the coppers. American Smelting and Federal Mining and Smelting Preferred led the advance in that group. Independent Steels were aided by the stiffening in scrap prices in the Pittsburg district and reports showing the February pig iron output to be not only the largest of any month since last November, but also in excess of February, 1926. Rubber shares again moved forward under the leadership of Goodrich. Motors also received good support despite the circulation of pessimistic sales and price cutting reports.

Favorable Wheat Weather Sends Chicago Price Down

CHICAGO, March 3 (Canadian Press)—Favorable weather for domestic winter wheat, together with Liverpool quotation lower than due had an early bearish effect to-day on wheat here. Liverpool had a forecast of probably enlarged shipments from Argentine. Opening unchanged to 3-4c lower, Chicago wheat underwent a moderate general setback. Corn and oats were also easier, corn starting unchanged to 1-2 cent off and subsequently receding all around. Provisions were firm.

Opening prices were: Wheat, May 140 1-4, July 133 5-8. Corn, May 72 5-8, July 82 1-8. Oats, May 46 3-4, July 47.

Trading Volume Decreases; Toronto Tendency Is Lower

TORONTO, March 3. — (Canadian Press.)— With a substantial decrease in the volume of trading, an easier tone was evidenced on the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning. Trading centred around a few active leaders and was merely scattered through the rest of the list. Brazilian, Gooderham and Worts, and Hiram Walker were the most active and the firmest in the depressed list, Brazilian advancing 1 1-4 at 122. G. and W. firmed three-eighths at 54 1-2 and Walker was up half at 36 1-2. Canners Preferred eased a point at 84 and Industrial Alcohol lost 3-8 at 25 3-8. Seagram finished with a loss of an eighth at 24 1-8 at noon and the active International Nickel was also an eighth easier at 41 5-8. F. N. Burt at 58 1-2 and City Dairy at 100 1-8 were both slightly lower.

FIRE THREATENS JERSEY FRONT

Firemen Battle For Six Hours to Subdue Blaze To-day.

LOSS $1,000,000.

Jersey City, N. J., March 3. — After six hours of toil in a driving gale and sub-freezing weather, twenty seven companies of firemen, summoned by four alarms, to-day conquered a raging inferno of fire that had threatened to burn out the Hudson river front.

The loss was estimated at from seven hundred and fifty thousand to one million dollars. One fireman was overcome by the smoke and another had his feet frozen.

36 Pancakes Needed To Satisfy One Diner

OGDENSBURG, N.Y., Mar. 3.— (Canadian Press.) — H. Munson, thirty, to-day claims the record for eating flapjacks at one sitting. He walked into a lunch room and when he completed his meal it was found that he had required thirty-six pancakes half a pound of butter, half a pound of sausage, two quarts of maple syrup, two cups of coffee, and a glass of water. Three witnesses testify to the total.

Today you see the results in every circle, in figures made girlish and slender. The use of Marmola has grown to very large proportions because of these proved results. You owe yourself the test of a scientific help which has done so much for so many. The results will surprise and delight you.

All druggists supply Marmola at $1 a box. A booklet in each box tells why it acts. Go get it now and watch the results on fat.

UNITY OF HEART BETWEEN RACES

Sir Esme Howard Addresses Washington Club on "Anglo-Saxon Unity."

WAR UNHOLY.

WASHINGTON, March 3. Canadian Press. — The sort of unity I want to see grow up among the English speaking peoples, is unity of heart and understanding, said Sir Esme Howard, the British ambassador to Washington, in a speech on "Anglo-Saxon Unity," delivered before the Twentieth Century Club to-day.

"I should like it to be an accepted fact," he added, "in the mind of every man, woman and child, in all the English-speaking countries that, come what may, we will never war with each other—that such a war would be like a duel between brothers—a thing unholy and impious—not to be even thought of."

Tax On Fur Trade Revived For First Time in 250 Years

OTTAWA, March 3.—(Canadian Press.)—For the first time in 250 years, a tax is to be placed upon furs from the Northwest Territories. Within a few days Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior, will introduce a bill into the House of Commons to empower the Commissioner-in-Council of the Northwest Territories to impose an export tax per pelt on furs. At the present time about $2,000,000 worth of furs are taken from the territories each year by trading companies, without revenue to the Federal Government. The proposed tax is designed to meet to some extent the cost of maintaining the administration of Canada's Northland.

NATIVES BLAMED FOR PILOTS' LOSS

Inhabitants of Moroccan Coast May Have Slain Aviator.

PARIS, March 3. (United Press.) Major Larree Borges, Uruguayan flyer, who was missing to-day somewhere between Casa Blanca, Morocco, and the Canary Islands, may have been a victim of savages on the Coast of Africa.

It was recalled to-day that a pilot of a French commercial plane was murdered in 1926, when forced to land on the Moroccan coast south of Agadir. The natives there are unusually savage.

Stirling won the right to meet Tweed in the finals for the championship of the Hastings County Hockey League by defeating Marmora here last night, 3 to 2, in the first game to break a three-cornered tie which existed. The winners had an edge through most of the contest, and fully deserved their victory. They played better combination, back checked a great deal better, and out-skated and out-shot their opponents.

It was the good work of Neal in goal that kept Marmora in the race. The Stirling team was right in on him time after time, sending in three or four successive shots in at times, but he turned them aside cleverly. This team mates bunched and gave him little protection.

At the other end Hulin was not often pressed. The Marmora team played most of the time as if protecting a lead, keeping three men back and shooting from the blue line, and their attacks were easily taken care of.

The checking of the Stirling team had a great deal to do with the result. The forwards kept the Marmora lads all tangled up, spoiling their combination and making them shoot from outside. They had a tendency to chop at the puck or to work in such a way that the puck carrier tripped if the check failed of its proper purpose. On the other hand, the Marmora forwards were ineffective at checking, giving a great deal of work to their defence men and goal keeper.

A mis-application of Senior tactics was harmful to the losers. They stayed pretty well out of the corners but went too far and refused to go close on goal at all. Attacks by the forwards, whether singly or in combination, ended with a shot, generally wide, from the blue line, and a quick line-up to receive the counter attack. As a result both of their goals were scored by defence men on individual rushes, while the forwards lost many chances by not being in close for the rebounds.

Wallace was most noticeable on the Stirling team. The big wing man packed a wicked shot and tested Neal more than once. He showed a nice turn of speed and went in close to shoot. Over-anxiety led to his spoiling a lot of plays, as he was often off-side. H. Ingram was another shining light. He scored two goals and came close on a number of rushes. With Tulloch he provided a good defence. The other members of the team held their end up admirably, checking and shooting hard. J. Acres played a great game at centre and was robbed several times when he picked up rebounds right in front of Neal.

Neal was the star of the Marmora team. Although he seemed awkward, he got in front of dozens of hard shots and the three that beat him would have discredited no goaler. His weakness was in clearing, although at the same time none of the many rebounds he allowed was turned into a counter. Carl Woods, the Peterborough boy, had many friends in the crowd and when he showed his real form in the third period was loudly applauded. In the first two periods he was used as left wing and seemed unable to get started. Shifted to the defence, his natural position, he opened the third period with a pretty rush that resulted in a goal, and kept threatening all through the rest of the game. Shannon, a junior, and Hughes, on the defence, proved the most dangerous Marmora players, their rushes taking them closer than the attacks of the forwards.

Bert McLeod refereed to the satisfaction of both teams. He was lenient on the chopping checks, but checked up any tendency to rough it or to play off-side.

The game opened rather listlessly, neither goal being threatened for some minutes. The players were apparently trying to feel each other out, shooting from the blue line and putting up an air-tight defence. Combination was lacking and there seemed to be no system to the play. J. Acres drew a sentence for slashing and then Woods was chased for a couple of golf swings that whistled by the heads of the other players. Acres drew another rest, this time for tripping McWilliams, who was skating up and down in whirlwind fashion but getting nowhere.

In the closing minutes of the period two goals were scored. H. Ingram secured the first, going down the side and beating Neal with a fast shot to the corner. Shannon secured just after the face-off and went right in on Hulin, flipping the puck into the net on a backhand shot as he passed by.

The second period was also listless at the start, neither team seeming disposed to start anything. Finally Wallace raced down and sent a hot one past Neal and things loosened up. Both teams tried hard but the Stirling attack was much more effective, carrying the puck closer to the Marmora goal and keeping play in that end of the rink most of the period. H. Ingram lengthened the Stirling lead on a shot from the side after a melee in front of the net, having been left uncovered to take a pass out. Tulloch was chased for slugging.

Tulloch opened the third period by getting another rest for butt-ending to add to the effectiveness of a body-check, and while he was off Wood came through with the prettiest play of the game. He rushed from behind his own net, down the left boards, around the Stirling forwards and defence, and went right in on Hulin to score, raising the Marmora hopes once more. For the next ten minutes, however, the Marmora forwards played as if they had a good lead instead of being behind. They went forward in pairs, leaving the third man back with the defence, and seemed unable to pass the Stirling blue line. The only threats the team made in this stanza were made by the defence men and when they rushed in on the Stirling goal the forwards failed to follow in for a pass or a rebound. Stirling attacked frequently but Neal turned them aside on all their rushes. McWilliams drew a penalty near the end, but ragging killed the Stirling advantage.

The Stirling team was especially well supported, a special train bearing a large portion of the populace of the South Hastings village to Peterborough. The red and white ribbons were in evidence on the majority of the patrons. The green and white supporters were not so plentiful, the reason given before the game being that they would have a tramload of fans for the final with Tweed. Stirling, however, draws the return trip here on Friday night.

"That's using your head."

That phrase has long been used in sport as words of praise for some player who by using his brain turned some clever play.

In this connection, I recall one play where the thought was literally interpreted and proved most effective.

Bill Hogan, playing left field for the St. Louis Browns, used his head on a fly ball and thereby was credited with an assist for his part in a most unusual happening.

St. Louis was playing at Washington. Hogan was in left field for the Browns, while Burt Shotten was playing centre.

It was the seventh inning, if my memory serves me correctly. Two Washington players were on the bases and two out. The batsman hit a long fly to left centre. It was in Hogan's territory and he made the play on the ball.

At the last moment, Hogan lost the ball in the sun and threw his hands in front of his face as protection. The ball struck him a glancing blow on the side of the head and caromed off in the direction of centre field.

Burt Shotten, coming over fast to back up the play, completed the freak stunt by making a diving catch of the ball just before it touched the ground.

The catch retired the side and cut off two runs. Shotten got the put out, while Hogan was credited with an assist.

He surely had used his head.

NEW REGULATIONS OPEN CHAMPIONSHIP

Player 15 Strokes Behind Leader Eliminates After Second.

ST. ANDREW'S, Scotland, March 3.—Announcing plans for the 1927 British open golf championship tounament, the Royal and Ancient Club made known yesterday that the sectional qualifying system tried last year would be abandoned as unsatisfactory.

The qualifying rounds will be played over the old and new courses here on July 11-12. The first 100 players and all tieing for the 100th place will be entitled to compete in the championship proper, which will be played in four rounds over the old course, July 13, 14, 15.

All competitors 15 or more strokes behind the leader at the end of the second round will be retired, the survivors playing two rounds on July 15. The prize money will be increased from £50 to £250. Entries will close July 1.

The amateur championship will be held at Hoy Lake on May 23, under the same conditions as last year. Entries close May 8.

BRITISH MAKE BETTER SHOWING

Players Do Better in Second Day of International Checkers Match.

SHORTEN LEAD

NEW YORK, N.Y., March 3.—A somewhat better showing was made by the British players in the second day's play of the International checkers match at the Hotel Alamac Monday, the margin against them at the close being one half that in the first round debacle. The Americans scored seven to the Britishers' 3, with 38 draws. After half-time adjournment of 4 to 1 in their favor the total now stands: Great Britain 4 wins; Americans 16 wins; with 76 draws.

Two Cracks Lost.

Two of America's redoubtables lost their series in this round, W. Kilgour of Perth, conquering the famous Heffner in the afternoon, and H. Christie, of Sunderland, getting a game on Louis Ginsberg of the Brooklyn contingent. Near the close of play, Heffner overlooked a 3 for 3 in and out shot in a Dundee opening. R. T. Ward was the other scorer for the Britishers, but only broke even in his series. O'Connor and the veteran Ferrie, both of Glasgow, remain the only undefeated Britishers, the former having a win to his credit. Ferrie had a close call in the afternoon, however, as he ran into a dead loss in an Edinburgh against Horr.

Several Bones.

Moulding, of Manchester, was the star offender on the British team. He let slip a one-move draw in his first game and although he was wily enough to get Petterson's well-known drawbridge in the next troublesome encounter, he failed to give it the proper treatment. He sustained a third loss to O'Grady at night.

There was some falling off in the attendance, the O'Connor-Banks contest being the attraction for most of those viewing the play in the evening session.

The complete table follows:

—Second Round—

Britain		American
Ferrie	0	Horr 0
Moulding	0	O'Grady 3
Kilgour	1	Heffner 0

RUTH ARRIVES FOR SALARY MEETING

Will Make Bid for New $100,000 Year Contract.

NEW YORK, March 3. — Babe Ruth came back East yesterday to demand that the New York Yanks make him baseball's first $100,000 a year man and the sport world awaits with friendly interest the impending struggle.

Ruth came from a boys' Industrial School in Baltimore to be the greatest slugger the game has ever known, the greatest single box office attraction and in the opinion of many of his devoted admirers, the most valuable all-round player in either league.

Col. Jake Ruppert, brewer and baseball magnate, is a genius for spending money in the right direction to turn out world champion baseball teams—also a genius for keeping his team on the right side of the ledger and not throwing money away.

The betting of the fans was on the "Babe" to win.

Ruppert has offered Ruth a renewal of his last year's contract at $52,000 a year. Ruth has demanded a two-year contract at $100,000 a year and refund of $7,000 or more that he has paid in fines.

One popular guess was that a compromise would be reached at $75,000 a year—but not less.

The "Babe" always has been in the news — he came back to New York once with a stomachache that rocked the baseball world. He came back another time bearing a fine of $5,000, imposed upon him by his manager. He came back at various other times after breaking home run records and doing things that only the ballplayer that the "Babe" is could do.

But to-day he came back looking for big money—more money than is paid to the President of the United States—more than is paid to any ball player in the professional game or to any manager of a club in professional baseball.

The race may not always be to the swift but if Charlie Paddock is one of the starters don't be afraid to bet that way.

CANUCKS TO PLAY ROVERS

Play in Sudden Death Game at Brock Street Rink.

THURSDAY NIGHT

Canucks will meet the Rovers in a sudden death game at the Brock St. rink to-night (Thursday) 10 to 11 p.m. Fred Thirnbeck will referee.

The winners will meet the Rink Rats on Tuesday, March 8th, for the R. M. Glover Cup, at 7 to 8 p.m.

Hockey fans are asked to remain to see this game.

MILL DEFEATS CLERKS 8 TO 7

Spring Surprise By Capturing Hard Fought League Game.

AT CAMPBELLFORD.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 2.—The Mill supplied the feature upset of the Town League season, when they trimmed the Clerks 8 to 7 at Covert's Arena on Monday night. The Mill were the first to score and were leading 3 to 1 at the first rest. At the end of the second the teams were on even footing with four goals each. The teams scored alternately in the last period, with the Mill getting the first marker and five times during the game the score was tied.

Both teams adopted a wide open brand of hockey, and the puck travelled from end to end with the Clerks relying mainly on individual rushes, while the Mill uncorked some fine pieces of combination that proved very effective, when the Clerks front line failed to backcheck in their usual consistent manner.

The Clerks were without Wood, Lee, and Fox. Heptonstall, a midget goal-keeper, took Fox's place between the posts for the Clerks and Davy Runions, another Midget, took Woods' place at left wing, and both youngsters gave a good account of themselves in fast company.

The Mill got practically all their goals from rebounds and scrimmages in front of the Clerks cage. With a little more experience the young goaler gives all promise of developing into a high class net guardian.

The Mill played their best game of the schedule with every man going at top speed all through, while the Clerks only went in spots. Labrash confined his energies to occasional rushes into Mill territory, and they were all dangerous, but the flashy wing player failed to check back. McArthur worked hard all night, doing more than his share of back checking and making many dangerous thrusts at the Mill goal, but was unlucky with his shots.

The Bear Cats beat the Elks, 3 to 2, in the Midget game and had much the better of the play, only some good saves by Heptonstall preventing a larger score. "Doug" Runions was the best boy out there, and the clever youngster flashed his best game of the season. McPherson was also better than in any previous game, and played hockey all the way through.

Runions scored all the Bear Cat goals, and was through on several other occasions, only to be foiled by Heptonstall.

The line-ups for the two games were as follows:

Referee—C. Holmes.

Bear Cats.—Goal, Bush; defence, Free and Maybee; centre, McPherson; wings, Henson and D. Runions; sub., Peake.

Referee—P. Saunders.

A slight re-arrangement in the Town League schedule has been found necessary and the Mill will be the Hydro's opponents in Wednesday night's game, while Menie and the Hydro wind up the regular schedule Friday night.

The play-off between the Hydro and Clerks takes place Monday, March 7th and Wednesday, March 9th.

LONDON TEAM BEATS SENIORS

FINAL SCORE 4-3.

TORONTO, March 3.—The 12th Battery, of London, progressed further than any other hockey team that has ever come out of the Forest City last night when the Intermediate champions of the O.H.A., defeated South Porcupine, N.O.H.A. Senior title-holders, in the sudden-death game at the Arena Gardens, which opened the Ontario elimination series in the Allan Cup competition. London won the Intermediate title in 1900, but in the intervening 27 years the best they have done was to get to the finals in the Intermediate series twice, and both times they were eliminated by Collingwood. Last year they lost out to Peterboro in the final for the Senior O.H.A. title. This is the first season for the Artillerymen in hockey, and they have set up a great record with fourteen wins and a tie in fifteen starts.

While they defeated the Porkies by the odd goal in seven last night, it was not until half-way through the last period that the Gunners found the range and opened a bombardment that broke down the Miners' trenches and entanglements and allowed the shock troops to rush through the openings in the defence, and crash in three goals. It looked, for the first two periods at least, as if the O.H.A. champions were going to be unable to get out of the thirteen hole, but after a somewhat lethargic display in the second period they opened up in the third and come through with a victory.

'BABE' ACCEPTS THREE YEAR JOB

Signs Contract at $70,000 Annually With New York Americans.

HIGHEST SALARY.

NEW YORK, March 3.—"Well, Babe, how will $210,000 for three years suit you?" quoth Col. Jacob Ruppert of the New York Americans.

"O.K.," said Ruth, without hesitation, and the nervousness of the great baseball public was allayed.

The Laird of Lam went into conference with his chief determined to make his bid for an even hundred thousand a year for two years, but was persuaded to accept the smaller figure by the advantage given him by the extra year in the contract.

"Well, that's off my chest," said Ruth, "and I'm tickled to death with the Colonel's treatment of me."

The new contract gives Ruth an increase of $17,500 a year over his old salary, and makes him the plutocrat of baseball, drawing down $5,000 more than Commissioner Landis. Ty Cobb is reported to be getting $60,000 from the Philadelphia Athletics.

Closely Contested Game at Y.W.C.A. Ends With Score 11-9.

One of the most keenly contested basketball games of the season was played at the Y.W.C.A. last evening between the De Laval and C.G.E., with a final score of 11-9 in favor of the De Laval.

The line-up was as follows:

De Laval—H. Carson, R. McPherson, E. Forster, B. Conroy, H. Resko, F. Giroux, M. Guthrie.

C.G.E.—D. Mortimer, A. Logan, M. MacLaren, K. Taylor, F. Greer, V. Langton, H. Plunkett.

The schedule for the final games in the first series of the Ladies' Basketball League is as follows:

Friday, March 4: 8.00—Woollens vs. Westclox. 8.15—Quakers vs. C.G.E. 9.00—Y Seniors vs. Y Elementary. 9.15—Brintons vs. Bell Telephone. De Laval a bye.

HINT SCANDAL IN PRO HOCKEY

Relative to Statement Regarding Betting on Recent Game.

HEAVY ODDS

MONTREAL, Que., March 3. — Relative to statements made regarding extraordinary betting odds alleged to have been offered by professional gamblers on the result of a recent game played in the National Hockey League (Ottawa at New York Americans), President Frank Calder yesterday made the following statement:

"Betting on the results of games played in the National Hockey League among officials of clubs, members of clubs, or by anyone connected with the game is absolutely forbidden by the rules. If any member of the league is led to believe by the offering to him of seemingly disproportionate odds by gamblers—or in any other way—that any game being played in the National Hockey League is not being decided on its merits, he is bound in duty first to lay the facts before the league.

"The league rules are quite clear and distinct and provide the severest penalties for their violation. The proper channel through which to lay complaints, however, is in the first place, through the league itself.

"As far as I know the particular game about which insinuations have been made was decided on its merit. In any case, no direct charge that it was not, has been made to me. If any club has in its possession any information which would lead to the supposition that the game was not decided on its merits, the proper course to pursue is to make an open and specific charge."

WATCH THE KIDNEYS

Fatigue and that tired feeling is the result of poison in the blood. When the kidneys fail to remove this poison from the system it leads to backache, rheumatic pains and sometimes to that fatal ailment known as Bright's disease. When this condition exists, don't delay, go to your druggist and get a box of Dr. Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills and they will quickly correct the cause of your trouble.

Mr. Arthur Pinch of Smith Township states that Dr. Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills give him more speedy relief than any other preparation that he had tried.

Bank clearings for the week ending to-day were $756,283.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lawrence wish to thank the many friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy during their recent sad bereavement.

BRITISH RACER KILLED IN TEST

J. G. Parry Thomas Dies Trying To Set New Auto Record.

ON WELSH COAST.

PENDINE, Wales, March 3. — (Canadian Press). — J. G. Parry Thomas, famous British auto racer, was killed this afternoon in an attempt to get another speed record.

The tragedy occurred on the seashore while Parry Thomas was making his fourth endeavor to set a record. He had just turned to enter the mile stretch on his return journey when the car took a tremendous skid to one side and a wheel went flying toward the sea.

The wreckage burst into flames almost immediately. Spectators and officials, who had been clocking the time of the test, rushed to the spot and found the driver's body lying near the wrecked car. He had apparently been killed instantly, as the head was nearly severed from the body.

It appears that when the wheel came off, the car turned a complete somersault. A driving chain wound itself around Parry Thomas' neck, almost decapitating him. When rescuers reached the blazing machine, they had to break the driver's leg before his body could be pulled out of the wreckage. He was using a four hundred horsepower car with a 12-cylinder engine.

Parry Thomas made 172 miles an hour from a flying start over a mile course on Pendine Sands last April. He claimed two other records the following month, driving one kilometre each way from a standing start at an average of 86.9 miles an hour and doing one mile from a standing start at an average of 98.87 hour. On October 21 he established what was claimed as a record for an hour's run, covering 171.27 miles at Brooklands.

FIRE DESTROYS TIMMINS STORES

Prominent Business Corner Wiped Out By Blaze.

TIMMINS, Ont., March 3. Canadian Press. — An all night fire brought disastrous results to one of the most promine business corners here, destroying J. Meyer's Drug store, C. Pierce's hardware store, Thompson's Photographic Studio and ruining the stock of the Linn Clothing Store. The damage is estimated at seventy thousand dollars.

Throw Away Old Volume.

Publishers Foresaw Condition and Were Prepared For It.

Now that it comes out that the publishers of the New Universities Dictionary abandoned the printing plates from which the former dictionary was printed, it seems reasonable to assume that all old dictionaries are out of date.

It appears that in recent years there has been more of a change in the language than is generally realized. Due to the advancement of science and invention, thousands of new words have come into daily use. This also necessitated numerous new meanings to existing words, and many improvements in pronunciation have also been adopted.

The publishers of the new dictionary saw these conditions far ahead and made preparations accordingly. So now they come out with an entirely new compilation that far surpasses any similar volume ever issued. It is being distributed only to newspaper readers as explained in the coupon printed elsewhere in this issue.

You can't depend upon the old dictionary now; so throw it away and get this newly compiled volume with its enlarged vocabulary and its numerous special features.

PLAY FOR CITY HOCKEY TITLES

Raybestos and De Laval Meet on Monday For Senior Trophy.

JUNIORS WEDNESDAY.

Playoffs for the right to hold the Senior and Junior City League cups for the next twelve months will take place at Brock Street Rink on Monday and Wednesday of next week.

On Monday the contestants will be the De Laval team, winners of the Senior City League last year, and the Raybestos boys, who have challenge for the silverware. Local fans remember the hard-games in this series last year and will not care to miss this year's encounter.

On Wednesday the junior cupholders, St. Peter's School team, will meet the winners of the Junior series of the Church League in a sudden death game for the trophy. The Church League has produced some good games this year, and at present a struggle is going on between St. John's and St. James' for the title. In the first game the Anglicans secured a one goal lead, which they are defending to-night against their United Church rivals. The youngsters can always be trusted to put up a real fight, and the games will be well worth seeing.

ORGAN RECITAL.

Dr. H. A. Fricker, of Toronto, Will Play at St. Paul's.

Another of the very interesting organ recitals which have been held in St Paul's Presyterian Church since the installation of the new organ, will take place there next Monday evening, March 7th, when Dr. H. A. Fricker, M.A., F.R.C.O. of Toronto, and Madame Holland, contralto, also of Toronto, will be the guest artists for the occasion.

Dr. Fricker is one of the outstanding figures in musical circles in Eastern Canada. Coming from England five years ago, he has since that time had the leadership of the Mendelssohn Choir. He is also organist and director of music at the Metropolitan Church in Toronto and leader of the annual Musical Chorus at the National Exhibition.

Madame Holland is contralto soloist at the Metropolitan Church, and comes highly recommended.

IN POLICE COURT.

A local man pleaded guilty to two serious charges and was sentenced to not less than three months and an indeterminate sentence thereafter not to exceed one year.

Two years less one day at the Ontario Reformatory was the sentence imposed by His Worship O. A. Langley this morning on a man charged with a serious offence. His wife, who was being held on a charge of vagrancy, was permitted to go without sentence.

CHANGE OF VENUE ASKED BY COUNSEL

Lawyer Fears Alfred de Bruge Won't Get Fair Trial at Home.

TORONTO, March 3.—(Canadian Press.)—Judgment was reserved by Mr. Justice Kelly at Osgoode Hall to-day on the application of H. D. Davis, on behalf of Alfred De Bruges, charged with the murder of his common law wife, for an order changing the venue of trial from the United Counties of Leeds and Grenville to any other county in Ontario.

Mr. Davis referred to outbreaks of applause among the spectators at the inquest and preliminary hearing as indicating a hostile attitude towards the prisoner which would make it impossible for him to have a fair trial and unprejudiced trial in his home county.

Big Pontiac Convention Now Being Held In Oshawa.

More than three hundred dealers from all over Canada are in session, from Vancouver on the West to Halifax on the East. Two special Pullman cars brought the dealers from the maritime provinces, and Oshawa is unable to accommodate the large gathering. Special buses were delegated to take the dealers to and from Toronto, where a part of the King Edward Hotel has been chartered for their convenience.

The new and finer Pontiac is a fitting successor to the car which in its first year more than doubled any previous record. The lack of radical mechanical changes has proven positively that the job was engineered right in the start. The lack of first year troubles is backing for the statement that this car was tried and proven for three years before it was given to the public. 1d-53-260

PETERBORO TAX RATE REDUCED

COUNCIL PUTS TAX RATE BACK TO 1926 LEVEL

Receives Word That Exemption From Income Tax Won't Be Changed in 1927.

COMMITTEES MEET

More Information Required About Street Railway System.

Word from W. H. Bradburn, M. P.P., that the increased exemption in income tax would not come into effect until next year delighted the aldermen, assembled in committee of the whole last night, and they convened as the Finance committee for a few minutes to order that the by-law fixing the tax rate should call for a levy of 36 mills, the same as last year, instead of the 36.5 mills decided on last week. The difference in exemption means a difference of $10,000 in the revenues of the city, and consequently the cut of half a mill was possible.

As a committee of the Whole Council, the Aldermen decided that they would ask the Hydro Electric Power Commission for more information, pointing out that the data regarding the street railway system and the gas plant, which they had asked for, had not been included in the figures sent them. The resolution to be forwarded to the Hydro also expresses resentment at the statements of the Hydro that it was not fair for the council to allow opposition buses to run and that it was not fair for the citizens to expect other municipalities to pay the deficits on the street railway, while not paying one dollar themselves.

The letter will point out that the city was advised by its solicitor that it was doubtful whether the Hydro could be given an exclusive franchise and that the city had offered to order the other line off if the Hydro would finance any litigation which ensued. On the other charge of unfairness, the Council replies that the Hydro, and not the citizens, made the bargain, and that the profits from the Peterborough gas plant go into the general funds of the Central Ontario system, from which the deficit is met.

Ald. Denne said that the Hydro contracts, as he understood, ran to 1934, and it was just as fair for

RAILWAY BURDEN UNFAIR, SAYS SANDY

SOUTH VICTORIA PROGRESSIVE DEMANDS THAT GOVERNMENT ABANDON PETERBOROUGH LINE

F. G. Sandy Points To Loss Sustained On Street Railway and Other Utilities Being Operated By the Hydro in This District.

PAYING GAS AND WATER PLANTS FAIL TO BALANCE LOSING LOSSES

Indefensible That Central Ontario System Should Be Burdened With These Deficits, Causing Raise in Power Rates, He Asserts.

TORONTO, March 4—In an interview to-day, F. G. Sandy, Progressive member of the Legislature for South Victoria, called upon the Government to sell or abandon the gas plant at Cobourg, the pulp mills at Campbellford, and the Peterborough street railway, all of which are now operated at a large annual loss by the Ontario Hydro Commission for the province which owns them.

"On the operations of these utilities alone during the past year, the Government has sustained a loss of $77,119," declared Mr. Sandy. "It is indefensible that the Province of Ontario as a whole should own and operate these utilities for the convenience of the residents of these municipalities while the Hydro users all over Central Ontario have to foot the bill.

"It is only a few days since the residents of this part of Central Ontario were advised that an increase in light and power rates was necessary. Yet the Government continues year after year to operate these other utilities at a huge annual loss and charge the loss up to the Hydro users in general."

Quotes Figures

According to figures furnished him by the Government, Mr. Sandy declared that the following were the losses sustained in these projects for the year 1926 only:

Cobourg gas plant $3,504.55; pulp mill, Campbellford, $46,341.84; Peterborough street railway operating deficit $33,833.20, interest $16,490.67, total loss Peterborough railway $50,323.87; total loss on the three utilities $100,170.26.

Against this $100,000 annual loss, Mr. Sandy said there was a $23,000 profit from the gas plants at Peterborough and Oshawa and the waterworks at Cobourg. The profits for these three utilities were:

Gas plant, Peterborough, $8,714; Oshawa gas plant $10,608.42; Cobourg waterworks, $3,627; making a total of $23,039.42.

Suggests Giving Away

"It is up to the Government to sell these losing plants or give them away," averred Mr. Sandy. "Why should the people of Lindsay, for example, as well as the people of other parts of the Province, have to make up these large deficits in the cost of their lights? This has been going on since 1916 and cannot be defended. These recurring losses to the people of the province as a whole should be stopped and the burden taken off the shoulders of the power users of the Central Ontario system.

"To be raising the power rates in a district and permitting these losses to be charged up to the Hydro every year, seems to me to be the poorest kind of business management and to be wholly wrong and unfair in principle."

"Was this not possible during the Drury Government?" Mr. Sandy was asked.

"The Drury government may have been at fault too," replied the South Victoria member. "The Ferguson Government has followed in the footsteps of the Drury government in regard to good roads, Mothers' allowances, Hydro-Electric, the agricultural development policy and in other matters. Surely besides continuing the work of their predecessors they can introduce one reform of their own besides Government Control. It is time these losing enterprises were dropped from the books of the government."

The utilities referred to were taken over by the government in 1916, when the province became owner of the Central Ontario Power system which up to that time had been privately owned and which included the plants complained of by Mr. Sandy.

In 1909, the world's production of artificial silk was 7,500 tons. The estimated output for 1926 was 100,000 tons.

Entire Populace Of Tonopah Prepares For Gold Rush; People Wait Anxiously For Young Men To Reveal Secret

TONOPAH, Nev., March 4 (Canadian Press)—With a rush across the desert in search of a bonanza in prospect, residents of Tonopah and the surrounding country kept within easy reach of their automobiles to-day in the hope that the two boys who said they had made the big strike would give away the secret of its location momentarily.

Plans for the rush got under way yesterday when the two youths staggered into Tonopah under the weight of two sacks of gold ore which assayed $78,000 a ton.

Frank Norton Jr. and James Traynor, each 19 years old and each the son of a mining man, refused to tell where they had found the ore, but Tonopah went almost into hysterics at the news.

Mining engineers said that if the ore given the assayer was of the "free" variety, it came from Death Valley, famous in the history of gold in the west.

CONFEDERATION AGENTS CONFER IN CITY TO-DAY

Inspiring Addresses Given By Members of Staff and Others.

MANY SPEAKERS.

Members of Head Office Departments Among Those Present.

Agents of the Confederation Life Association in the Central Ontario Division are assembled at the Empress Hotel today in connection with the annual educational conference of that organization.

William Boulton, Divisional Manager, presided over the gathering. In welcoming the guests, among whom were two head office representatives, V. R. Smith, Actuary, and C. D. Devlin, Assistant Superintendent, Mr. Boulton paid tribute to the support which he had received from Head Office and also complimented the agents on the loyal support they had given him and the company during the past year.

At this morning's session T. H. Gillespie, District Manager of Peterborough delivered an inspiring address on "Selling yourself, your company, and your goods." Mr. Boulton also spoke on "The Modern Trend of Life Insurance."

Miss I. B. Giles of the Peterborough office delivered an interesting talk entitled "Confederation Life Literature."

Other speakers were V. R. Smith of Toronto; A. J. Adams of Picton; F. C. Bonnycastle of Campbellford; M. C. Burgess, Belleville; George A. Benor of Peterborough; Dr. A. W. McPherson; H. Theobald; J. R. Myles of Thornbury; C. D. Devlin of Toronto; H. G. Davidson of Orillia.

V. R. Smith

V. R. Smith, Actuary, expressed his pleasure at being in the City of Peterborough once again. He had, he said, no set address but would endeavor to make his remarks of a nature that would stimulate questions from those present. He told his audience how insurance was being kept before the public by means of the various forms of advertising. In conclusion, Mr. Smith explained the functions of the rate book in detail, indicating to the agents what a vast fund of information was contained within its pages.

C. D. Devlin

C. D. Devlin, Assistant Superintendent, of Toronto, delivered a powerful address on "Salesmanship."

Expressing his pleasure at meeting the agents, Mr. Devlin declared, "The progress of our company depends on you and in this connection I would like to congratulate Mr. Boulton on the splendid way in which he takes care of this district."

"There is an old song the words the words of which are 'You've got to see Mammy every night or you won't see Mammy at all.' What have these words to do with life insurance?" he asked. "Simply this," he continued, "you have to see your prospects or you won't get the business." Before you can interview prospects you must be familiar with your rate book; you must be familiar with the policies and the regulations of your company.

"Do not get confused with the number of policies, for when it is all boiled down it means only this. It is merely a question of which policy suits the prospect best and how he wishes to pay for it," he declared.

The speaker showed how the company prepared bulletins and books and gave instruction which enabled Concession at Kiukiang Surrendered To Cantonese By O'Malley.

LONDON, March 4. Canadian Press. — A Shanghai despatch to the Exchange Telegraph says the British concession in Kiukiang, on the Yangtse River, has been transferred to Chinese authority, under an agreement between Owen O'Malley, the British Charge d'Affaires, and the Cantonese foreign minister, Eugene Chen, similar to that defining the status of the Hankow concession.

Rumors that Soochow, fifty miles west of Shanghai, has been occupied by Southern Chinese troops, are contained in despatches. It is said that Chen Tin-Yueh, Governor of Anhwei, declares that the provice is independent, and has joined the Cantonese in cutting the Tientsin-Pukow Railway, isolating the main Chihli-Shantung army from both its bases. This would also prevent further reinforcements from reaching Shanghai.

NORTHERNERS CUT OFF.

SHANGHAI, March 4. (United Press.)—Rebellion behind the lines of the North China allies caused Kiangsu province, in which this city lies, virtually to be surrounded by enemies.

Marshal Chen Tin-Yueh, governor of the province of Anhwei, proclaims the independence of his province today, according to reports from his capital, and then joined the cause of the Cantonese Nationalists.

Simultaneously with Chen's proclamation, the Cantonese Nationalists, attacked the Northerners near the Chekiang-Anhui border to effect a junction of the Cantonese army in Chekiang, and their new allies of the province of Anhwei.

Chen holds the Tiensin-Pukow Ry, isolating the main northern army in Central China from its bases. If Chen can maintain his resistance to the northerns further reinforcement of northern troops to the vicinity of Shanghai, would be impossible except by uncertain water transport.

Retreating Chinese soldiers to-day commandeered a Standard Oil Company launch, the 'Neifoo,' but were overtaken by the United States marines, and compelled to return the vessel to its berth. The 'Neifoo' was seized near the garden bridge in the heart of the international settlement and the chase down the river continued for six miles. The launch was not damaged.

OLD CEMETERIES NEED CLEANING SAYS SPEAKER

Dr. T. E. Kaiser Urges Fixing Up of Prisoners' Grave Yards.

A LOCAL EXAMPLE.

Tells Kiwanians Proper Steps For Repair Of Hilliard Street Plot.

"God's Acres" was the subject of the address delivered at the Kiwanis luncheon at noon to-day by Dr. T. E. Kaiser, M.P. for Ontario.

Dr. Kaiser is greatly interested in the subject of preserving the old cemeteries which contain the mortal remains of the old pioneers of this country. He has been a member of the Canadian Historical Society for years, and it has been his endeavor to preserve the annals of the old people who have gone before and to take care of the history of these people.

Dr. Kaiser made a very earnest plea to the members of the club not to forget the early settlers who came to this country under pressure, for many of them were U. E. Loyalists who left the United States after the revolution. The tie which bound these settlers to their home land was entirely broken and many of them came to Ontario with their families and with only an axe to clear away the forest and cave out their homes, said the speaker.

The country then was unorganized. There were no settled conditions as there are to-day; many of the settlers died and were buried beside some little stream, or in a family plot, or on some small hill, and to-day nothing remains but the rough stone to mark where lie the mortal remains of those who gave up all to live under the British flag.

Through the efforts of the Historical Society, much has been done in the past few years to have legislation enacted whereby these cemeteries would be cleaned up, for many have not been looked after; the stones have become broken and briers and weeds are growing all over the plots.

Dr. Kaiser this morning went up and looked over the old Hilliard Street Cemetery, which lies in the north end of the city, and where many pioneers of this district are buried. "It is neglected, and it

CRITICIZES PLAN OF FERGUSON'S ON EDUCATION

Northumberland Member Raps Proposal To Reduce Length of University Course.

IS IMPRACTICABLE.

Says Would Lower Standard and Standing of College Graduates.

TORONTO, March 4.—In a comprehensive survey of the educational problems of Ontario, Dr. W. G. Robertson, Liberal member for Northumberland, yesterday in the Legislature, severely criticized Premier Ferguson's plan to reduce the length of the university training period in Ontario colleges.

In the course of his address, which was a contribution to the budget debate, Dr. Robertson characterized the Premier's scheme as impracticable and undesirable, and made the direct charge that it would unsettle both the collegiate institutes and universities of the province, to the detriment of both.

"To shorten the periods of university study in Ontario," declared Dr. Robertson, "would be to lower the standard and standing of the graduates of the colleges of this province, who, it must be remembered, are in competition in life with the graduates of McGill University, and other Canadian and American institutions. It would do this without any compensating result in the way of a general higher standard of education for the average young man or young woman.

Higher Centralization Needed.

"The tendency which at present promises to secure the best results for the young people of Ontario as a whole is to decentralize primary education, and to centralize the higher education of the province. The proposal to reduce the university term to a two or three-year period would be in direct opposition to this general plan, which should be fostered and not violated by the educational department of the Government, by the Minister of Education, and by the Government and Legislature.

"It is not tenable to say that a young man or young woman can substitute one or two years of university training in his or her own home town. One of the greatest advantages of university education is the direct contact with students and scholars from all parts of our own province, as well as from a great many points in Canada, and from centres outside the dominion altogether.

"This exchange with students from other points, reflecting other views, problems and aims, is one of the most valuable influences and elements of a university education. It broadens the individual and gives him a comprehensive outlook, which makes him a better citizen in general, and a more useful and valuable member of whatever profession he espouses in life.

Lack Study Facilities.

"There are other great advantages in centralization that will be largely sacrificed in the reduction of the term by providing that part of the university course be taken in local centres. One of the greatest of these are the libraries available in large centres of education like Toronto, to students in every department of study. How could you accumulate such storehouses of knowledge on every phase of education, in the smaller cities and towns of the province?

"The cost alone would be prohibitive. It simply would not be done. The result would be that for a good part—and a very important part—of his university course, the

Jury Finds Itself Unable to Discover Cause of Deaths

Verdict of Jury Empanelled to Enquire Into Circumstances Surrounding Death of Mrs. West and Son, Floyd, at Warkworth About Year Ago.

WITNESSES TELL OF FAMILY TROUBLES BETWEEN MRS. WEST AND HER HUSBAND

Dr. West Had Met His Wife While Serving in Belgium During World War—Hear Witnesses Who Were Absent From Feb. 16th Sitting.

WARKWORTH, March 4.—"We, the undersigned jury, according to the evidence submitted, have come to the conclusion that Evelyn and Floyd West came to their death under suspicious circumstances on March 9, 1926, in Percy Township, and that the real cause of their death is unknown to us."

This was the verdict reached by the jury which was empanelled by Coroner Dr. W. F. Loucks of Campbellford to enquire into the circumstances surrounding the death of Mrs. Evelyn and Floyd West about one year ago in their home at Warkworth.

The sittings yesterday were held in the Warkworth Town Hall, which was crowded to the doors at both sessions. The evidence of the witnesses who were unable to be present at the February 16th sitting was taken.

N. Alex. MacColl of Campbellford represented the West family at the hearing and Crown-Attorney W. F. Kerr, K.C., of Cobourg conducted the inquiry for the crown.

The members of the jury were: James Armstrong, George Walker, W. Baker, William Anderson, Fred Broadworth, John Harnden, A. B. Armstrong, and W. A. Kelly, foreman. William Smoker, the other member of the jury was unable to be present through illness.

Dr. West, who is a veterinary surgeon, served during the war in Belgium, where he met his late wife. Mrs. West, being the daughter of an Englishman, was able to speak English. Dr. West was billeted at her father's home and when he left for Canada in 1919 she promised to come later and then they should be married.

Jury out Fifty Minutes.

The jury retired at 5.40 and brought in their verdict at 6.30, being fifty minutes in coming to a decision.

The attendance at yesterday's session of the inquest seemed as large as that of two weeks ago. The Town Hall was completely filled, and most of those persons from outside the village brought their lunches and remained in the hall during the noon recess. Some of them had a snack left for the supper hour while the jury was out.

It seems safe to say that much of the evidence was not heard in the body of the auditorium. The court of enquiry Coroner Loucks, Crown Attorney Kerr, the jury, Mr. N. A. MacColl of Campbellford, representing Dr. West, the stenographer, attendants and others occupied the platform or stage with its wings and other theatrical fixtures. The witness stand was simply a chair, on which the witnesses sat at a narrow table, and opposite the Crown officers. The arrangement invited the subdued tones of "tete-a-tete" conversation. At the press tables on the main floor and close to the stage much of the evidence was heard only with difficulty. That was especially marked when Pearl Boyce and Dr. West were giving their testimony. Miss Boyce spoke in a murmur, and scarcely moved her lips; and Dr. West was once asked to speak louder by the juror sitting nearest to him, only three feet away, and that juror, Mr. Armstrong, said he could not hear what the witness was saying. From that incident may be imagined the audibility of the evidence from the seats down the hall. Apparently the public's only aid to an understanding of the progress of the inquest were the occasionally repeated answers by Mr. MacColl and Crown Attorney Kerr.

Notable Exception.

There was one notable exception to the muffled voices. That was Mrs. Wilbert Nelson, who spoke audibly, clearly and calmly, and her words carried easily through the hall. There was no difficulty in hearing her statement: "He (Dr. West) petted the dog and not the child," or her story of how she refashioned a new red flannel dress for Mrs. West, who wore it on Christmas Day. And that day Mrs. Nelson had invited Dr. West and his wife to the home of her father, ex-Warden John McCubbin. West accompanied his wife there, but went on down the road to Bedford's.

"My husband took her home," Mrs. Nelson added.

Nor was there anything muted

18,000 People Take Part In New Diamond Field Rush

POTCHEFSTROOM, Transvaal, March 4. — (Canadian Press.) — Eighteen thousand runners engaged in the diamond rush to the Grasfontein Farm to-day. The race was on promptly at noon with the falling of the flag, signifying that the reportedly rich area was again proclaimed public diggings after last week's false start. There was tremendous public interest in the event.

CASE IN HANDS OF LOCAL POLICE AND OFFICIALS

Instructions Given To Press Investigations Into West Case.

MILLER IN CHARGE.

"We anticipate Other Information," Says Attorney General.

TORONTO, March 4 (Canadian Press).—"The matter is in the hands of the local Crown Attorney and the local Provincial Police Inspector, who have instructions to press their investigations," stated Col. W. H. Price, Attorney General, this morning, in connection with the death of Evelyn and Floyd West, near Warkworth, on March 9, 1926, when their home was burned. The jury in its verdict following the second inquest, holds that the deaths occurred under "suspicious circumstances."

"We anticipated other information that will solve the problem," stated Col. Price, "and instructions have been issued to work toward that end."

Provincial Inspector Miller, who worked on the case prior to the first inquest, will probably be sent down to go over the ground again with the local authorities, in view of the latest developments.

GREAT BRITAIN WILL NOT SEVER WITH RUSSIA

Policy Giving Russia Another Chance Was Endorsed by House.

DISCUSS NOTE

World Peace Should be Assisted by Elimination of Distrust.

LONDON, March 4 (Canadian Press).—Announcing in the House of Commons that Great Britain will not break off diplomatic relations with Soviet Russia, Foreign Secretary Chamberlain yesterday enunciated a policy of giving Russia another chance.

This policy was endorsed by the House when the Liberals raised a discussion calling into question the recent British note to Russia charging the Soviet with disseminating anti-British propaganda.

Sir Austen, replying in behalf of the Government, said that it was desirable that world peace should be assisted by the elimination of distrust and suspicion which remained from the struggles of a few years ago. He said that a breach with Russia was bound to have a reaction on other countries if made suddenly before the world realized what was the provocation and could place responsibility on the right shoulders.

Whatever the provocation, he continued, a sudden breach could not occur without having a repercussion on the whole European situation. Without retracting anything it had said in its note about the conduct of Soviet Russia, the British Government's view was that Russia should be given another opportunity to conform its conduct to the ordinary rules of international life and comity.

Relations Not Broken.

At the same time that the Foreign Secretary assured the House that relations would not be broken off, he remarked that there were limits to the Government's patience with regard to anti-British propaganda.

Discussion of the matter brought up the question of the Anglo-Russia trade agreement, Sir Robert Horne, former Chancellor of the Exchequer, who negotiated the agreement declaring that everything he had hoped for from it had failed to materialize. He asserted that the United States, which treated Soviet Russia as "an outcast among nations," did more trade with Russia and obtained more valuation concessions than did Great Britain.

Former Premier Ramsay MacDonald, the Labor leader, in reply, rather surprised the House by expressing the opinion that the note to Russia was two years too late. He said that if he had been in office he would have sent a note, stiffer in substance if not in language, but that it would have been aimed at solving the dispute by negotiation.

He challenged Sir Robert's contention that the United States got more business from Russia without diplomatic relations than Great Britain did with those relations, and said that there were scores of reasons why the United States got better trade.

THE OTHER ROOM.

A wondrous house, I live in,—
Full of glories ev'ry day;
And in its first apartment
I must be content to stay—
While the clocks may tell my minutes,
And my garden's roses bloom,
Till evening comes to let me
Enter in the Other Room.

There's glad anticipation
Of the happiness that's there;
The door between has opened,
And there's strains beyond compare
Wafted thro, as twilight falls,
And the gruesome shadows loom,
And feet now grown aweary,
Totter toward the Other Room.

I stand upon the threshold,
While the glorious sinking sun
And pale moon, shining softly,
Tell another day that's done;
When thro the swinging portal
Reaching arms their clasp resume,
And draw me, unresisting,
To the blissful Other Room.

THIS CANADA OF OURS

CANADA'S EARLY CENSUSES.

Q—What were Canada's early censuses?

A—Canada took the first census of modern times, in 1665 in the colony of New France. Still earlier records of settlement are extant, viz. at Port Royal in 1605 and Quebec in 1608, but the census of 1665 was the first systematic enumeration of the people as a whole. The first census in Europe dates only from the 18th century and in the U.S. in 1790. The original of the 1665 census are in the Paris archives.

SHIPS BUFFETED IN HEAVY SEAS

Nine Vessels Endeavoring to Limp Into South Atlantic Ports.

BARGES ADRIFT

NORFOLK, Va., March 4 (Canadian Press).—Nine vessels, buffeted by a fierce northeast gale and heavy seas Wednesday, last night were endeavoring to limp into South Atlantic harbors under their own power as the storm abated.

The fate of forty-six men on two barges which broke adrift from the tug Bathgate between Hog Island and Chincotegue, Va., remained unknown, while three other barges, each with crews of five men, also were drifting off Fenwick Island.

Reports from the steamer City of St. Louis of the Ocean Steamship Company, bound north from Savannah with a passenger list of 18 persons, indicated that she was out of danger and using her hand steering gear to continue her voyage. Last night the steamer was reported in a dangerous position of the Hatteras shoals with her power steering apparatus out of commission.

Two lightships, the Charles and No. 92, and four other vessels also been buffeted by the storm, but although no reports were available about their condition early last night it was believed they were out of danger. The lightships were proceeding under their own power, advices early in the day said, and no apprehension of their crews' safety was felt by the lighthouse authorities.

The steamer Firmore, bound from Daiquiri for Baltimore with a cargo of ore, went aground off Smith's Point, Va., where the steamer City of Annapolis was sunk in a collision last week. The British steamer King David, en route to Colon, was floated after going ashore at Cape Henry and proceeded under her own power.

The Sulanierco, San Pedro for Newark, N.J., and the Maracaibo, Curacao for New York, also in distress, had not reported their condition, earlier in the day, the latter vessel said she was not under control.

The schooner William Bisbee South was helpless 30 miles off Cape Henry, coast guardsmen said. She had lost both anchors and her sails were damaged.

OTTAWA, March 4 (Canadian Press)—Should the city of Ottawa use taxis for its officials and dispense with their private cars? was the question being raised yesterday by Controller C. J. Tulley. Forty Per Cent. Of The Workingmen Of Europe Will Now Get Annual Holidays On Full Pay

GENEVA, March 4—Nineteen million European workmen have now won for themselves the right to have annual holidays on pay according to statistics just completed by the International Labor Bureau here.

This represents about forty per cent of the working men of Europe and these concessions have nearly all been won since the end of the war. The statistics were gathered in order to demonstrate the steady progress that is being made in Europe toward social reform.

In a number of countries, especially Austria, Finland, Poland, Russia and Czecho-Slovakia this right of an annual vacation on pay is guaranteed by national laws.

In Germany, Italy, Sweden and Norway the right to holidays is provided for by general collective agreements between the labor unions and their employers. Similar rights also exist for a large proportion of the working men of England, Roumania, Denmark and Switzerland.

PERCY TOWNSHIP COUNCIL MEETING

Tax Roll Minus $26.90 Abatements Was Accepted —Accounts Passed.

WARKWORTH, March 4.—Percy township tax roll, minus $26.90 abatements, was accepted by the Council at their meeting on Tuesday. Reeve W. H. Nelson presided with Deputy-reeve J. A. Sykes and Councillors Oscar Laver, A. Merrill and W. Partridge present. No action was taken on the request for a grant to the Belleville seed fair, but the roads and bridges insurance with the Globe Indemnity Co. was renewed at the same amount as last year.

A by-law was passed increasing the statute labor wage from $1.50 to $2.00 a day for laborers and from $4.50 to $5.00 a day for man and team.

Another by-law confirmed the appointment of pathmasters, fence viewers and poundkeepers for 1927.

Windsor Fire Brigade Has Busiest Day In History

WINDSOR, Ont., March 4.—(Canadian Press.)— Called to fight five outbreaks between four o'clock yesterday morning and last evening at 5 o'clock, the Windsor fire department had the busiest day in its history.

The home of Miss Irene Halmen, 1450 Elsmere avenue, was destroyed by fire shortly after 4 o'clock this morning. The flames were noticed by a police officer, but before the department could get on the job the fire was beyond control. Miss Halmen was away from home at the time. The damage is placed at $4,500.

Other fires which caused a total loss of $2,000 were at the homes of A. Bennett, Giles Boulevard East; St. George Ellis, 820 Sandwich street east; J. W. Swatman, 1056 Lillian street, and Mrs. J. Fisher, 1046 Wyandotte street east.

Stay In Enforcement Of New Rules Denied

TORONTO, March 4 (Canadian Press) — City Solicitor Colquhoun received word from Ottawa that the board of railway commissioners had refused the city's application for a stay in enforcement of the new telephone rates.

The city had asked the railway board for a stay of 15 days to consider the question of appeal, but that body said it was impossible to do anything. The increased rates went into force on March 1.

PIER IS BURNED AT JERSEY CITY

Loss From Fire is Estimated to be Around Million Dollars.

FREIGHT DESTROYED

JERSEY CITY, March 4 (United Press).—Damage estimated at $1,000,000 was done by fire, which swept Pier K of the Pennsylvania Railroad here yesterday.

The flames destroyed the superstructure of the pier, five cars loaded with freight, 15 empty freight cars, 30 car loads of freight stored on the pier, one railroad barge and a large amount of crude rubber.

Railroad tugs, two fire tugs from New York and 15 Jersey City fire companies got the fire under control about an hour and a half after it started.

Smoke from the blaze drifted over downtown New York and attracted the attention of thousands on their way to work.

Defective insulation was believed to have caused the fire.

Six firemen were overcome by smoke or slightly injured.

Although the fire was under control, it was smouldering all morning and was not expected to be entirely out before today.

DATE SET

New Municipal Election for Windsor Will be Held March 21.

WINDSOR, Ont., March 4. Canadian Press. — Monday, March 21, has been definitely set at the date of Windsor's new municipal election. Electors will visit the polls on that day to choose six new aldermen to replace [illegible] who quit of [illegible] who were unseated, as a result of the recent probe instigated by Ex-Alderman A. E. Hooper, at the direction of the "Citizens' Committee."

MODISTE "SIGN" FROCKS

LONDON, March 3.—Fashionable modistes are now signing their frocks just as artists sign their pictures. A favorite method is to autograph the dress near the hem with embroidered diamente. One prominent beauty appeared at a theater first night wearing a gown autographed by a large brooch of brilliants.

SON'S DEVOTION BRINGS REWARD

University Education for Boy Who Was Stabbed by Mother.

SAVE COTRIBUTIONS

ALBANY, N. Y., March 4. United Press. — Joseph Darnum, the 13 year old Beacon boy, who was stabbed by his mother and refused to tell the authorities until they promised not to "punish her," will in all probability receive a college education because of his devotion to his mother.

This became known here yesterday through a letter to Dr. Matthias Nicoll, Jun., state health commissioner, from George W. Davids, superintendent of the child welfare board of Duchess county, who investigated the case.

The health commissioner became interested in the case after reading newspaper stories and asked Davids for all the facts.

Yesterday Davids replied that the family is not in want but that many people had sent in small contributions to them.

These funds if they reach a sufficient amount will be used to set up a scholarship for Joseph, Davids said.

C.N.R. WITNESS BEFORE BOARD

Dealt Particularly With Traffic Conditions and Operations in West.

OTTAWA, March 4 (Canadian Press). — Practically the whole of yesterday's sittings of the Board of Railway Commissioners hearing the freight rates investigations was taken up by the examination of E. P. Mallory, Director of the Bureau of Statistics maintained by the Canadian National Railways. The witness dealt particularly with traffic conditions and railway operations in the West and the effect thereof on net revenues. A comparison was made between the transportation of grain as against all other classes of fright. Particular attention was drawn to the seasonal character of the former traffic, and the assertion made that the grain traffic in 1925 did not meet operating expenses.

Compares Cost

Witness compared operating cost in the freight service of the West on the C.N.R. with similar service on first-grade United States lines and declared the comparison to be favorable to the Canadian road and the costs not excessive. The figures he quoted were, per revenue ton mile: on the Great Northern Railway 6.33 mills; Northern Pacific Railway 7.22 mills; Canadian National Railway 6.25 mills, this favorable showing in the face of traffic on the United States lines which is 12.2 per cent greater than in Canada. Witness testified that it cost 5.66 mills per ton mile to move grain from Edmonton to Vancouver, this being based on the actual operating costs during the year 1925. Using the same method of calculation the cost of moving grain eastbound from Edmonton to the head of the Lakes was 4.64 mills, and from Melville to Lakehead 4.49 mills. The cost from Edmonton to Vancouver was 1,62 mills or 22 per cent higher than from Edmonton to the head of the Lakes and 1.17 mills or 26 per cent higher than from Melville to the head of the Lakes.

Further Comparison

A further interesting comparison submitted by Mr. Mallory was as to the character of the traffic in the United States and Canada. In 1925, 23 per cent of the Canadian traffic (all lines) was of agricultural products, 32 per cent products of the mines, and 16 per cent of the forests. In the United States, these three basic classes produced 9, 53, and 9 per cent respectively. The total in each case, however, is 71 per cent, and the remaining 29 per cent is accounted for by manufactured articles and miscellaneous goods.

The average length of haul in the United States was given as 332 miles, the revenue per ton mile in Canada was 10.12 mills and in the United States 10.97 mills. The figures cover the aggregate traffic of all Canadian lines and of the first grade United States lines, a "first grade" line being defined as a line having at least a million dollars revenue per annum.

After 18 Years On Bench Windsor Judge Retires

WINDSOR, Ont., March 4.—(Canadian Press.) — Judge George Smith, 75 years old, held his last court yesterday in the division court chambers in the Windsor police building. He is retiring after 18 years as the junior Essex County court judge. J. Ferguson Twigg, on behalf of the Essex Bar Association, expressed the regret of the bar at his retirement.

Judge Smith was a member of the House of Commons for several years as the representative of the North Oxford electoral district. His salary of $5,000 a year as judge will continue. His successor has not been appointed.

HUMANE SOCIETY HOLDS MEETING

New Members Admitted—Excellent Addresses Given.

The Junior Humane Society held its weekly meeting Thursday in St. John's Parish Hall.

The meeting opened with the president, W. Turner, in the chair, and after the reading of the minutes and the various reports, the new members took the pledge.

The members were then favored by a reading by Douglas Blagrave, entitled "A Horse's Age."

Mrs. Young of Montreal then spoke on "Why a Horse's Eye is so Large."

Next Mrs. Martin told of an instance of humane treatment which she happened to notice, and compared it with the actions of many in a similar position. She drew attention to the kind treatment given by most C.N.R. Express drivers to their horses.

The meetings of the Peterboro Junior Society are held weekly, on Thursday after school, in St. John's Sunday School.

A programme committee was appointed to arrange for entertainment at all meetings.

The meeting concluded with the singing of the National Anthem.

Deer Fatally Hurt In Collision With Car

MARMORA, March 4.—A A unique experience befel Dougald Sanderson on Monday about half past seven when returning to Marmora from Deloro in one of his father's cars. A deer chase by two hounds in crossing the road near to Marmora C.N.R. station, collided with the front part of the car and was badly injured. Assisted by Mr. Rigg, the other occupant of the car, Dougald placed the animal in the car and conveyed it to the home barn where it succumbed to its injuries in a very short while.

King George Approves Side Saddle For Women

LONDON, March 4 (Canadian Press).—The King dislikes the vogue of women riding astride of horses. Visiting the horse show at Islington Wednesday, he saw many women in mannish costumes astride of hunters, which were being shown in the ring, and remarked to his companions: "I don't like to see women ride astride; the side seat is much more graceful."

The Queen and Princess Mary are wholeheartedly in agreement with the King on this point. The Queen never rides, but Princess Mary often follows the hounds—always riding side saddle.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

$734,000 IS CANADA'S SHARE

British Empire's Reparations Receipts Covering Span of Two Years.

UNDER DAWES PLAN

LONDON, March 4.—(Canadian Press Cable.)— Canada's share in the British Empire's reparations receipts under the Dawes plan, covering the period from Sept. 1, 1924, to Nov. 13, 1926, amounted approximately to £734,000, which has been paid over. This was stated in the house of commons yesterday afternoon by Winston Churchill, chancelor of the exchequer, in reply to questions.

Canada was also entitled to a share in the pre-Dawes plan reparation receipts, which on the basis of the accounts accepted by the dominions were estimated at £778,650, he added, and this would be paid over as soon as the accounts were accepted and settlement was reached on certain financial claims outstanding between Great Britain and Canada.

"I submitted the proposals of settlement to Premier Mackenzie King last November, but have not yet received a reply from the Canadian government," the chancellor said.

COUNCIL PUTS TAX RATE BACK

them to break their losing contracts with power purchasers as with the Peterborough street railway. Ald. Greene said that the estimated revenue the Hydro quoted would possibly be based on what might be obtained if the competing buses were taken off. Ald. Phelan said the city could not order them off, and City Solicitor Wearing said that there is at present some doubt but that the law is going through which gives Police Commissions power to control bus lines.

Ald. Cotton said that the Hydro didn't want to run buses until the opposition line began. And Ald. Denne said that now at rush hours they couldn't handle the crowd alone. The Hydro buses did not serve the territory south of Byerville.

Ald. Hancock expressed the opinion that it was up to the Council to make an offer, as the Hydro had made two. (The price for the two utilities now quoted is $570,000). Ald Fife said that the Council had asked for information and was still seeking information on which to base an offer.

The Legal and Reception committee had a whole shelf of claims for damages due to accidents on the sidewalk. All but one was covered by the city's insurance, and on the one not covered the Council decided to take no action.

An offer was received from the proprietors of a stall on the highway to give out information and literature free of charge, eliminating the necessity of the city keeping a clerk there for the purpose. This matter was left over on Ald. Greene's objections. He favored having a man there whose sole business was the giving of information.

The Parks committee decided to go ahead with the demolition of the houses in James Stevenson Park. An extra month is to be given the Nu-Art Kera Tile Company to find a new plant. The difficulty of getting a building for the Ellis Mattress Factory was also the cause of some discussion, and the aldermen will try to locate a suitable building.

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

LOOK FOR THE GOOD

Look for the good, and you will find
Kindness in men men call unkind.
Look for the good, and you will see
Red apples on a twisted tree.
Look for the good, and you will catch
Love in the lifting of a latch.

I never knew a road so long
That not a wildbird sang a song.
I never knew a path so drear
But running waters I could hear.
I never knew a day so sad
But something comforting it had.

Whatever trail a fellow goes,
To make it fair, look for the rose.
Whatever task your hand employs,
To make it glad, look for its joys.
Whatever life we live, or would,
To make it good, look for the good.

THE LIFE OF CHRIST—Shepherds and Wise Men

(Sketches by Kroesen)

While shepherds watched their flocks by night a great light shone round about them, and an angel proclaimed the birth of Jesus in Bethlehem, saying, "Fear not, for behold I bring you tidings of great joy . . . For unto you is born this day . . . a Savior, which is Christ the Lord." (Luke II:8-11)

"A multitude of the heavenly host, praising God and saying, Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men." (Luke II:13, 14)

Wise Men in the east saw the star of Christ and followed it to Jerusalem, seeking to worship Him. (Matt. II:1, 2)

The Shepherds and the Wise Men then came to worship at the manger. The Wise Men presented to the child Christ gifts of gold, frankincense and myrrh. (Luke II:16-18; Matt. II:9-11) about Mrs. Nelson's statement: "After the police court case she told me he was no better. 'But he doesn't point the revolver at me any more, Mary.' She had called me in and told me about him pointing the revolver at her.

"And she also said, 'I like to keep that knife hid. I'm afraid he'll use it.'"

Mrs. Nelson said their last conversation was on the day before the fire.

"'I do wish you'd come over Mary, I have something I want to tell you,'" Mrs. West quoted from her memory.

"I told her I'd be there the next day at half-past nine."

That day didn't dawn for Dr. West's wife and son.

Denies Neglect.

Dr. West denied that he had neglected his wife, given her cause for jealousy, and used any violence toward her except on the day of the Roseneath Fair, October 15th, 1925. At dinner that day Mrs. West said she had arranged to go with friends to the Fair. The meal had been scantily prepared, and Dr. West said their son had not been given proper food. An altercation developed, during which several neighbors entered the house. They testified that Mrs. West's neck was red and that Mrs. West said her husband tried to choke her. Dr. West in his evidence explained that he had put his forearm against his wife's throat, and that perhaps a button on his sleeve had made the red mark mentioned by other witnesses.

Pearl Boyce was the other woman in the alleged triangle of whom Mrs. West had written to her mother in Belgium, "What would you do if you knew your husband was in love with another woman?"

Miss Boyce denied amorous relations with Dr. West.

Some delay was occasioned late in the afternoon pending the arrival of Mrs. W. Nelson, one of the women who was prevented by illness from attending the previous session of the inquest. It was stated that an infant baby was the cause of her absence, but after being called several times, Mrs. Nelson finally arrived at the Town Hall yesterday.

Heard Groaning.

Miss Orpa Sloggett was the first witness called yesterday. She testified that on the night of the fire she heard a shout or loud call a few minutes before the fire alarm sounded. Her home is about 50 or 60 rods from where West lived. The sound she heard was like "Oh, oh, oh," in a high pitched tone as if some one were groaning.

Mr. Kerr—Did you know whether it was an adult's voice or a young person's?

"I thought it was a grown-up person."

A juror asked—How long after hearing the voice did you hear West's house was on fire?

About two minutes.

Patrick Cooney.

This witness at present lives at Brighton, but was a resident of Warkworth at the time of the fire, living across the street from Dr. and Mrs. West. Mr. Cooney knew the West's well and went back and forth between the two homes quite often. On being asked whether there was any family trouble between Mr. and Mrs. West, the witness testified about going to the West home on the day of the Roseneath fair.

Mr. Cooney was upstairs in his own home when he heard a woman screaming. He rushed downstairs and found that the noise was coming from the West home. He, along with James Cobbledick, went over to the home and found Mrs. West out in front but they did not see Dr. West. Mrs. West told them the doctor had been pounding and choking her. The quarrel seemed to start, stated the witness, when Mrs. West went to get the baby ready to go to the fair, and the doctor would not allow her to take it. The men went into the house and found things disarranged and also Dr. West, who ordered them out.

Dr. West—Did you come across to abuse me?

Witness—No sir.

Dr. West—Get out.

From that time the witness saw no other evidences of trouble except that Mrs. West sometimes complained of being abused by her husband and that one night she was locked out of her home. When Mr. Cooney was questioned about Dr. West's attentions to another lady he said he had seen them occasionally, but on being asked for a definite answer, he said, 'quite a bit.'

In the cross-examination Mr. Cooney said he noticed Mrs. West's neck very red the day he and Mr. Cobbledick went to the West home.

James Cobbledick corroborated Mr. Cooney's evidence about the Roseneath fair day incident.

"I was digging potatoes and Cooney called me over. He asked West what he was abusing his wife for. West got up and went into his office. Then he came out again. We thought he might have gone for firearms, but I didn't see any. Cooney told West to come on outside but he didn't.

Mrs. West told us her husband had pounded and choked her. I saw red marks on her throat. The carpet was rolled up where they had been scrapping. Mr. Cooney advised her to get Mr. Phillips (the police constable).

Mr. Kerr—Did you know of any other trouble between them?—Yes, I heard about it, but that was the first time I saw anything. It was the day of the Roseneath fair."

Mr. Cobbledick said that after the police court hearing Mrs. West told him they were getting along "in the same old way."

Mr. Kerr— Did you notice him paying attention to other women?

Witness—Yes, I saw him talking to her on the street, but I've talked to her myself. (Laughter in the hall).

The identity of the woman referred to as "her" was not disclosed at this stage.

Mr. MacColl questioned the witness about the police court trial at which West was bound over to keep the peace. To one of the questions witness said: "I heard Col. Floyd say he could give West 15 years, but he wanted them to try to live in peace."

Mrs. Patrick Cooney.

Mrs. Cooney is the wife of Patrick Cooney and before she moved to Brighton said she was on quite intimate terms with Mrs. West. The witness testified that Mrs. West often complained to her about her husband abusing her and matters seemed to have reached a head shortly after Roseneath fair when Dr. West was arraigned in police court.

Mrs. West spent the afternoon of the day of Roseneath fair at the home of Mrs. Cooney, where she complained of her husband throwing her on the couch that morning and choking her. Also, she said something would have to be done for she would not stay with the doctor.

After the police court trial Mrs. West never complained of actual violence, but the relations between husband and wife were not the best.

A juror asked Mrs. Cooney if she knew anything about the trunk and the silverware.

Witness—Nothing of the trunk. I knew Mrs. West had a set of silverware in her home.

Mr. MacColl asked the witness about the other woman and the marks on Mrs. West's neck the day of the fair, all of which she answered as in the Crown's examination.

Mrs. Charles Osborne said that Mrs. West had arranged with her to go to the Roseneath fair.

'On that day she waved her hand at me when we were going. I heard that they had some trouble that day."

Mr. Kerr —Did you know that they had any other trouble?—I read the advertisement in which she was refused any further credit by her husband.

Did you hear of any complaint from her after the police court case?—She didn't complain to me.

Did you hear her in Mr. Osborne's presence or any other third person?—I think she did.

Tell us what the complaint was about?—Her husband was away a lot. She said nothing about him abusing her.

Was it that she was neglected?—She was alone a lot.

Was he away on business or not?—I understand he was a very busy man.

To Mr MacColl witness said she had always tried to be a good neighbor to Mrs. West.

"I suppose she was as likely to tell you as anybody if she had anything to complain about?—I think so.

Juror Armstrong—Does Mrs. Osborne know anything about a steamer trunk?

Mrs. Osborne—No.

Calls at West Home.

Kory Zufelt, who lives two miles west of Warkworth, said he had made several calls at the West home and met Mrs. West.

"On the first occasion she complained of the way they were getting along," Mr. Zufelt said. "She told me the youngster had a crippled leg, and that her husband never picked the boy up. She also said he never gave the kid a nickel or bought him anything. She said they had motored to Toronto, and he did not speak to her all the way. She said her husband had been in the dining room on a couch with another woman, with the door shut, while Mrs. West said the baby were in the kitchen. She complained that he never gave her any money nor took her anywhere. She referred to a butcher knife and said he had threatened to do something to her with the knife.

The second time I called was on the Sunday before the fire. While Dr. West was getting some medicine for my cow I asked him how the youngster was getting along. It was supper time and she pulled out the high chair and the little boy got down and ran around the floor. She said his feet were much better since the plaster cast had been removed from them. She said "Stuart plays with Floyd now." She remembered that she had talked to me about him in July."

Mr. MacColl: "Didn't you think it strange that Mrs. West should talk to you of her intimate affairs on meeting her only once or twice?"

I asked her how she liked Canada, and she said "Fine, except for her trouble with Stuart."

Mr. MacColl remarked to Mr. Kerr that most of the evidence would not be admissable at a trial. His comment touched on the seeming freedom of speech by women about their affairs.

Mr. Kerr: Women do talk more freely about their husbands than the husbands themselves.

Mrs. Annie Phelan swore that she knew nothing about the case whatever.

Mr. Kerr: Your name was mentioned to me as a probable witness. Do you know how that could happen? No.

Early in the spring of 1925, Dr. West was called to the farm of Jas. Black, who lives two miles west of Warkworth. Later on in the spring Mr. Black, the next witness, went to the West home to see Dr. West, but he was not there. On the 20th of July Mr. Black received a bill from Dr. West for services rendered, and later he went to pay it. He found Mrs. West at home, but the doctor away. Mrs West told the witness about the trouble with her husband; she did not know when he would be back, for only a few days before when she got up in the morning at eight o'clock she found a note on the telephone saying he would be back at noon, but he failed to return that day or the next, and on the next day he phoned saying he would not be back until night, as his car had broken down. After Mrs. West received the phone call she called up the operator at Campbellford, and she was told he had phoned from Percy Boom. Mrs. West complained about the doctor never picking the child up and kissing it, and being away from home a great deal. She also said he went around with another woman, and attributed his absence to this woman, testified Mr. Black.

Mrs. Patrick Cooney was recalled, and questioned about the locked garage in April of 1925. Mrs. Cooney found Mrs. West crying one night, and wringing her hands. Mrs. West said she had heard the doctor drive in and when she went to the garage she found it locked. Later on she saw the doctor and Pearl Boyce come out of the garage. She asked Mrs. Cooney what would she do, and she told her to keep quiet for the present. On cross examination she re-affirmed her statement about seeing another woman coming out of the garage with her husband.

Mrs. W. A. Nelson.

The late Mrs. West seemed to have been on very intimate terms with Mrs W. A. Nelson, and these two women discussed the troubles of the former quite often. It was about six years ago, witness said, when she first met Mrs. West; at that time the Wests were living in Percy township, near Mrs. Nelson. There was considerable family trouble then between Mr. and Mrs. West. Mrs. West was an industrious woman, the witness said, and she once said to Mrs. Nelson: "Mary, our cooking is not the same as yours, your ways are different."

While on the farm in Percy Township, Mr. West was made help milk the cows, carry the milk into the house, to separate it and then carry it out again. She took sick and went to a doctor, and was told to rest.

Later on Mrs West complained to Mrs. Nelson about not being able to get any clothes to wear. The only dress, the witness knew Mrs. West to get was a red flannel which was not made the way she wanted, so Mrs. Nelson took it and remade it. On Christmas Day Dr. and Mrs. West were invited to the home of Mrs. Nelson for dinner but the doctor brought Mrs. West and went away again. That night Mr. Nelson took Mrs. West home. Mrs. West complained then that the doctor did not use her one bit better.

Witness was asked to tell what she knew about the revolver and the knife. She knew there was a revolver and a knife in the house; and Mrs. West always liked to keep the knife hidden for she was afraid he might use it.

Mrs. Nelson told about when she was out for a drive one afternoon,

ROYAL COMMISSION ANALYST & Zam-Buk

A PURE emollient of great healing power—one well adapted for treatment of skin injuries and diseases. This, in brief, is the report of W. Lascelles-Scott, F. S. Sc. (Lond.), of Little Ilford, England, after submitting Zam-Buk to a series of clinical and personal tests.

DR. SCOTT writes:—"I have chemically analysed the unguent preparation known as "ZAM-BUK," samples having been obtained from the makers direct and by independent purchase. Zam-Buk is a balsamic ointment of pale green colour, and agreeable aromatic odour. Its constituents being exclusively of herbal origin, Zam-Buk contains none of the impure and often irritating mineral drugs and animal fats present in less carefully prepared ointments; hence it never exhibits a tendency to rancidity.

"Zam-Buk is possessed of rare antiseptic and bacteriacidal power which promptly alleviates cutaneous disorders due to parasites and pathogenic organisms. Moreover, its astringent and balsamic constituents render Zam-Buk an emollisant of great healing power.

"I have no hesitation in certifying the entire purity of Zam-Buk. It is well adapted for the treatment of superficial injuries and skin disorders."

TO CHECK SMUGGLING.

There will be general approval throughout Canada of the evident determination of Hon. W. B. Euler, Minister of Customs, to eliminate smuggling.

The re-organization of the Customs Department and the creation of a special preventive force of some 200 officers are reforms that the revelations of recent months have shown to be badly needed.

The new force is to be stationed at strategic points along the border and at important ports on both coasts, and it is hoped by Mr. Euler that such an organization will be able to check a great deal of the frauds and smuggling that have been prevalent for some time.

The people of Canada expect the customs situation to be satisfactorily cleared up, and the manner in which the new Minister of Customs is taking hold of the problem will be a source of satisfaction to all, except the law-breakers, who have been taking advantage of a lax system to line their pockets at the expense of Canadians generally.

CUTTING THE RED TAPE.

It was stated in these columns a few days ago that the action of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce in proposing an extension of permits to motor tourists visiting Canada and in pressing for this change through the medium of the Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce had been successful.

Hon. W. D. Euler, Minister of Customs, has now made an official announcement of the new regulations, which make it possible for bona fide motor tourists to remain in Canada for ninety days without furnishing a bond or a deposit.

Under the old law thirty days was the limit, and to secure an extension it was necessary for a tourist to furnish the bond of a guarantee company or a cash deposit of $25 and the bond of two personal securities.

The cutting of all this red tape and the substitution of a simple system by which a tourist may remain ninety days if he is sponsored by a recognized Canadian motor club are expected to do much to encourage tourists to visit Canada, and the change will be welcomed on both sides of the border.

STRICTER LAWS.

Many suggestions as to stricter regulations for the protection of Ontario's fish and game have been made to the Government by officials of the Ontario Hunters' Fish and Game Association, and some at least are likely to be acted upon.

Among other things the association advocates the prohibition of the sale of all game and fish, claiming that the sale of venison assumes large proportions each season because of the tendency on the part of some butchers to buy many licenses, send them to the north country and have deer killed expressly for sale at their market.

Such an abuse of the present law cannot be defended, but there will, on the part of some hunters at least, be a protest against prohibiting altogether the sale of venison on the ground that such a regulation would make deer hunting a rich man's game.

Many a hunter of moderate means depends upon the sale of his deer to take care of a good share of the expense of the outing, and without an opportunity to meet the cost in this way it would be impossible for many of those fond of an autumn holiday in the woods to stand the expense involved.

The suggestion that the season for maskinonge, pickerel and bass should not begin until July 1st will also meet with opposition; this proposal is intended to protect the bass during the spawning season, and the other fish are included because officials of the Fish and Game Association declare that a uniform opening date is necessary.

MR. SEGUIN'S PROPOSAL.

The controversy in the House of Commons over a motion from Paul Seguin, member for Montcalm, Que., that preference in all civil service appointments should be given to candidates knowing the two official languages, and that bilingual civil servants already appointed should have higher salaries, confirms what The Examiner has frequently pointed out that the French people of this country show an example in their knowledge of the English language that should be followed by English-speaking Canadians in regard to the French tongue.

The motion was warmly opposed by Ontario members on the ground that, as one member put it, the effect could be to make the civil service a preserve for those who speak French or for those who are French.

That, of course, would be the exact result of adopting such a proposal, because the percentage of English-speaking Canadians who can speak French almost vanishes when compared with the number of French-speaking Canadians who have a knowledge of English.

With the situation as it is the Seguin proposal could not be tolerated, and yet why should the situation be as it is?

Would it not be better all around and make for better relations between the two races if English Canadians knew as much about the other official language as the French do about the English tongue.

Here is a proposal that in itself is quite reasonable, but because English-speaking Canadians have refused all opportunities to learn French cannot be adopted because it would give French-Canadians a monopoly in regard to civil service positions.

It was worth $51,994 for the Province to get rid of 3,800 wolves last year.—Toronto Star.

CRITICISM VALUABLE.

There was a time when it was considered just short of high treason to voice editorial criticism of Ontario's publicly-owned Hydro-electric system. The late Sir Adam Beck had, to a remarkable degree, the ability to give actuality to that trite bit of modern vernacular which states that "every knock is a boost." When the voice of criticism was heard, Sir Adam assumed an injured air and his embattled legions of free-lunch seeking political soldiers rushed to his defence. While Beck was alive there were few courageous enough to criticize the Ontario Hydro-electric system; there were few, indeed, sufficiently free from the spell of the demi-god to be able to discern weaknesses in the enterprise. Some men welcome constructive criticism, others want to hear nothing but complimentary comment; of the latter type was Beck. No public enterprise, just as no government, can grow soundly and avoid disintegrating influences, without a cleansing agent in the form of critical analysis of its work.

Now the hysteria of Hydro has subsided. It is a healthy sign that criticism today is heard. The Ontario Reformer of Oshawa and the Sentinel-Star of Cobourg have both been making some sharply critical comments on Hydro. Even The Toronto Star, senile in uplift but fanatical, frenzied and excitable in propaganda, has cooled sufficiently to sense certain indiscretions in Beck's career.

Hydro has been a wonderful institution for Ontario, although it did nothing that could not have been done more quietly and more economically by private individuals. Hydro will be a sounder institution when it is sanely criticized and the criticisms are given due hearing by Hydro's managers. Fortunately for Ontario, the Chairman of the Ontario Hydro-electric Commission, Hon. C. A. Magrath, is a man of sufficient vision and force to want to know what is wrong as well as what is right with the people's enterprise. He is likely to correct, so far as he is able, errors and corrosions.—Financial Post.

THE BRITISH STAKE IN CHINA.

That there is a sharp division of opinion regarding either the wisdom or the necessity for the forwarding of the British Defence Force to Shanghai is being made more and more manifest by the discussions which are taking place in the press and upon the public platform. A bye-election in an English riding previously represented by a Conservative has just been fought and won upon this issue by a Laborite and there are many other signs which clearly indicate that unanimity of feeling by no means prevails in support of the action of the Government. The chief objection to the despatch of the Defence Force seems to be based upon a contention that the aspirations of the Chinese Nationalist movement are both just and right, and opponents of the Government argue that since the Nationalist cause is just and right no resistance or impediment to its development should be offered.

Those who assail the British Government for the course which it has taken in respect to the situation in China misconstrue its motives. The expedition is not intended to be punitive in its purpose nor is it desired to repress in any way other than in the gaining of proper protection for British lives and British property the ambitions of the Chinese Nationalists or other factions. The Speech from the Throne delivered at the recent opening of Parliament made it abundantly clear that while Britain above all desired peace with the world, she also desired protection for her subjects. "My relations with the foreign powers continue to be friendly," said His Majesty the King. "My Government felt it necessary to despatch to the Far East a sufficient force to protect the lives of my British and Indian subjects." That protection, in the extremely unsettled state of China and in the absence of any established Government with which to negotiate, can only be gained through the despatch of naval and military forces. Britain has no desire either to terrorize the Chinese or to interfere in their affairs. It recognizes the right of the Chinese to conduct those affairs as they may see fit and proper. Many British statesmen, indeed, are openly sympathetic with the aims of the Nationalists and welcome the awakening of China that it betokens. But at the same time they believe, and rightly so, that every protection should be given to the lives of British subjects and to the investments of British money.

That British assets in China, apart altogether from the lives at stake, are by no means inconsiderable is evident from figures which have been supplied from an authoritative source. In Shanghai alone British capital to the extent of £63,250,000 is invested. British holdings in Chinese loans are not less than £20,000,000. Another £20,000,000 in British funds is tied up in the Chinese railways. British money altogether in China totals at least £250,000,000 and probably amounts to £300,000,000, or, roughly, $1,500,000,000. In addition, Great Britain in 1925 did an export and import business with China of £23,500,000, while her trade with the remainder of the British Empire reached a total of £34,000,000. It will thus be seen that British interests in China, built up during many years and involving the purses of thousands of British citizens, have some magnitude and it will be agreed by many that they call for the action that the Government has taken.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Mr. Ferguson is as mysterious about his liquor control bill as he was about the identity of his strong man.

The debate on the Budget in the Legislature goes on, but nobody seems to know just why.

Fergus has no School Board because the members forgot to take the oath of office. No school trustee in the village has taken the oath for 25 years, which leaves a real Gilbert and Sullivan situation.

The salary of Babe Ruth for the next three years will be $70,000 a year. With that and the pin money the home run king can make out of vaudeville and the movies Mr. Ruth ought to be able to keep the wolf from the door.

MAMIE IS REEVED

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear sir:

The person who undertakes to answer what I said about his sermon, etc., "Beauty is a transient thing" is either a fool or a man and it don't make much difference. He says that beauty of soul is a grand thing. It's only the other day he said beauty is a transient thing and no good. I have no time to bother with blockheads like him.

DENIES REPORT

Marmora, Ont.,
March 2nd, 1927.

To the Peterborough Examiner.

Dear Sirs,—In a recent issue of your paper, referring to the death of my father, Jerome Keene of Marmora, you said "For some years he and his wife had been separated, following disagreement over religion. She is a Roman Catholic."

The reason given for the separation of my parents is absolutely without foundation.

Will you be good enough to correct this misrepresentation in the next issue of The Examiner.

DR. FRANK CRANE'S DAILY EDITORIAL.

THE VOICE ACROSS THE SEA

By Dr. Frank Crane.

It was a significant step in progress the other day when telephonic conversation was held between London and New York.

It was but a short time ago when a message was delivered by cable across the Atlantic and this was thought to be a remarkable occurrence.

That the human voice can be carried immediately over so wide a space is surely an achievement of science.

It was not the result of the discovery of any one man but a gradual growth of the efforts being put forth by the English and American Telephone Companies.

In less than an hour business to the extent of more than six millions was transacted by bankers and a news agency had received the first commercial radio telephone from London to New York.

The service is not yet perfect but the progress that has been made has been remarkable.

It shows that the times we live in are as important as any past times and that we may expect inventions that shall alter the course of destiny at any moment.

The publisher of the New York Times talked with the publisher of the London Times and exchanged views.

The effect of this invention it is hard to estimate, but it all goes along with the railroads and the electric telegraph and the radio to make the world smaller.

To talk over the trans-Atlantic requires that people speak the same language and naturally England and America will be brought closer together than America and any other nation, for they are both English-speaking peoples. Whatever consolidates these peoples makes for the peace of the world.

The United States and England are both committed to a policy of peace and they are both prosperous nations. Their pacifism does not spring from feebleness, but from the triumph of reason over force.

Whatever tends to make the different branches of the English-speaking race one in thought and in feeling is a guarantee of security.

It will not be long before an inhabitant of the Pacific Coast will be able to take down his telephone and have the telephone girl simply plug him in to London where he can be heard distinctly.

The radio, which consists of a little box sitting anywhere in your house, capable of picking up sounds from a distant city, is in itself a marvelous invention and this adaptation of the radio to telephonic communication is no less marvelous. Dr. Milliken of the California Institute of Technology recently said that there had been greater inventions since 1920 than in all of the nineteenth century, and this step in progress that has been recently made is a vivid illustration of Dr. Milliken's statement.

Common Errors in English and How To Avoid Them.

(By the McClure Syndicate, Inc.)

WORDS IN ENGLISH

Frank H. Vizetelly, author of several books on the use of English, punctuation, etc., said in a letter to the New York Times:

"Before the war I examined the largest dictionaries of the English, French, German, Italian and Spanish languages, and found that the New English Dictionary of the Philological Society of England, edited by Sir James A. H. Murray, Henry Bradley and my good friend Dr. William A. Craigie, contained, as far as then published, 600,000 terms of all kinds. This total has since been increased by 100,000 terms, but does not include the thousands of technical terms which have been added to the language during the period of publication, 1884-1922, nor does it embrace the cant of the underworld, the argot of the street, and the exhaustive terminology of the sciences of chemistry, medicine petrology, etc.

"To produce a dictionary in which every word used in every science and dialect is given place would prove so costly an undertaking that no one has yet dared to embark in it."

HERE'S TO YOUR HEALTH

BY DR. FRANK McCOY

"The Fast Way to Health"

1926 McCOY HEALTH SERVICE - LOS ANGELES - CAL.

MIRACLES OF HEALING

We are thrilled by any new story reporting a miraculous cure through the power of prayer and such new stories are eagerly seized upon by the daily press as newspaper men know that this kind of a story is always intensely interesting to the reader. It is perhaps well to understand that all such phenomena can usually be explained by anyone who will keep up to date in the investigation of physical and psychical phenomena.

Disease exists only because there has been an interference with health. This interference is usually manifested by congestion in some part of the body, and the causes are sometimes mental and sometimes physical.

The physical causes are produced through the development of a sluggish blood stream charged with the waste products of imperfect mentabolism and such congestion easily exists when the body has not been properly exercised and one has not followed correct habits of living. Cures of such conditions depend upon the body being freed from toxemia and usually can be cured in a short time by using an eliminative treatment which will throw off these physical impurities clogging up the various channels of the body. Such methods of treatment as the fasting cure, scientific dietetics, manipulative therapy, hydrotherapy, etc. will assist the body in increasing elimination and bring about some really marvelous cures in a very short time.

Some of the most amazing cures are effected in cases where the congestion in the body which produces disease, is caused by some error in mental habits. Destructive thoughts of all kinds and repression of normal emotions and desires will bring on a sluggishness of the circulation which will be just as effective in producing disease as bad physical habits. If psycho-analysis, hypnotism, prayer or the visit to some sacred shrine can suddenly remove these inhibitions and destructive attitudes of the mind it is then possible for the natural creative forces in the body to bring about a marvelous change, and almost instantly as soon as the proper mental attitude is adopted.

One who has had a long chain of illnesses will often develop such attitudes of thought as to believe they have developed some serious disease which in reality does not exist except in the imagination.

In many cases such as paralysis, loss of vision or hearing, etc., the patient continues in the impression that these diseases exist when the natural forces of the body have really brought about a change back to the normal. Many a patient who has had his arm paralysed has been slowly cured by the natural creative forces which exist at all times in the body. The trouble is that they often do not know that this change has taken place and the arm remains unused and in a weakened condition. If this is really true, any doctor, healer or evangelist, who can give the patient a certain mental picture of being cured will be able to bring about a sudden change, which is then called a miracle.

These miracles are all accomplished through the agency of natural law, whether it be on the mental or physical plane and anyone who is ailing will do well to investigate every possible way for freeing the body from the encumbrance of anything which interferes with health, whether it be created from a wrong mental viewpoint or from destructive habits of living.

Any cure is a good cure as long as a patient learns how to live so that the same causes do not exist which created the trouble in the first place.

a new Model ROGERS BATTERYLESS A/C RADIO

Cameo Console $325. Complete with Junior Symphony Speaker Inbuilt

No Batteries
No Chemicals
No Charger
No Aerial

Just Plug In Then Tune In!
3 Minutes to Install!
5¢ a week or less, to Operate!

Model "90" $230 Complete Except Speaker

The Greatest Radio Value in Canada

THIS new model of the famous Rogers Batteryless Radio (presented in two designs as shown above) embodies nearly all of the features of the higher priced models and combines the three great essentials of the ideal radio—(1) Total elimination of all batteries, (including chemicals, chargers, and other attachments) (2) Simplicity of tuning control (3) tone quality and power.

Bear in mind that these sets, as shown above, are complete. There are no extra units or attachments to buy. They are built complete in one factory in Toronto. Every part is the product of one engineering staff, perfectly co-ordinated, balanced and tested as a finished product.

This particular model is the result of three years steady research and development and represents, we believe, the greatest radio value in Canada. It operates direct from any light socket, on either 25 or 60 cycle alternating current. You simply connect a ground wire, then "Plug in—and tune in." No fussy connections, no batteries or attachments, and in most cases no aerial

It takes about 3 minutes to install a Rogers—less than five seconds to tune it in—and it costs only 3 to 5 cents a week to operate it. Yet it will bring in stations from coast to coast with uniform, everlasting power, just as though you bought new batteries every day.

Hear it in Your Home

These sets have just been released for sale. They are the latest 1927 Models. Let us demonstrate to you their wonderful quality of tone and show you the tremendous advantage of a Rogers Batteryless—that forever eliminates the bother and expense of ordinary radio. You are bound to want a "Batteryless." Why not start right!

Details of This New Model

This new model is a five-tube A/C set, using alternating current direct to the tubes for power. (The only set in the world that can do this.) It has a two-dial control with degrees and wave lengths both shown on the indicators, making it simple to locate any station. Volume control and oscillation control are two other features.

The "Cameo" Console

This design, in a beautiful walnut cabinet with a Rogers Junior Symphony Speaker built in, is a masterpiece of tone and beauty. It will harmonize with the finest furnishings, yet is small enough to fit most any nook.

The Model "Ninety"

This design is for those to whom space is a factor. It is compact, being only 9" x 18", with the power unit separate. It is encased in art-metal and will fit on the corner of any table, shelf or bookcase with the power unit concealed.

Either of these Models can be purchased on convenient terms, spread over three to twelve months.

Everybody Loves Sport.

Although One Does Not Necessarily Need To Participate.

From the old time parlor games enjoyed by the youngesters, playing "nibs" by the boys, sister's lawn tennis, and on up to dad's golf, everyody is in some way interested in games, amusements, and sports. That is the reason that the publishers of the New Universities Dictionary established the practice of including separate dictionaries of sports in their useful volume.

Complete vocabularies of such popular pastimes as lacrosse, football, polo, baseball, boxing, basketball, and many others, are incorporated in this one volume. Such text matter is now generally recognized as educational, and everybody using a dictionary should have access to it.

Through these dictionaries within a dictionary, those who are active in such sports are enabled to use the correct terms; and those who do not participate in sports can easily keep up with the times, and use the language intelligently by having this new dictionary at hand.

Exactly such a dictionary never before was issued, so complete is it in every detail. Look for the coupon printed elsewhere in this issue and learn how you can get it.

PLANE RESUMES FLIGHT.

CASA BLANCA, Morocco, March 4.—(United Press.)— The Portuguese seaplane Argus, attempting an around-the-world flight, left here at 7.47 a.m. in the direction of Las Palmas, Canary Islands. The Argus followed the same route taken by the Uruguyan aviator Major Borges, who has been missing since he left Casa Blanca Wednesday.

TWO CHILDREN BADLY INJURED BY MOTOR CARS

One Girl Killed and Another Possibly Fatally Hurt in Toronto.

DRIVER ARRESTED.

Doctor, Whose Car Killed Girl, Is Charged With Manslaughter.

TORONTO, March 4. — One child was killed almost outright, and another sustained such injuries as may lead to her death, when struck by motor cars last evening. The dead child is Betty McCulloch, aged six, of 8 Belmont street. She died within half an hour of the mishap in her home. The body was removed to the Morgue, where an inquest will be held in due course. The driver of the motor car, Dr. William E. Mason, St. Clair avenue East, was taken into custody by Detectives McCready and Glasscock on a charge of manslaughter. He was released later on bail of $5000.

As far as can be learned there was only one eye witness of the fatality. He is John Hodge, 81 Alcorn Ave. Hodge was walking along Belmont street, when Dr. Mason's car, southbound on Yonge street, turned to go west on Belmont street. The child had just run from the north to the south side of the road as the auto swung in a wide circle, jumped the curb and knocked the little girl down. The wheels of the heavy car went over her body, causing fatal injuries.

Dr. Mason alighted, and carried the child into her home, where he gave the tot first aid. The police were called and after an investigation, Dr. Mason was arrested.

Thelma Cole, six years of age, living at 494 Durie street, was knocked down by an auto last night and then taken to the hospital for sick children, suffering from a possible fracture of the skull. The chid, it was stated, ran out from behind a parked car at 656 Annette street, in front of the auto. The driver of the car was Richard Young, 952 Shaw street.

PLAY REPEATED.

St. James' Choir Puts On "The Minister's Bride" in Wesley Hall.

The four-act comedy entitled "The Minister's Bride," which was presented last week in the Mark street Church, by the choir of St. James' Church, was repeated last evening in Wesley Hall, with a packed house for the occasion. The entertaining play, with a good deal of comedy in its plot, and a very capable cast, was much enjoyed by those present, the performers in every instance acquitting themselves admirably.

The cast is composed of the following players: Mesdames McKinstry, H. Turner, E. Kitney and E. Frost, the Misses May Ritchie, Jean Hamilton, Verna Fell, M. Collinsand Aileen Rose, and Messrs. Henry Turner, J. Monks, George Cuffe, J. Worrall, Alan Stephens and Gerald Cuffe. Mr. B. Pitchford acts as director of the play.

During intermissions, the Sunday school orchestra of the church played several selections, and the impromptu concert which formed the major portion of the last act of the play, as presented in the new minister's house, included the following numbers: Reading by Miss Jean Hamilton, piano solo by Miss Aileen Rose, mixed vocal quartette: Mrs. E. Kitney, Mrs. E. Frost, Messrs E. Baldry and H. Turner; chorus by the ensemble, "Sweet and Low," two choruses by a male quartette: Messrs A. Lee, E. Baldry, J. Worrall, and H. Turner; vocal solos by Mrs. E. Kitney and Mr. G. Cuffe; ladies' vocal trio: Mrs. E. McKinstry, Mrs. J. Monks, Mrs. E. Kitney; mixed quartette: Mrs. H. Turner, Mrs. E. McKinstry, Messrs. A. Lee and J. Worrall.

THEATRE

MARVELOUS SCENES MAKE IMPRESSION IN "VARIETY."

"Variety," Paramount's picture, which arrives at the Regent on Monday, was given a private showing at Atlantic City, New Jersey, some months ago. One of the Paramount advertising men, in an effort to discover the audience's reactions, stopped a few of the guests and asked them to tell, frankly, what they thought of the film.

First and foremost, the thing which seemed to stay with most of the spectators were the scenes at the Berlin Winter Garden. It's no wonder, because in those thousands of people were used. Every conceivable type was represented among them. The searching eye of the camera discloses both "High-hat" and "low-brow" gentry. Men eating pretzels, and others drinking beer. Here—one leaning over a huge stomach, and there—a long lean personage.

And then—over them all—the acrobats at work on the trapeze. In Germany the 'rings' are not placed on a stage, but right over the heads of the audience. Swinging—back and forth. The crowd watches breathlessly. "Boss and Artinelli" are about to do their "death-defying triple somersault." Watch them—quick!

All of which gives one some slight idea what's in store when "Variety" comes to town. Emil Jannings and Lya de Putti are featured. Ufa produced the picture and Paramount is releasing it.

MARY PICKFORD IN "SPARROWS."

There were large crowds at the Capitol Theatre yesterday for the opening performances of 'Sparrows' with Mary Pickford as the star. The shadow of the little lady evidently never grows less. Her drawing power, as long as she remains steadfast to roles of the type that made her famous, is as strong as ever.

In "Sparrows," she does some very fine acting. She is "Molly," the eldest of a group of children who are kept by a skinflint named Grimes, in a baby farm located in a dismal swamp. The directors have spared no details in the delineation of this horrible place, with its guardian savage dog, its locked and barred portals and the swamp itself, the quagmires sucking down anything that happens to get in the way, and the interior filled with alligators and perilous paths. "Molly," making an escape from the Grimes' abode through its noisome place, encounters many difficulties, but finally pilots her small charges, including a baby strapped to her back, safely, landing them on a launch that is later run down by a police patrol boat, searching for the kidnappers of the aforesaid baby.

The little star has discarded her curls in this picture and uses a pair of long braids. Her appealing winsomeness, stronger than ever in a role in which all her qualities of cheerful valor and fighting energy come into play, is the main element in "Sparrows." She has one of her most attractive pictures in this feature, where all her strong points come into play, and the interest centers about her at all times. The horrible picture of Grimes is well drawn, but the children are the main actors, with the curly-headed baby as "Molly's" especial charge, rousing all her fighting qualities in its care. The youngsters and their small guardian go through many misadventures before they all land safely in a good home.

The comedy stars Mabel Normand, as a thief endeavoring to capture a famous gem.—Jeanette.

LITTLE GIRL PASSES MUSIC EXAMINATION

Mary Finney, Nine, Successful in Elementary Piano Tests.

MILLBROOK, March 4.—Mary Finney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Finney, of Cavan, though only in her ninth year, has successfully passed her full Elementary Grade examination in piano, held at the Conservatory of Music, Peterboro, on February 19.

Mary is a pupil of Mr. L. H. Winslow, and has the fine record of passing both her "nItroductory" and "Elementary" grade examinations within one year. She began her piano lessons, under Mrs. Winslow's tuition, just one year ago this February, hence has done exceptionally well, along this line of study.

Both pupil and teacher are receiving congratulations since the result of the recent examination became known.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Ball entertained the five hundred club at their home on Monday evening.

The local curling club has been notified that its challenge for the Carew cup has been accepted and play for the trophy will take place in Peterboro early next week.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Vance of Regina, have been recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Vance.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. George, Fallis Line, were in Campbellford last Thursday attending the funeral of a relative.

Misses Elinor Fallis and Hazel McMahon spent the week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Vance, Franklin.

Miss G. Maretta Gray left on Monday morning for her new position as teacher of a school near Fenelon Falls.

for the domestic crops, wheat yesterday tended to sag. Closing quotations on wheat were easy, 1-2 to 3-8c lower; corn 3-8 to 5-8c down; oats 1-8c to 1-2c off, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 7c.

Corn and oats were affected by continued weakness of the cash corn market. Shipping demand here for corn failed to improve and country offerings were larger.

CHICAGO CATTLE

CHICAGO, March 4 (Canadian Press).—Hogs, 37,000; bulk 140 to 200 pounds $11.90 to $12.15; bulk 210 to 250 pound averages $11.65 to $12.00; most 260 to 310 pound averages $11.50 to $11.60; bulk packing sows $10.50 to $10.75; bulk packing slaughter pigs up to $12.30.

Cattle 8,000; best heavies $13.25; bulk heavies $11.00 to $12.50; best yearlings $12.00; stockers and feeders $7.50 to $8.75; vealers $11.00 to $15.00; mostly $11.50 to $13.00.

Sheep 13,000; practical top to shippers $15.75 to $16.00; bulk desirable lambs $14.75 to $15.50; heavies $14.35 to $15.00; fat ewes $8.75 to $9.50.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, March 4 (Canadian Press).—Owing to the fact that foreign bids were below local exporters' views, the export trade in Canadian grain on the Montreal market yesterday was quiet.

The trade in cash grain on the local market was of a car lot character, and prices were unchanged.

The flour market was without any new feature to note, prices being fully maintained for Spring and Winter wheat grades, but the volume of business showed no improvement.

The demand for all lines of millfeed continued fair and values ruled steady. A moderate amount of busines was done in standard grades of rolled oats and prices were firm.

Owing to the higher prices ruling in Chicago for eggs, a better and steadier feeling prevailed in the local situation, and a larger volume of business was done. The receipts were 1,252 cases.

The trade in potatoes continued quiet and the feeling was easy. Car lots of Prince Edward Island Green Mountains were qoted at $1.50 to $1.60 per bag of 90 pounds, and Quebec varieties at $1.00 per bag of 90 pounds in bulk, ex-track; New Brunswick Green Mountains sold at $1.00 to $1.05 per bag of 80 pounds, ex-store.

The trade in butter was more active and the undertone was steadier. New Zealand grades were quoted at 41 1-2c to 41 3-4c per pound. The receipts were 531 packages.

Extreme dullness again marked the cheese trade, but prices were unchanged. The receipts were 52 boxes.

Ontario student would have to progress limited by this lack of available books which mean so much to him."

The Speaker made it clear that he felt that prestige of attending an educational institutional of high standing, in a large centre, was of actual commercial and social as well as educational value to a man who returned to practice his profession or go into business in the smaller centres of the province.

Research Guidance Needed.

"In addition to that it seems scarcely necessary to refer to the problem of staffs that would arise," observed the Northumberland member. "In large university centres the association of the student with the professors of highest academic standing is invaluable. Some of these are in the first rank in world standing in their respective departments. How would it affect a student to be associated with lesser men during the early and more formative period of his so-called university life?

"The problem of securing adequate staffs for the various local centres would in itself be practically insurmountable. When you come to consider the cost of paying a large number of men of the proper qualification and standing for such positions the expense to me seems prohibitive and certainly beyond anything which such a plan would justify in improved education. The result, I firmly believe, would be a lower, instead of a higher, average standard of education."

Dr. Robertson made it clear that there was no political motive behind his opposition to the proposal to shorten the university term.

Would Be Hard Blow.

"I wish to go on record now," he stated, "that if Premier Ferguson upholds the length of the present university course, I will stand behind him in such an attitude, irrespective of politics. What I feel most strongly is that it would be a severe blow to the educational system of Ontario, to try and decentralize the university training."

Dr. Robertson also opposed the township school board scheme as embodied in the Premier's bill before the Legislature last session and again this year. "The separate localities have their separate problems and can be best dealt with by the local boards as they stand at the present," asserted the Northumberland member.

It was the first injection of the question of reduced terms for universities into the budget discussion and it is felt may precipitate a declaration of attitude on the subject from other members of the House.

OBITUARY.

MRS. JOHN GIBB.

HAVELOCK, March 4.—The funeral of the late Mrs. John Gibb, whose death occurred on Friday in her 46th year, took place on Monday afternoon from the family residence, Concession Street, to the Maple Grove Cemetery, Rev. W. R. Archer of the United Church conducting the service at the house.

The late Mrs. Gibb underwent an operation about two weeks previous to her death, and apparently was regaining her health, but death resulted from heart trouble.

She leaves to mourn her loss, her father, Mr. Thomas Stubble, her husband; one daughter, Mrs. McCormack of Detroit, three sons, Raymond, Lynn and John of town, three sisters, Mrs. Thomas Wood of town, Mrs. Byers of Niagara Falls, and Mrs. Killenbeck of Hamilton.

MRS. WELLYN HART.

HAVELOCK, March 4. — The death occurred on Saturday at Mrs. Cumming's Hospital, following an operation, of Mrs. Wellyn Hart, of Trenton.

The deceased, who was in her 42nd year, was taken ill on the train on her way to Havelock to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Keating, of Belmont.

Besides her husband she leaves to mourn her loss eleven children, seven girls, Eva, Berniece, Ereda, Reta, Marjorie, Alberta, Mrs. Rosenplot (Violet), and four boys, Russell, Roland, Roy and Ross, all of Trenton.

The funeral took place on Monday from the residence of her brother, Mr. Frank Keating, of Belmont, to Maple Grove cemetery, Rev. W .R. Archer conducting the service.

ALEXANDER WINTERS.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 4.—After an illness of about fourteen months, Alexander Winters, formerly of Campbellford, passed away at Whitby on Monday evening. Deceased was in his sixty-sixth year and has followed the occupation of a shoemaker in this town for the past twenty-years retiring from business in 1925, and going to live with his son, Claude, in Brockville, where he suffered from a stroke of paralysis. He was cared for at Whitby Hospital until his death. Mr. Winters was for many years a prominent citizen, serving on the Board of Education. He was also an ardent temperance worker, and later became an elder of the United Church. The late Mr. Winters is survived by three sons, Claude of Brockville, Sidney of Toronto, and Guy of Sutton; and two daughters, Mrs. Davis of Cleveland and Miss Minnie, nurse in training at Brockville, his wife having predeceased him in 1924. The funeral took place on Wednesday morning, service being held in the United Church and was conducted by the Rev .Wesley Elliott, assisted by the Rev. M. L. Hinton. The pallbearers weer George A. Payne, J. C. Birmingham, R. J. Bullen, George A. Kingston, A. L. Riendeau and C. W. Palliser. The remains were laid to rest in the family plot, Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

CHARLES LUNN.

MILLBROOK, March 4.—The death of Mr. Charles Lunn, which sad event took place on Sunday, February 27, following a lingering illness, removes one of the most widely known and highly respected residents of this part of Durham county.

His parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. William Lunn, were pioneer settlers in Clarke township, it being fully one hundred years since they came to this country from Belfast, Ireland. Deceased was the youngest son in a family of five children, and was born in Clarke nearly sixty-seven years ago.

Two brothers, Messrs. Robert, of Carmel, and John, of Millbrook, still survive; another, Mr. Joseph Lunn, of Orono, passed away about seven years ago, and the only sister, Mrs. Thomas Rusk, of Orono, also predeceased her brother.

Forty-two years ago Mr. Lunn was united in marriage to Margaret Ellen Moore, of Peterboro, and to their union were born three sons, one of whom died in infancy, and two daughters.

Deceased had been a prominent member of the Orange Order for over fifty years; he was connected with L.O.L. No. 79, during the past six years when he has been residing in Millbrook, and had also held official positions in the different Lodges in Clarke, Manvers, and Cavan, during the years he lived in those sections of Durham County. He was a member, also, of the Royal Black Preceptory, No. 045. At the annual celebration on July Twelfth Mr. Lunn was always an active participant, walking with his Lodge, and taking a keen interest in the speeches, and other proceedings connected with the occasion.

Deceased was a successful farmer, following this as his life vocation until his retirement from active labor when he moved to Millbrook, living for some time in what is now the McDowell home, and later purchasing the house on Anne street where he and Mrs. Lunn made their home for the past two years, and where his death took place.

Besides his bereaved widow, and the brothers already mentioned, the immediate surviving relatives are two sons, Archie, of Millbrook, and Wilbert, of Cavan, and two daughters, Mrs. Fred Winslow, of Cavan, and Mrs. James Hoy, of Kendal.

In religion Mr. Lunn belonged to the former Methodist church, going with it into Union; and in politics he was a staunch Conservative.

The funeral, under the auspices of L.O.L. No. 79, took place on Tuesday, March 1, from his late residence, his pastor, Rev. F. H. Howard, being in charge of the church service, with Brothers D. Patton, W.M., J. H. Paul, D. of C., and Irwin Hatherly, Chaplain, conducting the Orange ritual.

About one hundred members of the Orange Order marched ahead of the hearse to Gardiner's cemetery where interment took place.

The pall-bearer were six nephews, all members of the Oranger Order: David and Howard Lunn, Joseph and Charles Rusk, John Lunn, and William Lunn (Carmel).

Many beautiful floral tributes were laid upon the casket, among these being a wreath from L.O.L. No. 79, and R.B.P. No. 945.

The funeral was very largely attended, and among those from outside points were: Mr. A. Moore, Colborne; Messrs. R. and L. Dean, of Burketon; Mr. W. Lunn, Mr. H. Lunn, and Mr. T. Moore, Peterboro; Mr. and Mrs. Patton, and Mr. and Mrs. James Boyd, of Orono.

WOOD-CUTTING BEE

In Response to Appeal by Apsley Red Cross Outpost.

APSLEY, Mar. 4.—Striking proof of the popularity of the Red Cross Outpost was shown on Monday when in response to an appeal by the President of the Committee, Rev. C. Spence, for a "wood bee" to supply fuel for the hospital, twenty-two men gave their services for that purpose. As a result, a stack of wood, cut into stove length, containing about twenty cords is at the outpost, saving at least the sum of $100 to the funds of the Association. Four teams were engaged in drawing the poles cut by twelve axe men to the hospital where Teddy Knox's "buzz saw" and half a dozen men speedily converted the trees into firewood. The following are the names of the men whose willing help is very much appreciated by the Red Cross Committee:—Teamsters, Archie Downing, C. S. Windsor, Bert McIlmoyle, George Kilborn, Axemen Vernal Windsor, Harry Tanner, George Tanner, George Carr, Walter Couch, W. I. Lean, Frank Tanner, Tom Lean, Herb. Lean, Charles Smith, Stewart Brown, Gordon Lean, Elgin McFadden. —Sawyers, R. H. Knox, Teddy Knox, Lloyd Young, George Stephens, Russell Hales.

AT that moment, when life seems scarcely worth while because winter has taxed your wardrobe so severely and you have nothing new to wear, step into this store. You will decide you were wise to come, for here is spring in a hundred, nay a thousand fascinating interpretations. One of the first things you will be intrigued by is the compose theme. Heed it well for it refers to the combination of two or more colors, tones or fabrics and is to be found in all types of fashions. But why tell you all about them when you can get so much more enjoyment out of seeing the new modes on display?

GLOVE DEPT., LEFT AISLE—SPECIAL

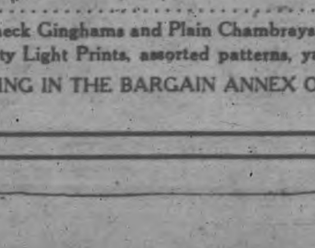
Many Spring Frocks Are Tiered or Pleated

Madame certainly has cause for buying more than one new Frock this season, for who would have the heart to limit her to a bolero Frock, for instance, when lovely tiered Frocks in degrade effects are crying to be bought. And such a riot of bows as are evident among the newer Frocks—in lieu of collars, finishing waistlines and, would you believe it, even on cuffs.



With and Without Fur Spring's Coats Command Admiration

Fur is not needed on many of spring's smartest Coats, for deft tailoring renders them highly decorative. Very often this tailoring as trimming takes the form of chevron or sunburst tucking. Not a few of these Coats are belted and one notes that the majority seem to prefer shawl or tuxedo collars. White fur collars afford a pleasing contrast and entitle them to the heading compose.

JURY FINDS ITSELF

going home a back way she met Dr. West and another woman walking. The doctor had his arm around the woman, and in passing nearly walked into Mrs. Nelson's car. She also saw Dr. West driving with this woman one Saturday night in Campbellford.

On the day of the fire Mrs. West called Mrs. Nelson twice imploring her to come over. Mrs. Nelson was not able to come but said she would be over by 9.30 the next morning.

In telling about the relations between Dr. West and his child, she said the child would come over to him and say 'Da! Da!' but he would pet the dog instead.

Met Three Years Ago.

Pearl Boyce said she was 19 years old and the daughter of the late John Boyce of Warkworth. She met Dr. West about three years ago. He used to call at her father's home between April and August, 1925, to treat his leg.

Mr. Kerr: Were you aware that Mrs. West and her husband were not getting along well together? No.

Did he ever tell you he and his wife were not getting along well? He never said anything against his wife.

Did you hear about his advertisement in the paper? I heard about it. I was away from home at the time.

Witness said she came home on the Friday before the police court trial. It was on Monday.

Did he ever speak to you about these troubles? No.

Did you ever see him at all after the police court trial? I saw him on the street.

Did you have any conversation with him? No.

Was his wife jealous of you? Yes, in the fall of 1925.

Did you ever drive with him after your father's death? No.

Before he died? Yes, from our summer resort at Percy Boom in August.

Do you remember a car nearly running into you and him while you were walking together in Warkworth? — No.

A witness said he had his arm around you at that time. Do you remember that? No.

Witness denied that she had driven into the West garage with Dr. West

"I was walking with my sister past West's and she went back home for a minute."

Mr. Kerr: Did you notice Dr. West drive up? Yes; I was on the side walk.

Did you go into the garage? Yes; I walked in.

Do you remember someone trying to get in? Yes.

Who was it? My brother.

Was there any obstacle to opening the door? I don't know.

He opened the door and walked in? Yes.

Miss Boyce said she went into the garage to speak to Dr. West.

For what purpose? I don't know.

How long were you in the garage? Only a few minutes.

Did you know Mrs. West was annoyed with you about that? Yes, she telephoned to me to bring over some butter.

Did you see him before the fire? Not from before Christmas.

Do you recall being in Campbellford with him? That is untrue. I was there with my brother.

You didn't drive over alone with Dr. West? No.

You saw him at Percy Boom? Yes, he came to visit my brother and stayed part of the night.

Did he ever tell you how he thought the fire occurred No.

And you say his wife had no occasion to be jealous of you? No.

Something was said about Dr. West phoning from Percy Boom but really from Campbellford? I don't know. Dr. West was there part of the night with my brother.

Meets Wife Overseas

While serving overseas, Dr. West said he was billeted at the home of the late Mrs. West in Belgium. They became on very intimate terms and when he left in 1919, Mrs. West was to follow, and they would be married in Canada. She came out in 1920.

Mr. Kerr: At the time of the wedding had your attitude changed any? No. I was quite willing to marry her. They started married life in Campbellford and later moved to a farm in Percy Township, the doctor still retaining his office in Campbellford. They moved back to Campbellford and lived there temporarily, and then moved to Warkworth. Petty differences broke out between them from the start, said the doctor. On no occasion did he produce a revolver or threaten his wife with it. Dr. West accounted for his wife's red neck on the day of the fair as caused by the button of his coat sleeve when he pushed his wife back. He said he did not throw her on the couch, but the back of her legs struck the edge and she fell down. She then rushed out of the door screaming. The trouble that day started when the doctor came in for dinner; he saw it was a hurried up meal and the baby did not have enough to eat, so he started to feed the baby. Dr. West did not object to giving her any money, until Mrs. West said she was going to get all the nice things and then leave him.

Mr. Kerr: Did you know she was jealous of one particular lady? Before this question was answered a letter was read whereby Mrs. West complained to her mother about her husband paying attention to another woman.

Dr. West: She did not mention anything to me.

Dr. West recalled buying two dresses in one year for Mrs. West and he gave as her reason for saying she would leave, that she was tired living in Warkworth.

Garage Episode

The witness was questioned about the garage episode. The garage, said Dr. West, was not locked that night. He had received a call to the county and after going some distance he remembered he forgot a knife. He returned to the garage for it, and while searching around in the dark for it, a lady appeared in the doorway. The doctor noticed others on the street and he immediately closed the door, so as they could not be seen, and hence there would be no talk. His wife was quite angry at him that evening, but the witness said he told her the truth and that consoled her.

Dr. West branded the story of Mrs. Nelson of being seen with his arm around another woman by her, as an untruth.

Mr. Kerr: Did you show a friendship to the child?

Dr. West: Thought as much of him the first time I saw him as the last time.

On the night of the fire, Mrs. West retired upstair to bed and Dr. West remained downstairs. The doctor slept downstairs on a couch near the phone, so he would be able to answer all calls immediately. The phone had been moved downstairs so as its ringing would not waken the baby.

Mr. Kerr: You said you had two lamps? Yes. One with a rag around it I kept downstairs, and the other, a good one, was upstairs.

Where did your wife keep that one? On a chair at the head of her bed. Some nights she left it lighted all night.

Witness said the bed was between the chair and the stove pipe.

What was the first you knew of the fire? I was startled out of sleep on the couch by a crash upstairs. It seemed like bed slats falling. I saw flames around the stove pipe in the ceiling above me.

How was the pipe fixed in the ceiling? It was set in cement.

I asked Mr. Wiggins how he didn't see fire around the pipe? When I glanced up it was like jets of flame coming down beside the pipe.

Mr. Kerr: How far up the stairway did you get? About two-thirds.

What happened then? A wave of heat and smoke rushed in my face. There was fire in the hall, pealing up the paper.

Did you call upstairs? Yes.

Did you hear any reply? No.

Had you undressed to go to bed? I left my socks and underwear on and lay down on the couch.

What do you remember after the wave of flame? Some one pulling me out on the kitchen step.

Can you account for what Wiggins said that when he ran over, there was no smoke in the dining room? I can't account for that unless what I saw was the first flame peeling the paper.

Have you any theory as to the cause of the fire? I can't find any idea.

Do you know what caused the cuts and scratches on your hands? No, I don't know any cause.

Did you see your wife again that night after she went upstairs? No.

Dr. West told of his epilepsy, the first attack having been in July 1919, and the last was in July, 1926. His wife's teeth were natural and in good condition. If they were indestructible in a fire, as Mr. Kerr suggested, they must still be in the ruins of the house, as they were not found.

Did you take any of her jewelry and silverware? No.

Were there any religious differences between you? Only minor disagreements. She said she was going back to her church.

Was the child baptized? No.

Did she say anything about baptism? No.

Some witnesses have said the differences were not healed after the trial: did you ever strike her? No.

Did you ever produce a knife to her? I never did.

Did you ever use any violence toward her? The only time there was any violence was when I pushed her back against a couch on Rosenseath Fair day.

Dr. West said he could not understand why his wife did not escape if she were conscious.

"She must have been overcome by smoke and flame," he said.

How near was the lamp to her bed? The lamp was on the chair and the chair was close to her bed. She couldn't lock her door because it didn't close tight enough.

To Mr. MacColl, Dr. West said he paid his wife's passage to Canada and also for her wedding clothes.

Do you think your wife was jealous? She didn't show it to my face.

Tell us of her meeting of some one on her trip from Belgium? She said she met an officer of the boat. He was infatuated with her.

any special expression? He wished any special expression? We wished I'd never turn up at the dock to meet her.

Dr. West said that his wife told him she did not want to have the baby and some time before its birth she had drawn a table toward her and fallen on it. She told him about it when he returned home that day. She had told him she had taken some medicine from his office to do away with the child before it was born.

'I saw her reading medical books on two occasions."

Mr. MacColl referred to the evidence of Dr. Haight, that the cuts or scratches on the backs of West's hands were regular.

Witness said they were irregular, some being wider at one end than the other; and they did not heal regularly.

He testified that once his wife had received $5 from one of his clients, but refused to tell him who paid, but had given a receipt for the money.

He denied that he had pretended to be telephoning from Campbellford when he called her from Percy Boom. He said he told her he was at Percy Boom. In 1925 he was paying for his house and treatments of his son's feet and these expenses kept him "down pretty close."

Mr. MacColl: You couldn't afford luxuries and even some necessities? No.

Refers to Letters.

Mr. MacColl referred to Mrs. West's letters read two weeks ago in one of which she told her relatives in Belgium, "Stuart hasn't spoken to me all summer."

"What do you say as to that?" he asked.

"Nonsense," West replied.

"Would you say there were any days you didn't speak to her?" — There was always some conversation during meals.

West declared that he did not go to McCubbin's with his wife for Christmas dinner, because he did not think he was directly invited.

As to Dr. Haight's testimony in regard to the quantity of blood on his clothes and hands, West said that on the day before the fire he had attended a horse for a wounded fetlock and had got some blood on his clothes.

And to the question how long his garage door was closed with himself and Pearl Boyce inside, he answered, "About ten minutes."

"Now that all your enemies have aired their ——" Mr. MacColl.

"I don't think you should say that," Mr. Kerr objected.

"Well, now that all the people of the district have been heard, have you anything else to add?" — No.

Mr. Kerr—Your wife didn't hesitate to show you the letter from the ship's officer? — She tossed it over the table for me to read.

She thought it was amusing?—I suppose so.

There was no rumpus over it?—No.

And there was no rumpus over the $5 she got from one of your customers?—No.

You say then there was no real row except on Roseneath Fair day?—No, except petty affairs.

Did you hear the church bell ring the alarm the morning of the fire?—I don't remember.

A Juror—Did you keep your outside door locked?—Yes.

Was it locked the night of the fire?—As far as I know it was.

The last witness called was Charles West, brother of Dr. West. This witness testified that after the fire he took nothing away from the ruins except some posts.

Most Women

Have stopped old hygienic methods to assure real immaculacy. NEW way gives true protection—discards like tissue

By ELLEN J. BUCKLAND
Registered Nurse

FEW modern women but employ a new and different way in hygiene. A way that supplants the old-time "sanitary pad" with true protection.

Wear filmy frocks, light things, any time. Dance, motor for hours without doubt or fear.

This new way is called "KOTEX" . . . five times as absorbent as the ordinary cotton pad!

You ask for it without hesitancy at any drug or department store simply by saying "KOTEX." Be sure to get the genuine. Only Kotex itself is "like" Kotex.

MUSKRAT SEASON STARTED TUESDAY

Farmers and Trappers Prepare for Harvest — Hiawatha News.

HIAWATHA, March 4. — This is the season when the people having marshy low land, reap their harvest from the humble muskrat. Some farmers have stated that this waste land is the most valuable part of their property now.

The season opened March 1st and is supposed to end April 20th, but last spring, due to lateness of the annual break up the department of Game and Fisheries granted a few days longer to enable the men to get the rats.

The valuable little animals do not stir around much till the high water and moving ice disturb their house. They have to come to shore to get food. It is then that the trappers with their traps placed in the runways, get their prey.

Mr. Ralph Godrey and Mr. Fred Northey were business visitors in Peterboro last week. Mr. Claire Heard returned with them on Thursday.

Mr. Fred Hawkins was successful in receiving the tender for four cords of green maple and two cords of cedar for the public school. He is busy hauling it to the village.

Mr. and Mrs. Whitfield Northey and son Maxwell, and Mr. M. E. Hinton, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Coward on Thursday.

Mr. Carl Brown Roseneath crossed over on Monday afternoon from Harwood to Hiawatha on his way home by way of Keene. He was selling and taking orders for honey, which was produced in his own apiary.

The postponed council meeting was held on Wednesday of last week and on Monday evening, Mr. Eastwood, the new Indian agent, was in the village for the first time, and a special meeting of the council was held.

Mr. W. E. Burns of Camborne, was in this vicinity last week, renewing old acquaintances.

HOT WHISKERS

SALFORD, England, March 4.—When George McWhirter tried to light a cigaret in a high wind, he set fire to his luxuriant red beard. His wife, too frightened to notice that he had extinguished the flame with his hand, turned in an alarm. It was in the docks area and six fire engines, 40 firemen and 25 policemen responded. Angered, they said he could pay a $25 fine or permit them officially to 'subdue' the whiskers with an extinguisher. McWhirter, thrifty Scotchman, took a drenching.

BRIDGE PARTY

Held in Interests of Boy Scouts of Deloro.

MARMORA, March 4—The Boy Scout Movement in Deloro came to the fore on Monday evening as a successful bridge party and dance was held in their interests. The presence of 150 at this combined function revealed the enthusiasm with which this movement has been hailed. Rooms at the Company House were generously placed at the disposal of the bridge players. The honors of the contest went to Mrs. S. B. Wright and Mr. A. V. Yates. At the Hall, a large number beguiled away several hours dancing to first class music provided by Mr. and Mrs. Ross Hunter assisted by Mr. Robert Parker. At eleven thirty, a splendid lunch was served to the company.

The boys of the Troop looked smart in their new khaki shirts and blue ties and lent valued assistance at this event.

Does Weakness Detract from Your Good Looks?

Mrs. Thomas Chapman of 3 Somerset Place, Toronto, Ont., whose picture appears here, said: "Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was very helpful to me and I know it to be the very best medicine a woman can take when nervous and rundown. I had a break-down—my nerves were so upset I could not sleep. I also suffered from nervous indigestion, but after taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription I did not suffer with indigestion and I could get a natural night's rest, which I could not do before. No woman can appreciate what a wonderful medicine the 'Favorite Prescription' is until she gives it a trial."

SOCIETY

Mr. W. R. Morris is one of Peterborough's citizens who is celebrating a birthday anniversary to-day.

Mrs. I. McCarthy, 42 Sophia Street, received word yesterday of the serious illness of her brother, Mr. John Huffman, in Markham.

Mr. Alex. Fortye, formerly of this city, and son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Fortye, Downie Street, has been moved by the Sun Life Assurance Company from Portland, Oregon, where he has been stationed for some years, to the head office of the company in Montreal, and expects to be in the latter city within a couple of weeks' time.

Friends of Mrs. J. F. Ryan, Reid Street, will regret to learn that she fell recently, breaking her arm.

Madame Freimont, president of the Women's Canadian Club of Quebec City, who will address the Women's Canadian Club this evening, will stay at the Empress Hotel during her visit to the city.

Mr. J. M. R. Fairbairn, of Montreal, chief engineer of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, has just been elected president of the Engineering Alumni of the University of Toronto. The announcement was made at a dinner held at Hart House this week. Mr. Fairbairn is well-known in Peterborough, where he was born and brought up.

Mr. William Armstrong, Murray Street, is another of the residents of the city who possesses a curious miniature copy of the Lord's Prayer, and it would be hard to match this anywhere, in point of size. A tiny ivory watch-charm, about three-quarters of an inch in length, has a hole about the size of a large pin head in one end. When looked through, the Lord's Prayer can be easily read, the writing being topped by a picture of a kneeling child. When the apparatus is unscrewed, a tiny square of a substance resembling isinglass, not more than one-eighth of an inch in diameter, is discernible. This miniature square contains the prayer, and the picture above it. The watch charm has been in Mr. Armstrong's possession for about twenty years.

Mrs. D. Garvey of Norwood was a visitor yesterday at the home of Mrs. M. Ball, Rubidge Street.

It is interesting to note that Mrs. A. M. Russell of Toronto, who will accompany Madame Jeanne Dusseau on her forthcoming appearance in the city, under the auspices of the Women's Music Club, was formerly Miss Georgina Dennistoun, daughter of the late James Frederick Dennistoun, Q.C., of Peterborough.

Mr. Stewart Widdess is in Nicholls Hospital, recovering from an operation for appendicitis.

Mr. I. McCarthy, Sophia Street, who is recovering slowly from a recent serious illness, is to-day celebrating his seventy-seventh birthday. Mrs. McCarthy's seventy-second birthday anniversary occurred yesterday.

Mrs. E. H. Mann, who broke her arm some time ago, is recovering satisfactorily.

Mrs. J. Sullivan of New York City, has returned home after spending some time with her sister, Mrs. Michael O'Donnell, 346 Aylmer Street.

SAINT and SINNER

By ANNE AUSTIN

"Tired, darling?" Bob Hathaway dropped into his seat beside Faith in the small, empty courtroom in which she had been permitted to await the "action of the grand jury."

How she hated that phrase! The action of the grand jury! What did those stupid-looking men have to do with her and Cherry? Twenty-four of the homeliest, most stolid, uninterested-looking men she had ever seen in her life, setting themselves up to judge Cherry!

"What time is it, Bob?" Faith asked dully, her eyes still fixed on the open door past which witnesses had come and gone nearly all day, in a seemingly endless procession.

"It's after five, honey," Bob answered tenderly. "Don't you want to go out for a little something to eat now? You look dreadfully tired, poor darling."

She suffered herself to be led out of the small courtroom, curiously unimpressive as a theater of justice, with its cheap, golden oak seats, rising in tiers to the rear walls, so that the curious spectators could have a clear view of the judge's bench, the jury box—all empty, forsaken now, waiting for the next drama of life and death which would be played there.

"Do you think we'll hear their decision tonight?" Faith asked, as she clung to Bob's arm going down the long flight of marble steps of the courthouse. Cameras clicked, reporters, waiting tirelessly, pressed forward, but Bob evaded them tactfully, his pleasant, confident smile flashing upon them all.

"Pretty sure to hear tonight," Bob answered her, after they had escaped to the dingy little hole-in-the-wall restaurant across the street from the courthouse.

"I can't eat," she moaned to Bob, who disregarded her wishes and ordered him, brown toast, hot tea—"and be sure it's made fresh, or better still, bring a spoonful of dry tea and a pot of hot water"—and, for himself, a cast beef sandwich.

"You didn't have a hard session of it, did you, dear?" Bob leaned forward and took her hands across the table.

"No, Mr. Banning was very kind to me," Faith acknowledged, her lip quivering. "But, oh Bob, he's like a bloodhound on the scent! He'll get his indictment and then he'll hector and bully the jury into a conviction. I'm afraid of him—he's so conceited and cocksure, so relentless, so terribly cruel—"

"Extra! Extra! Cherry indicted—first degree murder!" A small incredibly shrill newsboy darted into the restaurant, a heavy load of papers under one arm, a copy waving in his grimy right fist.

Faith took one long, startled look at the great headlines, then slumped forward in a faint.

"Waiter, hurry with that tea!" Bob sprang to his feet and shouted so that his voice could be heard across the street.

The press photographers did not miss their opportunity. Before Bob could lift the unconscious girl into his arms, cameras were recording just how the sister of the alleged murderess was "taking" the news of the indictment.

After Faith had been revived by the hot tea—she could not pretend even to nibble at the toast, which came in great, soggy wedges—Bob led her to where his car was parked near the courthouse. Although her whole body was trembling with weakness, and her mind registered almost nothing but a dull, unbelieving horror, she held her head high and even managed to smile slightly as the click-click of cameras warned her that every moment of hers was recorded for the insatiably curious public.

"But I don't see," she protested weakly, tears beginning to run in a thin, unheeded stream down her white cheeks, now that they were safely away in Bob's car, "how the papers came out so—so soon."

Bob's face was drawn with fatigue and worry about the girl at his side, and about that other girl over in the county jail, who was undoubtedly aware now of the blow which had fallen upon her bright, proud head. But his voice was matter-of-fact, almost cheerful, as he answered: "Oh, that's easy to explain, darling. As soon as Banning sent out word to the waiting reporters that the grand jury had returned a—a 'true bill' against Cherry and Chris, the reporters telephoned their city editors, and within a minute the extras were on the streets. I shouldn't have let you wait," he reproached himself.

"You couldn't have dragged me away," Faith told him simply. "Will they let me see Cherry—now? She'll need me, Bob. Oh, Cherry! Poor little Cherry!" She bowed her head on her trembling hands and let the tears trickle through her fingers.

"I don't know, dear, just what the district attorney will do now about visitors for Cherry. But I'll do my best to arrange things for you. You must go home now, though, and I'll telephone to Banning and try to make him be reasonable. You've got to rest, Faith, or you'll go absolutely to pieces."

They had driven almost to Myrtle Street before Bob spoke again. "After all, darling, we had to expect this. I've tried to warn you that things look black for Cherry. There's no use mincing words now. The grand jury could hardly do less than indict—under the circumstances. Now we must concentrate all our efforts on running down the only two clues we have to the real murderer. Have you seen—found any cripples yet, dear?" he rallied her with a smile which was infinitely tender.

His words braced her miraculously. "Thousands of people have been falsely accused of—of murder," she nodded bravely. "And after all, we have got two clues. Will you see Stephen Churchill tonight?"

"Of course," Bob reassured her. "Here we are. Why, here comes Long! I suppose they've heard. And your father! Brace up, dear, for their sakes—"

"Hello, Bob!" Long Lane's hurtling run flung him against the car. "Don't kill your engine. Come on, Dad! Hurry!" He tore open the rear door of the sedan.

"Where are you going, Junior?" Faith gasped. "We can't see her now—"

"Who, Cherry?" Long panted. "Why, what—? Did they indict her?"

"Yes," Faith uttered the word faintly. "Oh, Dad, what's the matter?" She sprang out of the car and put her arms about the trembling, stooped, small body of her father.

"Drive to the hospital, quick as you can, Bob!" Junior gasped. "We've just had a call—this minute. It's—it's Mother! She's—she's—"The boy's voice broke on a great, tearing sob.

"Dead!" Faith's cold lips formed the word. It was her father who showed unexpected strength, his arms that held up her sagging body.

SATURDAY, MARCH 5, 1927

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

Benefic aspects dominate today, according to astrology which finds the rule favorable for many activities.

Women are well directed, while this rule prevails, and they should make the most of all opportunities, business and social.

Attention is to be called to dress problems in a peculiar way, the seers foretell, and it will be discovered that present modes have been significant of coming needs.

Mars is in an aspect today which foreshadows startling events and indicates great expenses to the United States government.

Activity in military matters will for a brief period overshadow naval affairs, it is prophesied.

This should be a favorable rule for real estate interest and it is wise, if astrology is to be trusted, to invest in land.

Under this sway there may be much misjudgment of public matters and many wrong ideas may prevail regarding policies in Washington.

Real patriotism is to be cultivated in this year of 1927, when it will be important to think nationally instead of personally.

Great development is to take place in methods of transmitting news and seeming miracles are to be performed, astrologers foretell.

Chemistry now will come much to the front and will be an agent of great moment to the world it is prognosticated.

This is to be an eventful month in international affairs, if the signs are rightly interpreted.

Books and newspapers are to be much in demand and publishers will benefit greatly.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of many new friends and numerous favors in the coming year.

Children born on this day will be probably lucky all through life. Many public favorites are born under this sign. Dancers are likely to develop.

HOW CHILDREN QUICKLY GAIN ROBUST HEALTH

Go ahead, Mother, and make the sickly little one strong and well—make the puny one sturdy and full of pep—make the skinny one take on pounds of solid flesh—Get McCoys Cold Liver Extract Tablets.

Cod liver liquids are nasty and repulsive and evil smelling and nearly always upset children's stomachs—so now up to date pharmacists advise McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets with their wealth of vitamines. Children love them as they do candy, because they are sugar coated and easy to take. One boy gained 11 1-2 lbs. in seven weeks, and is now healthy and happy—thousands of other children have grown strong and robust.

Sixty tablets for 60 cents at McDermid and Jury's, Bond's Drug Store, McDermid Drug Co., and druggists everywhere. Try them for 30 days and if you are not happily satisfied with the test get your money back. But do and McCoy's—it pays to get the genuine.

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

Bands of purple, mauve and pink adorn this jumper frock of flesh-colored crepe de hine.

Bands of rose and mauve on gray; pastel shades of green, blue and red used in bands on white; the two shades of fuchsia—one red and the other purple—on gray; dark brown and henna on apricot; purple, mauve and pink on flesh color—the mere enumeration of these combinations gives pleasure to the woman who gets real joy in contemplating color.

The promiscuous use of bright colors has never been consistent with really good dressing; and many a woman with a natural love of color has had to exert real self-control in choosing the darker, duller or neutral shades which her good taste assures her are more suitable for her own raiment than the bright rainbow shades she likes to contemplate.

This season fashion has devised a way in which we may satisfy our taste for vibrant color without departing from good taste. To wear a purple frock trimmed with red, or a green frock trimmed with blue and green, or a figured frock containing such combinations would undoubtedly produce a bad effect but, following the new convention, of using bands of gay colors on light, neutral frocks, we can show what colors we please.

The jumper frock is the model usually chosen to carry this trimming, and the bands of color appear at the lower edge, around the round or v neck and at the wrists. The frock itself is usually of white, flesh, beige, gray or some other neutral tone.

The clever woman who makes her own clothes can exercise her ingenuity in choosing combinations of colors that will appear to advantage in this tone-on-tone treatment. Sometimes three shades of the same color are chosen—as a navy blue, a dull cobalt blue and a light pastel shade of the same color. Three shades of rose—the darkest a real American beauty shade and the lightest a light pink—make a combination frequently used.

SHORT COURSE IS CONCLUDED

Members of Boys' Class at Lakefield Learned Many Useful Things.

GIRLS' HAVE CLASS

LAKEFIELD, March 4.—The agricultural short course for boys under the direction of Mr. Reynolds, of Port Hope, ended on Friday last, with all the members sorry to see the course ended as it proved to be of tremendous value.

The course included general agricultural subjects and was worth while for the farmer's son and the village boy alike as there was a great deal to be learned which any boy will find useful. Besides the general course there were special lectures, which included one on bees by Mr. Jarns, of Guelph; on fruit and vegetables by Mr. Crews, of Brighton; on sheep by Mr. MacLaren, of Ottawa, and on seed by Mr. Pearson, of Belleville.

Mr. Reynolds spoke of his class in the highest terms, although the numbers were not large. He said: "We had quality if not quantity."

Girls' Class in Millinery.

Between twenty-five and thirty girls and married ladies are enrolled in this class, which is under the direction of Miss McDermott, of Toronto. The buckram crowns of the hats are provided, but the pupils make the rims and the covering, and the results are remarkably good with plenty of variety. A visitor to the class would be impressed by the variety of the work as no two hats are alike in style. Some are of silk, some of ribbon, some have embroidery or braiding or fancy stitchery, while others are tucked or pleated, but all are spring-like and alluring, and as one pupil puts it, "We have solved the problem of the Easter hat." Another feature which would impress the visitor is the happy spirit prevailing among the workers. This was also true of the dressmaking class and the impression was of a large and very happy family, all busy at a congenial task.

One of the excellent immediate results of the class was the formation of a girls' institute, which is a junior branch of the Women's Institute. There are many advantages in having a branch of that society in the district as there are greater opportunities given to the girls for self-improvement. With an institute in the village the girls can at any time have one of these short courses in either dressmaking or millinery or in home cooking or home nursing. The institute will meet on the first Saturday of every month.

Mrs. H. Aitken, of Beaton, who represents both the Federal and Provincial Governments, spoke one afternoon to the girls on "Poultry and Wage Earning." Mrs. Beaton's address was most interesting and full of practical advice, which will be found to be valuable, especially in the summer season. She suggested as methods of wage earning for young girls in the country, especially for those on the highways or roads travelled by tourists, tea-rooms or raising of flowers for sale. Girls can make and sell salad dressing, canned chicken and strawberries and cream are always a popular commodity and command a ready market.

On Wednesday, Feb. 16, both classes journeyed to Peterborough, chaperoned by Miss McDermott and Mr. Reynolds, and visited the Quaker Oats plant and the Peterborough Milk Products. This was essentially an educational trip, although there was a strong element of pleasure in it.

One evening a skating party was held by the members of the two classes and a social hour was spent afterwards in Leonard's Hall, the girls providing refreshments.

To relieve the tedium of continued sewing there were occasional recesses for community singing and yells.

Both girls' classes were exceedingly pleasant and profitable, and the members are enthusiastic over the advantage and pleasure of the course.

Debate.

A debate was held in the school room of Knox United Church on Wednesday afternoon last between two teams representing the boys' and girls' classes of the short course in agriculture. The subject was, "Resolved, that a boy spends more money on himself than a girl."

The affirmative was ably taken by Misses Mullen, Edna Frankish and Bickell, while Messrs. Harold Dunford, Everett Graham and Percy Chamberlain made a strong case for the negative. Mr. F. C. McCrae, of Norwood, was the judge, and after careful consideration he awarded the decision to the affirmative. It was a well worth-while debate, with both sides making good points.

Firm Liverpool Prices Affect Wheat Markets

CHICAGO, Farch 4 (Canadian Press).—Rushes to buy brought a sharp early advance in wheat today. Eagerness to purchase was ascribed chiefly to the news of the sudden departure of the Mexican Envoy at Washington and to an unexpected upturn of quotations at Liverpool. Starting at 3-4 cent to 1 1-8 cent higher, Chicago wheat subsequently scored an additional gain. Corn, oats, and provisions were also firmer, corn opening at 1-8 cent off to 5-8 cent up and then rising all around.

WINNIPEG, March 4 (Canadian Press). — Firm Liverpool cables, backed up by a wave of buying orders in which exporters, shorts, commission houses and local interests took a hand, sent prices rapidly upward during the first half-hour of trading to-day. The May option led the strength with an advance of 2½ cents. Later the market quieted down with values about 5-8 cent away from the high point. Firmness at Liverpool was attributed to smaller shipments and resumption of buying.

Massey-Harris Is Feature Few Active Stocks To-day

TORONTO, March 4. Canadian Press. — With the exception of active trading in Seagram, Massey-Harris, and Canadian Canners, the market on the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day was on the whole quiet. Massey-Harris was the active leader and opened at 111-4. It eased a fraction to finish at 110, a gain of two points over yesterday's close. Seagram was second in volume and was a weak spot, selling off 1-2 at 24 1-2. Canadian Canners Common was an active and strong feature, soaring 3 points to 39. The preferred declined 1-2 to 83. Industrial Alcohol was active and firm at 26 14. Wright-Hargreaves was a strong feature of the unlisted section, advancing 15c a share to 10.70.

Weakness In Mines; Some Startling Declines

TORONTO, March 4. — Canadian Press. — A weaker feeling prevailed throughout the list on the Standard Mining Exchange to-day, after several startling declines featuring the trading. Nipissing was the outstanding weak spot on the market, selling off 40c a share to 8.60. This stock opened at 8.50, a decline of 50c a share over the previous close. It formed somewhat towards the close, though the trading was un...ay. With the exception of Wright-Hargreaves —which was a strong feature—dividend paying gold stocks all sold weaker. Hollinger declined to 21.70, Lake Shore 20 to 18.50, and McIntyre five to $26.90. Wright-Hargreaves sold up 20c a share to $10.70. Castle Trethewey, Pioneer, and Duprat all scored fractional gains.

KIRKLAND LAKE DISTRICT

TECK HUGHES—In our last issue we went rather thoroughly into the possibilities of production from this property. An analysis was made offering criticism of news reports which had come out and which endeavored to show the public that Teck-Hughes would have to produce some $4,000,000 per year to justify present market prices. Since our last issue other news reports have been published which now give Teck-Hughes the chance of producing some $6,000,000 per year, starting during 1928. This allowance, however, allows only for a tonnage of 850 tons per day. In order to reach this tonnage it would be necessary only to add one more milling unit to the one now under construction. As a matter of fact conditions at the mine at present indicate strongly that not will one unit only be added to the above but that preparations are under way for at least two more and proably three. The construction of three units in addition to the one now about completed would be absolutely necessary if the mine is going to treat the 1500 tons per day that it is expected to treat before many years have passed. The treatment of 1500 tons per day would mean a production of approximately $10,000,000 per year. We don't say that this figure is assured by any means but it shows something of what the possibilities are in regard to the property. As a matter of fact with developments continuing as they have been during the past year it is not at all safe to set any limits on the ultimate production which might be expected from this property. We know that exceedingly high grade ore has been indicated down to around 2,500 ft. in depth and that the formation at this depth shows the same favorable conditions as were shown by actual development above this depth so that there is no reason to expect other than at least as great a depth again, i.e. to 5,000 ft. will produce similar ore.

We have heard lately some comparison between the possibilities for Teck-Hughes and for McIntyre. Usually they compare the former rather favorably with the latter and yet we hear that the possibilities are that McIntyre will before long be milling 4000 tons daily. They are already milling 1400 tons and are preparing to mill 2000 in the very near future. With this comparison in mind we can see no reason why Teck-Hughes might not be expected to mill 1500 tons per day and with the grade of their ore being at least twice that of McIntyre it would mean that the comparison would be with a tonnage at McIntyre of only 3,000 per day, which tonnage will certainly be reached by the latter company.

We have no hesitation in saying that the present market price of Teck-Hughes is fully warranted.

CONFEDERATION AGENTS CONFER

the agents to put their contracts before the prospects in an intelligent manner.

He dealt with the three forms of approach, namely, personal, letter and telephone, explaining how the various methods could be used to best advantage, illustrating his remarks with numerous references to experiences that had come within his own scope.

Concluding, he said, "It is the preparation you give and the way you work that counts. You must see people and you must study the business. It's easy if you go at it hard but it's hard if you go at it easy."

William Boulton —

Speaking on the modern trend of Life Insurance, Mr. Boulton traced the development of Life Insurance from its earliest days.

"In the olden times," he said, "Merchants exporting goods had no protection for cargoes which they were exporting to various countries. It was a precarious business to say the least of it as storms coupled with the class of ships used in those days resulted in many of them sustaining losses that kept the business in the hands of a limited few. Something was needed and eventually a form of insurance was devised for merchandise at sea, the idea later spreading to the insuring of slaves.

From this germ sprung the great force of life insurance as we know it to-day with its manifold activities which cover every phase of the great problem of life.

Its path was not an easy one, but despite buffeting, prejudices, and opposition it has grown like a sturdy oak until to-day life insurance stands as a national force that creates and conserves the wealth of the country. It adds to the economic life of a country by reducing pauperism; it uplifts citizenship by the fact of its unselfish aim.

In the year 1925 in Canada the amount of insurance in force was $4,514,064,736.00 of which the Province of Ontario alone has one third.

Despite its colossal growth the business is yet in its infancy and only the fringe has been touched.

"Human life," the speaker declared, "is the foundation of all values; it is the basis of everything." A man dealing in human values has a real opportunity of discharging that great moral obligation — the business of selling happiness.

"Carnegie has said," he continued, "Let flood, let fire destroy my plant if I retain my organization I would be whole again in six months."

Dwelling on the business of selling life insurance the speaker said the "magnitude of the job demanded the highest type of manhood."

There was no room in insurance for the "spellbinder" or the man with just "a gift of the gab." It demanded manly men. A life insurance underwriter he said is a promoter and teacher of thrift, a promoter of health, a promoter of good citizenship, a promoter and teacher of ideals.

In conclusion Mr. Boulton declared, "Play the game fair and square with your prospect, your company, your competitors and yourself — you must have a high sense of your position. If you think big lofty thoughts you big ambassadors of thrift, diagnoticians of human needs, a life underwriter endeavoring to meet human needs, an architect not only shaping your own destiny but assisting to build the destiny of others—a big job is yours, yea, if you can but realize it, the biggest job in the world bar none."

T. H. Gillespie.

"You go to a theatre and see a wonderful play," Mr. Gillespie began. "You say it was perfect, that it held your attention every minute. Do you think those actors you saw and heard went out on the stage unprepared and spoke the lines of the characters they were representing? A building was erected, a well ventilated and well equipped theatre, built on a definite plan. A skilled man wrote the play, which was then examined and passed upon by critics. And then the persons who were to play the different characters of that play were carefully chosen, but after experienced players were selected they were drilled and drilled and drilled; the scenery and surroundings of each act were prepared and criticised and the finished product that you saw was the result of most careful thought and effort and the expenditure of thousands of dollars in preparation.

"To give you a pleasant evening's entertainment, or elevate you by one of the masterpieces, many factors had been brought into play, namely, the theatre, the scene of operation, the actors and props, the brain of the author, the producer, etc. ,and all formed one great harmonious whole.

"So it is with the Life Insurance business. So many factors must be brought into operation to make it a success and these factors must all be co-related in your mind. I have tried to summarize them into one sentence — 'selling yourself, your company, and your goods.'

"Before a man can present the commodities of a given company to any one, he must present them to himself, and before he can present his goods, he must first of all sell himself, to himself, to his company and to his job.

"In order to be a successful insurance representative, the very first thing necessary is for you to sell yourself, not only life insurance, but the life insurance idea. Unless a man can make this first sale before he puts out his shingle as a salesman, he is a failure. Life insurance is an institution. It touches every phase of human life and human endeavor.

"To be a success, therefore, you must sell yourself, your work, your your company, your plan, and the policy contract that you are going to sell the other fellow. Sell yourself so completely that no other job or calling would ever attract you. You must become so enthused with your calling that would be ready to actually fight if necessary, for your conception of the life insurance business as a calling. Then, and only then, are you prepared to enter the life insurance business as a calling."

"The second step is to sell your company first of all to yourself, and then to your prospect. You must believe that the company you represent is the best life insurance company doing business. (If you do not, I would suggest that you change your company immediately) for your prospect, if he has confidence in you will sooner or later believe this. This should not be a difficult thing to believe, for the Confederation Life Association stands among life insurance companies in the front rank and is an institution of which we are all proud.

"I am now, gentlemen, up to the third section of my address, selling your goods. The inexperienced salesman would, I suppose, think this the most important, but if you have sold yourself on life insurance, sold your prospective client the life insurance idea, and the company you represent, all that there is left to do is to make out the application and collect the premium. Most people who take life insurance do not buy policy contracts, they buy ideas. The insuring public knows but little about policy contracts and it cares less. All it wishes to know is what a given plan will do for the assured and his dependents. Salesmanship, then, is the transferring of the mind of the salesman to the prospect so the prospect will voluntarily act. Therefore, if the sale is made in your mind you can make it in his.

"In conclusion, gentlemen, may I state that the biggest men in the world to-day are salesmen. They call themselves bankers, lawyers, engineers, or ministers. As a matter of fact, they are all selling their own or some one else's services, and the man who is the best salesman gets the highest price.

"Among the honorable workers in the civilized world to whom the public, as well as the insured will die indebted, we give faithful and successful life insurance agents a high place.

"The life underwriter is stimulated by the firm conviction that the future, comfort, happiness, health, and education of his client's wife and children, perhaps the independence and happiness of his old age and the maintenance of his business, the forming of thrifty habits, depend upon the carrying out of a definite life insurance programme which the client is often reluctant or slow to see.

"The successful life underwriter may well review his life work with a feeling of satisfaction at having successfully conducted a business of considerable profit to himself and, at the same time, performed a great and lasting service, not only for his clients, but for the possible widows and orphans who may have reason to be grateful for the service he has rendered."

Miss I. B. Giles

"No body of men can boast of a greater collection of helps, either for self-instruction or for education of prospects, than the field staff of the Confederation Life Association," said Miss Giles.

"With the material available each one in the employ of the company can secure a very fine education in life insurance and in salesmanship. The man who does not make the best use of the material is the loser both in mental training and in business."

She discussed the educational helps available, such as The Agency Bulletin; Central Ontario Agency Circular; the Circulating Library, and Confederation Life Leaflets.

"My experience with Central Ontario Division," she continued, "has convinced me that some of our agents, at least, are not making the most of their opportunity in regard to the use of these pamphlets. Hence the reason for this paper which I hope will at least be suggestive of some method which you can adopt in your own particular field.

Life insurance men are in business for themselves as well as for the company. These pamphlets plus your co-operation are business-builders, without your co-operation they become waste time, waste energy and waste money. If you want to increase your income you can do it by enlisting the services of these pamphlets and working them to the best advantage.

"The effectiveness of advertising and aiding selling by leaflets is I believe due to the fact that they can be used to make direct appeal to any one particular class which you may ve in mind—the professional man, the laboring man, the farmer, the business man, or the mechanic. All these classes have life insurance problems and the reading of these leaflets assists them to settle their insurance problems and prepares the ground for the agent. They read with an open mind, because the agent is not present at the time to canvass. If they are read in the evening in the home, the reader is undisturbed and has time to think. The fact that it is in the home has a certain psychological effect because, after all, life insurance, is, in the main, a family affair. Furthermore, these leaflets are canvassing in one section of the territory whilst the agent is laboring in another.

Circularizing Plan

"It does not matter much what plan you adopt for circularizing your prospects so long as you have a plan and work it. Experience will suggest sooner or later the plan most suitable to your territory. When you have decided upon a plan you can do the circularizing yourself or we shall be glad to do it for you; the latter we strongly recommend.

"The adoption of such a method would have certain results:

"A systematic method of work with a definite number of people each day to call upon.

"No real 'cold" canvasses. The pamphlets would warm up your old prospects and take the chill off the strangers.

"It will prevent staleness with intelligent work and enthusiasm.

"An educated clientele to work upon.

"A larger income.

"In other words, your work would never became a 'hit-or-miss' or monotonous proposition. Your time and energy would be invested to yield the biggest returns in money and happiness."

Selling Pressure Continues In New York Market To-day

NEW YORK, March 4 (Canadian Press).—Selling pressure was renewed against today's stock market after an early period of strength, sending prices irregularly lower. A break of over seven points in Continental Baking "A," based on unfavorable dividend rumors, unsettled the general list in the early afternoon. The usual week-end profit-taking and the ferreting out of other weak spots by bear traders, also were factors in the day's selling.

There were few outside news developments likely to influence the price movement. Motors were freely sold on the early bulge on recurrence of pessimistic reports regarding increasing competition and price cutting. Rubbers moved up and down with the Motors. Railroad Equipments, apart from Baldwin, which was weak, showed a tendency to move upward on expectations of increasing railroad orders.

Cincinnati policemen are to carry cameras so they may photograph evidences of crime.

DE LAVAL MEETS RAYBESTOS TEAM

Fast Game For City Senior Title To Be Played on Monday.

De Laval Seniors, City League champions last year, will defend their title against the Raybestos team in a sudden death game on Monday night, at the Brock street rink.

High class hockey was played in this series last year and with both teams prepared for a hard struggle, should be surpassed in Monday's game.

On Wednesday the Juniors will have their innings. St. Peter's school team, last year's winners, playing St. John's, who won the Church league title in decisive fashion last night.

Both these games, which wind up the hockey here for the winter should prove attractive to a large number of fans.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

SHARING THE GOOD NEWS

Text: Acts viii: 4-8; 2 Corinthians v:14-20.

Therefore they that were scattered abroad, went everywhere preaching the word.

Then Philip went down to the city of Samaria, and preached Christ unto them.

And the people with one accord gave heed unto those things which Philip spake, hearing and seeing the miracles which he did.

For unclean spirits, crying with loud voice, came out of many that were possessed with them: and many taken with palsies, and that were lame, were healed.

And there was great joy in that city.

For the love of Christ constraineth us; because we thus judge, that if one died for all, then were all dead:

And that he died for all, that they which live should not henceforth live unto themselves, but unto him which died for them, and rose again.

Wherefore henceforth know we no man after the flesh: yea, though we have known Christ after the flesh, yet now henceforth know we him no more.

Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new.

And all things are of God, who hath reconciled us to himself by Jesus Christ, and hath given to us the ministry of reconciliation;

To wit, that God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto himself, not imputing their trespasses unto them; and hath committed unto us the word of reconciliation.

Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ's stead, be ye reconciled to God.

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for March 6. Sharing the Good News. Acts viii: 4-8; 2 Corinthians v: 14-20.

BY WM. E. GILROY, D.D.
Editor of The Congregationalist.

Our lesson deals with Christian evangelism, its duty, methods, and results.

Underlying such a lesson as this is the fundamental conception of Christianity as a religion that primarily consists in a Gospel. As Dean Inge has recently reminded us, voicing what others also have said, the Gospel is good news, not good advice.

Of course the Gospel is good advice as well; there is no better counsel that any man could find for his life than that which comes from the Gospel of Christ. There is no higher morality, no truer ethical outlook and practice than that which the Gospel of Jesus Christ inspires.

Good News About God.

But none the less the Gospel is primarily a message and not a command. It is a message of good news concerning God. It has its beginning in the love of God for men, the love that is enshrined at the very soul of the universe and that is, as Henry Drummond proclaimed it, the greatest thing in the world.

If there be no such love in the world, if the message concerning it be not the world's greatest truth, what foundation is there for moral life at all? In what respect is one thing better than another thing? Without some faith in love and goodness at the very heart of the universe that responds to the love and goodness which we find in the impulses of our own hearts, what foundation can there be for nobility of character?

It was the distinctive mission of Jesus to declare this great fact to men. The very foundation of his work was in his message concerning God, and it is only as his disciples feel the reality of that message and seek to proclaim it in word and in deed that they truly live in the spirit of Christ and carry on his mission and work in the world.

Need a Higher Love.

It is not enough simply to exhort men to love one another; that very exhortation, in fact, may be only a means of discouragement to men who have made wreck and ruin of life. The higher the ideal that one offers to them the more are they apt to feel their own degradation and the wreck and ruin that they have made of things.

But if one can come to such men with a message of hope and good cheer, if one can say to them, "My brother, God loves you," and make them feel the reality of that love, there comes immediately some impulse toward restoration and regeneration. That message of love as it has reached the hearts of broken and despondent men has been the power of God unto salvation, and has brought men into newness and cleanliness of moral life when they had fallen, apparently, beyond the help of moral incentives and appeals.

This is the place and meaning of the Christian Gospel, and it is out of this primary fact concerning the nature and power of the Gospel that the duty and privilege of Christian evangelism arise.

The Truest Evangelism.

Our lesson reminds us how the practice of this evangelism was the power of the early church and the basis of its growth. Those who had experienced the power of God spoke of it to others.

That is the truest and most effective, as it is the simplest and most natural, form of evangelism. It is a form of evangelism that we can all practice, for, as the verses from 2 Corinthians in our lesson remind us, the true power of the Christian comes from the constraining love of Christ in his own soul.

What a privilege it is for Christians to be ambassadors of God, to be as those in whom Christ dwells who speak of God as his representatives, winning to the love and support of his kingdom those who have not known its glory and its privileges!

We may close with reference to a beautiful story of the poet Tennyson. Stopping once with some humble friends in a farmhouse, he inquired of the farmer's wife, as he came in one morning, concerning the news. The farmer's wife replied that the best news was that "Jesus Christ had died for every man;" to which Tennyson responded, "Yes, it is new news, it is good news, and it is true news."

OLD CEMETERIES NEED CLEANING

should not be so," said the speaker. He then told of what he did in Oshawa, where, by a threat of court action, he forced a church to clean up an old cemetery.

"What can be done with this cemetery? The first thing to do is to find out who owns this graveyard, and then notify the owner to have it cleaned up. The owner then can either have it cleaned up or plead that he is financially unable to do it. If the owner pleads this, the cemetery then becomes the property of the municipality. The municipality must then find out the nearest relatives of those who are buried there and notify these that it is their intention to clean up the cemetery.

The relative is given a set time to remove the stone and remains if he so desires. Most communities have placed their old cemeteries in fine keeping, and have established pioneer plots designed in various ways," said Dr. Kaiser.

"No community but can afford to have such a graveyard as that, and I think Peterborough should establish a pioneer plot so as to preserve the annals and the old family names of those who were the first inhabitants of this city. Generations will rise and say that some respect was shown to the first citizens of this country."

A member of the club suggested that this diamond jubilee year would be a very suitable time for the City Council to establish the Hilliard Street graveyard as a pioneer plot.

Dr. Ray Scott and Dr. E. H. Wood spoke very fittingly of the work of Dr. Kaiser, and thanked him for his address. Dr. Wood reminded the Kiwanians that this subject was very close to his heart, as he belongs to the seventh generation of a U. E. Loyalist family.

Some of the guests of the day were members of the Confederation Life who are attending the divisional conference. C. W. Devlin, superintendent of the Confederation Life; B. R. Smith, accountant; Dr. Kaiser, R. C. Herald, George Chandler, Douglas Paterson, Jr., and Kiwanian Davis of Belleville were guests. Mr. Chandler sang two solos.

DISAPPROVES LAW

Chief Justice R. M. Meredith of the Supreme Court of Ontario finds no merit in the proposal to enact new legislation providing for the retirement of judges on pension on their attainment of their seventy-fifth birthday. Judge Meredith, who is now nearly eighty years of age, is evidence of fact that a man may well retain both his physical vigor and his full faculties long after the age mentioned.

CANADA'S CONSUMPTION OF ELECTRICITY.

Q.—What is Canada's consumption of electricity?

A.—Canada now leads the world in the public per capital distribution of electricity from central electric power stations. The figures of kilowatt-hours generated per capita per annum by the five leading countries are: Canada, 1,260; Switzerland, 886; United States, 581; Sweden, 467; Norway, 370.

TWO DROWNED IN SHIPWRECK

Vessel Breaks While Coastguards Bring Sailors Ashore.

TWO MEN SAVED.

ORLEANS, Mass, March 4 (Canadian Press).—Breaking up of the Nova Scotia schooner Montclair today just as a breeches buoy was transferring her crew to the shore cost the lives of two men and threw three others into a most precarious situation with bundles of laths their only support. Two were saved.

The schooner, which had been driven on the bar a mile off-shore in the early morning, was for hours beyond the reach of coast guardsmen. Off Old Harbor no boat could live in the sea and the beach guns could not match the range.

Then the rising tide lifted the crippled craft over the Bar and drove her in toward the beach. One hundred yards from shore, or perhaps a trifle more, the Montclair struck again. Coastguards shot a line aboard. The first to come ashore was Garland Short. Back went the breeches through the surf to the side of the stricken vessel, and Mason Bagg stepped into them, and was hauled toward safety.

He was little more than half way to shore when the three masts toppled and the Montclair broke up rapidly.

Bagg received a ducking, but was hauled out safe and sound. Two men were lost at once in the breaking up.

Some of the deck cargo of laths had been tied together by men, and three others of the crew of seven clung to this fragile raft. They were swept rapidly along the shore, coastguards men following and waiting for an opportunity to reach them.

FOUR BARGES MISSING.

NORFOLK, March 4. Canadian Press. — Only four barges of the numerous craft that have besieged the coast guard headquarters with calls for help since a storm swept the coast on Wednesday, remained unaccounted for to-day, many which reported themselves in distress yesterday having got to safety.

CHINESE MAKE DEMAND

SHANGHAI, March 4.—(United Press.)—The Chinese commissioner for foreign affairs to-day demanded the immediate withdrawal of British troops from positions outside the boundary of the foreign settlements.

The positions were occupied, the Commissioner said in a letter to the senior consul, without permission of the Chinese authorities and the action constituted an infringement on China's sovereignty."

Positions outside the foreign settlements were occupied by British troops last week. To the west and north of the foreign settlements, British battalions took possession along the railway lines. The Shanghai-Hangchow-Ningpo railway is on the west and the Shanghai-Nanking railway is on the north.

TRENT RIVER NEWS.

TRENT RIVER, March 4.—Dr Allan Michell entertained the Five Hundred Club at his residence on Tuesday night. Six tables were played and the following won the prizes.

Ladies' first, Mrs. James Cook; Ladies' Consolation, Mrs. Tom Wight; Gentlemen's first, Mr. Ross Pollock; Gentlemen's Consolation, Dr. A. Michell. Covers were placed for lunch of several courses. The guests spent a pleasant hour before departing by listenin on the radio, after which a hearty vote of thanks was tendered the host for the most delightful time. The next meeting will be held on Tuesday of next week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mann. As the time is getting short before the busy season begins, the members have decided to hold the club weekly instead of bi-weekly.

Mr. John Boyd arrived home on Tuesday from spending over two months with nephews in Quebec, also spending the past two weeks of his visit in Montreal with his friend Mr. Quinlan, formally contractor on Trent Valley Canal.

The Dependable Battery for your car

Europe Inspired It—Dietrich Designed It Studebaker Built It—Paris Approves It

Now All Peterboro Can See It

AT the 20th International Motor Exhibition at the Grand Palais in Paris, Europe saw the Erskine Six for the first time. Over night it was acclaimed the hit of the Paris Show!

The press called it the "Clou du Salon!" The man in the street and the man of affairs—designers of cars and designers of the Paris mode—everybody declared the Erskine Six to be the outstanding triumph of the exhibition—excelling Europe in its own type of car. The Parisian triumph was repeated at the Olympia Show in London.

Priced Low

People over there want modishness and insist upon upkeep economy. Motorists over here are welcoming both as a new order in car ownership. The Erskine Six was built for both markets, for it sells for less than $1300 at the Walkerville, Ontario, factory.

But don't look for any signs of economy in its appearance—because Dietrich designed it!

And don't be afraid that economy has impaired the quality—because Studebaker built it!

The Erskine Six is a newcomer as a car, but it's built and backed by an old-timer in the industry and has been perfected by extreme road tests on Studebaker's million dollar proving ground!

It is only 5 feet 7½ inches in height—yet it affords ample clearance for Madame's chapeau.

Wherever you look at this low-swung, wide-windowed, full-vision steel body, you will find visible evidence of the creative genius which is Dietrich!

Outside, the close-hauled beauty of the Paris mode—and inside, the relaxation and comforts of home!

Easy to Handle

Nimble enough to turn in an 18-foot radius—powerful enough to take an 11% grade without shifting gears—fast enough to skim over the highway at 60 miles per hour—and smart enough to be an ornament as well as an automobile.

LOCAL PLAYER BEST FOR GREYS

McDougall Leads Owen Sound To 5-1 Victory Over Newmarket.

IN JUNIOR FINAL.

TORONTO, Mar. 4—Experience, superior speed and more accurate shooting gave Owen Sound a 5-to-1 victory over Newmarket in the first game of the O.H.A. junior finals at the Arena Gardens last night. But the Greys, on the play, were not four goals the better team. They did not have very many more opportunities to score than the conquerors of St. Michael's, but the Greys' ability to make the right play when an opening came turned the tide in their favor. Jack Spratt's team played sparkling shinkey throughout, and Owen Sound appears to be represented by a stronger aggregation than the one which went down before Kingston in the finals last season. A crowd of 7,000 witnessed a lightning fast and brilliantly played contest. The second game will be played on Tuesday night.

Newmarket did not play with the dash and confidence they displayed against St. Michael's in the semi-final. The North York youngsters were particularly timid defensively and on the attack in the first period, but showed vast improvement in the second and third. Murray, who was one of the stars against the Irish, allowed Jack Markle to run wild along the wing, and when the Owen Sound right rail player drifted in a long, high shot from the fence for the first goal of the game 70 seconds after play got under way the Greys gained an advantage that played a mighty part in the victory.

The Owen Sound first string forward line, with Shrimp McDougall in centre, flanked by Martin Lauder and Jack Markle, played great hockey. They had all kinds of speed, passed the puck nicely and shot hard and accurately. And they got the puck away fast with the majority of their drives being effectively masked and giving Corbett, in the Newmarket cage, little chance to save. And they also sniped from unexpected angles. Corbett was plainly worried on the long range shooting and he was kept on the jump throughout. The marksmanship of the Greys was one of the big features of their play.

McDougall Stars

Shrimp McDougall, the Peterboro boy, was the fastest skater on the ice and a wonderful puck-carrier. He outplayed Townsley, the Newmarket ace, and the only goal scored by the losers was popped in by Townsley, when McDougall was taking a well earned rest. It was a beautiful shot. Townsley crossed over in front of an Owen Sound player as he let the puck go. McDougall was the pivot on the majority of the Owen Sound charges, and it was uncanny the way he was able to draw the Newmarket wing players into centre and then to pass the puck over to either Markle or Lauder. McDougall also did a tremendous lot of back-checking and was the chief wrecker of the Newmarket hopes.

HOCKEY RESULTS.

TWO TEAMS OF FIRST DIVISION FOR CUP PLAY

Four Teams From "Home Counties" Only Survivors of Sixty-Four.

ENGLISH CUP PLAY

No Fewer Than Five Teams Represent Second String.

LONDON, Mar. 4 (Canadian Press cable)—Four teams from the "home counties," one from the south east, two from Wales and one from the Midlands are all that now survive of the sixty-four which started out last December to make a name for themselves in the annual competition for the English Cup, and should play go to a decision on Saturday, that number will be whittled down to four with the next step the semi-finals. Most notable, however, is the fact that of the surviving eight, only two belong to the first division of the English League.

Arsenal and Cardiff City are alone left to uphold the glories of the senior department, while no fewer than five teams belong to the second string. Millwall represents the third division.

For the first time in many years the quarter-finals are over-balanced in favor of the London district. Arsenal, Chelsea, Reading and Millwall all come within the metropolitan scope, and of these clubs Reading only are playing away from home. Three of Saturday's games are scheduled for London, Arsenal meeting Wolverhampton Wanderers at Highbury, Chelsea entertaining Cardiff City at Stamford Bridge, and Millwall acting host to Southampton on the former's ground. The fourth game is in Wales where Swansea Town will receive Reading.

With the possibility of London becoming possessors of the Cup looming big — something that has happened few times in Metropolitan football history (only twice in the last 47 year)—Interest in the contest has become intense in the metropolis, and Londoners are looking longingly towards Arsenal and Chelsea, hoping that either of them may do the deed. Not much hope is held out for either Millwall or Reading.

On the other hand, the Celtic enthusiasm of Wales is bubbling over with confidence that for the first time in history the English Cup will leave its native heath and repose for a while in the principality. The nearest Wales ever got to the trophy was two years ago when Cardiff City went as far as Wembley only to be beaten out in the final by Sheffield United. Wales have now two chances and if Cardiff lose, Swansea may win.

The south of England once again pin their hopes to Southampton who are recognized as sterling cup fighters, although they do not shape up particularly well in the league. The South Midlands look to Wolverhampton, but the Wanderers are not considered strong anywhere else.

The draw for the sixth round follows:

Chelsea vs. Cardiff City (referee, J. V. Pennington, Reading).

Arsenal vs. Wolverhampton (referee, R. Bowie, Newcastle).

Swansea vs. Reading (referee, W. F. Campbell, London).

Millwall vs. Southampton (referee, I. Caswell, Blackburn.)

Scottish Cup

GLASGOW, March 4 (Canadian Press)—Chief interest in the fourth round of the Scottish Cup which will be decided on Saturday is directed at Boness where the leaders of the second division of the league are drawn to meet the all-conquering Celtic. The quarter-finals are evenly divided between the east and west of Scotland with two teams from West Lothian to hold the balance. Dundee United, East Fife and Arthurlie will uphold the honor of the eastern section of the country against Glasgow Rangers, Celtic and Partick Thistle representing the western metropolis while Bo-ness and Falkirk come between.

Only one game is scheduled for Glasgow, Partick Thistle being down to meet Dundee United at Partick. Both the Rangers and Celtic are away from home, the former playing the "Bairns" at Falkirk and the latter, as stated, at Bo'ness. Arthurlie entertain East Fife.

NOTED SLUGGER SIGNS CONTRACT

"Tilly" Walker Comes Into Maple Leaf Fold.

LEAVE FOR SOUTH

TORONTO, March 4.—With the local contingent of the champion Leafs leaving for the training camp at Augusta, Ga., last night, the baseball season may be virtually considered underway. In the party that entrained from the Queen City yesterday was Business Manager Bill O'Hara and Trainer Tommy Daly, and it is likely that they will be joined en route by Manager Lee Fohl and Players Bohnslaw and Hogan, the Cleveland semi-pros. who are booked for a trial. The former is a pitcher and the latter an outfielder. It is more than likely than both recruits will be turned over to the Reading club.

Clarence "Tilly" Walker, the veteran slugger who alternated in right field with Cleo. Carlyle and whose batting was hard and timely throughout the season has returned his signed contract with the assurance that he will be among the first to report at Augusta. The old timer may not be the best fly chaser in the world, but he knows how to swing the war club, and if he performs as well for the Leafs in the early part of the impending campaign as he did for the Birds before his release was purchased from Baltimore last season it will be hard to keep him out of the line up. It was Walker and his big bludgeon who kept the erstwhile champions in the running in the first half of the race, and it is significant that the Oriole's slump and the Leafs' pennant push coincided with his shift in allegiance.

There will be opposition for Mickey Heath again now that Dale Alexander has come into the fold. The bulky first sacker from the Sally League was given a trial last spring but was returned with thanks when it was discovered that the owners of the Charlotte club were disposed to place an exaggerated value upon his services. Alexander is a clouter of parts, but he is a few points shy as a fielder.

Joe Maley, the frail right hand pitcher who was used but seldom last year, will be back. He was fairly useful especially in the spring, but faded away when the strife became hectic. Maley reports that he has taken on weight and if that is the case he may prove a valuable man this summer. He has plenty of stuff and lacks only the physique to be a consistent winner.

There are now seventeen players under contract and President Solman is sanguine that the majority of the others will be on hand when Manager Fohl arrives at Augusta.

LADIES' LEAGUE Y.M.C.A.

The second series of the Ladies' League finished with the Larks, captained by Miss M. Stenton, one game ahead of the Canaries, led by Miss Ethel Rae. This is the second series won by the Larks, but they will have to face some stern opposition before they win the league, as only a game apiece separated the other teams in the series. The Swallows, led by Miss Greta Stinson, finished in third place, having lost eleven games, of two more than the league leaders, the Larks. Some of the teams who were in the rear of the race in the first series, materially improved their position in the second series and finished among the league leaders, while some of the first series' leaders slumped down in the second series. The final standing of the second series was as follows:

	Won	Lost
Larks	18	9
Canaries	17	10
Swallows	16	11
Bluejays	15	12
Robins	15	12
Bobolinks	14	13
Thrushes	12	15
Orioles	11	16
Nightingales	10	17
Cardinals	7	20

The Larks took the first two games from the Robins but dropped the third one, March 1. Miss Whitfield had a good single of 239 and also had high three. Two other high singles were Miss Madill's 199 and Miss Clinkscale's 183.

Tiger Flowers says he will go to court to force Mickey Walker to give him a return bout....That's all right as long as he doesn't go to court to force us to see it again.

Mary K. Browne seems destined to be the first woman professional golf champion of the world whether she likes it or not.

HALIFAX WINS CURLING HONORS

Captures MacDonald Brier Tankard and Canadian National Championship.

DEFEAT SARNIA

TORONTO March 4 (Canadian Press).—The Halifax rink skipped by Professor Murray MacNeil captured the MacDonald Brier Tankard and the Canadian National curling championship by defeating Sarnia, Ontario champions, at the Granite Club here yesterday afternoon by 13 shots to 9.

Yesterday afternoon's victory, marked seven wins in eight games for the champions. The only defeat they sustained was inflicted by the Saint John rink. Halifax took the lead in the bonspiel Wednesday when they won three straight games. They curled in steady, careful style yesterday, winning their morning game from Montreal and clinching the title by downing Sarnia yesterday afternoon.

As the champion trooped off the ice amid a shower of congratulations they were taken into the main room of the club-house, where they were presented with the handsome silver MacDonald Brier Tankard, emblematic of the Canadian championship.

ALL SAINTS WIN' MIDGET LEAGUE

Anglicans Defeat Trinity in Final Game of Church Series.

FINAL SCORE 3-0.

All Saints' Midget won the City Church League Midget title last night, when they defeated the fast Trinity team in a sudden death fixture at the Brock street arena. The Anglican came out on the top with a 3-0 score.

The game was a thrilling battle all the way, both teams working hard for a verdict. The Trinity lads worked like fiends in the first session and in their efforts roughed it a bit, but the Saints were equal to the occasion. The first period ended with both teams on the zero mark.

The second stanza opened with the Anglicans taking the offensive and making the Trinity boys work to guard their net. In the middle of the period Jay, the Saints' clever wing, got the rubber and passed at centre to Price, who worked his way through the Trinity team, and with a shot from the right boards, scored the first marker of the evening. A few minutes later Cadd, Price's defence mate, duplicated the goal, putting the Saints up another marker. The rest of the period was devoid of scores, the period ending 2 to 0 for the Saints.

The third period was a fast one. The Trinity lads tried hard to even the count, but failed because of the super net minding of the Saints' goalie, Miller, who was there every time the Trinity boys came in to score. Whatley, the Saints' centre man, shoved in the rubber for the third marker of the evening. Trinity gradually faded out of the picture at this stage of the game. The game ended 3-0 for the All Saints team.

There were no stars on either team. Both teams gave all they had. All Saints' deserved the win, because they played hockey all through the season. They never lost a game and their scores were big. They rose to the heights of a championship aggregation when they defeated the Trinity team.

Mr. Cuthbertson handled the bell to the satisfaction of both teams.

Much credit is due to Manager Spencer Hope for the time and hard-working effort he put forward to bring the youngsters their first title.

ST. JOHN'S WINS CHURCH LEAGUE

St. James' Beaten 4-0 in the Final Game of Junior Series.

COMBINATION WINS.

St. John's Juniors won their twelfth straight game in the Church League last night, and with it the championship of their series. The score of last night's game, which was the second of the play-off with St. James', the runners-up, was 4-0, and the score on the round was 6-1.

Better combination won for the Anglicans, who are now ready to meet St. Peter's school team for the city championship. This game will be played at Brock street rink next Wednesday.

There were three goals scored in the first period. Jarvis secured the first on a pass from Johnston right in front of the goal. Hall got the second on a long shot from centre, and Hewitt scored the third on combination play. In the second period Jarvis secured the only goal on an individual effort.

The Teams.

St. James' — Goal, Payne; defence, Jones and Williams; centre, Hall; wings, Moffatt and Mowry; subs, Starr, Grose and Fields.

St. John's—Goal, Hutchison; defence, Johnston and Sowden; centre, Hartley; wings, Hall and Jarvis; subs, Hewitt, Dorrington and Woodgate.

Referee—Johnny Warder.

HOW TO GET RID OF COLDS AND CATARRH

A Simple, Safe, Inexpensive Method That Clears Out the Head, Nose and Throat.

There are many people suffering from chronic catarrh who would like to know how they can stop catching cold after cold. They realize that sooner or later this may lead to deafness and other serious troubles.

Dr. Blosser, for years a specialist in catarrh, was the discoverer of a pleasant, direct method that can be used by women and children as well as men. His remedy is made from medicinal herbs, flowers and berries which you smoke in a small pipe or cigarette, and inhale the vapor into the air passages of the head, nose, throat and lungs, carrying medicine where sprays, douches and salves cannot possibly reach. It contains no cubebs, tobacco or habit-forming drugs.

Dr. Blosser's Remedy is effective in all forms of colds, catarrh, catarrhal headaches and ear troubles that may lead to deafness. You will breathe better and feel better after using it.

If you suffer from catarrh, catarrhal deafness, asthma, hay fever, bronchial irritations, or, if subject to frequent colds, you should try Dr. Blosser's Remedy. Get one of the pocket size packages from any drug store and prove for yourself the pleasant, beneficial effects.

SEIZURE OF SHIP FIRST OF DRIVE UNDER NEW ACT

Panama Government Passes Law Disallowing Habitual Rum Runners.

LEGAL BATTLE.

Captain of Captured Vessel Says Act of War Was Committed.

NEW YORK, March 4 (Canadian Press).—The seizure of the Canadian owned steamer "Federal Ship" under Panama registry with a cargo of liquor valued at $1,000,000 while 300 miles off San Francisco, was the first move to eliminate notorious rum-running craft which have been operating in the Atlantic and the Pacific oceans under Panama registry, states a Washington despatch to the Herald Tribune. The despatch says the seizure of the "Federal Ship," which is owned by the Consolidated Exporters of Vancouver, B.C., followed successful negotiations between the United States and Panama, whereby the latter Government adopted a new law which provided that vessels under Panama registry which were "guilty of habitual smuggling or piracy against a friendly nation" automatically forfeited their registry.

Claims Act of War.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 3. — (Canadian Press).—The battle between the Government and Canadian liquor exporters over the steamer "Federal Ship" and her million dollar cargo of Scotch whiskey was transferred from the high seas to court to-day. The ship, recently seized under coastguard fire, swung at anchor under guard. The court battle in the offing promised to be an unusual one, as Captain Stone, the only person to be arrested, insisted that the coastguard boats which made the seizure had committed an act of war by shelling his vessel. The guard vessels shot five times, two of the six-pound shells taking effect on the main deck. Captain Stone, who is held for arraignment to-day, said he would ask the Panama Government, under which the "Federal Ship" was registered, to declare war against the United States unless amends were made for the use of coastguard guns.

Rum-Runner Shot.

NEW YORK, March 4 (Canadian Press).—Captain Willis, who with fifteen members of the crew of the steam trawler "Clara Matthieu," is under heavy bail, charged with rum-running, staggered into a local inn last night, weakened by loss of blood from two bullet wounds in his arm. He told of having been an innocent bystander in a pistol duel. Police expressed the opinion that Willis had been "taken for a ride" by some enemy, shot, and forced from an automobile. Willis' life probably was saved by a metal eyeglass case he carried in a pocket almost over his heart, which bore the imprint of two bullets.

Y.M.C.A. JUNIORS RECEIVE BUTTONS

Presentation To Be Made at Junior Supper To-morrow.

On Saturday evening the buttons won by the Junior members of the Y.M.C.A. in the recent Hexathlon or Indoor athletic championship will be presented together with the certificates of the Fifty Thousand Club awarded for individual effort on behalf of the boys of other lands. Both these interesting events will take place at the Junior supper and will be followed by the usual weekly movie show and sing-song. The newly formed Boys' Division orchestra will render a short programme during the evening.

ROVERS SHUT OUT YOUNG CANUCKS

Winners Play Good Hockey in Midget League Game.

The Rovers left the ice last night with a five to nothing win over the Canucks.

The Rovers played very nice hockey whereas the Young Canucks did not seem to be able to get anywhere on the ice. J. Roach was about the only man who showed any signs of hockey for the losers. It would be be a very hard task to pick the stars on the Rovers. Jack Ward handled the game very satisfactorily.

WEDDING BELLS.

PARKS—COLLINS.
A quiet wedding was solemnized at the residence of Rev. R. T. Mills, pastor of Bethany Tabernacle, on Tuesday afternoon, at three o'clock, when Laura J. Collins, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Collins, Peterborough, became the bride of Louis R. Parks, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard S. Parks, also of Peterborough. Rev. Mr. Mills performed the ceremony.
Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Parks left on the afternoon train for Toronto, en route to Detroit. On their return, they will reside at 122 Park Street North.

OBITUARY.

MRS. ROBERT CRUIKSHANK.
The death occurred last night of Laura Ellen Baptist, wife of Robert Cruikshank, 589 Sherbrooke Street. Mrs. Cruikshank had been ill for some time. She will be missed by a wide circle of friends, both in Peterborough and at her former home at Baltimore, Ont.
Besides her husband, three brothers, William and Robert of Baltimore and George of Rochester, N.Y., and five sisters, Mrs. Carruthers and Miss Agnes Baptist of Baltimore, Mrs. William Bopray of Brandon, Man., and Mrs. James Buttars and Mrs. James T. Buttars of Plainville, survive. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Baptist, and one brother and one sister, predeceased her.
The funeral will take place tomorrow morning at 11.00 o'clock and will be conducted by the Rev. William Allan.

TRY MAGNESIA FOR STOMACH TROUBLE

To Neutralize Acidity and Fermentation. Prevents Indigestion, Sour Gassy Stomach.

People who suffer from indigestion usually have tried pepsin, charcoal, drugs and various digestive aids and got little more than slight temporary relief—sometime not even that.
But before giving up to chronic dyspepsia, just try the effect of a little Bisurated Magnesia—not the ordinary commercial carbonate, citrate or milk, but pure Bisurated Magnesia which you can obtain from practically any druggist in either powder or tablet form.
Take a teaspoonful of the powder or four compressed tables with a little water after your next meal, and see what a difference this makes. It will instantly neutralize the dangerous, harmful acid in the stomach which now causes your food to ferment and sour, making gas, wind, flatulence, heartburn and the bloated or heavy, lumping feeling that seems to follow most everything you eat. You can enjoy your meals without a fear of indigestion.

CITY TRIES OUT POWER GRADER

Purchase of Road Maintainer Recommended For City For Removing Snow.

MOTORISTS BLAMED.

There have been many complaints lately received about the condition of the city streets. The Examiner interviewed the City Engineer and the Chairman of the Board of Works this morning and was told that these officials had done everything that was financially possible to overcome these ruts in the streets. The matter has been studied for some time by these two officials, and this year they recommended the following in their annual report for maintaining roads:
"The question of keeping our streets in shape for automobile traffic during the winter is one to be solved. I have been studying this question for some time, and it seems to me that the only solution is the use of a power grader with crawler tread. The machine must also be equipped with a scarifier to break up the hard snow and ice in front of the blade. Such a machine could also be used for road work in summer for grading, though I have no faith in a scarifier on such an outfit being able to break up our roads. The cost would be from $3,000.00 to $4,000.00, depending on the size, make and power."
The Department of Works will keep the ruts out of the streets if supplied with the proper machinery, and this afternoon is trying out the suburban area power maintainer.
These ruts, the officials claim, are caused by the motorists refusing to distribute their traffic on the street.

CANTONESE DIVERT ATTACK FROM SUNGKIANG TO SOOCHOW TO ISOLATE SHANGHAI FORCES

City on Direct Line Between Port and Chang's Base at Nanking.

ANOTHER ALLY.

British Begin Strengthening Positions For Defence of Settlement.

SHANGHAI, March 5 (United Press).—The Cantonese army today diverted its attack from Sung Kiang and launched a drive for the city of Soochow, north-west of Sunkiang.

The capture of Wukiang was reliably reported. Soochow is almost on a line between Shanghai and Nankiang, and apparently the Nationalists were attempting to cut communication between the two cities, further isolating the forces of Chang Chung-Chang in the Shanghai district.

General Chendac-Yuan, a former alley of Chang Tso-Lin, was reported to have gone over to the Cantonese.

Situation Precarious.

Marshal Chen Ting-Yueh, Governor of Anhwei, yesterday was reported to have joined the Cantonese, cutting communication between Chan Chung-Chang's Shanghai defence force and the main armies of Chang Tso-Lin in the north. The capture of Soochow by the Cantonese would make the Shanghai situation precarious and British troops in the seaport started strengthening their lines with machine gun emplacements every 300 yards, sand bag breastworks, and pointed stake stockades.

The British apparently did not intend to reply to the Chinese protest against the action of British and Italian troops in taking up positions outside the foreign settlement.

The Chinese foreign commissioner told the United Press that the presence of troops outside the settlement has aroused the bitterest feelings among the Chinese.

U.S. Marines Land.

Twelve hundred United States marines paraded through crowds of silent Chinese and cheering foreigners in the foreign settlement this morning. It was the first display of strength by the American forces since the concentration of foreign troops in Shanghai began.

Meetings Prohibited.

HONG KONG, March 5. — (Canadian Press).—Prohibition of seditious meetings and processions is announced in the official Gazette. The step has been taken under emergency regulations.

Collie Too Affectionate Puts Judge In Quandary

NEWARK, N.J., March 5 (A.P.).—A coolie's affection for everybody necessitates the exercise of wisdom by Judge Guthrie. There's litigation over the ownership. "Here Bella," cried out Mrs. Anna Fasinky. "Come Patsy," yelled Salvatore Cicatese. Coolie hurried to him in glee. Court then adjourned to await expert testimony.

Gearless, Brakeless Car Danish Engineer's Idea

COPENHAGEN, March 5. — Scot Iverson, a twenty-four-year-old Danish engineer studying as an undergraduate in the Polytecnical University of Copenhagen, has invented a gearless and brakeless automobile which, it is declared, will revolutionize the motor industry. He is being hailed as an automobile Edison.

It is asserted that a first-class automobile can be constructed on Iverson's principles for less than a "tin lizzie." His car works without gears and friction brakes, braking being effected by the engine.

It is stated that an automobile manufacturing company in Europe built experimental automobiles some months ago, and soon will commence their production at low prices.

EXHIBITION BOARD MEETS TO ARRANGE FAIR DETAILS

Government Monopoly Upon Life Insurance

OTTAWA, March 5 (Canadian Press).—A resolution proposing that life insurance, like the postal service, should be a government monopoly, will be proposed in the House of Commons by H. E. Spencer, U.F.A., Battle River. The resolution in its preamble points out that four billion dollars in life insurance is now carried by private companies and the "multiplication of services involves an enormous unnecessary expense and under modern conditions life insurance has become a necessity."

Jumping Horses To Add To the Programme This Year.

NEW PLANS.

Exhibits Must Be in Place on Tuesday For Children's Day.

An enthusiastic meeting of the Exhibition Board was held last night when the prize list was revised and plans were made for many added attractions.

It was announced that all poultry must be in place by nine o'clock on Tuesday morning. George Paxman urged the need of an addition to the poultry building and the building committee was asked to investigate the possibilities of enlargement. The present building, Mr. Paxman suggested, would be suitable for vegetables if a new building is erected for poultry.

Monday will be a free evening, with the mid-way in full swing, and Tuesday will be children's day. A ruling was made last night that flowers, vegetables and other exhibits must be in place by Tuesday morning.

It was decided not to accept prizes or advertisements from mail order houses, as it was believed this would not be fair to the city merchants.

Campaign Opens.

The aim of the membership campaign was set at 2,000 for 1927, and the campaign starts to-day. Those who took tickets last night were:

R. Denne, T. Brown, J. Ball, J. Holmes, H. Becker, W. Stewart, G. Paxman, W. Knox, S. A. Oke, T. H. Graham, C. Hanbridge, J. Seymour, C. E. Moore, T. Cavanagh, The Examiner.

The membership tickets, which cost only $2, entitle the holder to admittance at any time, and also to twenty entries in the smaller classes in the prize list.

Jumpers Coming.

Jumps will be erected in the fair grounds and a car load of jumping horses will be brought in to add to the programme. It is believed that this will be one of the most attractive features of this year's exhibition.

For Dominion Day.

Webber Turner was appointed the Exhibition Board representative on the central committee on the city's Dominion Day celebration.

Committees For 1927.

The following are the committees for this year's fair; the first named being chairman:

Managing Director—W. Knox.

Buildings, Ground and Concessions—Thomas Brown, Reg. Turner, T. McIndoo, J. Gillespie, W. Merrell, W. L. Breyfogle, George Duncan.

SHIP PICKS UP BOATS IN NIGHT

Crew Of Burning Vessel Saved By Men From Sister Ship.

HELP UNEXPECTED.

NEW YORK, March 5 (Canadian Press).—A new tale of heroism was added to the annals of the sea today in the rescue without incident of the crew of forty of the fire swept Spanish freighter "Cabo Hatteras," between Fire Island and Montauk Point, 150 miles off New York. It was the "Cabo Torres," sister ship of the doomed vessel, that emerged unheralded from the blackness of the night to range itself alongside the burning ship when the nearest aid was believed miles away.

How Captain Zalvidea and his crew were picked up from their storm-tossed lifeboats after they had abandoned the ship following a fire in the engine room which they were without means of extinguishing was tersely told in a radio message from the "Cabo Torres." The captain of the latter said he was standing by to tow the "Cabo Hatteras," but that heavy seas prevent this from being done.

Details of the cause and extent of the fire are unknown. It is thought probable that the recent storm might have disarranged power or electrical equipment so as to cause the blaze.

TORONTO MAN HANGS HIMSELF

Edward Johnston Commits Suicide During Fit of Despondency.

HAD BEEN DRINKING.

TORONTO, March 5. — Edward Johnston, aged 35, married, was found hanging by a clothes line from the bridging between the joists of his cellar yesterday afternoon by his wife. He was quite dead when cut down by Detectives Todd and Skinner. Investigation by the police showed that Johnston had been drinking, and committed suicide in a fit of despondency. The body was removed to the Morgue, but an inquest is not likely. The tragedy occurred while Mrs. Johnston was in a neighbor's home. When she returned to the house and could not find her husband, she grew alarmed. Calling a neighbor she descended to the basement where she found the body.

Johnston is survived by his widow and two children, one three years old, the other just short of two years.

CONSIDERABLE PROGRESS MADE IN FEDERAL HOUSE THIS WEEK; BUSINESS AHEAD OF LAST YEAR

Speech From Throne Still Being Debated This Time Last Session.

BUDGET ADOPTED.

Local Member Favors Pension Bill With Federal Share Larger.

OTTAWA, March 5 (Canadian Press).—The House of Commons made considerable progress this week. It not only adopted the budget in principle, but it passed all the stages of the Old-Age Pensions Act which was the subject of long debate, both last session and again this year. An amendment to the Soldiers' Settlement Act, one of the measures left over from the last Parliament, when it was the cause of many debates, went through the committee stage and received second reading yesterday. Last year at this time the Commons was still debating the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne, so it will be seen how much farther ahead the proceedings are this session.

Maritime Rights Report.

The report of the Royal Commission on Maritime Rights fills a big place in the political horizon, and it had been expected that the debate on this would be launched about the middle of the month. The plans of the Government have been to clear up the budget resolutions in committee and the estimates before the maritime rights debate is started, but developments of the next week may change this.

The Government's bill to amend loan companies which would require loan companies to take out annual licenses from the insurance department is meeting with strong opposition in the Banking and Commerce Committee of the Commons. The committee did not reach a vote after yesterday's discussion, but it will be resumed next Tuesday, when it is expected a vote will be taken.

Canal Bill Contentious.

A bill to provide for the renewal of the charter of the Montreal, Ottawa, and Georgian Bay Canal Company stands out as the most contentious of the private bills. It has already occupied three of the hour spaces set aside on certain nights for dealing with bill's of this class. However, this bill will continue to be first on the list until it is disposed of with a long list of other private bills in its trail, so that indications are that it will eventually go to committee.

Opposition to the bill is based on the contention that the bill in addition to giving the company the right to build a canal along the French, Mattawa and Ottawa Rivers from Georgian Bay to Montreal gives the company important power rights along the course of the proposed canal.

Local Member in Favor.

Speaking in the debate on the Old-Age Pensions Bill in the House of Commons, E. A. Peck, M.P. for West Peterborough, expressed his approval of the principle of the measure, but urged that the Federal Government's contribution should be 75 per cent. instead of 50 per cent.

The following is his speech, as given in Hansard:

"I fully agree with the principle

Prices Moderate in Basket Section—Much Wood Offered.

POTATOES $1.75.

Prices were moderate on the farmers' market this morning. In the basket section, eggs were plentiful and were priced at 38 to 40 cents a dozen. Butter was quoted generally at 45 cents a pound. Chickens sold from 32 to 35 cents a pound.

Near the door, patchwork quilts of careful manufacture were offered at $4.50 apiece and there were several sales of home-made cooking.

On the open market, wood was very much in view, ranging in price all the way from $7 to $12 a load, in varying grades. Potatoes were generally quoted at $1.75 a bag. Onions were 50 cents a peck, beets and carrots 25 cents. Pork was 18 and 20 cents a pound, beef 10 and 12 cents.

A couple of tiny fox terrier pups in a wooden box attracted much interest. They were priced at a dollar apiece. Barred Rocks and White Leghorn cockerels were $3 each.

Oversleeps In Lifeboat Is Carried Across Sea

NEW YORK, March 5.—As a result of oversleeping in his hiding place in a lifeboat, Joseph Eggermaier, a Czechoslovak, who stowed away on the French liner Paris at Havre with the intention of disembarking at Plymouth, England, made a 5,000-mile trip across the Atlantic. He arrived on the Paris and was turned over to the immigration authorities. He will go back on the same vessel to-day.

Eggermaier, who is a motion-picture camera man, was in Liege, Belgium, when he decided to go to England. He walked the 600 miles to Havre and boarded the Paris by means of a visitor's pass. The trip to Plymouth takes eight hours, and as he was exhausted he decided to spend most of it sleeping. He woke up twenty-four hours later, when the Paris was well on her way to New York.

T. H. GILLESPIE RECEIVES RUSH CUP AT DINNER

Given By Late Henry Rush For Competition By Agents.

CONFERENCE ENDS.

Confederation Life Men Address Life Underwriters' Association.

The silver cup donated by the late Harry Rush for competition among the Confederation Life Association's men in the Central Ontario division was presented to Mr. T. H. Gillespie, district manager, Peterboro, as the winner of it in the greatest number of months last year, at the Life Underwriters' luncheon at the Empress Hotel last night.

The presentation had been deferred from the Confederation Life conference, which was held throughout the day, and was made by Mr. C. D. Devlin, assistant superintendent, Toronto, who not only congratulated Mr. Gillespie but also recalled in affectionate terms the memory of Mr. Rush.

"I will prize this among the richest of my possessions," Mr. Gillespie said in receiving the trophy, "not because of its value in dollars and cents, but because of its donor. Mr. Rush was as near the ideal citizen as it is possible to get, and he was a Christian gentleman. I think I have said enough."

Underwriters' Luncheon.

The Life Underwriters' luncheon, their regular meeting for March, was the concluding feature of the Confederation Life's all-day program, and the special speakers were two prominent Confederation Life men, Mr. Devlin and Mr. V. R. Smith, Toronto, of the company's actuarial department. A pleasing episode of the afternoon was the gift of an umbrella to Miss I. B. Giles by Mr. C. Burgess of Belleville on behalf of the Central Ontario agents.

Among those present last night were: A. E. Challis, Cobourg; F. C. Bonnycastle, Campbellford; S. H. Cane, Orillia; J. R. Myles, Thornbury; H. L. Robson, Lindsay; J. J. Moore, Barrie; H. G. Davidson, Orillia; W. H. Giffen, Norwood; Edward Fennell, Havelock; R. J. Knox, Lakefield; P. J.

YOUNG FARMER BELIEVED SUICIDE

Inquest Thought Unnecessary in Death of Beaver Valley Man.

THORNBURY, Ont., March 5. — Clifford Camack, a young Beaver Valley farmer, living about five miles from the village of Kimberley, on the Beaver Valley Road, was found dead on Thursday in the woodshed of his home with a bullet wound through the temple and a .22 calibre rifle lying at his feet.

After a thorough investigation by the coroner, Dr. J. F. McKee of Thornbury, an inquest was deemed unnecessary. The young man's parents are dead and he was unmarried, living with his sister.

Horse, 39, Brings 60 Cents Succumbs From the Effects

PATERSON, N. J., March 5 (Associated Press).—The doctor called the cause of death colic, but some of his friends think it was a broken heart. Faithful Harry served the city for 20 years, dashing to fires as speedily as the best. At 39 they put him up at auction and the highest bid was 60 cents. Forthwith the horse died.

CYCLONE KILLS MANY PEOPLE IN MADAGASCAR

Ships Wrecked By Storm Which Devastates Harbor at Tamatave.

LOSSES HEAVY.

At Least 500 Dead, With Property Damage Over $4,000,000.

CAPETOWN, South Africa, Mar. 5. Canadian Press. — A terrific cyclone which struck the east coast of Madagascar Island on Thursday, is reported to have taken five hundred lives, say private wireless messages, received here to-day by way of Mauritius. The town of Tamatave is described as devastated.

Madagascar, an island in the Indian Ocean, off the east coast of Africa, is a French colony. The island is estimated to contain 230,000 square miles. The Malayan element predominates among the inhabitants, who number nearly three and a half million.

Tamatave, on the east coast, is the most important seaport and was for some time the capital.

A subsequent and so far unconfirmed message from Madagascar said several hundred persons had been killed.

The French steamers 'Ville de Marseilles' and 'Calinat' were reported to have been driven ashore. The Union Castle steamer 'Gaika' wirelessed that she had encountered a terrific storm.

LONDON, March 5. (United Press.) — Lloyd's to-day received a message from the steamer 'General Duchesne,' by way of Mauritius, saying that the harbor of Tamatave in Madagascar, had been wrecked by a cyclone. The steamers 'Calinat,' 'Sainte Anne,' and 'Amanda,' and the sailing ships 'Elizabeth' and 'Beriziky,' were destroyed, according to the message.

The 'Duchesne's' skipper said it was expected that there had been some loss of life.

The damages are estimated at over 100,000,000 francs ($4,000,000)

No Word Reaches Paris

PARIS, March 5 (Canadian Press).—The Ministry of Colonies was still without confirmation early this afternoon of reports reaching Paris by way of London that the town of Tamative, on the east coast of Madagascar, had been ravaged by a cyclone. The reports said it was feared there was some loss of life and that five vessels were reported to have been sunk.

OAKVILLE YOUTH SHOT BY FRIEND

No Serious Consequences Expected From Accidental Injury.

22 RIFLE FOUND.

OAKVILLE, Ont., March 5. — William Izatt, 16 year old son of James Izatt, was accidently shot yesterday afternoon by a .22 calibre rifle in the hands of a chum named Harry Card. The bullet entered Izatt's left shoulder from in front and went through his body, coming out at the shoulder blade. Izatt walked a quarter of a mile to his home from the railway track where the accident occurred, although bleeding profusely. Dr. J. H. Stead said no serious consequences are to be looked for. It was stated that Izatt was walking behind his companion, who had the rifle over his shoulder, when Card stumbled and the rifle discharged. Chief David Kerr stated that no police action would be taken.

Smokers Suffer Less From Flu, Says Doctor

PARIS, March 5 (Canadian Press).—Smokers are less likely to take grippe than non-smokers, says Dr. Henri Bouquet, well-known French medical writer, who also declares experience has shown that smokers are practically immune from cerebro spinal meningitis. Recent tests, he points out, seem to prove that tobacco has antiseptic properties sufficient to kill off the microbes which inhabit the mouth, where many diseases have their origin.

SAYS CONTRACT CHEAPER THAN STATUTE LABOR

Minister Tells Ontario Legislature in Moving Highways Improvement Act.

REVIEWS WORK.

Government, By Increased Subsidies, Encouraged Abolition of Statue Labor.

TORONTO, March 5 (Canadian Press).—Statute labor is only three per cent efficient and the work on the highways of the Province can be done three times as cheaply by contract, Hon. George S. Henry, Minister of Highways and Public Works, told the Ontario Legislature yesterday afternoon, in moving the second reading of the Highways Improvement Act. This system of labor, he said, was rapidly passing into oblivion with the toll road system, which was a decided anachronism in this age of rapid transit. Mr. Henry spoke for two hours reviewing the work of his department and explaining the methods and material used in the construction of the highways.

The Government, continued the Minister, by increased subsidies, had encouraged the abolition of statute labor, and at the end of last year no fewer than 74 per cent of the organized Counties had fallen into line, and, as a result the mileage of earth roads was steadily diminishing and much more substantial surface was being employed.

He traced the development of the County Roads System from 1901 and stated that today it had a mileage of 8,304. The general policy of the department had been the enlargement of road units. Township roads had developed into provincial highways until there was a total mileage of more than 52,000. The total expenditure had been $15,672,812, made up of county roads, $71,777,641; township roads, $21,040,913; provincial highways, $38,490,812. It was significant of the trend of road legislation, said Mr. Henry, that the province had borne more than half the burden or 52.4 per cent. In 1925 the total expenditure on the various road systems amounted to $16,599,291. Last year, unfavorable weather restricted the building programme and $15,564,756 was spent.

UNEMPLOYED MAN DROWNS HIMSELF

Young French Canadian Leaps Into Ice-Filled Canal at Welland.

PORT COLBORNE, Ont., March 5.—Allain Youenn, 26 year old French Canadian, committed suicide by hurling himself into the ice-filled waters of the Welland Canal here last night.

With half a dozen people in the immediate vicinity, Youenn calmly took off his coat and hat, laid them on a railing near the Secord Street bridge, and jumped 20 feet to disappear immediately beneath the ice. Friends identified the hat and coat as belonging to Youenn.

Despondency over unemployment was the only motive that police could learn to justify the young man's act. He had only one relative, a cousin, in Port Colborne.

Grapplers will attempt to locate the body to-day, the ice conditions making any attempt last night impossible.

Optimism Felt That Upper House Will Now Make It Law.

SLIGHT CHANGES.

Suggestion Made For Co-operation With United Kingdom Regarding Immigrants.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 5.—The old age pensions bill, after trials and tribulations, passed through the committee stage at 4.30 yesterday afternoon with some slight amendments. It was at once reported to the House and passed second reading. After a brief dispute it passed its third reading, and is now on the way to the Senate.

The bill was killed by the Senate last year in practically the same form as it passed the House yesterday. There is optimism in the House, however, that the Upper House will not repeat its action of last year, but will permit it to pass and become law.

"The phraseology," said Mr. Cannon, "could be improved. I move that the clause be changed to read, "who being a widow was a British subject before her marriage."

The amendment carried.

Woodsworth of Centre Winnipeg (Labor) suggested that in view of the large number of British immigrants coming to Canada a clause might be inserted providing that there might be co-operation with the United Kingdom in the matter of pensions. This, he said, might not cost the Canadian Government a cent.

Hon. Messrs. Heenan and Cannon replied that the bill as it stood, providing as it did for provincial co-operation, involved sufficient complications without the incorporation of the amendment suggested.

Property Exemption.

The committee then took up the next clause which provides that those owning property shall be subject to a reduction. Leon Ladner, of South Vancouver, suggested that there be an exemption of $2,000 on the holding of property.

"Supposing," said Mr. Ladner, "a man dies and leaves his wife a property. Does the Pensions Board take away that small advantage? She may be an invalid. This in my estimation is an important section. In my idea, the interpretation of this clause, is that if a man dies and leaves a home to his widow, the home should not be taken into account."

In the opinion of Mr. Cannon the Government should be able to recover, from property left, monies given out in pensions before a man's death.

"This legislation," he said, "is relief legislation. We are dealing with people in a spirit of humanity. We say that while a man is alive, we will not consider his ownership of a house, but, where it comes to the heirs, we say, we shall be able to reimburse ourselves."

No Confiscation.

Neill of Comox Alberni (Independent) pointed out that during the last election it had been represented that if an old couple had a home, that home might be appropriated by the Government.

"Nothing of the sort," the Minister said. "It will only decrease the amount of the pension to be received. The house will not be taken away. But the amount of the maintenance of a pensioner must be considered."

Great latitude would, however, said the Minister, be given to the board and also to the Governor-in-Council on the matter of making regulation.

"There are," said Mr. Cannon, "undoubtedly certain difficulties, but these can be met as they arise."

Report Hayakawa Shot Is Found Groundless

NEW YORK, March 5 (United Press).—Sensational reports from the Riviera appeared in the European press today saying that Sessue Hayakawa, Japanese moving picture actor, had been found shot to death at Monte Carlo several days ago.

While London and Paris newspaper readers were learning of the actor's supposed death, the Keith-Albee vaudeville circuit office here informed the United Press that Hayakawa was in this country and that he had just finished an engagement at Youngstown, Ohio.

The story from the Riviera said Hayakawa's body had been found with bullet wounds in the head and body and that it had been buried quietly in a Monte Carlo cemetery.

DEMAND THAT TROOPS RETIRE WITHIN BORDER

P.otesting Stationing of British Forces Outside International Settlement Boundary.

STRENGTHEN FRONT.

Rumors Also Current That Soochow Is Occupied By Cantonese.

SHANGHAI, Macch 5 (Canadian Press).—While the military situation in the civil war continued to centre around the Shantungese forces of Marshal Chang Tsung Chang, who is now the chief defender of Shanghai against the invading Cantonese, a strong protest was made to the senior foreign consul against the stationing of British troops outside the boundary of the international settlement. The protest was made by the Chinese Commissioner for Foreign Affairs in Shanghai, who asked immediate withdrawal of the troops.

Foreign observers, however, look upon the protest as a matter of form prompted by the Commissioner's desire to take a stand in accotdance with Chinese Nationalism and to keep in with the Cantonese.

Meanwhile the Shantungese reinforcements continued to pour toward the Sunkiang front. Large numbers of Shantung troops arrived in the Shanghai area, some by train and others by sea from Tsingtao. All of these troops are being rushed to the south as quickly as possible to replace the demoralized forces of Sun Chuan Fang, no longer a power in Shanghai.

Alarming reports came from the Province of Anhwei, whose governor, Chen Ting Yueh, was reported to have declared his province independent and to have joined the Cantonese in a plan to cut the Tientsin-Fukow Railway, isolating the main Chihli-Shantung army from its bases. Thus far this rumor has not been substantiated.

If the railway line should be cut, it would be a most serious blow to the northern alliance and would mean a possible breakdown of the whole of Chang's plans to keep the Cantonese out of Shanghai. It would make it impossible for him to bring reinforcements across the Yangtse from the north.

Rumors also were current that Soochow, 50 miles west of Shanghai, had been occupied by the Cantonese but the most reliable reports here were that Chang was continuing to strengthen his garrison there.

Sun's shattered regiments, no longer the defenders of Shanghai, are leaving the city in large batches. Their appearance is poor and they appear fit for most anything but fighting. The Shantung authorities are diverting them from Shanghai towards Woosung, prior to sending them to Northern Kiangsu. Many detachments are breaking up and scattering in a disorganized rabble.

Jibes In Lower House Arouse Wrath Of Peers But Some Lords Place Blame On the Upper House

LONDON, arch 5.—The old question, "Why is the House of Lords?" was debated by that august body when a notable number of Peers protested against the imposed impotence of their position. Especial umbrage was taken at a statement recently made in the Commons, that the House of Lords was "a museum of antiquities and a collection of senilities."

Lord Burnham led the rebellion against the lower house's treatment of the upper house, stating that the elected representatives had unfortunately falled into the bad habit of dragooning the Lords, and expressed the suspicion that the Commons really regarded the upper house as a joke. He proposed re-establishment of the old system of standing committees, to which all bills must be referred, a system which was dropped in 1910.

Lord Carson agreed that it was high time the Lords asserted themselves. He said the Lords had ceased to be a factor in framing legislation and that that constituted a violation of the Constitution. However, he thought the Lords were somewhat to blame. There were 700 Peers and fifty or sixty seemed to be a good average attendance. Furthermore, he said, many Lords regarded legislative work as a bore.

"Nobody takes the work of this House seriously and it is looked upon as a terrible fatality if anything goes on after 7 o'clock," Lord Haldane agreed. The Peers, he said, should take a little more trouble with public business, and if the Lords lacked driving power, he thought it was largely their fault.

SAYS CONTRACT

roads, the Minister stated that there were indications that the sum of $3,533,744 obtained last year from the gasoline tax would be considerably larger this year, while he hoped that increased registration of automobiles would offset the $1,560,500 which would be lost to the province through the $5 reduction on automobile licences. Ontario, he pointed out, owned 46 per cent of all the cars in the Dominion, commercial or passenger.

Mr. Henry stated that the cities of Ontario had no cause for complaint when compared to many in the United States where, in addition to motor vehicle and gasoline taxes, there was a tax of approximately two and a half mills on the equalized assessment of the whole State. The assessment of Ontario was $2,759,851,641 on which a two and a half mill rate would produce $6,899,627 annually. If this system were adopted in Ontario, the main burden would fall on Toronto which would have to pay $2,188,000; Hamilton would contribute $376,000; Ottawa, $353,800; London, $178,000, and Windsor, $158,000.

Mr. Raney stated that he was in thorough sympathy with the principle as laid down by the Premier, and would give his support to the resolution.

Somewhat of a storm arose over the Toronto Consumers' Gas Company's Bill, which was introduced yesterday afternoon by A. R. Nesbitt (Conservative, Bracondale, Toronto). J. A. Pinard (Liberal, Ottawa East) said that the action of the Board of Control of Toronto in appropriating $2,000 for a lawyer to advance the bill in the legislature was close to "lobbying" and thought that some representative of the city should be asked to appear before the Bar of the House and explain the commission of the lawyer. The action of the Board of Control was an insult to the Members of the House, he said.

Mr. Nesbitt explained that it was a usual thing for a lawyer to appear before the Private Bills Committee of the Legislature to support legislation, and he saw no wrong in the action of the Board of Control.

Col. J. A. Currie (Conservative, St. Patrick's, Toronto) said that his name had been used in reports of the matter, and he wished to state that he did "not need any $2,000 lawyer to tell him how to vote" in the Private Bills Committee on any bill. His position had been misrepresented. He did not approve the "actions of the Toronto City Council or any other body of men who set themselves out to loot any public corporation in this country."

George Shields (Conservative, Woodbine, Toronto) was strongly opposed to "lobbying" for any party in the Legislature.

Premier Ferguson said he was not opposed to counsel advocating legislation before the Private Bills Committee. In all his experience on the Private Bills Committee he had never been approached improperly. Too much "sinister intent" had been given to the word.

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

YOU CAN'T BE SURE

You can't be sure. You plant the seed,
Attend with skill and care.
But sun may come when rain you need,
Or rain when skies are fair.
You can't be sure that every tree
Will bear the fruit you plan;
Though rich or great you long to be,
You can't be sure you can.

You can't be sure that every scheme,
Whatever field you till,
Will bring the profit that you dream,
Your eager purse to fill.
But, oh, you can be sure of this,
And isn't this the test?—
Whatever fortune you may miss,
At least you did your best!

THE LIFE OF CHRIST : The Childhood of Jesus

Synopsis Arranged by Dr. Wm. E. Gilroy, D.D., Sketches by Kroesen.

Herod, King of Judea, troubled about the story of the birth of a King of the Jews, inquired of the Wise Men, and sought to find the Babe of Bethlehem. Foiled in his quest, he slew all the children of Bethlehem under two years of age, thus hoping to kill the infant Jesus. (Matt. II)

But warned in a dream by an angel of the Lord, Joseph and Mary fled with the young child into Egypt. (Matt. II:13-15)

When Herod was dead, they returned to Nazareth, where Jesus grew up in the home of his parents. (Matt. II: 19-23)

Every year Joseph and Mary went to Jerusalem for the Feast of the Passover. When Jesus was twelve years old, his parents missed him as they returned home. Going back to seek him they found him sitting among the doctors in the temple asking and answering questions. (Luke II:41-49)

Progress of Insurance.

Mr. Smith's address last night was a comprehensive review of the astounding progress the world has made since 1900 in science, medicine, sanitation, locomotion, and in all the interests and avenues of life upon which men concentrated their genius and labor. And in this advancement insurance has walked abreast of the times, progressive, strong and finding new outlets for service.

Mr. Smith first mentioned the success recorded by all the Canadian insurance companies last year, new peaks for volume of business in force, business issued, growth in assets and surplus earned.

"We who are here to-night have seen, also, the close of the first quarter of the twentieth century. Let us pause for a moment to consider a few of the achievements and happenings of this most colorful period."

Automobiles, radio, airplanes, dirigibles, paved streets, insulin, submarines, these were only a few of the discoveries and developments that have rewarded men's endeavor in the last twenty-five years.

As for insurance, the new business issued in Canada in 1900 was 69 millions (dollars) and 737 millions in 1925; the business in force by all companies in Canada was 431 millions in 1900 and $4,150,000,000 in 1925; the total premium income was 15 millions in 1900 and 147 millions in 1925; the total amount paid to beneficiaries was 9 millions in 1900 and 73 millions in 1925.

"In general the figures for 1925 are ten times those for 1900, but the main point is that the increase year by year during the last few years is more than the total figures for 1900."

Casting into the future, Mr. Smith asked if there was any ill or contingency in life insurance did not cover.

"In 1900 the insurance in force in Canada was about $80 per capita, in 1925 it was $400 per capita. Who will be rash enough to predict that the growth of the last 25 years will not be duplicated in the next 25 years, so that by 1950 the amount of insurance in force per capita of our population will be $2,000."

Mr. Devlin's subject was "How do you visualize your job?" and his theme was idealism in insurance selling and service. The structure of insurance had been erected on a solid foundation, he said, and great care should be exercised in carrying the edifice higher. The people of Canada had come to look with favor on insurance, for the public knows that no policyholder ever lost a dollar through any policy with a company doing business in Canada.

Mr. Devlin said it was pitiable that men of 60 and 65 who had toiled and earned too often had not saved even one or two thousand dollars. They may have squandered the money or their investments may have been unsound. And the realization of that fact should be an incentive to insurance men to carry their message of thrift and protection to the people growing up to-day.

The Life Underwriters conveyed their thanks to Mr. Devlin and Mr. Smith in a resolution moved by Mr. Wallace and Mr. Matthews. Mr. Bolton replied. The chairman was Mr. Neil Tobin.

Insurance For Women.

Harold G. Davison of Orillia outlined reasons why women should buy insurance in an address yesterday afternoon. "All will agree that the loss of the mother, under any circumstances, is the greatest that can come to young children; father's lack of means to properly care for them, it is a tragedy any mother would do her utmost to prevent."

Mr. Davison urged the necessity of insurance for the business girl. "It is a compulsory savings, it creates immediately an estate of the face amount of the policy, it takes care of her in the event of disability and it provides for a dependent in event of her death."

Agents of Health.

Dr. A. W. McPherson stressed the importance of insurance men knowing something of the causes of illness and death. They should study the subject so as to be able to convince people of some of the means to health and warn them against dangers laymen should understand. People desired to live, not to die, and it was in the interests of insurance companies and the policyholders that the mortality rate should be kept low.

Health insurance was Dr. McPherson's message, and he advised insurance men to make a serious effort to learn something of the ways people might avoid illness.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE HAS GOOD MEETING

Programme of Warkworth Branch Suitable For St. Patrick's Day.

WARKWORTH, March 5. — About forty members of the Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. John Handen on Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Dave Massey, first vice-president, occupied the chair.

Letters from Misses Bessie Carr and Beatrice Merrill and J. A. Sykes were read. These expressed thanks and appreciation for the First Aid kits that had been presented to the girls by the Institute.

Jean Walker then reported that a play had been chosen and that the characters would be chosen as soon as possible.

The sick committee, Mrs. James McCracken, Mrs. Ad. Morrow, and Mrs. Frank Bowen reported that they had called on twelve.

On motion of Mrs. Harry Kelly and Mrs. W. J. Harper a prize will be donated to the school fair. This was discussed and it was moved by Mrs. W. J. Harper seconded by Mrs. William Duncan, that a committee, Mrs. Harry Kelly, Mrs. Will Potter, Mrs. Frank Bowen, and Mrs. William Shaw, arrange where money should be placed for the school fair, the amount not to exceed six dollars.

It was then brought up that a family in this district needed help. On motion of Mrs. William Shaw and Mrs. Harry Kelly a committee wil investigate the family's condition to find out what was needed most.

Mrs. Lorne Evans advised the Institute about books which could be purchased at a greatly reduced price if they cared to donate any to the library.

Mrs. Albert Parks, who is leader of one of the girls' sewing classes, stated that the sewing would be ready for judging about the second week in April.

This finished the business part of the meeting. Roll call, which was answered by a funny story, caused much excitement and laughter.

Mrs. Harry Allen and Miss Jean Walker had charge of the rest of the programme.

Reading—"St. Patrick," by Jean Walker.

Contest—Guessing the number of potatoes in a basket then giving as many ways as possible how potatoes could be used. Mrs. Lorne Evans was winner and received a box of dinner mints made from a recipe in which potatoes were used.

Solo—"When I Dream of Old Erin," by Mrs. Frank Bowen.

Reading—"Is Neighbourliness Dying?" by Mrs. William Barringer. This paper showed careful preparation and many points were given to show that neighbourliness was not dying even though carried out differently in these modern time than a few years ago.

A contest was then conducted by Miss Jean Walker. The winners were Mrs. Frank Bowen and Mrs. J. A. Sykes.

The W.M.S. of St. Paul's Church met in the basement of the church on Tuesday afternoon. A good programme was given, but the main feature was the election of officers. After much discussion and balloting the officers were re-elected:

President—Mrs. W. J. Harper.
First Vice.—Mrs. John Dick.
Second Vice—Mrs. W. W. Jones.
Secretary—Mrs. W. H. Barringer.
Coresponding Secretary—Mrs. T. G. Smith.
Treasurer—Mrs. George Bowen.
President of Christian Stewardship—Mrs. A. M. Smale.

Sparrows Give Banquet Though Squirrel Objects

The old crabapple tree on the lawn of Mr. George Morrow, Weller street, was this morning the scene of a very successful "at home." The sparrows, who are always with us, were at home to a large company of vari-colored grosbeaks, a few wax wings and a squirrel.

Quite a lot of last year's crop of apples still adhere to this ancient tree, and on these the guests feasted with great gusto. In the warm sunshine the birds preened their feathers and twittered their satisfaction. The squirrel thought them all a silly lot, chased all that came near him, and scolded as only a squirrel can. But the sparrows told their other guests it was all applesauce and asked them not to heed him.

BROKEN VESSEL BROUGHT TO PORT

Tells Story of Battle With Heavy Seas on Atlantic.

ORLEANS, Mass., March 5. Canadian Press. — A broken schooner spewing bundled laths and a long beach strewn with wreckage, told last night of another battle with the sea, in which five men lost their lives and two were saved by the ever vigilant coast guards. The wave swept vessel with spars dragging in the churning water and only the stump of the foremast standing, was the Montclair of Parrisboro, N.S., Halifax for New York.

The two men taken through the surf on a breeches buoy just before the ship split in two, were Nathan Bagg of Cappahayden, Nfld., and Garland Short of Bonavista, Nfld. Bagg was the second to s.. a and barely made it. Last night both were recovering from the expos

Those lost were Captain William McLeod Parrisboro; Mate William Dowling of Cabarose, Cape Breton; Cook Jerome Rutlard, of Alma, N.B. and Seamen Willia: Stuart, of Burgeo, Nfld., and George Cains, of that colony. Three of these; fighting overwhelming odds, clung desperately for two hours to the wreckage, within sight but beyond reach of the watchers on the shore.

The captain's body was picked up late yesterday near the scen of the wreck.

Driven by a sixty mile gale from the northeast, the schooner struck early yesterday morning on the outer bar. The rising tide lifted her and the high rollers carried her to the inner bar, a quarter mile from the shore. It was cold and terrible weather to the seven water soaked men of the crew. It was a warm sunny day on shore.

The Montclair had struck near the inactive Orleans coast guard stati The crews of the Old Harbor and Nauset stations dragged their beach guns down to the scene and shot two lines across. Only one man can ride in the ducking breeches at a time. Short came first and then Bagg.

Then a giant comber lifted the Montclair and smashed her down on the bar and her masts tumbled by the board. She split and her cargo of laths floated from the gaping hole. The remaining five men were swept away. Two died almost at once. The other three, clinging to the floating wood, were carried for two hours along the coast, gradually drifting out, while the helpless coast guard patrolled the beach.

One by one they dropped from sight. False hopes arose again and again, for in the churning sea a bobbing object often resembled the head of a man. By mid-afternoon however it was conceded that the men could not have survived the exposure even if they still floated.

HORTICULTURISTS ASK MORE MONEY

Increase in Provincial Grant Is Requested By Deputation.

TORONTO, March 5.—A deputation from the Ontario Horticultural Society will wait upon Hon. John S. Martin soon to ask an increase in the Provincial grant to horticultural societies, which is $20,000.

In the Legislature's standing committee on agriculture yesterday, when this work was discussed, T. J. Mahony suggested that the societies might double their membership fee, instead of asking more from the province. J. Lockie Wilson, director of the agricultural horticultural societies branch, explained that it was desired to get into the societies the people who could not afford to pay more.

Mr. Wilson discussed the work of fall fairs, the seed train, Ontario Vegetable Growers' and Ontario Plowmen's Association.

Electrification of the Central Railway of Brazil is to be started before the first of the year.

COMMONS BACK RUSSIAN POLICY

Chamberlain Supported in Negotiations Threateing Severance of Diplomatic Relations.

LARGE MAJORITY.

LONDON, Mar. 5 (United Press). — Premier Baldwin and Foreign Minister Chamberlain had the support of the House of Commons in their negotiations with Soviet Russia, which threatens to develop into severance of diplomatic relations.

The Commons by a vote of 371 to 146, expressed confidence in the Government's Russian policy.

Great Britain recently sent to Moscow a note protesting against alleged anti-British propaganda, particularly in China, and asserting a diplomatic breach was inevitable unless the Soviet Government ceased such activities.

HAVELOCK NEWS.

HAVELOCK, March 4.—The Eastern Star Order held a very successful progressive Euchre and Five Hundred party in the Orange Hall on Monday evening when the proceeds amounted to about fifty dollars. Prizes for the euchre were won by Mrs. O'Hara of Campbellford and Mr. Frank McKay, with consolation awards to Miss Ina Morrison and Mr. Covert of Campbellford. The prizes for five hundred were awarded to Mrs. Robert Jones and Mr. James Hooper, the consolation prizes going to Miss Grace Quackenbush and Mr. Leslie Chiles.

MUSINGS AT A MANSE WINDOW

THOSE who lend books to their friends are among the best benefactors of mankind. But those who are the recipients of such favors have a responsibility resting upon them which they don't always seem to realize. Many of them are good at book-keeping who never were taught it at school or college. I have a friend who borrowed a book from me several years ago which I have not yet been able to get back. I have written more than once—in a nice way of course—about the book, and he just as nicely replies and says that he will send it along immediately. The last time he said this was more than a year ago, and it has not arrived yet. I haven't the slightest doubt but what it is still in his study, gathering dust with some of his own books. If it had been an ordinary book, I should have told him ere this, in language as plain as it would have been polite, that rather than have him steal the book I would bestow it upon him. But this particular book is one of a set given by the late Mrs. C. H. Spurgeon, when I went to my first church. He does not mean to keep it; of that I am sure. But up till the present he has kept it just as surely as if he had meant to do so. Will any of my other friends tell me wherein lies the difference, so far as I am concerned? Perhaps the only way I will get this particular book will be by breaking into his house when he is away on his vacation. What he deserves, and all afflicted with the same weakness, is to have every book put out of reach for three months and be compelled to read the Ten Commandments with the emphasis placed upon "Thou shalt not steal."

An Old Fashioned Methodist.

A friend of mine, a layman who is a lover of books, loaned me "Stars of Retrospect," by Dinsdale T. Young, one of the great preachers of British Methodism. It has been a treat to run through its two hundred and forty-two pages. I have gleaned much that is stimulating, a little of which I feel like passing on to all who are interested in the Musings at a Manse Window.

In speaking of what he owes himself to the opportunities he had as a youth in the capacity of a lay preacher he goes on to say.

"In lay preaching I have an increasingly strong belief. I have no sympathy with any clerical ideas which would debar laymen from occupancy of a pulpit. The man who has tested the Faith in the commerce of the busy week should surely be a welcome witness to the faith in any pulpit."

"My denomination has always been delightful to me because of the large place it has assigned to formal Christian testimony. I believe preaching and testimony to be the two great forces of Christian aggression. There is a peculiar power in testimony. It reveals the many coloured wisdom of God' with wonderful impressiveness. Nothing helps me more today in my personal Christian life than to hear one say, 'Come and hear, all ye that fear God, and I will declare what He hath done for my soul.'

Overdone and Underdone.

Of course it is only too true that there were times when 'the testimony meeting' was overdone. It was overdone when the works of some who testified contradicted their words. Nobody should talk any louder than they live, especially when it is a matter of religion. Very unfortunate is it when what a person is talks so loudly that others can't hear what he says. This is what we mean by testimony being overdone.

On the other hand, the tendency in most quarters at present is to have it underdone. By this I mean that the testimony meeting is largely a thing of the past. And this I feel, is a matter for real regret. I believe the church is all the poorer for it. Whether church people have any real experience or not we cannot tell because we never get a chance to hear. There is no opportunity for people to express themselves in most churches today. It is a great help to a minister when he can hear his people talking about their religious experiences. With all its dangers,—like Dinsdale T. Young—I believe in a testimony meeting, whatever my more advanced (?) brethren may think or say!

A Methodist On Visiting.

"In the earlier years of my ministry I was diligent in pastoral visitation, though—like many other ministers—I often failed to receive credit for it by those who could have borne witness to it had they so willed. In the high value of pastoral visitation I confidently believe. But it must be pastoral visitation. It must have no meaner mission in view than the spiritual benefit of the people visited.

Of one thing in this connection I am bold to speak. I think the value of pastoral visitation as a contribution to filling a church is greatly exaggerated. It may have been true in Scotland in Dr. Chalmers' day that, as he said, "A house-going minister makes a church-going people," but it is certainly not generally true in England today. And I could sufficiently demonstrate that dogma.

This eminent preacher says that he is far from claiming that this is an argument against pastoral visitation. No! Assuredly no! Pastoral visitation rests on far higher and more sacred ground. It is a sovereign reinforcement of a minister's preaching. It makes his people listen to him with sympathetic ears. Not all of them, but most of them! As a substitute for effective preaching it is hopeless; as a confirmation of effective preaching it is invaluable.

A Professor on Visiting.

The late Professor Blaikie of New College, Edinburgh, used to say to his students in speaking of a minister's duties, his a liking for society; it is pleasant likes and dislikes: "Some have for them to be with their fellows, conversation is their element, they like to move about among their people and owing to this inclination they are led to devote to this branch of duty a disproportionate amount of time, and to leave too little for pulpit preparation. To others, again, owing to difference of temperament, it is difficult and irksome to pay visits; conversation with uncongenial minds is a toil that oppresses them; the communication of thought and feeling by that channel is always consciously feeble, if not consciously a failure; it suits them better to address large numbers of persons; for that they can summon up and concentrate their powers of thought and feeling; consequently their temptation is to neglect the duties of the pastorate, and confine themselves to those of the pulpit."

Speaking For Myself.

My difficulty is to get the time that is necessary for house-to-house visitation. The days are too short and the weeks pass too quickly to do all that should be done in this direction and at the same time make the necessary preparation for Sunday's preaching. The sick, and those who are shut-in, have the first claim upon my time and strength. It is a joy to visit such. Some such visits take 'virtue' out of one who is not merely a machine; but others give more than they get. The folks who are well ought to be glad that they are able to attend church where they can see and hear the minister, and be willing to let him devote his days to the sick, and his nights to preparation for preaching, believing that whenever he is able he will be sure to call upon them in their homes.

Can It Be Done?

PERHAPS some one will discover how to season, sterilize, predigest the heavenly manna, modify the spiritual milk, administer absent treatment for the disease of sin, hypnotize evil out of a man, extract iniquity painlessly, remove wickedness with all the neatness (if not the dispatch) with which a good surgeon cuts out your appendix, widen the narrow gate a trifle, and macadamize the straight and narrow way. What is there this sprightly, up-to-date age cannot achieve?

Many Cargoes.

FREIGHTERS which do business in many waters and visit many ports, always intend to pick up a load to carry back so that they will not return empty to their own ports, and at the same time have a more profitable trip. Recently a Chinese vessel having brought cargo to America returned to her own port carrying twenty-five tons of Bibles as part of her freight. Who can measure the value of such a cargo if it is to be determined by its influence upon the hearts and consciences of men?

What Is Religion?

MANY have tried to define religion, says the Rev. Benjamin F. Farber, minister of the Fourth Presbyterian Church, New York. And yet we are still discussing its meaning. Religion is not just one thing, but the spirit that directs everything. Religion is not something abstract, it is life itself—'the life or God in the soul of a man.' Religion sets life free and inspires it with the eternal values of all the words and acts of your daily lives. Religion makes every task sacred and every contact holy. What do you know about it in your own experience? It is not enough to hold certain views—even orthodox views—regarding religion; you must be held by the views you hold!

A Priest and An Inventor.

IT is refreshing to get a Roman Catholic priest speak out as the Rev. P. H. Casey, pastor of St. Francis Xavier's Roman Catholic Church, New York, has spoken when he said: "Asked if he believed in eternal life, Mr. Edison said that indefinite life was possible. He said that there are sequoia trees still flourishing that have lived four thousand years. There is reason for this pertinacity of life in that particular environment because the environment is favorable. And then Mr. Edison says that if the soul when it passes out of the body finds itself in a perfect environment, there is no reason why it cannot continue to live indefinitely. That is exactly what happens. The soul after it has suffered proper penalties, finds itself in the perfect environment of heaven. But I want to ask the question:

Why do many of you go to scientists to ask about the immortality of the soul? If you are dealing in real estate you do not go to a physician, or if you are sick you do not go to a lawyer. But you go to one who knows. Then, when asking about the hope of future life, why not go to the one who came from above? Time after time Jesus has said in his parables that the soul will live."

An English Rural Dean.

PLAYING the part of special lecturer at Berkely Divinity School, Middletown, Conn., Rev. Cecil S. Carpenter, rural dean of Bolton, England, is doing considerable preaching throughout the United States. Mr. Carpenter was specially chosen by Bishop Temple of Manchester for the responsible position which he so ably fills. This position was formerly held by Rev. G. A. Studdert-Kennedy, chaplain to King George, and the famous Rev. Tom Pym.

A Pen Picture

THIS SCENE is laid in a great, though not very ancient city. Someone has arirved there, whose coming has been welcomed and expected. The news of his approach having gone before him, friends pass out of the southern gates and down the wide road up which he must proceed—friends, yet foreigners, for with but few exceptions those who meet him are not natives of the city in which he is about to reside. See! the light is flashing upon spears and helmets! That is his bodyguard—you can hear the steady tramp of soldiers' feet if you listen. Is he a king? No. A conqueror? Yes, of a certain kind.

We are now in a house in that city. It is the residence of the man who arirved the other day. A good many wealthy merchants and business men are present, and they have been here a long time, too, for you observed that some speak of having been in this room all day. It is evening now; what business can they be transacting? One man is speaking. It is the host. How eloquent he is! how fervid! how powerful in his reasoning! yet he does not rely on his own powers, but refers continually to documents, whose authority appears to be recognised by all. At length he stops, and looks around for a response. There is a hum of voices—an outburst of discussion. What a variety of expressions in those face around us. Some hard and unfeeling, some curious and interested, some cynical, some with glistening eyes seem like men who have found a treasure. Once more the former's voice is heard and other sounds are hushed. Solemnly, like a man vested with great authority, he utters one sentence and breaks up the assembly.

This is ninth in a series of pen-pictures of Bible History by a preacher whose name will be withheld for the present. The key will be supplied next week when another in the series shall appear.

Easy and Foolish

IF ONE should drift out to sea of an evening in an open boat, it is quite possible that when the morning came he would not know where he was. But if he turned his face toward the sunrising he would know where the east is, and that would enable him to find the other cardinal points of the compass. There are a great many people who in matters of religious inquiry are in this condition. They are drifting, and in regard to subjects that bear directly on the great problems of being, duty and destiny are "all at sea." What they need is a fresh orientation, but they often err in seeking it. The easy way of following the fashion commends itself to a great many. Time was when men wore dress clothes on the street in the forenoon. But no one does that nowadays, and that nobody does it is a good reason why anybody should not do it; for it is seldom that a man has the courage to make himself a glaring oddity. So William James finds it easy to dismiss a certain form of theistic belief by saying that nobody believes in that sort of a God. But this is a frivolous way of dealing with a serious question.

—Francis L. Patton.

You will find it less easy to uproot faults than to choke them by gaining virtues. Do not think of your faults, still less of others' faults. In every person who comes near you look for what is good and strong; honor that; rejoice in it; and as you can, try to imitate it; and your faults will drop off like dead leaves, when their time comes.

—Ruskin.

TELL US A STORY

A STORY is told of a repulsive looking old woman who, after a life of unbelief, had been converted and then became the subject of persecution at the hands of her godless neighbors. In every way they sought to anger or otherwise disturb the spirit of patience and loving kindness that possessed her. Finally an old persecutor, having exhausted all her resources in the attempt, venomously exclaimed, "I think you are the ugliest old woman I ever saw." To which the old woman, her face beaming with light that made her beautiful, replied in tears, "Wasn't it wonderful that Christ could have loved an ugly old woman like me"

Our power over others lies not so much in the amount of thought within us as in the power of bringing it out. —W. E. Channing.

What Think Ye of Christ?

EVERY knee must bow to him. The whole creation must be in subjection to him, things in heaven and things in earth and things under the earth; the living and the dead. At the name of Jesus all must pay solemn homage. And every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord. Every nation and language shall publicly own the universal empire of the exalted Redeemer.

GOD'S ACRES.

Dr. T. E. Kaiser, of Oshawa, in his address on "God's Acres," before the local Kiwanis Club yesterday, touched upon a matter that should be a subject of humiliation to Peterborough citizens when he referred to the condition of the old Hilliard Street Cemetery.

In this neglected spot sleep pioneer residents of this district whose names should be honoured and whose last resting place should be placed in an orderly condition.

These men and women who helped bear the burden of the early days of Peterborough's development ought to be held in grateful memory by the community, which owes them so much; they most certainly deserve a better tribute than is represented by the present deplorable condition of the cemetery in which loving hands laid them to rest many years ago.

THE STREET RAILWAY SITUATION.

The demand voiced by F. G. Sandy, Progressive member of the Legislature for South Victoria, that the Ontario Government should sell or "give away" the Peterborough street railway and other utilities that are being operated at a loss, represents the feeling of the majority of municipalities served by the Hydro-electric Commission in Central Ontario.

A net loss of $77,119 a year is reported from these utilities, the local street railway being charged with an operating deficit of $33,883.20 and interest at $16,490.67, a total loss of $50,323.87, according to the figures given out by Premier Ferguson the other day.

Negotiations between the local Council and the Hydro Commission, just in the preliminary stage, reveal the fact that there is no intention on the part of the Government following Mr. Sandy's advice about "giving away" the street railway.

The price put upon the gas plant and street railway is $570,000, about $100,000 of which is asked for the railway.

The Council is not in a position to make an offer on its own account, for it has as yet been unable to secure the information it desires from the Hydro officials.

And there for the present the matter rests.

INTERESTING STATISTICS.

Figures just made public by the Citizens' Research Institute as to the revenue and expenditure of Provincial Governments in Canada should be of general interest.

Ontario, it is seen, ranks fifth in the Provincial list so far as per capita revenues are concerned, British Columbia topping the list with $38.86 per capita. Alberta second with $18.76, Saskatchewan third with $15.27, and Manitoba fourth with $14.57.

Ontario's per capita revenue was $12.14, made up of $1.11 from the Dominion Government, $1.97 from succession duties, $1.78 from corporations and companies, .50 from amusements, $1.92 from automobile taxes, .67 from the gasoline tax and .13 from the luxury tax, $1.13 from fees, fines and licenses, $1.44 from lands, forests and mines, and $1.49 from miscellaneous sources.

On the other hand, Ontario is also fifth in the list in the matter of Provincial expenditure per capita, spending $13.80 for every man, woman and child in Ontario during 1925.

The various items in this per capita total are $2.49 in debt charges, $3.63 for education, $1.71 for legislation and general government, .97 for the administration of justice, .59 for agriculture, $2.83 for public welfare institutions, and $1.58 for highways, bridges, etc.

AN EXCELLENT LIST.

The list of candidates for the directorate of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce as given out by the Nominating Committee offers as striking an endorsation of the calibre of the citizens who have allied themselves with the Chamber as could be found.

Sixteen directors are to be chosen from the following candidates:

Lieut.-Col. C. H. Ackerman, insurance broker and investments.

J. E. Adams, wholesale flour and salt.

J. W. Anderson, agent, C. P. Railway.

Thomas Barrie, secretary-treasurer, Barrie's, Limited.

H. L. Beal, manager, Gas Department, Hydro Electric Commission.

A. Brown, proprietor, A. Brown & Sons.

Thomas O. Donaldson, managing director, G. Walter Green Company, Limited.

James Dutton, secretary-treasurer, Stock's Bread, Limited.

J. D. Fletcher, manager, Capitol Theatre.

J. Wells Fraser, manager, Bank of Nova Scotia.

George A. Gillespie, president, Peterborough Milk Products, Limited.

Chris. G. Graham, manager, Empress Hotel.

T. H. Graham, retired farmer.

J. J. Turner, president, J. J. Turner & Sons, Limited.

J. F. H. Wallace, district manager, Sun Life Assurance Co. of Canada.

W. R. Widdiss, district manager, Canada Life Assurance Co.

The annual election of officers takes place on Tuesday night, and from the splendid field of candidates the members cannot fail to select a capable and efficient Board of Directors.

The quality of the material available for the board indicates that the Chamber of Commerce has succeeded in interesting many of the leading citizens of Peterborough in its activities, and that new members will find themselves in splendid company.

WHO WON THE WAR?

Rear Admiral William S. Sims, who commanded the United States navy during the time of its participation in the Great War in 'World's Work' makes a savage attack on Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the Navy in the same period. Admiral Sims declares Mr. Daniels so mishandled the American navy that the war was nearly lost to the Allies; he opposed the convoy system and delayed the despatch of vessels to combat submarines in European waters. Furthermore, writes the Admiral, the war was not won by the "brilliant efforts of amateur strategists," but rather in spite of them.

"Mr. Daniels' handling of the navy during the first very critical months after our declaration of war," writes Admiral Sims, "was so ignorantly contrary to the established principles of warfare as to result in great losses of time, property and life; and his record shows him to be utterly untrustworthy as an historian." Then he continues:

"The gist of Mr. Daniels' whole recent article is, briefly, that the United States Government alone had the vision to see clearly how the war could be won, that it insistently impressed its ideas upon the Allies, who slowly and reluctantly adopted them; that it advocated the energy and boldness that the Allies lacked; that it advocated and procured the adoption of the convoy system; that from the date of its entry into the war its military operations were prosecuted with the energy and boldness it had always advocated. Not one of these claims is true."

Admiral Sims refers also to a speech, made in 1917, in which he quotes President Wilson as saying he was willing to sacrifice half the navy of Great Britain and the United States to crush the submarine nest. "This is master strategy with a vengeance," comments the Admiral. "If the 'crushing' had succeeded at the cost of half the fleets, that would have left the German fleet in command of the sea and insured the defeat of the Allies."

Admiral Sims thus is frank enough to admit that without the command of the seas which the British navy maintained throughout the struggle the war could not have been won.—Ottawa Journal.

THE MODERN GIVER.

That oft-heard expression, "The business of giving," assumes a new significance in this age of wonders. With millions being given away annually in this country through charitable bequests, educational endowments, civic gifts, welfare campaigns and church projects, the business of giving has grown to gigantic proportions.

Henry Ford is reputed to employ five secretaries in reading and disposing of requests for financial aid received by him. When Mr. Schepp, the cocoanut king, asked for suggestions how to spend his remaining millions he was showered with 100,000 answers, of which 99 per cent. were of a purely selfish nature. Wealthy benefactors have been known to spend as much as $50,000 to find a deserving beneficiary for $500,000. There are many companies in the business of raising funds for welfare and community purposes.

We are in the habit of saying that wealth has gone money-mad in our time, that riches are running amuck, that affluence has turned to wanton coin-scattering. But looking at this modern social phenomenon from its other side one can see a vast good being accomplished by this giving of five or ten or fifty millions for education, for universities and colleges, for exploration and scientific research, for hospitals, for charity, for medical experiment. This is the justification for concentration of wealth.

The good the modern millionaire does with his surplus millions cannot be over-estimated. Without attempt at self-laudation and self-glorification, he gives with benevolent and helpful intent. Neither in purpose nor in manner of giving can he be compared with the donors of the Roman forums, victory arches, or the Colosseum.—Oshawa Reformer.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

It would be hard to convince a lot of people in the Peterborough district that the Allan Cup series is more important than the Hastings County finals.

The debate in the Legislature gives members a chance to show the folks back home that they are "on the job," but even that does not justify so many words on so many different subjects.

Aunt Bella seems to have passed out of the press despatches. Soon somebody may be asking, "Whom did this fellow Young ever beat anyway?"

This district would be glad to see as much attention shown in the Trent Canal as is being paid to the Georgian Bay project.

CATTLE, GRAIN AND PRODUCE

Peterboro—Toronto—Montreal

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, March 5 — Market opened this week with a heavy run of cattle, resulting in carryovers all through the week of 500 to 600 cattle, enough to act as a considerable drag on the market. The carryover consisted of common and medium springs and milkers, rough unfinished steers and heifers, and generally the least desirable offerings. With the above exception, trade on the whole was of a fairly satisfactory character. There was a good proportion of choice quality cattle, well fed and finished. These commanded good prices about steady with the previous two weeks.

Export buyers took between 400 and 500 cattle direct off the market, the weeks total shipment to seaboard being over 600 cattle, consisting of heavy steers for Liverpool, and light steers and heifers for Manchester. Export requirements will be about the same for next week. Export prices ran from $7.50 to $7.90 for steers, and $7 to $7.50 for heifers from 900 to 1,000 lbs.

Springers and milkers — The choice springers are selling from $75 to $100; good, $55 to $70; choice fresh milkers, with calf at foot, selling from $70 to $85; good, $50 to $65; medium to common not wanted.

Stockers and feeders — Very few stocker steers available. Nothing of quality selling under $5.75 to $6.25. Western markets a shade stronger this week.

Sheep and lambs — A few of the best lambs were sold at 13 to 13¼c and some at 11 to 12c; the balance classed as yearlings, 8c to 9c; choice butchers' sheep, 6 to 7c; good, 5 to 5½c; heavy sheep and aged bucks 4c to 5c; cull sheep, 2 to 3c. Spring lambs are selling any place from $10 to $15, according to quality. Do not ship any but fat lambs weighing 45 lbs. and over, Toronto weight.

Calves — A shade easier feeling prevails this week, choice selling around 13c, with a few fancy 13¼c; good, 11 to 12c; medium calves, 6c to 10c, according to quality.

Receipts.

Union Stock Lards—Receipts this week: 6,100 cattle, 1,187 calves, 4,465 hogs, 1,207 sheep and lambs.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Que., March 5 (Canadian Press) — The export trade in Canadian grain on the Montreal market yesterday was again dull and featureless. The trade in cash grain on the domestic was moderate and prices were unchanged.

The tone of the market for spring wheat grades of flour was firmer under a better demand, but prices showed no change.

The market for winter wheat flour displayed weakness in spite of the strength in wheat at Winnipeg of late and sales of choice grades were made as low as $5.90 to $6.00 per barrel in second-hand jute bags, ex-track, which prices show a decline of fifteen to twenty cents per barrel, but it is doubtful if these prices will be accepted tomorrow.

The demand for all lines of millfeed continued good and the undertone was firm. The market for standard grades of rolled oats was steady with a moderate amount of business passing.

A feature of the local egg market was the stronger feeling that developed and prices scored an advance of one cent per dozen, which was attributed to the increased demand. The receipts were 814 cases.

There was no improvement in the potato trade and the undertone was easy. Car lots of Prince Edward Island Green Mountains were quoted at $1.50 to $1.60 per bag of ninety pounds; Quebec white stock at $1.00 per bag of ninety pounds, in bulk, ex-track, and New Brunswick Green Mountains at $1.00 to $1.05 per bag of eighty pounds, ex-store.

A stronger feeling developed in the butter market and prices were marked up 1-4 to 34c per pound for Eastern Townships regraded No. 1 pasteurized. This was attributed to the good demand and the small supplies available. New Zealand grades were unchanged. The receipts were 56 packages.

The cheese trade continued dull and prices were easier. The receipts were 625 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 5 (Canadian Press)—Notable strength developed here in wheat yesterday following sudden departure of the Mexican envoy at Washington and unexpected upturns in quotations at Liverpool. Improved export demand for North American wheat counted as an additional bullish factor. The close for wheat was unsettled, 5-8 to 1 1-2c net higher, with corn a shade to 1-4c up; oats at 1-4 to 1-2c gain, and provisions varying from 17c decline to a rise of two cents.

With country offerings generally above buyers' views, the corn market averaged higher, responsive to the action of wheat. Oats reflected persistent commission house buying.

CHICAGO CATTLE

CHICAGO, March 5 (Canadian Press) — Hogs 28,000; early top $12.15; bulk desirable 140 to 200 pound averages $11.75 to $12.10; most 210 to 240 pound butchers $11.45 to $11.70; most 260 to 300 pound averages $11.35 to $11.40; heavier hogs $11.25 to $11.30; most packing sows $10.40 to $10.65; bulk pigs $11.50 to $12.00; best kinds upward to $12.10.

Cattle 2,000; best heavy steers $12.25; average weight 1,638 pounds few loads $11.00 to $11.50; stockers and feeders $7.50 to $8.50; highly bred yearlings up to $9.00; vealers $11.00 to $13.00.

Sheep 15,000; bulk wooled lambs $14.50 to $15.25; heavy lambs $14.25 to $15.75, mostly; extreme weights rejected from loads $13.50 to $14.00; fat ewes $8.50 to $9.25.

DR. FRANK CRANE'S DAILY EDITORIAL.

BROADCASTING THE SENATE

By Dr. Frank Crane.

The Finnish Diet (not a last course but a legislature) has installed broadcasting to enable the nation to listen in on the speeches of the legislators.

According to cables, it paid for itself the first night.

A rural orator arose to enlighten the world upon the momentous question of the future of ham.

As the speech ran on and on, one of his constituents a hundred miles away called up on the telephone and asked an official to tell the long-winded one that if he did not stop he would be defeated at the next election.

The speech stopped.

Which little incident recommends the idea for our own Senate and House of Representatives.

If speeches are broadcasted from the floor it may mean the appearance of a new sort of political orator.

Oratory of the political kind has practically disappeared in recent years. The newspapers and magazines reach the people as they did not do years ago. They, rather than speakers, influence voters of today.

Presidential campaigns are more and more "front porch" conferences rather than long stumping tours.

With the greater use of the radio the importance of ability in public speaking increases.

But it will be speaking of a different sort. The cultivation of a good voice will be still valuable but the gestures of Delsarte will be thrown in the well.

The radio orator will have to think more and practice in front of the mirror less. But he will have to be interesting as well as informative if he wants to compete with the jazz bands.

Outside of returning a premium on speaking ability, broadcasting the Senate will save all the tons of paper printed with "Congressional Record speeches" for home consumption.

And then again irate fans who can't get debates they want to hear may start a movement to transfer Washington to a more central location.

If the plan is adopted these four things may result. But the greatest of these would be turning off the spigot of speakers who don't know when to stop.

HOW DO YOU SAY IT?

(By C. N. Lurie.)

Common Errors in English and How To Avoid Them.

(By The McClure Syndicate, Inc.)

"SCREED"

The word "screed" is seldom used correctly, even by writers who generally exercise care in their selection o words. It does not mean, as they seem to believe, a long writing of any sort, or something that has been hastily scribbled.

It means "a long tirade on any subject, oral, written or printed," according to Webster. ("Tirade," the reader will recall, means "a long drawn speech or declamatory passage, especially one marked by intemperate and, usually, vituperative or harshly censorious language.")

"F.P.A.," writing in the New York World not long ago, said:

"'Screed' ought not, we admit, mean what it does mean. It should mean—and possibly that is why so many think it does—something that you read that has been scribbled."

FARM STOCK SOLD.

Good Prices Realized at Auction on Farm of Neil Powers.

DOWNEYVILLE, March 5. — A very successful auction sale was held on Wednesday on the farm of Mr. Neil Powers, just east of the village. Everything sold well. Horses brought from $120 to $160; young cattle, $40 each; cows, $60 to $80, and a brood sow, $75; hens went at 75c each; hay (wild grass), $10 per ton, and oats 80c per bush. Implements sold accordingly. Geo. and Ted Jackson of Port Perry were the auctioneers. Mr. Powers intends going West in the spring.

HOW TO USE CUCUMBERS

Many people who are trying to diet are afraid to use cucumbers. This is because they do not know that the cucumber is a good food if used properly and not spoiled by unwise seasoning.

If these delicious, succulent gourds are soaked in vinegar or mixed with onions, they appear to be harmful to one with a sensitive digestive apparatus. This is solely because of the destructive influence of the vinegar, or the gas-forming properties of the onion.

There is no sensible reason why cucumbers should be spoiled in this way. This is another instance of where a vicious reputation is gained from the association with bad companions.

The cucumber is a member of th e gourd family and has been used for food, dating as far back as ancient Egypt. It was brought to America by the earliest settlers and has since been cultivated extensively for use as a salad vegetable and for pickling.

The gherkin is a small variety of the cucumber, but these are only available in the form of pickles and thus spoiled for use by this preparation.

The cucumber contains only about 5% of nourishment, but this consists principally of the organic salts such as potash, lime, magnesia and iron, which are so needed in the daily diet to supply the system with the valuable minerals which are the building stones of the cell structure.

When cucumbers are used raw, the outer skin should be removed and the cucumber may then be cut into sections or sliced and served cold. No seasoning of any kind can be used without making them indigestible. Even salt should not be used, and never vinegar or lemon juice. Used in this wholesome manner, cucumbers can be used with any other kind of food without any distress caused by the formation of excessive gas.

If the cucumbers are wrapped in a wet cloth, they may be taken along as a good picnic salad vegetable and can then be peeled and cut into pieces just as lunch is served.

Few people know what a delicious cooked dish may be made by boiling or baking cucumbers. Simply slice and boil in a small amount of plain water and serve with a small piece of butter to each dish. A little cream may be added but no flour dressing.

Large cucumbers may be used by cutting them open and removing the seeds, stuffing with ground meat or nuts and baking for five or ten minutes. This will make an entirely new dish for you, which is at once palatable and nutritious.

Many other dishes may be originated by cooking the cut up cucumbers with other foods. In season when cucumbers are reasonable in price, you should remember to use this tasty succulent vegetable as much as possible for variety.

A Gift that Increases in Value

WHAT DID YOU GIVE LAST CHRISTMAS?

Toys for the kiddies—most of them broken by now. "Something useful" for the grown-ups—now worn out or forgotten. Cash to your employees—appreciated but soon spent. Other presents—hurriedly bought and perhaps ill-chosen. Are they remembered now?

Presentation Covers are provided for Christmas Gift Books.

Suppose this year you give them each a Bank Book containing an initial deposit, and urge them to add to it regularly. Could anything be more suitable?

Add "Royal Bank Pass Books" to your list of Christmas Gifts.

BELLEVILLE WANTS FIGURES ON LOCAL STREET RAILWAY

Chamber of Commerce Also Asks For Data on Power Costs There.

MAY BUY SYSTEM.

BELLEVILLE, Ont., March 5.—Statements of the profits and losses incurred by the operation and administration of the local Hydro-Electric power system at Belleville and for each of the municipalities comprised within the Central Ontario and Trent systems, financial statements in regard to the foreign enterprises such as the street railway in Peterboro and tabulation of the comparative rate of increase of power for each municipality and the wholesale rate for power chargeable since 1916 will be asked as a result of the open forum meeting of the Chamber of Commerce held at the Queen's Hotel, when the whole question of power and light costs was canvassed.

Interest was shown in the question of the purchase of the distribution at Belleville. A request was made of the City Council to request the Hydro to furnish such figures as are asked by the Chamber of Commerce.

RECORD ACHIEVEMENT.

A Standard Essex Super-Six Coach Covers a 14 Hours' Run in More Than a Mile a Minute.

An average of more than a mile a minute—61.7 miles an hour, to be exact—was achieved by a standard Essex Super-Six Coach in a continuous run of nearly 14 hours on a dirt race track at Tanforan, Cal., just outside of San Francisco, according to word received by Brewer Motor Sales, distributor in the Peterboro area.

This record run, said Mr. Brewer, was made by amateur drivers who are connected with the service department of Stanley W. Smith, the San Francisco distributor for Hudson and Essex cars. The record was made under the supervision of newspapermen. Shortly after the test began, rain fell heavily, loosening the surface of the dirt track so as to interfere seriously with fast time. Writing of the run, one of the newspapermen who acted as an official observer, said in part:

"Tanforan track was chosen to make the test of speed and stamina because it was the only available place in Northern California. The track was never designed for anything but horse racing, and in the few attempts that have been made in the past to put motor cars over it at high speed, four lives have been lost on the unbanked sharp turns. In addition to these handicaps, the track had lain in disuse for many months. It was overgrown with weeds, its surface rough and full of rain gullies.

"Added to these difficulties, lowering clouds began to spill rain on the course at the outset and continued at intervals throughout the darkness. With no special equipment except shock absorbers and a spreadlight, the Essex battled these adverse conditions, hour after hour. Its sturdy motor never missed a beat during the long hours of the night. Lap after lap, it tore down the backstretch at top speed, ripping into the vicious curves at the ends, straightening out as it slithered through the mud and pounded over the wretched roadbed.

"The super-performance of the motor was equalled by the courage shown by the men who drove—none of whom had ever driven a car on a race track before. Several professional drivers who were present refused to go on, declaring that no automobile built could keep up such a terrific pace in view of all the obstacles.

"Words can convey no adequate description of the punishment that the Essex car took in this long grind or the unfaltering courage of the men who kept on, hour after hour, in the face of obstacles which would daunt the most stout-hearted. Yet, at the finish, the motor was functioning so perfectly that the car was driven with four passengers, including, myself as official observer, to the top of Twin Peaks in high.

"After observing the run, checking every detail and examining the car, I believe that, had weather permitted, it could have gone on at this high speed almost indefinitely, even under all the other adverse conditions encountered.

"The record is surely proof positive of stamina, endurance, speed, reliability, roadability and power far greater than the most exacting person could expect in a motor car which sells for so little money. At Tanforan last Saturday and Sunday, if never before, the Essex earned its right to be called a 'Super-Six.'"

This run follows one recently made at the Culver City, Cal., race track, where, for 24 continuous hours, an Essex Super-Six Sedan averaged 53.8 miles an hour.

TRIBES OF RIFF KILL SPANIARDS

Open Rebellion Breaks Out With Massacre of Workmen.

LONDON, Mar. 5 (United Press)—Open rebellion against Spain has broken out again in the Riffin territory near Tangier, Morocco, despatches to London newspapers said to-day.

Groups of the Beni Aros and Beni Ider tribes massacred a large Spanish working party within two miles of Tetuan, the Westminster Gazette's correspondent said. The Daily News correspondent, apparently reporting the same incident, said Djebala tribesmen had ambushed several Spanish workmen within a mile of Tetuan.

RANGERS WILL BATTLE MAROONS

Will Provide Feature of the Week End in N. H. L.

MONTREAL, Quebec, March 5.—Canadian Press. — New York Rangers and the Montreal Maroons will provide the feature of the week-end pro hockey card when they meet tonight at the Forum in one of the five games scheduled over the circuit, bringing the entire ten clubs in the loop into action. Rangers are riding well in front of Boston in the United States section and the game does not mean life and death to Lester Patrick's Gotham players, but to the Maroons, who are wearing out the backs of their sweaetrs against the mythical wall the tilt has all the importance of a championship game.

Locked in a tight fight with the New York Americans for third place in the interrational section, the Maroons need every possible point they can garner in their final seven games to make sure of qualifying for the eliminators. Ottawa and Canadiens are going to be hard spots in four of these seven games, and it is practically essential that the Montrealers down the Rangers, Americans and Toronto to keep up in the first division, and they may even be called upon to stop Ottawa and Canadiens once to make sure of a berth, unless Americans drop a few games in their remaining seven fixtures.

TIE GAME PLAYED.

Lakefield Juniors and Colts Play To a Six All Score.

LAKEFIELD, March 5.—A very fast game of hockey was played last night here for the District Cup between the Juniors and the Colts, the final score being 6 to 6. The Juniors were more aggressive, although they carried off the most penalties. The Colts were a good clean playing team, going the sixty minutes with only one penalty. Stabler was the scoring star of the evening, notching four goals.

Juniors.—Junkin, goal; Sherrin and Hamblin, defence; Wannamaker, centre; Lawless and Stabler, wings; McFadden and Forin, subs.

Colts.—B. Hamblin, goal; Simpson and Hill, defence; Sabatino, centre; Ridpath and W. Prude, wings; S. Prude and M. Wannamaker, subs.

Penalties—Lawless 2, Sherrin and Simpson.

Goals. — Juniors, Stabler 4, B. Wannamaker 1, Lawless 1.

Colts—Sabatino 2, Simpson, W. Prude, S. Prude, M. Wannamaker.

THEATRE

AT THE CAPITOL

COLORFUL BACKGROUND FOR "GOD GAVE ME TWENTY CENTS."

Brenon Production a Story of New Orleans During the Mardi Gras.

New Orleans during the Mardi Gras! Crowds run riot. Street parades. Beautiful floats. Grotesque figures. Confetti. Music. Dancing. Laughter. Drinking. Romance. Drama. Intrigue. Noise. Gayety. Mardi Gras!

There you have the background against which Herbert Brennon has faithfully transcribed a story of the New Orleans Mardi Gras, "God Gave Me Twenty Cents." A ship has docked and the men have joined the merry-makers. Up the street, laughing, singing, shouting. They pause before a restaurant. Seeing a shy little girl awiting on table, the mob's leader runs in, takes her in his arms, enthrones her on a float and they continue through the town.

It is late when he leaves the child at her door and it is the first time either of them have ever known what it is to love. Five days pass, six—and they are married. She, of the pensive look; and he, of the roistering sailor crew.

The seventh day arrives. The boat is about to leave harbor. He goes to a cafe to say goodbye before returning for a last word with his wife. Cassie enters. She is hard, hard as steel; but steel bends, and he is the only one ever to enter her heart. Her man—married, and going away. She wants, asks, taunts, begs to go with him. Finally, before all his fellows, she dares him to match his luck against hers. She'll toss two dimes in the air. Should both show heads, Cassie goes. If not, she stays.

The coins spin and drop. Both are—but why try to describe what happens? "God Gave Me Twenty Cents," which comes to the Capitol on Monday, is heralded as one of the season's finest dramas. Lois Moran, Lya de Putti, Jack Mulhall, and William Collier, Jr., are featured.

AT THE REGENT

THE FILM "VARIETY" IS IN A CLASS BY ITSELF.

The Regent is pleased to present to its patrons on Monday a picture that is conceived to be the outstanding film of the season. Hear what the Toronto Star critic has to say about this feature:

"Variety" is so superior a motion picture to 90 p.c. of those made in America that one is inclined to launch into incoherent babblings when attempting to discuss it. The things that lift this film into a class by itself are multitudinous; in the first place there is an artistic integrity about the picture "Variety" that holds the observer tense from the moment Emil Jannings, as the carnival trouper, stalks up the long alley of the prison, until having told his story, one sees him again as a prisoner.

In telling the very simple threadbare story of a man, his wife and another man, there is not one unessential picture. Nor is every individual picture significant in the development of the tale, but within each picture every individual actor is significant.

From the great Jannings himself—who is a Chaliapin of the screen—to the meanest super in the cast, they are all actors. This is a picture no one should miss, who has asked to see imagination and intelligence in screen pictures.

¶ Engineered to lowest maintenance and operation costs - -

¶ The individual triumph of every Automobile Show to date is unquestionably the concert of interest, talk and debate with which the greatest crowds in history greeted the new Hudson Super-Six and the new Essex Super-Six.

The Super-Six Principle also revealed in the ESSEX Super-SIX

An outstanding characteristic of the Essex Super-Six is the complete absence of labor with which it performs every requirement.

At the getaway you swing into speed with magic ease. There is no jerk, vibration or mechanical chatter, no waste motion, no explosive jump—sometimes mistaken for acceleration. You glide to the front with flying freedom and ease. And so smoothly, you scarce realize how swiftly.

And, so, in all it does, whether spurting at top speed, or doing a comfortable fifty miles an hour all day long, you can realize its silky super-performance, only by the way you distance others.

This smoothness means ECONOMY—economy of effort, economy of power, economy in the long life of all moving parts. And in making long tours, or using your Essex all day in city traffic you will find the further economy of physical freshness, that comes from its easy driving, riding, steering and control, and its freedom from vibration at all speeds.

In four beautiful new Essex bodies—handsomely appointed and upholstered—the advantages of the released Super-Six principle costs you little more than any "Four".

DESERONTO TIES OSHAWA SCHOOL

DESERONTO, March 5.—Deseronto High School won from Oshawa Collegiate last night in the second game of the play-off in the Central Interscholastic League by score of 6 to 3. This ties the teams 9 to 9 on the round, and there will be a sudden death game in Port Hope on Tuesday night to decide the league championship. The game last night was played in Napanee.

Deseronto outplayed Oshawa all through the game. Oshawa were unable to stand the gruelling set by the winners. Every man on the Deseronto team was a star and on the night's play should have won by a larger margin. Time after time they beat the Oshawa defence on two and three man combinations, and were robbed of at least six goals by the lucky saves McNally made in the Oshawa goal. Line-up:

Deseronto— Goal, C. McVicker; defence, L. McVicker and Cole; centre, Whitton; wings, Detlor and Bruyea; subs, Green and Campbell.

Referee— L. Barrett, of Belleville.

TWO CANDIDATES FOR MASTERSHIP

NORTH BAY, Ont., March 5 (Canadian Press).—L. M. Saunders, Deputy Grand Master of the Grand Orange Lodge of Ontario West, will be a candidate for the Grand Master's chair, opposing J. J. Hunter, Kincardine, present Deputy Grand Master, when the Grand Lodge meets in Guelph next week of this measure. The old people of this country who are unable to earn a living for themselves are entitled to full consideration from the people of this Dominion. The same principle applies, of course, to all people who are helpless and unable to make a living for themselves. We apply this principle in giving assistance to widows and children, and in the Workmen's Compensation Act, and particularly should we consider the old people who have served their country in one way and another and are now unable to support themselves. I am glad, therefore, to find that the House is so largely in accord with the principle of this bill.

CONSIDERABLE PROGRESS MADE

"I regret that the government should not have seen fit to contribute a larger sum than fifty per cent. towards the operation of this measure. I am not prepared to quarrel with the view that perhaps it would be better to leave the administration of this scheme to the province, because that might lend itself to economy and greater care in the distribution of the money, and on that account perhaps some contribution should be made by the provinces; but for this parliament to offer to contribute only fifty per cent. seem to me unreasonable. It would certainly not be sufficient to ensure that the provinces would adopt the necessary legislation to give effect to this principle we all accept. I fully agree with the hon. member for North Winnipeg (Mr. Heaps) that the Federal Government should contribute at least seventy-five per cent. towards the cost of these pensions. I for one am not satisfied to see the bill go through in its present form, but if the House sees fit to pass it in its present form, I shall accept it, because I accept the principle. I would like to see the House left free to determine whether or not we should contribute at least seventy-five per cent., and I think before this bill finally passes a resolution should be introduced dividing the House on that question, with a view to making the measure acceptable to the provinces. If the provinces cannot be persuaded to accept the contributions provided for here, and I do not think they can, the act is going to remain a dead letter, and the poor people of this country, of whom there are many in my constituency looking for relief in this direction, are going to be bitterly disappointed. I therefore trust that the government will see its way clear to increasing the amount substantially in order that the measure may become operative in all the provinces."

THE NURSING MOTHER

Often Finds Herself Weak and Feeling Worn-Out.

The nursing mother more than any other woman needs rich blood and plenty of it. The demands upon her health are many and severe. Household duties and the care of her children exact heavy toll, while hurried meals, broken rest and indoor living tend to weaken her. No wonder she is often indisposed through weakness, headaches, backaches and nervousness. In this condition the blood will always be found weak and watery, and relief will come only through enriching the blood. For this purpose Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is the best blood-making tonic known. Through their use many weak, ailing wives and mothers have found new health and strength. As an example of this Mrs. Sarah Cortez, Ellenstown, N.B., says:—"While nursing my baby I became run-down, very weak and nervous. My head ached all the time and I was not able to do my work. I had often read of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and began using them, and what a blessing they proved. Before I had used a half dozen boxes I felt like a new person, and by their continued use for a while I was entirely restored to my former health and strength. I take pleasure in recommending Dr. Williams Pink Pills to everyone suffering as I did."

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

STOCK MARKETS.

Prices Move Downward On New York Exchange

NEW YORK, Mar. 5 (Canadian Press)—A further downward readjustment of prices took place in to-day's brief session of the stock market. Selling originated largely with bear traders, who succeeded in uncovering a number of weak spots in the automotive issues and specialties but long traders and investors also showed a disposition to sell and convert their paper profits into cash.

Except for further crude oil price cuts, there was little in the day's news which could be construed as bearish. Curiously, oils were prominent among the few outstanding strong spots, Houston soaring nearly 10 points to 119 and Atlantic Refining moving up three. Continental Baking 'A', yesterday's weak feature, also received better support.

Weakness In Mines: Trading List Is Broad

TORONTO, Mar. 5 (Canadian Press)—A weaker trend prevailed in the trading on the Standard Mining Exchange to-day. Losses were much in excess of gains, though the list was fairly broad and considerable activity was in evidence. Nipissing continued its startling decline and sold off 13 cents a share to 8.32. Other weak features were Teck Hughes, off 23, Wright Hargreaves, off 15, and McIntyre, off 10. Hollinger Consolidated suffered the greatest decline of the market, selling off 65 cents a share to 21.25. Dome Mines was a firm feature selling up to 8.60, a gain of 10 cents a share. Potter 'D' was stronger, scoring a gain of 2 at 53.

City Dairy's Rise Features Quiet Session At Toronto

TORONTO, Mar. 5 (Canadian Press)—A gain of 31-2 points by City Dairy featured a quiet session on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Trading was fairly regular with gains and losses being about equally divided. City Dairy opened stronger at 102 1-2 and soared upwards to a high of 105 where it closed. This issue was the most active of the listed stocks. Massey Harris was active and stronger, gaining one to 110. Seagram was another active feature, but eased off a quarter to 23 1-2. International Nickel was unchanged at 41 as was Davies 'A' at 31 1-4. G. and W. eased slightly to 36 1-8.

Wheat Tends Downward On Favorable Conditions

CHICAGO, Mar. 5 (Canadian Press)—Wheat tended downward to-day, influenced by reports of favorable crop conditions southwest and by Liverpool quotations lower than due.

Kansas City continued of liberal volume. Starting unchanged to 3-8c down, wheat held near the initial range. Corn, oats and provisions also were easy, corn opening at 1-4 to 5-8 decline and later sagging a little more.

Opening prices were: wheat, May 141 3-8, July 134 3-8. Corn, May 76 3-4, July 81 5-8. Oats, May 47, July 47 1-8.

STRONG DIRECTORATE FOR STORE MERGER

G. H. Rennie, the President, is to be General Manager.

The Canadian Departmental Stores, Limited, a recent consolidation of 22 department stores, located in the principal cities in Ontario and Quebec, announce their board of directors. This directorate, composed of outstanding business and financial men, will be as follows:

Mr. G. H. Rennie, President, and who is to be the general manager, and who for the past several years has been Assistant General Manager of the Robert Simpson Company, Limited, of Toronto; Wm. Flavelle, President Victoria Loan & Savings Co., Ltd.; Chas. M. Reid, president, Ritchie Co., Ltd.; Duncan Ferguson, President Duncan Ferguson Co., Ltd.; E. J. Coles, President E. J. Coles Co., Ltd.; Chas. Austin, President, Chas. Austin, Co., Ltd.; H. B. Bristol, President, A. Bristol & Son Ltd.; George Wright, President, Robert Wright, Ltd.; J. C. Engel, President, H. H. Engel, Limited; W. E. Bryans, President, Byrans Limited; J. W. Robinson, President, Robinson Co.; Ltd.; James Ogilvie, President, Ogilvie-Lochead, Ltd.; A. A. Fournier, President of the A. A. Fournier Limited; R. A. Beamish, President, Beamish and Smith, Ltd.; P. A. Huntington, President, Huntington's Limited; A. W. Cresman, President, Cressman Co., Ltd.; A. Robinson, President, Maclaren Co. Ltd.; I. L. Matthews, President, I. E. Matthews Co.; F. M. Stafford, President, F. M. Stafford, Ltd.; James Smith, Fenton & Smith; T. H. Pratt, President, T. H. Pratt, Ltd.; T. A. Neeley, director, Montreal Rail & Water Terminal, Ltd., director of Municipal Bankers Corp., Ltd.; D. W. Gordon, director of Municipal Bankers Corp., Ltd. and director of Canadian Rail & Harbor Terminals Limited.

The consolidated business experience of these men, who are responsible for the profitable operation of their business in various cities augers well for the success of this consolidation.

The stores entering the consolidation are located in the following cities and towns: Belleville, Stratford, Woodstock, Chatham, Picton, Brockville, Lindsay, Hanover, Sault Ste. Marie, Napanee, Brantford, Ottawa, North Bay, Midland, Peterboro, Huntsville, St. Catharines, Port Arthur, Montreal, Sudbury, Pembroke, and Hamilton.

The owners of the stores chosen in the various cities throughout Ontario and in Montreal have been quick to recognize the great buying advantages to be gained in centralized purchasing and feel that this consolidated buying power assuredly will place them in a position to offer merchandise wider in variety, up to the minute in style, and at much better prices.

The Canadian Department Stores, Limited, will be the first chain of dry good stores to operate in Ontario and have the advantages previously mentioned of acquiring businesses long established and successfully operated.

Area—Nothing particularly new. Diamond drilling is continuing on the 60 deg. hole mentioned in our last. The electrical survey which was made on this property and which caused such a stir is to be rechecked. The story will, however, be told in this case not by a recheck of the survey but by the actual locating of ore by diamond drilling or other development.

Grover Daley.— Construction of camp building is being rushed to completion. Surface trenching and prospecting will get under way in the near future.

This property is one of the most interesting in the Rouyn district. Several important breaks are ready for exploration. Some of these are of major importance. Since the last work was done on this property several months ago, work in the vicinity on adjoining properties has been of such a nature as to furnish the Grover Daley management with considerable valuable data not before available which will materially assist them in outlining their policy of exploration and development. Looks like a good speculation.

Duprat.—Diamond drilling is under way on the N. holdings of this company in Duprat township. This drilling is being done close to the Waite-Montgomery line and is close to a diabase dyke similar to that found on the Waite. No results have as yet been obtained from this drilling but the indications are good.

Work on the Montbray holdings of this company will be aggressively pursued as soon as camps are erected and supplies taken in. These holdings have good geology and will have a diamond needle survey made starting within the next two months. Fair prospect.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action, it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Limited.

CHINESE TROOPS NO LONGER FEAR TO FIGHT WHITE MEN

Used To Look On Fighting Men As Outcasts, But Now They Are Honored—Great Arsenals Are Fast Supplying Army's Needs.

SUPERIOR NAVIES ARE NOT FEARED.

China is leading a gigantic Asiatic revolt against domination by the white man. Upton Close (Dr. Josef Washington Hall), who has spent ten years in the Orient and is known as one of its clear interpreters, has completed a seven-months' tour of the affected countries. He has been in intimate touch with those who are conducting the movement and has seen it develop in China particularly. This is one of a series of twelve articles he has written on his observations. Mr. Close is co-author of "The Outline History of China" and author of "The Land of the Laughing Buddha," and other books.

BY UPTON CLOSE

Experts in the Far Eastern section of the American War Department are agreed that the entire armed forces of the Western powers which could be made available at Shanghai within a month would be unable to defeat a determined onslaught by the Nationalist Army, to say nothing of the forces of Marshal Chang Tso-lin, who has offered to send his huge northerners to the scene if the powers land any more troops.

When I was on the staff of General Wu Pei-fu, four years ago, he instructed us: "Carefully avoid any clash with foreign troops. It will be a good while before our men can stand up to them."

Last fall a commander in the Northern armies and an officer in the Cantonese forces both assured me their soldiers no longer fear white troops.

"You have seen the paper tiger that is carried in a Chinese funeral parade," said one. "It looks very ferocious, until a gust of wind rips it open. My men call foreign forces 'The Paper Tiger'."

Chinese Take Measure of Russians.

While not aggressively challenging, officers and men today await with confidence and almost desire the opportunity to demonstrate that a Chinaman is as good as a white man on the field. No longer do they go out armed with umbrellas instead of rifles, call off the war in cold weather, and decide the victory by poker games between commanders. The change began after the army of Sun Chuan-fang, now holding Shanghai, in 1924 almost annihilated a white Russian division employed by Marshall Chang Tso-lin of Mukden.

In old days the Chinese soldier was an outcast, and acted like one. Then, when the Japanese tried to absorb Shantung, Chinese students became militant and joined the army of Wu Pei-fu. Western propaganda of soldier-worship during the World War had a large share in breaking down the old Confucian attitude toward fighting.

Finally came the creation of the Nationalist force, a Chinese army trained to fight for a cause rather than for a man. The founding of the Whampoa Cadet School near Canton was Dr. Sun Yat-sen's last accomplishment. It was staffed with sixty Russian military trainers, lent by the Soviet. It became an honor to be a Whampoa cadet. They are nominated from all over China by the county committees of the Nationalist party. A professional soldiery made up of picked young brains succeeded the jobless outcasts who were so often bandits.

The term of training is a year and a half, a class of six hundred being turned out every six months. Cadets also are given a thorough training in party principles and the Nationalist creed, and must pass a stiff examination in the art of propagandizing before receiving commissions.

The armies of Wu Pei-fu and Chang Tso-lin are still of the old type, but an intense hatred of foreign aggression is building up a new morale even among them. A large factor in this change is the abandonment of the old attitude of the Chinese public toward the soldier as he takes the role of liberator from foreign dominance.

Equipment Is Up to Date.

Until a year ago the Chinese Army was trained according to antiquated goose-step methods brought in by way of Japan. Red Russians brought in modern ways. My observation is that in machine gun fighting, trench warfare and infantry deployment, Chinese armies are today as modern as almost any in the world. They appear to be still far behind in the science of artillery. This, however, is not so important, since heavy artillery cannot be used in the rice country of central and south China.

Of course, China is far from armed in a modern sense. Chang Tso-lin's army has been well equipped by Japan with war material, including poison gas and hand grenades. He has a good stock of American war stuff left by General Graves at Vladivostok and sold him by the Japanese commandant, who, upon our protest, was "punished" by a foreign trip and a promotion. Wu pei-fu's forces have received meager supplies from British sources. Russia has been able to re-equip the army of Feng Yu-hsiang, the "Christian General," in the northwest and to send some help to the Nationalists at Canton; but, contrary to general belief, only a few shiploads. There is also, despite the agreement of the powers to keep war material out of China, a large illicit trade. Italy is a flagrant violator. There are even airplanes, of which Chang Tso-lin has fifteen or twenty and the Cantonese half a dozen, the latter with the advantage of several American-trained flyers.

But China is progressing rapidly in making herself independent of outside help in arms. Two great arsenals are in operation and are being enlarged. The one beside Hankow, at Hanyang, run in connection with China's greatest steel works, was taken from Wu pei-fu by the Cantonese, and is turning out rifles and ammunition day and night under Russian and German experts. The other, at Mukden, is superintended by a giant, one-armed English ex-officer, one of the perfectors of the trench grenade for the British army.

The Chinese soldier has never been afraid to die, although his sense of humor and compromise has always tended to turn a war into a talk-fest. With strong control, and a cause to fight for, he has, however, recently shown ability to endure appalling slaughter, as in the campaign between the Christian general and Chang Tso-lin, or the capture of Swatow by the Nationalists last summer. In the siege of Wuchang, when one of Wu pei-fu's divisions, cut off by their fellows' transfer of allegience to the Nationalists, fortified themselves within the ancient ramparts of the city, and held out for six weeks against hopeless odds until not enough remained to bury their dead.

Armies Paid Regularly.

The average pay of the soldier, when he is paid, is only three dollars a month in China, from which he usually feeds himself, except while in action. Thanks to the ability of Finance Minister T. V. Soong, the Nationalists' young Alexander Hamilton, the original Cantonese forces are regularly paid, though the armies they have absorbed in their victorious march do not fare so well. Sun Chuan-fang, with the rich revenues of Shanghai district, maintains the highest-paid army in China, while in the north Chang Tso-lin is the only commander who has regular pay days.

While there are huge numbers of soldiers of various sorts in the different regions, the number of reliable and well-drilled troops is about 70,000 in the Nationalist service and about twice as many in the Northern factions. It has been made plain recently that these armies would unite against the foreigners if necessary.

Of course the great powers have their fleets. But Dr. Hu Shih, Cornell and Columbia graduate and acknowledged intellectual leader of the New China, put it to me this way: "Warships are useless to fight a self-contained nation. They can shoot only as far as they can see. And if they should attempt to prevent our taking over of the foreign areas they will do more damage to the properties of their own people than to us."

In the next article Mr. Close tells how propaganda and the boycott are used so effectively by the Chinese Nationalists.

MARCH WEATHER DANGEROUS TO BABY

On Account of the Very Sudden Changes in Temperature.

Our Canadian March weather—one day bright, but sloppy, the next blustery and cold—is extremely hard on children. Conditions make it necessary for the mother to keep the little ones indoors. They are often confined to overheated, badly ventilated rooms and catch colds which rack their whole system. To guard against these colds and to keep the baby well till the better, brighter days come along, a box of Baby's Own Tablets should be kept in the house and an occasional dose given the baby to keep his stomach sweet and his bowels working regularly.

Baby's Own Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which never fail to regulate the stomach and bowels and thus relieve colds and simple fevers and keep baby fit. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

YOUNG PEOPLE HOLD SPLENDID BANQUET

Losing Side of Contest Provides Supper for Bailieboro Y. P. S.

MADOC, March 5.—A very successful banquet and concert was given in the United Church on Friday evening under the auspices of the Young People's League.

The number of tickets sold was limited to one hundred and twenty-five in order to avoid the second laying of covers. The long tables looked very pretty in Valentine colors of red and white. Red streamers crossed in the centre of the table, red candles and red hearts on the serviettes, made an artistic color scheme. The young ladies who served were dressed in white with dainty heart-shaped aprons of red crepe paper.

During the dinner hour music was supplied by the Madoc orchestra. Following this an enjoyable programme was given by the Radio Four Quartette from Belleville, who gave both quartettes and individual numbers. Professor Leo Riggs, of Belleville, played three delightful instrumental solos, and also accompanied the singers.

Violin solos were given by Mr. Scrutton, of Madoc, in his usual pleasing manner, accompanied by Mrs. Ashley. The speaker of the evening was Mr. Herity, of Belleville, editor of The Belleville Intelligencer, who gave a splendid address, both humorous and informative, on the Dominion of Canada.

During the programme two toasts were drunk, one to the King, proposed by Rev. A. H. Foster, followed by the singing of the National Anthem, and one to the guests, proposed by Carl Caskey and responded to by Rev. A. Strother of St. John's Anglican Church and by Rev. Marshall of St. Peter's Presbyterian Church, both of whom gave brief but enjoyable and entertaining addresses.

GRAND ORGANIZER ATTENDS MEETING

Takes Charge of Degree Ceremonies of Orland L.O.L.

CODRINGTON, March 5.—The Grand Organizer of the L.O.A. of Ontario East, Rt. Wor. Bro. Graham, attended the meeting of L. O. L., No. 1362, on the evening of Feb. 24, and assisted the local and visiting brethren in degree work.

One brother was advanced to the Royal Blue and six to the illustrious degree of the Royal Arch Purple.

The W.M., Bro C. V. Goodfellow, called the lodge to order, and after the opening services invited Rt. Wor Bro Graham to take the chair.

Five primary lodges were represented at the meeting, which was very enthusiastic.

Bro. Graham put on the degree in the latest method approved by Grand Lodge and was assisted by members of the visiting L.O.L., No. 2322, who were also very efficient at the work.

A vote of thanks was tendered the Grand Organizer and the visiting brethren for their able and efficient work in assisting the local brethren. Rt. Wor. Bro. Graham came in from Trenton in the afternoon and left for Campbellford after the meeting to be present at a Royal Blue degree meeting under the auspices of L.O.L., No. 36, of that town the following evening.

Personals.

Frank Wright, who has been very low for about two weeks, is not yet out of danger.

Mrs. A. Thompson, who has been ill for a week, is now able to be out again.

Hugh McColl, an old resident of this locality, is confined to his bed. Mr. McColl passed the four score mark some years past and has enjoyed good health in general till last fall.

The trapping season has opened, but there is not much doing on account of the decided cold wave which has again frozen the creeks and marshes where the rats resort.

Earl Williams, the stage driver from Campbellford to Brighton, reports roads very rough and heavy and badly rutted, from which it is almost impossible for motors to turn out.

Norval Kenny is moving from the D. R. Hennessy house where he has resided for the last six months.

William Montgomery, the Assessor, has about completed his work for the season.

Nerves on Edge

When the nerves go wrong everything is wrong.

The whole human body including each and every organ is dependent on the nervous system for energy and direction.

When nerve force becomes exhausted the organs fail in their functions and the result is discomfort and pain.

Headache, neuritis, sciatic-rheumatism are often developed. But there is also restlessness, nervousness, irritability, sleeplessness and depression and discouragement.

To regain health and vigor the nervous system must be restored by such treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

The use of narcotics and opiates only relieve pain at terrible expense to the nervous system. Lasting relief can only come by feeding the nerves. Your system has failed to do this and it is therefore necessary to employ Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to bring the nervous system back to normal.

REGULAR MEETING WIDE AWAKE GIRLS

Business Items Discussed at Gathering Held in Millbrook.

MILLBROOK, March 5.—The Wide Awakes group, Canadian Girls in Training, held its regular meeting on Tuesday evening, fourteen members, and one visitor, being in attendance.

The Vice-president, Elinor Fallis, took the chair in the absence of the president, and during the discussion of business items, payment of the allotment of 25 cents per member to the National Girls' Work Board, Toronto, was arranged for.

In the devotional period, the leader took up a study of the book of Acts, a number of the girls reading selected verses, and the poems, "The Heavenly Guest," and "Ye are Witnesses," were read by Dorothy McDowell and Elsie Spence, respectively.

The usual social hour was enjoyed at the close. An invitation from the vice-president to hold the next meeting at her home was accepted. The gathering will probably be held next Tuesday evening, Mr. Fallis kindly offering to come to the village with his team and drive the girls to his home for the meeting, which will be of a social character.

Work on the quilt being prepared for Miss Hawken, at Wahstao, Alberta, will precede the games, contests, etc., which will fill out the evening.

"Church Night."

"Church Night" this week attracted an audience of fully four hundred people many having to stand for lack of seating capacity.

The east centre group had charge, and provided a novelty in the form of a "backward social," with "Good Night Ladies" as the opening chorus, and the brief address by the pastor coming at the beginning, rather than the end of the programme.

Rev. Mr. Howard spoke on "The Art of Living With Others," a further development of the original theme. Christian fellowship in a family church. 'We are debtors to God, and to all others whose lives we can make bigger, safer, and better than they have been." Matthew 18 was the foundation of the address.

The "junior orchestra" was heard for the first time, playing while the audience was gathering and during the programme; the members are: Miss Ella Elson, piano; J. Larmer, ukelele; W. Byam, traps; Ernest Burnham, cornet; Gordon Armstrong, banjo; Miss May Byam, violin.

The refreshments, ice-cream cones and home-made cookies, came early in the evening, the members of the group, who acted as waiters, carrying out the "backward" idea by having aprons on wrong way before, for the ladies, and for the men, coats or sweaters put on the same way.

Community singing of hymns, thrown on the screen, was followed by a "biscuit-eating contest," eight people being called to the platform and given a dry soda biscuit to devour as rapidly as possible, afterward whistling "We Won't Go Home Till Morning." The couple accomplishing this in the shortest time received an award of a chocolate bar. Others items rendered were:

Recitation, "A Little Pig," by Donald Duncan;

Piano solo by Bryar Edmunds;

Recitation, "Down to Grandpa's House," by Clendon Challice;

Round, "Loudly Brays the Donkey," by Misses Beryl Wood, Blanche Lee, May Byam, Ella Elson, and Messrs. Gerald Todd, Jack Byam, William Byam, and J. Larmer;

Solo, "My Goodness," by Mr. K. Hodgett (Port Hope): encore, "Two Eyes of Blue";

Recitation, "I'm Thankful," by Bernice Smith;

Recitation, "Billy's Breakfast," by Reg. Edmunds;

Selection by the junior orchestra;

Selection, "Welcome," by Maudie Raper, Bernice Smith, Helen Mitchell, Bryar Edmunds, Myrtle Nattrass, John Duncan;

Recitation, "When the Minister Comes to Tea," by Helen Mitchell;

Lullaby song, with dolly, by Myrtle Nattrass;

Burlesque, "The Girls' Club," by J. Larmer, Bruce Freelove, Nelles Rowland, Aubrey Todd, Walter Sayles, George Elson (dressed as girls); and "Horace" (Ernest L. Burnham); Duet, "I Would That My Love," by Misses Kathleen Lancashire, and Ella Elson: encore, "O That We Two Were Maying";

Group chorus, "Hello, Everybody, Glad to See You Here";

National Anthem.

The rural group east of the village has charge next Wednesday night, and the following week the conveners of the eight groups will be responsible for the final evening in the series.

Ash Wednesday, coming this week, services in the parish of Millbrook and Cavan were at St. John's, Ida, at 11 a. m.; Christ church, Bailieboro, at 3 p. m., and at St. Thomas' church at 7:30 p. m.; the rector, Rev. Canon Allen, having charge of the latter and giving a very helpful address.

Service during Lent will be at 7:30 each Wednesday evening, Rev. P. C. Howard giving the address, illustrated by lantern slides.

Miss S. Muir attended the Normal school at-home in Peterborough on Friday evening. Mrs. G. E. Burnham also went out for the event. Several of Miss Muir's former pupils are attending Normal this term.

Mrs. McDougall, of Toronto, was a week-end guest of Dr. Herbert and Mrs. Young at "Ingleside."

Rev. Canon and Mrs. Allen are contemplating a trip abroad this summer; expecting to sail in June for England, where they will visit Mrs. Allen's girlhood home at Shenley, and other points in the British Isles, and will probably also go to France during the two months they are away.

Miss Muriel Smith is the guest of friends in Lindsay for a few days this week.

The Insurance Money Gave Her Time To Think

PHYSICAL culture was part of the daily routine of a Y.M.C.A. secretary in a western city and the Company's medical examiners considered him a splendid risk. I sold him, at different times, Mutual Life Policies amounting to $7,000.00. In 1918, when the "flu" epidemic swept the country, he was one of the first to succumb. His widow was left with a boy of two and a second boy was born three months after he died.

What was she to do? With $7,000.00 behind her, she felt her courage return. But her baby had first to be thought of and she had to wait a year before putting her plans into execution.

Then, she took a course of training with a life insurance company. She became a life insurance agent. Hard put to it, at first, she persevered to success. To-day, she owns her home and carries $10,000.00 Mutual Life Insurance in favor of her boys. She never ceases to thank me for that $7,000.00 which "gave her time to think".

CONCERT AT MADOC VERY SUCCESSFUL

Large Audience Hears Splendid Readings by Miss Bawden.

MADOC, March 5.—A very successful concert under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor of St. Peter's Presbyterian Church was given in the Empire Theatre on Tuesday evening, when Miss Bawden of Toronto gave many delightful readings to a capacity house. Miss Bawden's repertoire showed a good deal of variety, allowing her wide range in exhibiting tonal qualities and interpretation. Miss Bawden was assisted by vocal solos and quartettes, sung by Miss Lenore Vandevoort, Mrs. S. Eagleson, Mr. F. Gillespie, and Mr. W. Hawthorne. Mr. Hawthorne also added a pleasing feature to the programme with his clever chalk talk. Mrs. V. Reid and Mrs. Eagleson acted as accompanists for the evening.

A very pleasant social evening was given by the members of Chapter 143 of the Order of the Eastern Star on Friday evening, when members of the Star and of the Masonic Lodge and their friends, spent an enjoyable evening with cards and dancing. The Masonic Hall, which was the scene of festivities, was very prettily decorated with streamers of red, green, yellow, blue, and white caught together with large stars reflecting the same colours. The Madoc orchestra, assisted by two Belleville players, furnished excellent music.

The guests were received by Worthy Matron Lillian Hart, Worthy Patron E. Smith, Mrs. E. Nayler, Mrs. W. Connor and Mrs. W. Whytock.

'OH! SUSAN' WELL RECEIVED

Comedy Given Under Auspices of St. John's Church, Havelock.

HAVELOCK NEWS

HAVELOCK, March 5.—"Oh Susan" a comedy in four acts, was presented on Tuesday evening in the Town Hall, under the auspices of St. John's Church, before a large and very appreciative audience.

The success of the play was assured by the untiring efforts of Mrs. Jean Moore who cast the characters and directed the proper interpretation of the roles. The performance furnished proof once more of her good training powers. Each role was cleverly impersonated, and the members of the play are to be congratulated for the excellent manner in which they played their parts.

The following is the cast of characters:

Danvers Meredith—A wealthy bachelor, Wilford Hartry.

Mrs. Marion Weatherby, his aunt—Mrs. Stanley.

Rose Parsons, a rosebud—Marjorie Post.

Edith Parsons, another rosebud—Beatrice Williams.

Janet Dalton, a wealthy heiress—Jean Anderson.

Mamie, the light-fingered lady—Mrs. Jean Moore.

Lefty, her brother—Ernest Sanderson.

Pop, the father of those two crooks—Robert Post.

Jason, a butler—Wilbert Bush.

Mrs. Hawkes, Meredith's old nurse—Elfreida Pincombe.

Between acts, vocal solos were rendered by Misses Olive Haig and Velma Davidson.

The receipts amounted to about $200.

Social Evening.

A very enjoyable social evening was spent on Monday, when the choir and Boys' Class of Knox Church met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thompson, to present them with a bridge lamp, before their departure for Orono, as a slight appreciation of their services as members of the choir and also of the interest taken in the boys' work by Mr. Thompson. The following address was read:

To Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thompson:

It is with very sincere regret we have learned that you are about to leave our midst and we have assembled here this evening to wish you Godspeed and to assure you that we hope your residence in your new sphere of life will be as pleasant as we have reason to believe it has been amongst us.

We assure you both that you will be missed very much in the church choir, boys' class and other young people's associations. We wish you every success in your new sphere.

On behalf of the choir and Boys' Class we ask you to accept this small token of esteem and we trust it may often remind you of your associations with us in Havelock.

Signed on behalf of the Choir—Mrs H. F. McNichol; on behalf of the Boys' Class—Harry Anderson.

CAVAN NEWS

CAVAN, March 5.—On Friday evening the neighbors and friends of Mr. and Mrs. William Pudsy gathered at their home to celebrate with them the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding day.

When all had arrived, Mr. D. J. Hunter called the gathering to order, and in a few well-chosen words, called attention to the object of the social evening and introduced Mr. James Paul as chairman.

Mr. Paul made a very appropriate speech and read the following address:—

Cavan, February 26th, 1927.

To Mr. and Mrs. William Pudsy,

Dear Friends:

We, your neighbors, and a few of your many friends have taken the liberty and privilege to invade your home on this the twenty-fifth anniversary of your wedding to extend to you our best wishes and congratulations on your successful journey through married life so far. The period through which you have passed is, in some respects, the most anxious and again the most pleasant and interesting; anxious, in striving to make a home for yourselves, and pleasant in being blessed with a family to enjoy that home with you, and to be a comfort to you in old age. By your industry and honesty and by the help of a kind providence you have accomplished both and our best wishes for you both are that the remainder of your journey through married life may be smooth and filled with contentment.

Knowing that you and your family have been ever ready to help any good cause in the community and church to which you belong, we have made bold to ask you to accept these small gifts, not for their material value, but to remind you that we have not forgotten your many kind deeds shown in many ways, and we hope that you may be spared to celebrate your Golden Wedding.

Signed in behalf of your neighbours and friends.

Mr. Richard Matchett then brought in and presented a beautiful tray of silverware.

Mr. Pudsy on behalf of himself and Mrs. Pudsy, spoke a few words of thanks, welcomed his friends to his home and hoped that all might enjoy the evening.

A short programme, consisting of community singing, songs of Messrs. F. Staples, James Paul, and William Pudsy, and short speeches by Messrs. Lloyd Sutton, Richard Matchett, and D. Patton followed.

After the programme, the young people danced.

A good supper was served by the ladies, and a social time was enjoyed by all present.

Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Whittles, Montreal, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Pudsy, Eighth Line.

Mr. N. Lamb, attended the funeral of the late Mrs. Thorn, from Bailieboro, on Monday.

Mrs. Allen Morton, Clayton, and Mrs. Ferguson and son Harry, of Peterboro, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Pudsy, on Friday and Saturday.

Miss Preston, Welcome, visited Cavan friends at the week-end.

Mr. Gerald Staples, Lifford, spent the week-end at his home, Cavan, and was a visitor to Peterboro on Saturday.

The Misses Elinor Fallis, and Flossie McMahon spent the week-end with the former's aunt, Mrs. R. Vance, Franklin.

Mr. E. Keegan has been ill for some time, but is improving.

Many farmers are busy hauling logs to the sawmill at Millbrook.

Miss Marian Coone, missionary on furlough from China, will speak in Cavan church next Sunday evening, under the auspices of the W.M.S.

Twenty-five years ago, Miss Coone was a resident of Cavan, her father, the late Rev. C. Coone, being pastor of Cavan Circuit.

The annual meeting of the Ladies' Aid and W.M.S. will be held in Cavan church on Thursday afternoon.

FAREWELL PARTY MORGANSTON PAIR

Mr. and Mrs. William Campbell Moving to Home in Norham.

NORHAM, Mar. 5.—A number of neighbors and friends of Mr. and Mrs. William Campbell, of Morganston, met at their home on Tuesday evening to say goodbye on the eve of their departure for Norham, where they have purchased the home formerly owned by William Evans. Mr. and Mrs. Campbell have been faithful attendants of the Morganston United church, where Mrs. Campbell has rendered valuable service as a member of the choir. During the evening Mr. and Mrs. Campbell were presented with a comfortable rocker and arm chair by the people of Morganston and with a library table by the people of the west neighborhood. The members of the choir gave Mrs. Campbell a beautiful black leather purse. Mr. and Mrs. Campbell are busy moving to Norham this week.

Marshall Wilson and son had a misfortune on Monday which arose out of a little incorrection in replacing the grinding plates on the shaft of the feed grinder. The box metal became melted in the main shaft of the grinder and a helper from Campbellford was summoned to make repairs which necessitated the holdup of activities for several hours.

There was a good attendance at the People's League on Tuesday evening. A good program was given.

Mrs. Wesley Newman is in Castleton, waiting on her sister-in-law, Mrs. Hall.

The choir is busy practicing for the special services on the 13th.

5,205 Whippet Drivers Establish Record in Nation-Wide Economy Test

Forty-four and eight-tenths miles on the gallon of gasoline is the economy record established by 5,205 Whippet drivers during "Economy Test Week" recently held by Willys-Overland dealers throughout the country to demonstrate the efficiency, economy, power, speed and stamina of this famous car.

Each car used in this test was a regular stock model Whippet. The test was "open to everybody." Before each test was made the fuel tank was sealed, and the driver then went as far as he could. In several instances more than 50 miles to the gallon were secured.

Never before has any car made a record like this. Never before has any car so convincingly demonstrated its economy. "35 miles on a gallon", 4-wheel brakes and outstanding performance have made the Whippet Canada's most popular light car.

ANNUAL BANQUET OMEMEE A.Y.P.A.

Enjoyable Evening Spent by Branch Members and Their Friends.

OMEMEE, March 5.—On the evening of Monday, February 28, the annual banquet of Christ Church A.Y.P.A. took place in the basement of the church. Many are the social functions that have been staged by the local branch, but it seems that on this occasion previous records have been excelled.

In the basement, which was permeated with an air of gay festivity, long tables were filled to capacity with the means of stimulation for the inner man. About sixty people thronged around the festive board, and immediately after the grace by the Rev. A. T. Weir, the individuals became deeply interested in what lay before them.

A prominent feature of the occasion was the birthday cake with its twenty-one candles thereon, signifying the coming of age of the Omemee branch. Twenty-one years ago the A.Y.P.A. was organized in Omemee. Miss E. Curry was the Vice-President at that time, and as she was present on this occasion and was the only one of the former officers present, she impressively cut the cake. This delicacy was then handed around in order that all might partake of it.

The programme began with a toast to the King, proposed by the toastmaster, Mr. H. W. Hill. The National Anthem was sung immediately after the toast.

Mr. N. Burgomaster proposed the toast to Canada. He spoke briefly of the opportunities and advantages of this fair land, and invited the gathering to join him in drinking its health. A verse of "O Canada" accompanied the toast. The reply was given by Mr. Alfred Johnston, B.A., of Lindsay. Mr. Johnston spoke in a very impressive manner, although having to hurry to get through in time to catch a train. He gave an excellent review of Canada's history, speaking from the time the country was captured from the French. He mentioned her beauty in all the seasons. The grandeur of her snow-covered hills in winter, the beauty of reviving life in the springtime, the bountifulness of her harvests in the summer and the magnificent riot of color in the autumn are to be equalled in few countries and excelled in none. Her resources he outlined in a most concise manner, and he spoke optimistically of her position today and in the future. Mr. Johnston's address was greatly appreciated by all.

At this point the toastmaster read aloud a copy of the programme the branch had published the first year of its existence, that of 1906-07. The President was Miss Olive McQuade, who now resides in Toronto. As previously mentioned, Miss E. Curry was the VicePresident, while the Secretary-Treasurer, Mr. W. Gaulagher, fell in France while fighting in the Great War.

The toast to the church was proposed by Mr. J. A. Bent, who remarked that he considered it a high honor to do so. He emphasized the fact that the old church is ever young because of the younger element that is being brought up yearly in its fold. The first verse of "The Church's One Foundation" was heartily sung upon the drinking of the toast. The Rev. G. J. Bousfield, of Peterborough, replied in an able manner. He dwelt on important points in church history and put forth some of the great facts of the church. He concluded with remarks, refuting various reports, as to a possible division in the church, particularly in England, regarding the changes in the Prayer Book. Those present were interested in the address and approved of the speaker's efforts in hearty A.Y.P.A. style.

Miss L. Jamieson then favored the company with a creditable rendition on the piano, which drew forth well merited applause. The Rev. A. T. Weir, rector of the parish, briefly stated his pleasure at the manner in which the evening was progressing. He also indulged in a few humorous allusions which created ripples of laughter throughout the assembly.

A solo by Mr. W. Clemett, entitled "Smiling Through," was appreciated in due form.

Mr. T. H. H. McQuade interested the gathering with his remarks prior to the drinking of the toast to the A.Y.P.A. The wide scope of the subject, said the speaker, rendered it impossible to do justice to it in the brief time at his disposal. He mentioned how the association had begun as a parish up, then assumed diocesan form, and finally reached the significance it has today. His call to drink its health was responded to with alacrity, and then the members resumed their seats to hear the reply by Mr. E. Bayman. Mr. Bayman spoke comprehensively on the A.Y.P.A., dwelling on the four principles—work, worship, fellowship and edification. Commenting upon these in turn, he brought out the validity of the association to the members and of its ability to fill wants in the church not catered to by any other society.

Miss C. McQuade delighted the guests with a reading given in her usual excellent manner. Being of a humorous nature, the subject caused smiles and murmurs of approval during the reading, which finally culminated in a round of hearty applause at the conclusion.

To Mr. A. Adams fell the honor of proposing the toast to the ladies, which toast, although brief, seemed to express the sentiments of the gentlemen present, who rose gallantly upon the signal being given. Miss M. Dickson replied to the toast in a becoming manner, thanking the proposer for the kind things he had said, and assuring the gentlemen that the ladies were pleased to have done what they had toward the success of the banquet.

This toast concluded the list, and the old favorite, "Good Night, Ladies," was sung. The company then joined hands and voices in "Auld Lang Syne" bringing to a close a most successful and enjoyable evening.

ST. ANDREW' Y.P.S. REGULAR MEETING

Good Programme Given by Warkworth Young People.

WARKWORTH, March 5.—The regular meeting of the Young People's Society of St. Andrew's Church was held Monday evening. The meeting opened by singing, "Stand Up, Stand Up for Jesus." Gordon McCubbin had charge of the meeting, owing to the absence of the President, Mrs. Carman Carlow. Ivan Duncan read the Scripture lesson and the roll call was answered by a proverb.

Several hymns were sung and a very interesting debate given. "Resolved, that women have done more for mankind than men." The affirmative was taken by Annie McKenzie, Annie McCubbin and Margaret Richards, and the negative by Everett Maycock, Everett Nelson and Gordon Weir. The way in which the points were refuted by the young debaters was remarkable.

Mrs. James A. Armstrong, Carman Carlow and Robert Walker, who acted as judges, found great difficulty in coming to a decision. The affirmative won by one point.

An excellent paper on "The Spread of Mohammedanism" was ably given by Miss Allie Mowat. A dainty lunch of cake and sandwiches were served and a social hour spent together.

The following is the paper on "The Spread of Mohammedanism," given by Miss Allie Mowat:

"The character of Mohammed is one of the great problems of history. Although the sources of our information are all Mohammedan, there is a great difference of opinion among the students of history. Some think that he was in no sense of the word a prophet, while others maintain that he was a very 'prophet of God.' He evidently became intoxicated by success and used the dignity of his prophetship for personal ends, and was conscious of deceiving the people in some of his later revelations. He professed to approve and supersede the law of the Old and New Testament, yet he repeatedly broke every precept of the Sermon on the Mount both in his private life and in his prophetic office. For any irregularity in his own conduct he always had a special revelation to justify himself, yet his followers were intensely loyal. Everything that could tend to his glory was eagerly sought out and treasured up by men jealous of his good name, and everything that might seem to detract therefrom was carefully suppressed. His lightest words were sacred to them; his most trifling actions were the examples they strove to follow.

"Every detail in his early life is attributed to divine permission or command, and so the very faults of his character are his endless glory and his sign of superiority. God favored him above all people. He dwells in the highest heaven and is several degrees above Jesus in honor and station. He holds the keys of heaven and hell. No Moslem, however bad in character, will perish finally. No believer, however good his life, can be saved except through Mohammed.

"Islam denies the need of a mediator or of the incarnation except Mohammed, who acts as a mediator without an incarnation, without an atonement, without demand for change of character.

"The religion which Mohammed founded bears everywhere the imprint of his life and character. It became what it is because the great warrior-prophet whose character is so far removed from the Prophet of Nazareth and his holy religion. The Spread of Islam may be chronologically divided into three groups. The first period is from the death of Mohammed in 632 to 800, a later period under the Ottomans 1280 to 1480, and lastly the modern spread of Islam from 1780 onward. During the first period fire and sword carried Islam triumphant throughout all Arabia, Syria, Persia, Egypt and North Africa, and by more peaceful means as far as Canton and Western China.

"That worldly motives played a considerable part in the early conversion of these lands cannot be doubted, and is admitted even by Moslem historians. When the Arabs of the desert once tasted the delicacies of civilization in Syria and revelled in its luxurious palaces, they said: 'By Allah, even if we cared not to fight for the cause of God, yet we could not but wish to contend for and enjoy these, leaving distress and hunger henceforth to others.'

"The second chapter of Moslem conquest began with the rise of the Ottoman Turks and the Moguls of India. During this period Afghanistan, Turkistan, India, Java and the Malay Archipelago, with Serbia and Bosnia in Europe, were more or less converted to Islam.

"The modern missionary efforts of Islam were made by the Dervish orders in Africa, the Oman Arabs in their slave-raids, the disciples of Cairo University, and by returning Meccan pilgrims.

"Islam entered Europe very early, but it has never swept as victoriously over that continent as it did in Asia and Africa. While there are one hundred and seventy million Moslems in Asia and fifty millions in Africa, there are only five millions in Europe. At present all of Persia and Central Asia, as well as a large part of Asiatic Russia, is Mohammedan.

"Had the Christian church entered into the struggle for these countries sooner, who can tell what the result might have been for the Kingdom of Christ? The spread of Islam in three continents for well nigh twelve centuries was due to the power of the sword and to the low moral standard of the new faith, but was doubtless greatly facilitated also by the lack of missionary zeal in the churches of Christendom.

"The history of the spread of Islam is not without significance for us today. In spite of cruelty, bloodshed, dissension and deceit, the story of the Moslem conquest is full of heroism. Nor did they shrink from hardship, danger or death itself in this holy war for their faith.

"If so much was done in the name, and after the example of Mohammed, what should we not do in the name of Jesus Christ? We have a better message, a more glorious faith."

Young People's Union.

At the Young People's Union of St. Paul's Church on Monday evening two resignations were tendered, Mr. A. C. Twiddy, President, and Miss Ina Bowen, Secretary.

Mrs. Elgin Edgar was elected President and Mrs. William Anderson Secretary. Miss Jean Walker was in charge of the meeting and study on the biographies and works of outstanding religious leaders of Canada. The programme was well prepared and interesting.

Police Commissioners.

A meeting of the village Police Commissioners was held on Monday evening. Two petitions were brought before the meeting, one for a pool-table in the village and the other against the pool-table.

A motion of Kelly and Walker, "that we take no action on the application of John Leonard for a license for a pool-table for the police village of Warkworth," was passed.

Moved by James Armstrong, seconded by G. L. Walker, that the following accounts be paid: Street lights, $72; John Cruickshanks, $4.60.

Personals.

Mrs. C. E. Meiklejohn entertained a number of ladies on Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Beswetherick entertained a large number of friends Tuesday evening.

Mr. A. C. Twiddy, jeweller and optician, left on Tuesday for Trenton, where he is opening a store.

PUZZLE Who Won the Movie Channel Swim? WIN

New 1927 Chevrolet Coach $1800.00 IN PRIZES

WHO ARE THEY?

THE PUZZLE

Twenty-two popular moving picture stars are supposed, recently, to have swam in a race across the English Channel. Their names are printed below. The results of the race were broadcast by Radio Station BWLG, but the operator, to have some fun and keep the thousands of interested listening fans in suspense, announced the names of the first seven to finish jumbled up. For instance, he gave number 6 as "Nan grows o sail" instead of Gloria Swanson, and offered big prizes to those who could correctly name the first seven to be announced. In the picture above you see him announcing the names in ridiculous fashion. If you can put the letters of each name back in their right places you will have the names of the first seven, whose pictures are shown to the left in the order in which they finished. Find their names and send them in to compete for the big prizes.

NAMES OF ALL THE MOVIE STARS WHO SWAM IN THE CHANNEL RACE—THE FIRST 7 ARE AMONG THESE—Alice Joyce, May McAvoy, Lillian Gish, Constance Talmadge, Colleen Moore, Madge Bellamy, Corinne Griffith, Norma Shearer, Sonna Owen, May Allison, Gloria Swanson, Norma Talmadge, Bebe Daniels, Clara Bow, Vilma Banky, Pola Negri, Viola Dana, Florence Vidor, Marion Davies, Marie Prevost, Lois Wilson, Mary Brian.

SOLVE IT AND WIN FIRST PRIZE

If you are clever enough to solve this fascinating puzzle you have opened the way to being declared first prize winner. If your solution is successful in winning 175 points, the maximum for being correct, we will write you and show you how first prize can easily be won. Be neat and careful. Comply with rules.

WHY THIS CONTEST IS RUN

This is an advertising contest. We want to make you and your friends acquainted with wonderful Sterling Hosiery, made in all the better grades of pure silk, silk and wool, and pure wool for the whole family, and sold direct to you through a chain of Sterling Stores, and personal service direct to the home. We will write and tell you of a wonderful plan to save you money on your hosiery requirements. At the same time we will ask you to allow us to send you a few sample pairs to examine and show a few friends who will be glad to join you in saving money too.

SOCIETY

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Crowe, 376 Brock Street, celebrated the fortieth anniversary of their wedding day on Thursday of this week. A number of friends were entertained by them in the evening, when five tables of bridge were played.

* * *

Mrs. R. Neill and Mrs. A. W. McPherson were among the bridge and tea hostesses of the week.

* * *

Miss Helen Lamb, 174 London Street, entertained a number of her friends at a bridge tea on Wednesday. Five tables of bridge were played, prizes being won by Mrs. Weldon Fanning and Mrs. Cecil Richardson.

* * *

Mrs. J. H. Primeau entertained the members of her bridge club on Tuesday afternoon of this week.

* * *

Friends of Mrs. J. Forbes Allan will regret to hear that she is confined to her home through illness.

* * *

Little Dorothy Moscrop, 412 London Street, celebrated her seventh birthday on Thursday by holding a jolly birthday party, to which eleven of her small friends were invited. The table was prettily decorated in pink and white.

* * *

Mrs. T. H. Bullied and son Keith, of Toronto, have returned home after visiting Mrs. Bullied's sisters, Mrs. George Lee and Mrs. W. J. Flannery.

* * *

Mrs. Morrison, of Amherst, N.S., is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Aylmer, Weller Street.

* * *

Another name may be added to the list of Peterborough's citizens who possess miniature engravings of the Lord's Prayer. Dr. C. H. Amys has a tiny bronze coin, about one-half the size of a Canadian five-cent piece, issued by the Philadelphia Mint in 1832, on one side of which appears a reproduction of the Mint itself, the other surface bearing a tiny copy of the Lord's Prayer.

* * *

Mrs. D. Heels and little son Gordon of Lindsay have returned home after visiting the former's brother, Mr. George Lee, George Street.

* * *

Mrs. Wm. Allan's A.M.O.S. class of girls and young people of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church entertained the Normal students last evening at supper and an evening of games and contests. About two hundred young people were present for the social evening, which was preceded by a basketball game at the Y.M.C.A., between the Normal school boys and boys from St. Paul's Church, the score being tied at 14 all. The tables for the supper were decorated in mauve and gold.

* * *

Miss Marjorie Gladman returned to-day from Chicago, where she has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. A. W. Seels.

* * *

Mrs. T. Butler Yeats of Port Hope is the guest of Mrs. C. Hewitt Amys for a few days.

* * *

Mrs. H. Ken. Thompson, who has been in the city for the past week, returned to Toronto yesterday, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. T. H. Hooper, who will spend a couple of weeks in Toronto.

* * *

At the conclusion of the open meeting of the Women's Canadian Club, held in the auditorium of the Public Library last evening, refreshments were served and those attending had an opportunity of meeting the speaker of the evening, Madame Fremont, president of the Women's Canadian Club of Quebec City. The table was decorated with a silver basket of daffodils and yellow candles in silver candelabra. Coffee was poured by Mrs. J. A. Aylmer and Miss F. Belcher, assisted by members of the executive: Mrs. H. R. H. Kenner, Mrs. L. W. Scott, Mrs. R. Harstone, and the Misses L. Wilson, F. Edwards, J. Buck, A. Lancaster, E. Cameron.

A Smart Frock for the Junior Miss

Smartly simple is this attractive frock for all daytime wear. The upper front panel is of contrasting material and the lower section is plaited to provide for the necessary skirt fulness. The back is in one piece and a belt fastens at the side seams and ties in a chic bow. There is a becoming round collar and long sleeves gathered to wrist-bands. NO. 1480 is in sizes 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. Size 10 years requires 2¼ yards 39-inch material, or 1⅝ yards 54-inch, and ⅛ yard 39-inch contrasting. Price 20 cents the pattern.

Our new Fashion Book contains many styles showing how to dress boys and girls. Simplicity is the rule for well-dressed children. Clothes of character and individuality for the junior folks are hard to buy, but easy to make with our patterns. A small amount of money spent on good materials, cut on simple lines, will give children the privilege of wearing adorable things. Price of the book 10 cents the copy.

SAINT and SINNER

Dr. Atkins was waiting for them in the foyer of the big hospital building. All his boyish briskness had left him; he looked stricken, personally grieved, and curiously apologetic. He went straight to Faith, and she had the odd impression that he would have liked to put his head down on her broad, motherly young shoulders and cry, like a hurt child.

"I want to tell you how—it happened," he spoke in a low, almost pleading voice. "We'd taken every precaution to keep her from hearing anything about Cher—Mrs. Wiley. I don't want you to think, Mr. Lane," he turned to Faith's father and laid a trembling hand on his shoulder—"that anyone in the hospital was to blame—"

"Then she found out," Jim Lane said dully, drawing a shaking, gnarled old brown hand across his eyes. "Martha died knowing about Cherry."

"What I want to know is how she found out;" Junior blustered angrily, as an outlet for his grief. "Who spilled the beans—I mean, who went and blabbed to her? I'll kill him—"

"I'm afraid you can't, Long," Dr. Atkins spoke with sorrowing respect, not with impatience. "It was a woman patient who accidentally gave the whole thing away. She's a wheel chair patient, been here for two years, and she's given a good deal of freedom, as the chronics always are. Her husband—though of course we didn't know all this 'till later—came to see her and brought a copy of the extra carrying the news of Cherry's indictment."

He flushed as his small, grief-stricken audience winced at his words.

"He gave his wife the paper without mentioning the—the Cluny case. In fact, the paper was folded. He stuck it through the arm of her wheel chair and hurried away to his dinner. Mrs. Jost—that's the woman's name—wheeled herself down the third floor corridor past your mother's room." He was speaking to Faith again, holding her hand in a tight grip, but glancing occasionally at Bob Hathaway's set, white face. "Mrs. Lane was sitting propped up in bed, with her tray before her, eating her supper."

"Where was the nurse?" Jim Lane demanded harshly. "I thought we was paying enough to—"

"The nurse had stepped across the hall to the chart room to record Mrs. Lane's pulse and temperature, taken just before her supper tray arrived. You can't blame the nurse, Lane. I tell you, it was an accident. No one was to blame."

"Please go on, Dr. Atkins," Faith urged him compassionately. "I'm sure no one can really be blamed. Poor Mother!" Her voice broke, and she bit her lip to keep it from trembling.

"Mrs. Lane was lonely, and she liked to talk to the other patients. Everyone had been warned, we believed, not to discuss the case with her."

His hearers nodded, their eyes tense.

"Mrs. Lane called out to Mrs. Jost and Mrs. Jost wheeled herself into the room, glad of a chance for a chat. She's a sociable old lady, and really does a lot of good, cheering up the bed-ridden patients. Mrs. Lane caught sight of the paper and asked her to let her see it. Mrs. Jost gave it to her without unfolding it. Of course, one look at the headlines—"

"Did—she—say anything?" Jim Lane asked heavily.

"She—she got out of bed, started to run to the door, called but Cherry's name, just as the nurse came running into the room. Mrs. Jost had screamed, I believe, at the sight of Mrs. Lane's horror. Then—she fell. I got to her within five minutes—I was in the hospital—but—it was too late."

Dr. Atkins asked them to wait for a moment outside the closed door of the room in which Martha Lane had died, while he conferred for a moment with the interne and the nurse who were keeping vigil within. When he opened the door, the nurse, a slim, bobbed-haired, healthly-looking little girl, slipped, with a rustle of her starched skirts, past the huddled group at the door. Even in her grief, Faith could not keep from wondering, in a detached, resentful way, what the girl really thought about death, how much she really cared that her patient had died so suddenly and so dramatically.

The three who had loved Martha Lane because she belonged to them, and had served for many years, before heart trouble and diabetes had turned her into a querulous, complaining semi-invalid, took each other's hands and advanced on tiptoe to the bed where they had laid her. The mass of pillows which had been necessary to make breathing comfortable, had been discarded. For the first time in years, Faith saw her mother lying almost prone, only one smooth pillow beneath the heavy, gray-haired head. The covers—only a sheet and counterpane were needed now—were folded back across the broad bosom with the mathematical precision of hospital med-making.

"Don't cry so, daughter," Jim Lane begged, as Faith flung herself down by the bed and laid her head for the last time on her mother's breast.

Junior leaned against the curved iron headpiece of the bed and cried, in rough, hard grasps, as his hand stroked the graying hair from the cold, serene forehead. Even as she wept, Faith saw the pity of that, too. While his mother lived, Junior had shown her only an occasional shy affection—a hasty kiss on the cheek, an arm flung carelessly about her great, fat shoulders. And in all her life, Faith had never sat in her mother's lap and cuddled her head on her breast, telling her secrets or sobbing out childish griefs. But Cherry had—Cherry had—and it was Cherry who had killed her mother. Wasn't Cherry really a murderess now? Cherry, who had loved her mother, had given her more trouble than all the other children put together, Faith reflected bitterly. But Cherry had loved her—that, after all, was the important thing.

"Oh, Mother!" Faith's wailing sob of utter grief and remorse rose to a scream in the tensely quiet room.

"Come away, Faith," Bob Hathaway, standing just behind her, commanded her suddenly. "You're making yourself ill. And making it harder for your father, too."

Faith rose unsteadily, with the aid of Bob's arms, and turned blindly toward her father. Jim Lane's arms went out mechanically to receive her, but his dazed, staring eyes did not leave his dead wife's face. His face was grayer, more like clay from which life has fled, than hers. Always inarticulate, humble, he had no words now for the grief which he apparently accepted, as he had accepted every tragedy which had come into his thwarted life.

"She—she looks natural, don't she?" he asked dully, of no one in particular. "Martha was always a mighty pretty girl, Martha—" But this time the word was spoken to her dead ears, as he shuffled to the bed, and looked down upon the face of the woman with whom he had lived for more than twenty-three years. "Martha—I'll do my best for the children—for—for Cherry." He spoke the last word very softly, in his husky, dull voice, as if he thought the very sound of that beloved name could stir those quiet eye-lids.

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, but do not Compel.

FOR SUNDAY, MARCH 6, 1927

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

This is an uncertain day, according to astrology. While benefic planets dominate there are certain sinister influences apparent.

Women are subject to a leading of the stars making for unconscious preparation for great service in public affairs.

Clubs and other organizations in which the mothers, wives and daughters of the land are enrolled are subject to guidance that is fortunate, it is foretold.

The navy and all who are in the naval service should benefit at this time when widespread activities are indicated.

Men who bear big responsibilities are under a favorable planetary government today, the seers declare.

Demand for leadership among men and women will be marked at this time when fame will come to persons now little known.

Advertising and publicity are both to benefit from new developments in world affairs. Writers of every sort will profit.

Motion pictures are to enjoy an added popularity and they will profit from daring enterprises on the part of producers.

Again all who deal in foods are to be more or less disappointed commercially, but for a brief period, for the whole world is to demand bread from America, it is foretold.

Art is to have a great impetus, owing to the generosity of men of wealth, for there will be a new national consciousness.

Teachers and orators are to be in demand, there will be much interest in the discussion of public matters.

All the signs appear to presage for women tremendous tasks which will be well performed.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of taking stock of one's capabilities and achievements.

Children born on this day probably will have a scientific trend. Many physicians and students of natural history are born under this sign.

COATS BELTED.

The belt is sure to appear on the winter coat, if not all the way around them in the back or front, and quite often it is ornate and conspicuous.

POPULAR BLACK

The very latest word in chic is the black coat trimmed with black fur.

AFTERNOON FROCKS

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

The milliner who made this violet-colored felt skull cap provided an extra bunch of violets for the shoulder to match those used to trim the right side of the hat.

It would be so hard to find a milliner nowadays who sells nothing but hats—almost as hard as to find a druggist who sells nothing but drugs. There are queer combinations of merchandise in many of the other shops. A well-known shoe store has simple sports hats to offer and a candy store has artificial flowers as a side line.

The milliners have taken advantage of the ensemble idea to add to their usual line of wares accessories such as purses, parasols and scarfs made to match or to go with their hats. Now one of the dressmakers has conceived the idea of having bunches of corsage flowers to go with her hats—an idea that is very good when the hat is also adorned with artificial flowers. The flowers on the shoulder or in the buttonhole link up the costume with the hat in a simple yet effective manner.

There are little felt hats trimmed with leather flowers that are sold with a matching buttonhole flower also of leather. Feather flowers may trim the hat, and then the corsage flower is also of feathers.

Quite the newest way of placing artificial flowers on the hat is at the side over the ear tab. There are interesting little felt hats of the new skull-cap variety that have no trimming save for the bunch of flowers placed over the right ear. The bouquet of artificial flowers is worn on the right shoulder.

So widespread is the fashion for wearing corsage flowers of some sort that some women feel hardly dressed properly without some sort of bouquet. If you wear a rather mannish tailored frock for the street then you may choose to follow the truly mannish fashion of wearing a fresh real flower in your buttonhole—a corn flower, or a carnation, a rose bud or an orchid.

PROGRESS MADE IN PLANNING FOR BIG CELEBRATION

Representatives of Many Organizations Asked to Form Committee.

MANY SUGGESTIONS

Full Programme to be Arranged for Canada's Jubilee.

Following the decision reached by those attending the meeting on Monday evening last, that a form of letter be prepared and sent to the principals of organizations in public service in the city and many societies as well, a copy of the communication, typed on the city stationery and signed by the Mayor and General Secretary, has been despatched and will by this time be in the hands of those to whom addressed. The letter follows:

"Mayor's Office,
"City of Peterborough.

"Dear Sir or Madam,—

"You are no doubt aware of the proposed Dominion-wide celebration of the diamond jubilee, commemorating the Confederation of the Provinces of Canada, in 1867. The observance is under the auspices of the Dominion Government at Ottawa. It is expected that all over the country municipalities will hold local observances in keeping with the occasion.

"It is planned that Peterborough will do a share and do itself proud. At a meeting of citizens, held Monday evening of this week at the Great Canadian Legion Hall, it was decided, so far as the meeting could affirm, that a communication be at once forwarded to the principals of the many local institutions, societies, clubs and other activities to ask for friendly assistance and co-operation in making such a celebration a success in some general public manner.

"Will you, please, appoint a representative from your organization to join with a general committee to have charge of all arrangements in connection with such a celebration. It is asked that you make the appointment promptly, and be so good as to notify, by phone or letter, the Mayor or City Clerk at the City Building, giving name and street address of the one so appointed, who will be notified of time and place for next meeting. It is hoped that loyal and cheerful assistance will be offered by all concerned.

Respectfully yours,
"MAYOR AND CHAIRMAN.
"GENERAL SECRETARY."

Lieut.-Col. T. D. Johnston, Prince of Wales Dragoons.
Rev. Paul Costello, Knights of Columbus.

It is expected and hoped that all receiving this intimation will attend a further meeting at which the organization for the demonstration will be completed, as far as possible.

It is proposed that certain features of the day's proceedings be allotted to organizations, through their representatives present at the meeting, and from the organizations sub-committees will be formed to carry on details of presentations. In such way the work will be divided and considerable originality brought to the surface, very much better than if one committee undertook to supply suggestions and ideas. Of course, certain of the events of the day will have to be carried out in such way that a gate or admission fee will be charged, in order to gain a revenue toward expenses. While it is expected that many prizes and awards may be contributed, there will be additional outlay for fireworks, parades, swimming contests and such attractions.

Suggestions are coming in rapidly. Below is printed notes as prepared from ideas already offered and which may be considered as a basis to work on. If we can have the representatives appointed speedily and advised to the City Building, it will not be long before a working organization is in sight. It is especially desirable that all receiving the letter as above and who act on its requirements be on hand at the meeting. The programme as suggested below may be cut from the columns of the paper and preserved for reference:

"The day should be fully arranged, commencing in the morning as early as possible, say 9.30 or 10 o'clock, with water sports at the Government wharf on George street. Swimming races, say to the cemetery point and return, if the distance be not too great. Tub races, catching a live goose, walking a greasy pole over the water, and other features.

"The afternoon might bring out a carnival (on foot), or with wagons and teams as conveyances. Autos would move too fast to allow of the features of the display being noted. Prizes for best costumes, assorted into several classes. Competitive floats put in by manufacturers and merchants, Boy Scouts, High School cadets, Girl Guides; bring back the old-time hand fire engine; for one day only, and have it manned by an old-time fire brigade; also do some squirting and street watering, as of yore.

"Arrange for plenty of music, including the 57th Regiment Band, Caledonian Pipe Band (led by the great Smith family), Maple Leaf Band, Salvation Army Band, and as a rural feature with rural music, the Indian Band from Curve Lake. All these would pump out sweet strains all along the route of the parade and be engaged at points where sports are being carried on as well.

"This would help to make up a full afternoon, and the evening might conclude with concert music, fireworks and a big bon-fire lighted on the top of Armour's Hill. Something real big and impressive.

"At the conclusion of the fireworks, and the hour being too early to go home, Water street might be roped, between Charlotte street and Hunter street, for public dancing."

"It is suggested that committees to look after the various details be constructed, as for instance:

"1.—A musical committee, with some able and willing man at the head of the committee.

"2.—Another committee to engineer the water sports. Each member of this committee should be able to swim, thus showing his faith in his works, if necessary.

"3.—Strong committee to organize the sports on the Exhibition Grounds. To put up a good show of a diversified character and spend some money in prizes that would excite competition.

"4.—A procession committee of men able and willing to work. The procession would be a feature that all, especially the kids, will enjoy. Get several men who have not forgotten that they were boys to work this feature and make it a peach of a procession. It can be done.

"5.—Committee on community singing and dancing. (If it does not rain). Should the weather be unfavorable, just postpone until following evening, so that none who have valuable voices and able agility may be disappointed.

"6.—Committee to incite the merchants of the city to show how well and surprisingly handsomely the shop windows can be dressed. This feature will be very good advertising for those who make the effort.

"7.—A committee on finances needs a bunch of men who know 'who have it,' as they used to say in Ennismore. This committee will turn a deaf ear to any man who pleads that the expense of running his car has made him close-fisted. He can lock the car up for the day as most of the attractions can be easily and better seen on foot, which is the conveyance most of the public make use of.

"8.—Committee to solicit and secure prizes. The men on the work must be very firm and resolute, men who will not take 'no' for an answer. This chore should be done before men get out of town."

The meeting will suggest many other committees, and when the work is apportioned it will be only fun for most of them. As the ladies will come forward from local organizations, it is not suggested just what might be offered under feminine auspices. Men who were asked as to what the ladies might suggest and do declined to take any risks. Said they had learned by experience that it was well to let some things alone. Besides, the ladies were thoroughly competent in anything undertaken. "Let 'em have a free hand," was about the general opinion, so we may look for developments.

Taken by and large the promise is for a day of days. There are many people in the city who witnessed the initial celebration of the Confederation of the Provinces, sixty years ago, and who will take pleasure in seeing how well the anniversary can be put forward by those who have grown up in the interval.

It must not be overlooked that special care be taken to organize the school children and get them into some feature that will be instructive and helpful. This detail needs a very special committee to take charge and work the matter into a fine feature of the day.

Many names have been suggested to be placed on the several committees, but to include such in these notes would be to anticipate the action to be taken by the delegates to the next general public meeting, and all might not see alike. It looks, however, that we will have men and women quite willing to act, which is a personal thing that has been lacking, in a public way, for many years.

HAS GOOD HEALTH DUE TO FRUIT-A-TIVES

MR. E. LUNDSTROM.

Mr. E. Lundstrom, Hoadley, Ala., says: "Fruit-a-tives" is the finest laxative we have ever used. It is certainly all that is claimed for it and we are never without a box in the house. Everyone should profit by our experience and keep in good health by taking 'Fruit-atives.'"

The exceptional merit of "Fruit-a-tives" lies in the fact that it is composed of nature's medicine for constipation—the juices of oranges, apples, prunes and figs—these are combined with tonics so that while correcting constipation it also builds up a run-down system. There is no other remedy like "Fruit-a-tives." It is unique and wonderfully effective. It will put a stop to constipation, which keeps you listless and off colour—and will restore your energy and enjoyment of life. Purchase a box today as your start to freedom—25c and 50c everywhere.

OLDE TYME CONCERT IS WELL ATTENDED

Marmora Booster Club's Entertainment is Very Successful.

MARMORA, March 5.—The olde tyme concert, given in the town hall on Tuesday evening by local talent under the auspices of Marmora Booster Club drew a large attendance. Previous to the rendition of the first number, President J. P. Marrin paid tribute to Mr. W. A. Sanderson for the initiative taken by him in this venture and also referred to the work of the club. Practically half of the programme was furnished by the Deloro string quartette and the Marmora male quartette. Members of the former are Messrs. S. B. Wright, R. Hunter, A. V. Yates, and W. L. Rigg, with Mrs. S. B. Wright as pianist. Members of the male quartette are Messrs. W. A. Sanderson, W. M. Lester, W. L. Rigg, and J. F. Baker, with Mrs. W. Litt as pianist.

The string quartette was heard to great advantage in the various medleys of old-fashioned airs which they contributed to the evening's pleasure. High-class vocal music was also forthcoming from the male quartette and the various soloists. The versatile Ross Hunter, in conjunction with Mrs. Hunter at the piano, got everyone going strong through his leadership of the community singing, transporting the audience from the simplicity of catchy refrains to the sublimity of "Nearer, My God, to Thee."

The appreciation of the audience to promoters and entertainers was voiced at the close in a motion put by Reeve G. B. Airhart, which was seconded by Dr. H. Crawford.

Programme.

Community Singing.
Song, "The Darky's Bible"—Mr. J. F. Baker.
"Old Black Joe"—Marmora Male Quartette.
Solo, "Carry Me Back to Old Virginny"—Mrs. W. Williams.
Song, "Wall I Swan"—Mr. J. F. Baker.
Selection—Deloro String Quartette.
"In the Gloaming"—Marmora Male Quartette.

Despite the big counter attraction at Deloro on Monday evening, the town hall, Marmora, was well filled on the occasion of the return visit of the Musical Eckardts who put on an entertainment which won favorable comment. The attendance was swelled by a large number who came from Bonarlaw and Springbrook.

MARCH MEETING ST. JOHN'S W.M.S.

Officers Re-elected, With Mrs. Haig as the President.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 5.—The ladies of St. John's W. M. S. held their March meeting on Tuesday afternoon in the Sunday School rooms. There were 48 ladies present. The Scripture lesson, Isaiah 5:5, was read by Mrs. Bateson. The Treasurer's report was read and adopted. A hymn was sung, after which Mrs. Phillips lead in prayer. Special mention was made of Canon and Mrs. Simmons, who this week returned to their missionary work in Honan, China, from Stirling.

A synopsis of the sixth chapter of the Study Book, "How We May Help to Establish the Indian Church," was then given.

Election of officers then took place, with Mrs. Haig as President. All the officers were re-elected to their positions, and Mrs. Robert Moore was elected Christian Stewardship Secretary, and Mrs. J. Saunders was made Missionary Secretary.

St. Andrew's Y.P.S.

St. Andrew's Young People held an interesting meeting on Monday evening. Mr. Thomas Campbell was in the chair and took charge of the meeting. The opening hymn was, "Jesus is Tenderly Calling To-day." This was followed by the Lord's Prayer in unison. Another hymn was then sung. The Scripture lesson was from St. Matthew, 13th chapter, and read responsively. Members present then responded to the roll call by the Secretary, Miss Grace Blue. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted.

Warkworth society has accepted the invitation of St. Andrew's Y. P., and will spend the evening with St. Andrew's on March 7th. It was decided that the Honorary President and President welcome the visiting society.

The topic taken by Miss Bertha Blue was, "The Standards of the Presbyterian Church." A few remarks were then given by Mrs. Hume and Miss Watson. The collection was taken, and after singing, "Jesus Shall Reign Wher'er the Sun," and repeating the Mizpah benediction, the meeting closed.

Canadian Department Stores, Limited

First and Refunding Mortgage Income Gold Bonds

7% Series "A"

To be dated: March 1st, 1927. To mature: March 1st, 1947.

Principal and interest payable in Canadian gold coin of the present standard of weight and fineness at the offices of the Montreal Trust Company in Toronto. Interest cumulative at the rate of 7% per annum from March 1st, 1927. First year's interest payable March 1st, 1928; thereafter payable March 1st and September 1st in each year. Interest and sinking fund to be paid exclusively out of available Net Income as defined in the Trust Indenture. Redeemable as a whole or in part on any interest date on 60 days' notice at 105 and accrued interest. Free from Dominion, Provincial and Municipal normal taxes ordinarily withheld at the source. Fully registered bonds in denominations of $1,000, $500 and $100.

MONTREAL TRUST COMPANY, TRUSTEE.

Approximately $2,700,000 of these Series "A" bonds are being purchased by former owners of the constituent companies, and are being taken in payment for their properties.

CAPITALIZATION

First and Refunding Mortgage Income Gold Bonds. 7% Series "A" (this issue)	*10,000,000	4,250,000
7% Preferred Stock	4,000,000	1,500,000
Common Stock (no par value)	250,000 shares	250,000 shares

*Additional First and Refunding Mortgage Income Gold Bonds may be issued in series under the conservative restrictions of the Trust Indenture, which provides that future Bonds may be issued only for refunding purposes and for the acquisition of additional stores up to 60% of their appraised value.

Mr. G. H. Rennie, President, and who is to be General Manager of the Company, summarizes from his letter to us as follows:

Company: Canadian Department Stores, Limited, has been incorporated for the purpose of effecting a consolidation of 21 department stores operating in the principal cities of the Province of Ontario and one store operating in Montreal. The individual stores have been established and in successful operation for a period averaging more than 44 years, and in the majority of cases are the leading merchandising institutions in their respective communities. The population of the Province of Ontario represents approximately one-third of the entire population of the Dominion. The Province absorbs more than 46% of the merchandise distributed in Canada, and contains over 36% of the total homes in the country. The territory served by the stores to be owned by the Company embraces more than 50% of the population of the Province.

Security: The First and Refunding Mortgage Income Gold Bonds will be secured, in the opinion of counsel, by a direct first mortgage on the fixed assets of the Ottawa store and all the other fixed assets of the Company now owned or hereafter acquired, subject only to $2,500,000 First Mortgage 6½% Bonds to be presently outstanding.

A consolidated balance sheet of the amalgamating stores as of December 31, 1926, as certified by Neff, Robertson & Co., chartered accountants, after giving effect to the consolidation and the financing in connection therewith, and including fixed assets, as appraised by Canadian Appraisal Company, Limited, shows net tangible assets of approximately $8,672,000. The Company covenants that it will pay no dividends on its capital stock while any of these bonds are outstanding, if such payment will reduce its net current assets below $2,000,000.

Earnings: Net earnings, as certified by Neff, Robertson & Co., available for interest on these Series "A" bonds for the ten years ended December 31, 1925, after deducting all operating expenses and annual interest requirements of the First Mortgage Bonds to be presently outstanding, but before deducting depreciation and certain non-recurring charges, have averaged $538,551 annually, or nearly twice the annual interest requirements of this issue. In no year of the above period have such net earnings been less than the combined annual interest requirements of the First Mortgage and First and Refunding Mortgage Income Gold Bonds to be presently outstanding.

It is expected that centralized buying of merchandise from large manufacturers and economies to be effected through consolidated operation will result in a substantial increase in net earnings from even the present volume of gross business. Based upon specific assurances from many manufacturers and wholesalers and a careful survey of possible operating economies, it is estimated that the net earnings available for bond interest for the first full year of consolidated operation will be in excess of $1,000,000, or more than three times the interest requirements on these Series "A" Bonds.

Purpose of Issue: The Series "A" bonds are being issued in part to the former owners of the constituent companies in payment for their properties and in part for cash to provide funds for the retirement of constituent company indebtedness, working capital and other corporate purposes.

Sinking Fund: A sinking fund, starting March 1st, 1930, payable out of available net income after paying all interest on these Bonds, equivalent annually to 2% of the largest amount of Series "A" bonds ever outstanding, is designed to retire bonds through purchase at or below 105 and accumulated interest or through call by lot at that price. In addition to this regular sinking fund, it is provided in the Trust Indenture that after the payment in any one year of dividends of $250,000 on the Common Stock an amount equivalent to 20% of any further Common dividends paid in that year will be set aside and used as an additional sinking fund for the retirement of bonds of this issue.

Management: The management of the Company will be under the direct supervision of Mr. G. H. Rennie, President, and who is to be General Manager, and who for the past several years has been Assistant General Manager of Robert Simpson Company, Limited, of Toronto. Mr. Rennie's executive staff and the Board of Directors will be composed largely of men previously associated with the successful operation of the various constituent companies.

These bonds are offered when, as and if issued and received by us, subject to the approval of all legal details by Messrs. Hearst, Mills & Hearst for the Company and Messrs. Osler, Hoskin & Harcourt of Toronto for the Trustee. Delivery will be made in the form of temporary bonds or interim receipts on or about March 15, 1927.

Price: 100, to Yield 7%

There will be delivered with each $1,000 bond of this issue 5 shares of the no par value Common Stock of the Company.

Orders may be telephoned or telegraphed at our expense.
A Descriptive Circular will be mailed upon request.

SOUTH

South deals—Bid and play each hand on its own merit, and as though the others were not exposed.

HERE ARE RULES OF BRIDGE CONTEST

1.—Each week until further notice a different deal of bridge hands will be printed. These hands have been conceived by bridge experts and the bidding and play has been worked out by Ellis O. Jones, author of "Scientific Bidding," and a recognized bridge authority. The object of the contest is to bid and play the hands as they should be played in a regular game, with only the dummy in sight, to secure the highest possible number of points from each deal. The bidding and play has been carefully worked out by Mr. Jones and his solution, now on file in The Examiner office, will be used to determine the winner. The prize will go to the contestant who works out the bidding and play of each card just as Mr. Jones has done.

2.—In addition, each contestant must write an article of not more than 100 words explaining some particular point in the bidding or play of the hand. If several contestants submit exactly the same solution Mr. Jones has worked out, the prize will go to the one submitting the best article and the neatest solution.

3.—Each contestant should tabulate the bidding and play in the blank form at the right or on a separate piece of paper drawn up in a similar form.

4.—All contestants must have their solution in The Examiner office by midnight, Thursday, March 10.

5.—The contest is open to every reader of The Examiner except employees of this paper and their immediate families.

6.—A contestant may submit as many solutions as desired, but all must be in accordance with the rules.

7.—No one is required to buy a copy of this paper to compete. Copies of the paper may be examined at The Examiner office.

8.—As a condition of entry all contestants must agree to abide by the decisions and awards of the Contest Editors.

SOLUTION FOR BRIDGE HAND NO. 2

(Cut out the bidding form and blank below, fill it in as you think the hand should be played and mail it to the Bridge Contest Editor, The Examiner, before midnight, March 10).

Indicate below how you believe the hands above should be bid and played. Use pencil because ink will blot.

Use C for Clubs, D for Diamonds, H for Hearts, S for Spades, NT for No Trump, DBL for Double and REDBL for Re-Double.

HOW TO FILL OUT THE BLANKS

Fill in each play in every trick in the squares above, just as you think each card should be played. Name the cards in this manner, for example: S—4 for the four spot of spades; H—K for the king of hearts; D—J for the jack of diamonds, and C—Q for the queen of clubs, etc. Do not use the letter K (Knave) for J (Jack). Indicate which hand leads in every trick by placing an (L) in parenthesis after the play. Thus if you believe in the first hand in the play North would lead the six of diamonds. East would play the king, South the ace and West the three-spot, you would put D—A under South and opposite Trick No. 1 in the squares above, D—3 under West, D—6 (L) under North and D—K under East. Then in one of the last two columns mark an X under which two partners won the trick.

WINNER OF LAST WEEK'S COMPETITION
S. LOWE, 231 King street.

Mr. Lowe wrote:
"A little slam in no trump could be obtained by East provided North and South did not retain their spades, but in bidding clubs it is impossible to prevent a little slam."

Here is the way Ellis O. Jones, author of "Scientific Bidding" and bridge expert of The Examiner, says the hand in Bridge Contest No. 1 of The Examiner should be bid and played.

In the play of Mr. Jones, East-West made a six clubs or a little slam, scoring a grand total of 251 points, counting 125 for game.

Here is what Mr. Jones says was the correct way to bid the hands:

Mr. Jones gives the following explanation of the bidding:

By ELLIS O. JONES
Bridge Expert and Autor of Scientific Bidding

West recognizes his hand as a two-suiter, always valuable, and bids the higher ranking first. When North passes, East, holding but a singleton of his partner's spades, must take him out and says no-trump. As West considers his two doubletons distinct danger signals for a no-trump, he mentions his other suit, saying two clubs.

Now East must do some real thinking. Shall he say two no-trump or heed his partner's warning and let the clubs stand? He knows his partner has at least two sure tricks, at least four spades and probably five clubs, leaving four cards to be divided between the other two suits. He figures that no matter how West's high-card strength lies, there is a splendid chance for game in clubs, whereas it would not be at all difficult for North-South to get five tricks at no-trumps and thus stop game.

As a matter of fact, there would be five odd in no-trump, as North-South, by proper discarding, must win the ace of diamonds and either a spade, a heart or a diamond, depending on how the declarer marshals his forces.

At clubs, it is a little slam against any defense. North opens with the highest of a weak suit of three. After trick four, West can see five odd sure. After the heart finesse holds at trick 6, it is a lay-down for the remainder.

ART STUDY CLUB HOLDS MEETING

Interesting Paper on "Decorative Painting" Given By Mrs. Munro.

PICTURES EXHIBITED.

At the meeting of the Art Study Club, held this week at the home of Miss B. Beatty, an interesting paper on "Decorative Painting" was read by Mrs. J. E. R. Munro. The response to the roll call was the exhibition of a favorite picture by each member.

Mrs. Munro's paper dealt with the history of decorative painting, from the time of Giotto to the present day. The earlier paintings of devitalized and inanimate Madonnas and of the Christ Child gave way later to the impressionistic idea of representing emotion on canvas, rather than confining all attention to appearances.

"This decorative treatment has grown and undergone many changes and the present trend of art is toward a decorative design rather than a pictorial representation of nature. Today painting is cosmopolitan.

"Canada seems as near, or perhaps nearer, to possessing a national school or style than any other country. Certainly Canadian artists are painting in a much broader style now than they did a few years ago. There is, however, one great tendency, obtaining in all countries—the decorative. Design has never been as evident as now. Instead of being unconscious of it, as in the older types of paintings, one becomes immediately conscious of its presence. Portraiture shows the decorative influence least of all."

Perhaps the greatest British exponent of decorative art is Frank Brangwyn, R.A., who from boyhood was familiar with the splendors of Flemish tapestries, which turned his bent towards decorative art. Other prominent British artists whose work shows the decorative tendency are Sir D. Y. Cameron, Philip Connard, R.A., Augustus John, A. R. A., and Fred. Cayley-Robinson.

Referring again to the work of Canadian artists, Mrs. Munro spoke of the work of the Group of Seven, who turned to the harsher outlines of the North Country, away from the pastoral softness of background and atmosphere encountered in the older and more settled portions.

"Since earliest days artists have been peculiar beings, in that they rarely wish to paint what the public desires, but will persist in giving th ebeauties of nature as they see them. And fortunate it is for the art of the world that these were strong souls, who would rather starve than paint what their inner souls did not prompt."

In choosing pictures for interior decoration in the home, "only our judgment, as a result of study, and our personal taste can guide us." The effect of a brilliantly-colored picture of flowers, for instance, on the emotions and mind of the owner, was emphasized by the speaker, who went on to give some interesting descriptions of the methods used in making etchings and engravings.

"In conclusion, let us remember that if a Canadian picture is purchased with discernment, the picture is a good investment and will increase in value with the years. Mr. Beatty, a recent visitor to our city, spoke of Paul Peel's 'Venetian Bather,' purchased first for $167 and sold finally to the National Gallery for $10,000."

Mrs. Munro quoted as follows: "Canadians usually buy reproductions of old masters to put in their very modern homes. The originals of these were painted for great churches, sombre monasteries, austere galleries. They do not go well with the rose shaded lamps, chintz chesterfields and polished mahogany of our day. Nor do they fit in with the high, bright sunlight of the Canadian climate.

"Now, what we should have in our houses is something native to the country. We need color, vivid color, not these subdued, deep tones of the restrained old masters. Don't you see that the brightness of Canadian pictures is much more in keeping with our interiors than these reproductions from gallery pictures of the Old World."

The next meeting of the Art Study Club will be held on Tuesday, March 15, at the home of Mrs. W. Sangster, when a paper on Japanese prints will be read by Miss Grace Reinhardt, and the response to the roll call will be a note on the customs and costumes of Japan.

UNIVERSITY SOCIETY GIVES HIM HIGH POST

J. M. R. Fairbairn Elected President of Engineering Alumni.

TORONTO, March 5.—The election of J. M. R. Fairbairn, Chief Engineer of the C.P.R., as President of the Engineering Alumni of the University of Toronto, was announced at a dinner-smoker of the Alumni held in Hart House recently. More than 150 graduates acclaimed the new President with the enthusiastic spirit characteristic of a gathering of "school" men.

The chief speakers of the evening were Sir Robert Falconer, President of the university, and Mr. Fairbairn. Sir Robert outlined the plans as developed, so far, for the celebration of the centenary of the founding of the university next October.

Mr. Fairbairn stressed the necessity for all graduates to support the celebration, which, he pointed out, would also commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the School of Practical Science.

The results of the recent election of the Alumni Council was announced as follows: Honorary President, T. H. Hogg, '07; President, J. M. R. Fairbairn, '93; First Vice-President, C. E. MacDonald, '18; Second Vice-President, A. E. K. Bunnell, '06; Third Vice-President, T. R. Loudon, '05; Treasurer, A. M. Reid, '23; Secretary, S. A. Robertson, '08. Council—Toronto, J. H. Craig, '10, and G. D. Maxwell, '21; outside points, F. J. Lyle, '23, and W. D. Black, '09.

Mr. Fairbairn is a former resident of Peterborough.

Learn How To Punctuate.

Otherwise Readers of Your Writing Must Guess at Meaning.

Of course, you have heard the old story of the man who put all of the period, commas, and other punctuation marks at the end of his letter with instruction to the reader to place them to suit himself.

How would you like reading your newspaper without punctuation marks? Why is it not just as difficult to make sense out of a letter which omits them? It is, so if you wish to make your meaning clear, learn to punctuate—and do it.

In one of the many useful special sections of the new dictionary now being offered through this newspaper, there will be found examples setting forth the use of each of the marks of punctuation, and an explanation showing how easy it is to use them correctly.

Many other exclusive educational feature are incorporated in this dictionary. The coupon, which is printed elsewhere in this issue explains how you can get it.

WESTWOOD NEWS

WESTWOOD, March 5.—Frank White of Caughnawaga has purchased the creamery building from Thomas J. Cardwell. Mr. White came to the village on Monday.

Henry Ingram and Max Kidd of Young's Point were in the village on Monday attending the Cardwell auction sale.

Benjamin Cardwell held a very successful auction sale of his farm stock and implements on Monday afternoon, Mr. Battersby of Campbellford being auctioneer. The weather was ideal and the crowd was large. Good prices were realized, cows bringing as high as $84, and a two-year old colt $114. The proceeds of the sale amounted to over $4,000.

A very successful "Old Tyme Dance" was held on Monday evening in the Town Hall. There was a good crowd and an enjoyable time was spent.

One of the factors in Chrysler's amazing advance from twenty-seventh to fourth place—in three years' time—has been the widespread recognition of the startling difference in full size, performance and appearance between the Chrysler "50" and the only four other four-cylinder cars of large production.
By the simple process of a mental comparison of the "50" with these four other fours, the public has discovered in the Chrysler "50" elements of progressiveness in such striking contrast as to compel a decision in favor of the Chrysler "50".

COMMITTEES DO ROUTINE WORK

Board of Works and Finance Committee Hold Regular Meetings.

NEW STOP BY-LAW.

Routine business only was transacted at the meetings of the Finance Committee and Board of Works last night. Due to the absence of a number of Aldermen some matters not very urgent were not considered, being left over either for the Council on Monday or for the next Finance Committee meeting.

A request from the Ontario Tourist Association for an increased membership fee, namely $100 instead of $80, this year, was not given a very hearty reception, the Mayor expressing the opinion that most of the benefit accured to Toronto, and the usual payment of $80 was voted. While this was under discussion, Mayor Holloway referred to maps issued by the Dominion Government on blotters, which had not shown Peterborough. A letter had been sent by Mr. Armstrong to Ottawa, remarking on the omission, and a reply, giving thanks for constructive criticism, was accompanied by another series of maps of various sizes, all showing Peterborough quite prominently.

A by-law was ordered prepared providing for the payment of various grants included in the estimates. After the Board of Works meeting, John Edgar, Secretary of the Children's Aid Society, appeared to ask that the society be given $1,500 instead of $1,200 in view of various heavy expenses. His request was promised consideration.

The Board of Works ordered the preparation of a by-law requiring all motor vehicles to stop before crossing a railway, and decided to put "Stop" signs similar to those marking the through streets, at the crossings on Park Street at McDonnel and Westcott Streets. The danger at these crossing had been pointed out to the C.N.R., which replied that they were no more dangerous than many level crossings and that the installation of signals at all such crossings would entail a considerable expenses on both city and railway. (The protective systems at various crossings in the city now cost $2,300).

A representative of the Sawyer-Massey Company was present and showed literature and illustrations of rock crushers and road maintainers. The purchase of these machines was recommended to the Council in the report of the City Engineer and was passed by the Board. Last night the Board authorized the preparation of a by-law to issue $8,000 debentures for the purchase of this equipment.

The stone crusher at present used by the city has been in service 18 years, and besides being expensive due to repairs, has not the capacity for the amount of work the city does on its streets now. $2,400 was spent on it during the past four years, and the purchase of a new one was recommended by City Engineer Parsons and Chairman J. O. Fife as being economical.

The road maintainer is a power grader and scarifier and is particularly useful in breaking up and clearing away the hard snow, such as has formed the dangerous ruts on many of the city streets this winter. None of the Aldermen opposed the purchase of either piece of machinery, although Ald. McIntyre favored buying them out of the general rate instead of increasing the debenture debt and paying interest on the bonds. Ald. Phelan favored the issue of debenture so that future ratepayers, who would get the use of the machines, would help pay for them.

The preparation of a by-law requiring citizens to shovel off their walks, supplementary to the snow ploughs, was left to a small committee. It was not intended that they should be required to shovel off all the snow, but that they should level off and widen out the track of the plough.

Topic for the Week
"GOD IS A SPIRIT"
Saturday
"God is Personal."

SCRIPTURE: Read—Psalms 42.

"One is your Father, even he who is in heaven" (Mt. 23:9). "Like as a father pitieth his children, so the Lord pitieth them that fear him" (Ps. 103:13). "How precious also are thy thoughts unto me, O God!" (Ps. 139:17).

See—Psalms 23; Exodus 3:13, 14; Matthew 6:9.

MEDITATION: One does not deal with his father or friend as with electricity; nor should I relate myself to the great "World-Ground" (God) as to a machine—rather as to a friend. If I must think of the Creator in terms of law let it be the law of personality. Let me relate myself to God as to brothers.

"My God . . . let me start again on the path of existence, no longer in search of Thee, but with Thee."

HYMN:

Dear Lord and Father of mankind,
Forgive our feverish ways;
Reclothe us in our rightful mind,
In purer lives thy service find,
In deeper reverence, praise.

Drop thy still dews of quietness,
Till all our strivings cease;
Take from our souls the strain and stress,
And let our ordered lives confess
The beauty of thy peace.
Breathe through the hearts of our desire
Thy coolness and thy balm;
Let sense be dumb, let flesh retire;
Speak through the earthquake, wind and fire,
O still small voice of calm.
—John G. Whittier, 1872.

PRAYER: Pray for—enrichment of our daily toil; true penitence; prayerless Christians.

Collect—O Lord our God, Father of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, Thy love is unsullied, full and free.

Thou art conquering the hearts of men by the surrender of Thyself. Thou art showing high trust in us, can we not trust Thee. We praise Thee for the life, death and resurrection of Thy Son in whom we see the Father. Give us to know the fellowship of His suffering and the power of His resurrection with its pledge of our ongoing life. We beseech Thee to be our alley in the conflict with evil. Give us the love that triumphs. Use us for the transformation of the world into the kingdom of Christ. Seal within us our purpose to live for eternity and to Thee be all the praise. Amen.

DAY OF PRAYER OBSERVED HERE

Women's Missionary Societies of City Gather at St. Andrew's Church.

HELPFUL MEETING.

The World's Day of Prayer, arranged by the Women's Missionary Boards of Canada for March 4th, was observed in St. Andrew's United Church Friday afternoon at 3.30. A very large congregation was in attendance, and the meeting was of marked interest. Mrs. Bookhout of Trinity United Church presided, and at an appropriate moment gave a brief address, explaining the purpose of the meeting. The object of this Day of Prayer was to unite all Christian women in a fellowship of intercession for every woman of every land.

The Scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Wasson of Mark Street United Church. The following women led the meeting in prayer:

Mrs. C. H. Edwards, St. Andrew's United Church; Mrs. Wright, Park street Baptist; Mrs. Buckler, St. James United Church; Miss Dixon, Knox United Church; Mrs. McLellan, Murray Street Baptist; Mrs. Robert Hall, St. Paul's Presbyterian; Mrs. Beattie, All Saints' Anglican, and Mrs. T. A. Laing, Salvation Army.

Mrs. F. H. Doig, soloist of St. Andrew's Church, sang most helpfully, "Where He Leads Me, I Will Follow."

Mrs. (Rev.) J. W. Gordon presided at the organ, and played the accompaniment for Mrs. Doig.

An offering was received for the Labrador Mission amounting to over $25.00.

It was a fine meeting, impressive in its deeply devotional spirit and entirely in keeping with the spirit of the occasion.

SPEAKER PLEADS FOR BON ENTENTE

President of Quebec Women's Canadian Club Addresses Local Club.

An open meeting of the Women's Canadian Club was held in the auditorium of the Public Library last evening, with a good attendance. Madame Fremont, President of the Women's Canadian Club of Quebec City, was the visiting speaker for the occasion, and gave an interesting address descriptive of the ideals and characteristics of the French-Canadian people. Speaking with a charming accent, with careful, slow enunciation and dramatic emphasis, she voiced the wish for the "bon entent" which animates her compatriots, bringing from the club of which she is president, their greetings and expressions of good will.

"I am sure that if we knew each other better, we would hold a deeper appreciation for each other," said Madame Fremont, going on to take a plea for knowledge of the French language amongst the English-speaking people of the Dominion. "He who speaks two or more languages, doubles and intensifies his intellectual life."

"In family life, it is not so much that we must cut off all angles, but to arrange them so that they do not strike too roughly against each other," she said, referring to the need of knowledge of each other's ideals and characters. In a reference to the long settlement of the French in Canada, since 1608, Madame Freimont praised the courage and endurance of the early women settlers, and of the adherence of the French of today to "the traditions, the ideals, and the religion of our forefathers."

She recommended strongly the inculcation of the Golden Rule: "Do unto others as you would that they should do unto you," in the children of Canada, and spoke of the duty of mothers in impressing upon their children a broad and patriotic spirit between the two races. Children should be taught tolerance and a national viewpoint.

Speaking of the utterance of the late Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, Hon. Harry Cockshutt, when he recommended the drawing of the provinces together and the fostering of goodwill and friendship between them, Madame Fremont said, "The interests of Ontario and Quebec are almost identical, and this should lead to a good understanding between them." She went on to read the description of "Our Country" by the old Uncle John of the narrative, who regarded "our country" in the light of the "memories, the traditions and the beliefs" of the race, and spoke also of the common belief that the people of Quebec speak only a patois, which has been contradicted by the honors bestowed upon many of its literary folk, by the French Academy. Concluding with a reference to the various public institutions, the universities and the good roads Quebec, she said, "The heart of Quebec is loyal and patriotic. Its pulse is regular and is strong enough to give to Canada a rich and bountiful blood circulation which is an assurance of a future of solid and ever-increasing development."

Miss A. Lancaster, occupying the chair in the absence of the president, Mrs. J. Forbes Allan, voiced the sincere appreciation of the audience to Madame Fremont, and a series of lantern slides descriptive of Quebec City was then given, the machine being operated by Mr. V. R. Henry. The slides were clear and interesting, showing among other views the ancient gates of the old citadel, the houses at one time occupied by Montcalm and Wolfe, and their monuments, the battlefields and markets, Champlain's monument, several of the streets and ancient ramps, and the old-time caleche or high wooden cart, with its two immense wheels.

General Motors today announces an entirely new line of Pontiac Sixes, notably enhanced in beauty, incorporating numerous refinements in design, carrying new low prices—and constituting the most electrifying development in the low-priced six field since the now-historic introduction of the original Pontiac Six!

New Fisher Bodies Never before in any low-priced six have been achieved such commanding beauty and luxury. Lending luster to even the Fisher tradition of masterly craftsmanship, the new bodies by Fisher are longer, lower and superbly executed to the slightest detail.

All New Duco Colors To emphasize their inherent smartness, all body types are finished in new combinations of Duco colors. Ranging from Beverly Blue and Black on the sedan to Cherokee Gray on the Sport Cabriolet, the originality and freshness of these combinations accentuate the beauty of the new bodies.

New Beauty and Style Pontiac Six beauty has always been outstanding. But now in these new and finer models has been achieved not only new beauty, but also an arresting rakishness—the result of a deeper radiator; larger, heavier, and more sweeping crown fenders; and more massive headlamps. Windshield pillars are narrowed to conform to the accepted custom-built vogue and to provide a wider arc of visibility. Window ledges are smartly recessed and finished in a contrasting color. Every wanted appointment has been provided to maintain Pontiac Six standards of convenience and luxury.

Mechanical Refinements In addition to the numerous elements of greater beauty and style, the new and finer Pontiac Six introduces many new features and refinements in engineering design—such as tilting-beam headlights with foot control, new transmission and brake levers, steering wheel with aluminum spider, a clutch even smoother and more positive in action and an oil-sealed universal joint.

Two New Body Types Two entirely new body types of characteristic beauty have been added to the Pontiac Six line. These are a dashing, youthful Sport Roadster, finished in Lucerne Blue, striped with Faerie Red; and a 4-passenger Sport Cabriolet, with Brevoort Green top and fenders, and body in Cherokee Gray striped with orange to rival the vogue and smartness of the highest priced cars of the day. Both are offered at prices which reflect the economies of General Motors' tremendous purchasing power.

* * * * * *

From the hour of its introduction, the Pontiac Six kindled enthusiasm all over the land. Developed on the great General Motors Proving Ground, it introduced elements of stamina, performance, economy and comfort unheard of at the price. Already more than 75,000 are serving owners with complete satisfaction.

Now there is a new and finer Pontiac Six, built in vast new factories and offering even more commanding beauty, even more advanced engineering at even lower prices—a triumph reflecting all the experience, skill and tremendous resources of General Motors!

Come in! See this history-making car! P-1327A

(By F.D.C.)

Tweed won the Hastings County Championship and the Embury-Tummon Cup for the second time in succession before a capacity crowd at Brock Street Rink last night, when they defeated Stirling 2 goals to 1 after ten minutes of overtime.

A loose puck golfed from Stirling's blue line by George Geraldi, Tweed's right wing player that glanced into the net off a Tweed defence man and hit the curtains well out of Hulin's reach, gave Tweed their victory. It was a lucky effort, that final goal, but on the other hand the winners had more chances to score on the night's play than the conquerors of Marmora and were entitled to a break.

It was a real battle all the way, marked by close hard checking and with every player on both teams giving every last ounce to turn the tide of victory. Cheered on by big delegations of fans from their home districts and with Peterborough attendants dividing their support between the two outfits the, Hastings County finalists fought until the final bell and provided a battle that for excitement and determination must rank as one of the outstanding contests of the season.

There was no score in the first period. Stirling got their only goal in the second dash, playing a man short, and Howson, Tweed's diminutive centre, who had been outlucked several times after fine efforts, sewed up the game midway in the last period, paving the way for Geraldi's horse-shoe marker in the overtime.

Tweed's victory was merited.

The Blue and White team combined better and worked in close more persistently than the Stirling players whose attacks were largely individual in nature and who did a lot of their shooting from outside the defence. The winners had the edge in the last period and in the overtime and while their margin of superiority was not large, neutral observers came away convinced that the better team on the night's performance had captured the championship.

Referee Bert McLeod kept a hard game well in hand, and although there was nothing of a vicious nature the vigorous checking of the rival crews resulted in nineteen penalties; Stirling drawing eleven of them.

Outstanding in Tweed's victory was the work of Howson, the little centre player. He was the smoothest stick-handler on the ice, broke fast and was hard to stop and he might easily have had a couple more goals beside the one that tied up the game in the last period. The Geraldi brothers along the boards both turned in smart performances, while Quinn, on the defence, got better as the game went along and was especially effective in the closing stages. Brown handled himself nicely in the nets, making a lot of first saves.

Hulin, Stirling's goaler, was one of their stars. He flopped into a host of hard shots and there would have been no overtime necessary had it not been for his clever blocking. H. Ingram, the fast skating defence player, was a tower of strength, while up in front Scott, the left winger, proved a veritable hornet by reason of his determined checking. Wallace, who was the siege gun of the Stirling team against Marmora, was well looked after last night, and got but few chances to cut loose his dangerous shot.

Both teams travelled at a rapid clip in the first period, but the checking was so close that there were only a couple of real opportunities to score during the whole twenty minutes. Scott, early in the period, almost poked in a rebound when Brown was slow in clearing, and that was the closest Stirling came to scoring in the first dash, while Tweed's best opportunity came when Howson dodged through the Stirling forwards, split the defence wide open and waltzed through on top of Hulin, then, with the Stirling goalie at his mercy, flipped the rubber over the net. Stirling was twice short-handed during the period, Tulloch drawing a pair of penalties, while Quinn of the Tweed team also served a two-minute sentence.

Early in the second period came Stirling's only goal. It was registered just after the Green and White had lost the services of Scott who was banished for slashing. Tulloch got away for a nice rush and let drive a high shot from the left boards and the goal umpire signalled for a goal. Tweed protested that the shot hit a post, but the marken was allowed.

Tweed retaliated with a rush that came within an inch of evening up the count. Howson stick-handled inside, and although closely checked managed to push the rubber at Hulin who blocked the shot. The puck lay on the line and the goal umpire raised his hand just as it was cleared but Referee McLeod saw the play for himself and no score was granted.

The pace was red hot following this close call, and Tweed, pressing in closer than their red-sweatered opponents, fought hard to tie up the count. They came close more than once, but Hulin made some great saves, and Stirling's one goal lead was still safe when the teams skated off at the close of the second period.

Half the final session had been played before Howson sent the Tweed crowd wild by getting the goal that saved them from defeat. It was a happy circumstance that the honour of scoring the tieing marker should go to this clever player who had earned the distinction by his dangerous attacks. This time Howson broke away from his own defence area, with Stirling a man short and he surprised the red and white by letting go a shot as he reached the defence, instead of going inside as he had done on his other attempts. The drive whistled past Hulin and the teams were even. Tweed had a little the better of the going for the balance of the period, but Stirling held them out, making overtime necessary.

Four minutes after the extra session started George Geraldi won the game, when he batted the puck from Stirling's blue line. The rubber hit one of the Stirling players and glanced into the side of the net away from Hulin, who was blocking the other corner and hadn't a chance to make a save.

That golf stroke settled the argument. Stirling tried hard to even it up, but the team was tiring and they hadn't the punch left that was needed for the task. Tweed held them in check easily until the bell ended the battle, and supporters of the blue and white swarmed over the boards to carry their favorites in triumph from the ice.

Indian Runner Beats Record For 67 Miles

MEXICO CITY, March 5.—Tomas Zafiro, Tarahumare Indian runner, beat his own record for 100 kilometers covering the distance in 7 hours, 55 minutes. His previous record for 100 kilometers (about 67 miles) of 9 hours, 37 minutes, was made in a run from Pachuca to Mexico City last November. Record was set during an elimination race at Chihuahua to select a team to be sent to Austin, Tex. Twenty-seven Tarahumare women participated in a 45-kilometer race, which was won by Juanita Paciencia, in 4 hours, 56 minutes. Three tarahumare men and four women will make up the team.

Inside Sporting Dope

By A Wise Cracker

Mister Sporting Editor:

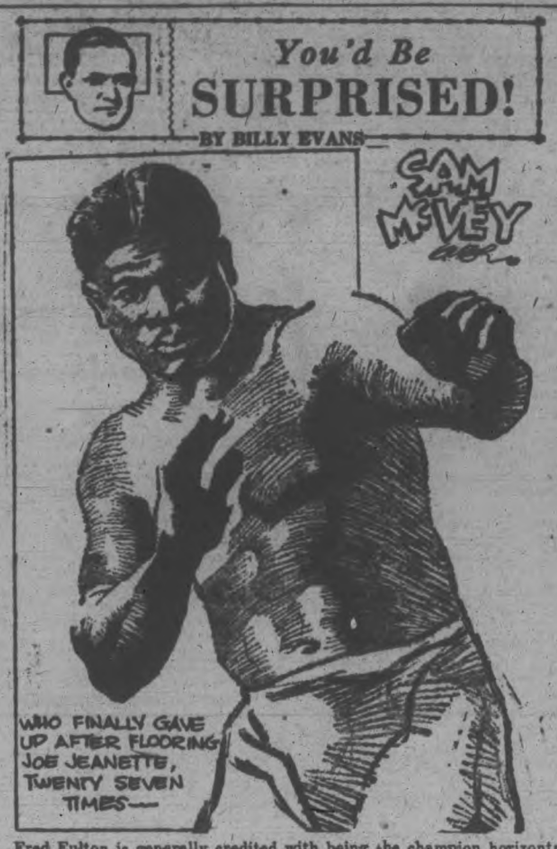
Well, the Grads has copped the senior honours, and it looks like the closest call all season for Mister Smythe's lads when it's all checked over will be found to be the group play-offs with the Petes. The Kitchener Dutchmen failed to hold the Alumni—the Dutchmen wasn't fast enough skaters to keep the x-students under, and the result was they was beaten 6 goals on the round, with Mister Plaxton, who couldn't get a marker in the Petes serious, bagging 5 against the K's. The Grads isn't likely to be closer to being beaten all season than they was when the Petes tied them up on their own ice and had a chance to cop the group right here at home. But that's all over, and the Varsity bunch, not dropping a O.H.A. game all season, deserve the tinware.

There is a lotta talk these days, Mac, about not enough scoring. What the fans like is action, and action means to most of them seeing the old washer plunk up against the back of the net. The average hockey bug'd rather see one 6 to 5 game than 3 of them 1 to 0 affairs, and it looks to me, Mister Sporting Editor, as if the rule-makers pulled a boner when they brung in this forward pass in the defense area. Of course, it was figgered out that it would speed up the game, but the trouble is the speeding up comes at the wrong end of the rink. The more the side attacked uses this forward pass the more cautious is going to be the attackers. Against a team like the Grads it is just suicide to keep sending 3-man attacks into Varsity territory, for a pass to the blue line means three men left flat-footed. The result is, Mac, wise teams is going to do their attacking with 2 men at the most, and under that system the attack is going to lose punch and goals is going to come slow. Hockey was fast enough under the old rule when teams wasn't afraid to take a chance, but if the O.h.a. magnates must have a forward pass they might as well have it in mid-ice like the pros and give the fans more action.

Thanks to our Hastings cty. friends, we ain't been without any hockey excitement this week. Wed. night the whole town of Stirling, about 2 score worth citizens of Marmora and a sprinkling of the hockey elite from all over the district moved into town to see Marmora and Stirling tangle, and a lotta Peterborough folks went out of curiosity and seen a right amart game. This Stirling gang win the verdict 3 to 2, and they earned it, the winners showing a lotta speed and great sniping ability. They had 1 bird on right wing which was no Jollat in skating or a Nighbor in poke checking, but he had a shot that was like a kick from a mule. Quick on the trigger, too, was this sharp-shooter, and take it from me, they was something on every shot. Mister Eddie Wright watched him wham the red rubber the other night and wished some of his Petes had been able to uncover a shot like that in the Grads serious.

Well, Mac, I'm writing this before the Stirling-Tweed brawl, so I can't say nothing about that, and I ain't got nothing else on my mind, so this'll be all now.

Sportfully yours,
A. WISE CRACKER.



Fred Fulton is generally credited with being the champion horizontal fighter of all time. Most of Fred's fights have finished with him on the floor. He didn't believe in getting up.

There are many who will argue that Fred lacked courage, and perhaps they are right. The ring records show that a fighter can be floored often and if he has the proper spirit, can get up and come on to win.

Joe Grim of 20 years back was nearly as popular with the floor as Fred Fulton, but Grim, known as the "human punching bag," always insisted on resuming a perpendicular position, much to the annoyance of his opponent.

Recently, a fighter by the name of Johnny Grosso engaged in a bout with Italian Jack Herman. Grosso, known for his gameness, which some people might term foolhardy, was floored 17 times by Herman before his manager acknowledged defeat by tossing the towel into the ring.

However, to Joe Jeannette goes the honors of possessing the will to win to the highest degree. His fight in Paris with Sam McVey is offered as concrete proof.

For 40 rounds McVey, a very clever fighter, swarmed all over Jeannette. During that time Jeannette went down 27 times, in which he took the count from one to nine, but always managed to be on his feet before the fatal 10.

In the 41st round McVey, weakened by his efforts to knockout Jeannette and discouraged by Joe's refusal to stay down, left the ring at the bell, walking out on the fight, Jeannette being declared the victor.

TEAMS START WORK IN SOUTH

Tiger Manager Takes Charge of Squad at San Anton.

PRACTICE WORK.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 5.—With their new manager, George Moriarty, in charge, the advance squad of the Detroit Tigers began practice here Wednesday.

Moriarty arrived in a party that also included Bob Fothergill, outfielder; Clyde Manion, catcher; Ed. Wells and Rudy Kneisch, pitchers; Marty McManus, second baseman obtained from the St. Louis Browns, and Lefty Leifield, the new coach of pitchers.

Heinie Manush, outfielder and champion batter of the American League, already was on hand and so were two young pitchers, Frank Watt and Homer (Tiny) Owens. Watt and Owens were with San Antonio last season.

Regulars Joint.

NEW YORK, March 5 (Associated Press).—Yesterday was a work-a-day, first of the 1927 baseball season, for the early birds of the New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers gathered at camp in Florida.

A few familiar names from the roster of the 1926 American League champions were scrawled on the register of the Yanks St. Petersburgh Hotel Wednesday before the 21 members of the first squad hurried to their rooms to doff overcoats and unpack linen knickers.

In the gang were Lou Gehrig, regular first baseman; Bob Shawkey and Myles Thomas, pitchers, and Spencer Adams and Mike Gazella, substitute infielders. The rest were "rookies" or promising youths gathered during the trading season. All are due for two practice sessions under the direction of Miller Huggins, mite manager of the Yanks.

Mack to Divide Athletics' Squad.

PHILADELPHIA, March 5 (Associated Press).—With the arrival of a detachment of fielders at the Philadelphia Americans' training base in Fort Myers, Fla., Manager Mack is to cut the squad in two, one training in the forenoon and the other in the afternoon. On Thursday two picked teams played the first game of the training season. Pitchers and catchers have been at Fort Myers for a week.

The first contingent of the Phillies has arrived at Bradenton, Fla. In the squad were 12 players, mostly batterymen.

Senators Start.

WASHINGTON, March 5 (Associated Press).—With the arrival at Tampa, Fla., of several regulars from Hot Springs, Ark., yesterday, batting and fielding practice was indulged in for the first time by the Washington Senators in training there.

Those expected in camp shortly are "Goose" Goslin and Sam Rice, regular outfielders, and Pitchers Coveleskie and Marberry, "Buddy" Myer, shortstop, accompanied by his bride of two weeks; Ossie Bluege, third sacker; Joe Judge, veteran first sacker, and five new infielders and outfielders have arrived at Tampa.

HYDRO BEATS MILL EASILY

SCORE IS 8-1.

Campbellford, March 4. — The Hydro had little difficulty defeating the weakened Mill team in a Town League fixture at Coverts' Arena on Wednesday night. The Mill were without Brown and Ayrhart, the two mainstays of the team, and the Hydro, at full strength, had things pretty much their own way. They also had Badgley out for the first time and the big defence player is a sure starter in the finals next week. The final score was 8 to 1.

The Bear Cats have evidently struck a winning stride and on Wednesday night disposed of the strong Tiger team in ten minutes over time, by a 4 to 2 score.

SAYS SHARKEY BETTER TALKER THAN FIGHTER

Mike McTigue Gives His Opinion Through Newspaper of Bout.

"GOOD IN MOVIES."

NEW YORK, March 5. Canadian Press. — Mike McTigue, who lost his bout with Jack Sharkey Thursday night at Madison Square Garden, when the referee stopped the fight in the twelfth round of the scheduled 15-round go, yesterday "told the world" through the columns of the New York Evening Post that he thought Sharkey a better talker than fighter.

"I don't think much of Sharkey as a heavyweight contender," he wrote under his by-line. "Jack Sharkey reminded me very much of a little boy walking through a graveyard and whistling to keep his courage up.

"In the third round he whispered to me: "I can beat you; why don't you lay down before you get hurt?" I answered: "Why don't you hit me hard enough?"

"I think the crowd that saw the fight will bear witness that I hung around until the twelfth waiting for Sharkey to hit me hard enough to impress people.

"Sharkey is a good talker inside the ropes. He can whisper much better than he can fight. The whispering didn't take any effect on me, for until the accident in the twelfth I was fully confident I would win. . . . Many times he tried to buldoze me with his weight but it didn't work worth a cent. I outfought him. He ought to go into the movies. The face he made impressed the fans more than the punches he delivered. The marks of the battle tell the tale. To-day take a look at Sharkey's face and at that of the Old Man. Which one of us looks like a winner?

"Barring the accident, when a tooth loosened by Sharkey cut the inner surface of my cheek opposite the last bicuspid, causing a hemorrhage which prompted the referee to interfere and award the fight to my opponent, I do not consider myself a defeated boxer. So I pass up the alibi stuff.

"After a little rest I would like to have a chance to win back the 175 pound title I lost to Berlenbach, and which is now held by Jack Delaney. If Delaney can beat me at 175 pounds I am willing to hang up my gloves, and retire."

HOCKEY RESULTS.

Hockey games played last night resulted as follows:

Allan Cup Eliminations.
Varsity Grads 4, London Batte. 3.
Senior Intercollegiate.
Varsity 5; McGill 2.
Ottawa Valley Finals.
New Edinburgh 2, Pembroke 1.

LONDON SCARES VARSITY GRADS

Intermediate Champions Leading 3-1 at End of Second.

HUDSON SAVES.

TORONTO, March 5. — Varsity Grads defeated London Twelfth Battery, 4 to 3, in the Allan Cup elimination series game at the Arena Garden last night, but only Lou Hudson stood between the O.H.A. Senior champions and their first defeat of the season.

The Gunners went into the last period leading 3 to 1 after out-skating and out-playing the blue-clad team in the first and second, but within four minutes after the final chukker opened Hudson, on one of his fast and daring rushes, shoved the puck between Reynolds and Pritchard, jumped through and recovered, to shoot the goal that made the count 3 to 2.

Then after Trottier had tied the score forty-five seconds later when he flipped in a rebound off Delaney's shot which was brilliantly stopped by Gordon, Hudson again speeded from end to end to beat the defence on same way he did for his first goal and drive the puck past the Gunner's net guardian.

Somerville's Great Chance

But it was only a break in the luck that prevented London taking the lead after the Grads had knotted the count. Sandy Somerville, who played clever and effective hockey throughout, weaved his way through the Varsity team, stepped between Porter and Taylor without even saying "pardon me," and appeared to have Mueller at his mercy, but shot into the pads, and Zeigler following in fast over-skated the rebound.

Had Somerville beat Mueller the Gunners would probably have had the lead and could have played a close defence for the balance of play, for the period was just half over when Sandy made his fine bid for the goal. Instead they continued to carry the play to the Grads, and two minutes later Hudson scored the deciding counter.

TRUTH VERSUS ERROR.
No preacher has any moral right to arrogate unto himself pre-eminence over his fellow-man, by using the prefix, "Reverend" to his name, for that appellation of dignity belongs to Jehovah, God. Psalms 111., 9. Jesus and the apostles did not advertise themselves as "Reverends." The Apostle Paul calls himself a bond servant or stave of the Lord Jesus. Rom. 1, 1. Many who have this prefix to their name and pose as leaders of the people deny the inspiration of the Bible, the virgin birth of Jesus, and teach false doctrines that defame the holy and reverend name of Jehovah God. Some of them, in order to bolster up their false creeds, decry down those who are preaching the truth. They act very much like the thief, who, to divert attention from himself, began chasing an innocent bystander, shouting "Stop, thief." — M. T. Butcher. 1d-55-3318

A NIGHT OF FUN.
Don't miss "The Minister's Bride." She's coming to the S. S. Hall of the George street Methodist church, Friday evening, March 25th, under the auspices of the "Look Out Club." It's a merry comedy, full of clean wit and humor, and will be presented by St. James' church choir. Tickets 25 cents. 4d5 12 19 24 299

CARD OF THANKS.
Mrs. Stubbs, who is convalescing at her home on Water street, would like, through the columns of the Examiner, to thank all her friends and neighbors, who were so kind to her during her recent severe illness. She thanks her doctor and nurse, and the many who sent her floral tributes, with messages of sympathy and comfort. She thanks her many friends of George street church and Sunday school, and the many who sent her delicacies of all kinds. She appreciates everything that was done for her, and wants to thank every one for their kindness.

NOTICE.
As a rumour is afloat that the dance floor at the Canadian Legion Hall is unsafe I desire to state that I have this day consulted Mr. R. Parsons, City Engineer, who expresses the opinion that the rumour is unfounded, that he passed the building at the time of alterations in 1919, and that there is nothing to indicate the changing of his opinion. In addition to the passing of the building by the City Engineer, the public building requirements of Toronto was carried out, on the advice of Mr. Robert Graham, consulting engineer of Toronto, all floors having 150 p.c. of a safety factor over the requirements. Signed, C. H. Ackerman, President, R. E. Layfield, Chairman, Building Committee, S. Whatley, Secretary 1d-55-304.

ERSKINE SIX IS HERE NOW

The Automobile Hit of Paris and London Motor Shows.

AT REID & SONS'.

Studebaker's latest automobile achievement, a 2 1-3 litre European type motor car, the "Erskine Six," is here now, and may be investigated any day at Reid and Sons garage, 326 Aylmer street. Phone 54.

Perhaps it is not entirely correct to call the Erskine Six a European type of car, for it is essentially Canadian and American in everything except its size, appearance and economy. And while the Erskine Six was the hit of the Paris and London Motor Shows and has been eagerly accepted by motorists abroad, its success was due to the fact that it combined with European economy and light weight Canadian standards of comfort, performance and stamina. In designing the Erskine Six, no attempt was made to rival European cars in economy alone.

The success of the Erskine Six is due to the fact that for the first time in Canadian motoring history, the driver who wants economy in first cost and operation, combined with easy handling, in crowed traffic, can secure these qualities without the sacrifice of beauty, quality or performance. The Erskine Six bridges the one-time gap between the relatively smaller, lighter car of the less than $1300 class and the larger more luxurious machine, whose most desirable qualities hitherto had to be sacrificed in the purchase of a smaller car.

Motorists will find it worth while to look the Erskine Six over. — (Advt.)

OBITUARY.

PHOEBE MARTIN
The death occurred at Nicholls hospital this morning of Phoebe Martin, aged 17, who was a ward of the Children's Aid Society. This is the first death to occur at the Shelter in sixteen years. The deceased was a very lovable child and will be sadly missed by the other children of the Shelter. She took a great interest in the younger children acting as a real mother to them.

The funeral will be held on Monday from Comstock's Funeral Home to the C.N.R. noon train which leaves for Campbellford.

This baby boy for adoption. Applications received by John Edgar, Secretary of the Childrens Aid Society, 577 Shebrooke St., Peterborough.

CITY HOCKEY CUPS AT STAKE

De Laval and St. Peter's Will Defend Trophies Won Last Year.

Possession of the City League Cup held last winter by the De Laval team, will be decided on Monday night, when the cup holders meet the Maypetos team in a challenge match for the silverware. The rivalry of last season is still strong and both teams will fight from the first to the last bell. Some smart hockey players are lined up on these teams, and the play will be of a high type. Monday night is the time; Brock Stret Rink is the place, and the wise fans will be on hand to see a closely contested, hard fought game of hockey.

Then, on Wednesday, the Juniors have their innings. St. Peter's School, holders of the trophy, will defend their cup against St. John's, winners of the Junior series of the Church league. When the boys meet there is a real game, and one well worth seeing.

OLD FRIENDSHIPS RENEWED AT THE FOURTH ANNUAL DINNER OF GROVE SCHOOL 'OLD BOYS'

Held Amid Appropriate Academic Surroundings in Hart House, Toronto.

SEVERAL SPEAKERS

Contained Delegates From Every Branch Commercial and Professional Life.

Many old friendships were renewed and lengthy reminiscences of the famous school at Lakefield were recalled on Saturday evening at the fourth annual dinner of the Toronto Branch of the Grove School Old Boys' Association which was held in Hart House amid appropriate academic surroundings.

Fifty old boys and friends sat down to a sumptuous repast after the old Latin grace of the school had been pronounced by Canon C. W. Hedley. The gathering contained representatives from practically every important branch of commercial and professional life, but all were present merely as old boys, not as doctors or business men, and the talk centred around memories of the old school and of the careless happy days spent around Clear Lake. Among the old boys present were: Gordon Grahame, the Thomas Hughes of the Grove, who like the famous Rugby scholar, has immortalized his old school in his story, "Larry"; K. H. Hamilton, president of the Toronto branch; B. O. Heron, treasurer, and J. F. W. Smith, secretary, and Cadets N. Kingsmill and Gordon Smith of Royal Military College, whose bright red tunics lent a pleasing touch of color to the scene.

The speakers of the evening were the headmaster of the Grove School, Rev. A. W. MacKenzie, M.A., and two old boys belonging to an earlier generation than most of the members present—Major-General V. A. S. Williams, C.M.G., a veteran of 1885 and the South African War, and a distinguished combatant in the Great War, and H. F. Strickland, a member of the family which produced Mrs. Strickland and Mrs. Moodie, two well-known authoresses of Canadian pioneer life. Mr. Strickland is a native of Peterborough, who has lived many years in Toronto. During the evening, reference was made to the fact that in 1907, Mr. Strickland brought honor to himself and to the Grove Old Boys by swimming, in company with George Corsan, the famous aquatic champion, from Lakefield to Peterborough, covering the distance in five hours and five minutes, and accomplishing the longest swim recorded in the Dominion.

Before the speeches were commenced, at the request of the headmaster, a silent toast was drunk to the memory of the Old Boys who went to the front during 1914-1918 never to return, and in the room where a moment before all had been animated by conversation and hustle, an impressive stillness prevailed for two minutes.

K. H. Hamilton.

In proposing the toast of The King, Mr. Hamilton, the president, referred to the keen sense of pleasure he felt at being elected to his office. His memories of the Grove and his experiences there would remain with him for all time. It was always a great delight to meet anyone who had been there and to talk over old times.

The keynote of the Old Boys' reunion was the sentiment they all felt to the school. It was not, he thought, so much personal as general. They all felt the same way towards the school, and consequently felt the same way towards one another. All those who went to the Grove were, as Kipling had put it, of the same pack and had the pack feeling; they were all on equal footing. He wished to announce that Montreal had formed a branch of the Old Boys' Association (loud cheers) —and in time, he believed, each city in the Dominion would have a representative branch. He hoped that in the past the Old Boys would co-operate even more than they had done in the past.

General Williams.

In proposing the toast to "The School," General Williams congratulated the Association and its officers on the splendid attendance

THE WEATHER

Mild conditions still prevail. Lowest temperature last night 30 degrees, or two degrees below the freezing point. Several parties have spoken to me of seeing robins, and others of having heard them. A year ago yesterday we had it 16 degrees below zero. Zero days prevailed both before and after this date, and much more snow lay on the ground

Tragedy Makes 2nd Visit At Wales' Mining Village

CWM, Wales, March 7 (Canadian Press) — Grim tragedy, which struck this little mining town last Tuesday and took a toll of more than fifty lives in a colliery explosion, visited it again yesterday when a motor bus carrying passengers to the funeral of victims of the explosion plunged 25 feet from the road, killing two men outright and seriously injuring twenty other persons.

The bus turned over at a hairpin turn in the road and fell into a railway siding at the Marine Colliery where the explosion occurred last week.

Fully 100,000 persons were present at to-day's funerals of the explosion victims.

They were Joseph Curry, 20 years; Harry Bently, 23; William Juliano, 27, and Frank Doris, 27, all of Philadelphia.

NEW CYCLONE IN INDIAN OCEAN

Re-union Island Menaced By Great Storm—Fear For Madagascar.

OFFICIAL REPORTS.

ST. DENNIS, Reunion Island, March 7. — A new cyclone of great intensity following that of last Thursday, is menacing his island. It is feared that it has swept the island of Madagascar, where there are many deaths and intensive property damage from last week's cyclone.

As yet there is no report as to the actual number of casualties at Madagascar, but there is confirmation that the town of Tamative on the East Coast was virtually wiped out by Thursday's storm.

REPORTS EXAGGERATED.

CAPETOWN, South Africa, Mar. 7. Canadian Press. — An official despatch from Tamatave, Madagascar, to-day, says earlier reports regarding the casualties in last week's cyclone were exaggerated, and that the number of the dead will not exceed 30.

Tamatave, however, was devastated by a tidal wave, which accompanied the storm, and caused great damage among the shipping in port.

KEENE INQUEST IS POSTPONED

Crown Officers Unable To Attend Hearing Scheduled For To-day.

ADJOURNED A WEEK.

MARMORA, March 7. —Due to the inability of the Crown officers to go ahead with the inquiry into the death of Jerome Keene, who was found shot in his shack on the outskirts of this village on Feb. 17, the inquest was again postponed today, and will now be held on March 14. Large numbers of people were in town from the entire district, some of them coming this morning under the impression that the hearing opened at 10.00 o'clock, and interested auditors were still arriving after the Coroner, Dr. Harper, of Madoc, had declared the court adjourned.

Syndicate Ready to Operate Local Dams and Utilities It Promised Co-operation

In dealing with our problems respecting the street railway, the gas plant and water powers, we seem to be "dropping buckets into empty wells and growing old and drawing nothing up." Many difficulties stand in the way of the city in taking over, on its own account, this large enterprise, as the public ownership and management of them has resulted in large losses in operating the street railway, and every increasing prices in power and light, and an exorbitant price for gas.

PRIVATE ENTERPRISE TO DEVELOP RESOURCES

If the taxpayers of this city will give some informal expression of their approval, I am prepared to at once open negotiations with the City Council on behalf of a private syndicate to purchase, develop, and operate on reasonable terms the following utilities:

(a)—The Street Railway at a junk price. The cars are worn out and would have to be replaced with modern cars. The road bed is in bad shape, and will require much money spent upon it.

(b)—The Gas Plant at its fair value. Its book value is no doubt inflated, just the same as its rates.

(c)—The Auburn Power Plant on reasonable terms.

(d)—Dams Four and Five developed under one head on the East side of the river, provided the Dominion Government will grant a lease on reasonable and satisfactory terms to the syndicate.

(e)—Burleigh Falls, provided the Dominion Government drowns out Lovesick lock and dam, so that the full head of water may be obtained, and grants a lease on reasonable and satisfactory terms to the syndicate.

CO-OPERATION ALL ROUND NECESSARY

This is a very large undertaking and will take a great deal of time and money to carry out, but it can be in complete operation inside of one year from the date the Dominion Government completes its part and even in less time, if the City Council, the Provincial Government, and the Dominion Government co-operate with the syndicate.

DEFINITE OFFER WHEN FACTS KNOWN

It will be impossible to make a definite offer to sell power to our local Utilities Commission until the syndicate ascertains the terms and conditions on which the various properties may be acquired, and the prices and rentals to be paid.

There is every reason why the most hearty co-operation should be given from all quarters.

5,000 HORSE-POWER FOR CENTRAL ONTARIO

The Provincial Government and the cities, towns and villages on the lake front will be free to use and have available 5,000 horse-power more than they now have and be freely discharged from all future liability in connection with our street railway.

48,000 TONS COAL NATIONAL SAVING

The Dominion Government will derive a large revenue from water powers that are now running to waste, and will make a national saving of 48,000 tons of coal per annum.

MANY ADVANTAGES FOR THIS CITY

The ratepayers of Peterborough will make a substantial gain by having the wholesale cost of power substantially reduced and and the price of gas can certainly be reduced and better street railway accommodtion given. The extent to which such reductions can be made will depend to a great extent on the price and terms and conditions, the various properties may be acquired, and the assistance the City Council may give in conducting the negotiations.

RATEPAYERS' MEETING NECESSARY

This city is confronted with conditions, and not theories and the sooner the ratepayers call a meeting and give expression to their views, the better.

If the preamble of this proposition is approved in general terms, much may be done during the present session of the Dominion Parliament.

If the syndicate finds that the citizens of Peterborough are behind them, then active steps will be at once taken to carry out this enterprise, to the advantage of all concerned.

SOLID PUBLIC SUPPORT ESSENTIAL

No negotiations have taken place between the syndicate and the City Council for the simple reason that public opinion must be solidly behind the Council before they could act, and before the syndicate would incur a very large amount of preliminary expense.

WARSHIP IS SENT TO NINGPO BECAUSE OF ANTI-FOREIGN AGITATION SPREADING IN CITY

British Leaving Due To Big Demonstration Called For To-morrow.

TROUBLE IN SHANGHAI.

Japanese Marines Guard Cotton Mills—Strike Planned in Settlement.

SHANGHAI, March 7. — Canadian Press. — The development of a menacing anti-foreign situation at Ningpo, south of Shanghai, on the coast of Chekiang province, commanded the attention of the British naval authorities to-day, and the flotilla leader, H.M.S. "Keppell," was sent to that port. Announcement by the Kuomintang (Cantonese left wing) of plans for an anti-imperialist demonstration on a big scale to-morrow, has heightened the nervousness of the British and the Americans remaining in Ningpo, and several Englishmen left for Shanghai Saturday. Previously nearly all the British and American women and children had been removed.

On Saturday a minor hostile demonstration at the China Mission Society's hospital caused two English nurses hurriedly to gather their few belongings and take refuge on a Shanghai steamer.

Handbills have been distributed calling on the populace to consider the British, Americans, Japanese and French as their enemies because of their despatch of military and naval forces to Shanghai.

Trouble is again developing in Shanghai, coincidently with the Nationalist approach to Soochow. The Japanese cotton mills, where the Japanese naval forces are on guard, is the latest trouble centre. The woundworker, and threats to kill the manaing of a mill official, allegedly by a ger of another mill, have brought on a lock out affecting 2000 workers.

Calls Priest To House After Shooting Wife

NEW YORK, March 7 (Canadian Press). — Aroused from his slumbers by the ringing of the rectory doorbell early today, Father John J. Sheridan, of St. Raphael's Church, found Aloysius Joseph, 26, a taxi cab driver, on his doorstep.

"Father," said Joseph, "I have just shot my wife. Get dressed and come with me. I want you to give her the last rites."

Father Sheridan accompanied the man to his home and found the wife lying on the floor in the kitchen dead. "I can do nothing for her now," said the priest, at which Joseph drew a pistol from his pocket and shot himself through the temple. He was taken under arrest to Bellevue Hospital, where he was said to be in a serious condition. The couple had been married two years.

BODY OF BABY FOUND IN BOX OUTSIDE CITY

Prematurely Born Infant Was Wrapped in Examiner of December 27.

POLICE INVESTIGATE.

Boys Make Gruesome Discovery While Playing Near Gravel Pit.

Boys and dogs on a "hunting" expedition uncovered the body of a five months' developed baby, prematurely born, yesterday afternoon.

The body was wrapped in a strip of blanket, and a copy of The Examiner dated December 27, 1926. It was taken to Lane and Eano's undertaking parlours:

The gruesome find was made a few yards from the Lakefield road, near Stoddart's gravel pit, just two hundred yards north of the city limits. The parcel, scratched up by the dogs, lay at the foot of a tree, where it had evidently been hidden by the snow for some time. December 27th, and the few days following, were exceptionally mild, and the first snowfall after the date of the paper in which the body was wrapped, came on December 28th.

Police Reticent.

Provincial Constable N. F. Maker, who made investigations at the scene of the startling discovery to-day, refused to speak on the subject to the Examiner, but it is understood that he will continue his enquiries in an effort to uncover the ownership of the body.

The city police force was first notified by the parents of the boys, and the investigation was handed over to Constable Maker, being outside the city limits.

Coroner Investigates.

Coroner Dr. T. W. H. Young examined the body to-day, but could not say what steps will be taken towards finding the person responsible for disposing of it in this inhuman way. Since the child did not live, Dr. Young said, no charge of murder can be brought, even if the disposition is illegal.

HOLDING MAN FOR MURDER

Police Arrest Youth After Discovery of Child's Body.

IN GRAND RIVER.

GUELPH, Ont., March 7. — (Canadian Press.)—Following the discovery of the body of a newborn male child in the ice of the Grand river, on the outskirts of Fergus, yesterday, Marquis Potter, 23, was arrested on a charge of murder. Potter is charged with throwing the infant on the ice shortly after the child had been born to a young girl, who had shortly before escaped from Fergus hospital. Potter was arrested at her home.

Harry Lauder In Movies Plays Lead In Hunting Tower

LONDON, March 7. (United Press).—Harry Lauder to-day prepared to become a movie actor. The Scottish comedian, whose voice has heretofore been one of his chief assets, has signed to play the lead in the silent drama version of John Buchan's novel, "Hunting Tower." The hero is an elderly Scot who turns knight errant in company with a young man and some Boy Scouts.

Pioneer Fan of Peterborough Will Give Lecture on Progress.

WITH SPECIMENS.

Radio fans in Peterborough will have an opportunity of being shown the strides radio has taken in the last four or five years by Mr. Roy Powell at the meeting to-morrow night of the Peterborough Radio Club.

Mr. Powell is one of the pioneers in wireless in this district and has much equipment, obsolete of course, due to the modern improvements which have taken place in the radio industry. He has on different occasions, lectured on wireless telegraphy and to-morrow night will endeavor to show, with old and new transmitters and rectivers, some of these changes.

Took Cash From His Wife Cut Off With $10 In Will

NEW YORK, March 7.—It's all right for a wife to rifle her husband's pockets as he sleeps, but it's a different matter when the husband goes through the wife's pockets without telling her. Stanley Stanisits was in the habit of doing this, and because of it his wife, Mrs. Vilna Stanisits, cut him off with $10 by her will filed in the Surrogate Court yesterday.

"Very often he would take money from my pocket without calling my attention to it," she said in her will. Mrs. Stanisits also cut off her son, Joseph J. Szabo of 3,201 Eighty-fifth street, Jackson Heights, L.I., because he was "disobedient and ungrateful to me."

"Many times he would call me bad names, not very appropriate to be mentioned here," the will says, and adds: "I was obliged to support him until he was 28 years old." A daughter inherits the estate."

LABOR TO AID PENSION BILL

Trades Congress Will Help Insure Passing of Bill in Senate.

BLOCKS SENATE.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 7 (Canadian Press)—The executive of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada has decided, according to Tom Moore, its president, to direct its energies to helping to ensure the passing by the Senate of the Old Age Pensions Bill of the Government which was given its third reading in the House of Commons last week. Mr. Moore said that the bill having been for a second time passed by the elected representatives of the people, organized Labor purposes supporting its enactment, leaving such adjustments as may be found necessary to be made later. Hitherto, organized Labor has urged that $20 a month pension was insufficient, and advocated $30 at least payable at the age of 65 years instead of 70. It also wanted larger contributions from the Federal government, and less financial obligation laid upon the provinces accepting the measure.

But the Act having been again passed by the House of Commons comprising the elected representatives of the people, Labor has decided, said Mr. Moore, that it must support the bill so far as it goes, trusting to the future to secure such adjustments as may be necessary.

The Senate will, therefore, he said, have no opportunity for rejecting the measure a second time on the ground that the bill is not supported by labor.

EUROPEAN FOREIGN MINISTERS TO DISCUSS TROUBLED RELATIONS BETWEEN COUNTRIES AT COUNCIL

Paris Doubts Different Representatives at Conference Will Reach Agreement.

CONFER ON CHINA

Chance is Seen Germany May Improve Relations With Poland.

PARIS, March 7.—Europe's policy toward Soviet Russia and China will be discussed fully and frankly today and the next few days at Geneva by the Foreign Ministers of England, France, Germany and Holland, but that out of that discussion will come any joint policy is more than any one here expects. All five countries are still fumbling with these problems as undecisively as they did in 1918 and 1920.

England has been indulging in querrulous complaints against the behavior of Moscow in Asia.

France, after having failed in her support of the White Russians, has decided to refrain from burning her fingers again and is seeking, always hopelessly, to reach a settlement of her debts and a renewal of commercial relations.

Germany Cooling Toward Soviet.

Germany has two treaties with the Soviets, but seems to like them less as time goes on and other countries have shown a disposition to treat her with more friendship.

Poland stands on the frontier of Russia, all armed, and governed by a strongly anti-Russian dictator, but still hesitant, for a hundred dangerous reasons, to pick a quarrel with their former oppressor, though perhaps hopeful—at least it is so rumored — of being able soon to help snatch from the Central Government the allegiance of the Ukraine with all its wealth of manufactures and soil.

For this hope of the Poles there is a curious reason. The Ukraine, which was never very Red, wants to sell its grain for a better price than Moscow gives, and it wants to buy implements and manufactured goods cheaper than Moscow sells them. But whether this desire will be translated into action is a matter of the utmost uncertainty. The only thing that is certain is that if it is, Marshal Pilsudski will do his utmost to help, and will have the blessing of Downing Street, and probably also of the Quai d'Orsay.

Joint Action Held Unlikely.

The situation in each of the countries represented at Geneva being in this way utterly different there is neither the possibility nor the hope here of any joint agreement on what should be done, either with regard to Russia in Europe or Russia's activities in Asia.

It may do Sir Austin Chamberlain good to lay bare his feelings on the matter of Moscow to M. Briand as they travel down to Geneva together, but it is not likely that he will get either much encouragement or help in any plans he may have had and even less will that be the case when he talks the matter over with Dr. Stresemann. In the side issues of the Council meeting there is the subject of China. There again England seems to be alone. France has an interest in the protection of her nationals at Shanghai, but there is hope that Dr. Chau, who will represent the Cantonese as well as Peking at Geneva, has been authorized to give certain assur-

Italians Study New Plane With Unprecedented Speed

ROME, March 7.—(A.P.)—Application to aviation of the principles used in the shelling of Paris by the long-range Big Bertha of the Germans is being studied by a group of the most prominent aeronautical engineers in Italy.

They hope to evolve an entirely new type of airplane of unprecedented speed. They think it even possible for it to fly from Rome to Buenos Aires in ten hours.

Great secrecy surrounds the experiments which have been going on for several months. It is stated, however, that the basic problems have been solved, although many technical details must be settled.

Like the shells of the Big Bertha, the projected plane is to fly at extremely high altitudes. A catapult start is to enable it to soar quickly to a height of 8,000 meters or more, after which its gigantic motors are expected to hurl it through the rarefied air at record speeds.

EASTERN STAR BRANCH FORMED

Chapter Organized in Peterborough at Enthusiastic Meeting.

W. G. P. PRESENT.

On Thursday afternoon a meeting was held in the Canadian Legion Hall for the purpose of organizing a Chapter of the Eastern Star. John W. Stewart, Worthy Grand Patron, of the Grand Chapter of Ontario, came from London for the purpose of instituting the new chapter, which will be known as Peterborough Chapter No. 161. He was assisted by the Grand Secretary, Mrs. Ethel Malcolm of Toronto, Mrs. Elida Rigby, P.D.D., G.M., of Havelock, Mrs. B. Wallace, P.D.D.G.M. of Ottawa; Mrs Mary Barlow, P.D.D.G.M., of Belleville; Miss Florence Way, P. M., of Beaverton Chapter, Mrs. Geddes, P. M., Mrs. Chambers, organist, and Mrs. Gray, associate matron, all of Trenton Chapter; Mr. Barlow, W.P., of Belleville Chapter. Visitors were present from Havelock, Madoc, Oakville and Trenton.

A sumptuous repast was supplied by Mr. S. Whatley, Secretary of the Canadian Legion, who was in charge of the catering, and whose services were much appreciated by all present.

Solos were rendered by Miss Greta LeBarr and Mr. Snelgrove. The usual toasts weer given and splendid addresses given by the Rev. Mr. Gordon, and J. Turner, Esq.

The officers of Trenton Chapter, No. 118, exemplified the degrees of the order in the evening by initiating nine members into the new Chapter. Gifts and flowers were presented to the Worthy Grand Patron, the Grand Secretary and others who had taken part in the institution. A large Bible and four small ones were presented to the Peterboro Chapter from the officers and members of Trenton Chapter. The Worthy Matron, Mrs. Janet McPhate, responded suitably and thanked the members and visitors for the beautiful flowers which she received. Mr. Lewis, the Worthy Patron, also spoke briefly, and all present joined heartily in extending their good wishes to Peterbor Chapter.

The officers installed were:

Worthy Matron: Mrs. Janet McPhate.
Worthy Patron: Mr. N. G. Lewis.
Associate Matron: Mrs. Mary Logan.
Secretary: Miss Rose Sexsmith.
Treas.: Mrs. Florence Miller.
Associate Conductress: Mrs. Mary Squires.

LEAGUE COUNCIL WILL TACKLE NARCOTIC DRUG TRADE TRAFFIC

Sensational Report Regarding Immense Trade Brought Up at Geneva.

RING UNCOVERED.

Consider New Measures For Stamping Out White Slavery Traffic.

LONDON, March 7.—The world-wide smuggling in drugs and the increase in the white slave traffic, both of which have reached alarming proportions, will be discussed at the next meeting of the League of Nations, beginning to-day, at Geneva.

A sensational report on the immense illicit trade in narcotic drugs has been published by the league, while documentary evidence concerning the white slave traffic is expected to be revealed in a few days.

The report on drugs mentions transactions involving more than 65 tons of raw opium, 20 pounds of heroin, 638 pounds of morphnie and 39 pounds of cocaine. In this connection an inquiry is still proceeding, which has revealed a diversion of 1,650 pounds of drugs through one channel alone.

International Ring.

From the German police comes a report that during the last few weeks they discovered the existence of an organization of international smugglers whose traffic in drugs extends all over the world.

In India the illicit traffic in cocaine is forty times as great as the legitimate imports, while Egypt, where no drugs are produced, is rapidly becoming a land of drug addicts ,and the league's report warns the nation that disaster is inevitable unless the trade is stopped. Another startling disclosure is the fact that within the space of one month Egyptian martime customs officials seised 37 pounds of morphine and 583 pounds of heroin.

White Slavery.

The white slave report reveals that the main direction of the traffic in girls is from certain European countries to Latin America and Egypt. Owing to passport restrictions, fictitious marriages are now part of the game, and these ensure continuance of the traffic, which is organized and run by both men and women.

New measures of stamping out these deplorable conditions will be considered by league officials, and in this connection it is proposed to demand greater vigilance at the ports and to devise means by which the girls can be informed that their marriages are not legal before they are lured abroad.

OLD MASTERS

Sing me a song of a lad that is gone;
Say, could that lad be I?
Merry of soul he sailed on a day
Over the sea to Skye.

Give me again all that was there,
Give me the sun that shone!
Give me the eyes, give me the soul,
Give me the lad that's gone!

Sing me a song of a lad that is gone;
Say, could that lad be I?
Merry of soul he sailed on a day
Over the sea to Skye.

Billow and breeze, islands and seas,
Mountains of rain and sun,
All that was good, all that was fair,
All that was me is gone.

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

HE CAN CATCH FISH

We've got a fellah in our town
That some might say has fallen down
And really don't amount to much.
There's always one or two of such
In ev'ry burg, the truly great
That people don't appreciate.
I know he hasn't done a lot,
Ain't got the money some have got;
But wealth ain't all there is to wish,
And, gosh, that fellah can catch fish.

Now, there's a gift that women wise
Don't understand or realize.
He's just the kind that comes along
When you decide that day is wrogg.
The hole no good, the fish not there;
And drops his hook and line somewhere
And lands a beauty, in the spot
Where not a gol-darned fish you got.
He lefts his rod, his line goes whish—
My gosh, that fellah can catch fish.

And here's the honest truth of it:
A lot of other men would quit,
A lot of other s may lay down,
But there's a fellah in our town
Who comes along and lands a trout,
When someone's faith has petered out.
And that's a way of doin' good
That isn't always understood.
He ain't as smart as some folks wish,
But he proves this—you can catch fish.

THE LIFE OF CHRIST : John the Baptist

Synopsis Arranged by Dr. Wm. E. Gilroy, D.D., Sketches by Kroesen.

"In those days came John the Baptist, preaching in the wilderness of Judea, and saying, Repent ye: for the kingdom of Heaven is at hand . . . John had his raiment of camel's hair and a leathern girdle about his loins." (Matt. III:1, 2, 4)

"Then came out to him Jerusalem, and all Judea . . . and were baptized of him in Jordan, confessing their sins." (Matt. III:5, 6)

"Then cometh Jesus from Galilee to Jordan unto John, to be baptized of him." (Matt. III:13)

"And Jesus, when he was baptized, went up straightway out of the water: and, lo, the heavens were opened unto him, and he saw the Spirit of God descending like a dove lighting upon him." (Matt. III:16)

Old Paris Blacksmith Gets Legion Red Ribbon

PARIS, March 7.—(A.P.)—Because he stands for the ancient tradition of the clanging forge and possesses in an age of machinery the skill of an old artisan, France has pinned the red ribbon of the Legion of Honor on the breast of a working blacksmith.

In 1924, Jean-Marwie Bigot, aged 65, was declared the best workman in his trade, for a finely chased iron church door. The ring of the forge is heard night and day from the basement smithy in his home close to Paris. During the day he executes orders for skilled iron-work. At night he hammers away at whatever pleases him.

The war took from him the four sons who might have carried on his work.

INDICATES WAY TO TOLERANCE

Turkey Not To Glorify Moslem Faith Above All Others.

TEACHES RESPECT.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 7.—(Canadian Press.) — Turkey is quietly teaching herself a lesson in religious toleration. Though the orders have not been advertised, it has become known that the government has instructed all Turkish public school directors to carry out a programme of religious teaching which wil lnot glorify the Moslem religion above all others, but show also the good points in other creeds.

Under the sultans, all the public schools were conducted by priests, whose instructions consisted almost entirely of Koranic precepts The new order of the Laical Kemalist government is looked upon as implying application of a principle inherent in the Moslem religion, namely, the recognition by Mohammed himself of Moses and Christ as prophets whose words should be heeded.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE.

Truth of Trite Old Saying Is Once Again Exemplified.

Years and years ago, when advertising was yet in its infancy, the alluring slogan adopted for use by its cohorts was: "It Pays to Advertise." Trite but true, which nobody denies in these days.

However, it is pleasing occasionally to submit further evidence of the truth of the old saying. As an example, the advertising in these columns of the new dictionary. Of course, everybody needed a new dictionary, yet almost everybody had an old one. Straight forward and truthful advertising, consistently followed up, has been the means of convincing newpaper readers that this particular dictionary is all that is claimed for it, and that the acceptance of the offer is wholly to their advantage.

The result of this publicity has been most gratifying to all concerned. It again proves that advertising pays—when it is placed in the right newspaper.

JAPAN LANDS MARINE FORCE

Quartered in Japanese Cotton Mills in Readiness For Emergency.

SHANGHAI QUIET.

SHANGHAI, March 7 (Canadian Press) — A force of 500 Japanese bluejackets were landed in Shanghai yesterday and were quartered in the Japanese cotton mills in readiness for any emergency.

The city was quiet last night, with chief interest centering on the fate of Soochow, where General Chang Tsung Chang has arrived and is busy strengthening the positions of the northern troops against the Cantonese who have been steadily pressing on that city in the hope of cutting the Shanghai-Nanking railway.

Although military reports received from the field last night were vague and conflicting some of the details strongly indicated that a resumption of the Cantonese pressure on Soochow had placed that city in a perilous position. It was reliably reported that the Cantonese had passed Wukiang and had reached a point five miles below Soochow.

Civilian traffic on the Shanghai-Nanking railway has been suspended because of the military concentration going on whereby the Shantungese commanders hope to protect this, their main artery of communication.

There appears to be no truth in Saturday's rumors of an understanding between Chang Tsung Chang and General Chang Kai Shek, the Cantonese commander. These rumors were circulated in Kuomintang circles, the left wing of the Cantonese. The rumor was that the northern commander had agreed to offer no opposition to the occupation of Shanghai by the Cantonese.

Notwithstanding every indication that these rumors were false, there seems no reason to doubt that the Nationalist political leaders are supporting their military campaign with propagandist and other non-military tactics within Shanghai to wrest the city from northern control.

Besides developing plans for a general strike to coincide with the next big military success, they are trying to deprive the northern adherents of their arms with a view to placing the city under Nationalist control and groups of pickets are being organized for seizing arms with this purpose.

A lively anti-militrist and anti-foreign campaign is paralelling the plans for a general strike.

News from the province of Anhwei is unfavorable for general Chang Tsung Chang since the forces of the provincial Tupan, Chen Ling Yueh, who are within striking distance of Hanking, are refusing to aid the northeners.

BAILIEBORO NEWS

BAILIEBORO, March 7.—During the past two months the young people of the Y.P.S. of the United Church have been holding a Bible baseball game at the conclusion of each weekly meeting. The league was divided into two teams, Miss Mary Earl acting as leader for one side and Fred Barnard as leader of the opponents. Rev. H. W. Foley pitched the questions for both sides the questions being taken from the previous week's Sunday school lesson, while the game was carried on in the same order as the regular outdoor baseball. This form of entertainment made wonderfully interesting meetings for every member as everyone had a part in the proceedings.

At the end of the month the contest was closed with Miss Earl's team leading by some twenty-four runs, and it fell to the lot of the defeated team to provide a banquet for both sides.

The banquet was put on in the Y.P.S. hall by Mr. Barnard's team on Tuesday evening and about fifty of the members were present.

Mr. John Porter, vice-president of the Christian Endeavor department, acted as toast master, and at the conclusion of the banquet the following programme was enjoyed:

Rev. H. W. Foley was called upon to propose the toast to the King. When this had been honored the gathering indulged in a jolly sing-song, "Johnny Johnston." A quartette by Mrs. W. Bateman, Mr. N. Thompson, K. Lang and N. Thompson. A toast to "Our Country" was proposed by Will Lang. An address by Aylmer Dawson was followed by another quartette. A toast to "The Ladies" was proposed by Fred Barnard, and replied to by Miss Edna Wallace. A reading by Laurence Dawson followed, and a sing song, "Old McDonald Had A Farm." A toast to the organization was proposed by Miss May Earl and replied to by the president, Fred Barnard. Miss Kathleen Bateman then gave a reading. Impromptu speeches by Messrs. Herb. Dean, Charlie Barnard, Stanley Johnston and Percy Barnard. A toast to the president was proposed by Karl Lang and replied to by the secretary, Geddes Harper. Brief address by Mrs. Foley, a lively sing-song, and the Benediction brought the happy event to a close.

Trousers-Skirt For Street Wear Paris' Latest But Most Parisiennes Hesitate To Adopt Fashion

PARIS, March 7 (AP) — Trousers constitute the latest problem confronting the well-dressed woman of Paris.

The questions which the good dressers are pondering are: Shall they adopt trousers or shall they scorn the new culotte skirt offered by the Paris dressmakers for Spring wear? If the latter, on what grounds? As too feminine in an era of shingled hair and shin-length skirts or too masculine in a womans era?

Only society—ready to try anything once—has already said "yes" and placed its orders. Some fashion designers believe the trouser style is established by that gesture. But French women as a whole seem to be hanging back. Although on the boulevards young women may be seen wearing trouser-skirts on fine days, women generally appear to be waiting for fate to decide whether they are to wear trousers or skirts.

Only manufacturers appear to be taking the new style seriously. They have started making underwear to go with trouser-skirts. This new piece is called a culotte combination and is just one jump more modern than the Charleston step-in which now is being sold here.

WOULD BREAK TAX.

English Bookies Refusing To Take Bets During Negotiations.

LONDON, March 7. — Definite attempts are being made by the book-makers to break the betting tax put into force by Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer.

While negotiations are in progress with the chancellor, the bookies are refusing to take bets and, as a result of this organized opposition, there has been no call over the Lincoln National.

However, it is thought that Churchill will prove clever enough to overcome his opponents, the bookies.

STEEL BOX HANGS OVER THE FALLS

Ed Wynn, Comedian, Gets Thrill in Filming of Comedy.

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., March 7.—(Canadian Press.)— The flow of water over a small section of the American falls, near Luna island, was held in check for a short time Saturday while a huge steel chest was suspended partly over the brink and Ed. Wynn, famous Broadway comedian, stood up in the chest and peered over the edge of the waterfall to the jagged rocks below. The stunt was the climax of a screen comedy thriller that Wynn has been making with the falls as a background.

Sand bags were used to check the flow of water and the chest was held securely by a steel bolt that had been driven through the bottom into rocks at the brink and by men who held steel cables attached to it, while camera men below and above the bank shot the scene from various angles.

Wynn was pale and nervous as he clambered out of the chest to dry land after the director in charge had declared the scene perfected.

CAMPBELLFORD NEWS.

AN APPRECIATION.

We, the members of L.O.L No. 2322, Pethericks Corners, wish to state that after a thorough investigation by all members into the character of Mr. W. I. Stillman, report most unanimously to the effect that he is a man of unreproachable character and unstained conduct and on behalf of one of the best lodges in Southern Ontario wish to certify that we have known Mr. William I. Stillman all his life and that his manly principles and Christian habits are adored by his enormous number of friends in this district, who send with us in these few remarks many inexpressible feelings of condolence in the late bereavement of his wife.

We will vouch for the statement that Mr. Stillman's actions, thoughts, and deeds are only those such as are censured worthy in the sight of Almighty God.

Although there is no one who can fill the empty chair left in his now cheerless home we are certain by his Christian example and his manly principles of honesty and sociability that he will not always be separated from his most lovable partner.

At 87 He Grows His Third Set Of Teeth

CHICAGO, March 7 (Associated Press). — Third sets of teeth are among the possessions of two Chicagoans, one a youth of 12, the other a veteran of 87.

Their positions were reversed, however, the youth having false teeth for his third set, while the octogenarian displayed a third set given by nature.

The boy, John Kirby, blamed failure to take care of his teeth for appearance of the false ones, but the 87-year-old former railroad man, George Miller, praised his use of a corn cob pipe since he was 10 years old as responsible for his prolonged health. His third set of teeth has pushed its way through the gums and is "growing every day," he said.

SIGNS OF SPRING AT TRENT RIVER

Frogs and Blackbirds Make Appearance at Summer Resort.

TRENT RIVER, March 7.—Messrs. Tom and Will Wight discovered the first frog of the season one day recently up at Sedgwick's Creek. The little fellow was hopping about quite lively.

Another sign of spring—the first blackbird has also made its appearance.

Mr. James Ketcheson, township assessor made his annual call in this vicinity on Thursday.

The regular meeting of the Seymour West Women's Institute will be held at the home of Mrs. George Vanvolkenburg on Thursday, March 10th.

OBITUARY.

MRS. GEORGE HEASMAN

STIRLING, March 5.—Sadness entered the home of Mr. Geo. Heasman 9th Concession, Sidney, on Saturday last when his wife passed away at the age of 28 years. She had been in poor health for some time. She was a Miss McCoy of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. McCoy of that city. The funeral was held on Monday afternoon in St. Paul's United Church, Stirling, Rev. C. W. Barrett in charge.

MRS. HENRY HAMMOND

STIRLING, March 5.—In the passing of Mrs. Henry Hammond, near Hoard's, on Sunday night, one of the very oldest links with the past is broken, as deceased had passed her 90th birthday. Her husband pre-deceased her 12 years ago. Her maiden name was Sarah Jane Green, and had practically lived all her life on the same homestead, her husband having purchased the farm from her father when he married her, fifty-five years ago.

The union was blessed by four children, all of whom are living. Albert of Stirling, George, Campbellford; William, Ridge Road, and Mrs. Wilson, with whom the mother resided and spent her latter days. There are also two grand children and two great grandchildren left to mourn. The funeral was held on Wednesday afternoon at her late home, conducted by Rev. Mr. Barrett, interment being in the Carmel cemetery.

MISSING FLYER REPORTED SAFE

Uruguayan Aviator Trekking Southward Along Coast To Cape Jubi.

PLANE DISABLED

CASABLANCA, Morocco, March 7 (Canadian Press)—Guided by a caravan of friendly Moors, Major Tadeo Larre-Borges, Uruguayan aviator, and his three companions last night were reported trekking southward along a desolate stretch of African coast to Cape Jubi, 60 miles from the spot where the shattered frame of their trans-Atlantic seaplane was discovered by a French airman Saturday.

Native couriers, bringing news that the fliers were safe and sound and were headed back to civilization, said that the Uruguayans should reach Cape Jubi sometime last night or this morning.

The fate of the Uruguayans, who were on a flight from Italy to Montevideo, shrouded in mystery ever since they hopped off from Casablanca on Wednesday morning, became even more problematical Saturday when their shattered plane was discovered at mouth of a rivulet 60 miles north of Cape Jubi, its cockpit plunged deep into the ground and the motor 200 feet away.

No trace of the men was seen and investigation of the wreckage was not made by the French airmen, who first saw it, because of the danger involved in making a landing on the rough terrain. Yesterday aviators attached to the Latecoere Ariel Lines landed on the scene of the wreck and communicated with natives who told them that the Uruguayans were enroute to Cape Jubi.

"No Man's Land"

The Latecoere fliers, who pilot French plains in regular service between Casablanca and Dakar, took their own lives in their hands in landing to seek word of the Uruguayans, for the deserted section of the coast where the plane lay has come to be known among them as "No Man's Land"

In the past several aviators who were forced to land along the coast have been attacked by unfriendly natives and twice in recent months natives have smashed planes which were forced to land along the coast. One of the mail pilots—Gourd—was captured by the natives after a forced landing in November and died soon after his liberation as a result of the sufferings he had undergone during his captivity.

It was with these memories that the French aviators along the mail route searched anxiously for the Uruguayans and their anxiety was relieved only to-day when they learned that the fliers were in the hands of friendly Moors.

Mishap a Mystery

Until Major Larre-Borges and his companions, one of whom is his brother, Clauco, radio operator on the plane, reach Cape Jubi, the story of their mishap is likely to remain a mystery, for the section of the African coast where the plain fell is one that knows little of communication facilities.

The French pilots, bearing in mind the series of troubles they have had with the natives, are suspicious that sabotage may have entered into the complete destruction of the plane since it's parts were so scattered upon the beach and the shore waters.

It had been Larre-Borges' intention to fly to Cape Jobi and then across to the Canaries, whence he planned to hop off for South America. The narrow stretch of water between the Canaries and the mainland of Africa is largely used as a lane by cargo steamers.

Ordinary pleated skirts take twice the number of yards of fabric necessary for plain ones.

CHINESE ABLE TO PARALYZE THEIR FOES WITH BOYCOTT

Bloodless Weapon Has Brought Foreigners To Their Knees By Causing Enormo us Losses—Army Officers Active in Spread ing Propaganda.

HUMILIATION INFLICTED ON GOVERNOR.

China is leading a gigantic Asiatic revolt against domination by the white man. Upton Close (Dr. Josef Washington Hall), who has spent ten years in the Orient and is known as one of its clear interpreters, has completed a seven-months' tour of the affected countries. He has been in intimate touch with those who are conducting the movement and has seen it develop in China particularly. This is one of a series of twelve articles he has written on his observations. Mr. Close is co-author of "The Outline History of China" and author of "The Land of the Laughing Buddha," and other bo oks.

BY UPTON CLOSE

China is leaping ahead as a military power, but she has an even more effective weapon against the western nation. Milleniums before Captain Boycott gave his name to a system of bloodless warfare in Ireland the Chinese were adepts in its use. British and Japanese can testify to their terrible effectiveness and Americans had a taste of it in 1884 in retaliaion for the exclusion act. To it has now been added labor demonstration, the whole having been dubbed by the Russian advisers "the economic weapon."

At Hankow, the week after Christmas, the British were forced out of their Concession by the clever application of this weapon.

Factory hands, house-boys and rickshaw coolies employed by the white man were organized through methods taught by Michael Borodin into unions which constantly demonstrated and increased their demands on the residents. The foreigner was boycotted. He could sell nothing, buy nothing, get no transportation. Chinese electricians closed down the light plant, the water-works followed suit. Whisky-soda boys refused to serve this life-giving concoction of the Orient. Slop carriers failed to remove refuse. There were no sewage systems in most Chinese cities. Life became unbearable. The residents left.

Concession Now Held By Chinese.

British marines landed to aid the little police force in protecting property. Labor "brotherhoods" from outside the Concession demonstrated in sympathy and clashed with the marines who tried to keep them out of its bounds. Then the Nationalist army intervened to prevent a clash between the Chinese and the foreigners and occupied the Concession. The army is still there.

Guild or Union action was used by the Chinese mandarins against the East India Company traders in 1830-40e It was carried a step forward when Hong Kong bakers put arsenic in the bread of their lordly white customers: a precipitating incident of the second British war. But in those days Chinese workers carried out their political leaders' schemes half-heartedly. Today they respond with enthusiasm and perfect organization Borodin's art of propagandizing the masses makes the difference.

Also the boycott is controlled as responsively as an army. Following the shooting of Chinese students in Shanghai May 31, 1925, Russian advisers said to the Nationalists: "Keep your heads. Don't boycott the Japanese. Be especially nice to the Americans for the time being. Direct your drive against the British. They are the nation that came, seized and stayed, and all other nations have built upon their successes. Once you beat them down, the whole fabric of imperialist power in China collapses."

Laugh Turned on British.

The rich, arrogant colony at Hong Kong laughed. In three months it had lost 75,000.00, and 200 firms faced bankruptcy. The hard-pressed British treasury was forced to advance public money to keep them alive. After seven months the British agreed to acquiesce in Canton's imposition of customs taxes —practically anything else Canton demanded—if only they might be allowed to come and trade again. How far their power had sunk is shown by the fact that the new taxes to which they assented were intended to construct a port at Whampoa which the young Canton leaders designed should eventually elliminate Hong Kong.

Recently Chinese seamen on the Pacific modernized their old guild into a union. They demanded some additions to their fourteen dollars a month pay, and recognition of their organization. They were refused, their headquarters at Hong Kong, outlawed, their officials imprisoned. They could not hold out, said the shippers. But they took their ships into Hong Kong, left for Canton and went back to the farms, where their elder brothers who had inherited the land were, under Chinese custom, bound to feed them. Soon most of the shipping was tied up. Hong Kong faced ruin. The shippers gave in.

And the Governor Came Down.

"All right," said the seamen, "if the Governor of Hong Kong will come down off the Peak and open the headquarters which he closed, and himself sit as guest with the union men he imprisoned to celebrate the occasion." The Governor came down.

China's foreign trade today is one-half of Germany's. Of it America has one-third, and has greatly benefitted by the boycott of Great Britain. The Chinese are as ready to apply the boycott to us, bringing our trade to a dead stop, as to the British if we give provocation.

The Nationalist government heads are now having some difficulty in curbing the unions they have created. Finance Minister Soong told me a Labor Dispute Commission would be given absolute power to arbitrate strikes. At the same time the unions are used by the government as semi-official organs.- Mr. Soong, for instance, was collecti g a tax of two cents on each meal eaten in a restaurant in Canton by giving the waiters' union ten percent of the collections.

How Propaganda Is Carried On.

Propaganda is another bloodless weapon which is used with great force. It is carried on as effectively in the army as among the workers. Every junior officer is held responsible for indoctrinating his men in the party creed, which is, briefly, International Equality, Unification and Economic Development with Chinese controlled money: really, China for the Chinese. He must also hold night schools for the villagers of occupied territory.

Nationalist propaganda is spread by every student, many merchants and some workers. It prepared Wu Pei-fu's armies to go over to Canton's armies and has prepared Shanghai to rise under its rulers whenever the Nationalist forces approach. As soon as a general joins the Nationalist cause he is given more money and less power and his army made safe by being petty-officered with the fervent young cadets of the Whampoa military school.

The cause—the creed—is bigger than any man in it. "I may be assassinated, General Chiang may be defeated, we may go to pieces through party dissension," were Mr. Soong's parting words, "but we have founded a cause and demonstrated an organization which will never stop now until it is supreme, regardless of what personnel it works through at that time."

Mr. Close will tell in his next article how the Chinese movement is affected by the Bolshevik influence and how it is not.

Uncle Wiggily

To-day's Bedtime Story.

By Howard R. Garis

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE FUNNY FLOWERS.

"Wait a minute, Uncle Wiggily! Wait a minute! Whoo-oo! Wait for me!"

The rabbit gentleman heard a voice behind him calling that way one afternoon when he had been hopping around the woods and fields looking for an adventure without finding one.

"But I don't like the kind of adventure this one seems likely to be!" said Mr. Longears to himself as he heard the voices. "That must be one of the Bad Chaps wanting me to wait so he can nibble my ears. I'll hide until he goes away."

The bunny slipped into a hollow stump, around which grew a tangle of old honeysuckle vine that soon would begin to put forth green leaves and blossoms, and; hiding there, Mr. Longears heard footsteps approaching, and then a little voice said:

"Oh, dear! Unkie Wig was here a moment ago, but now he's gone, and I wanted to sho w him my flowers. Why didn't he wait?"

Peering out of the hollow stump, through a hole in the tangled vine, the rabbit gentleman saw not one of the Bad Chaps—not a Fox, Wolf or Bob Cat—but Arabella Chick, the little hen girl. Under one wing Arabella was carrying a bunch of flowers.

"Ha!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily, when he saw Arabella. "There is nothing about her to frighten me. Ahem, my dear!" he said, stepping out of the hollow stump and pretending to cough.

"Oh, how you scared me!" cackled Arabella flopping around so quickly that she dropped the bunch of flowers. Uncle Wiggily picked them up and, being very fond of posies, he raised the bunch to his pink, twinkling nose before he gave the flowers back to Arabella.

"Why! Why! my dear! These are very funny flowers!" exclaimed the rabbit gentleman, taking one long sniff after another. "Very funny, indeed. The queerest flowers I ever saw!"

"What do you mean?" clucked the chicken girl. "I think they are very pretty flowers."

"True enough they are pretty—red, blue, pink and yellow," said Uncle Wiggily, looking at them. "But they have no perfume—no smell at all, that is, unless I have a cold in my head."

"Oh, no! You haven't got any cold in your head, Unkie Wig!" laughed Arabella. "But, of course, those flowers have no smell, for they are made of paper. The Lady Mouse Teacher in the Hollow Stump School showed me how to make them out of paper—roses, tulips, violets, daisies, buttercups and all the others. I made them out of paper, and that's why I was hurrying to catch up with you and show you my new bouquet. Only you hid away from me."

"I thought you were one of the bad chaps calling to me to wait so you could nibble my ears explained the Bunny. "But when I hid in the stump and looked out and saw you—why, then everything was all right."

"I'm glad," cackled Arabella. "And don't you think my flowers are pretty, even if they are funny?"

"Indeed they are," Uncle Wiggily said. "And I'm glad you aren't the Fuzzy Fox because——"

"Well, you don't need to be glad any longer, because here I am!" suddenly barked a voice, and from around the stump slithered the Fox.

"Oh, oh, dear me!" gasped Uncle Wiggily. He held his paws over his ears, but the Fox only laughed and said:

"That will do no good!"

Then Arabella bravely stepped up and said:

"Before you nibble Uncle Wiggily, Mr. Fox, smell my pretty flowers. Smell my roses, tulips and violets! Take a good smell!"

"I will," growled the Fox. "I love flowers, but Uncle Wiggily needn't think, just because I smell the flowers I'll stop from nibbling his ears. No, sir!"

The Fuzzy Chap took a long sniff of the paper flowers, and of course he couldn't smell any perfume. Then he took another large sniff and when he still smelled nothing he gave a long howl and said:

"Oh! I must be catching cold in my head! Oh, I can't smell a thing! How dreadful! I bust hab a terrible cold! Oh, dear me! Whad shall I do? I guess I'd bedder ko!" He even talked as if he had a cold and, fearing he would catch more, away he trotted, shouting back:

"I'll nibble you sub other dbie, Uncle Wiggily!"

"There isn't going to be another time!" chuckled the bunny as he walked along toward home with Arabella and her funny paper flowers. And wasn't it lucky the little chicken girl had them? I think so.

"Oh, how you scared me!" cackled Arabella.

The surveyors, working through Cavan belong to the Ontario Hydro. The power line they are working at is between Ottawa and Toronto. At the Ottawa end there has been considerable work been put on the route surveyed. It is thought that work will commence on it in the spring. Towers will be placed every thousand feet. One is marked out to be placed on the Middle road, just at Mr. Edgar Fallis' hedge. There will be power stations about every twenty-five miles.

PRECISION

Ford products are built by machines of precision, gauged by instruments that are accurate to the ten-thousandth part of an inch. These machines and instruments of marvelous exactitude put into every Ford automobile a degree of mechanical perfection unsurpassed in the costliest cars. The attainment of this perfection is a singular achievement in industry, all the more remarkable because of the low cost of the finished product. No other car offers the motoring public of Canada so many advantages or such consistent high quality.

SMOKE-STACKS WANTED.

An article in Printers' Ink advocating municipalities going after smoke-stacks rather than tourists, suggests the thought that Ontario municipalities, including Peterborough, might find the idea well worth consideration.

The tendency in recent years has been to seek to attract tourists, and, of course, the tourist traffic is well worth striving for in view of the large sums of money put into circulation by holiday visitors.

By all means the campaign for tourists should be continued, but at the same time the quest for more industries should not be given second place.

New industries, it is scarcely necessary to point out, mean pay rolls and more purchasing power.

This means steady income for shopkeepers, taxes for improvements, a large number of more homes and other advantages which build permanent assets for the city rather than a short season for quick spending.

Wide-awake cities over the border which formerly advertised only to tourists are beginning to seek industries as well, and campaigns along this line have been attended with such success as to warrant more aggressive efforts elsewhere to secure similar results.

GREAT WORK BY RED CROSS.

Those who have been inclined to look upon the Red Cross Society as an organization whose chief activities are confined to times of war will be surprised to learn from an official statement prepared by Dr. James W. Robertson, Chairman of the Central Council of the Red Cross in Canada, that the Canadian organization since the war has spent on its peace-time programme of health conservation throughout the Dominion a sum of $7,000,000.

Of this sum, which consisted of monies available at the conclusion of the war, with the revenues accruing since that time, about one-half has been spent for the benefit of disabled ex-soldiers and their families.

The other half has gone to support the peace-time services of the Red Cross in Canada, i.e., for the improvement of health, the prevention of disease and the mitigation of suffering.

The activities of the organization have taken many forms, and the amount of money expended since the war indicates how extensive are the efforts of the Red Cross in this country.

It is evident that such work cannot be carried on indefinitely without financial support, and with the surplus from the war budget exhausted, it is not surprising to learn that a nation-wide campaign for assistance will be inaugurated in all the Provinces on Empire Day and continue until Dominion Day.

The cause is one that should commend itself to the generosity of the people of Canada.

FALLING OFF.

A summary just issued by the Commercial Intelligence Journal of the Federal Department of Trade and Commerce gives some disquieting figures as to the shrinkage of Canada's butter and cheese trade with the United Kingdom last year.

The shrinkage in the case of butter was the outstanding feature of the year, Canada selling over $5,000,000 less butter in the British market than during 1925.

The quantity of Canadian butter imported by the United Kingdom last year was almost exactly one-third that of the previous year, and Canada dropped from seventh to tenth place in the list of countries supplying the British market.

Sweden, the Netherlands and the Irish Free State all made gains, while New Zealand and Australia, like Canada, suffered a drop.

As in the case of butter, so also in cheese there has been a falling off in Canadian exports to the United Kingdom.

In 1925 Canada had very nearly reached equality with New Zealand in this trade at about $33,500,000 each, but last year this country shipped only a little over $23,000,000 worth, while New Zealand increased her trade to over $35,000,000.

These figures should give some concern to Canadian producers and to the country generally.

A WAY OUT OF MANY PROBLEMS.

Of great importance is the proposition brought forward by R. R. Hall, K.C., on behalf of a private syndicate and given in detail on the first page of to-day's issue.

This proposal includes the purchase and operations, on conditions, of the street railway, the gas plant and the Auburn power plant and the development of Dame 4 and 5 on the Otonabee and the power at Burleigh Falls.

With the street railway problem approaching a crisis and the city threatened with a loss of its transportation facilities, a proposition that offers a way out of the difficulty and at the same time promises a substantial reduction in the wholesale cost of power, better street railway service and cheaper gas is one that should be investigated not only by the City Council but by the citizens as a whole.

Mr. Hall asks, on behalf of the syndicate, an informal expression of approval by the taxpayers of Peterborough before negotiations are opened, and that is an entirely reasonable request that should be answered by the calling of a public meeting for the discussion of this large undertaking.

The Chamber of Commerce and other local organizations, which should be interested in a matter that so vitally concerns Peterborough's interest, might well co-operate in providing an opportunity for this public discussion of this proposition as soon as possible in order that negotiations with the Dominion Government, whose co-operation in certain details of the plan is essential, may be carried on before the present session of Parliament is concluded.

THIS IS A SEASON OF INTROSPECTION.

When people lose the capacity to enjoy themselves by themselves, their souls are not their own. The modern trend is to make home a parking place at night and an eating place by day. Capacity to enjoy oneself by oneself means a good book or a lone walk in the countryside or elsewhere. It obviates the modern craving to be amused. An hour of solitude should mean thought, and it should mean introspection into self, or self-examination. Half the world is doing without in this respect in the rush and hurry of the day. It is little wonder that it is a time of increasing number of divorces, crime waves and general disruption of home life, the structural basis of the nation.

The Lenten period is but a name to many people, whereas for their own good, looked at from strictly a selfish viewpoint, it should be an actuality. It should be a time for the taking of moral inventories. The Montreal Gazette, in a very fine Lenten editorial, says that:

"Lent is the summons to serious thought. We boast our human faculty of thinking. It distinguishes us from the brutes. It is identified with our very existence, with human dignity and human power, with that vast telescopic view of the universe no creature on earth but man can compass. And yet how true the saying of Coleridge that few of us ever come right home to ourselves, although our discursive thoughts wander to the uttermost ends of the earth? The same philosopher once remarked: 'If you are a man, and not a thinking man, why talk of being a man at all?' Precisely. Most of us are content to take life for granted. We gossip and do not meditate. We read the thoughts of others and suppress the energy of our own. We allow our minds to lie dormant beneath the superimposed mass of notions and ideas littering down from the social forest about us until the mental pathways are smothered with shredded leaves. What we all need is some thoughtful effort more akin to the vital throb of seeds in the soils. Meditation in these hurried and sinful days is all but a lost art. If we cannot take time and trouble to do our thinking nobody can do it for us. Said Herder: 'Give me a great thought that I may quicken myself with it.' It is a good motto for the Lenten season. Growing thought becomes growing revelation."

Just think that thought over.—St. Catharines Standard.

A BUSINESS CODE.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States at the recent annual meeting formulated fifteen principles of business conduct. They are well worth study, representing as they do the views of more than 1,200 commercial and trade organizations, with a membership of upward of 800,000 business firms, corporations, and individuals.

I. The foundation of business is confidence, which springs from integrity, fair dealing, efficient service, and mutual benefit.

II. The reward of business for service rendered is a fair profit plus a safe return, commensurate with risks involved and foresight exercised.

III. Equitable consideration is due in business alike to capital, management, employees, and the public.

IV. Knowledge—thorough and specific—and unceasing study of the facts and forces affecting a business enterprise are essential to a lasting individual success and to efficient service to the public.

V. Permanency and continuity of service are basic aims of business, that knowledge gained may be fully utilized, confidence established, and efficiency increased.

VI. Obligation to itself and society prompts business unceasingly to strive toward continuity of operation, bettering conditions of employment, and increasing the efficiency and opportunities of individual employees.

VII. Contracts and undertakings, written or oral, are to be performed in letter and in spirit. Changed conditions do not justify their cancellation without mutual consent.

VIII. Representation of goods and services should be truthfully made and scrupulously fulfilled.

IX. Waste in any form—of capital, labor, services, materials, or natural resources—is intolerable, and constant effort will be made toward its elimination.

X. Excesses of every nature—inflation of credit, over-expansion, over-buying, over-stimulation of sales—which create artificial conditions and produce crises and depressions, are condemned.

XI. Unfair competition, embracing all acts characterized by bad faith, deception, fraud or oppression, including commercial bribery, is wasteful, despicable and a public wrong. Business will rely for its success upon the excellence of its own service.

XII. Controversies will, where possible, be adjusted by voluntary agreement or impartial arbitration.

XIII. Corporate forms do not absolve from or alter the moral obligation of individuals. Responsibilities will be as courageously and conscientiously discharged by those acting in representative capacities as when acting for themselves.

XIV. Lawful co-operation among business men and in useful business organizations in support of these principles of business conduct is commended.

XV. Business should render restrictive legislation unnecessary through so conducting itself as to deserve and inspire public confidence.—From "Personal Efficiency" Magazine.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce are reminded that the annual election of officers takes place tomorrow. The slogan of the campaign is still, "Vote as you like—but vote."

CATTLE, GRAIN AND PRODUCE

Peterboro—Toronto—Montreal

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, March 7 (Canadian Press).—The foreign demand for Canadian grain continued quiet on the Montreal market Saturday owing to the fact that the majority of bids were below working basis.

The volume of business in cash grain on the local market was also small, but prices were firm.

A moderate amount of business was worked in Spring wheat grades of flour for local and export account, and values were steady. Trade in winter wheat flour was confined to odd cars, and the undertone continued easy.

The millfeed market was fairly active and prices were well maintained. A steady feeling prevailed in the market for rolled oats with a moderate business passing.

The demand for eggs showed a further improvement and an active business was done. The tone of the market was steady. The receipts were 177 packages.

The trade in cheese on spot was a little better owing to the fact that United States buyers showed a little interest in the market, and some business was done at 17 3-4 to 18c per pound for both Western and Eastern grades. The receipts were 31 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 7 (Canadian Press).—Extensive all-rail shipments of Canadian wheat, together with notable strength of values at Winnipeg, brought about late rallies Saturday in the wheat market here. Chicago wheat closed firm at the same as Friday's finish to 3-8c higher; corn 1-2 to 7-8c off; oats varying from a shade decline to 1-8c advance, and provisions unchanged to 40c down.

Big receipts of corn here, 238 cars Saturday, in the face of a slow demand had a depressing effect on the corn market. Oats held steady, helped by continued good inquiry for all grades.

NO INAUGURAL BALL

By Dr. Frank Crane.

C. C. Young as Governor-elect announced that there was going to be no inaugural ball when he took office. There hadn't been one for some years and he wasn't going to start one now.

Why should a Governor have an inaugural ball anyhow? He is simply the State's principal hired man and the people elected him to do a certain job and there is no reason why he should not take hold of that job unostentatiously like any other employe.

We don't have a ball when a man is elected chairman of the steel corporation, nor do you fire off a cannon when you get a new manager for your stove works. By the same token we could spare the fireworks when any man takes a political job.

It is all right to have a pow-wow in Europe when they have a new king. Kings mean something socially over there and maybe they do here, as we saw a while ago when Queen Marie was amongst us.

But Kings and Queens and such like are not indigenous to America.

We know what a hired man means and what a superintendent means and we know he is chosen to do his job as well as he can, and we will be very grateful if he undertake his job without a concomitant vaudeville entertainment.

If people want to dance and sing and drink bootleg there are plenty of places for them to do so in the various night clubs and other resorts. Let the people who like that sort of thing do that sort of thing, but the most of us are hard-working and quiet citizens, going out our business and making no fuss and feathers over it, and we would like to see our political managers do the same, if they don't mind.

Topic for the Week
"MAN IS A SPIRIT"

Monday
"Spiritual Relations are Primary"

SCRIPTURE: Read—Galatians 3: 1-14.

"Except one be born anew (from above), he cannot see the kingdom of God" (Jn. 3:3). "The water that I shall give him shall become in him a well of water springing up into eternal life" (Jn. 4:14. "And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind" (Rom. 12:2).

See—Galatians 6:150; James 1:18; I Peter 1:23.

MEDITATION: God is in the fire, the plant, the animal. There are higher types of life in which we discern love, joy, peace and all the fruits of the spirit. I may have all the rest, but without the fruits of the spirit I shall fail. I must have right heart relation with the great heart of the heavenly Father. If I am to be a full-sized man I must be "born from above." I bow therefore in prayer, waiting upon God for his work of friendship:

"That which makes me glad is not what I get, but what I am, and what I am depends on the Spirit."

HYMN:

Beneath the cross of Jesus
I fain would take my stand,—
The shadow of a mighty rock
Within a weary land,
A home within the wilderness,
A rest upon the way,
From the burning of the noontide heat,
And the burden of the day.

Upon that cross of Jesus
Mine eye at times can see
The very dying form of One
Who suffered there for me:
And from my smitten heart with tears
Two wonders I confess,—
The wonders of His glorious love
And my unworthiness.

PRAYER: Pray for — the true "birth from above;"—solution of our problems; establishment of God's kingdom.

Collect—Heavenly Father, whose tender mercies compel our love, we thank Thee for the gift of Christ our Saviour. In Him our shortcomings are filled up; our sicknesses of soul are healed; our rebellions of spirit are quelled. For salvation full and free we bless Thee. In the presence of Thy outpouring of love our selfishness stands revealed. Breathe into us of Thy spirit that we may be strong to forsake sin, to overcome temptation and to live in the light which Christ supplies. O our Father, grant us to know something of Thy passion of love. Help us to proclaim the gospel to all mankind. Record our pledge before Thee that we will exalt the things of the spirit. Amen.

Pains in the Back are Thing of the Past

William Sullivan praises Dodd's Kidney Pills

"I had pains in my back and would often have to get up two or three times a night to urinate," writes Mr. W. Sullivan, a resident of Grey Rapids, N.B. "I got two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and after I had finished taking them I was all right. That was two years ago and I have not felt any sore back since."

People all over Canada have tried Dodd's Kidney Pills and found them excellent. They have been used by thousands of people suffering from various forms of kidney trouble, such as rheumatism, dropsy, sore back and weakness.

"MEATS"

A correspondent asks:

"Is it ever correct to use the word 'meats'—that is, the plural of 'meat?' Near my home there is a butcher shop with the sign, 'John Jones, Dealer in Meats'. Should it not be, 'John Jones Dealer in Meat'?

It is correct to use the word "meats" when reference is made to various kinds of flesh. Thus, if John Jones sells beef, pork, mutton, etc., he may call himself a "dealer in meats." Of course, exactly the same meaning is conveyed if the "s" is omitted, since the word "meat" may be taken as either a general term, meaning the flesh of animals used as food, or as a special term, meaning simply the flesh of one kind of animal.

MAYBE MAMIE IS A MAN!

Editor, Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Many thanks to Mamie for telling me the truth about myself. I had to laugh when I found she had set me down as being a man, and to tell the truth I was rather flattered. I remember reading somewhere that left-handed folk are peculiar—if a man he would have feminine traits, and if a woman she would have masculine traits. I'm inclined now to believe it, I remember, too, that when I was a girl I used to whistle quite a bit and I didn't see any harm in it, though my parents used to reprove me. I know now why I did not see any harm in it—it was perfectly natural to me. But of course, Mamie has never seen me cut bread with my left hand, nor heard me whistle, but she has seen me with distorted vision as the man she ridiculed. Mamie, you need to become a "fool" that you might be wise.

Yours very truly,
M. BURTON.

WATER IS THE BEST DRINK

Authorities differ about the amount of water necessary in the day's ration some argue that a large amount should be used to wash out the bodily impurities but I have found that the normal body calls for what water it needs. If food is highly seasoned, more water is required than ordinarily would be true under ideal conditions. Also, during warm weather, the elimination of moisture from the body is greater and, therefore, more liquid must be supplied to make up this loss. Water must be depended upon for furnishing this liquid and there is no other drink which is such a pure solvent. Absolutely pure water does not exist in nature but the ordinary water supplied to large communities admirably answers this purpose. Distilled water is the purest and cleanest possible to obtain. Milk is about 88% water, and if a small amount is used daily, the needs of the body will be supplied. Coffee, tea, cocoa and such drinks are stimulants and by the addition of sugar and cream become beverages with too much food value to be used with benefit. Their after-effect is sedative and depressing, so it is better to get your water from some more suitable source. If large amounts of the leafy vegetables are used, especially in their natural state, they, themselves, will furnish the system with sufficient liquid for the ordinary needs. If the urine is heavy and loaded with much eliminative material, it is well to drink large quantities of water between meals so that the urine will always be of a normal straw color.

Drinking with meals is to be condemned generally because of the tendency to wash down food not properly masticated and unsalivated. No harm results from adding water to the stomach contents when one has eaten an average meal if real thirst persists after eating.

Children should be encouraged to eat sufficient food at the beginning of the meal before water is taken, or otherwise they will only fill up their small stomachs with water and not have room for the wholesome food needed. Neither hot or very cold water should be used, as either will act as an irritant. The hot water will relax the muscles of the stomach too much and lower its tone, and cold water will chill the lining and also delay digestion until the body can warm up the digestive organs again.

Too much water taken into the stomach will discourage the body in forming its regular liberating fluids and, because of this, is a real cause for producing constipation.

While waiting for the courses in a regular dinner, the diner often sips several glasses of water just because he has nothing else to do and not because he is really thirsty. At a restaurant do not be too timid to ask for water without ice.

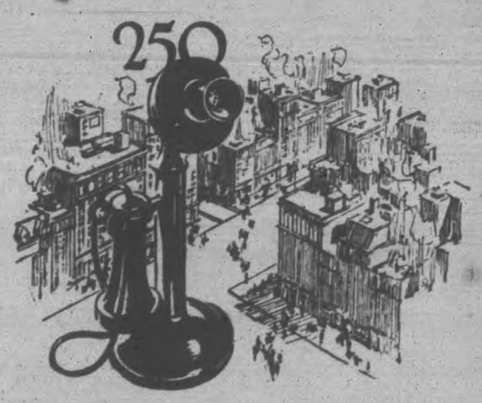
If you know how to spend less than you get you have the philosopher's stone.—Franklin.



We quote this experience by permission

MANY of our business subscribers know of the intensive and valuable service rendered by MacLean Building Reports. They have 250 live agents in Ontario. Accuracy in their reports of proposed construction is vital, but speed in securing them is of utmost importance. Recently they asked permission to send 250 copies of one of our advertisements to these agents. It was entitled "Business is good—if you go after it."

Their letter, accompanying our advertisement was headed "Go after Reports and you will get them!" and they added: "If the proposed construction is within reasonable radius, get the report—by telephone. We will repay your charges." All these calls are handled on the Station-to-Station basis.

How much more business could you do if your representatives were authorized to promptly telephone news of new business they hear of?

The firm with advance information has a decided advantage.

SPECTATOR HURT IN BICYCLE RACE

Rider, Caught in Jam, Runs Into Box, Injuring Woman.

NEW YORK, March 7.—(Canadian Press.)—The first serious accident in a six day bicycle race ever to involve a spectator here, marked the inaugural of the 42nd grind in Madison Square Garden. Scarcely an hour after the fifteen teams started the long Marathon last night, Emil Rohrbach, of France, was caught in a jam and after smashing into another rider, catapulted off the track and into a box. One of the pedals of the cycle struck Mrs. Walker, of Detroit, over the eye, inflicting a deep gash that required hospital treatment. Rohrbach was knocked unconscious and suffered cuts in his head and abdomen. He returned to the race to-day, however.

EXPLOSION KILLS ONE WORKMAN

Two Girls Suffer Burns in Accident in Cartridge Plant.

CAUSE UNKNOWN.

BROWNSBURG, Que., March 7.—(Canadian Press.)— Pierre Lepine, 32, was fatally injured and two young women suffered burns and bruises when an explosion wrecked a section of the fuse plant of the Dominion Cartridge Company here. Fire, resulting from the explosion, destroyed a group of small buildings owned by the company. The two men were reported as not seriously injured.

Lepine was alone when the explosion, the cause of which has not been discovered, occurred.

THREE KILLED IN CAPTURING MAN

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., March 7.—(Canadian Press.)—Three men are dead and two others are recovering from wounds to-day, as a result of a six hour attempt by posse men to capture John Bruno, fifty, known to be demented, after Bruno had barricaded himself in his home near here yesterday. The affray ended only when a bullet fired by one of the posses men posted in a church across the way from the besieged house, struck Bruno beneath the heart, mortally wounding him.

Guard Them — Those things that money can't buy

"IT is an unpardonable crime" writes Mrs. Ethel Baillie, of Montreal, "to use any other suds than 'Lux,' for the exquisite hand-made woolies, belonging to the "Teenie Weenies;" the soft, dainty shirts, panties, jackets, bootees, etc.

"They represent, besides the expense, many hours of skilful, patient work, done by the loving hands of adoring Grannies, Mothers and Aunties. To risk spoiling these lovely, delicate little garments, by using anything but 'Lux' would be an unpardonable crime, for they cannot be replaced. Money cannot buy what love gives."

There is a lot of good common sense in this letter.

Mrs. Baillie is but one of the millions who has found by experience that when it comes to doing difficult as well as simple work — there is no substitute for Lux.

MURRAY STREET

The following is the sermon preached in Murray Street Baptist Church on Sunday night by Rev. Dr. Rose, who next Sunday concludes his pastorate here.

Reasons for Believing in Immortality.
Job 14:14—John 11:25.

"Why do I believe in immortality, life with God and in fellowship with the good, whom I have known and loved?"

This question has been coming to me over and over again, not, however, because there has been doubt on this subject. There is nothing in the whole creed of Christendom that I more firmly and continuously believe than that the life of the individual will be continued, and as distinct from all others in personality as now. So precious and far-reaching a belief should have a foundation in keeping with it. What do I base my belief upon? We should be able to give a good reason or reasons for this hope which we have.

1—Because of Instinct.

Belief in life after the death of the body is native to the heart of man, and I find it strong within me. Apart from all reasoning I think of life as being continued. Instinct, like faith, is a gift from God and it is to be trusted Bryant, in his little poem, addressed "To A Waterfowl" describes the long and unerring flight of a water fowl from the south to the north, guided by instinct which he recognises as God, who leads aright. Bryant was greatly impressed as he thought upon it. He puts it thus—

"There is a Power whose care
Teaches thy way along that pathless coast,
The desert and the illimitable air,
Lone wandering, but not lost.

All day thy wings have fanned
At that far height, the cold, thin atmosphere,
Yet stoop not weary to the welcome land
Though the dark night is near.

And soon that toil shall end;
Soon shalt thou find a summerhome, and rest,
And scream among thy fellows; reeds shall bend,
Soon o'er thy sheltered nest.

Thou art gone, the abyss of heaven
Hath swallowed up thy form; yet on my heart
Deeply hath sunk the lesson thau hast given,
And shall not soon depart.

He who from zone to zone;
Guides through the boundless sky thy certain flight,
In the long way that I must tread alone,
Will lead my steps aright.

Dr. W. L. Watkinson; a man of great spiritual insight and of intellectual power affirms the same truth in these words—

"Men have an instinct of immortality. It has been found in the lowest savages and in the most intellectual races; it revealed itself in the nations of antiquity and it prevailed in the modern world—If there be one characteristic common to the race, after all exceptions be fully allowed, it is to be found in that prophetic sense which suggests to us a life beyond the grave. Are not the instincts of lower creatures marvelously correct? The instinct of the bird of passage does not deceive it in its vast strange migrations. The instinct of the bee does not fail it in the elaboration of its cell, in the gathering of its honey and in many other ways altogether wonderful. The instincts of the butterfly and the beetle are not at fault when, by a strange prescience, they prepare the cradle and food for their offspring, whom they shall never see. And may we not ask with confidence if the instinct of the caterpillar pointing to the butterfly, if the instinct of the swallow discerning far beyond the sea a land of sunshine and flowers, if these instincts prove no mockery, why should the instincts of human nature, pointing to a grand perfection in a world above and beyond—prove untrustworthy?"

Dr. Hillis emphasises the same fact, the reliability of instinct, in one of the greatest addresses that he ever delivered. He says—

"God tells no lies to the birds; to whom he whispers by instinct, that if they will leave the storm behind, far off is the warm tropic land. Let us believe also that beyond these voices, there is rest and peace. The keeper of the zoological garden tells us that in autumn the golden crested eagle stands always on the south side of the cage, with its head between the bars, straining and straining toward the south—that when Spring is again upon the land, and the south wind blows softly, the eagle stands looking toward the north. With its head between the bars it stands straining toward the land where coolness hath her hiding places. And oft the soul stands expectant. Soon, the signal will be seen. Then, putting out into the night and the storm, we shall sail the sea of God alone, in the triumphant faith that at last we shall anchor in a far-off haven of happiness, and, landing on the soul's summer land, go up the happy hills of God."

I believe in Immortality just as I see with my eyes and hear with my ears because it is natural so to do. God has given me an inward longing after endless life, He has embedded in my instincts, in my deepest nature, in the very foundation of my personality and yours, the feeling, the assurance that this individual life will know no end and be affected little more in its power of continuance than the ship that passes the imaginary lines that mark off the meridians on the mariner's chart. Old Dr. Martineau was right when he said: "Manx does not believe in Immortality because he has ever proven it, but he is ever trying to prove it because he cannot help believing it." Emmerson adds: "We carry the pledge of Immortality in our own breasts. We are to live forever. When God has an argument to carry with the human race he plants the arguments in his instincts. God be thanked. Death is only the end of the beginning. The more I think of Instinct as a basis of belief in Immortality the more firm it becomes. I am convinced that it has been given by God and not that it will be disappointing when the great test comes. In answer to Job's question which is humanity's question, "If a man die, shall he live again?" we reply in harmony with our instincts—"Though he die, yet shall he live."

2.—Because of Intelligence.

God has given the power which we have for thought and the product of our thinking is a firm belief in Immortality. The mind seems incapable of concluding on the basis of man's Divine parentage, which he so readily accepts, and Divine provision, which he sees on every hand, that there is no glorious future this side of the grave commensurate with his Divine birthright here. The more thoughtful men become the more strongly do they feel that this life is but the beginning of life which shall be endless. If you call the roll to-day of the men who are leaders in the intellectual life of the world you will name men of pronounced convictions in favor of Immortality. Instead of the ranks being thinned by investigation and more critical study they are being increased. Scientists fifty years ago were quite generally skeptical and ready to believe that life had its beginning apart from God and ended with the death of the body. To-day scientists as generally believe that the life of man had its beginning with God and that it will continue after death.

In my thoughtful moments I am thoroughly convinced that this world is the creation of a being great enough to produce it and to guide it to a predetermined end. The laws which control it become living things and are seen to be the expression of the very thought of God, and power of God in operation now. I cannot think of God as being defeated finally in His purpose of good will toward mankind. It is inconceivable to me that God should so richly dower the individual soul if the few years of this earthly life end all. An eternity is needed to complete the life of man. Multitudes are cut off so soon after beginning that the mind is staggered unless there is time beyond the grave for the development and maturity. The sense of justice also demands a future life for the righting of the apparent if not real injustice of much that passes here. Here justice is defeated, but there we believe justice will be finally and forever triumphant. In answer to the question, "If a man die will he live again?" the intellect, God instructed, unhesitatingly replies, since God is God and right is right, man will live forever and forever. Mankind, the crowning work of all God's creation, is to live longer than the red-wood trees of California, though they stand for 2,000 years, and longer than the granite hills, though they withstand the storms and disintegrating forces of ages. The children of God are to share His immortality.

3.—Because of Inspiration.

I believe in Immortality because of what is given us by Inspiration and that is only another way of saying that I believe in Immortality because of what is stated in the Bible about life after death. This is our supreme confidence. There can be no mistake on the part of Jesus. What He said settles the matter finally for me and I think it should settle the matter finally for you. He said of His followers: "I give unto them eternal life and they shall never perish"; also J. 3:16, "I am the resurrection and the life, he that believeth on me though he die yet shall he live." "In my father's house are many mansions. If it were not so I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you and if I go and prepare a place for you I will come again and receive you unto myself."

Not only have we the statements of Scripture assuring us that the soul will live, we have an illustration of this fact in the person of Christ who survived the shock of physical death. He showed himself alive by many infallible proofs. Our loved ones who have left us will in a few years show themselves alive to us also by many infallible proofs. Thank God for that hope. It is the anchor to the soul. There is a Lightship anchored in the Bay of Fundy, about fifteen miles from Yarmouth, out where the tide races over ledges. It is a dangerous place. Through the long winter that ship with her crew face the greatest storms that come and at times when it seems that no ship can live in the face of such gales and rolling mountains of water the captain will put his hand on the long anchor-chain to determine whether the anchor is holding or being dragged along the bottom. With satisfaction the word is passed along, "The Anchor holds," and they all know that the strong flue of the anchor is hooked under some rock or deeply embedded in the foundation of the sea. So we find when the storms of life beat upon us that our faith fastened to the Rock of Ages holds. It holds!

O Man of Calvary! O Son of God!
I mark the path Thy holy foot-steps trod
Through death to life—Thy living self to me,
Potence and pledge of immortality.

ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL

Yesterday was Adoration Sunday at St. Peter's Cathedral. The subject of the sermon at the High Mass, preached by Rev. P. Costello, was based on the First Commandment: "I am the Lord Thy God. Thou shalt not have strange gods before Me," and dealt mainly with the practise of Catholics in placing images and pictures of the saints in their churches and home.

"The Church," said Father Costello, "considers it a salutary and useful practise to pray to God through the saints. These were men and women like ourselves who lived here upon earth, underwent the same trials and difficulties and temptations as we do, but fought the good fight to the end and so merited the crown of eternal life in company with God in heaven."

Catholics do not give them the adoration which is due to God alone, but they honor and respect them as virtuous servants of the Almighty, and they place their pictures and images in their churches and homes to keep in mind always the virtues which were theirs. They consider the saints as friends of God, who, by reason of their virtuous and faithful lives, have merited His regard in the next world, and they ask their intercession when approaching Him and asking for favors of any kind. Their statues and pictures are simply reminders of their holy lives, as the picture of the bleeding, sacred Heart of Jesus reminds us of the sufferings of Christ in this world, when His Heart was pierced by the arrows of sin among His children.

INTENSE DRAMATIC STORY THAT GRIPS AND THRILLS

Emil Jannings and Lya de Putti Featured

The story opens with a shot of a prison. Prisoner 28, an aged, bent old man, has been summoned by the warden. The prisoner, who has refused to talk through more than twenty years of confinement, has at last consented to tell his tale to the kind hearted warden. His story is as follows:

Flashback

The prisoner, as a young man, handsome and muscular, is named Boss. He was a partner in a traveling carnival acrobatic act with a beautiful girl, Bertha, whom Boss idolized. She, however, was a selfish little flirt who made Boss practically a servant.

The carnival was playing in an outlying section of a great European city. To the fair ground came Artinelli, foremost acrobatic star in thee world and—a notorious sheik among women. Artinelli was facing the prospect of losing a very profitable engagement at the mammoth Winter Garden because of the loss of his partner in an accident. He was looking for another partner and had been told about Boss and Bertha. At sight of the beautiful Bertha, Artinelli at once made a lucrative proposition to Boss and the girl to join his act at the Winter Garden. They accepted. Soon, they became the sensation of Europe and packed the great theatre at every performance. The climax of their act was the famous triple death-defying somersault in which Artinelli's life depended upon the skill of Boss in catching him after the third flip through the air, two hundred feet above the heads of the audience. Meantime, off-stage, Atinelli was making every effort to lure Bertha away from Boss. At last he succeeded. For some time the two kept their guilty knowledge away from Boss but at last, through gossip in a cafe, Boss learned the terrible news.

The Triple Somersault

During the performance that night, he debated with himself whether or not to kill Artinelli during the triple somersault, knowing that he could hurl his rival to death simply by failing to catch his flying wrists by a fraction of an inch. Right up to the final second he was all set for the tragedy but lost his nerve and permitted the feat to be successfully accomplished.

But—that night he sought Artinelli in his room and in a terrific hand-to-hand battle, the two fought it out. The struggle ended with the death of Artinelli, and Boss gave himself up to the police.

Pardoned!

The scene shifts back to Prisoner 76 telling his story to the warden. The warden informs him that friends have interceded in his behalf and that he is a free man.

PRE-LENT DANCE HELD AT GROVE

Enjoyable Evening Spent by Boys and Guests—Council Meets.

LAKEFIELD NEWS

Lakefield, March 7. — A jolly little dance was held at "The Grove" on Monday evening, this is the annual pre-Lent dance for the boys and is always delightful. Early in the evening Sir Roger de Coverley was danced with the smaller boys taking a prominent part and enjoying it thoroughly.

Music was provided by Widdess' Orchestra of Peterboro and the young people and their elders tripped the light fantastic till about midnight.

During the evening there were streamer dances and a balloon and lucky number dance which was won by Miss Theo. Elmsley.

Rev. A. W. Mackenzie and his daughter, Mrs. Lampman, received the guests and made everyone feel at home.

EUROPEAN FOREIGN, ETC.

ances in regard to foreigners, which will certainly satisfy France.

For once the misfortune of losing the war has brought benefit to Germany, for she at least has nothing now to lose in China and can sit as a spectator on the difficulties of others.

The friction between Poland and Germany is likely to occupy both official and unofficial time, but therein also there seems more reason for optimism than was the case some weeks ago.

Stresemann Presides.

Dr. Stresemann will preside at the Council meeting and he has no interest in making this first official appearance in a leading role on the diplomatic stage of the League appear otherwise than as utterly pacific. Down on the Riviera he has been studying many things; and not least the art of pussyfooting amid the broken glass with which Europe is still sprinkled.

To Polish-German relations the attitude of a friendly England toward the former country has certainly made a difference, and both the German Foreign Minister and M. Zaleski are credited with the intention to make a serious effort during their meeting to improve both the political and economic relations of the two countries.

Neither is the Rhineland occupation likely to become a matter of public discussion. The position of all the former allies has been frankly defined by their Foreign Ministers and there is some work to be done before even partial evacuation could be accepted. Dr. Stresemann is well aware of the situation and though he may need something in the way of a promise for home consumption he is not credited with any intention of raising this issue. France is in one matter meeting that desire for relief from occupation by reducing her Sarre forces to 800 men.

Discuss Naval Proposal.

In the private meetings one subject which is certain to be discussed is President Coolidge's note on naval limitation. There has been in France during the last two weeks a slight alteration of view with regard to the President's suggestion. France still holds firmly to the opinion that it is a matter for the League of Nations Disarmament Commission, but there is a real possibility that under her guidance later in the month and with the cooperation of England the commission itself may be led to make a recommendation of limitation which will approximate what President Coolidge proposes.

Then, with the blessing of the League upon it, it might be possible for the five countries involved to make an agreement within the scope of what the preliminary conference recommended. Thus President Coolidge would obtain the measure of naval limitation he is seeking or something like it and France would remain faithful to the doctrine that the League should be the only instrument in such matters.

OLD FRIENDSHIPS RENEWED, ETC.

and on the spirit of unity and goodwill which prevailed among the Old Boys. When he looked back to the days he spent in the school at Lakefield, he recalled very sweet memories. It was a small school to begin with. When he first went there, it had only ten scholars. There was but one dormitory, and the school was in a little old cottage, still existing, which contained two rooms in which were held two classes. The scholars used to be good boys and bad boys. He was not so very good himself in those days, but Mr. Strickland was worse. (Laughter).

That was the past. What of the future? He remembered a visit he had paid recently to the school. He found there new buildings and everything up-to-date—and the best head that any school could have. The motto of the school, "A sound mind in a healthy body," was carried out by him. That was why they were all looking so healthy as they sat before him. The scholars of to-day got an abundance of exercise and lots of sports—which were not available in the old days. Mr. MacKenzie was very keen on sport. One only required to see what the teams had done in cricket, hockey and other sports to realize the beneficial effects of his methods.

As a soldier there was one thing in particular which he wished to say. During the last war, the Grove had nothing to be ashamed of in the record of its sons. Many of them sprang readily to arms in defence of civilization. Twenty-three of them did not come back. They were sad to think of it, but at the same time they were proud. He always thought that these men would feel perfectly satisfied that they should not come back since that through their sacrifice others might live.

Everything now at The Grove appeared wonderful to him. When he visited it, he found in it an excellent Cadet Corps which showed the way to many older schools. The Grove had given many excellent men to the world. Some had gone to other schools and universities; others had made their mark in the professions. Their success was due to the good ground work prepared in The Grove. He hoped to see the School go on from strength to strength. In concluding General Williams intimated his desire to perpetuate his memory at the School, by the institution of a prize of some kind which he wished to arrange with Mr. Mackenzie.

Rev. A. W. Mackenzie.

On rising to respond to the toast, Mr. Mackenzie was greeted with the singing of "He's a Jolly Good Fellow," and 'See Him Smiling!" and some time elapsed before the enthusiasm of his former pupils subsided sufficiently to permit of his commencing his speech. He thanked the General for his kindly remarks and good wishes, and hoped that he would soon pay the school another visit, for the boys had conceived a great admiration for him on the occasion of his last visit. He wished to tender his congratulations to the president and the officers on the success of the banquet and especially on the atmosphere of the gathering. He had recently attended a first meeting of the association in Montreal. He thought the members present in Hart House were possibly a bit noisier than was the Montreal section. (Cheers.)

This first dinner in Montreal was a great success. Thirty men attended it, representing more years than were present in the audience before him. He would like to see some of the Toronto branch at the School once more for a visit some time next year. They should visit the school occasionally and keep their memories fresh.

Boys and Master.

It had been said that God alone knew the heart, but he was inclined to think the boys also knew it. They had an uncanny way of knowing one. At first they felt a little in awe of a master but this soon wore off and they found out that he also had his weaknesses and difficulties and his trials. They had gone from the school, but when they still showed a liking for the old pedagogue he felt very proud and he thanked them from his heart. Some of them did come back at times and enticed him out for a game of football, but he wanted to see more of them. They had lots of room now .They had an infirmary that was early always empty, (laughter) and they would be only too pleased to fill it up with such husky specimens as were in the room. (Renewed laughter.) They need not bother about sending post card or telegram—just come whether the school was in session or not.

Two Suggestions.

He had two suggestions to make: The first was that they should have a printed list of old boys who had permanent addresses in Toronto, so that boys leaving school in June could feel that any man whose name was on that list would be glad to see them and give them a lunch, or do what he could for any of them. Every Kiwanian and Rotarian did that for his fellows and what these men did for strangers the Old Boys should do for younger Old Boys of The Grove.

His second suggestion was that the Old Boys present should have a lunch together once a month. They all ate lunch; why then not have it together occasionally? It could be a Dutch treat and would not cost them more than they usually paid for their lunch. It had been decided to do this in Montreal. It would keep them together, which was the object of these association.

The School to-day had room for 85 boys and had the usual accompaniments of bedrooms and bathrooms. He found that the Old Boys did not care a hoot for these things when they revisited the School. What they wanted to see was the places where they cut their names in the bathroom. But a school did not grow by buildings. It grew by personality. The Old Boys present were largely instrumental in setting a good tone. He knew the school had a good tone, and it was due to them. That was the life of the school and this tone and atmosphere the boys were proud to carry on.

They had the chapel built only two years ago. This did not account for the tone that had been set in the past, but he felt that to-day the silent witness of the cross, the early service, and the communion on Sunday mornings were all great forces.

The school now had three football fields. They would remember the field they used to have, the one with an angle of 45 degrees. They would also remember the everlasting debate at football: "Shall we have the slope with us in the last quarter or shall we have it first and go at it hammer and tongs to keep our lead and hold on as to the edge of precipice? They still had the old field near the cottage which General Williams had spoken of. It was levelled last fall. They began it before the frost came. Many teams were put on, but they had no contractor. They did not need one. He had an energetic young master named Mr. Wood, who got ten teams together. Most of the work was done in five days and when the whole thing was completed they would have a stand and terrace. They all remembered Mr. W. B. Marling, who had been at the School so long. Cheers.) His efficiency as a master was to be expected," said Mr. Mackenzie—"I taught him myself." (Cheers and laughter.) He was glad to be able to pay tribute to Mr. Marling. They had all known him and liked him, and it was a wonderful part of a boy's education to live with a man like Marling.

Mr. MacKenzie asked his hearers to forgive him if he coupled his wife's name with any praise he had received. Building up a school without capital and with no bishop or synod behind one was not all beer and skittles, and in all his very trying labors in times of difficulty he had had the loyal and courageous support of his wife. (Cheers).

In speaking in school and chapel he had always tried to make things real. He urged his hearers to get away from false views of life. All of them read the papers. They knew the general attitude of the world towards the church. He asked them not to confound the church with religion. Religion was between a man and God. Most people found God's message in the church. Some, perhaps of temperament of circumstances, did not find this message in the church. But this should not mean that they must give up religion. Never allow themselves to do this. Make their religion as simple and loving as the love of God which was unfailing, and always remember that God was with them in their efforts to do their work in this world. (Loudl cheering during which Mr. MacKenzie resumed his seat).

H. F. Strickland

Mr. Strickland was not listed on the programme as one of the speakers, but at the urgent request of the president, he gave a short address recalling incidents of his days at the school. He said that if he told them all the incidents which came rushing to his mind, he would keep them listening all night. He first went to the school on a Thanksgiving Day which was very far from being a Thanksgiving Day for him, as he felt very sad at being taken away from his home. But he soon got accustomed to the life and learned to love the school. The headmaster in his day was Mr. Sheldrake, and one of the chief recreations was to slip out at night and make stump fires in the football field of which Mr. Mackenzie had spoken. In those days they had many fights with the boys of Lakefield.

The village boys used to refer to the school boys as "The Bloods" and the feud lasted for a long time until a cricket match took place in which the school beat the village, and after that school boys and village boys got to know each other better, and relations became much more harmonious.

Advantages of the Grove

He thought that today there was no school in Canada which offered so many advantages as The Grove. The great thing about The Grove was the wonderful outdoor life. There were no mollycoddles reared at The Grove. In his day the boys at the school were taught everything from milking cows to chopping wood, in addition to the ordinary curriculum. Why they would even build wigwams in his day! Never were such wigwams made, not even by the Indians.

Mr. Strickland created much amusement among his audience by describing the "hair-cut trek" to Peterborough. The barber near the school in Lakefield who was accustomed to cut the hair of the boys had, among his customers, many lumber-jacks, and it was thought after some time that for "sanitary" reasons, the Peterborough barbers should get the trade. The boys, he said, walked both ways, varying the tedium by having running contests. This journey, totaling twenty miles, did not worry them in the least, declared Mr. Strickland, who concluded by wishing prosperity to the association and its members.

At the conclusion of the speeches, the company adjourned to one of the reading rooms of Hart House, where a number of interesting moving pictures of present day life at the Grove and scenes of former Old Boys' days at the School were shown to an enthusiastic assembly. At the close of the evening the unanimous verdict was that the fourth reunion had eclipsed all its predecessors.

In addition to the officers and speaks, Old Boys present were D. H. Massie, B. T. Moodie, C. W. Earle, C. McMichael, J. M. Gray, R. F. Gray, James S. Little, B. Brown, G. Heron, J. Frank, N. Kingsmill, W. H. Barron, G. Smith, W. R. Nesbitt, R. Young, D. Windeyer, E. G. Pullen, C. James, J. James, G. C. Heron, H. S. McMichael, D. McGillivray, W. B. Mitchell, R. H. Loosemore, K. R. Robbers Pump Whiskey Thr ough Six Hundred Feet Hose From Govt. Warehhouse T o Chicago Apartment House

CHICAGO, March 5 (Canadian Press).—More than six hundred feet of hose was used by thieves in siphoning whiskey from a government warehouse to an apartment building, it was revealed today after police and federal agents had captured four men in a spectacular pistol fight and recovered thousands of dollars' worth of liquor. The four arrested were "Klondike" O'Donnell, who was held for a time in connection with the slaying of Assistant State's Attorney McSwiggin last year; "Fur" Semmons, known to the police as a gangland power; John Barry, and John Davis. A fifth man was pursued over the roof of the warehouse, but he escaped amid pistol fire by dropping down the wall of the building which houses a million dollars' worth of liquor.

O'Donnell and Barry were found manning two high pressure pumps from which the raiders trailed a long stretch of hose to a battery of tanks in the apartment building. The tanks had already received whiskey which federal agents estimated was worth two hundred thousand dollars.

An Everyday Story

Francis Henry Cook

London, Ont.—"I was in a general run-down state of health. I had indigestion and my stomach was weak and so sore I could not bear to touch it. I got where I did not have any health at all, was not able to follow my usual line of work. I saw where Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery was recommended for stomach trouble so I decided to try it and it relieved me of my indigestion and weak stomach, also the abdominal distress and built me up in health. I can highly recommend the 'Golden Medical Discovery' to anyone who suffers as I did. It is excellent!"—Francis Henry Cook, 471 Elizabeth St.

EARLY BUDGET ANNOUNCEMENT WITH NO TARIFF CHANGES MADE WILL BE HELPFUL TO BUSINESS

Bank of Montreal Issues Monthly Business Statement.

TRADE FAVORABLE.

Commerce of Canada Ahead of January of Last Year.

The early delivery of the Budget Speech by the Dominion Minister of Finance, and the announcement that no tariff changes are to be made, should be helpful to business by removing that uncertainty and hesitancy in mercantile transactions which sometimes wait upon the late pronouncement of Government fiscal policy says the Bank of Montreal in its monthly Business Summary.

The outstanding feature of the Budget is that the Government has given the public the benefit of mounting revenues by further steps in the removal of restrictions upon business, and has announced the following reduction in taxation:

Sales tax cut by 20 per cent, i.e., rate reduced from five to four per cent, effective February 18th.

Income tax cut by 10 per cent all round. Applicable to this year's assessments.

Stamp tax—exemption increased from $5 to $10. All cheques, etc., over $10 bear flat rate of two cents, effective July 1st.

Stamp tax on overdrafts and advances abolished, effective July 1st.

Domestic trade, taking seasonal fluctuations into consideration, continues buoyant, being largely helped by many new industrial projects which are attracting increasing investments of foreign capital. These include particularly water-power developments on a gigantic scale, with contingent industries for the use of the energy thus made available. The buoyancy in trade is reflected in railway traffic, which for the month of January revealed a gain of 20,063 loaded cars over the corresponding five weeks of 1926, and in Bank debits, which total $2,618,000,000, as compared with $2,368,000,000 in January, 1926. Despite the fears of over-production, the newsprint industry continues to show gains, the output of Canadian mills for the month of January being up 16% from the figure of January of last year. It remains to be seen what significance, if any, attaches to the fact that shipments proportionate to capacity, both from United States and Canadian mills, reveal a moderate falling off, shipments from Canadian mills for January amounting to 87.3% of average production for the month, as compared with 93.9% in January, 1926.

Foreign trade returns continue favourable, the aggregate commerce of Canada in January having been eight and a half millions in excess of that of the corresponding month last year, while in the ten months to January 31st, the increase was $42,685,000. The tendency towards a closer parity of imports and exports, however, persists, the former having grown while the latter shrank in January, and for the last ten months imports have had a value greater by $90,000,000 and exports a value less by $47,000,000 than in the corresponding period of the preceding fiscal year. The favourable balance of trade has thus been diminished by $137,000,000, and this downward trend is likely to continue until the opening of navigation. It is anticipated by the Minister of Finance that at the close of the fiscal year the favourable trade balance may approximate $250,000,000. From the farm there have been smaller shipments of cereals, animals and dairy products during the last ten months, but the aggregate of these remains large enough to maintain a substantial favourable foreign trade balance, and it is noteworthy that on February 12th of this year the visible supply of wheat in Canada was only 3,600,000 bushels less than a year ago, a decrease of little more than 4 per cent.

The Lenroot Bill, providing for inspection and standardizing of milk imported into the United States from Canada, recently passed the Congress, and having been approved by President Coolidge is now law. The export of milk to the United States from border counties in Canada has grown greatly and now reaches a value of some eight million dollars annually, but while there may be interruption to this trade, it is believed it will be temporary, and that requirement being given to the provisions of the new United States law, shipments of milk from Canada will speedily resume former proportions.

In the Foreign Exchange market, Sterling displayed unexpected weakness during the latter half of January, but after declining to 4.84 7-8, held steady at 4.85 to 1-8. French Francs declined from 3.98 to 3.92, but at no time was any pronounced weakness apparent and, in fact, movements were so orderly as to indicate that the recession was in line with the French Government's stabilizing policy. Lire suffered slightly, owing to heavy importations of foodstuffs, and fell to 4.26, but recovered quickly to 4.32. Pesetas made a further substantial gain and held well, after a reaction of 20 points, which may be considered normal in view of the rapid and sustained advance. Norwegian Kroner were firmer, but somewhat unsteady at the higher level. The market for high grade Government and Municipal bonds has been steady and prices, except in the case of tax free bonds, have had a firmer tendency.

QUEBEC.—Wholesale and retail trade may be considered satisfactory. Hardware merchants report an improvement in business. The boot and shoe industry continues to show improvement. Clothing manufacturers report good orders coming in. Textile, woollen and artificial silk mills are active. Oilcloth and linoleum factories are again running full time. Steel mills have received good orders during the past month. Sugar refineries report seasonal slackness with prices remaining steady. Lumbering operations are well advanced, with good hauling conditions; prices of the lower grades of lumber are firmer. Pulpwood continues in good demand and prices show an upward trend. Groundwood pulp manufacturers find a ready demand for their product and prices are well maintained. The chemical pulp market shows a firm tone. The demand for newsprint continues strong with prices steady. Hay has been slow in moving.

ONTARIO.—Wholesale houses report business fairly steady. Retail trade has been quiet. Industry in general is on a satisfactory basis. It is expected production of motor cars during February will be substantially in excess of the corresponding month last year; manufacturers of automobile accessories are fully employed; tire companies are experiencing a good demand. Agricultural implement manufacturers are busy. Furniture companies report improved outlook, some factories working overtime. Knitting mills are running at about eighty per cent. Flour mills are experiencing marked depression, with export trade dull. Unsatisfactory conditions continue in the packing industry. Mineral production continues normal. The recent copper strike west of Timmins has resulted in about fourteen hundred claims being staked in that area. Ice and water on the fields have been unfavourable to wheat and clover, but recent snowfalls may improve this condition. Burley tobacco is being delivered in large quantities. Shipments of cattle from country points have been heavy.

PRAIRIE PROVINCES—Wholesale and retail trade is fairly quiet; collections are fair. The wheat market has latterly shown an easier tendency, there being a large amount afoot and foreign demand having decreased following heavy purchases. Cash wheat on the 19th closed at 140 1-8, as compared with 152 5-8 last year. The snowfall has been unusually heavy and the abundance of moisture will result in much new land being under crop in Southern Alberta this year for the first time. The cattle market has been slow; sheep and hogs are steady. The first shipment of paper produced from Manitoba wood pulp was made recently from Pine Falls. The total value of dairy products in Saskatchewan for 1926 was $20,738,800. The Dominion Government Nursery stations distributed over 5,500,000 young trees to farmers in Saskatchewan last year. The Alberta Dairy Pool, with a membership of 6,554, operating 12 creameries, marketed 17,000,000 lbs. of butter fat in 1926. Alberta's petroleum production exceeded 200,000 barrels last year, and the output of coal was larger than it has been for three years. The first Municipal aerodrome in Canada has been completed at Edmonton.

BRITISH COLUMBIA — Wholesale trade is in advance of last year; retail trade quiet. Lumber mills have re-opened after the annual overhaul and are operating about 65% of normal capacity; enquiries are coming from the Prairie Provinces but the [illegible] States market is quiet; the small [illegible] margin is causing anxiety to [illegible]. Logging camps are re-opening, prices continue low. Pulp and paper mills are running at full capacity. The salmon market is weak and 350,000 cases of last year's pack are unsold; these are mostly lower grades. Halibut fishing has re-opened. The herring season is closed and little money has been made by dry salting. Mining operations continue active, with a high rate of production. The apple crop is now practically all disposed of. Prospects are bright for plentiful irrigation water this year. Building permits in Vancouver last month exceeded those of January, 1926.

MARITIME PROVINCES—Wholesale business continues to be well up to average with collections fair, but retail trade is slack. Potato shipments are going out freely, though many growers who can afford it are continuing to hold. Seed potatoes still bring good prices. The British apple markets are firm. Consignment markets for fish are glutted but order markets are better. Lumber continues quiet. Woods operations have been satisfactory in New Brunswick, and are now fairly so in Nova Scotia, due to recent snows. Somewhat increased freight rates from British Columbia are expected to help lumbermen. Manufacturers report business as satisfactory. The Dominion Coal Company's mines are working at about 70% capacity banking for spring shipments. There is much less ice on the coast than usual.

NEWFOUNDLAND

Stocks of codfish continue to move freely to both European and Brazilian markets, but there is little if any improvement in prices. On the contrary the Oporto market has become weaker owing to heavy stocks there and to the severe competition of the nationally cured article. Prices in Brazil have also weakened. There has been a good demand for herring in the American market through shortage of supplies from other sources. The market for Scotch cured herring has weakened. The paper mills at Corner Brook and Grand Falls have been operating at capacity. On the west coast cold weather, accompanied by snow, has facilitated lumbering operations, but snow is still required in the Grand Falls district. Boring operations for coal on the west coast are being financed by the Government and results are being awaited with interest. Continuous operation of the mines at Bell Island is assured, due largely to European orders and the requirements of the plant at Sydney. Trade conditions have been slack since the turn of the year, occasioned largely by the low price of fish having reduced the purchasing power of fishermen.

GREAT BRITAIN

Trade returns for January show signs of recovery from the effects of the coal strike; compared with January, 1926, imports are 4,000,000 Pounds lower and exports down 5,000,000 Pounds, but exports are 5,000,000 Pounds higher than in December and, excepting July, are the best recorded since March, 1926. The coal trade is more active and foreign markets are being recovered. Improved conditions are reported in the iron and steel trades and in the cotton industry. The Chamber of Shipping maintains that shipping did not benefit because of the coal strike, and that the rise in freights was insufficient to meet the extra costs of fuel. The slow but persistent outflow of gold has dissipated hope of a reduction in the Bank rate before the end of the fiscal year, namely, the 31st March. This, and the influence of tax collections, is creating a decidedly firmer tendency in money rates and discounts. The changed money outlook, the Chinese situation, and congestion occasioned by a larger number of new issues, are having a depressing effect upon all securities, particularly those of the gilt-edged class. The new 4% Consols Scrip has fallen to a small discount.

UNITED STATES

The trend of major industries is somewhat uneven, but on the whole conditions in basic lines are satisfactory. With keen competition price concessions are not infrequent and forward orders are reduced, but higher current production lends encouragement. Carloadings show gains over last year in all districts except the Northwestern. Cotton goods sales are not far under production, and the lower price of that staple is apparently broadening demand. Rayons are subject to severe foreign competition. Sugar has declined slightly in a quiet market. Building saturation in many cities is more evident and construction activity is being directed more towards dwellings, suburban development and public works. Dealers in motor cars are acquiring stocks with more conservatism, and production schedules, while liberal, are smaller than a year ago. Chain and department stores sales are larger. Wheat is selling at 50c a bushel lower than a year ago. Exports from the United States in 1926 amounted to $4,808,465,005, a decrease of about $100,000,000, or 2 per cent from the previous year. Buying for control caused sharp advances in shares of some of the smaller independent railroads.

FRANCE

The Government has discontinued the issue of all National Defence bonds except those having a currency of one and two years. This is an important step in the rehabilitation of the country's finances as it will dispose of heavy calls on the Treasury for reimbursements of short-term securities. Subscriptions to the new 15-year 7% issue have been very satisfactory and have provided to a large extent the funds necessary for the reimbursement of National Defence bonds. The steadiness of exchange rates continues to inspire confidence and some improvement in business conditions is reported. Unemployment has not reached serious proportions and is apparently being handled satisfactorily by the authorities. The Commission appointed by the Government to investigate probable loss of revenue this year owing to slowing up of trade, estimates the loss at about three milliards of francs. Business on the Stock Exchange has been active with substantial buying of French securities for foreign account.

MEXICO

Business conditions throughout the country continue dull and collections slow. During the month there has been no change in mining production, in the religious question or in the petroleum dispute. The operations of bandits and rebels are now reported suppressed. The Mexican silver peso shows a slight improvement, being now at a discount of 11⅛. The Mexican gold peso has weakened off to 47.15 cents (United States currency) per Mexican peso.

THIRD PETERBOROUGH "VIMY" TROOP.

Alright fellows, three good cheers! And a tiger! The third has another scout on it; roster Ralph Strong has taken the scout promise and is now a member of the great Brotherhood of Scouts. Scout Strong was taken into the Hawk patrol by P. L. Gray as No. 4. The Hawks are counting on Scout Strong to be a worthy member of their patrol and to uphold the Third always. The Third wishes the new scout the best of luck and 'good camping."

The Third now has seventeen scouts on its roll. The Hawks report that they have two recruits who will be present at next meeting. If both boys are invested, the Hawks will then have their patrol completed. The Chickadees have two recruits in training at present, with two more waiting their turn.

Immediately after the Investiture, a verbal message was read out. This message contained instructions to prepare for a trip to Kecheeum lake and gave a list of supplies to be made ready. Most scouts got the sense of their message into their heads and carried it through the meeting, remembering the essential points.

In the patrol corners, Morse signalling was practised. The Third should have some good signallers before long, as they are working continually on the Morse code. The Hounds are by far the most proficient in this respect, three of the four scouts knowing the whole alphabet and able to receive either with flags or the ticker.

Another message was sent by the A.S.M., this time on the ticker. It was found to be a much more difficult task to separate the dots and dashes, but most were able to get a letter here and there anyway.

In the games that followed, plenty of excitement and fun were caused. In three deep and lock arm tag, every boy had a chance to go, and let off steam, and by the sound of it, everyone seized the opportunity to yell his head off.

The Hawks were in charge of the council circle, but as they were short one of their members, their programme was not as good as it might have been. The story of Capt. Scott's heroic self-sacrifice in the face of tremendous difficulties on his return from the South Pole was read. Capt. Scott and his companions all proved themselves gentlemen and heroes. They would not leave their sick companions, even though it meant death to themselves.

The singing of the Third has not been any too good — any songs which were sung were "murdered." Friday night a couple of new songs were tried and went a little better. What is needed is a song leader. Perhaps after much practice some semblance of harmony will be attained. If that is the case, practice is what the Third is going to get. We will have to sing something every meeting from now on. Song books are being typewritten, so that every scout may join in.

I.O.D.E. DELEGATES NAMED BY CHAPTER

Mrs. J. A. MacNabb Will Represent Peter Robinson Branch at Hamilton.

The regular meeting of the Peter Robinson Chapter I.O.D.E. was held on Saturday afternoon in the green room of the Young Women's Christian Association, the Regent, Mrs. J. MacNabb, presiding.

Reports were given by the secretary, Miss M. Connor, and the treasurer, Mrs. B. Moore. The sum of $65.23 was realized from the Neighborhood Bridge Party recently held by the Chapter. Mrs. MacNab thanked the members and the secretary and treasurer for assistance given her during the past year, also expressing thanks for the flowers presented her at the annual meeting.

The Regent, Mrs. MacNabb, was appointed as the Chapter's delegate to the meeting of the Provincial Chapter, to be held in Hamilton on April 6th, 7th and 8th.

A letter was read from the City Council, asking co-operation of the Chapter, in making arrangements for the city's celebration of the Dominion-wide commemoration this year of the sixtieth anniversary of Confederation. Mrs. J. K. Hughes was appointed to represent the Chapter at these meetings.

Discussion of arrangements for the annual dance, which will be held this year on Monday, April 18th, took place. Mrs. W. Belleghem is acting as convenor of refreshments, Mrs. F. Hooper has charge of arrangements for music and Miss Maime Montgomery of the decorations.

Miss Catheleen McCarthy was appointed to represent the Chapter at the regular meetings of the Local Council of Women.

Mrs. J. K. Hughes suggested the division of the Chapter into groups, each group to have a leader and secretary-treasurer and to have charge of various entertainments during its period. This will be considered by the executive and decided at the next meeting, also the question of enlarging the membership of the Chapter, so as to be able to command four votes at the annual meetings.

The New Under-garments Give Slenderizing Lines

The woman or girl who delights in making her own lingerie will find these attractive drawers quite easy to fashion and a style that does away with needless material at the waist and hips owing to the well-fitted shaped front yoke which fastens at the sides, while the back is slightly gathered to a band. View A shows the straight lower edge trimmed with wide lace, and View B has the sides rounded and finished with narrow lace. NO. 1540 is in sizes 28, 30, 32, 34, 36 inches waist. Size 30 waist requires 1¾ yards 36-inch material, or 1¾ yards 39-inch; 1¾ yards wide lace, or 3 yards narrow lace for trimming. Price 20 cents the pattern.

The secret of distinctive dress lies in good taste rather than a lavish expenditure of money. Every woman should want to make her own clothes, and the home dressmaker will find the designs illustrated in our new Fashion Book to be practical and simple, yet maintaining the spirit of the mode of the moment. Price of the book 10 cents the copy.

SAINT and SINNER

By ANNE AUSTIN

Ashamed as she was of the feeling, Faith Lane was almost grateful that there were so many details to attend to in connection with her mother's death and funeral. As always in an emergency, she became calm and efficient, a trait of character which, she sensed dimly, made her father and Junior, who were helpless in their bewilderment and grief, slightly resentful. They thought that she was not "taking it" hard enough. A daughter whose mother had just died should be able only to weep and to discuss, in broken, remorseful sentences, the good qualities of the dead.

But action was a relief to her overcharged heart. The necessity for managing every detail of the whole heartbreaking affair kept her from thinking too much of the tragedy of that lonely death, and of that other daughter of Martha Lane's—the best beloved child, probably at this very moment reading an "extra" in which her mother's death was flaunted as the big news of the day.

For of course such an extra had been issued immediately after the fact of Mrs. Lane's death was reported.

While Faith was preparing her mother's room to receive the body, pending burial, Junior, his face working pitifully with grief and rage, brought a copy of the paper to her.

"CHERRY'S MOTHER DIES OF GRIEF," the marching black headlines shrieked the latest dramatic episode in the famous murder case. A smaller headline declared, "ACCUSED MURDERESS COLLAPSES WHEN TOLD OF MOTHER'S DEATH."

Bob had telephoned to Banning and to Morehouse for permission for Faith to break the news of her mother's death to Cherry, but had been refused. Now that Cherry had been indicted, Banning said, she would have to abide by prison rules. She would be allowed to see her relatives only on the regular visiting days. But he had agreed that she could attend the funeral of her mother under guard, if she and the family so wished.

Faith took the paper and tried to read but her brain reeled away from the sensational, emotional statement of facts or half-facts. One paragraph leaped out at her, a paragraph in the body of a "feature story" written by a girl reporter who had been assigned to write daily stories about Cherry.

"It was my sad experience," the paragraph stated, "to be the first to break the news of her devoted mother's death to the beautiful little flapper who has been indicted for the murder of her aged fiance.

"The girl-bride's astonishing nerve broke for the first time since her arrest. That gay defiance, or that high-hearted courage—whichever it may be—was wiped out; extinguished, as if an unseen hand had disconnected the switch that controlled a th usand ncandescent lights behind those strange, fascinating, golden eyes of hers. The little body crumpled, the bright head, covered with short, copper-colored curls, struck the hard, cold floor of her cell as she fell in a swoon that lasted for more than fifteen minutes.

"Her first words, when she regained consciousness, were, 'Oh, Muggy, Muggy, I've killed you! I wish to God I'd never been born!'"

Faith could read no more. She flung the paper from her, and bent blindly over the bed she was making.

Perhaps Martha Lane would have been flattered at the tremendous public interest which her death had aroused. She had been born in obscurity, grown up in obscure poverty, married, without ceremony, a man as obscure as herself, reared her family in obscurity, until one of her brood had developed into a wild little bird-of-paradise, whose brilliance and beauty could not be concealed.

Probably no funeral in the history of the city had been attended by so many uninvited guests as gathered in the street and on the sidwealk before the shabby, shambling little house in Myrtle Street on Wednesday morning. Police reserves were sent out long before the hour of the funeral, to hold the mob in check. Although it was bitterly cold that cheerless first day of December, hundreds of morbidly curious men and women, boys and girls, gathered soon after daybreak, filling the whole block, waiting patiently for hours for a glimpse of Cherry, who was to be brought to the funeral under a heavy police guard, and of the suddenly famous Lane family.

Aunt Hattie Lane had spent the night at the Myrtle Street house, sharing the vigil of the family and making herself unceasingly useful by brewing hot coffee, tartly, refusing interviews to reporters, and by talking briskly and cheerfully on subjects not even remotely connected with death and murder. Faith had never loved her acidulous, withered little old spinster aunt so much in her life as she did before Wednesday morning dawned.

Joy had been told on Tuesday of her mother's death, but her Aunt Hattie had wisely refused to allow her to come home until Wednesday. Grandpa and Grandma Lane, feeble and subdued, but almost bright-eyed with interest and somehow elated over their own importance as relatives of both a newly deceased person and an accused murderess, arrived at nine o'clock, each holding tightly to Joy's hands as they stepped out of Bob Hathaway's car.

"I look a sight, in this old dress and hat," Grandma Lane quavered to Bob, after they had passed the battery of cameras.

He smiled at her, understanding her, not blaming her for an instant that she had wanted to "look nice" in the only pictures of her that had ever been made for publication.

The sight of Faith, in her plain black satin dress, her bloodless lips entirely free of rouge, her cheeks far whiter than those of the dead woman, deep circles of fatigue and grief under her great brown eyes, touched his heart more profoundly than she had ever done, when she had looked her handsomest, brightest self. He had never felt more utterly sure of his abiding love for her.

"Please, Bob, tell the preacher not to make a funeral oration," Faith pleaded, almost hysterically. "I couldn't stand that. He didn't know her at all—Just tell him to read the service. Oh, Bob, I'm afraid for Cherry! Could anything be more dreadful than her coming home to—to this? We must get it over with quickly, Bob, for Dad's sake—and Cherry's—"

The kitchen door was flung open, and Joy's shrill voice, rising grotesquely in the funereal calm of the bereaved house, told them: "Cherry's coming! I seen her, Faith—through the window! There are lots of policemen and a big fat woman with a policeman's badge—"

"Don't talk so loud, honey," Faith said gently. Then, with head held high, but her heart bursting with pain and pity, she went to meet her sister.

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

This smart morning frock is of navy blue tucked crepe de chine, with tucked white crepe de chine collar and cuffs.

Well-dressed women used to draw very rigid lines between what was appropriate for morning and afternoon, what was appropriate for afternoon and evening, and what was appropriate for a formal dinner at home or less formal restaurant wear. Now these lines seem to be less tautly drawn—and especially is this slackness apparent in the choice of morning clothes. Not very many years ago there was something very near to uniformity in the apparel of well-dressed women whom you might meet at a committee meeting in the morning. And now just in the choice of shoes alone there is wide difference of taste to be seen in any morning gathering. Some women still cling to the old idea that only a simple black or tan shoe should be worn at this time—while others, having no taste for severe types of footgear, appear in shoes that once would have been considered appropriate only for a dance.

The other morning a group of six or seven rather well known women were talking over ways and means for a favorite charity in the morning. One woman wore a trim wine-colored jumper costume with a fox collar over her shoulders and a little wine-colored felt hat. Another woman wore a frock coat collared, cuffed and belted in leather. Another wore a black cloth coat trimmed with fur, another appeared in a navy blue suit and colorful silk scarf, while still another had a georgette frock that you might have considered more appropriate for afternoon with a cape coat of velvet trimmed with moleskin.

Even now, however, the extremely well dressed French woman is more reserved in her choice of morning attire and is quite likely to select a simple tailored two-piece costume or a coat frock of inconspicuous cut and color. There is indeed much to be gained in smartness if the simpler, severer clothes—smart rather than pretty—are chosen for morning engagements. Airy, fairy evening gowns have a way of looking particularly charming when worn by the woman whom you may have seen only that morning in severely smart, trim, dark-colored morning attire. Fluffy, thistledown clothes appear to but poor advantage in the clear morning light.

AUSTRALIAN WHEAT YIELD ESTIMATED

Will Amount To 164,667,000 Bushels or 14 1-2 to the Acre.

SYDNEY, Austrwalia, March 7.—(Canadian Press.) — The weat yield of the Commonwealth for 1926-27, it was announced to-day, will amount to 164,667,00 0bushels. This is an average of 14 1-2 bushels an acre.

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, but do not Compel.

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

FOR MONDAY, MARCH 7, 1927.

Although a benefic aspect dominates today there are certain deterrent influences, according to astrology.

Merchants and manufacturers have the forecast of much activity and great profits.

A period in which the prices of staples are to rise is indicated and it is wise to be thrifty now.

Women are well directed while this configuration prevails, but they should guard against emotionalism, especially where military matters are involved.

This is a lucky sway for theatres and all places of amusement which will benefit at this time when there will be a strong craving for recreation.

Love affairs are subject to a happy culmination while this configuration prevails. There is to be another reign of romance and many hasty marriages appear to be indicated.

This is read as a favorable wedding day, making for prosperity and lasting love.

Brides of today may expect to be partners with their husbands in many important enterprises, even in public service.

This is read as an unfortunate day for all who would borrow money and again the seers counsel care in conserving one's resources.

Germany is to be the possessor of a great scientific secret of some sort which will turn the tides of war, if used, the seers prophesy.

Schools and colleges benefit greatly under this planetary government. Centres of education are to perform supreme service to the nation, it is foretold.

The Pacific coast now comes under a sway that presages interest in naval and military matters.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of happiness and success.

Children born on this day are strong in character, trustworthy and practical.

FOR TUESDAY, MARCH 8, 1927

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

This is an uncertain day, according to astrology. The morning is threatening and care should be exercised in whatever is undertaken under the sway before noon.

Some sort of ocean disaster is presaged and it is well to prepare for surprises in naval movements, the seers warn.

If the stars are read aright Congress is likely to have bitter controversies over battleships, but there will be growing interest in airplanes.

Good news may be expected today regarding financial negotiations of public moment.

Editors and publishers are to prosper greatly and to undertake amazing enterprises in the year 1927, astrologers foretell.

This rule of the stars is supposed to be stimulating to thought and it should improve the vision regarding international affairs, the seers declare.

Intellectual development is to be marked in 1927 when Americans are to attain new world fame by their achievements.

Spiritual ideas will be received more hospitably than in the last few years when materialism has rules, astrologers prophesy.

Women who have been much concerned about beauty of body will now seek to improve the complexions of their souls.

Fashions are to reveal extremes in feminine taste, from masculine modes to the most dainty creations.

Some sort of gigantic forgery in?olving more than one nation is presaged by the stars.

NOTE—Any person who solves 4 or more words correctly will receive an IMMEDIATE award in addition to any other prize they may win.

The Picture Described

As you can see, in the picture shown Mary and Fred are holding hands as Marys and Freds have always done.

Fred has been whispering sweet nothings to Mary which prompts Mary to remark "Beauty is only skin deep."

Fred replies—Well, just what does Fred reply that makes Mary smile?

There are 6 words in the reply. Each group of numbers represents a word.

Number the Alphabet from A to Z. A is No. 1, B-2, C-3, and so on. The first word is "That", it is properly spelt. The first letter of the other words is in its proper place but the remaining letters are misplaced. Can you solve Fred's reply?

Dr. J. N. Harvie Of Orillia Wins Morrow Curling Trophy

ORILLIA WINS MORROW TROPHY

R. H. Edmunds, of Millbrook, Defeated in 15-End Battle.

SECOND YEAR

The biggest and best bonspiel that the Peterborough curling club has ever held was brought to a successful close on Saturday when Dr. J. N. Harvie of Orillia defeated R. H. Edmunds of Millbrook in a 15 end battle for the Morrow trophy. The win yesterday gives the Orillia rink the trophy for the second year in succession.

The final score was 18 to 11 but the game was much closer than the score indicates. The first six ends all went to Orillia and then in the seventh end Millbrook came in for a counter but Orillia came back with four points on the next making the score 12 to 1 with the game half over. Millbrook rallied in the next five ends, drawing five points on the tenth end making the score 12 to 10. On the next two ends Dr. Harvie got six points and Millbrook got one on the last.

After the game the cup was presented to the winning rink and short addresses were given by each of the skips and other members of the Peterborough Curling Club. Dr. Harvie not only took back with him the Morrow Trophy but the Neill-Shepherd Cup which the Orillia rinks won early in February was also presented to him. In the eighteen years that this trophy has been contested for between the two clubs Peterborough has claimed it ten times and Orillia eight.

MAROONS LOSE TO LAKEFIELD

Local Team Outplayed in Fast Game on Saturday.

ONE PENALTY

Murphy's Maroons journeyed to Lakefield on Saturday afternoon and suffered defeat by the score of 4-2. The game was fast and clean only one penalty being handed out. The losers played good hockey but could not make their shots count. Lakefield was more fortunate beating Mann four times. For the winners Wingett and Jewell were good, while for the losers Jay at centre starred. After the game the visitors were entertained by the Lakefield team to a supper which was splendidly provided for. The line-ups were as follows:

Lakefield—Goal, J. McFadden; defence, T. Stenner and D. Dever; wings, H. Jewell and H. Wingett; centre, S. Dever; subs, . Kemp and R. Kemp.

Peterboro Maroons — Goal, J. Mann; right defence, E. McColl; left defence, G. Merrit; wings, Howard and Hamilton; centre, H. Jay; subs, Anderson and T. Miller.

TWO IN THIRD GIVE VICTORY TO LES CANADIENS

Defeat Pittsburgh By Score of 2-1 in Bitterly Fought Game.

FEW PENALTIES.

Victors, Though Hard Pressed, Cleverly Outplayed Opponents Throughout Game.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., March 7 (Canadian Press).— The Canadiens of Montreal came from behind to defeat Pittsburgh here Saturday in a bitterly fought National Hockey League game, 2 to 1. Scores by Morenz and Gagne in the third period enabled the Canadiens to triumph. Both tallies were well earned, Morenz's marker being a difficult shot from the right side of the ice.

The Canadien skaters displayed a varied attack and, while they were pressed to the limit, clearly outplayed their opponents throughout. Morenz was always a menace to the Pittsburgh outfit. Time after time he pierced the Pittsburgh defence and dropped dangerous shots at Goal-tender Worters.

Milks, Pirate centre, scored Pittsburgh's lone goal in the second period. He skated down the ice and like a flash took Arbour's rebound and quickly shoved the washer into the mesh.

Drury livened the tussle when play opened, rather listlessly. The Pittsburgh skater took the puck on several occasions and threatened the visitors' goal.

Smith, Pirate defence man, broke into the line-up for the first time in six weeks when he replaced McKinnon.

Realizing that a victory will still enable them to get into the play-offs, the Pirates fought hard to gain the advantage. The Pirate attack kept well down in the Canadiens territory, and Goal-tender Hainsworth was compelled to stave off several dangerous shots.

After several sustained assaults the Pirate troupe finally scored when Milks shoved the disc into the mesh on a rebound from Arbour. It was a lightning shot following a scrimmage in front of the net.

Play speeded up after the Pirates took the lead in the first period, but the Canadiens were unable to cope with the local sextet and the opening stanza closed one to nothing in favor of Pittsburgh. The Canadiens out-skated the Pirates, but failed to out-play them.

Pittsburgh lost their scoring opportunity in the second period when White's shot glanced off Hainsworth's chest. White was afforded an open shot when he broke through te Canadien's defence but missed when the shot went directly at Hainsworth.

Smith was forced to retire in the second period, when he suffered a deep gash above the left eye. The injury was not serious.

Both teams displayed excellent stick-work and team-play during the late stages of the second period. Once on a face-off Darragh and Arbour shot successively, but Hainsworth shook them off as quickly as they fell. Arbour was the victim of Hainsworth's stellar goal-tending when he penetrated the Frenchmen's defence.

The second period ended with the Canadiens still on the short end. Both teams gave an excellent exhibition of hockey, the Pirates showing to better advantage.

Morenz's tally enabled the Canadiens to deadlock the score with Pittsburgh. The Canadien star completely bewildered Pittsburgh and he weaved and squirmed his way through the defence. It was a well-earned and executed piece of work. It required two minutes and twenty seconds for the Canadiens to score in the third period.

A Pirate onslaught nearly resulted in a score when Milks, Darragh and Arbour skated down the ice and, closing in on Goal-tender Hainsworth, Milks shot, but his efforts proved futile. The Canadiens' stalwart defence broke up several of the Pirates' belated attacks. A score by Gagne enabled the Canadiens to come from behind in the third period. He ripped his way through the Pittsburgh defence, and lunged at Worters, who failed when the puck nestled in the mesh. Gagne's score came at 12.34.

Pittsburgh presented a five man offence in the closing minutes, but in spite of its desperate stand, failed to score. The line up:

Pittsburgh.—Goal, Worters; defence, Langlois and McKinnon; wings, Arbour and Darragh; centre, Milks; subs., R. Smith, McCurry, F. McGuire, Drury and Cotton.

Canadiens—Goal, Hainsworth; defence, Gardiner and Mantha; wings, Morenz and Joliat; centre, Gagne; subs., Gauthier, Leduc, Lepine, Larochelle, Hart.

Referee—Lou Marsh, Toronto.
Judge of play—Hughes, Kingston.

Summary

First Period:
1—Pittsburgh, Arbour 15.02

KINGSTON FEARS FOR SENIOR BALL

Executive of C.O.B.L. Team Calling Public Meeting to Discuss Future.

SERIOUS QUESTION

KINGSTON, Ont., March 7.—With the view of getting the citizens interested in the matter of senior baseball here this summer, a public meeting will likely be held this week, when the fate of the local C.O.B.L. team for the coming season will be decided, and officers elected.

On Friday night a meeting of the executive of the C.O.B.L. was held at which a letter was read from B. N. [illegible] resigning as president of the Club and suggesting that a public meeting be called. The members of the executive present felt that if a public meeting were held, the citizens in general, who are interested in baseball could attend and all angles of the situation could be discussed.

A letter was read from Newton Thompson, secretary of the C.O.B.L., stating that a meeting of the League will be held in Belleville on Saturday, March 26th. As yet the question of operating this year is still a serious one for there seems little prospect of Oshawa getting into the loop again, and while Cobourg would like to return to senior baseball the rule is too drastic for them. At any rate efforts will be made to have a public meeting, when the whole matter will be before the gathering.

NICARAGUANS SET DRUNK, THEN PUT ON BATTLE

Most of Men on Both Sides in Civil War Are Conscripts.

PRESS GANGS BUSY

Soldiers Poorly Clothed in Variety of Strange Costumes.

NEW YORK, March 7.—(Canadian Press).—The way Nicaraguan forces are made to fight by their generals is to fill them up with liquor and tell them how wicked the other side is," says William S. Brooks United States pilot in Nicaraguan Air Service, in a despatch to the Times from Managua.

Brooks with Major Lee Mason, chief of the Air Service, viewed the battle of Chinandega on February six from aeroplanes. In his despatch Brooks says:

"You can never tell when a battle will occur—or won't—in this war The zero hour comes when a general gets his mob drunk enough to fight. Nearly all the soldiers on both sides are conscripts. They are taken where and as is, by the first conscription party along that way. Liberals or Conservatives, they both go into the army that happens to be conscripting out that way that day.

"Last week I went with a staff of officers to review a new army. There were men without shoes or sandals, with shoes and trousers, with shoes, trousers, and shirts. One fellow wore a pink bathrobe and bedroom slippers and another a full dress suit.

The way you make them fight is this: 'Give them lots of liquor to drink and talk to them about how wicked the other side is.'

"The general who knows his men's capacity is the one who is most likely to win the war. He can predict when he will attack. The other man is at the mercy of chance.

"That was what seemed to have happened at Chinandega. Both sides were sober on Tuesday and both drunk on Wednesday, so they had a battle."

LEAFS BEAT COUGARS.

Toronto Team Wins Game Between Tail-Enders Four To Two.

TORONTO, March 7.—While the Maple Leafs defeated the Detroit Cougars by four goals to two in the final meeting of the two clubs in the National League schedule this season, at the Arena Gardens on Saturday night, the battle between the tail enders of the two groups was an interesting one, and in doubt until within two and a half minutes of the final bell. Only a small crowd saw the pastime, but they witnessed a game of the open variety, one that provided more scoring than the average N.H.L. fixture, and had it not been for the smart work of the two goalies the total of each team would have been considerably larger.

MAROONS TIE WITH RANGERS

Gain Four Point Lead For Third Place in N. H. L.

AMERICANS LOSE.

MONTREAL, March 7 (Canadian Press).—For the third time this season the Montreal Maroons battled through a full overtime game on their home ice to a scoreless deadlock. Meeting the New York Rangers at the Forum Saturday night before close to 11,000 spectators in a game which the Maroons needed to win to keep them well to the front to qualify for a play-off position, the local team at least managed to pick up one useful point to aid their cause. The tie, synchronizing with the defeat of the New York Americans at Boston, put the Montrealers four points ahead of the Americans in third place, though the margin is slim enough considering the heavy six-game schedule remaining for the titleholders as compared with the comparatively light six games for Newsy Lalonde's club.

The scoreless draw succinctly pictures the game, which was a hard, close-checking tussle from first to last in which both sides showed a well-planned defensive style and for the most part awaited a break to drive home what might prove a winning tally. But the offensives were not able to overcome the deadly back-checking of the forwards, the hefty outer guards and the brilliant goal-tendeding at each end, when Benedict, for the Maroons, and Chabot, for the Rangers, turned aside the more dangerous attacks that had filtered through the outer bulwarks.

Montreal made their big bid early in the game. They sallied forth from the first whistle and in the opening period had an edge in attack, driving more shots on Chabot than they allowed the Rangers to level on Benedict and including in these close-in thrusts that had more sting than the longer shots sent flying by the Ranger forwards.

Stewart and Bill Phillips were the leaders in these Maroon charges. But they were not only pitted against the deadly poke-checking of Frank Boucher and the covering play of the two Cooks, but they were finding the heavyweight defence of Johnson and Abel practically impassable. When they did trick this sound pair, they invariably had to hustle their shots away, and it required more than straight drives to beat Chabot Saturday night.

As the game progressed the Montrealers' attack started to lose its sting. Play became confined to centre ice. Combination efforts were steadily wrecked and the game degenerated into ragged hockey, though the fans had frequent moments of excitement as the struggle was waged fairly strenuously, and both goals were threatened through the individual brilliance of such stars as Bill Cook, Stewart, Phillips, and the hustling Ranger rookies, Murdoch and Boyd. The line-up:

Montreal. — Goal, Benedict; defence, Munro and Dutton; centre, Stewart; wings, Broadbent and Siebert; subs., Phillips, Oatman, Carson, Donnelly, Noble and Dinsmore.

Rangers.—Goal, Chabot; defence, Abel and Bourgeault; centre, Boucher; wings, Bill Cook and Bun Cook; subs, Boyd, Murdoch, Thompson, Mackey, Johnson and Rocco.

Referees—Cooper Smeaton and George Mallison, Montreal.

Penalties—First period, Dutton, Siebert and Bill Cook. Second period, Oatman (2), Bourgeault, Stewart, Johnson, Bill Cook and Broadbent. Third period, Dutton, Boardbent, Murdock. Overtime, Stewart, Johnson and Siebert.

MILLBROOK WINS CAREW TROPHY

Edmunds Rink Has Had Very Successful Year of Curling.

MILLBROOK, Mar. 7—The rink from the local club, skipped by R. H. Edmunds, which has been highly successful at out of town curling competitions this winter, added fresh laurels to its record by bringing home the Carew Cup from Peterborough on Thursday.

Four years ago the same local rink, substituting H. J. Grassett for T. H. Collins, brought home the Carew trophy by defeating a rink of the Granite Club, Toronto, on its own ice. Uxbridge carried off the Cup again from Millbrook within the following two weeks. The Cup is intended by the donor to be kept moving, a ten days' time limit spacing the time between challenges and succeeding competitions.

A rink from the Queen City Club, Toronto, is next in line at present in the list of challengers, and if these let it go by default, Cobourg will play here for the Trophy.

The Carew Cup is now on exhibition in the window of Edmunds and Sons' store, beside the District Cup which the successful four brought home from the competition in Peterborough this season.

Eight dukes, four marquises and nine earls of England have turned themselves into private companies. The first peer to do this was the Earl of Warwick, who became the Warwick Estates Company, Ltd., in 1889.

SENATORS LOSE BY 2-1 VERDICT TO BLACK HAWKS

Victors' Substitute Wing Breaks Tussle By Scoring Overtime Goal.

NIP-AND-TUCK.

Both Sides Evenly Matched in Closest Game of Season.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 7. Canadian Press. — "Rabbit" McVeigh, the mite substitute wing for the Chicago Black Hawks, broke up a stirring National Hockey League tussle here on Saturday night with an overtime goal that gave his team a 2-1 verdict over the Senators of Ottawa.

The winning tally coming after 17 minutes and 40 seconds of extra play on a two man thrust in which Bob Trapp carried the disc far in to give "Rabbit" a pass, was a fitting climax to a contest that was nip-and-tuck in every sense of the word.

The teams appeared evenly matched in all departments and the small gallery of some 2200 fans which witnessed the affair, was thrilled to the marrow by its closeness.

There was a difference of only three in the shots which the opposing players pounded off each other's citadel; both forward lines looked equal in speed, and the two defences were as evenly mated as possible in hockey. If the winners held an edge it was on their combination play—a form of attack which they used to excellent advantage throughout the seventy odd minutes of play and in notching the goal that gave them victory.

After battling through a scoreless opening stanza, the Chicago Hawks' grey thatched centre, Dick Irwin, proved himself a past master in hockey craft when he slipped past the Senators' backs in the second period to collar a loose puck, and put his team in the lead. At this time the visitors had rushed the play well into the Ottawa territory and a maze of players were checking each other in front of the Ottawa cage. The rubber lost itself in the excitement but the eagle eye of the veteran centre spotted it unattended about ten feet out and he shot between the many legs to trick the Senator goalie.

Frankie Finnigan went in to snatch the disc from a Chicago forward about to start up the ice on a rush and to drive it past Hughie Lehman, whose view was blocked at the time.

McVeigh, Irvin, Babe Dye and Rodden were outstanding for the winners, while Hec Kilrea, Frank Nighbor and King Clancy appeared best for the League leaders. Nighbor's poke check was working perfectly and more than once he had the entire Chicago front line tied up with his long swinging stick. Kilrea was strong on the offensive, as was also Clancy, until the "King" was forced out of the game near the end with a gashed leg that had connected with the point of a skate.

Sport In Education Rule At English Schools, Says Report; No Conflict Between Athletics and Studies at Universities

NEW YORK, March 7 (Canadian Press).—Sport in education rather than sport versus education is the principle governing scholastic and collegiate athletics in Great Britain, Dr. Howard J. Savage of the Carolina Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, said today.

There is no conflict between athletics and studies at Oxford and Cambridge, he said, in a statement issued by the Foundation preliminary to a more extended report on scholastic sports in England and surveys of college and university athletics in Canada and the United States. Half of the Oxford and Cambridge undergraduate bodies participate in rowing and three-fourths in all sports, he said, but 75 per cent are working for honor degrees. He declared "only from eight to twenty per cent participate in athletics," at the new English and Scottish universities.

PETERBORO' GIRL NEW CHAMPION

Miss Madeline Pulkinghorn Captures Saskatchewan Title.

A well known Peterborough girl, Miss Madeline Pulkinghorn, daughter of Dr. Pulkinghorn, of this city, has won the distinction of capturing the ladies' badminton championship for the province of Saskatchewan. Miss Pulkinghorn indeed won double honours, as she and her partner also won the provincial ladies' doubles. A despatch from Prince Albert to the Regina Daily Post says:

PRINCE ALBERT, Feb. 26.—The provincial badminton tournament came to a successful finish last night when the finals of the various events were played amid enthusiastic applause from the crowd of onlookers.

In the ladies' singles, a splendid exhibition of badminton was was put up by Miss Madeline Pulkinghorn and Miss Booth, both Regina entrants, resulting in decisive win for the former.

In the mixed doubles, Regina provided the runners-up in Baxendall and Miss Booth, who succumbed to Knox and Mrs. Faulkner, of Saskatoon. This was a gruelling fight featured by Knox's strenuous play.

Regina won the ladies' doubles, Miss Pulkinghorn and Macfarlane coming to the fore again when they defeated Mrs. Francis and Miss Fyfe, of Saskatoon, in two hard games.

"Woman's Work is Never Done"

"Man works from Sun to Sun, but woman's work is never done" says the old adage. This was perhaps first said by a weary housewife when washing up the dishes for a large family in the evening. If she had been using Gillex in the dish water she might not have been quite so disgusted, because Gillex makes dish-washing a much easier job. True—washing up the supper dishes is work—but it's work that must be done and you might as well have it as easy as possible. Try Gillex. It really does help a lot.

WATCH THE KIDNEYS

Fatigue and that tired feeling is the result of poison in the blood. When the kidneys fail to remove this poison from the system it leads to backache, rheumatic pains and sometimes to that fatal ailment known as Bright's disease. When this condition exists, don't delay, go to your druggist and get a box of Dr. Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills and they will quickly correct the cause of your trouble.

Mr. Arthur Pinch of Smith Township states that Dr. Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills give him more speedy relief than any other preparation that he had tried.

IN MEMORIAM

EGGLETON — In memory of my beloved husband, William Harding Eggleton, who departed this life March 7th, 1926.

Remembrance is the golden chain,
Death tries to break but all in vain
To have, to love, and then to part
Is the greatest sorrow of one's heart.

—Sadly missed by wife and children.

IN MEMORIAM

EGGLETON — In fond and loving memory of our dear son, William, who died March 7th, 1926.

As we loved him, so we miss him,
In our memory he is dear,
Loved, remembered, longed for always,
Bringing many a silent tear.

A. W. CRESSMAN ON DIRECTORATE

Consolidation of 22 Large Stores Just Announced—Has Great Advantage.

Our financial page in Saturday's issue contained the announcement of the consolidation of 22 large department stores, located in the principal cities in Ontario and Quebec. Among these prominent stores is that of the Cressman Co., Ltd., and Mr. A. W. Cressman has been appointed to the directorate of the big merger.

When seen this morning Mr. Cressman stated that the bulk of the stock in the new scheme was taken up in two days, and that there were already 50 stores, covering the territory from coast to coast, that had applied for admission to the merger. It is planned to gradually increase the number of stores to 100, when the buying power will be just one hundred fold greater than it was for any single business in the past. This will undoubtedly put these stores in a position to offer a much wider assortment of merchandise, and at much better prices.

The name of the new merger as announced in Saturday's issue, will be The Canadian Department Stores Limited, and composed of long established and successfully managed stores.

Inspired probably by the continued mild weather, a robin made its appearance in the west end of the city this morning, and was spied by Lt.-Col. F. L. Bradburn, M.C.

WARSHIP IS SENT TO NINGPO

The foreign police have learned that the general labor union is raising funds to buy arms, supplementing the planned organization of groups of pickets for the purpose of seizing the arms of the northern troops when the Nationalist army is decisively victorious. Propaganda preparatory to a general strike is being vigorously carried on by means of handbills thrown from the roofs of the high buildings in the International settlement. There are indications however that the general strike may be delayed for several days, allegedly because the Cantonese leaders wish it to synchronize with the arrival of their army on the outskirts of Shanghai.

Battle Area a Quagmire.

A downpour, turning the low lying Soochow region into a quagmire, has brought a temporary lull on the war front. Troop movements however are being continued on the Shanghai-Nanking Railway, notably of Shantungese from Shanghai to Soochow.

Eugene Chen, the Cantonese foreign minister, has given Owen Mallory, the British charge, a cheque for $40,000 to cover damages sustained by British citizens in anti-British demonstrations.

SPLIT AMONG CANTONESE

LONDON, March 7. Canadian Press. — Reuter's correspondent declares in a despatch to-day that there is no question that a definite split is developing between the left wing of the Cantonese and the Cantonese military leaders.

Shu Chien, the Cantonese minister of Justice, heads the movement to restrict the growing power of Gen. Chang Kai Shek, commander in chief of the Cantonese army.

Chang's opponents regard this growth of power as conflicting with the ideal of party rule as opposed to individual dictation.

NOT CONSULTING LEAGUE.

GENEVA, March 7th. Canadian Press. — Dashing into the League of Nations palace late for a private session of the council to-day, Chu Chao Hain, distributed a statement declaring that China would not raise the Chinese question in council.

"Our attitude," the statement read, "is conciliatory, and our demands are most legitimate, since we have nothing to ask for but noninterference with our sovereignity and territorial integrity."

SEAMEN MAY STRIKE.

HONG KONG, March 7. Canadian Press.—Simultaneously with the agitation for a general strike in Shanghai, it is reported from Canton that the Seamens' Union there is attempting to form a Communist nucleus on every steamer trading with Hong Kong. The object, it is said, is to create a Federation of Labor Unions preparatory to calling a seamen's strike on the river steamers, which if successful would lead to a general strike in Hong Kong.

Communications Threatened

SHANGHAI, March 7 (Canadian Press).—The Cantonese menace to Gen. Chang Tsung Chang's long lines of communications has been doubled by developments along the Yangtse above Nanking, where there are several hundred foreigners.

Authoritative reports today indicated that Chen Tia Yung, Governor of Anhwei, has become actively hostile to Chang.

At Anking, Chen demanded that the British steamer Kutwo be given over for the movement of his troops down the river to Wuhu, which would place him closer to Chang's headquarters at Nanking.

Upon the British refusal, Chen's Anhweites became threatening, but the British destroyer Wolsely stood by to prevent seizure of the vessel.

Fifteen hundred of Chang Tsung Chung's white Russians, commanded by General Nechaeff, have reached Nanking from Tsinanfu. The Shantungese commandeered three motor barges belonging to the Standard Oil Company at Nanking to move their forces across the river.

Y.W.C.A. ACTIVITIES.

On Monday, at 7.30 a postponed game of the 1st series basket ball will be played between the Y Seniors and the Bell Telephone. The second series basket ball league games will commence Friday, at 8 p.m. These games will be played by elimination. The regular classes and clubs are as follows:

Monday: 4.30, Intermediate gym; 5.30, Special junior dancing; 7.00, T. M.T.M. Club; 7.00, Discussion group; 7.00, Wood carving; 8.00, Elementary gym.

DR. H. A. FRICKER IS THE GUEST OF ROTARIANS

Conductor of Mendelssohn Choir Visits Local Club.

A FINE SOLOIST.

Madame Holland's Two Vocal Numbers Are Very Much Enjoyed.

Rotarian Dr. H. A. Fricker, M.A., F.R.C.O., organist of the Metropolitan Church, Toronto, and conductor of the Mendelssohn Choir, and Madame Holland, well known Toronto contralto, were guests of honor at today's luncheon of the Peterborough Rotary Club and both took part in the programme, to the delight of the members.

Madame Holland, with Dr. Fricker as accompanist, sang "The Kerry Dances" with wonderful effect, her beautiful voice and sympathetic interpretation of the spirit of the number conbining to make the presentation of this old favorite a memorable effort. In response to enthusiastic applause, she scored a second triumph by an equally successful rendition of Chaminade's "By the Shore."

The thanks of the Rotary Club were tendered Madame Holland by President C. H. Rogers, the visiting soloist being presented with a bouquet of flowers.

Rotarian John Crane expressed the pleasure of the Peterborough Rotary Club in having as its guest Rotarian Dr. Fricker, whose recent achievements with the Mendelssohn Choir he described as one of the outstanding musical developments in history of Canada, if not of the Continent.

Dr. Fricker, in a friendly little speech, conveyed the greetings of the Toronto Rotary Club and paid a tribute to Mr. C. E. Coleman and Ald. Walter Stocker, both of whom were in attendance at the luncheon. Of Mr. Coleman he said he had been a fellow passenger in 1917 when Dr. Fricker first came to Canada, and as the first Canadian with whom the speaker had come into contact Mr. Coleman had displayed real hospitality and furnished Dr. Fricker with most useful impressions of the work to which he was going and the people with whom he would be associated. Ald. Stocker, Dr. Fricker said, came, as did the speaker, from Yorkshire, and was a real "Tyke," which Dr. Fricker explained meant a fighter.

The speaker related an amusing reminiscence of his first day in connection with the Metropolitan Church and promised his best performance tonight when he is to give a recital on the new organ in St. Paul's Church, assisted by Madame Holland.

Rotarian Dr. A. W. McPherson, Chairman of the Crippled Children's Committee, gave a review of what had been done recently. The effort to have the townships make a survey to locate crippled children who might be helped by the Rotary Club had brought from the townships which answered a reply that there were no crippled children. The speaker felt that a more careful survey might bring cases to light. He reviewed some of the local cases, including the case of three children suffering from club feet, who were rapidly responding to treatment; of a child who is being successfully treated for curvature of the spine, and another who has been operated on for webbed fingers.

Rotarian Tom Dutton, Chairman of the Boys' Work Committee, urged upon the members the desirability of a large attendance of Rotarians at the meeting in the Canadian Legion Hall on Thursday night, when Rotary's plan for a Boys' Week is to be explained to representatives of various local organizations.

President Rogers named Past President Fred L. Roy and John Crane as a nomination committee to name a ligt of candidates for next year's Board of Directors.

The president, too, asked for a good representation of Peterborough Rotary at the inter-city meeting in Oshawa next Monday night, when 150 members of the Toronto Rotary Club, including the Toronto Rotary Glee Club under the direction of Dr. Fricker, will be present.

Rotarian J. W. Anderson, chairman of the inter-city committee, was instructed to make the necessary arrangements.

PLAY AT Y.W.C.A.

'Neath the Sceptre of Susan' To Be Presented By Club.

A bright comedy of boarding school life will be presented by the Wohelo Club at the Y.W.C.A. this Tuesday.

Come and meet these interesting characters, Miss Scruten, the lady principal, who is tall, thin, sharp, prim and angular; Miss Thompson, the assistant, who is small and pretty; Susan, vivacious; Clarissa, a prig; Jane, always hungry; Louisa, soft and sweet; Eliza, sentimental al over of romance; Emmelina, healthy and energetic, and Pansy and Peter, the twins, and Mr. Lester, the school minister. There will also be a splendid musical program during the intermission.

The club is taking this means of raising its share of money for the Y.W.C.A. foreign work, and also for summer conferences, as well as providing an interesting program for all who can attend.

Things taste so good we can't help eating too much, now and then. Don't suffer for it. Take Seigel's Syrup. Any drug store.

ARGONAUT.

Shaft sinking has reached a depth of 115 ft. and station is being cut. This station will be at a depth of 125 feet below the 1000 ft. level. This station should be complete by the 20th of this month when sinking will be again resumed to the 1250 ft. level.

Recently vein 1018 stope above the 1000 ft. level has been making very high grade ore some of which runs up to $100 per ton. The back of the stope now shows a width of 8 ft of ore and is proving to be a very valuable asset to the mine. The downward extension of this vein was located some time ago by diamond drilling so that it is apparent that it will prove to be of considerable importance when lateral work reaches it from the 1125 and 1250 ft. levels. Vein 1014 is continuing to yield a fair grade of mill ore.

The downward extension of vein 204, mentioned in our last as having been located on the 350 level, is now being stoped, and is yielding approximately $10 ore over 5 ft.

Stope 506 on the 500 ft. level has recently shown a better grade of ore with occasional high spots.

Diamond drilling is continuing as per our last, i.e., on the 750 ft. level. This hole is being put in to the S. and has advanced some 500 feet.

The second flotation machine is ready for operation but cannot be put into commission at present due to the fact that the necessary air is not available during sinking operations. Production from the mill is normal. Tonnage being treated is 100 per day.

In about two months time Argonaut will be working on the 1125 and 1250 ft. levels. Diamond drilling ahead of sinking has shown that important ore exists as far as drilling was done, i.e., to the 1150 ft. level. When these two levels are opened up production will be materially increased, an as the 1000 ft. level showed great improvement over the levels above we expect that still further improvment will be shown at greater depth.

Argonaut's interest in Laval Quebec Mines amounting to 1,400,000 shares, should soon appreciate considerably and as favorable developments occur on Laval they should influence the market value of Argonaut to a market degree.

Wheat Scores Advance When Shipments Fall Off

CHICAGO, March 7.— (Canadian Press.)—Influenced by Liverpool quotations higher than due, and by a decided falling off in world shipments, wheat scored an early advance here to-day. The advance however, led to increased selling and to something of a re-action. Opening at 1-4 to 7-8 cent up, wheat later lost much of the gain. Corn and Oats were easy and Provisions firm, with Corn starting unchanged to 3-8 cents higher and subsequently receding to below Saturday's finish.

Opening prices were:— Wheat, May 142 1-4, July 135 3-8. Corn, May 76 1-2, July 81 1-2. Oats, May 47 1-4, July 47 3-8.

Toronto Trading Firmer In Quiet Session To-day

TORONTO, March 7 (Canadian Press).—Trading assumed a quiet and firmer tendency on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Stocks that have hitherto been in the limelight receded in favor of less prominent issues. Arnold Brothers and International Nickel figured largely in the transactions. Arnold was the market leader in activity and also a strong spot, selling up to 25, a gain of one point. International Nickel was the second most active in transactions and was weaker, selling off 3-8 to 40 5-8. Massey Harris was quiet and soft, selling off 1-2 to 109 1-2. Seagram was also quieter than it has been of late and firmed 1-8 to 23 5-8. Twin City was fairly active and was the weak feature of the market, declining three points to 59. Brazilian was one of the most active issues on the board and was firmer, advancing 1-4 to 123 1-4.

Downward Trend Continues On New York Stock Market

NEW YORK, March 7 (Canadian Press).—The stock market, apparently having exhausted all the good news in sight, continued to lose ground today, under the pressure of selling for both accounts.

Bullish activities were not altogether abandoned, however, about a dozen issues believed to be under pool manipulation showing independent strength. National Biscuit was bid up over three points to 104 1-2, the highest price in five years, and a good demand developed for International Paper and Union Bag and Paper.

United States Steel Common was fairly well supported by buying based on the belief that the present $7 dividend would be maintained on the adidtional stock to be issued after the distribution of the recently proposed 40 per cent stock dividend. Independent steels were in rather free supply, with pressure directed chiefly against Republic. Oils and motors developed several points of weakness, and the merchandising issues failed to make much response to the reported increase in earnings by some of the large chain store companies last month.

Talk of a possible averse decision by the Inter-State Commerce Commission in a case involving the "recapture clause" and indications of slowing up in the loadings of general merchandise had a bearish effect on the railroad shares.

CHOIR PRESENTS PHOTO TO PASTOR

Dr. and Mrs. Rose Guests of Choristers Before Departure.

The Choir of Murray St. Baptist Church held a banquet in the ladies' parlor of the church on Friday evening at 6:45, when Dr. and Mrs. Rose were guests of the choir, the occasion being the presentation to them of a choir photo before their departure from Peterborough.

Some fifty sat down to tables prettily decorated with cut flowers and pussy willows arranged by the social committee of which Mrs. Walter Fitzgerald is convenor. The Women's Association of the Church did the catering free of charge as a compliment to the choir.

Mr. Wearing led the community singing. The "Toast to the King" was followed by a vote of thanks by P. W. Johnson on behalf of the choir to the ladies of the church which was responded to by Mrs. Bert Jackson, the President of the Women's Association. A solo by Mrs. L. H. Ingram and the presentation came next in order.

Dr. S. J. Graham made the presentation address, expressing on behalf of the choir the very warm place Dr. and Mrs. Rose held in the affection of every member and how through the efforts of Dr. Rose and the generosity of the Mann - Simmons Estates, the Murray street choir had accommodations equalled by few choirs in Canada. Miss Edith Smith made the presentation. In replying Dr. Rose expressed the deep appreciation of the support the choir had always given him and said the photo would always have a prominent place in his home.

The President stated that the good fellowship existing among the members of the choir was in a great measure due to the influence of Dr. and Mrs. Rose and that it was not the only splendid influence which would be felt by the members of Murray street church years after their departure. Dr. Morgan also spoke in appeciation of the splendid work of the choir, and said he always enjoyed their social gatherings. A solo by Miss Maybee and a speech by A. J. Raddon was followed by an original and humorous programme that kept the audience in roars of laughter. This included an orchestra selection by Messrs. Wearing, Graham, Winn and Thurston; a mixed quartette by H. H. Graham, Dr. S. J. Graham, Mrs. H. H. Graham and Miss T. Pierson; a banjo duet by Messrs. Thurston and Winn. A sketch called "The Follies" by Messrs. Wearing and Westbrooke; and a stunt quartette by Messrs. S. J. Graham, H. H. Graham, C. B. Westbrooke and W. H. Kidd were both most mirth provoking, the duet by Joe and Charlie being a real piece of original comedy. This was voted one of the very best evenings held by the choir.

At a short meeting of the Peterborough Utilities Commission on Saturday afternoon, it was decided to pay the 13th Hydro bill of $20,441.17 and also to pay the interest charges of $350.01.

Government Control Bill Submitted To Caucus

To Be No Beer Sale In Ontario Hotels Under Control Bill

Permits May Be Issued Tourists and Transients—Beer To Be Sold By Vendors In One Bottle Lots — No Sale By the Glass.

DETAILS OF ADMINISTRATION LEFT IN HANDS OF LIQUOR COMMISSIONERS

Severe Penalty Clauses Provide For Breaches of Laws—Bill To Be Introduced in the Legislature To-day.

The features of the Government Control Bill, as it finally passed the Cabinet Council at an early hour this morning are:

Respect for local option areas and provision for a three-fifths vote to change over.

No sale of beer by the glass or with meals.

Provision for the sale of beer by the single bottle from Government stores.

Permits to be given tourists and transients.

Allocation of stores to be left to Liquor Commission.

Severe penalties to be enforced against law-breakers.

TORONTO, March 8—

No sale of beer by the glass or with meals; permits for tourists and transients; and provision for the sale of beer by the single bottle from the Government stores—such are learned to be the principal features of the Government Control Bill, which is scheduled to reach the Legislature today. Government members have been summoned into caucus upon the measure this morning, and their expectation is that the Government will introduce it into the Chamber during the afternoon.

The Cabinet sat late into last night, presumably getting the bill into final shape for presentation to the Government followers. All Ministers were in attendance at the meeting, including Hon. R. J. Cooke, Minister without portfolio. When adjournment came some time after midnight all comment was withheld by the Prime Minister. It was learned, however, that the bill was in readiness for submission to the Legislature.

The policy which the government outlined during the election campaign gives the bill in its main outlines and no undue surprises have been interjected into the formal drafting of the measure. The sale of beer supplied one of the contentious questions of the campaign, and the solution which the Prime Minister at that time promised the people, namely, no beer gardens and no sale of beer by the glass, has been followed in the legislation. At the same time the relief which was promised for the workingman, namely the privilege of buying one bottle from the government stores and not case, has been incorporated.

Provisions of Bill.

The bill is a general one in which the government takes responsibility for the broad principles of the legislation and leaves the details of the administration to a large extent in the hands of Chairman D. B. Hanna and his fellow commissioners.

The theory that all liquor issued from the government stores is for medicinal purposes which has been one of the great farces of the present system, is of course discarded, and physicians will no longer be required to issue prescriptions. They are to be presumably restored to the practice obtaining before the O.T.A., of issuing prescriptions for a bona fide medicinal purpose only to be filled by chemists.

Allocation of shops is to be left largely to the Liquor Commission. They will be restricted, however, to areas which were not under local option when the O.T.A. came in, and even within that scope the board may use discretion and decline to establish a shop. Municipalities which desire to reverse a local option vote and obtain a shop may apply through the Council, provided a popular vote is first taken and a three-fifths majority given.

The penalty clauses of the bill are necessarily severe, as the Government proposes that the control system shall afford a real control of the traffic, and is determined upon strict enforcement of the law. Sale of liquor to minors will be a vital offence, and this means sale to young people under 21.

It is considered that conviction of offenders generally will be facilitated by the fact that sales will be entered upon the purchaser's permit, and failure of a suspected person to produce that document will be prima facie evidence of guilt. This feature of the system will also determine if ground exists for complaint by any member of a permit holder's family that liquor is being purchased to excess. Proof of that fact means cancellation. Jail penalties will be provided for bootlegging and for intoxication while driving a motor car.

Amongst the details which are being left to the commissioners is the fee to be charged for the individual permits. The bill as it stands at present also fails to specify the salaries to be paid the Government commissioners.

Bullet In His Heart Doctors Say May Live

KANSAS CITY, March 8 (A.P.).—With a bullet in his heart, Paltasaro Santamaria, 48 years old, an Italian cabinet maker, is alive and surgeons at the General Hospital here say he has an even chance for recovery.

The bullet is lodged in such a way that it works in rythm with the heart at every beat, and surgeons say that unless the patient suffered shock, there could be an operation in about 10 days with the probability that Santamaria would recover.

Police are of the opinion Santamaria was the victim of a black-hand shooting.

C.P.R. TO BUILD ENGINE HOUSE HERE THIS YEAR

Plans For Improving Service In Ontario Announced By Superintendent. . .

NEW DON VIADUCT.

Replacement Of Old One To Be Interesting Engineering Feat.

TORONTO, March 8. — Replacement of the Don Viaduct is included in extensive plans to provide increased facilities and a still greater measure of operating service throughout the Ontario district of the Canadian Pacific Railway, which have been officially approved, it was learned yesterday at the office of H. C. Grout, General Superintendent.

It was planned to build the present steel span bridge on masonry piers and abutments, with heavier steel spans on concrete piers at different locations. This will be a engineering undertaking of considerable interest as the new bridge will be erected on the same location as the old one, and the construction must take place without interference with traffic.

For Heaviest Engines.

When it is completed the Canadian Pacific will be able to operate the heaviest class of engines between Montreal and Toronto. Work will be undertaken, Mr Grout indicates, without undue delay.

Other plans call for additional sidetracks at Sulphide, Belleville, Oshawa, Guelph Junction, Chatham, Tilbury, St. Joachim, Windsor, McNaught and Walton. These tracks will increase the siding accommodation, facilitate switching and have been recommended for the reason that they would facilitate train operation and enable the company to better handle increased business.

New truck scales at Woodstock and London will replace smaller scales. A new turntable at Windsor will enable the company to use heavier power there to the same end.

Eighteen miles of automatic signals between Streetsville Junction and Guelph Junction will afford continuous automatic block signal territry from Toronto to Woodstock.

New Engine House Here.

New water tanks are to be erected at Crow Lake and Blyth, and a new 50-ton coaling plant at Goderich. New engine houses at Peterborough, Orangeville and Guelph Junction will provide greater accommodation while alterations in the enginehouse at Port McNicoll will enable heavier power to be maintained there.

The laying of 40 miles of 100-lb. rail on the MacTier sub-division will improve the riding condition of the track and release the balance of the 80-lb. rail. Sixty five miles of ballasting will be undertaken at various locations.

Russian Geologists Find New Mountains

LENINGRAD, March 8.—(A.P.)—The Geological Society announced yesterday that a new and mighty chain of mountains had been discovered in the Yakutsk region by one of its scientific expeditions headed by Prof. Obrutchew, a geologist.

The mountains are along the Indigirka River. The new range is described as more than 1,000 miles long, 300 miles wide, with many of the peaks 11,000 feet high.

The range probably will be named after Lenin, the late premier.

U. S. PROPOSES NAVAL PARLEY

Would Have Japan and Great Britain Take Part.

OTHERS OBSERVING.

WASHINGTON, March 8. Canadian Press. — The United States has definitely proposed to Great Britain and Japan a three power naval limitation conferenct to meet in Geneva not later than June 1.

In the event of acceptance by the London and Tokio governments, which have not as yet replied, France and Italy probably will be asked to send representatives to the conference as observers.

The new invitation is understood to contain no definite formula for fixing the maximum tonnage limitations upon crinisers, destroyers and submarines. The purpose of the conference at Geneva will be to explore the possibilities after arriving at an understanding for these maximum limitations that could be accepted, particularly by Great Britain as a European power, and in view of the non-participation of France and Italy in the agreement.

The Washington government recommends that such limitations on construction as it hopes will be reached must be subject to periodic review by the three governments in the light of building programmes in similar types of ships which may be undertaken by any government not party to the agreement.

It is believed in Washington, however that a satisfactory arrangement for reconsidering the maximum tonnage limitations in any class of auxiliary ships annually, if necessary, can be worked out at Geneva.

F. H. DOBBIN TO GIVE ADDRESS

Will Speak on "Ancient Engineering" at Engineers' Meeting.

THURSDAY NIGHT.

The members of the Peterborough Branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada are assured of an attractive programme for the next meeting to be held on Thursday, March 10th, at 8.15 p.m.

The address is to be given by Mr. F. H. Dobbin, an old friend of the Branch, and well known as an interesting and able speaker. Mr. Dobbin has chosen as his subject "Ancient Engineering," a historical subject upon which he is particularly fitted to speak.

The peoples of ancient civilizations had engineers of no mean calibre, as is testified by such masterpieces as the pyramids, the Roman aqueducts, etc., and the study of their methods should provide a most interesting evening.

Hydro Should Furnish Figures On Railway Loss Says Mr. Hall

Mr. F. G. Sandy, M.P.P. of Lindsay, as reported in The Star, says respecting the Peterborough Street Railway and other losing plants:—

"It is up to the Government to sell these losing plants or "give them away. Why should the people of Lindsay for "example as well as the people of other parts of the Province have to make up these large deficits in the cost of "their lights? This has been going on since 1916 and can- "not be defended."

One of the chief losses that Mr. Sandy complains of is in the operation and maintenance of the Peterborough Street Railway. He states that there is an operating deficit of $33,833.20, and loss of interest on money $16,490.67; making a total loss for one year of $50,323.87.

If the Hydro-Electric Power Commission desires to sell the Street Railway, then the least they might do is to furnish the fullest possible information to the people of Peterborough so that the ratepayers of Peterborough can intelligently express an opinion as to whether or not the City should buy the railway or private investors should buy it.

This enterprise under private ownership paid its way, but under public ownership it now shows a loss of over $50,000 a year and an operating loss of over $33,000 a year. What the public would like to know is how this operating loss is made up? The details should be given to show how much is paid for electric power, how much is paid for wages, and how much is paid in connection with the local management of the railway, and how much is charged up for overhead charges by the Hydro-Power Commission itself; also how much is paid for repairs and maintenance. These detailed figures would give some idea as to the cause of these losses.

The loss of interest on money invested of $16,490 shows on the face of it that on a 5 per cent. basis the Street Railway is carried upon the books of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission at approximately $329,813.

There is one thing certain, that no private investor would ever dream of paying 15c on the dollar for the Peterborough Street Railway property, as the cars are out of date and are worn out and should have been replaced by modern cars years ago.

If the City Council has obtained information showing full particulars regarding the property and how these losses have been made I would suggest for their favorable consideration that such information should be published, and if they have not such information, then that it should be obtained from the Hydro-Electric Power Commission.

R. R. HALL.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE PROTESTS RENEWING CHARTER FOR CANAL

Resolution Holds Province Owns Water Powers of Ottawa River.

REVIEWS SITUATION.

TORONTO, March 8 (Canadian Press)—Members of the Ontario Legislature met on common ground early yesterday evening when, without division, they adopted a resolution presented by Premier Howard Ferguson, urging the Dominion Parliament not to enact a bill now before the House of Commons which has for its purpose the renewal of a charter authorizing the Montreal, Ottawa and Georgian Bay Company to construct a canal and develop water powers on the Ottawa and French Rivers. The resolution held that the power rights of Ontario were involved in the bill and stated that "this Legislative Assembly desires to record its most earnest and emphatic protest against the attempt being made, by means of a private bill in the Dominion Parliament, to alienate valuable water powers from the control and ownership of this province, and thereby deprive the people of Ontario of the advantage of one of our greatest natural resources for the benefit and advantage of private promoters."

Premier Ferguson reviewed the power situtation in Ontario and was inclined to regard the bill before the Ottawa House as "most alarming." He could not, he said, conceive of a "more preposterous condition" being proposed under any circumstances than that which would be imposed on the people of Ontario if the bill passed the Parliament of Canada.

Ransy Seconds Motion.

W. E. Raney, Progressive leader, seconded the resolution. W. E. N. Sinclair, Liberal leader, supported the principle of the motion, but was rather opposed to the Legislature of Ontario intervening in legislation which was wholly within the jurisdiction of the Federal Parliament. Karl K. Homuth (Labor, Waterloo South) also spoke in favor of the resolution.

Unpartisan Standpoint.

Speaking to the motion, the Premier said he approached the matter from an unpartisan standpoint and intended to suggest to the Federal Parliament the rights of the Province in courteous language. The bill was of vital importance to Ontario as it stood in the position of having exhausted all its power resources with the exception of those situated in the St. Lawrence and Ottawa Rivers. He could not believe, he continued, that the Dominion Parliament would approve the measure, but the duty of the Ontario Legislature was to acquaint the Federal Parliament of Ontario's rights so that it might decide the matter in the public interest. There was no question about the intention of the Georgian Bay Company, and if it was given the authority to construct the canal it would also develop the water power on the rivers and the consumers of electrical energy in Ontario would be in the absurd position of paying for the development by a private group of resources which rightly belonged to the public. He could conceive of no more preposterous condition being imposed on the people of the Province.

Continuing, the Premier stated that between 1,000,000 and 1,200,000 horse power could be developed from the Ottawa and French Rivers and an engineering expert had advised him if the bill passed the Federal Parliament it would be equivalent to a gift of approximately $100,000,000 to private interests "who can have no other purpose in mind than the earning of dividends for their shareholders."

Right of Ontario.

Mr. Ferguson quoted from speeches of Rt. Hon. George P.

AROUND THE CITY

A robin was seen yesterday by Grace Bolton in a tree in front of her residence on Walton street.

The government employment bureau reports that there is a demand in the city for skilled laborers, but so far there are few openings for the unskilled class. Last week there were 29 placements and 38 new applicants, and at present there are 103 on the list.

The fire department had a call yesterday at 11.48 a.m., to 380 Water St. where there was a small fire caused by an electric motor.

Dissent Breaks Out In Suffrage Union

LONDON, March 8 (United Press).—Almost on the eve of a long-sought interview with Premier Stanley Baldwin, when equal citizenship between men and women will be urged, there has come a big surprise to the National Unior of Societies for Equal Citizenship. Lady Balfour, of Burleigh, and ten other prominent leaders have resigned from the council of the union. It is understood that their resignations are due, not to any split in opinion on the question, but rather to techincal differences. Several of those resigning have consented to remain members of the executive.

BALKANS TAKE PLACE OF CHINA AS WAR CENTRE

Trouble Seems Likely Over Future Status of Bessarabia.

CEDED TO RUMANIA.

Italy Ratifies Treaty Regarding Rich Province—Russia Objects.

GENEVA, March 8 (United Press). — The Balkans, breeding ground of war, today displaced China and Western Europe in the minds of the League of Nations Council members as potentially the most uneasy spot on the world. Trouble seemed in prospect there over the future status of Bessarabia.

Senator Scialoja, representative of Premier Mussolim at the Council meeting, announced today that Italy had decided to ratify the 1920 Treaty of Paris in which Rumania formally was recognized as having sovereignty over Bessarabia, a fertile area of 18,000 square miles which has been part of the heritage of the Czars of Rassia.

Bessarabia has constituted one of Europe's most grave war dangers since the Treaty of Paris was signed, October 20, 1920. Britain and France already had ratified the Treaty, but its formal effectiveness awaited Italian ratification.

Soviet Russia had refused to recognize the justice of such a division of former Czarist territory. It was not expected that Moscow would accept the forthcoming formal international recognition of Rumania's rights without vigorous protest which might take the form of a threat of military action against Rumania. In such an event, the Powers signatory to the treaty as well as the League inevitably would become involved.

Senator Scialoja said Italy's ratification would not be intended as an act hostile to Russia.

Today's developments recalled the successful campaign of Queen Marie of Rumania during te Paris peace conference to obtain recognition and vast areas for the then moderate-sized kingdom. The land gained by the war made Rumania a Balkan power of first magnitude.

BUS COMPANY OFFERS SERVICE

Willing To Provide Adequate Transportation For Citizens.

IF RAILWAY STOPS.

Willingness to provide an adequate bus service to cater to the needs of the citizens is said to be expressed in the offer of a bus manufacturing company, whose representative was in conference with His Worship Mayor W. T. Holloway this morning.

While no details of the conference could be ascertained, it is understood that the company is willing to step in at any time if they can get permission from the city authorities, in the event of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission carrying out their threat of cutting off the street car service on April 1.

OFFICERS ELECTED BY I.O.D.E. CHAPTER

Miss Jean Fraser Chosen Regent of Major Bennett Chapter.

The sixth annual meeting of the Major Bennett Chapter of the I.O.D.E. was held on Monday, March 7th, at 4 p.m.

Election of officers was held and the following were elected:

Regent—Jean Fraser.
Vice-Regent—Marguerite Mason.
Treasurer—Edith Cottrell.
Secretary—Mary Mulholland.
Standard Bearer—Helen Caddy.
Councillors— Josephine Dobbin, Mary Comstock, Kathleen MacDonald and Isobel Davidson.

COUNCIL AMICABLY SETTLES TOWNSHIP FIRE PROTECTION UNDER CALL-PAYMENT PLANS

North Monaghan to Pay $50 for Every Alarm in Certain Areas When Three Firemen Respond With Chemical Apparatus— Sections Laid Out.

MARKET BYLAWS ARE CRITICIZED BY RETAIL MERCHANTS' ASSOCIATION

Speed of Fire Apparatus Limited by Bylaw to 25 Miles an Hour—Only 20 Miles When Not Going to Scene of Fire.

Last night's meeting of the City Council dealt with matters as material as a morgue cooling stone. There was the same smooth working as is observed in a well-greased piece of machinery, and even when Alderman Stocker indulged in his favorite indoor pastime of setting up the bogey of the police administration and knocking it down, business went on as usual. Mr. Stocker explained to his brother Aldermen that he has never apologized to Chief Constable Newhall. The Council let it go at that.

Among other business disposed of last night was the ratification of the plans with North Monaghan, whereby the City provides fire protection in certain areas of the township in return for fifty dollars for every call on which three firemen and the chemical truck turn out. This ends the debate of years, settled by amicable agreement after Council after Council has given its efforts.

Among the delegations was one from the Retail Merchants' Association, asking a revision of the laws now governing the market. Criticism was levelled at the crowding in the hallway and at the selling of store goods under cover of market property. A committee will investigate the whole matter this week.

Deputations Heard

A deputation representing J. J. Dufius Motor Sales told the Council of the merits of the Hatfield Penfield grader, with a scarifier attachment. A 4-ton roller can be dragged behind this apparatus, and the whole machine is operated by one man.

The J. I. Case Company was represented by Mr. Jones, who told of the advantages in his firm's road-working machinery.

The whole matter of the proposed purchase will be handled by a committee under Alderman Fife.

W. H. Boulton appeared in connection with group insurance proposed for city employees in the police and fire departments and in the city buildings.

"Would that include the Aldermen?" asked Alderman Phelan.

"Yes," said Mr. Boulton, "under the heading of hazardous occupation."

To Improve Market

E. F. Mason, spokesman for the Retail Merchants' Association, protested that the condition of the market is not conducive to the bringing of the better class of people to make purchases. People crowd the approaches downstairs, and surround the stove upstairs, he said, impeding people who desire to transact business. This also causes a fire hazard that should be considered. Mr. Mason asked the Council to see that the by-law is carried out.

R. G. Kingan protested the by-law forbidding the purchase of farm produce by commission merchants before 11 o'clock in the morning. This drives the commission men out into the country to buy the produce and thus keeps the farmers from coming into the city. The farmers who formerly brought the best product to the city now sell on their farms and buy from the mail order houses, with a loss of hundreds of thousands of dollars. The people who go to the market on Saturdays receive the scrub produce despised by the commission buyers.

"The market is for farm produce only," Mr. Kingan said, "and nothing else should be sold there."

Peterborough has stores for all purposes and dry goods, wagons and all other kinds of products should be sold only in these stores.

Ex-Alderman Joseph Maher supported the previous speakers. He referred to the unfair competition in the selling of other than farm produce in the market, and protested the sale of even second-hand goods.

J. Juby said the sale of certain articles on the market square is taking the bread and butter out of the mouths of Peterborough retail grocers. The city grocer pays taxes for the privilege of selling in his store, and the market huckster should either be eliminated or made to pay.

Mayor Holloway remarked that his views coincide to a certain point with the expressions of the deputation. If the system is to be changed, it must be done soon. His Worship remarked that he would be willing to make the change even at a loss in revenue.

"The whole market by-law should be revised," said Alderman Stocker. "It's antiquated."

How To Temper Copper Still Known By Indians

CHICAGO, March 8 (A.P.). —Tempering copper, believed a lost art, still is known to Indians, but only to the initiates of the Medicine Lodge, Chief Reginald Oshkosh, of the Menominee tribe, said here.

"The secret of tempering copper belonged to the Great Lakes Indians," Chief Oshkosh told a meeting of the Grand Council Fire of American Indians. "The Indian put his soft copper in certain chemicals. After 24 hours it is harder than any other metal. It will cut steel."

Tempering copper is no harder for a man knowing the secret, he said, than tempering steel is for a smith. It is more expensive, however, he said, and he gave that reason for the fact that the art was believed lost.

CONTROL BILL PASSES CAUCUS

Will Be Introduced in Legislature To-morrow, Says Premier.

PLEASES PARTY.

TORONTO, March 8. — (Canadian Press.)—The bill providing for Government control of the sale of liquors will be introduced into the Ontario Legislature to-morrow afternoon, Premier Howard Ferguson stated this afternoon, following a caucus of supporters of the Government who discussed the proposed legislation in detail.

"The sheil has broken in the incubator," said the Premier. "We discussed the liquor control bill and we intend to introduce it into the House to-morrow afternoon."

The Premier would not give any details of the bill, but intimated that it had met with satisfaction of the members in caucus.

Supporters of the Government were acquainted with the details of the bill for the first time when they discussed the legislation in caucus, and some disappointment was expressed at the fact that there will be no sale of beer and wine with meals in hotels. They were in accord, however, with other provisions of the bill, a summary of which, has been unofficially published today, and particularly welcomed the provision of permits for tourists and transients. This, they stated, would prove very effective in eliminating illicit traffic in liquor. Premier Ferguson would not discuss the bill this morning, but stated that it would "follow the broad principle" laid down in his speeches during the Provincial election campaign.

While the Premier stated that the bill had met with satisfaction it is known that several members of the caucus protested strongly against the dropping of the sale of wine and beer with meals in hotels and it is probable that their opposition to this action will be carried to the floor of the House when the bill reaches the committee stage.

The caucus lasted for more than two hours and approaches to the committee room were closely guarded. The bill runs into several thousand words and its many clauses and provisions were explained to the government supporters by Premier Ferguson and Attorney General Price.

FEAR AIRMEN HELD BY MOORS FOR RANSOM

French Flyers Unable To Find Larre Borges and Companions.

TAKEN TO INTERIOR.

Spanish Government Sends Orders To Military To Attempt Rescue.

CASABLANCA, Morocco, March 8 (United Press).—French naval flyers returned from Cape Juby yesterday and reported that they had been unable to locate the caravan which was believed to have been escorting Major Larre Borges and his Uruguayan companions from the scene of their airplane accident to Cape Juby.

It was feared that the tribesmen with whom the aviators previously had been sighted had taken the Uruguayans toward the interior of the desert with the intention of holding them for ransom.

Reported Friendly.

Earlier advices received here said Major Tadeo Larre Borges and his companions fell in with friendly natives who fed them and placed them in the hands of a caravan headed for Cape Juby, 75 miles from the scene of the crash.

A French naval airplane reported it had flown the desert and had seen the Uruguayans trekking towards Cape Juby with the tribesmen. The aviator was uncertain about the disposition of the Moors, however, for he reported he believed a ransom might be demanded before the flyers are delivered to the Spanish garrison at Cape Juby.

Storm Over Sahara.

MADRID, March 8.—A violent windstorm yesterday was blowing across the western end of the Sahara desert, where Major Larre Borges and three Uruguayan companions were seen trekking toward Cape Juby from the wreck of their seaplane on the coast. A wireless despatch from Cape Juby reported the storm.

The Uruguayan fliers were in the caravan of traders who had found them after they had deserted their shattered seaplane. Owing to weather conditions, the message from Cape Juby said it had been impossible to communicate with the interior yesterday, and there had been no news of the Uruguayans.

Will Attempt Rescue.

The Spanish Government has sent orders to the military commanders in Spanish Morocco to attempt rescue of Major Tadeo Larre-Borges, Uruguayan aviator, and his companions from the tribesmen, who are understood to be holding them.

The Uruguayan Minister has received a despatch from Cape Juby saying it has been impossible to make much progress in the search for the flyers owing to the storms in the vicinity in which their plane was found.

Plane Fights Storm Seven Hours In Rockies In Vain Attempt To Aid Snowbound Towns

DENVER, Col., March 8.—(A. P.)— Silverton and Eureka, mining towns of Southwestern Colorado, held prisoner for three weeks by drifts and slides, remain snowbound tonight.

Valitn efforts lasting more than seven hours to-day on the part of Captain Floyd N. Shumaker and Lieutenant Daniel Kearns to take assistance to the inhabitants of the storm-ridden towns failed when the huge airplane in which they left Denver early this morning with supplies was unable to combat the severe storms which whipped the peaks of the Continental Divide Flying at an altitude of 14,000 feet, the aviators made five unsuccessful attempts to cross the barriers of the Rocky Mounttains.

Encountering a severe wind and snow storm after leaving Denver, the men battled more than an hour and a half to reach St. Elmo, 120 miles south of here, as their first crossing point. There they encountered winds that reached a velocity of 120 miles an hour and could not make progress. Seeking a lower altitude, they tried successively to conquer the mountainous barrier at Poncha Pass, Calcite Pass, Sharpsdale Pass and at Sierra Blanca Mountain, but to no avail.

With darkness descending and their reserve gasoline supply growing less, the aviators returned to Pueblo, where they replenished their gasoline tank and returned to Denver. They reported temepratures ranging from 25 to 30 degrees below zero during their five attempts to cross the Divide.

Thief Wears Four Coats Twenty Caps and a Hat

ALBANY, N.Y., March 8 (United Press).—When Patrolman Church bumped into James Roberts, a young negro, his suspicions were aroused, for Roberts felt more like a feather bed than a human being.

Taken to the station, Roberts was found to be wearing three pairs of trousers, three raincoats, a top coat, 20 caps, under one top hat, and 19 belts.

He was held for burglary and pleaded guilty to robbing a clothing store, on which a report was received while the examination was on.

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

IF YOU ARE TRUE

If you are true, no mortal hand
Can ever do me ill;
Though others may not understand,
I know that someone will.
I know that I may come at night
Rewarded if my work is right,
Forgiven if my work is wrong.
And, in my weakness, find you strong.

If you are true, I shall not care
If some are kind or not.
For nothing else shall matter there,
With all things else forgot.
We'll close the door, and pull the blind,
Shut out the world, a world unkind,
For happiness is only known
In worlds we fashion of our own.

If you are true, I shall be brave,
Whatever dawn may bring;
If you are true, no fool or knave
Can leave a scar or sting.
I shall not doubt, if you believe;
If you are glad, I shall not grieve;
Whatever comes, I shall come through—
I know I shall, if you are true.

THE LIFE OF CHRIST : The Temptations

Synopsis Arranged by Dr. Wm. E. Gilroy, D.D., Sketches by Kroesen.

To Jesus, hungered in the wilderness after forty days' fasting, the tempter said, If thou be the Son of God, command that these stones be made bread. But Jesus answered, Man shall not live by bread alone. Matt. IV : 1-4)

On the pinnacle of the temple: "If thou be the Son of God, cast thyself down." (Matt. IV : 5-7)

Viewing the kingdoms from the high mountain: "All these things will I give thee if thou wilt fall down and worship me." (Matt. IV : 8-9)

Then said Jesus unto him, Get thee hence, Satan. . . . Then the devil leaveth him, and behold, angels came and ministered unto him. (Matt. IV : 8-11)

BILLS ARE GIVEN THIRD READING

Bill Amending T. and N. O. Railway Passed Committee Stage.

SALARY INCREASES.

TORONTO, March 8.— (Canadian Press.) — The bill amending the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway passed through the committee stage of the Ontario Legislature yesterday afternoon. The bill includes a clause which increases the salary of the chairman of the T. and N. O. Railway Commission from $8,000 to $10,000 and provides for a salary of $4,000 for the vice-chairman and a salary of $2,000 for the commissioners.

Third reading was given to 15 other bills including the Forestry Act, which provides for a scheme of rehabilitating the forest lands of the province, an amendment to the Athletic Commission Act which places an impost of two per cent. on receipts from professional sports, an amendment to the Marriage Act permitting a clergyman, resident of any part of the British Empire, to officiate at a marriage ceremony in Ontario, and an amendment to the Psychiatric Hospitals Act which limits patients for observation to residents of Toronto.

COUNCIL AMICABLY SETTLES TOWNSHIP

deputation from the Retail Merchants' Association, Alderman Hancock remarked that the by-law already provides for the exclusion of all but farmers, and merely requires enforcement. Alderman Stocker moved that a special Council meeting consider the market situation on Thursday night, and the Council approved his suggestion.

New Fire Protection Area

As the result of a meeting between Mayor Holloway, Alderman Cotton, and the Council of North Monaghan, a fire protection area has been established. This takes in Area 1, from Lansdowne and Park east to the river, south-west to King George Street, west to Park, and north to Lansdowne; Area 2, from Monaghan Road and Lansdowne west to Western Avenue, north to the provincial highway, east to Monaghan Road, and south to Lansdowne; Area 3, the west side of Monaghan Road from Charlotte Street to Smith Street. The Council of North Monaghan is to pay $50 for every call from these areas, when three firemen and the chemical truck respond.

By-laws

The following by-laws were passed:

Setting the tax rate for 1927 at 36 mills and fixing the amount to be raised.

Providing for municipal grants.

Limiting fire apparatus to 25 miles an hour when proceeding to a fire and to 20 miles an hour at other times. Providing that the appointment of a deputy chief shall be subject to the approval of the City Council.

Providing that the driver of an automobile must come to a full stop before crossing a railway track.

Providing for the issuing of 5 per cent debentures to borrow $8,000 for the purchase of a rock crusher and road maintainer.

No Temporary Booths

An application was received for a license for a booth as an eating house, but this was not granted. A resolution was carried on proposal of Alderman Macdonald, providing that no licenses are to be granted for eating houses in temporary quarters, except for special occasions such as the Dominion Day celebration.

Trapping Rights

An application from Walter Rye for permission to trap on Robinsop's Island was granted.

Alderman Ackerman criticized the Board of Education's failure to table information on the disposition of fire insurance on school property. Another request will be made.

Alderman Denne suggested that any citizen can obtain the information on request.

Compliments Utilities

The city auditor, F. J. A. Hall, in submitting his report for 1926, compliments the Utilities Commisison on the splendid system of accounting now installed for the computation of users' accounts.

There were present: Mayor Holloway; Aldermen Phelan, Cotton, McIntyre, Stocker, Fife, Hancock, Macdonald, Ackerman, Denne and Greene.

OLD MASTERS

They sit at home and they dream and dally,
Raking the embers of long-dead years—
But ye do down to the haunted Valley,
Light-hearted pioneers.
They have forgotten they ever were young,
They hear your songs as an unknown tongue . . .
But the flame of God through your spirit stirs,
Adventurers—O Adventurers!

They tithe their herbs and they count their tally,
Ghoosing their words that a phrase may live—
But ye cast down in the hungry valley
All that a man can give.
They prophesy smoothly, with weary smile,
Fulfilling their feeble appointed while,
But death himself to your pride defers,
Adventurers—O Adventurers!
—May Byron: "Adventurers."

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE

Graham and Hon. Charles Stewart in the House of Commons, in which they had expressed the right of Ontario in regard to its waters, and added that in conference with Mr. Stewart, the Minister had voiced his sympathy with the claims of the Province. The Federal Cabinet Ministers, he said, had always spoken frankly on the matter and were always willing to protect the interests of the provinces in Provincial waters. He was confident, therefore, that Ontario would "come through this trying period without any harm."

Ontario, said the Premier, had potentially 2,000,000 horse power, half of which was undeveloped, but the responsibility was upon the Government to provide for the future. At present they had reached the point in Western Ontario where they were considering the possibility of erecting steam plants for the purpose of developing electrical power, but that was something that was not considered advisable. However, the Government stood ready to provide the money necessary for the development of power on the St. Lawrence and Ottawa Rivers just as soon as the opportunity was given. Power was urgently needed in Ontario, and the Government had found it necessary to make arrangements for the building up of a reserve. For that reason a contract had been made with the Gatineau Power Company to provide 200,000 at $15 per horse power.

In conclusion, the Premier said: "I can think of nothing that I regard as quite so alarming as the position of this province to-day in regard to this matter, and it would be a mighty serious thing if these rights are to be granted to a group of people whose history has not been entirely philanthropic."

Glad to Support.

W. E. Raney, Progressive leader, stated that he was glad to be able to support the motion of the Premier and to learn from him that his conference with members of the Federal Cabinet had assured him their sympathy was with the claims of the Province.

"I have no hesitation whatever in seconding this resolution," said the Progressive leader, "but I am bound to say that I do not regard the situation as being so alarming as the Prime Minister says. If it comes that the House of Commons passes this bill I cannot conceive that the Government of Canada would not intervene and say that the bill was against public policy."

Action should be taken immediately, said Mr. Raney, to lay down the position of the Province, and it would be well that no two opinions be expressed in the Legislature with regard to the inadvisability of passing the measure.

W. E. N. Sinclair, Liberal leader, thought that more time should have been given the members to acquaint themselves with the terms of the resolution, and also thought it peculiar that while the charter was first given in 1894, no move had been made on the part of the Legislature since then to protest against the many renewals of authority.

He did not think for a moment that the Parliament of Canada would pass the bill. The reason he did not second the Premier's resolution was because he was not in favor of the Ontario Legislature adopting resolutions regarding matters which the Dominion Government had to deal with, and he felt satisfied that the Dominion Government would take care of the matter.

However, if he were a member of the Ottawa House he would certainly vote to protect the interests of the people of Ontario.

Will Present Brief.

TORONTO, March 8 (Canadian Press).—Premier Howard Ferguson would not state last night the time when he will introduce in the Legislature his bill providing for Government control of the sale of liquor, but it is believed he will present a brief of the bill before the members at the conclusion of the debate on the budget to-night.

W. E. N. Sinclair, Liberal leader, will resume the debate this afternoon, and he will be followed by W. E. Raney, Progressive leader. Premier Ferguson, it is thought, will conclude the debate about ten o'clock, and will then ask for permission of the House to introduce the Government Control Bill. This permission is necessary for bills which are not introduced in the House when Government orders are called shortly after the House opens.

PREDICTS WAR, EUROPE'S FALL

Foreign Correspondent Sees Old World Gradually Losing Grip As Leader.

TELLS OF TRAVELS.

DETROIT, March 8. — Another European war and then the complete eclipse of Europe as the leader in the world's civilization, was predicted by Louis Fisher, foreign correspondent for the New York Nation in a lecture on Sunday before the Detroit Jewish Forum in the auditorium of the Northern High School.

Fisher, formerly connected with the foreign staffs of the New York Evening Post, the New York Tribune and the Brooklyn Daily Eagle, returned last month from Europe, where he spent the last five years.

Europe is gradually losing her hegemony over the world, the speaker declared. "It has already forfeited her industrial and financial supremacy to the United States. Before long it will cease to be the axis around which the world revolves."

Fisher took his audience on a mental excursion through England, France, Germany, Russia, Poland and other countries which he had recently visited; introduced it to statesmen, bankers, industrialists, proletarians, fascisti, communists, whom he had recently interviewed, before drawing his pessimistic conclusion.

Rebuts Optimism.

He took exception to the Optimistic reports of Europes' economic and political status brought by prominent Americans. He traced such reports to two sources:

"They come either from patriotic Americans, who think it is high time the United States begin to do something about the $13,500,000,000 which Europe owes us, or from guileless American business men who gathered this impression through contact with European bankers and politicians interested in obtaining additional loans in the United States.

"But what of the debts, reparations and indemnities? Why Europe is not even paying the interest on her debts. What money has been paid to the United States is not money earned by the debtor nations but rather a fraction of the money loaned by the American bankers to Europe."

Explains Circle.

The "vicious circle" was explained by the speaker to be as follows:

"American bankers have loaned to Germany about $600,000,000. Out of this sum Germany has managed to pay during the last few years her reparations to the Allies. The Allied nations leave a fraction of these reparation payments to themselves and send the balance to the United States in payment of their war debts to America. Only recently the German finance minister declared that within a short time Germany may be compelled to default on her payment of interests on the American loans."

Unemployment and emigration, according to the speaker, are the true exponents of the present situation in Europe. There are armies of unemployed in England, Germany, Italy, Poland and Spain. All these governments are urging their people to migrate to their colonies.

WOLVES INCREASE NEAR HALIBURTON

Residents Tell of Increasing Numbers Seen in District.

LINDSAY, March 8.—Several of the trappers, bush rangers and lumbermen who have visited Haliburton during the week-end have reported that the wolves are increasing in numbers. Mr. Ed. Robertson, who is estimating lumber for the Toll & Dorvell Lumber Company, states that there are tracks of ten wolves for every deer. He also saw a wolf run two miles on Redstone Lake when he came out for supplies on Friday. Joe Roberts shot one out of a pack of three which he saw chasing a deer within six miles of Haliburton village. Some wolves are becoming so bold that they actually sneak up within a few yards of the settlers' houses. Mr. Walch, of Hall's Lake, states that wolves have been seen at the lake (a district well settled and a haven for tourists). This is the first time in sixteen years that wolves have been seen at the lake.

A great many in Haliburton believe that the bounty for wolves should be allowed on hides of poisoned animals, as it was claimed that this was the only effective way of killing off the wolves. The people who would do the poisoning would be the trappers who know the value of the other fur-bearing animals.

Mr. Russell Dart and his brothers returned from a few days' vacation at Redstobe and Deer Lake, and they heard the wolves running down the deer each night. They also came across two deer the wolves had killed. Mr. Wm. Roberts reports that wolves are killing deer on the late Major-General Sir Sam Hughes' property at Eagle Lake.

The residents of Haliburton declare that if nothing is done to stay the ravages of the wolves it will only be a short time before the deer is extinguished in that county.

ITALY DISCOVERS IRON.

ROME, March 8.—Iron deposits found near Leghorn may prove to be of such size that Italy can rank with England and Germany in industrial power. The country has no iron now and has been importing all the metal used.

In Tombstone, Ariz., the only newspaper is called the Epitaph.

Otters go upstream for the summer and down to the river mouth for the winter.

Mummy Found In Cavern Believed Indian Princess

LANCASTER, O., March 7. (A.P.)—A mummy believed to be that of an Indian Princess found in a forgotten cave, 100 feet above a creek bed, in a mild stretch of country near here by John and Robert Goslin, Boy Scouts, has been unearthed by the Ohio State Archeological Museum.

The discovery was classed as one of great importance by C. H. Shetrone, curator of the museum, who declared pottery and other relics indicated that the person was of high rank. The mummy was lying on its right side, with knees drawn up to the chest and the head resting on the right hand. The body was encased in a shroud of woven reeds, a part of the burial ceremony only for leaders among the tribes.

Mr. Shetrone said the body probably was that of a daughter of Tarhe of the Crane, chief of the Indian village which once stood where Lancaster now is.

PLANE TO CARRY DYNAMITE CARGO

Northern Manitoba Airmen Assume New Role As Dynamite Carriers.

INVESTIGATE HARBOR.

WINNIPEG, March 8 (Canadian Press)—Airplanes, which have been used extensively in the northern mining areas and on forestry patrol duty in the north country, will assume a new role shortly, that of dynamite carriers.

A cargo of 800 pounds of dynamite will be taken to Fort Churchill by a plane chartered by the Dominion government from a local company. Arrangements are being completed for the unusual shipment and the plane will leave here within a short time.

The dynamite will be used by Dominion government engineers, who are to undertake an investigation at Fort Churchill harbor.

On later trips, the airplanes will be used for the transportation of engineers and general supplies.

CHANG PRESSED FOR WAR FUNDS

Will Have To Fight Near Mukden in Future, Say People Returning.

SUTTON TO SAIL.

VANCOUVER, B.C., March 8.—Confirmation that the Chinese Marshal Chang Tso Ling was desperately in need of funds and was using the money from the Mukden treasury to finance his drive against the Cantonese, particularly in the Province of Honan, was given by passengers on the incoming Canadian Pacific liner from the Orient, the R.M.S. Empress of Russia.

It was inevitable, said the passengers, that the Marshal would have to conduct his operations in future as near as possible to the vicinity of Mukden.

Mrs. F. A. Sutton, wife of General John Sutton, former advisor to Marshal Chang Tso Ling, in an interview given to the press, stated that her husband was probably returning to England via Canada on the Empress of Asia, which is due at Vancouver on March 27. General Sutton is a world renowned soldier with a most romantic career, having served in almost every quarter of the globe, during which time he has seen active service in seventy five per cent. of the wars during the past thirty years. For some considerable time he has been chief advisor and confidential friend of Marshal Chang Tso Ling.

ELEVEN KILLED MANY INJURED IN JAPAN 'QUAKE

Unconfirmed Despatches Say Towns Totally Destroyed.

FACTORIES DAMAGED.

Several Tourists Injured While Boarding Steamer at Kobe.

TOKIO, March 8. — (Canadian Press).—Eleven persons were killed and 92 injured by Sunday's 'quake in the city of Osaka, say reports from the prefectural police received here early yesterday morning. Four factories and numerous houses were destroyed.

Unconfirmed despatches to Asahi Shimbun report that the towns of Kaetsu, Yamada, and Iwataki, near the city of Miyuzu were destroyed, the region being that in which the earthquake was heaviest. Numerous casualties were reported in this district.

Most of the country people remained outdoors throughout the night, frequent shocks being felt at intervals.

A destroyer in Miyuzu Bay was reported to have landed bluejackets to maintain order.

The last earthquake of moment in Japan took place last August, the centre being about 11 miles seaward from Tokio. This 'quake was strong enough to put the lighting system out of commission temporarily, to burst water mains and to interrupt communications. Minor 'quakes have occurred at intervals since then.

The earthquake of 1923, which ranked as one of the most destructive on record, caused enormous losses. The official death roll was placed at 99,331, with 103,733 injured and 43,476 missing. The fire which followed the 'quake was responsible for many of the casualties and for a great preponderance of the property destruction. The losses were estimated at not far from $5,000,000,000.

The principal centre of this 'quake was under Sagami Bay, to the south of Tokio, where it was found later that the sea bed had been lifted in some places and depressed in others.

Tourists Injured.

TOKIO, March 8 (Canadian Press).—Several tourists were injured by a falling gang-plank while boarding a steamer at Kobe during yesterday's earthquake in the central part of Japan, says a despatch from that city.

Late last night no damage had been reported from Kobe, while the damage reported at Osaka was not serious.

Other reports state that the city of Miyazu, in the Province of Tango, was seriously damaged.

No verified reports of casualties was available late last night.

REBEKAH LODGE 10TH ANNIVERSARY

Millbrook Branch Celebrates Birthday in Appropriate Fashion.

MILLBROOK, March 8.—Golden Sheaf Rebekah Lodge, No. 176, held a most enjoyable "birthday party" at the I.O.O.F. Hall on Friday evening, in honor of the tenth anniversary of its institution on March 5, 1917.

About one hundred guests were present, and the social side of the event, which was chiefly sponsored by Past Noble Grands Sister Z. Bentley, M. Fallis, I. Fallis, B. Hamilton, and C. Harkness, was given special emphasis.

A handsome three-story birthday cake centred a table at the head of the Lodge room, the Rebekah colors of pink and green being carried out in the name and date which were features of its decorations, and in the streamers which ran from over head to the four corners of the table, and were looped daintily from edge to edge.

Brother P. I. Bentley, P.G., was chairman, and the reading of the initial minutes of Golden Sheaf Lodge by the present secretary, Sister Maud Armstrong, was an item of peculiar interest.

Sister May Ralston, President of the Rebekah Assembly of Ontario, instituted the Lodge, assisted by a Degree Staff from Golden Link Lodge, No. 81, Peterborough, the members of which were: Sisters M. Collins, B.N.G., Vice Grand; E. Hartley, P.N.G., Chaplain; N. Martin, P.N.G., Inside Guard; L. Murdoff, Junior Past Noble Grand; E. Campbell, R.S.N.G.; L. Fuller, L.S.N.G.; M. Freeburn, R.S.V.G.; E. Clegg, L.S.V.G.; F. Cranfield, Financial Secretary; M. Braley, Treasurer; L. Jones, D.D.P., Warden; M. Watt, Past D.D.P., Conductor; and L. Swartman, Vice President of the Rebekah Assembly of Canada.

The original officials of Golden Sheaf Lodge were:

Sister Z. Bentley, Noble Grand.
Sister B. Hamilton, Vice Grand.
Sister G. Hanbidge, Rec. Sec'y.
Sister Alice Stewart, Financial Secretary.
Sister A. Hampton, Treasurer.
Sister Laura Henry, Warden.
Sister Mina Bradley, Conductor.
Sister Lizzie E. Higgs, Chaplain.
Brother T. A. Kelly, R.S.N.G.
Sister Mabel Fallis, L.S.N.G.
Sister Irene Fallis, Vice Grand.
Sister J. Henderson, R.S.V.G.
Sister C. Harkness, L.S.V.G.
Sister Florence Clarke, Inside Guard.
Brother P. I. Bentley, Outside Guard.

The staff was installed by District-Deputy President, Sister Lottie Jones, P.N.G., assisted by the following staff from Golden Link Lodge, of Peterborough.

Sister M.Watt, D.D., Grand Marshal; Sister L. Murdoff, D.D., Grand Warden; Sister Edith Campbell, D.D., Grand Recording Secretary; Sister Laura Fuller, D.D., Grand Financial Secretary; Sister Martha Martin, D.D., Grand Treasurer; Sister E. Hartley, D.D., Grand Chaplain; Sister Mary Freeburn, D.D., Grand Inside Guard.

There were fifty-six charter members duly initiated at the opening meeting, three of these being received by transfer card from Golden Link Lodge, Peterboro: Sisters Z. Bentley, B. Hamilton, and Brother J. A. Fair.

The programme on Friday evening was an informal character and included two contests, and one on guessing the identity of folk in photographs of an early date, and the other an "add 1000" test, both of which supplied plenty of entertainment and interest. A chorus with orchestra accompaniment supplied bythe Past Grands of the I.O.O.F. Lodge, was a novel feature, as was also the "biscuit eating contest", with a whistling duet from each pair of entrants, and the peanut hunt, with Mrs. I. Fallis and Mrs. Hamilton as captains; the former's side won. Chocolate bars were the prizes in all cases.

Saxaphone solos were contributed by Brother Charles Thorndyke, and the Hawaiian selections on banjo and ukelele by Mr. Wagner were much enjoyed. Miss May Byam was warmly encored for her piano solo, and Mr. Thorndyke for his vocal solo, "A Southern Lullaby"; Mr.C. C. Garside gave a mouth organ solo, Mr. W. Thorne accompanying on the piano, and the latter also played a violin selection. Mr. V. R. Hunter, and his sister, Miss Aileen Hunter, sang a duet "Ship Ahoy", and a number of the Lodge charter members, including both sisters and borthers, sang "Keep the Home Fires Burning."

Brother H. A. Fallis, P.G., and Sister Zella Bentley, P.N.G., responded to the request for brief addresses of welcome, and the supper was served about midnight, tables arranged on either side of the long room being filled for this enjoyable item. The Past Noble Grands cut the birthday cake, and everyone was given a generous slice as a concluding item on the supper menu.

Hearty votes of thanks were tendere Sister Bertha Hamilton who made the delicious cake, and Brother V. C. Lambert, who kindly iced and decorated it for the occasion.

Cards and dancing, for which a number remained after the supper hour, were a pleasant conclusion to an evening that will long be remembered as one of the most enjoyable and interesting in the history of Golden Sheaf Rebekah Lodge, No. 176.

The "World Day of Prayer" was observed on Friday at 3.30 p.m., the women of the three congregations gathering in the basement of the United Church for the impressive service, the large room being completely filled when the opening hymn, "Spirit Divine, Attend Our Prayer," was given out by the leader, Mrs. (Rev.) F. H. Howard, who occupied the chair.

The custom has been to hold this service each year in one of the three local churches, in rotation, the president of the Women's Missionary Auxiliary in connection with the church used taking charge for the occasion, and a representative number of the members from the three Auxiliaries taking a definite part in the different prayer periods.

Miss Rose Macnamara, the Anglican Auxiliary, read the Scripture lesson from the 72nd Psalm, following which the General Confession and the Lord's Prayer were given in unison.

Miss Annie Armstrong and Mrs. (Rev.) P. C. Howard took part in the "Prayer for Canada" period, under the specialy designated headings (a) That the Spirit of Christ may dominate life in home, school industry, and goverment; (b) That gifted young men and women of our land may give their lives for the service of Christ and His church.

The group from Grace Presbyterian church, represented by Mrs. J. R. Eakins and Mrs. W. T. A. Deyell, was responsible for the period for China, and India; Mrs. H. E. Smith taking the section on Japan, and Miss Estelle Hetherington the one on the Moslem World.

Suitable hymns separated the different section of the programme. The prayer for other fields, "for sacrificial workers, intercessors, and givers", was given by Mrs. Hilliard Lang, and for the League of Nations and International Relationships by Mrs. P. Stinson.

A missionary prayer used by the members of St. Thomas' Church Auxiliary in their private devotions, fittingly preceded the prayer of thanksgiving which was given in unison.

The National Anthem, followed by the benediction recited in unison, brought a very helpful and inspiring service to a close.

Next year the "fellowship of intercession for every woman of every land" will be in Grace Church. The attendance on Friday was the largest in the history of these gatherings locally, and the atmosphere was of a decidedly spiritual character throughout.

False Fire Alarm.

The violent ringing of the fire bell late on Thursday night proved to be a false alarm. The train locally known as the "highball", or "midnight", had engine trouble at Dawson's crossing, and some folk going home after the carnival saw the 'flare' being burned and thought Mr. John Gardiners house on fire; hence the ringing of the bell.

Many of the volunteer firemen were on hand, and S. Donnelly had his team harnessed ready to draw out the fire engine, in which steam was already up, before it was found out that no need existed. However a real fire nearly developed, as Constable Nattrass found when he went to the fire hall about 6.30 the next morning; evidently a live coal must have dropped from the engine and one door of the hall was about half burned. Fortunately the trouble was discovered in time, and no further damage resulted.

Miss Ethel Richardson, of Toronto, is spending a week in town visiting her father, and her aunt, Mrs. James Donaldson.

Mr. and Mrs. Offa Williamson entertained about sixty-five guests at a party on Thursday evening, when a most enjoyable time was spent. The Byam family orchestra furnished music for the evening.

PRAYER MEETING HELD AT BETHANY

Day of Prayer Observed by United Church W.M.S.

BETHANY, March 8.—A meeting of special prayer for every woman of every land was held in the basement of the United Church by the members of the Women's Missionary Society. Twelve members and a number of visitors were present when the meeting opened, with the President, Mrs. Jackson, in the chair. Miss Lily Weatherilt read the Scripture lesson, Psalm 72. Mrs. Johnston, Miss Ada Richardson and Mrs. Reynolds led in prayer.

The Rev. A. Poulter gave a brief address on missionary work.

Mrs. Jackson told about hearing several missionary addresses while in Toronto. Her brief outline of these was very interesting.

Misses Elsie and Ada Richardson sang a duet, "All Power is Given Unto Me," and Mrs. Monk gave a reading, entitled "The Glowing Ember of Prayer."

Supper was served at the conclusion of the meeting. Mrs. Jackson, Mrs. Monk and Miss Ada Richardson were hostesses, and the sum of $11.00 was realized for missionary work

Annual Meeting.

On Friday evening the annual meeting of the Marjorie Williams' Bible Class of the United Sunday School was held at the home of Mr. Bert Monk.

After reports from President, Secretary, Treasurer and teacher were received, the election of officers for the coming year was made:

President—B. A. Monk.
Vice-President—Donald Lowes.
Secretary—Stanley Whiteside.
Treasurer—Edgar Beer.
Teachers—Walter Rowland, Mr. Donald Lowes.

Plans for increased attendance were talked over and a vote of thanks was extended to Mr Rowland for his faithfulness as a teacher in the year past.

Mission Club.

The annual meeting of the Young Ladies' Mission Club was held at the home of Miss Hazel Jackson. Election of officers was held, with the following result:

President—Mrs. Bertrand Monk.
Secretary—Miss Marion Fallis.
Treasurer—Miss Verna Belle Lee.

News Briefs.

All the annual meetings of the United Church are being held this month, owing to the change in the closing of the church year, which ends March 31.

Mr. Donald Lowes spent the week-end in Toronto on business.

Mrs. Donald Lowes and children spent Sunday with her aunt, Mrs. William Lee.

Mrs. Sid. Johnston, of Peterborough, spent the week-end with her mother, Mrs. J. Davis.

Mrs. Milton Challice, of Millbrook, spent the week-end with friends in the village.

AFRICAN NATIONAL PARK

CAPE TOWN, Africa, March 7.—South Africa lately combined two provincial game reserves into a national game park almost as large as the state of Massachusetts. It is said to be richer in animal, plant and bird life than any other game reserve in the world. The larger game alone, lions, elephants, hippopotami, rhinoceri, giraffes, zebras, buffaloes, antelopes, leopards, hyenas and wild dogs now comprise 130,000 head, wardens estimate.

POWERFUL SKIN REMEDY DISCOVERED

Dries Up Eczema, Barbers' Itch and Skin Eruptions.

Must Give Results in 7 Days or Money Back

This wonderful suregon's prescription now known all over America as Moone's Emerald Oil, is so efficient in the treatment of skin diseases that the itching of eczema often stops with one application.

A few applications and the most persistent cases of Eczema often are healed never to return.

Moone's Emerald Oil is safe and pleasant to use and it is so powerfully antiseptic and deodorant that even odors arising from ulcers, gangrene and cancer are instantly killed.

Moone's Emerald Oil in the original bottle is dispensed by pharmacists. Bond's Drug Store always has Moone's Emerald Oil on hand.

Sailor Believed Drowned In Lake Ontario In 1917 Reveal Identity As He Dies In Oklahoma Town

BELLEVILLE, March 7 (Canadian Press).—Capt. John Wesley Smith, who was supposed to have been drowned with eleven others off Pigeon Island, near Kingston, Ont., in the foundering of the coal schooner George Marsh, on August 8, 1917, really by some means saved his life, arrived eventually in Harrah, Oklahoma, where he lived for ten years and built up a prosperous business, according to letters received here on Saturday. "John Smith," as he was known in the Oklahoma town, died on February 22 last, having communicated some of the secrets of his past life to Ben Wilson, Master of the Masonic Lodge there, and instructing Mr. Wilson to advise "the folks back home" after his death. Capt. Smith said he had desired to start life anew and that was the reason he gave for concealing his identity for ten years. No details are available as to how he escaped from the wreck of the "George Marsh." One of the two other men saved was his brother, William Smith.

AUSTRALIA STARTS TO SAVE FORESTS

Vigorous Campaign Begun Against Bush Fires.

MELBOURNE, Australia, March 7, Canadian Press. — Because of the frequency of bush fires in Australia, most of them caused by carelessness, a vigorous campaign has been started to educate the public on how easy it is to prevent conflagrations. One of the signs posted about the country so as to be readily seen by automobilists and other travellers, read: "One tree will make one million matches; one match will destroy one billion trees; Save the timber."

U. S. MARINES SENT TO NICARAGUAN CITY

Will Protect Americans During Fighting Around Matagalpha.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, March 7 (Canadian Press). — United States Marines are on the way to Matagalpa, to protect the Americans there from fighting between the liberal and conservative factions. The British cruiser Colombo, which anchored off Corinto a week ago, to afford a refuge for British citizens if that became necessary, left Corinto on Saturday. Just where the warship is going is not known here.

4TH PETERBOROUGH TROOP

Ronald Asquith of the Kangaroo Patrol, was invested into the troop at the weekly meeting last Thursday night. This raised the troop's roster to thirteen, but nothing unlucky happened.

After the investiture ceremony a boat race, with two Scouts making a boat was held with the representatives of the Owls flying to victory. The Kangaroos hopped in last. Another game was played and then the patrols went to their corners to study for tests. Three tests were passed since last week, one being from each patrol.

The troop started on the Morse code after the patrol instruction, one of the Scouts sending the dots and dashes on a buzzer, while the rest tried to turn them into letters. The Owls had the most success at this.

At the Council Fire, which closed the meeting, Mr. Corbett, the Scoutmaster, read a part of a story that he said he was writing for publication and asked the Scout to help him find any mistakes that were in it. A point was given for each mistake found, and one taken off for giving one that was not a mistake. There were between ten and fifteen points given.

After singing some songs, the S.M. gave a short talk. The Scouts then sang the National Anthem, and the meeting closed. The patrol leaders remained for the Court of Honor. They decided that the next meeting would be stunt night.

ELEVEN DROWNED IN ARGENTINE FLOOD

Feared That More Died in Overflowing Mountain Streams.

JUGUY, Argentine, March 7 (Canadian Press)—Eleven persons are known to have lost their lives in record breaking floods which have occurred in this section of the Argentine Andes following recent heavy rains. It is feared that a much larger number perished among the overflowing mountain streams.

PLANT MORE TREES.

Many readers of The Examiner may not be aware of the fact that the Ontario Forestry Branch has for free distribution this year in the neighborhood of 8,000,000 trees.

A resident of Ontario may secure any number of trees up to 3,500 free each year for planting waste areas of the farm or filling in the wood lot. Additional quantities may be obtained at the rate of $4.00 per thousand.

At the same time a limited quantity of material is on hand each year for the construction of windbreaks, and those who wish trees for this purpose may secure 500 free of cost.

It is interesting to learn that last year more than 3,000 residents of the Province took advantage of the Government's offer and planted large numbers of trees.

In addition to this planting by individuals, there are being planted in Ontario forty-five municipal demonstration forests, four county forests of 1,000 acres each and several large blocks of crown land.

Examiner readers who are interested in the Government's offer should get in touch with the Ontario Forestry Branch, Parliament Buildings, Toronto.

SATURDAY'S TAG DAY.

In calling the attention of its readers to the fact that the annual tag day on behalf of St. Vincent's Orphanage is to be held on Saturday, The Examiner is confident that it is only necessary to bring the date before the people of Peterborough to ensure a worth-while response to this annual appeal.

One of the greatest contributions that can be made to a better all-round citizenship is a sincere effort to the care for neglected and dependent children whose circumstances are such that only such an effort can ensure their development into self-supporting and useful citizens.

The work of St. Vincent's Orphanage is along just such lines; it has reclaimed scores of unfortunate little folks to whom it has given a new outlook upon life and fresh hope for the future.

Year after year it has carried on in this most praiseworthy reclamation activity, and it seems scarcely necessary to dwell upon the results that have been obtained, for they have been impressed upon the citizens of Peterborough through their own observations of the work of the orphanage.

A contribution to St. Vincent's Orphanage is an investment in better citizenship that is sure to yield satisfactory dividends, and The Examiner commends Saturday's appeal to its readers, urging a generous response on behalf of this splendid cause.

THE MAN ON FOOT.

Motor car owners in Peterborough are demanding better road conditions, and to oblige them the city authorities have been trying out various plans to remove the ruts from the streets and make driving safe and more comfortable.

The motorists would be much more assured of having public opinion behind their request for better road surfaces if they on their part would show a little more consideration these days for the man on foot.

If conditions are bad for travelling in a motor car they are certainly no better for the pedestrian, who in many cases is forced to abandon the sidewalk and take his chances on the road.

After he has been bespattered with slush and icy water splashed over him by half a dozen passing automobiles, the average man is in no frame of mind to philosophically accept the fact that he is being asked to go a little deeper down in his pocket to give motorists better roads.

Self-interest then, if courtesy does not do it, should impel the man in the car to consider the pedestrian and to drive slowly through water-filled ruts when a fast rate means a shower bath for the man on foot.

The Golden Rule should apply at all times, and with particular force when conditions are as they are at present.

32 OUT OF 245.

The spectacle afforded by the House of Commons the other night when the important question of the revaluation of Soldiers' Settlement land was being considered furnishes another reason why the feeling is growing in Canada that our legislative bodies could be very materially reduced in size without interfering in the least with the efficiency of such bodies.

This matter is of great importance not only to the thousands of returned soldiers who took land under the Soldiers' Settlement Scheme but to the West generally, and in a lesser degree to the whole country, for it is imperative that the present conditions should be amended.

How many members do you think were on duty in the House when this vital question was being debated?

Exactly 32.

Out of a membership of 245 sent to Ottawa by the people of Canada to deal with big questions in a big way, over 200 of these representatives apparently did not consider the hardships of soldier settlers of sufficient importance to justify their attendance in the House.

No wonder the impression gains ground that the services of a good many of our Federal and Provincial legislators could be dispensed with at a great reduction of governmental overhead and with a better assurance of the people's business being done in a business-like way.

Talk isn't to be as cheap as it used to be; the phone rates have been increased.—Guelph Mercury.

THE FRENCH LANGUAGE AND THE CIVIL SERVICE.

When a question such as that which Mr. Seguin, Liberal member for L'Assomption, moved on Wednesday, namely, that persons having knowledge of both French and English should be given preference in appointments to the Civil Service, is brought before the House, it is a pity that Parliament should discuss it so much with an eye upon votes in Quebec's parishes and Toronto's wards. For, after all, the proposition advanced by Mr. Seguin has, in principle at all events, a great deal to commend it.

There are three million people in this country who are of French origin. Of these perhaps a million or more are not familiar with English. As a consequence of this, and by virtue of a constitutional understanding, a great proportion of the work of the Civil Service as well as of the work of Parliament, is transacted in French, necessitating a knowledge of the French language. Obviously, therefore, so obvious that it requires no argument, a civil servant who can speak, read and write both English and French ought to be more efficient than a civil servant who can only speak, read and write English.

A few years ago, we remember looking over Civil Service examination papers for certain Civil Service posts. One of the qualifications required of applicants was that they should be able to write an essay upon the rise and decline of the Roman Empire. Now we have no doubt but that a knowledge of what happened in and to the Roman Empire would do no more harm to a civil servant than it would do to, say, a member of the present Cabinet; but what we think is that between the man who had read Mr. Gibbon, and who could not read French, and the man who perhaps had never heard of Mr. Gibbon, but who could read both English and French, the merits, so far as efficiency in the Civil Service is concerned, would be all on the side of the latter.

There is another side to the matter: that of economy. A great deal, perhaps 25 per cent., of the correspondence that comes to Government departments, is in the French language. Obviously, therefore, if the bulk of our civil servants cannot speak, or read, or write French ,it must require a considerable duplication of employees to perform this French work.

But, these facts notwithstanding, it is impossible to approve the letter of what Mr. Seguin proposes. And for a quite simple reason. In Canada, it is safe to say, ninety per cent. of educated French-Canadians are familiar with both French and English. On the other hand it is equally safe to say that not twenty per cent. of educated English Canadians have a working knowledge of French. That being so, a statutory, compulsory preference in Civil Service appointments to persons who could speak both languages could only result in one thing. It could only result in the Civil Service being practically handed over to our French Canadian friends.

That—and we feel sure moderate French Canadians will agree with us in this—would have bad results. It could only produce a lot of bitterness, a lot of racial suspicion, a growth by a hundredfold of much of the foolish talk about racial preferences that is heard even now—and nobody should want that.

What The Journal would like to see would be a greater realization on the part of English-speaking Canadians that a knowledge of the French language is a great asset, a great advantage to them, not only in the Civil Service, but in any other career that they may embark upon in Canada. If we had our way, in fact—and we are but repeating now what we have urged before—we would make French a compulsory subject in the schools of this Province and we would insist upon English Canadians in the Civil Service acquiring a working knowledge of French. It would make our people more efficient in a sphere in which they are deplorably deficient, and it would go a long way, we think, to remove a great many of the artificial differences that are doing no good to Canada. And on top of that their opportunities for culture would be extended.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Those who predicted that the present session of Parliament would be completed without a serious fight forgot the Georgian Bay canal proposition.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Que., March 8 (Canadian Press)—There was some enquiry from United Kingdom buyers for Manitoba spring wheat on the Montreal market yesterday, but exporters stated that as the prices bid were six to seven cents per bushel under cost, no business was done.

The feature of the local cash grain market was the weaker feeling that developed in American corn and prices were reduced two cents per bushel. The demand was quiet and the volume of business small. Car lots of No. 2 yellow were quoted at 92c, No. 3 yellow at 87c, and cool sweet corn at 82c per bushel, ex-store. The market for Canadian Western Oats was steady under a small demand.

A fair amount of business was worked in spring wheat flour with the United Kingdom towards the close of last week at 40s 3d, but owing to the advance in wheat prices millers were forced to ask 1s more over the week end which was not responded to, and the market today was quiet. The trade for local and country account was fair and the tone of the market was steady.

The volume of business transacted in winter wheat grades of flour was fair and prices were unchanged.

Prices for all lines of millfeed were well maintained under a good demand. The trade in standard grades of rolled oats was fair and the undertone was firm.

Owing to the improvement in the condition of the United States markets for baled hay and the higher prices ruling, the movement of Canadian hay in that direction has increased some and the market in this respect was rather more active. The local trade was quiet and prices were unchanged. Car lots of No. 2 timothy were quoted at $14.50 per ton.

The undertone in the egg market was firm under a fair enquiry. The receipts were 652 cases.

The trade in potatoes showed no improvement owing to the unfavorable weather prevailing for the season of the year which tended to check the demand from all sources. The tone of the market was easy, but there was no further change in prices. Car lots of Prince Edward Island Green Mountains were quoted at $1.50 to $1.60 per bag of ninety pounds, and Quebec white stock at $1.00 per bag of ninety pounds in bulk, ex-track, while New Brunswick Green Mountains sold at $1.00 per bag of eighty pounds, ex-store.

A stronger feeling developed in the butter market and prices scored a further fractional advance. This was attributed to the good demand and the small supplies available. At the close of the day holders of New Zealand finest creamery butter were asking 42 3-4c to 43c per pound; Eastern townships regraded No. 1 pasteurized 42 3-4c to 43c per pound. The receipts were 48 packages.

The cheese trade continued inactive and the undertone was easy. The receipts were 345 boxes.

Common Errors in English and How To Avoid Them.

(By the McClure Syndicate, Inc.)

TO "HANKER"

"Is the word 'hanker' a good English word, or is it slang or colloquial English?" asks a correspondent.

If anyone desires to cast the word "hanker" and its derivative, "hankering," out of his own vocabulary, and into the outer darkness of forbidden words, he may do so, and may quote in defense of his action the editor of Webster's International Dictionary, who says that the use of "hanker" is chiefly colloquial or familiar. But he must be prepared to meet the reply that "hanker" is used by such good English scholars as James Russell Lowell, J. A. Symonds and others. The word is given, as one in good standing, in Roget's "Thesaurus of English Words and Phrases."

It means "to long for something with a keen appetite and uneasiness." Trollope, the English novelist, wrote: "She still hankered, with a natural hankering, after her money."

SUPPORTS R. R. HALL

To The Editor, The Examiner:

Sir.—Mr. R. R. Hall is quite right in asking that public opinion should be ascertained before any proposition is submitted to the Council as to taking over of the street railway, the gas plant, and water powers by private enterprise. There is the making here of a dispute. Shall the street railway go underground or shall it not? Public ownership is going to put it underground and private ownership is going to keep it above ground. Which is it to be? Loss and inconvenience to many householders and its abandonment is a benefit to none. What about the price of gas? The price today is too great. Every one knows that. Is public ownership going to stand in the way of the wage-earners of this city? Our manufacturers are being charged more for power. Is the loss going to be made up by decreasing our wages? We are going to be charged more for light. Is the loss going to be made up by reducing our low standard of living still lower?

The laboring man has everything to gain by expressing his opinion very freely on this question against the closing down of the street railway, the high price of gas, and the increasing cost of power and light.

By all means have a public meeting and let us get at the truth as to where pipe dream theories of public ownership have landed this city.

HARD WORKER.

DOMINION DAY.

Mr. Editor—As an adopted Canadian, I have been watching with much interest the progress of the Confederation celebration in Peterborough, feeling sure that it would be of much value from a historical point of view, that I would learn much of Canada's past in pageant or otherwise.

But alas, in reading last night's Examiner I see suggestions only of sports, dancing, "community" singing, carnival and fireworks!

Don't you think, Mr. Mayor, which means Peterborough, that this celebration should be of a more serious nature? That it should actually portray in some way the history of Canada—to make us realize the progress she has made since her beginning? True, it would mean more work, and very much more systematic planning than such a programme as outlined in the Examiner. But I believe it would be well worth while, and Peterborough would have done something to be proud of.

By all means have the fun, too, but make that the side, not the main issue, of the day.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I am,

One Interested.

THEY NEEDED PRACTICE

KANSAS CITY, March 7.—Robbers broke into a machine works here and were confronted by a sign on the safe reading: "This safe contains no valuable, so here is the combination if you want it." Below were printed the numbers of the combination, but the bandits, who either could not read or needed practice, went right ahead and battered off the door. A year ago the safe was robbed in the same manner.

LIVER TROUBLE

The liver is a spongy organ for the production of liquids necessary to digestion; which are made from waste products of the body and are thrown out through the liver into the intestines to aid in digesting food at the same time as they are expelled.

When the skin becomes a yellow, sallow color, the tongue coated and headaches persist, these are indications that bile is being stored up in the liver and not sufficiently eliminated. One in this condition is being literally poisoned by bile, which, in the right quantity, is helpful and necessary to digestion

A frequent cause of this retention of bile is the stoppage of the bile ducts by catarrhal inflammation of the ducts, causing stricture; by pressure of tumors or feces in the hepatic flexure of the colon; also the pressure caused by pregnancy, and the lodgment of gall stones, which stop its flow. Constipation may also exist and produce intestinal toxemia by the reabsorption of poisons, which have not been expelled rapidly enough.

There may be no sign of an organic disease of the liver, but just an inability to function well enough to take care of the unnatural burden placed upon this organic function by one who is eating more food of every kind than the body can use and make a part of the cell structure.

Often there is an inability to take care of even a normal amount of food, because the body is enervated by bad habits other than eating, which waste the energy that should be used by the liver. A sedentary life, late hours and excesses of every kind produce a condition which cannot really be completely overcome, even by the most judicious dieting. After understanding these causes, it is not difficult to formulate the necessary method of cure. Bad habits which cause this unwholesome retention must be overcome. Unquestionably the entire elimination of the starches, sugars and fats for a considerable period of time will bring about very satisfactory results, but the cure is more rapid if a fruit fast is strictly adhered to for a few days, followed by careful dieting until the liver is able to do a reasonable amount of work, and all the bilious habits are corrected.

Do not expect to accomplish all of this by dieting alone, for if not enough exercise is taken it will be almost impossible to eat such a small amount of food as to make metabolism well-balanced; whereas, if vigorous physical culture exercises are indulged in each day, one does not have to be so careful in balancing the proper quantity and quality of food. Long walks in the open air, with deep breathing will bring about astonishing results in correcting faulty metabolism and adjusting the manufacture of bile so that no excess bile is accumulated in the liver or gall bladder.

If one has been over-burdened with bile for a long period of time, they must not expect an instantaneous readjustment, but if proper health rules are followed conscientiously, I can assure you that a permanent cure can be achieved in a reasonably short length of time. No matter how bad your state of mental depression is, if you will get rid of the cause of your biliousness, you will soon find that you will no longer upset with the "Blues."

WHAT CHRISTIANITY NEEDS

(By Dr. Frank Crane.)

Christians in China are being subjected to the treatment that has always been beneficial to Christians.

They are being persecuted.

Christianity has always thrived under persecution. It only needs a few well-timed deaths to give it impetus.

The blood of the martyrs has always been the seed of the church. This makes it pretty hard on martyrs, but it is a good thing for the church.

Heretofore they have been uniformly polite except for occasional instances and have been entirely too liberal-minded. Nothing hurts the Christian propaganda more than indifference.

Mr. Chesterton sees a distinct decline of interest in religion, thinking it is because religious people no longer have heated arguments over religion. He thinks that tolerance is a sign of indifference and perhaps it is.

Some one has said that no movement for the benefit of the common people has arisen anywhere in China except among the Christian missionaries. If that is true these missionaries ought to meet the fate of most progressives, and it is the rule that most persons who try to jog this old world forward a little bit are persecuted for their pains.

Ever since the day when Christ was crucified in Galilee the reformer has had hard sledding. People can stand most any sort of guilt among their great men, but they can't stand to be hectored by them. If anybody thinks this world is anxious to improve and mend its ways he has another think coming. This world wants to be let alone. It is very much of the mind and custom of the foolish boy. Spanking may do the boy good, but he doesn't like it. He may need it, but he doesn't want it.

So jerking the world along on its upward path may be necessary, but this earth is liable to turn on its benefactors and rend them.

BOOK OF POEMS TELLS HISTORY OF EARLY DAYS OF PETERBORO'

Many Citizens of Otonabee Mentioned in "In Memoriam" Poems.

LAUDS EXAMINER.

Keene Had Five Stores in 1872—Dancing Was Not Admired.

A very interesting relic of old Peterborough is the book of poetry in the possession of Mr. Carter, Bolivar Street. The verses were all written by a resident of Peterborough, or someone who lived nearby, and most of them refer to the district. The book has been partly nibbled by mice, and many pages are missing, but it remains of high interest.

The writer seemed to rhyme equally happily about politics, religion, deaths and temperance, and while public opinion has changed its view of all of these in the past half-century, there are many bits of wisdom in these old pages that might well have been written for the present generation.

There's no doubt about what the view of the author on prohibition would have been had he (or she) lived. All the miseries of life and death are traced to alcohol, and "To Drunken Fathers" the writer says:

"Why should you, endued with reason,
Against your Maker live in treason?
Denying yourselves the blooming season
Of restoration;
Choosing rather close relation
With damnation."

And dancing—Oh! Oh!

"Dancing, a custom ancient, rude; Practiced by those who know not God."

is one of the most mild attacks. In this poem inroads have been made by the mice, but in the last stanza there occurs this denunciation:

"Few that frequent such places pray
To God at all."

Whatever else this rhymster of 1870 had awry, according to present-day standards, he had at least a well-founded appreciation of The Examiner. In a poem entitled "Otonabee," he says:

"Ye farmers of Otonabee
Who now do occupy
The farms the old folks cleared
In days that are gone by . . .
In fine cloth now ye all can dress,
And get what food you need,
And have, too, now, at resting time,
The local news to read.
Which every farmer ought to have,
The leading local paper,
See where to go for what he wants,
From grocer and from draper.
Ye who have not subscribed for one,
Go do it right away,
'Twill profit you more through the year
Than double what you pay.
All you who true reforms seek,
And plead for truth and right,
If The Examiner you don't take,
You stand in your own light."

That is one of the pieces of wisdom referred to previously.

Politics.

There was corruption in politics a half-century ago, if the rhymes of this author are to be credited—and certainly they do not appear to hold half the pussyfooting that is evident to-day in attacking anything that comes to mind. In a poem addressed to "The Electors of the East Riding of Peterboro, August, 1872," the writer says:

"Honest electors want to find
A candidate of upright mind,
Whom none can turn or lead astray
From duty, promise what they may.
One who knows the country's need,
And who will fight to see it freed
From corruption in high places,
Which a country aye disgraces.
Such a candidate want we,
One that's liberal, bold and free,
Unshackled by the party chain
That binds the office-hunting men.
. . . ."

And then, after fifty lines, this ideal man is named:

"Otonabeeans, lead the van,
For Mr. Ingram is the man. . ."

Even his letters to the "Voice of the People" were written in verse by the author of this book, and one on temperance is included in the collection. It concludes,

"Excuse the diction of this letter,
The next I'll try and write it better;
For printing it is poorly dressed,
Though sometimes odd things take the best.
I remain, Sir, yours ever true,
A friend to Temperance and to you."

Many "In Memoriam" poems are included in the collection, naming, among others: John Robertson and Joseph Blizard, drowned in Rice Lake in October, 1849; Isabella Brownlie, wife of James Miller, Otonabee, died in 1869 and is buried in Little Lake Cemetery; Charles and Thomas S. Kindred, sons of John Kindred, Otonabee; John Hewie, Otonabee and Roxburgshire, Scotland, who came to Canada in 1842; George Gillespie, Otonabee, who died in 1866; Mrs. Cameron, wife of John Cameron, Asphodel; Ailsie Gillespie, wife of Robert Wood, Otonabee; James Dickson, Otonabee; Peter Gillespie, Otonabee; William McGregor, elder of the Presbyterian Church, Peterborough; Mary Ann Jamieson; George Easson, Otonabee; Margaret Thomson, wife of George Easson; Hannah Smith, wife of John Metcalfe, Otonabee; George Dickson, and several in memory of people not resident in this locality at the time of their death.

Not All Dour.

That everything to which this rymster set his pen was not viewed in a dour light is indicated by his lines on "Scolding Wife":

"Satan he first on woman set
With all his fieldish skill,
As yet he's never left the sex,
He's in some of them still.
He's ever in the scolding wife,
Mischief with all she'll have;
A scold when young's a scold when old,
Ne'er quiet till in the grave. . ."

Keene in 1872.

A picture of Keene in 1872 is given by this writer as follows:

"Near Rice Lake, by the Indian river,
Stands the thriving village Keene,
Tradesmen of all kinds within her,
Good as any elsewhere seen.
For worship there three churches stand,
Grist and saw mills in her too,
A tannery also close at hand,
And shingle factory working true.
Five stores likewise in her are,
With drugs and goods of every kind,
Two taverns where, at any hour,
Travellers good refreshment find.
Steam navigation is there, too,
To carry goods across Rice Lake
To Harwood to the cars, which through
The whole Dominion luggage take."

PRESENTATION TO DEPARTING FAMILY

Mr. and Mrs. James Leonard Are Leaving Campbellford.

Campbellford, March 8th. — A pleasant sociable evening was spent on Friday evening, March 4, when a large number of friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Leonard to say good bye to them before their departure from Campbellford. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard have been residents of the district for many years and will be greatly missed by a host of friends. Euchre and dancing formed the attraction during the evening. A pleasant event took place when Miss Agnes McArthur read the following address:

To Mr. and Mrs. Leonard and family:

Dear Friends: We, your acquaintances, have gathered here to-night to say farewell. You have proved yourselves splendid neighbors during the long number of years with us. We are sorry you are leaving us, but we feel that our loss will be some one else's gain.

You have been well known in Campbellford and the surrounding district and we feel sure that any one who was well acquainted with you could not but speak very highly of you.

We all join in wishing you health and happiness in the years to come, and that God will shower His blessings upon you in your new home. Before leaving we felt that it was our duty to spend an evening together with you and present you with some small remembrance which you may carry away with you to show the esteem in which you were held among your Campbellford friends. So we would ask you to accept this silver tea service and club bag, and may they ever remind you of old times and old friends.

Signed on behalf of your friends:
John A. Ivey, Peter H. MacMillan, John Hooper.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard thanked the friends for their gifts, assuring them that the kindness would never be forgotten. An excellent lunch was then served.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard and family are leaving for St. Catharines.

Few Days' Use of Uratabs Stops Annoying Bladder Irritations Getting-Up-Nights

Those who know the trials and discomforts of Bladder Weakness should be interested in this letter: "I have been bothered with Bladder Trouble for more than 3 years. A burning irritation was almost constant—and I was obliged to get out of bed perhaps five or six times during a night. I heard of Dr. Southworths Uratabs and, without much hope of help, tried them. Wonderful relief came within a few days, and I now feel my trouble is practically ended. Am very grateful for what this grand medicine has done for me, and will always use Uratabs whenever I feel it necessary."

No matter what your age may be if you want to end days of troublesome annoyance and nights of restless misery due to Bladder Weakness and Irritations—you should try the amazing value of Dr. Southworth's "URATABS" at once.

Dr. Southworth is a well-known practicing physician of nearly 50 years' successful experience. URATABS are made from his own special private formula and all druggists are authorized to supply them on guarantee of money back if not satisfactory. Bond's Drug Store sell URATABS.

Chronic Head Colds

A Simple Method of Prevention

There is no disease more offensive or disagreeable, or no disease that will lead to as much serious trouble as catarrh or chronic colds. It often produces chronic headaches and deafness, affecting the eyes and voice, and frequently weakening the lungs. Get rid of catarrh by a simple, safe, pleasant home remedy, discovered by Dr. Blosser, a catarrh specialist.

Dr. Blosser's Remedy is composed of medicinal herbs, berries, and flowers, which you smoke in a small pipe or cigarette. The smoke vapor is inhaled into the air passages of the nose, head, throat and lungs, and carries medicine where sprays, douches and ointments cannot possibly reach. Its effect is soothing and healing, and as it contains no tobacco or cubebs is perfectly harmless, and may be used by women and children as well as men.

If you suffer with catarrh, catarrhal deafness, asthma, hay fever, bronchial irritations, or if subject to frequent colds, get from your drug store a pocket size package of Dr. Blosser's Cigarettes. Prove for yourself their pleasant and beneficial effects.

British Welcome League Will Re-Unite Families Of Britishers Settled in Canada

The British Welcome and Welfare League, Toronto, has inaugurated a movement to re-unite the families of Britishers who are already settled in Canada.

Providing the applicant is in employment, has a home ready, and can produce satisfactory references, the British Welcome and Welfare League will advance the funds necessary to bring his wife and children to Canada.

No interest is charged—the only object being to establish family contacts where wives have been separated from husbands through a lack of funds.

The Welcome League has been in operation for twenty years. Three years ago the Ontario Government purchased a splendid 36-roomed building, and turned it over to the League for their welcome and welfare work. A hearty welcome and temporary accommodation is given to British newcomers upon their arrival in Ontario.

The League also acts as an advisory bureau, and receives thousands of letters from all parts of Canada, asking information and advice.

Albert Chamberlain is president, and Frank Chamberlain secretary.

THEATRE AT THE CAPITOL

"GOD GAVE ME TWENTY CENTS"

Yesterday and today see an interesting line-up of actors at the Capitol Theatre, in seldom-seen men and women of the silver sheet, like Lois Moran, Lya de Putti, Jack Mulhall and William Collier, Junior. For two days only this feature with the strange title, "God Gave Me Twenty Cents," is at the Capitol, the Harold Lloyd production of "The Kid Brother" coming in on Wednesday of this week.

Lois Moran, with the innocent face, is the "little wife," Mary, of the piece, and Lya de Putti is the contrasting type, the girl of the street, Cassie Lang, while "Gambling Steve Doren" is played by Jack Mulhall, lover of the two women. It is a story of the underworld of New Orleans, and the Mardi Gras Festival forms its opening scene. Steve Doren and his pal are home-coming young sailors. Steve arrives in New Orleans to find his girl, Cassie, in prison and proceeds thereafter to fall in love with Mary, the angel-faced waitress of a neighboring cafe. He marries her within the week, and deserts Cassie, who makes a play for him, however, on the day she gets out of prison, and succeeds in gambling with him to take her with him to Hong Kong, on his outbound ship. Mary hears that Steve has gone, without bidding her good-bye, and has taken Cassie with him. She becomes distraught and resolves to throw herself in the river. The fortuitous "twenty cents" of the title makes its appearance here, and, while in the act of buying with it a white rose to give a bridal touch to her last moments, she becomes involved in a robbery and gets shot in the mixup. The final scene is staged in the hospital, where Cassie, also involved in the robbery, dies, and Steve's pal confesses to the police that Mary had no part in the jade robbery. In the last moments, Steve returns from Hong Kong, repentant, to find Mary waiting for him with open arms, and Cassie permanently out of the picture.

"THE KID BROTHER" HAROLD LLOYD'S LATEST

Harold Sets New Standard For Others in Comedy of Country Joy-Boy

Harold Lloyd is scheduled to lead the feature comedy parade for 1927, for his newest Paramount release, "The Kid Brother," is at the Capitol tomorrow, to remain the balance of the week.

"The new year," said a Lloyd official, "should bring a flock of mountain boy comedies into being, for it's that type of picture which Lloyd has just completed, and in many quarters of filmdom Harold's creations are copied as religiously as the works of artists in any line. This is quite apparent when one considers the number of football and college pictures which followed 'The Freshman,' forerunner of the present cycle of similar productions. Following 'Grandma's Boy' there came an avalanche of comedies with a similar theme and in pursuit of 'Safety Last,' a flock of 'Safety Last' offerings and thrill pictures of various types, all modeled along the lines of the Lloyd opus, arrived.

"The entire Lloyd organization is confident that 'The Kid Brother' will be established as one of the comic's greatest. Even Lloyd, who rarely is any dynamo of enthusiasm, has waxed enthusiastic over this one."

The story of the new Lloyd is simple, yet forceful, according to studio reports. It relates the tale of the youngest son of a family of strong men—three brothers, and father—who control the mountains town in which they live.

Like all kid brothers Lloyd is subjected to the indignities that befall the youngest of every family. He is never taken into councils and has no voice in the direction of his father's edicts. In the end, however, the youngster shows his real mettle, and wins the recognition he craves by saving the family honor in one of the most entertaining finishes ever seen.

Heading the supporting cast, is Jobyna Ralston, prettier than ever as the girl with the medicine show, and the hub around which much of the action runs. Walter James gives a realistic performance as the father. Olin Francis and Leo Willis are ideally cast as Lloyd's brothers. Eddie Boland could not be surpassed as the barker with the medicine show, and Romanoff, the medicine shows strong man, is built to order for the part, with his powerful physique. Ralph Yearsley, the bully, will recall memories of "Tolable David," and Frank Lanning should be equally as convincing.

Toronto Telegram: "There is little reason to wonder why "Variety" has been listed as among one of the outstanding pictures of the season. It is a simple triangle story, of the love of a trapeze artist for the flighty wife of his partner, and of the tragic conclusion of the affair, but it has been made into a powerful moving drama. This is due largely to the imaginative genius of A. E. Dupont, the director, and the original methods used in the photography. It may be camera "trickery," but it is highly effective trickery nevertheless.

Emil Jannings gives a superb performance as the husband in the case, and Lya de Putti, I am surprised to say, is excellent as the errant wife. This is a picture no one should miss who has asked to see imagination and intelligence in screen pictures.

LIVELY DEBATE ABOUT BUYING FIRE SUPPLIES

ampbellford Councillor oves That Purchases Over $5 Be By Tender.

NO SECONDER.

Many Requests For Streets and Sidewalks Received at Meeting.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 8. — Councillor Stone's motion that all future purchases for the fire department amounting to $5.00 or over be tendered for among at least three local dealers was the outcome of a lively debate between Councillor Stone and Deputy-Reeve Davidson at last night's regular meeting of the Town Council.

The discussion started over the purchase of new hose for the fire reels, which was left in the hands of the Finance Committee, and they decided to postpone the purchase till a later date.

Councillor Stone did not receive a seconder for his motion and it was lost.

A communication was read from Night Constable A. B. Light, asking for an increase in salary. Mr. Light also appeared in person, but action was deferred, being left to the Police Committee to report at next meeting.

Constable Light also replied to the query of the Council in regard to boys pestering the property of Miss Doak. The affair had just come to his attention. He had the name of one of the boys, and was following the matter up.

A letter from the Central Ontario Power Association, a newly formed body to consider power rates charged by the Hydro, was read.

Town Clerk McGregor, on authorization of Mayor Kingston, had already answered the letter, stating that Campbellford preferred not to be identified with the new association, in view of the town's dealings with the Hydro and the fact that Campbellford was a seller, not a buyer, of electric power.

E. H. Greig headed a deputation of ratepayers, asking for a sidewalk on Rannie Street, between his residence and the residence of Wesley Stephens.

R. J. Allen asked the Council to open a roadway to property at Front and Second Streets, owned by himself and L. A. Denike.

Wellington Green asked Council to open a roadway to his home off Garry Street.

The Councillors promised to consider all the requests when they make a tour of inspection in the spring.

Neil Thompson complained of an excessive amount of water in front of his residence. Council will remove some of the snow and open up drainage.

A. L. Reindeau asked how long it was necessary to be a taxpayer and resident of the municiplity to evade the transient traders' license. He was referred to the Town Solicitor for definite information.

CONTROL OF CITY BY CANTONESE THOUGHT LIKELY

British Think Re-alignment of Generals Means Fall of Shanghai.

NO CRISIS EXPECTED.

Chang Shifts Troops To Meet New Menace—All Quiet To-day.

LONDON, March 8 (Canadian Press). — British official observers foresee complete control of Shanghai by the Cantonese party as a result of the re-alignment of Chinese war lords. They believe that the fall of Shanghai would not be likely to produce a crisis in the relations of the Cantonese with foreign Powers nor increase the menace to foreign life and property as long as the present foreign defence forces are available there.

Defenders Menaced

SHANGHAI, March 8 (Canadian Press). — Shanghai's Northern defenders under General Chang Tsung Chang today found themselves faced with a new menace. The Cantonese have strongly occupied Wuhu, about 65 miles up the Yangtse River from Nanking and roughly two hundred miles west of this city. The definite alignment of Chen Tiao Yung, Governor of Anhwei Province, with the Cantonese, taking with him the Southern Anhwei forces, has compelled General Chang, while standing off the Cantonese in Kiangsu, to wheel about and guard his rear against the new menace toward Nanking.

All Quiet Today

SHANGHAI, March 8 (Canadian Press).—All was quiet today, as it has been for a considerable time, along the Soochow-Sunkiang front, running from west to southwest of Shanghai. Meanwhile, the Nationalist or Southern army is known to be concentrating for an attack on Soochow which, if successful, would enable it to sever the Shanghai-Nanking Railway and place the Southerners in a position to fight their way eastward toward the main objective—Shanghai. The Northern army continues to send reinforcements to Soochow so as to be ready to meet the attack.

Armoured Cars Arrive.

SHANGHAI March 8.—(Canadian Press.)—Two sections of British armoured cars were landed here to-day from the steamer Karmala. The Karmala also brought Col. Sir James Burnell, commander of the Fourteenth Brigade, with his headquarters staff.

BEST SELLERS.

What are commonly known as "best sellers" are the popular novels of the day. All of the book reviews list the "six best sellers" at least once a month, on the theory that what most people are reading, others will want to read—and thus does fickle fiction have its fling.

But of all the actual "best sellers", the Bible takes the lead, and then the dictionary is the next best seller. It is not at all likely that these wto 'best sellers' will ever be surpassed, probably never will may realize it, and some signs to the contrary notwithstanding—religion and education must ever come first.

Millions of dictionaries have been distributed to newspaper readers in the interests of education during the last few years. But dictionaries wear out, and also become out of date, and they must necessarily be replaced about every so often. Which is the reason for the present dictionary offer in this newspaper.

The dictionary coupon printed elsewhere in this issue explains the offer. Clip it and get your new dictionary now.

Youth Seeking Job Rescues Millionaire

CHICAGO, Mar. 8 (Canadian Press)—Alvin Ott, 20 year old, youth searching for employment, yesterday rescued William L. Bush, former millionaire head of a piano company, from drowning in the chilly waters of the Chicago river. It is believed he is qualified for a job.

Irregular Trend To-day On Toronto Stock Market

TORONTO, March 8.— (Canadian Press.)— An irregular trend featured the trading on the Toronto stock exchange to-day. The list on the whole was narrow and losses outnumbered gains by a considerable margin.

Seagram was the most active stock and was in demand all through the session. This issue was also a strong feature, advancing 1-2 to 24. Brazilian came second in volume, and like Seagram, was an exception to the general trend, scoring a gain of 3-4 at 124. Canadian Canners common was active and weaker, selling off 1 3-8 to 38 5-8. The preferred was unchanged. Massey Harris figured prominently in the transactions and was stronger, partially recovering from yesterday's weakness by selling at 109 1-8, a gain of 7-8. Twin City under active trading weakened 1-2 to 57. Other losses were Arnold, off 1-2 to 24 1-2, and City Dairy 1 1-8 to 103 1-2.

New York Prices Drop But Rally Later In Day

NEW YORK, March 8.— (Canadian Press.)—The stock market experienced another sinking spell this morning, but rallied briskly on the appearance of strong buying support in some of the recent industrial leaders. Baldwin, General Motors, and several others made up early losses of two to five points by early afternoon when the market was again headed upward. Early selling was directed chiefly against the motors and oils, both of which industries have suffered recently from price cuts. The spectacular advance in Houston Oil from 112 1-2 to above 120, the brisk recovery in General Motors, and the sustained strength of Hudson stimulated considerable short covering in other issues.

Disappointing current traffic statements contributed to the heaviness of the rails, with Wabash, St. Louis Southwestern, Reading, Lehigh Valley, and Canadian Pacific showing substantial recessions. Trading was relatively dull.

Mine Market Stronger Area Leading Upward Move

TORONTO, March 8. Canadian Press. — A much stronger tone was in evidence on the Standard Mining Exchange to-day with the gains being far in excess of the losses. Area led the way in the upward movement, registering a gain of 7 1-2 to 43. The dividend paying gold stocks were mostly firmer. Hollinger consolidated was the strong feature of this list, selling up thirty to 21.00. Lake Shore and McIntyre gained 15 and five at 18.45 and 26.70 respectively. Wright-Hargreaves was an exception to the general trend and declined 13 to 10.55. Nopissing continued to drop, and to-day it reached the low of 8.22.

Wheat Changes Little Awaiting Reserve Report

CHICAGO, Mar. 8 (Canadian Press)—With the government report on domestic farm reserves due to-day, wheat averaged little higher in the early transactions. European advices indicated supplies arriving are going into immediate use. Starting unchanged to 1-4 cent higher, wheat reacted a little and then scored slight general gains. Corn, oats, and provisions were firmer with corn opening at a shade off to 5-8 cent up and later showing a moderate advance.

Opening prices were: Wheat, May 141, July 134 3-8. Corn, May 76 7-8, July 81 1-2. Oats, May 47 3-8, July 47 3-4.

Hollinger.— A personal visit to this property shows the steady stepping up of mill tonnage to the proposed 8,000 tons per day. Underground developments are continuing as before.

The greatest interest around Hollinger at present is in the work which they are doing in Kamiskotia, six miles north of Timmins, where they are diamond drilling the Jamieson property on which such good surface showings of copper, zinc, gold ore were found. Hollinger through Timmins et al have an interest in approximately 1,000 acres of what is considered to be the best ground in the district.

Some cores from the diamond drilling which is being done by Hollinger had been received at the property and while they certainly showed ore, assays were not available. It is too early as yet to say how important this area will prove to be, but indications to date are that important properties will be developed. If such proves to be the case then Hollinger through its interests will appreciate considerably in value.

McIntyre.— The most important development at this property is that the new shaft is getting close to the 4,000 ft level. Everything else depends on its completion to the 4,150 ft. level and its putting into commission as rapidly as possible. Mill tonnage will shortly be raised from this present level of 1,400 tons per day to approximately 2,00 tons per day by the addition of extra tanks and grinding equipment.

McIntyre's outside interests are becoming more widespread and important. The company now have options on ground or have, as in most cases, staked ground of their own in Quebec, Kamiskotia, Red Lake Matheson District, and in fact wherever new finds are being made. As a matter of fact they are closely following Timmins et al in their endeavors to locate other valuable properties.

It is certain that McIntyre will require a new mill as soon as developments at their lower levels and particularly in the workings from the No. 11 shaft have advanced far enough. What the tonnage of the new mill will be cannot be determined until a great deal more has been done but we can see strong possibilities that it will require a tonnage of around 4,000 per day.

McIntyre is one of the best speculations in Northern Ontario.

Coniagas.— This company are preparing their Montbray property for electrical survey. Surface indications are excellent and property looks as though the above survey followed by diamond drilling will prove up extensive ore deposition. Having no option payments to meet on this property the company have been able to stop work during the winter and are preparing for an extensive exploration durine the coming summer. Supplies, etc., will be brought in this winer.

Recently the Coniagas have taken an option on the Andargo mines in the Michipicoten district. This property shows surface exposures of copper and gold. The property will be carefully looked over before any payments are made.

The chief interest which this company has in the Coniarum work which was described above.

Fort William Is Troubled With Plague Of Bowwows

FORT WILLIAM, March, 8. (Canadian Press).—A plague of "pups" has struck Fort William. Hundreds of stray and homless "bow-wows" are overrunning the city, and, as there is no official doge-catcher and no pound, the situation is becoming alarming. Only 600 dogs are licensed here, but the dog population has increased so rapidly that they number thousands, it is estimated. Citizens believe that the dog derby craze is responsible. In Fort William the youthful "mushers" are not content with one dog. They drive teams of four, five and six animals, and as they go scampering down the streets the welkin rings with unholy howls.

FORTS GET LEAD OF SINGLE GOAL

Defeat Winnipeg 1-0 on Home Ice in Allan Cup Series.

VISITORS STRONG.

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., March 8. —The first of home-and-home games between the Fort Williams, champions of the Thunder Bay League, and Winnipegs, winners of the Manitoba circuit, was played here last night, and as a result Fort William takes a lead of one goal to Winnipeg for to-morrow evening.

The Winnipegs who had been here earlier in the season, when they were playing as a member of the Thunder Bay League before being forced by C.A.H.A. rulings to turn again to Manitoba, showed wonderful improvement in form over their previous appearances and gave the locals a much stiffer battle than expected. In fact, they were an even-money proposition all the way, with the vigor of youth showing to some extent against the cleverness of a more experienced aggregation.

LEVEL OF LAKES HIGHER THIS YEAR

Chicago Engineers Contend That Trend Downward Has Changed.

CHICAGO, March 8. (Canadian Press).—Levels of the five great lakes averaged more than a foot higher on March 1 than they did a year ago, records of United States lake survey, made public to-day, show.

The data, Chicago sanitary district engineers said, tends to show that the trend downwards of the lakes from 1919 to 1925 was due to subnormal rainfall and other natural deterrents rather than to diversion of water. Engineers plotted an expectancy curve, figuring on past phases of the lakes' movements and estimated that by 1930 the highest level in the lakes' history would be reached.

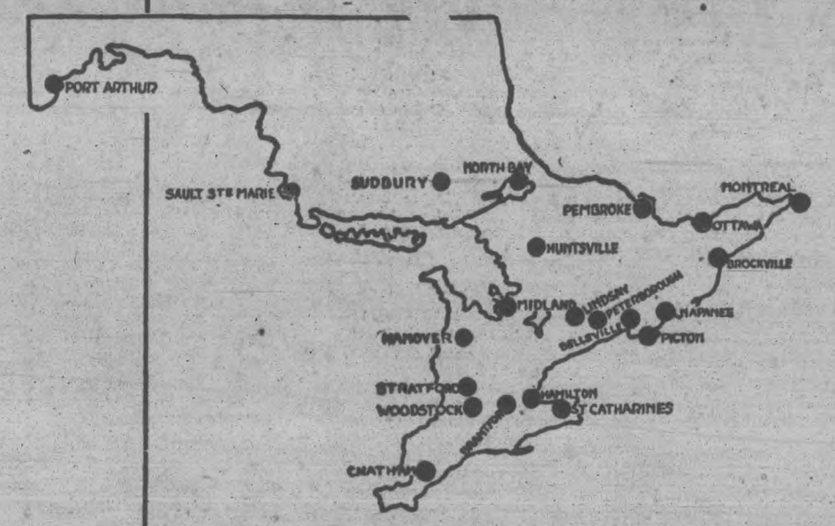
GOLD SEEKERS' RUSH CONTINUING TO-DAY

Gold Fever So Strong That Bootleggers Find Business Dull.

TONOPAH, Nevada, Mar. 8 (Canadian Press) — The rush of gold seekers to Weepah, Nevada, which has created a miniature tent city there since the discovery last week of gold ore assaying $28,000 to the ton, continued to-day with grim prospectors replacing the pleasure seekers who flocked to the scene over the week-nd. Men who staked out claims have be[illegible] recting boundaries to forestall claim jumpers [illegible] burned so intensely that miners found no time for artificial stimulants and two bootleggers who set up business in camp reported business dull.



Introducing Canada's Greatest Chain Store System

FORTY or fifty years ago a trip to town was an event in the life of the rural dweller, frequently occasioning the loss of a day's time, often accompanied by hardships of weather and transportation. Yet, even in grandfather's day, the department or general store formed not merely the shopping, but also the social centre of rural life, and it was then that the foundations were laid for many a successful business.

* * * * * * *

Since those days, in spite of the keen price arguments advanced by the mail-order houses, the local department store has continued to find favor with the community which it has served so faithfully, and continued to enjoy the confidence of the buying public.

* * * * * * *

Now a new and even brighter day is dawning for these stores. Together, the leading department stores of many important cities in Eastern Canada, as shown on the map, are combining the better to serve their communities, in an extensive co-operaive movement which will enable the local department store to compete successfully with the mail-order concern, and to give the rural and small city dweller the same advantages of personal selection and low price as are enjoyed by the buyers in the largest city stores. This great consolidation is known as the Canadian Department Stores, Limited.

* * * * * * *

The average age of these stores is in excess of forty years, and some of them were serving the populace long before the days of Confederation or before the country was united by the telephone and railroads. Throughout these years all the stores under individual management have been consistently profitable and successful. Former owners will continue as managers, and have invested to an average extent of over $100,000 or a total of more than two and a half million in the project.

* * * * * * *

The remarkable financial success of chain stores recently established in Canada and the United States speaks volumes for the future possibilities of the Canadian Department Stores, Limited. Sales for the 12 leading chain stores in the States last year totalled more than $660,000,000 — a gain of $80,000,000 over 1925.

* * * * * * *

Through centralized buying, Canadian Department Stores, Limited will have direct access to world markets and will be able to undersell and outsell competitors. Cash transactions will be encouraged and bad debts eliminated. New branches will later be opened in Ontario and other parts of the Dominion. With the modern ease of transportation, present good roads, and with the substantial advantages and economies of large volume purchasing and strong management, these stores are bound to merit and receive an increasing share of patronage and prosperity.

Canadian Department Stores, Limited, the largest chain store system in Canada, includes the following stores:—

RUSSIA PLAYS A VAST GAME IN HELPING TO ROUSE CHINA

Hopes To Smash British Empire, Checkmate Japan in Siberia and Perhaps Form Alliance Against America—Chinese People Are Individualistic

"CHAMPIONING THE CAUSE OF HUMANITY."

China is leading a gigantic Asiatic revolt against domination by the white man. Upton Close (Dr. Josef Washington Hall), who has spent ten years in the Orient and is known as one of its clear interpreters, has completed a seven-months' tour of the affected countries. He has been in intimate touch with those who are conducting the movement and has seen it develop in China particularly. This is one of a series of twelve articles he has written on his observations. Mr. Close is co-author of "The Outline History of China" and author of "The Land of the Laughing Buddha," and other books.

BY UPTON CLOSE

Russia may appear to us as a great monster spawning eggs of dissatisfaction, but to the Asian world she has assumed the role of liberator and champion. Her agents spread sympathy for the Chinese cause wherever her influence reaches.

Russian influence is bringing together the apparently most incongruous elements. Thus British unions protest against embarkation of British troops for China. British labor is brought to sympathize with Chinese aspirations, protest the embarkation of troops, and call for assembling of parliament to question the Cabinet's actions. Russian agents are bringing together the Ameer of Afganistan and the triumvirate of the Chinese Nationalist party in a common cause, of hatred against the British. They bring within the vision of the Pan-Indian Congress the value of putting native India on record in moral support of the program of a people who for centuries have been beyond the ken of most Indians.

Reached a Long Arm to England.

Russia is helping China and encouraging the revolt throughout Asia in many ways, but the most effective I shall illustrate by an example. I arrived in China on the day when a British vessel had sunk a Chinese sampan at Wanhsien on the upper Yangtze, and Chinese soldiers had retaliated by seizing three British merchant ships. While reports from the scene of the incident were still too meager even in Shanghai for one to place the blame, British labor authorities in far-away England passed a resolution warning their government that they would oppose any drastic reprisals. Thus Great Britain's hands are tied.

I asked Michael Borodin, in whom all Russian influence in China centers, what Russia expects to get in return for voluntarily renouncing her special privileges and concessions in China; spending some millions of rubles on propaganda; running the risk of war with Japan and Great Britain as well as with Marshal Chang Tsao-lin in the North; donating some shiploads of Siberian furs for sale in the Canton market; and virtually placing what is left of the Russian volunteer fleet in the service of the Canton regime—all in order to protect the Nationalist movement in its weaker days.

Definite Aims of the Russians.

The Soviet agent who professes to consider himself more a servant of China than of Moscow, smiled in his engaging way. "We are championing the cause of humanity," he said. "That is reward enough."

Later in the talk he mentioned that the imperialism of America and Europe would be beaten down by an awakened Asia, thus "liberating not only the rest of the world, but the enslaved proletariat of the capitalist powers themselves."

I gathered that Russia has two very definite aims in its Chinese activities, both connected with practical foreign policies. The first is, through a strong China to checkmate Japan, who has menaced Siberia. The second, the prosecution of the centuries-old feud with Great Britain which will never cease until one power or the other is deprived of empire. Three decades ago Great Britain built up Japan, giving money, skill and alliance, for the purpose of striking at Russia. Russia enjoys the thrill of revenge in doing just the same thing for China, for the purpose of ending the British Empire in Asia.

"The only thing we shall ask from China in return for our help," said Borodin, "is her friendship, and a common cause for the liberation of humanity."

Dream of Anti-American Alliance.

Among the more idealistic Russians there is a definite vision of uniting Russia, China, and Japan—which it is thought will not dare to stay out—into an alliance of Pacific Asia for counterbalancing the power of the most irresistable capitalist nation of all, the United States of America.

Russia, ostracized from Europe and the west, is endeavoring to exploit her marvellous opportunities for leadership of a group of modernized Asiatic nations. But this is a ticklish game. I remarked to Borodin—and he shrugged his shoulders—that Russia would discover in the end that she had done a very considerable piece of pure philanthropy so far as any return is concerned."

The Chinese leaders, on their part, are frank and practical about it. "It is not up to us," said Finance Minister Soong, "to ask what are Russia's motives. Suffice it to say that she was the first nation voluntarily to give up advantages incompatible with our sovereignty and imposed upon us by force. You Americans are our friends in a politely conventional way and you have done many generous acts.

"But it is Russia that has taught us how to organize and fight and has openly backed us up in our struggle with the powers. Show us such friendship as that, and we might prefer relations with you. Of course we are not going to allow Russia to control us any more than we are now willing to allow the other powers to maintain their undue influence here. Nor are we going to be dominated by Russian thought."

Influenced by American Thought.

Dr. Hu, the intellectual leader, further elaborated: "We have our own intellectual experience to guide us. China experimented very thoroughly with state socialism and communism in the twelfth century. As to new philosophies and economic theories coming in from abroad, we are much more influenced by American thought today than by Russian. But we shall not forget that while other nations may have looked on sympathetica lly, then, the Chinese movement Bolshevik? In its international implications: that is, so far as the rise of China to nationhood favors the Russian aim of beating down the influence of the great Western nations, "Yes." In its internal economic theories, clearly "No." For ninety-five per cent of China's people live on their own holdings and they are the most individualistically minded folk on earth. They are much too busy getting rid of the foreigner to think of abstract economic theories, and Russia is too wise to try to push these on them at this time.

Mr. Close in his next article tells a remarkable tale of the fashion in which the new Chinese movement is striking at Christianity and undoing the work of the missions.

Heart Palpitation Dizzy, Sinking Spells

Mrs. M. A. Gagnon, Donatville, Alta., writes:—"Some time ago I was very nervous, could not sleep at night, often had dizzy, sinking spells and palpitation of the heart, and was so run down I could not do my housework, but just leave everything and sit down.

I spent a lot of money using medicine from the doctor, but it did not do me any good.

At last a friend told me to use MILBURN'S HEART NERVE PILLS and after using a couple of boxes I was not the same woman. I began to feel so much better, and after a few more boxes I was in perfect health. I always recommend them to all those I know who are suffering from heart trouble."

SERMON ON LOVE GIVEN AT MARMORA

MARMORA, March 8.—Good attendances marked the Quinquagesima services at St. Paul's. In the morning W. M. Lester rendered as a solo 'How Lovely are Thy Dwellings." The Rector, who is a Sunday School enthusiast of the first order, in giving out notices for the day, drew attention to the extreme importance of Sunday school work and appealed for co-operative support in the work at St. Paul's. He also delivered a very eloquent sermon on "Love" basing it on the epistle for the day. He declared that the virtues were to the spiritual life what the vital organs were to the body. Their excellency lies in having God as their immediate object. Faith, hope, and love are three roads to God. Love is the shortest, most direct, and sweetest. Much attention is paid to the education of the mind, but too little to the education of the heart.

It has been truly said that the empire of souls is not given to the clever, but to the loving. God is nowhere except He be first in our lives and love. "If ye love Me keep My commandments" He says. Three marks of love to God which make it unmistakeable are these, the mark of the responsive, the transforming and the effusive.

His subject at the evening service was, "The two choices" and dealt with the story of Lot.

A primary department has been added to St. Paul's Sunday school with Miss Edna Neal as teacher. The membership of the school at present is the highest in its history and a further substantial increase is anticipated. Commencing with the first Sunday of April, a banner will be awarded monthly to the class with best percentage for the month ended. Mite boxes were distributed at Sunday morning's session to the scholars. A Sunday school choir was also inaugurated.

Y.W.C.A. ACTIVITIES

In connection with the Gymnasium Pageant, which will be held in the Grand Opera House on Friday and Saturday, April 29th and 30th, there are three special items for this week:

1. The help of all mothers, board and committee members and friends is requested to help with the sewing committee with the making of the 450 costumes.

2. A meeting of the Advertising

Can You Forget Your Past?

"Found Out!"

Here is a young man who thought he could forget his past—who thought he could find happiness with the adorable society girl he was to marry. Then—one unforgettable day—the telephone rang, and—

ROSS was a Matinee Idol—a tall, dark, handsome Leading Man in a local Stock Company. Florrie—a pretty little diamond in the rough—was infatuated with his manly, Thespian charms. She even lied to her Mother—eventually ran away from home. Success came to the young actor, and Society became interested in him. And so Florrie was neglected!

Do most people play the game squarely because of an instinctive desire to prefer the good to the bad?

You will find the answer in "FOUND OUT"—an intriguing romance of love and sacrifice which is unfolded by the Actor himself—from his own life's drama—in TRUE STORY MAGAZINE FOR APRIL, NOW ON THE NEWSSTANDS.

"Florrie and I were frankly fond of each other."

The Crusade of Truth!

The ideal of the TRUE STORY MAGAZINE is to warn youth against the pitfalls, the fatal errors, the loose thinking that have wrecked many a worthy citizen. Hundreds of these unfortunates, who have been purged in the crucible of bitter experience, have been courageous enough to publish their stories in TRUE STORY MAGAZINE for the benefit of others.

Just how successfully this ideal worked out is demonstrated in the fact that, to-day, TRUE STORY MAGAZINE has a monthly circulation of two million—and is read each month by, approximately, six million earnest searchers after the truth.

READ THESE REMARKABLE PAGES FROM LIFE—THEY ARE ALL INCLUDED IN THE APRIL TRUE STORY MAGAZINE

Have You Passed This Way?
A story of hatred, revenge and throbbing love—an amazing triangle of two brothers and a woman. It won a prize in the recent $50,000.00 contest.

I Tried To Save My Home
The dramatic story of a foolish man—and the noble sacrifice his young wife made to save him and their little home.

Moon Madness
A fascinating romance in which East meets West under the glamour of a tropical moon with its subtle influence.

The Secret Shadow
In a strange city she thought she was safely hidden from those who had wrecked her life. Then—one day a familiar voice spoke to her, mentioning her name.

Why I Lost Faith in Men
"I married without loving," wrote the author. Can a girl afford to take such a chance?

ARTISTIC DRAPERIES FOR THE HOME BEAUTIFUL

Nothing determines more definitely the good or bad appearance of your home than the treatment you give your windows. Years ago when light was taxed by a wise or unwise Government, our homes had as few windows as possible and these were left clear to admit the maximum amount of sunshine.

A wiser generation builds its homes to admit all possible light and air and the window has become an artistically treated unit around which the character of a room is usually planned.

Mr. Davidson who has charge of our Third Floor Drapery Department has just received a large shipment of New Chintzes, Cretonnes, Nets, and Tapestries, showing beautiful patterns and novel combinations of colouring in the brightest Spring tints.

And the prices are so much lower that you will view with surprise the truly wonderful values he has to offer.

OUR FREE SERVICE

Without charge to you, we will hem and make up all Window Muslins, Nets and other Window Draperies, unless an intricate arrangement is desired. Anything requiring specially careful treatment which necessitates extra work will be priced as reasonably as possible.

Beautiful Silk Panels

In a lovely, rich, deep ecru shade with a lasting sheen. Each Panel is made in a fine quality, closely woven mesh in several very pretty patterns, with deep, heavier corresponding design across the end. Finished with silk fringe. FIRST DROWNING OF NEW SEASON

Small Boy Goes Through Ice of Lake Ontario.

AT TORONTO.

TORONTO, March 8.—With the drowning of George Lloyd Hayward, aged nine, 1,001 Eastern Avenue, in the water just off the Morley Avenue sewage disposal plant, on Saturday afternoon, there is recorded the first fatality of this kind this year. The body of the boy was recovered by the life-savers, under Superintendent Lang, about 50 yards from shore, in seven feet of water, after five minutes' dragging. The remains were later removed to the Morgue.

Young Hayward, along with a chum, John McConnell, 970 Eastern Avenue, was playing on the ice. He had walked out about 50 yards from the shore when he reached a soft spot, and went through. The mishap was witnessed by young McConnell, who rushed, crying, to the shore.

The life-savers were notified of the tragedy by some man resident in the district, whereupon Lang, Officer Russell and a couple of men responded in a motor car with dragging equipment, a pulmotor, hot-water bottles and other necessaries. On reaching the scene, they obtained a boat from Dawson's boathouse and set to work dragging. They found the body without much trouble. Dr. Brown, 970 Queen Street East, was called, and he and the life-savers worked over the body for half an hour with the pulmotor but it was of no avail.

HAVELOCK WOMEN MEET FOR PRAYER

Ladies Join in "World's Day of Prayer" Observance.

HAVELOCK, March 8.—On Friday afternoon a noteworthy service was held in the basement of Knox Church, when the Women's Interdenominational Prayer service for missions was impressively observed. Mrs. (Rev.) G. E. Lougheed presided, and the meeting opened with a silent prayer for God's blessing on the gathering, followed by the singing of "Spirit Devide, Attend Our Prayers."

A statement of the object of the meeting was given by Mrs. Lougheed. "For a number of years past," she said, "the consciousness has been growing in the hearts of Christions that their petitions, their thanksgivings, their worship to and of their God was in the unity of the spirit—that in their prayer life was being answered the word of their Master, that they may be all one even as the Father are one! This consciousness became so strong with the women across the border from us that they appointed a day when that unity of thought, of aspiration, of consecration and of communion might be fully realized and seen in all women coming together for prayer. That meeting met a great yearning. It has brought much blessing. Six or seven years ago the women of Canada came together for the same purpose. Since then, once a year from sea to sea, and from north to south, in cities, in towns, in villages, in rural districts, the Christian women of Canada of all races, creeds and nations have gathered in one common meetings place, agreed on by a local committee, and on the same day as in the United States together has gone up to the throne of grace a volume of united confessions, thanksgivings and petitions—'the golden vials full of odors which are the prayers of the Saints'—and the hearts of the Lord's people have been comforted, spirits quickened and zeal renewed.

"So much blessing," she continued, "has come from these interdenomination meetings that this year an effort is being made to have the observance world-wide and today from the rising of the sun to the going down of the same, the sweet incense of prayer and praise to the Lord's name will encircle the world. So we who are called by His name are with one accord in one place to see the glory of the Lord as it abode on Mount Sinai, and to realize the promise, 'Lo, I am with you alway and to tarry until the Spirit of Truth shall come to teach us all things and bring all things to our remembrance.

"A father in London, saying goodbye to his son, sailing for Bombay, said, 'Son although we may be parted, we shall meet every evening,' and he drew a triangle with Bombay at one corner, London at the other, and at the top the throne of grace. Is it not an inspising thought," she asked, "that today we are meeting with other groups of Christian women, not as a part of a triangle, but as a link of a beautiful prayer chain that girdles the world. We think of the East and West, the Occident and the Orient, Japan, Korea, China, Europe, Africa, and Asia, North and South America, and the Islands of the sea, all in their trysting place and for the first time joining their prayers with ours for the work of Christ's Kingdom throughout the whole world. Surely they and we shall be blessed. Our Master has said, 'Whatsoever things ye desire when you pray, believe that ye shall receive them, and ye shall receive them, according to your faith be it unto you.' In conclusion, may this be our attitude and may our hearts be open to the Holy Spirit's power that we may go forth from this hour of prayer with our lives enriched, with a deeper faith that realizes the truth of the injunction 'Rest in the Lord; wait patiently for Him, and He will give thee they heart's desire'."

Scripture lesson, Psalm 72, read by Mrs. J. Kinnard.

Prayer of confession (in unison) followed by Lord's Prayer, led by Mrs. W. Vance.

Hymn, "Jesus Shall Reign Where'er the Sun," two verses.

Prayer for Canada: That the Spirit of Christ may dominate national life in home, school, industry, and government. By Mrs. John Cochrane.

Prayer for Canada: That gifted young men and women of our land may give their lives for the service of Christ and His Church; by Mrs. S. Barlow.

Prayer for China; choosing her destiny, that she may choose Christ; by Miss Burfield.

Prayer for Japan replacing her own civilization for that of the West. That she may be won for the Christian faith on which alone culture can be securely based; by Mrs. (Rev.) W. Archer.

Prayer for India entering on a new era: That she may be eager for Christ; by Mrs. H. Falkner.

Vocal Solo: Mrs. G. W. Chiles.

Prayer for Moslem World with its unprecedented evangelistic and educational opportunities; by Mrs. (Rev.) T. H. Stanley.

Hymn.

Prayers for all other mission fields and workers by Mrs. (Dr.) J. Holdcroft, Mrs. A. C. Denike, Mrs. (Dr.) A. S. Thompson, Mrs. J. Kinnard.

Hymn, "The Church's One Foundation," one verse.

Prayer for League of Nations: That the healing forces of Christ's reign may permeate the hearts and affairs of all nations; by Mrs. W. Vance.

Hymn, "O Spirit of the Living God."

Prayer of Thanksgiving, in unison; led by Mrs. (Rev.) T. H. Stanley.

National Anthem.

Benediction, in unison, led by Mrs. (Rev.) W. R. Archer.

ALL ADVERTISING IN NEWSPAPERS

Westinghouse Company Decides That They Offer Best Medium.

PITSBURG, Pa., March 8 (United News).—A pioneering step in the use of newspaper advertising to the practical exclusion of other mediums of advertising is seen in the announcement that after April 1, almost the entire advertising appropriation of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company will be expended for newspaper space.

This announcement has been made by J. C. McQuiston, Manager of Publicity for the company.

"Newspapers," explained McQuiston, "seem to offer the only medium by which we can both nationalize and localize our various sales campaigns, thus permitting us to conduct a nation-wide campaign on products and at the same time vary our programme to fit the needs of specific districts.

The publicity manager pointed out that the company's experience in advertising since 1886 has prompted

'QUAKE REPORTED IN OSAKA DISTRICT

Conflicting Stories of Damage Done Reach Tokio Papers.

TOKIO, Japan, March 7 (Canadian Press).—Reports from Osaka say an earthquake shock today put telephones and electric lines out of commission there, but apparently there was no other damage. It is reported, but without confirmation, that the Tajima district, which was wrecked in the 1925 'quake, may be severely damaged. Conflicting despatches from the 'quake area are reaching newspapers. A message from Osaka to The Hochi Shimbun reports 113 killed and injured. Eighty of the victims were in a moving picture theatre which partially collapsed. A newspaper reports that thirty houses collapsed and many others were damaged. Fifteen fires were started, most of which were quickly extinguished. The Nippon Shumbun Rengo News Agency says that outside of several injuries in the moving picture collapse there is no evidence of serious disaster. Detailed reports from the Tajima region have not been received. The 'quake, according to latest advices, may have centred at Kobe, where clocks were stoped and street car services suspended.

SPANISH FORCES TO SEEK FLIERS

Government Orders Attempt To Rescue Them From Moors.

STORMS STOP WORK.

MADRID, March 8. Canadian Press. — The Spanish government has sent orders to the military commanders in Spanish Morocco to attempt the immediate rescue of Major Tadeo Larre Borges, the Urguayan aviator and his companions, from the tribesmen, who are understood to be holding them.

The Urguayan minister has received a despatch from Cape Jubi saying it has been impossible to make much progress in the search for the flyers, owing to storms in the vicinity in which their plane was found.

Despatches on Sunday night said Major Larre Borges and his three companions guided and protected by a band of friendly Moorish tribesmen, were headed for Cape Jubi, a 60 mile trek through a sparsely populated region of Spanish northwest Africa, from the place where their wrecked seaplane was found on Saturday. Only when they reach Cape Jubi will it be known just how their plane came to grief, and how they escaped with their lives. When Major Larre Borges left Casablanca Wednesday morning it was his intention to fly to Cape Jubi, thence to the Canary Islands, and across the South Atlantic to Monevideo, Uruguay.

SMALL BOY KILLED.

Toronto Lad of Eight Dies When Struck By Train.

TORONTO, March 8. — Eight-year-old Joseph Meehan, 43, Galt Avenue, died in the Hospital for Sick Children Sunday of injuries to the spine and head, sustained when he was knocked down and run over by an Imperial Oil Company's truck, driven by Harry Giddings, 397 Leslie street, at Gerrard street and Galt avenue, Saturday evening. The body was removed to the Morgue, where an inquest will be held. After an investigation by the police, Giddings was allowed to go. The boy was in the act of running from the north to the south side of Gerrard street when the truck struck him. One of the heavy wheels passed over his body.

TWO MEN DIE; FOUR MISSING

Explosion Wrecks Part of Paraffin Plant at Buffalo.

LOSS $350,000.

BUFFALO, N.Y., March 7. — (Canadian Press.)—Two men were killed and four are reported missing following an explosion early this morning in the Atlas plant of the Standard Oil Company. The ammonia tank in the paraffin plant blew up, wrecking that portion of the Atlas company property and shaking houses in the vicinity. An official estimate placed the loss at from $350,00 to $400,000. The dead are: Patrick Kirby, 40, assistant pumper, and Clarence Christ 37, Kirby's helper.

The cause of the explosion has not been determined.

As big as a small lemon, the shell of the Babassu nut, found in South America, is so tough that special machinery is needed to crack it.

HEAVILY FINED FOR MAIMING DOG

Glamorgan Man Pays $41.75 Because Son Cut Off Tail.

MILLBROOK, March 8.—A somewhat peculiar case was tried before Magistrate Floyd, of Cobourg, here to-day when John Lytle, of Glamorgan, was charged with maiming a collie dog, which it was alleged he had stolen from a foreigner in his neighborhood, by cutting off its tail.

Lytle declared he had traded a dog formerly in his possession with another foreigner for the collie in question, and acknowledged that, once the latter had come into his possession, his son, seventeen years old, had maimed it in the manner for which arrest was made. The Magistrate held that Lytle was responsible for his boy's action.

The original owner of the collie could not speak English at all, and a fellow countryman, interpreted for him.

Magistrate Floyd imposed a fine of twenty dollars and costs, amounting in all to $41.75, and said that he could legally have given a gaol sentence of from one to fourteen years ,or made the fine much heavier, but on account of it being a first offence he had let the accused off with a comparatively light judgment.

The court room was crowded while the case was being tried, considerable interest having been aroused in the vicinity by the unusual nature of the charge.

OBITUARY.

MRS. GEORGE WHEELER.

There passed away in Toronto hospital, Monday, March 7, Alice Knox, wife of George Wheeler, Oshawa, after a lingering illness.

Funeral will be held on Wednesday, March 9, from King Station on arrival of noon train, to the church at Keene, where services will be held at 2 o'clock.

She leaves to mourn her loss, her husband; two daughters, Hazel and Evelyn; and one son, John.

SILAS ARTHUR EMES.

The funeral of the late Silas Arthur Emes, of Beaverton, took place on March 2nd, 1927, after a illness of only a few days' duration. Besides his sorrowing wife there is left to mourn his loss four children, Olive, aged 8, Betty, aged 4, June, 2 and Baby Arthur six months. Five brothers, Moses of Bruce, Alberta, Ernest and George of Broseave, Alberta, Preston of Beaverton, who is at present in Christie street Hospital, Elisha of Oakland, California, and three sisters, Mrs. King of Vancouver, B.C., Mrs. John Trotter, 947 Water street, Peterborough, and Mrs. Wm. Passmore, of Beaverton. The funeral was conducted by Rev. Mr. Hare of the Presbyterian church, Beaverton, assisted by Rev. Mr. McClellan, of the United church, Beaverton.

The pallbearers, who were ex-soldiers, were Walter Procter, Jack McRae, Murdock McRae, Erwin Reilly, Clarence Dobson and George Smith.

The many beautiful floral tributes testified to the high esteem in which the late Mr. Emes, who was an ex-soldier, was held.

Out-of-town relatives and friends who attended the funeral were: Mr. Charles Webb, of Toronto, Mr. M. Emes, of Alberta, Mrs. John Trotter, of Peterborough, Miss B. Marshall, of Montreal and Mr. A. Godfrey, of Toronto.

WEDDING BELLS.

RYAN—DELORE.

TWEED, March 8.—A quiet wedding took place in St. Carthagh Church on Tuesday, March 1, at 5.30 o'clock a.m., when Father Hanley united in marriage Miss Mary Delore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Delore of Sulphide, and Mr. William Ryan, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Ryan of Peterboro, of the High School staff.

The bride wore a very becoming dress of French biege canton crepe with picture hat and gloves to match, with parchment shoes and stockings. Her corsage bouquet was roses and lily of the valley. Her bridesmaid, Miss Agnes Quinn, was gowned in cedar wood georgette and hat to match. She carried sweet peas and lily of the valley. The groom was supported by Mr Frank Lonergan.

After the ceremony the wedding breakfast was partaken of at the home of the groom's uncle, Mr. James Ryan. Mr. and Mrs. Ryan spent a few days in Montreal. The bride traveling in a charmeuse dress with small rose and sand hat and fur coat.

Mr. and Mrs. Ryan will reside in Tweed.

For Each Of His Fiancees Duke Has Different Title

HARTFORD, Conn., March 8.— (A.P.) — Edna Wallace Hopper said last night that her engagement to the Duke de la Chatre, of France, had been broken last summer because she discovered that the last man entitled to that name had died a long time ago. The engagement of the duke to Mrs. J. J. Brown, of Denver, was announced recently.

"Why, even the string of titles which are coupled to to his name at the present time are entirely different from the ones he told me when we were engaged," Miss Hopper said.

HIAWATHA NEWS

HIAWATHA, March — The local lumberman, Mr. Ralph Godfrey, has recently finished drawing his telephone and telegraph poles to the lake shore. They were taken from his limit north of the reserve. He reports that they are in great demand as several buyers have interviewed him regarding them. His poles are very long but some have a little warp in them.

Rev. Rufus Garratt returned Thursday evening with Mr. Dan Cowie, who met him at Drummond's station after visiting friends in Wellington, Trenton and Belleville. While at Wellington he attended the funeral of his old friend and neighbor, the late Jacob Gay.

Miss Lena Cowie was with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cowie for a few days and returned to Peterboro on Monday morning.

Mr. M. E. Hinton visited in Hamilton and Alnwick townships at the homes of some people living in the school section where he commenced teaching. On his way home he called at the Harris-Fraser muskrat farm on one of the islands of Rice Lake.

Mrs. Fred Simpson and daughter, Mrs. Wallace Marsden spent the week-end with the former's mother, Mrs. John Muskratte.

Mr. James Ashburn saw some black birds last week near his farm, east of Hiawatha.

William W. Anderson and Dan Muskratte were at Alderville, on Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. Russel Thompson, who was very ill for a time, is well again.

Mr. Oswald Crowe, who had pneumonia, is doing nicely.

LEAGUE SERVICE WELL ATTENDED

Devotional Meeting Held by Petherick's Corners Branch.

SIGNS OF SPRING

PETHERICK'S CORNERS, March 8.—The regular League service at Zion on Thursday was one of the most interesting held this year. Sixty-three were in attendance with the Whites and Khaki out in front in the contest. The programme was in charge of the devotional convener, Mr. Thomas Fry, with Miss Freda Petherick as leader. The programme consisted of a hymn by the "Whites"; Bible reading, Mrs. Albert Petherick; prayer by Mr. Fred Barnum; devotional talk by Mr. Thomas Fry; devotional reading, Mrs. Kent Lawrence; vocal duet, Miss Ruth Lawrence and Mr. Fred Barnum. The topic, "How Does Our Church Provide for the Worship of God" was given by Rev. Mr. Daniel and proved very interesting and instructive as he conducted it in the form of a round table talk giving various members of the group a chance to express their opinions.

Although the last week has not been very spring-like, and motor cars are temporarily stopped on a few of the roads here, some signs of spring are noted. Crows are in evidence everywhere and the woodchucks of Petherick's Corners are venturing out to look for spring. The first one noticed was on March 3.

LEGION NOTES

At the regular meeting of the branch held on Monday evening last it was unanimously passed that the annual church parade would be held this year at George street United church, arrangements are being completed and the members will attend divine service on Sunday morning, April 24th, this being the nearest Sunday to the anniversary of the 2nd Battle of Ypres.

The Federal Appeal Board will hold a sitting here on Thursday morning next, when they will meet at the City Council Chambers to hear several appeals of ex-service men of this city and district. The Commissioners will open proceedings at 9 a.m. sharp.

Members will learn with regret that Comrade Cole met with a serious accident last week whilst at work, but all will be glad to know that he is now progressing favourably.

Comrade E. E. Underwood is also lying very seriously ill at Nicholls Hospital, Comrades desiring to visit may do so at the regular hours. Their attendance will be welcomed by the patient, whom we hope will soon be restored to his usual health.

A large number of membership badges have been received from Col. LaFleche, the Hon. Treasurer at Ottawa. Will those members who have not yet received their badge kindly call at the office and receive them.

Members are reminded that on Monday the 21st inst., that the report of Comrade Father Costello from the National Convention will be held and as there are matters of great importance to the Legion to be discussed, every member is requested to make a special effort to be in attendance this night.

The great Easter draw for the euchre and dance is well on its way. Get your ticket in time. Don't miss the Chesterfield suite.

During the past week we have to record the passing of another of our comrades in the person of R. Sanderson, a veteran of 1866, and who was an honorary member of the local branch of the Legion. Members of the branch attended the funeral and the last post was sounded by Comrade Thirnbeck.

The regular weekly euchre will be held as usual on Wednesday evening.

STOMACH SO BAD HE STAGGERS LIKE DRUNK

"I suffered from stomach trouble, and had auto-intoxication so bad that I staggered like drunk. Since taking Adlerika, I feel like a new man, have gained 17 pounds, and can do a better days work."—F. J. Pooler.

Adlerika is a compound of the best saline intestinal cleanser with glycerine, buckthorn, cascara and other gas-expelling and detergent elements. It is excellent for Intestinal Stasis, a disease due to modern ways of liivng and which is often the true cause of sour stomach, gas bloating, nervous dyspepsia and restless sleep.

Unlike most medicines, Adlerika acts upon BOTH upper and lower bowel, giving the intestines a REAL cleansing and bringing out old poisonous matter you never thought was in your system. Even if bowels move daily, you will be surprised how much more old matter Adlerika brings out which may have been causing all your trouble. In night disorders, like occasional constipation, GAS bloating, indigestion or sick headache, ONE spoonful always brings relief.

Doctors Praise Adlerika.

Dr. H. L. Shoub, New York: "Adlerika in addition to its intestinal cleansing, checks the growth of intestinal bacteria."

Dr. A. C. Curl: "I prescribe Adlerika with highly satisfactory results."

Dr. J. Weaver: "In my 50 years' practice, I have found nothing to excel Adlerika."

J. E. Puckett: "After using Adlerika, I feel better than for 20 years. Awful impurities were eliminated from my system."

Dr. F. M. P. (name withheld by request): "I use Adlerika in all bowel cases. Some require only one dose."

No matter what you have tried for your stomach and bowels, Adlerika will surprise you. At leading druggists. In Peterboro at McDermid & Jury and other good druggists.

ORGAN RECITAL BY DR. FRICKER

(By Jeanette).

Considering the very inclement weather of last evening, the attendance, numbering nearly five hundred people, at the organ recital given in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, was quite satisfactory. It was one of the very interesting series of recitals which have been given in this church since the installation of the new organ, and was probably the most outstanding of the group. Dr. H. A. Fricker, M.A., F.R.C.O., organist of the Metropolitan Church and conductor of the Mendelssohn Choir, Toronto, was the organist for the occasion, assisted by Madame Ethel Holland, contralto soloist of the Metropolitan Church, and the choir of St. Paul's, augmented by members of other choirs in the city and the Male Voice Choir.

Dr. Fricker is a musician of a brilliant, dignified, scholastic type. His technical skill has reached a high point of perfection, and he plays with ease and assurance, appearing equally at home in the lofty and earnest music of Bach as in the tonal vagaries of Liszt and the weird, suggestive music of Saint Saens and Palmgren. This organist is of the vital, nervous type and his playing is colored with an atmosphere of restrained enthusiasm. He does not give the same impression of absolute absorption as was the case with Dr. Gutzeit, who played for the opening of the new organ, but his ambitious programme reflected an exceedingly high degree of forceful skill and nervous aspiration.

Commencing with a composition of his own, an Overture in C Minor, Dr. Fricker's first group also included an effective tone poem entitled "L'Etoile" (The Star) by Clifford Roberts, a young English composer, a charming thing in which a mild, peaceful overtone accompanies a constant series of flowing arpeggios. This was followed by a Prelude and Fugue in D Major by Johann Sebastian Bach, in which the master's wonderful contrapuntal treatment was splendidly demonstrated by the musician.

In "Rococo," a dainty composition by the Finnish composer, Selim Palmgren, Dr. Fricker displayed his versatility of mood and execution. This whimsical bit of music is like a sweet little fairy tale, told to children, and has a recurrent refrain like a piano tune, peeping in and out of a background of deep, disconnected bass chords.

Later, came the 'Moto Perpetuo,' suggestive of perpetual motion, so effective when played on the piano, and the "Danse Macabre" of Saint Saens, the mordant composition which brings many organ resources into play. It is oddly descriptive of a "dance of Death" played on the violin, with an E flat string, and uses a reiterated beat in the bass against an increasing tempo in the treble, winding up to frenzy in the later movements and ending with a touch of the "vox humana" stop in the finale.

Contrasting in type and atmosphere was the lilting, captivating rhythm of the ballet music from Schubert's "Rosamunde," which followed, played with a light touch and quick, dancing tones, and Liszt's "Legende of St. Francis of Assisi," in which the patron of all living creatures preaches a sermon to his little feathered friends of the air, was another descriptive thing, admirably interpreted.

In the tone poem from the "Finlandia" Suite of Sibelius, the final offering by the organist, was demonstrated the keen and cutting atmosphere of the Scandinavian type of music, with its rugged, bold outlines and vigorous handling, forming a fitting conclusian to a programme varied in selection and executed with superb skill. The applause which greeted each of the evening's selections was universal once more for this composition, rendered with the decisive mastery which characterized all of Dr. Fricker's music.

Madame Ethel Holland received encores of enthusiastic and repeated length at the conclusion of her songs. She possesses a large, full contralto voice of extraordinary depth and power, with tones like a bass viol, and her singing is of the smooth, legato type which harmonizes so admirably with a voice of this calibre. The finesse which marked her work held her audience quietly attentive from the first to the last syllables of each song, and its flowing, rich melody and perfect articulation were further attributes to a very satisfying rendition.

In keeping with the general atmosphere of the recital were Madame Holland's two solos, a sacred song, 'Like as the Hart Desireth the Waterbrooks,' and a beautiful rendition of "Abide With Me." In response to repeated applause, Madame Holland sang "The Lord is Mindful of His Own," from Handel's oratorio, "Elijah," with sustained volume in its powerful, reverential cadences, and the lovely "Kerry Dances," the latter by request. Again, with the organ accompaniment which Dr. Fricker played for all of the songs, Madame Holland sang, by request, "He was despised and rejected," from "The Messiah."

The choir of St. Paul's Church, led by its director, M. B. Chenhall, and accompanied at the organ by Dr. Fricker, was at its best last night in two very fine renditions from "The Messiah," sung in splendid full voice and with careful attention to shading, attack, and release. By special request, Dr. Fricker conducted the final choral offering, the "Hallelujah" chorus from the great oratorio, with Mr. Chenhall at the organ.

At the conclusion of the programme, a sincere vote of appreciation and thanks was tendered Dr. Fricker, Madame Holland, and the choir by Mr. James Dutton, Rev. Mr. Allan also extending the welcome and thanks of the church to the visiting artists, seconded by Mr. F. Gandy, president of the Peterborough Male Voice Choir.

Uncle Wiggily

To-day's Bedtime Story.

By Howard R. Garis

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE SPOOL PIE

Saturday there were no classes in the Hollow Stump School, so all the forty 'leven little bunny boys and girls who lived in Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow got up early in the morning to have as much fun as they could.

"I'm going to the woods to see if any spring flowers have started to grow!" called Tooter, who, with Scooter, liked to play Boy Scout and Indians and all sorts of games like that.

""It's too early for flowers," said Jingle, who, with her sister Jangle, was playing under the apple pie tree—

"I want you to try my apple pie," said Uncle Wiggily.

I mean the tree off which, in summer, apples could be picked to make pies. "The twenty-first of March is spring," sang Jangle, who was a boy today. "The little birds begin to sing!" I don't mean that Jangle was a real boy, but often on Saturday she would put on an old suit belonging to Scooter or Tooter and pretend she was like one of her brothers.

"Well, anyhow, we're going to the woods," said Tooter.

So away he ran with some other animal boys, while Jingle and Jangle got their dolls and some little dishes and when Baby Bunty and Kittie Kat and Arabella Chick and some other animal girls came along they all played house.

"Oh, I wish I had my basket of empty spools!" said Jingle all of a sudden. "We could pretend the spools were all sorts of things to play with."

"Where are your spools?" asked Jangle, who knew that her sister had saved a lot of empty ones.

"I left them in Nurse Jane's kitchen," answered Jingle. "I can't go in now to get them for I'm expecting company."

So she was, though it was make believe company coming to a pretend house where the little animal girls were playing they were grown up. And just then Jingle saw Uncle Wiggily in the bungalow kitchen door.

"Oh, Daddicums!" called the littl rabbit girl. "Will you please brin out my basket of empty spools? They 're on the table."

"I will, my dear," answered th rabbit gentleman, and, being in hurry, he picked up the first thing saw on the table, and, as it happene it was a dish of apples cut up f Nurse Jane to put into a pie. N knowing what he was doing, bein absent-minded like, Uncle Wiggil carried the basket of apple slices ou to Jingle and then he hurried bac into the kitchen for he heard his wi calling him.

"Oh, look what Daddicums brough me instead of empty spools!" laughe Jingle as she saw the apple slices.

"He must have wanted us to hav a little play party!" said Jangle. "Let do it and eat the apples. We can pr tend they are oranges!"

"Oh, what fun!" laughed Bab Bunty.

So, forgetting about the basket spools, the little animal girls ate th apple, intended for the pie. And whe Uncle Wiggily got back into th kitchen his wife was there, rolling ou pie crust and putting it in a tin.

"Please hand me that dish of c apples, I want to put them in this pie," said Mrs. Longears. "Nurse Jane ha to hurry to the store so I'm finishin this pie for her."

"I'll put the apples in," offer Uncle Wiggily, so what did he do b put into the pie tin the empty, wood spools, and he never noticed what was doing. And Mrs. Longears, thin ing the empty spools were slices apple, being a bit near-sighted, y know, she clapped the top crust on a clapped the pie into the oven, spoo and all.

Well, the little rabbit girls a their friends ate all the sliced appl and when the spool pie was done M Longears took it from the oven, n dreaming what a funny pastry it w But that evening Uncle Butter, t goat, and Aunt Lettie, the goate came to tea.

"I want you to try my apple pie said Uncle Wiggily, starting to cut "At least I put the apples in. B they seem to be very tough!" he add when his knife couldn't cut the wood spools. "Something must be t matter!"

And when Uncle Wiggily lifted t top crust and saw, inside, a lot brown, baked wooden thread spoo instead of tender, juicy apples—we I just wish you could have heard Un Butter laugh. So did Aunt Lett And when Mr. Longears thought wh a funny mistake he had made in th spool pie—why, he laughed hard than any one except Jingle and Jang

"It's a good thing Uncle Butt didn't try to eat that pie!" said M Longears.

"Oh, I don't know!" bleated t goat gentleman. "Spool pie might good for a change. I'm tired of eati tin cans!" and he laughed again.

NUMBER OF DEAD IN 'QUAKE AREA BELIEVED LARGE

Tourist From Anchor Line Vessel Among Those Killed at Kobe.

KYOTO, Japan, March 8 (Canadian Press) — Two thousand persons perished in yesterday's earthquake, an official announcement to-day said.

TOKIO, March 8 (Canadian Press).—Despatches trickling in over crippled telephone and telegraph lines indicate that casualties in yesterday's earthquake in Japan, including both dead and injured, may reach five thousand. This figure, however, is speculative.

A telegram to the Hochi Shimbun gives prefectural police reports as authority for a statement that there were one thousand casualties in Mineyama and four other nearby villages, which were destroyed. Several foreigners are reported to have been injured at Osaka and Kobe, but their names are not given.

A number of army aeroplanes have gone to the Tango region from Kyoto to investigate the damage. This district, which was hardest hit, is now heavily populated, but is studded with small villages, the inhabitants of which are employed in the production of silk. The Stock Exchange and exchange against the yen were apparently little affected to-day, thus indicating the belief that the earthquake damage was not great economically.

One Passenger Killed.

GLASGOW, March 8 (Canadian Press).—The Anchor Line received a message to-day stating that the woman passenger on the tourist steamer California, who lost her life at Kobe during the earthquake was Mrs. Glen Schultze. No other passengers were hurt, the message added.

Naval Base on Fire.

LONDON, Mar. 8 (United Press) — The Japanese naval base at Maizura and the villages of Myaruch, Yamadaka, and Yach were in flames after yesterday's earthquake, the Tokio correspondent of the Daily Express reports to-day.

Estimates Vary.

TOKIO, March 8 (Canadian Press).—Estimates of the number dead in the earthquake which shook Central Japan last evening range from eight hundred down to one hundred, but the authorities, still without exact information this morning, declared the larger figures were greatly exaggerated. So far as known by the Home Office, four persons were killed and sixty-seven injured, while two towns were completely destroyed.

Refugees Seek Shelter.

TOKIO, March 8 (Canadian Press).—Refugees from Mineyama are swarming to the snow-covered railway lines in the hope of transportation to some place where they can find food and shelter. Other small towns in the Tango district are suffering similarly. Osaka and Kobe are quiet and business is proceeding as usual.

Latest Estimate High.

TOKIO, March 8 (United Press) —A staff member of Nippon Dempo, the Japan telegraphs agency, telegraphed to-day from Miyazu that approximately 1,600 persons have been killed in the Maritime Provinces by Monday's earthquake. It is estimated that 6,500 houses had been demolished by the 'quake and that 2,000 houses had been destroyed by fire in the Maritime area.

The Nippon Dempo correspondent visited several cities in the area in compiling his figures.

Japanese sailors were busy with rescue and relief work. Most transit was impossible, the despatch from Miyazu said, the roads having been badly damaged by the 'quake. Railroads to-day were moving relief supplies without charge.

The cat was the symbol of liberty in ancient Rome.

Ski riding at 90 miles an hour, the skiers being drawn by motor cycles, is popular at some Canadian resorts.

A very pleasant time was spent on Monday last at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ferguson, R.R. No. 3, when sixty-five of their friends gathered to bid them farewell on the eve of their departure from Smith Township. A complimentary address, referring in glowing terms to the excellent neighborly qualities of Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson, and signed, on behalf of their community friends, by S. Prophet, J. A. Middleton and F. Cann, was read by Miss Little, and was accompanied by the presentation of a trap of silver, the presentation being made by Miss M. Prophet. Mr. Ferguson, in the name of his wife and family, thanked his visitors heartily and the evening was concluded with games and dancing, music being supplied by Messrs. Scott and Robinson.

Don't Be Skinny

Gain Pounds of Weight in 3 Weeks with Yeast and Iron— or pay nothing

It seems incredible how fast IRONIZED YEAST adds pounds of good firm flesh—on women and men, children and old people. Doctors know the value of vegetable iron and yeast in building up and improving the body. IRONIZED YEAST, in a highly concentrated form, contains all the blood building properties of vegetable iron with yeast. It is nine times more effective than a cake of ordinary baker's yeast of iron alone

IRONIZED YEAST gives you all the weight-building benefits contained in cod liver oil.

New Complexion For You

People ask — what is the magic in IRONIZED YEAST that transforms sallow, lifeless, faded complexions into the fresh, smooth, lovely skin of early girlhood? Wrinkles disappear. Hollows fill out. No wonder thousands of women pour in letters to us in praise of the marvelous, youthifying effects of IRONIZED YEAST!

Yet the answer is simple. Vegetable iron and yeast have been used for years to vitalize the body; to make rich, healthy blood; to improve digestion and bowel action and add weight. In IRONIZED YEAST these two valuable elements are combined in a special formula that is nine times stronger than yeast and iron used separately. That's why IRONIZED YEAST works so quickly. 60 tasty tablets to a package. No nasty, pasty taste. —Safe to take—contains no harmful drugs.

SAINT and SINNER

By ANNE AUSTIN

Under the grimly watchful, but sympathetic eyes of four policemen and a woman police officer, Faith took Cherry into her arms and kissed her, then began gently to remove the girl's hat and coat, while her eyes devoured the beloved little face that had changed so tragically since Thanksgiving Day.

Faith knew instantly that there would be no "scene." Cherry had done for weeping and her self-castigation in the bitter loneliness of a prison cell. The Cherry who had come to see her mother for the last time was a Cherry whom her mother would hardly have recognized, if her dead eyes could have opened to exchange with her best beloved child that look of farewell.

"Will you let me see her now, Faith, before the service begins?"

Faith nodded, her throat too tight with tears to permit her to speak. The two sisters, their hands tightly locked together, passed from the living room, through the shabby old dining room, into the narrow little hall and on into the bedroom where Mrs. Lane lay in her coffin. They were followed to the very door of the death chamber by the officers of the law, their shoes squeaking in the funeral hush that hung over the whole house. Faith had an almost uncontrollable desire to close the door in their faces, to insist upon Cherry's right to see her mother alone. But a glance at Cherry's still, pale face told her that the prisoner was unaware of surveillance.

Jim Lane rose from his chair by his wife's coffin and without a word put his arms about his daughter. Cherry returned his kiss, then, with her small tight mouth working pitifully, she stepped softly to the coffin and looked upon her mother's face. Jim Lane and Faith turned their backs upon her, and the four policemen, grouped in the doorway, followed their example, their heavy, grim faces flushed with embarrassment.

But if they had all been looking they would have seen nothing but a small, rigid figure, standing above a coffin. They could not have seen that Cherry's small hands seemed to be bursting through the thin, satin-smooth skin. They could not have heard the message which she whispered to that serene, still face which was so ennobled and beautified in death. A small army of reporters and feature writers would have given almost anything they possessed to hear that broken, childish whisper, but no one, not even Faith, knew what the "accused murderess" whispered to the mother who had been killed by the news of her daughter's indictment:

"I didn't do it, Muggy. I've been a bad girl, Muggy, but I didn't kill Mr. Cluny. Oh, Muggy, Muggy, I loved you and I need you now and you've gone away."

Two tears fell from her wide, golden eyes to the still face on the satin pillow of the coffin. But when Cherry at last turned away, to face her family and the officers of the law, her eyes were dry again, her head held high and proud.

"I want to go back now, Faith," she said clearly, and with scarcely a tremor of her voice.

Two automobiles were needed to carry the mass of flowers which had come from friends and strangers to testify sympathy with the Lane family in their bereavement.

"People are kind," Faith murmured to Bob, as the undertaker's assistants piled the hundreds of wreaths and bouquets into the waiting automobiles. "They are trying to tell us that they believe in Cherry. But Mother would have been pleased if she could have known she was to receive so many flowers."

The official funeral party was made up of members of the family only, except for Bob Hathaway, who would become one of the family upon his marriage with Faith. But the unofficial funeral train, which was more than half a mile long, was composed of hundreds of cars, filled with morbid sensation-seekers, and with reporters and cameramen. The Lanes tried to ignore that long line of cars, to achieve some small measure of privacy in their grief. A squad of policemen, ordered by Chief Morehouse to protect the family from annoyance, kept the crowds at bay at the gates of the cemetary, but at least a dozen reporters and two photographers slipped past the officers, who made little or no effort to detain them, and watched the final services almost at the elbows of the mourners.

The last rites over the body of Martha Lane were read by the Methodist minister who had "officiated" at the brief services at the Myrtle Street house. Faith shut her eyes, leaning heavily on Bob's arm, while her left hand gripped her father's hot, gnarled old fingers. She tried, with all her will-power, to disassociate the beautiful words of the burial service from the unctuous, professionally comforting voice of the fat old preacher who uttered them.

"I am the Resurrection and the Life, saith the Lord—"

If only she could believe that her mother was free of her body somewhere, gloriously well—free, free, and looking down upon them with infinite wisdom and loving understanding—

"O teach us to number our days that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom—"

But her mother was dead, dead, and Cherry was in prison, charged with a terrible crime, and she was left to carry the burden of the family and somehow, oh, God, somehow, somehow to save Cherry! Her ears strained again to catch a word of comfort from the deeply intoned, solemn words of the changeless, deathless ritual—

"For as much as it hath pleased Almighty God in His Providence to take out of the world the soul of our deceased sister—"

Deceased! The word was like a sharp knife turning in her heart. The mother whom she could remember as a strong, cheerful, willing worker, singing about the house, scolding and praising three troublesome little children—herself, Junior and an adorable little elf called Cherry—deceased! No, no, she had escaped from pain and sorrow and the disgrace of Cherry's trial for murder. Suddenly Faith knew that she was glad that her mother was dead. If only she could have died without knowing that the most dreadful of calamities had overtaken the child she had adored above everything else on earth or in heaven—

"The Grace of our Lord Jesus Christ and the Love of God and the Fellowship of the Holy Ghost be with us all, evermore. Amen."

Faith opened her eyes, which had been streaming tears unheeded, and forced herself to watch them lower the coffin into the grave. When the first lumps of frozen earth clumped heavily upon the box, Joy, with a wild shriek of realization and despair, flung off her father's comforting arm and ran, before anyone could stop her, to the very brink of the grave.

"Mummy, Mummy! I want to go with you!" Joy's shrill voice rose and cracked on such agony as Faith had not dreamed the child was capable of.

It was Faith who reached her first, took the writhing, convulsed little body into her arms. "I'm going to be your Mummy now, darling. I'll be good to you, Joy."

TOMORROW: Cherry is arraigned on the charge of murder and her case set for trial.

MARTYR TO PAIN FOR 16 YEARS

Finds relief after spending much money in vain

After spending a great deal of money on medicines without results, a woman who had suffered from a long-standing case of rheumatism, got quick and complete relief by a simple home treatment.

"I have suffered from rheumatism for 16 years and I have spent a great deal of money in trying to get something which would ease the pain," she writes. "I am grateful to say that in Sloan's Liniment I have found instant relief."

Sloan's helps when other remedies fail because Sloan's doesn't just deaden the nerves. It stirs up the bodily forces to throw off the poisons that are causing the pain. Then relief comes as a natural consequence.

So easy, pleasant and clean to use, too. You don't even have to rub it in. Just apply gently, and the medicine brings the relief.

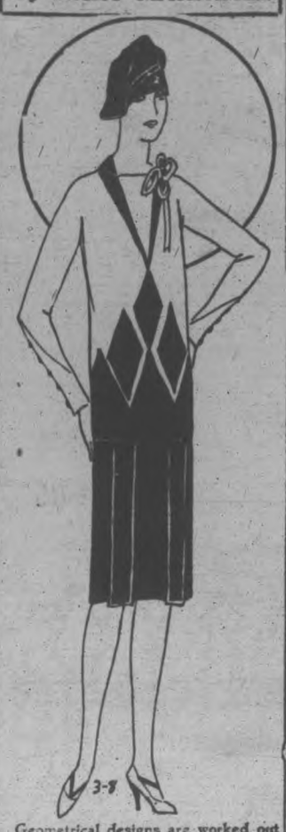
DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL



Geometrical designs are worked out by using dull and glossy side of the navy blue crepe.

That a dressmaker should be a geometrician was the opinion expressed a year or so ago by Madeleine Vionnet, head of the well-known French dressmaking house that bears her name. She further expressed her opinion that "the human body makes geometrical figures to which the materials should correspond." One who has made a study of the work of this celebrated designer says that: "Underlying the mysteries of her creations are the soundest mathematical principles, wherein triangles, squares, circles and every geometrical figure are employed in the adaptation of the gown to the human form."

To some of us this relationship between geometry and dressmaking is not so easy to see—and surely a dressmaker must possess something more than a mere knowledge of the mathematical sciences. Still the application of geometrical figures to designing is no longer a novel idea and this spring we shall all see—and most of us wear—frocks in which triangles, parallelograms, circles, squares and other Euclidian figures are clearly discernible.

Geometrical figures have, of course, been made use of for ages in the making of figured materials, but for the most part these figures have been employed without any special relationship to the bodies which they covered. In the new geometrical frocks plain material is cut up and worked together again to make the desired figures that have a definite relationship to the proportion of the figure. Double-faced fabrics are frequently employed—crepe satin with a dull side being especially well liked.

Very charming results may be gained when these geometrical principles are carried out by a good dressmaker, but conversely very trying results may be gained when the poor dressmaker tries to make use of geometry. There are combinations of lines and angles and curves that enhance the natural charm of the figure and minimize individual faults in outline, and there are combinations of these figures that distort the figure and accentuate individual shortcomings.

FOR WEDNESDAY, MARCH 9, 1927

Astrologers read this as an exceedingly threatening day in which it is well to conduct all important affairs with the utmost care.

Mars is read as in a most threatening aspect, which makes for grave uncertainties regarding the future.

Wars and rumors of wars will be numerous and may surprises are in store for the United States, it is foretold.

The Pacific coast, which is subject to a rule indicating much activity in trade and commerce, will focus much national interest, it is foretold.

Trouble with workers in more than one nation is prognosticated, for the results of Bolshevist propaganda are far-reaching, the seers declare.

Under this sway of the stars the counsel of older persons and conservative political leaders may not be heeded, astrologers warn, and for that reason there should be no sudden opinions formed or policies advocated.

Interest in all the arts is to increase in America, which has the forecast of immense achievement in drama and music.

Saturn is in a place disturbing to Italy, Austria and Czecho-slovakia. The summer is to be a time of extreme excitement, it is prognosticated.

Mars will disturb this country later in the spring when international problems wil be numerous.

President Coolidge comes under a sway making for access in fame and increased confidence in his wise policies.

While world disturbances are taking place there is peril of much agitation on the part of individuals and it will be wise to control the temper and to cultivate poise.

Again middle-aged and even aged men and women will be peculiarly susceptible to romance and they should beware of foolish love affairs.

Persons whose birthdate it is should keep themselves in their regular routines of work in the coming year.

Children born on this day may be quick-tempered and generally emotional. They should be taught self-control.

Was Nearly Crazy With Boils All Over His Body

Mr. S. L. Burke, Barronsfield, N.S., writes:—"For some time I was nearly crazy with boils all over my body. I tried everything I could think of to get rid of them, but to no avail, for as soon as one was healed up another would appear to take its place.

I was advised to take

and after I had used two bottles the boils had all disappeared and I have not been troubled with them since."

Topic for the Week: "MAN IS A SPIRIT"

Tuesday

"Material Things are Secondary"

SCRIPTURE: Read—Mark 8:31-38. "For what shall it profit a man if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his soul?" (Mk. 8:36). "Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God" (Mt. 4:4). "Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon the earth, where moth and rust consume, and where thieves break through and steal: but lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth consume, and where thieves do not break through nor steal" (Mt. 6:18, 19).

See—Luke 12:15; Philippians 3:7, 8; II Peter 1:6, 7.

MEDITATION: We are eager for things. This is but the natural expression of our acquisitive instincts. From the standpoint of the spirit, however, things may be dangerous. To be wholly absorbed in seeking possessions is to lose one's osul. On the other hand, things have high uses. It is for the spirit to use things in the pursuit of high aims. The secret of spiritual attainment is always to consider material things secondary to the spirit. Lenten self-denial is but exercise in the art of making material things minister to the spirit.

"Nature is the parent of our flesh, but the Divine is the Father of our Spirits."

HYMN:

O Master, let me walk with Thee
In lowly paths of service free,
Tell me Thy secret, help me bear
The strain of toil, the fret of care.

Teach me Thy patience; still with Thee
Incloser, dearer company,
In work that keeps faith sweet and strong,
In trust that triumphs over wrong.

In hope that sends a shining ray
Far down the future's broadening way,—
In peace that only Thou canst give,—
With Thee, O Master, let me live.
—Washington Gladden, 1879.

PRAYER: Thanks for the privilege of prayer.

Pray for—deliverance from self-centered life; the sick.

Collect—Lord of all truth, whose mind is quick and powerful, we praise Thee for the universe, so vast, so orderly, so dependable. We bless Thee for the persons of men and the powers of friendship in them and us, but yet more for friendship with Thyself, for fellowship with Thy Son, and for Thy pervading presence with us in the Holy Spirit. Precious are the moments of intimate intercourse with Thee. Reprove us, we entreat Thee, for the pursuit of things to the forgetting of friendships, human and divine. Give us the discriminating mind which detects the subtleties of sin and the beauty of holiness. So shall we know victory in the conflict. Therefore we covenant with Thee to put first things first by the grace of Christ. Amen.

EUROPEAN STATESMEN GATHER FOR LEAGUE SESSION AT GENEVA PRIVATE CONFERENCES ARE HELD

Foreign Ministers Of Five P' Powers Holding Council.

FRIENDLY CALLS.

No Acute Problems Are Up For Immediate Solution.

GENEVA, March 8.— Foreign Ministers of the five outstanding European powers arrived at Geneva Sunday to participate in the deliberations of the Council of the League of Nations, which meets this week under the Presidency of Dr. Gustav Stresemann of Germany.

On the agenda of the meeting there is no question, the immediate solution of which is essential to the maintenance of Peace of Europe and a rainy Sunday was given over to discussion by the directors of the foreign policies of four of the states, preliminary to clearing away clouds which are not yet black enough for League action but which nevertheless present a potential menace to the good relations of European countries. Sir Austen Chamberlain of Britain and Aristide Briand met at Paris and came to Geneva together, and it is to be supposed that they touched on a number of question in which they are mutually interested. These include the Saar, the Rhineland, China, Russia, Tangier, even perhaps Italy.

Sunday afternoon M. Briand received Dr. Stresemann, and during a long conversation the German Foreign Minister tried to undo the damage done by Count Westarp last week. Dr. Stresemann declared the situation exaggerated and that there is no danger to their work.

Dr. Stresemann then called on Chamberlain. In the meantime, M. Zaleski, the Polish Foreign Minister, went to the Hotel des Bergues to see M. Briand to talk over the mutual interests, and in the evening the Polish Minister dined with Chamberlain.

Three Important Problems

Only three important questions are on the Council's agenda. First is the Saar. Here the Council must consider the establishment of an international military force to safeguard the railroads—a plan which ermany and the Saar bitterly oppose—and the election of a new President of the Saar governing body, a task made difficult by the pretentions of the Saar element to the Presidency of the commission.

Secondly the Council must consider the German protest on the Polish interpretation of the minorities treaties regarding schools. Germany claims that Poland is preventing the children of the German minority from enrolling in German language schools and Poland is asking the Council to adopt a system which will prevent children of the Polish tongue from entering these schools. To the observer it appears difficult to champion the Polish cause as it appears that the best way to determine if a child is a minority subject is by asking the parents, as the Germans contend.

The third question is one which M. Titulescо will present. The Rumanian Minister to London is asked to explain to the Council why the Rumanian Government will not accept the decision of the Hungarian-Rumanian mixed arbitral tribunal that it is competent to deal with the question of Rumanian seizures of the properties of Hungarian optants under the agrarian laws of the country.

Earlier Arbitration Failed

"In 1923 the Council considered the question and on its suggestion the Rumanian Government sent representatives to Brussels to sit with Mineichiro Adachi, the Japanese Minister to Belgium. There an agreement was initiated, but several weeks later the Hungarian Government repudiated the action of its representative and declared that the agreement was non-existent.

The Council then adopted a resolution hoping that these Governments would not make the decision a source of international discord.

It is the Rumanian contention that under the Treaty of Versailles the jurisdiction of the mixed tribunal extends only to the settlement of questions under civil law, not to interpretations involving the sovereignty of nations.

No Chinese question is written on the agenda and it is hoped by all the Council members that the Chinese Minister, Chu Chao-hsin, will not suddenly open that delicate problem before the Council, as he had already paved the way for doing by presenting to Sir Eric Drummond the Peking protest against the British troops landing at Shanghai as an infraction of Article X. of the League covenant.

There is every reason to believe that Chu will behave, but Chu is largely inspired by incidents and also by Cantonese students, who in the capacity of self-appointed Ambassadors attend all Council meetings.

FEDERAL PRISONS FULL

WASHINGTON, March 7.—The number of inmates of federal prisons has doubled since 1919, according to a report of the Department of Justice. Of the 8750 prisoners last June, 1837 were held for violations of the Volstead act. About 6500 prisoners also are held in county jails in different parts of the country, awaiting trial or accomodations at the federal institutions.

Five hundred tons of American horseshoes were applied to horses in foreign countries last year.

A Public Question

The Examiner, interested, as always, in the civic welfare, and eager to serve the public good; feels itself justified in offering the people of Peterborough an opportunity to express themselves on the issue raised by R. R. Hall, K.C.

There is no doubt but that the operation of the street railway and the other utilities are vital questions to every citizen, and by ascertaining the public mind on this matter, The Examiner believes that it will be rendering a public service.

Citizens are requested to signify on the appended form their opinion as to whether a public meeting should be held, at which they will have an opportunity to discuss these vital matters. The forms can be mailed, or dropped in The Examiner letter-box, addressed to "The Editor, The Examiner."

To the Editor of The Examiner:

I am in favor of a public meeting at which citizens can discuss ways in which to keep the street railway running, to reduce the gas prices, to reduce power prices, and to assure the city of a supply of power that will keep pace with industrial development.

HEALTH IS WON BY C.P.R. MAN

Threatened With Permanent Breakdown Due to Stomach and Bowel Trouble, Henri Brunelle Finds a Priceless Remedy in Tanlac.

"With a big family to support, I found myself facing a breakdown," says Henri Brunelle, a respected C.P.R. employee, living at 2078 Cartier Street, Montreal.

"For about two years before taking Tanlac, I suffered from indigestion, gas and cramping sensation. I was very nervous, easily tired and could not get restful sleep. I became almost a shadow of my former self.

"I doctored a great deal without relief, then tried Tanlac. Now my appetite is wonderful. I eat anything and have actually put on 38 pounds in weight. The stomach pains have disappeared, I sleep well and enjoy the best of health. I am sure it will prove a boon to others and I gladly recommend Tanlac."

Nature's own remedy made from roots, barks and herbs, helps drive out pain, restores appetite and builds health. Take this wonderful tonic, Tanlac. Ask your druggist for a bottle today.

TALK ON HEALTH GIVEN IN SCHOOL

Nursing and First Aid Instructor Addresses Warsaw Pupils.

WARSAW NEWS

WARSAW, March 8.—On Tuesday forenoon, Miss Alexander visited the Warsaw school; she talked to the children about their health and diet, and warned them against eating strong and rich food. If they eat pie or cake or too much sweet stuff or meat, they are not so strong and their brains become dull. They do not, because they cannot, study so well. Simple food, a quart of milk a day, bread and butter, porridge, fresh fruit, especially apples and vegetables, would keep them healthy and strong. Lots of good cold water should be taken. The body should be clean. She instanced George Young. He had led a very simple life. His mother could get him no luxuries.

To impress the need of cleaning the teeth she told of the Indians, who cannot eat the food the gods give without unclean mouths, nor can they thank the gods for that food with unclean mouths.

Early to bed was another strong point. No late parties, for they undermine physical, mental and moral strength.

Class Growing

The Nursing and First Aid class is growing. There are now over fifty attending, young girls and grey-haired grandmothers. Anyone who comes once is sure to come again and yet again.

On Tuesday evening there was a demonstration in bandaging, and first aid, in case of a fractured leg. The members of the class were asked to bring the men of the house. Also there was a demonstration by two girls of the class, of putting a patient into bed, and then arranging nine pillows, one of them as a brace, in such a way that a patient could be kept perfectly comfortable and even turn to either side with no slipping. The doctor was the supposed patient. The bed chair is a most useful contrivance, invented by Miss Alexander while in India. She also gave one of her interesting and instructive talks and the two hours simply flew by.

The class was so earnest, and desirous of more that Miss Alexander succeeded in getting Mr. Putman to postpone her next engagement and remain another two weeks.

Some time during the next two weeks she will give a missionary talk in the Town Hall.

New members may join the class at any time and they will get the full worth of the small fee if they attend only once.

The Council, giving the use of the Town Hall absolutely free, has helped carry on the class.

Mrs. Archer (nee Margaret Clifford) is visiting her old home, called here by the serious illness of her father.

Mrs. Barnett of Fenelon Falls is visiting Mrs. George Armstrong.

Mr. Fred Payne spent a few days with his sister, Mrs. Joe Miles. Mr. Payne walked from Peterboro on Monday as the stage could not get out on Monday.

Those who have radios appreciated them, as it was the only way the general news came in.

While the family were absent, some one stole Lorn Lonsberry's foxes. The window was broken, with the glass on the inside and the foxes gone.

EXCESS FAT IS NOT SO COMMON

Not nearly so common as it was. One great reason is Marmola Prescription Tablets. It reduces fat by correcting the gland cause, without abnormal exercise or diet. It is the modern, scientific way. Marmola has been used for 19 years. The results are seen in every circle. And the use has grown to very large proportions, because the way is so easy, so pleasant, so helpful, so efficient. You will be surprised and delighted.

All druggists supply Marmola at $1 a box. Each box contains a pamphlet to explain the reasons for results. Go get it now.

WEARS NO MAN'S TIE.

LAVLEDE, Me., March 7.—An already-tied bow on an elastic band was the only kind of necktie that E. N. Rawlinson would consent to wear. When his wife was dressing for a party, she hung one of her fancy garters on her husband's dresser. He, supposing it was one of the new fangled ties he had received for Christmas, wore it to the party. During the card games, Mrs. Rawlinson discovered her husband, center of a giggling circle, with a blue elastic garter frilled with pink reposing on his Adam's apple.

SALTING THE SEA.

NEW YORK, March 7.—Carrying coals to Newcastle was just as logical as the action of the vessel John Hamlen, which limped into port after spilling 100 tons of salt through a hole in its keel. The leak developed near the end of the cruise from the West Indies, and attempts to check it resulted in failure. A coast guard cutter towed the ship to port.

TAKING CENSUS OF FERRY USERS

Knowledge of Extent of Use Between Rochester and Cobourg Sought.

FOR AUTOMOBILES

Added interest is being shown in the proposal, made consistently since 1917, to establish a convenient automobile ferry service from Rochester to Cobourg. The Peterborough Chamber of Commerce, the Peterborough Automobile Club, and the Trent Waterway Development Association have devoted much time and thought involving considerable expense in connection with ferry transportation across Lake Ontario at the above points. In 1922 the situation was thoroughly canvassed, deputations waited upon those in power, both in Ottawa and in Rochester, but up to the present in spite of consistent annual and bi-annual agitations, no tangible results has rewarded their efforts of local or provincial organizations.

It is now felt, however, that something will be done this coming summer, especially in view of the fact that private companies and even individuals have signified willingness to take part in a business venture of this type.

Harry Field of Cobourg and W. M. Fowlds, President, Trent Waterway Development Association, Peterborough, presented a resolution at the annual meeting of the Tourist Association of Ontario which culminated in an interview by a special committee with Captain Nicholson of the Ontario Car Ferry Company.

The difficulties encountered in creating the proposed service were mainly two: the inconvenient approach for automobiles to the dock at Charlotte (Rochester), and the lack of definite knowledge as to the extent to which the service might be used.

Four propositions were considered, two of which might prove acceptable to the transportation companies:—

(a) Reconstruction of old road to dock.
(b) Planking of railway tracks with signal system for regulating movement over railway by automobiles.
(c) Construction of elevator to accommodate two automobiles.
(d) Utilizing flat cars for automobiles to be loaded and unloaded at convenient places at ports by the use of ramps.

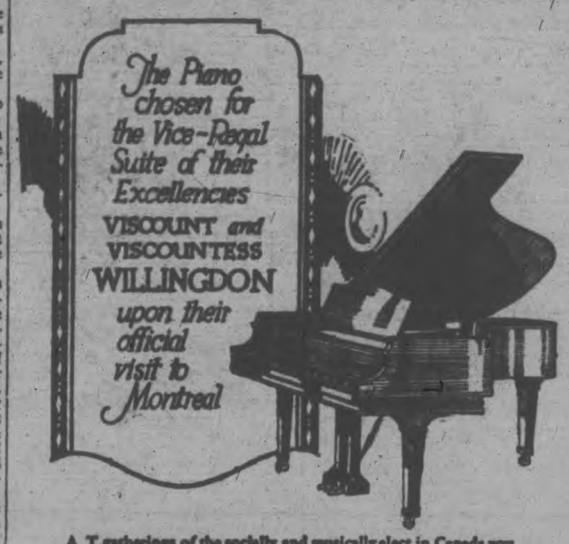
So that some idea may be gained as to the probable use by Ontario motorists of this ferry service when en route to the United States, the Trent Waterway Development Association is recording before March 15th, the number of motorists who would at some time or other avail themselves of this service. In notifying the Trent Waterway Development Association the informant is not obligated in any way to use the service, but the information so secured from the District will be tabulated and forwarded to the Provincial Association.

It is suggested that the average rate for all automobiles would be Ten Dollars ($10.00), to which would be added the personal fare of those travelling.

While the information is being tabulated on the Ontario side, action is being taken to procure similar information from the American side.

The co-operation of the motorists in informing the Trent Waterway Development Association will assist materially in expediting what is considered to be a necessary ferry service and will place this central southern Ontario district within a few hours of millions of tourists in the United States, eagerly anxious to visit and construct summer homes in our attractive lake districts.

The establishment of this service will add another port of entry for the tourists and will assist in eliminating the congestion apparent each year at the ports on the Niagara and St. Lawrence rivers



At gatherings of the socially and musically elect in Canada you will invariably find a Heintzman & Co. Piano. This was again strikingly brought out during the official visit to Montreal of their Excellencies Viscount and Viscountess Willingdon, when their suite was furnished with this wonderful piano

Today's Best is never good enough for tomorrow

YOU would expect great things of a staff of famous automotive engineers headed by one generally acknowledged as the greatest. . . .

Constantly at work in the finest automotive research laboratories in the world. . . .

Experimenting, testing and retesting always with the object of discovering or developing new sources of satisfaction and enjoyment for the motoring public.

You would look to General Motors with this talent and these facilities at its command, to anticipate the requirements of the motoring public by putting into its cars in every price class the utmost in performance, in comfort and convenience—and in value!

And the ever-increasing popularity of General Motors cars imposes upon General Motors a definite responsibility to see that the policy is maintained—gives conclusive evidence that the results you would expect are being achieved. . . .

That this constantly growing tendency to select a General Motors car may reflect a steadily widening margin of advantages in the cars themselves. . . .

That General Motors Research will always be dedicated to the proposition that "Today's best is never good enough for tomorrow".

Twelve Regulars Still Absent From Yankee Training Camp

'NK PLAYERS 'REPORTED N WAY SOUTH

Among Missing Only Ruth and Hoyt Have Signed Contracts.

PENNOCK HOLDS OUT

Are Expected to Report This Week for Spring Workout.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 8.—According to the best information obtainable here several of the men, who battled for the American League pennant last year, are now converging on this city of sunshine to begin taking their 1927 orders from Miller Huggins. How many are on their way, or "who all are coming" as they express it down here, this correspondent knoweth not.

Perhaps it would be more in order to name the absentees and then follow with what information, if any, there may be at hand.

Going over the list of batterymen one finds that Senor Pat Collins and Benny Bengough of the catching squad, and Pitchers Herb Pennock, Waite Hoyt and Urban Shocker, veterans of the mound, are not among those present. The absent infielders are Tony Lazzeri, Mark Koenig and Joe Dugan, while the wide open space, known as the outfield at the Yankee Park, has yet to feel the tread of Babe Ruth, Bob Meusel, Earle Coombe or Ben Paschal.

Count 'em—an even dozen—count 'em.

Not All Hold-Outs.

Not that all of these are hold-outs, nor has any one of them failed as yet to follow reporting orders. They are mentioned only in the light of absentees who are due soon and whose status, for the most part, remains in doubt. By another forty-eight hours the players who still survive in the battle for extra centuries will be easily distinguished.

Miller Huggins says he does not know what players may be expected and who may be classed as hold-outs.

"I have not been bothering about that angle," says Hug, "and I will not know until they reach here."

That sounds a little like applesauce, but it is given as Mr. Huggins expressed himself. He will know soon, for this is reporting day for the players known as regulars.

Of the absentees Hoyt was included in the list of contract signers given out in New York three weeks ago. Ruth has accepted terms for three years, as the world well knows. Ben Paschal agreed to terms before the first squad left New York, according to an announcement from Charlotte, N.C., where Ben is a big gas and auto man; in fact, the biggest man in Charlotte who owns a garage. Koenig, according to rumors in this camp, is also signed, but it is much easier to mention this rumor than to verify it.

Lazzeri on Way.

Lazzeri has been reported on his way here and the same story has been heard about Shocker. Whether either or both have signed their contracts deponent hath no way of knowing. However, if they are moving this way they will sign soon, as they are not coming here to retire from baseball. Write your own ticket on that.

Gradual elimination leaves only six players remaining in the great Yankee mystery soon to be cleared. Pennock and Bengough have been on the hold-out list and if either has changed his attitude the secret is being closely guarded. Dugan has insisted that he was not a hold-out but admitted that he had not signed a contract up to the day before the first squad left New York. As to Messrs. Meusel, Collins and Combs, you know as much about them as any of the war correspondents in this camp.

It can be reported, however, without any fear of contradiction, that twelve players are due here in time to work this week, and that two of these, Babe Ruth and Waite Hoyt, have signed.

You'd Be SURPRISED!

BY BILLY EVANS

Signals play a prominent part in baseball strategy.

One that wasn't at all appropriate for warm weather almost resulted in a tragedy years ago on the New York Americans.

At the time, "Kid" Elberfeld was managing the club and "Wid" Conroy was the star third sacker.

While the stunt has become rather obsolete of late years, the catching of a runner off third on a snap throw from the pitcher was not at all unusual in the old days.

Jack Warhop, then pitching for the Yankees, was a past master at making the play. Getting the signal from Conroy that he was going to cover, Warhop would count, say three, and then make a speedy throw to third.

At the opening of the season, it was decided that when an attempt would be made to pull the play, Conroy would pass his right hand over his forehead as the signal.

Everything went fine while the weather was cool. Early in June on a very warm day, the first man up tripled. Conroy, standing close to the bag, passed his hand over his forehead, not as a signal but to remove the perspiration.

Warhop cut loose a fast heave to third that struck the unsuspecting Conroy on the side of the head, bounding into left field and putting him down for the count.

As he recovered consciousness his first words were:

"That signal is out until fall and cold weather returns."

DATES ARE SET FOR YACHT RACES

Season for Lake Ontario Championships from July to Sept.

ROCHESTER, N.Y., March 8.—Dates of three international yacht races for the championship on Lake Ontario have been announced by Volney Lacey, secretary of the Rochester Yacht Club.

The competition for the George Cup for class R boats will be held July 27, 28 and 29, the place to be selected. The Douglas Cup, for the 15-foot class, will be raced in Toronto, Ont., on September 1 and 2.

The Emerson Cup races, team championship series, will be held at Rochester July 16 and 17.

The National Yacht Club of Toronto now holds the Douglas Cup, with Rochester Club as challenger. It is considered here as probable the George Cup races will be held at Henderson Harbor, where the Crescent Yacht Club, of Water town, as trustees, now holds the cup.

Other events for the yachting season on Lake Ontario are:

The annual Freeman Cup long distance race starting from Cobourg, Ont., August 1; the Lake Yacht Racing Association annual regatta at Kingston, Ont., August 4, 5 and 6; and the Canadian National Exhibition regatta at Toronto, September 3 and 10.

PLAY-OFF FOR MIDGET TROPHY

Winner to Meet Lakefield Team for Mayor Holloway Shield.

UNDER O.H.A. RULES

A meeting of the Midget Hockey League was held in the H.N.S. Rooms last night. The game for the R. M. Glover Cup will be played tonight, at 8 p.m., at the Brock Street Rink, under the O.H.A. rules; Kenenth Kane wil referee.

The second game will be played on Thursday night, the 10th March; the winner will meet the Lakefield team for the Mayor Holloway Shield.

A vote of thanks was proposed to Mr. R. M. Glover for his handsome trophy. Also to the executive of the H.N.S. Rooms for the use of them, and to The Examiner for the publicity of the games, etc.

RINKS DRAWN FOR LAKEFIELD BONSPIEL

Three Prizes Offered in Mercantile Bonspiel at Lakefield.

LAKEFIELD, March 8. — The following is the draw for the Mercantile Bonspiel, with two cases of oranges as first prize and four bushels of potatoes for the runners-up, with a booby prize of a dozen lemons:

G. Northey, Rev. J. J. Garvey, C. Waldon, C. S. Tanner, skip.

W. A. Payne, R. J. Charlton, S. J. Charlton, J. Millar, skip.

Rev. T. M. Wesley, Rev. S. A. Kemp, D. H. Webster, N. Payne, skip.

E. S. Kelsey, H. W. Leonard, Dr. G. E. Renwick, G. A. Charlton, skip.

J. Madill, F. S. Brown, H. Wannamaker, W. Watson, skip.

C. H. Hunter, M. P. Coughlin, J. M. Simpson, B. Q. Dench, skip.

W. W. Yale, J. A. Porter, J. R. Hill, J. W. Ridpath, skip.

H. G. FitzGerald, D. FitzGerald, C. Lake, G. H. Spence, skip.

Dr. Lingwood, N. A. Moore, E. W. Bailey, J. H. Payne, skip.

—, N. J. Sutton, A. G. Lawless, J. E. Galvin, skip.

F. Wannamaker, E Watson, C. Murduff, T. Braden, skip.

G. Davey, W. J. Charlton, H. R. Wagar, F. Spence, skip.

W. Robinson, E. H. Northey, E. A. Tanner, J. J. McFadden, skip.

S. Spence, J. Knox, R. J. Jory, D. H. Charlton, skip.

J. R. Northey, G. A. Welbourne, H. C. Armstrong, T. Crawford.

With the local silver trophies won, the curlers are now settled down to the Mercantile Bonspiel, and if the ice holds for a few nights it will be carried through. Last year a second stone bonspiel was held at the close of the season, and it may be repeated this year.

This year has been fairly successful, and the club membership has remained good, several new curlers have joined up, and are enthusiastic over the game. No open bonspiel was held this year, as the attendance from outside points did not justify it this year.

Sports Night.

Tuesday evening, March 15, is sports night at the rink, and the committee in charge has arranged a splendid programme of sports, races, etc. If the ice is keen there will doubtless be a large list of entries and also a bumper crowd. Skating races are always popular in the village. Several novelties are on this season's programme.

Hockey Finals.

The hockey finals in the District League will be played on Tuesday evening between the Colts and the Juniors. The first game of the series, played on Friday evening, resulted in a tie, so the interest is keen for to-night's game, and present conditions indicate overtime play and a bumper house. The trophy in question is a handsome silver cup presented by Mr. W. H. Casement to encourage local sport. The Kennedy cup for individual sportsmanship will be presented to-night also. This trophy presented last year by Dr. M. P. Kennedy was won last year by Gordon Hill of Bobcaygeon.

Junior Hockey.

The younger boys are having many informal games played on Saturdays and after school, and there is as keen rivalry in these games as in older sporting circles, and why not? These are the teams are the future O.H.A. material, and may some day play stellar parts in the hockey world.

When next year's schedule is made up, perhaps a junior league could be found to play for the junior cup and a midget league could also be organized. Hockey is our national game, and there are very few youngsters who don't belong to a team, and there is a decided pride of team among them which will be an asset to them in the future.

HOCKEY RESULTS.

The results of hockey games played last night were as follows:

Allan Cup Eliminations

xVarsity Grads 2, London 12th By. 0

xVarsity Grads win round, 6-3.

Fort William 1, Winnipeg 0.

Senior Intercollegiate Final

xVarsity 4, McGill 0.

MENIE DEFEAT HYDRO 5 TO 2

Tilt Brings Campbellford Town League Schedule to a Close.

TIGERS WIN

CAMPBELLFORD, March 8. — Menie and the Hydro brought the town league schedule to a close at Covert's Arena on Friday night, and the Country Boys turned in another good game to win 5 to 2.

In the last half of the second period, and the first half of the third, Menie were all over the Hydro, and it was then that they bagged their 5 markers, Kerr getting three and Lynn and Rannie one each; during the rest of the game the play was very even with both goalers performing in brilliant fashion.

Referee Holmes was struck on the knee with the puck and had to leave the ice, and to add comedy to the battle Keller, a Hydro sub injected into the play in the dying moments grabbed the puck at the Menie blue line, and set sail for his own goal, while the crowd cheered and the players wondered what it was all about.

The Tigers defeated the Elks 3 to 1 and looked all over the better team. They were in close for shots many times, while the Elks seldom go past the blue line. The two teams have one more game to finish the schedule and if the Elks win they will tie up the series.

Midget.	Won.	Lost.	Tied.	Points.
Tigers	6	4	1	13
Elks	4	4	3	11
Bear Cats	4	6	2	10

Leads in Goal Scores.

Jack Cowell of the Hyd led the goal scorers by a big margin, bagging 26 counters, or two more than the total score compiled by the Mill through the season. Th Hydro also lead in number of goals scored with 56; the Clerks are next with 49, Menie 30 and Mill 24.

Other scorers are: McArthur (Clerks), Johnst (Hydro), 14; Labrash (Clerks), 13; Wood Clerks), Kerr (Menie), 12; Ayrhart (Mill), 9; Rannie (Menie), Watt (Hydro), 8, Brown (Mill), Atkinson (Clerks) 5; Lynn (Menie), Lambert (Mill), Brunelle (Hydro), D. Runions (Clerks), Will (Mill), 3; Hay, Coulter, Shillinglaw (Menie), Leatty (Hydro), Cochrane (Mill), 2 each; Badgley; George Runions (Hydro), McMullen, Sloggett (Clerks.) Sarginson (Mill), 1 each.

Doug Runions of the Bear Cats leads the Midgets with 21. George Runions, Tigers, 13; Lambert, Elks, 12; Blute, Tigers, 10, Grills, Elks), 6, McPherson, Bear Cats, 5, Stocker, Tigers, 3 Henson, Bear Cats, Hendy, Elks, 1 each.

VARSITY GRADS PUT OUT LONDON

Defeat Intermediate Champions 2-0 in Second Game of Series.

TORONTO, March 8. — Varsity Grads were all out to defeat London 12th Battery 2 to 0 in the second game of their Allan Cup elimination series at the Arena Gardens last night before a crowd of 4,500. The victory gave the blue-clad team the round, 6 to 3, and they will now play the Quebec champions in the eastern semi-finals, the first game in Montreal to-morrow night, with the return fixture at the Arena Gardens on Friday.

The Gunners gave the O. H. A. Senior champions a real argument, and at times appeared just as good as their famous opponents. The teams went through a very fast first period without either side bulging the twine for a goal, and over ten minutes of the second had elapsed before Dave Trottier, on one of his corkscrew rushes, weaved his way to the cage with London players draped all over him, to beat Gordon, the puck not leaving the ice.

The Grads' second and last score came twenty seconds from the close of the game, Trottier again being the marksman. He crossed in front of the defence just at the blue line, and heaved in a high shot, the puck slipping in off Gordon's hand, to clinch the round by a three-goal margin and bring to a close an interesting and well-played series.

The victory was well earned, but the Grads had to play their best hockey to eliminate the Intermediate title-holders. They had the greater number of wide open chances to score, beating the London defence more consistently than their opponents were able to pierce the Porter-Taylor outer guard, but they found Gordon, in the Battery net, mighty difficulty to fan. Gordon gave a finished display, and was particularly good on close in shots.

OFFER DEMPSEY TWO MATCHES

Ex-Champion Offered Bouts With Winners of Elimination.

DURING SUMMER

NEW YORK, March 8.—The New York Times says that Tex Rickard has offered Jack Dempsey two matches for the coming summer if the former heavyweight champion desires to fight his way back to a return match with Gene Tunney, his conqueror last fall.

The promoter telegraphed Dempsey Saturday, explaining to him in detail the present heavyweight situation and offering him matches with the winners of the coming fights between Paulino Uzcudum and Tom Heeney, and Jack Sharkey and Jimmy Maloney. The Spanish heavyweight meets Heeney March 25 and Rickard plans to match the two Boston battlers this week.

Dempsey has not informed Rickard as yet of his intention to return to the ring.

SENIOR INTER-ALLEY LEAGUE

The second series of the Inter-Alley League finished on Saturday, with the exception of the postponed games still to be played between Water Street and the K. of C. at the latter series.

The close of the series found the Y.M.C.A. team led by Tom Curvin again at the top, followed by Water Street, captained by Harry Forler. The last two in the race were Duffus Alleys, captained by M. J. Duffus and the K. of C., captained by Lew. LeBarr (Jr.).

The winning of the second series gives the championship of this league as representing the city to the Y.M.C.A., who also won the first series. The averages of the second series which cannot be completed until the postponed game is bowled off, shows quite an increase in averages over the first series and shows some decidedly good bowling when it is considered that the games were bowled on four different alleys.

The standing of the teams by series is as follows:

1st Series—

	Games Won	Games Lost
Y.M.C.A.	14	4
Duffus	11	7
Water Street	8	10
K. of C.	3	15

2nd Series

	Points Won	Points Lost
Y.M.C.A.	20	4
Water Street	12	8
Duffus	7	17
K. of C.	5	15

Water Street and K. of C. three games yet to be played.

The Y. M. C. A., bowling in good form, took all three games from Water Street, who made the first two games very close, however. Nels Routley had a good high three of 806, made up of three nice singles of 312, 237 and 257. Shiner Johnson was next and had two nice singles of 270 and 271.

CURLING NEWS

AT KEENE

KEENE, March 7 — Advantage was taken of the colder weather to complete the final games in the Manley Cup and the Dr. Wake Shield of the local curling bonspiel. John Drummond's rink captured the Manley Cup by defeating Charlie Mather's rink 15 to 5. Drummond's rink was always in the lead but in the Dr. Walsh Shield competition it was different. M. McCarthy's rink was leading M. Kennealey by 11 to 4 at the tenth end but Kennealey got two fives and a one in the next four ends while McCarthy was getting two, thereby defeating McCarthy 15 to 13. H. Renwick's rink won the final Mystery inter-rink game, beating S. Comrie 13 to 7. This game was the 170th scheduled game in the Keene Curling Rink this winter on two ices besides games which were not scheduled.

NATIVES DIE IN REVOLT

SYDNEY, Australia, March 7.—Three miners were murdered several months ago in the Buolo district. When word reached here, a government punitive expedition was sent to punish those responsible for the murders. The action incited an open revolt of 500 natives, eight of whom were killed in the skirmish that occurred.

Never Let a Cold Get a Start

Vapors Check a Cold Overnight

There are many ways to treat a cold but only one DIRECT way—with vapors that can be inhaled.

Vapors penetrate immediately into every corner of the air passages and lungs, soothing and healing with every breath.

Vicks is so remarkably successful in treating cold troubles because it acts like a "vapor lamp in alve form."

When rubbed over throat and chest the body heat releases vapors of Menthol, Camphor, Eucalyptus, Thyme and Turpentine. At the same time Vicks is absorbed through and stimulates the skin like a poultice or plaster.

This double, direct action often checks the worst cold overnight.

PLAN MEMORIAL AT GREENWICH

Monument To General Wolfe To Be Erected This Year.

NEAR HIS GRAVE.

ST. JOHN, N.B., March 8. — A monument would be erected to the memory of General Wolfe at Greenwich, England, this coming summer by Canadians, it was announced here by Dr. W. J. Webster on his arrival on the Canadian Pacific steamer Montcalm. The movement to erect the memorial was started in 1919, the Royal Trust Company of Canada being the trustees. Sufficient funds have now come in to warrant the Trust Company in going ahead with the work, and a handsome bronze monument will be erected at Greenwich, where Wolfe is buried.

Mr. Webster, who is a member of the Monument and Historical Cites Commission, went to England to attend the bi-centenary celebration of Wolfe in London on January 3, the main feature of which was a dinner presided over by Lord Byng, and at which the Prince of Wales was the chief guest. Dr. Webster represented the Royal Society of Canada, the Canadian Historical Society, the Authors' Association, the New Brunswick Historical Society, the Nova Scotia Historical Society, and the Annapolis Royal Historical Society.

A burning question among those interested in the welfare of Canada, said Dr. Webster, was immigration. There was much talk as to how difficult it was to get machinery in motion to place immigrants in this country, and there was also much criticism of the length of time required and the severity of the tests made of proposed immigrants. Tribute was being paid by many to the good work of Hon. Peter Larkin in recovering debts due Canada from European nations, said the doctor.

TWO FAST GAMES TO-MORROW NIGHT

Two Y.W.C.A. Teams Play Before Kingston-Peterborough Encounter.

To-morrow night the people of this city will be treated to two basketball games, when the Y.W.C.A. Seniors play the Y. W. C. A. "All Stars" and the local O.A.B.A. juniors meet the Kingston boys in the second game of the home and home series for the championship of Eastern Ontario.

The local boys have a 17 point lead to overcome, but they are confident of winning the game and the series. On the Kingston floor they were rather lost, as it was much larger than the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium floor in this city.

The game will be very fast, as Kingston has a smooth working quintette and with the local boys on their own floor the fans should see one of the best basketball games of the season.

The ladies' game starts at 8.00 o'clock sharp on the Y.M.C.A. floor and the junior game will follow immediately afterwards. Tickets may be bought at the Y.M.C.A., where the reserve seat plan is. The price of admission is 50, 35 and 25 cents.

MURDER CHARGE LAID.

Married Man Accused of Shooting Woman Who Refused Friendship.

ALLENTOWN, Pa., March 8. — Canadian Press. — A charge of murder has been made against W. H. Fuenfstueck, 40, who confessed, according to the police, that he shot and killed, Miss Evelyn Hummel, 25, because the latter refused to continue their friendship after having learned that he had a wife and five children.

NEW REFINEMENTS IN 1927 STAR MODELS

Silent Chain Drive and Locomotive Brakes Among Features.

A number of refinements are noted in the new models of the Star Cars although the principle features which account for Star Car popularity and an increase of some 30 per cent. in sales during 1926 are retained.

These features include the Red Seal Continental "L"-head motor, the Morse Silent Chain Drive, full force feed lubrication. Thermostatic control of the cooling system—now on fours as well as sixes—locomotive type brakes, cold rivetted chassis frame and the universal accessibility of all parts which is of such importance in the cutting down of maintenance costs.

The New Star Sixes for 1927 have remote control door locks and it is noticed that the throttle and spark controls are on top of the steering wheels instead of underneath as heretofore.

New Steering Wheel.

The steering wheel itself is all made of black walnut, doing away with the aluminum spider and adding a new "quality" touch that is very pleasing. The steering assembly embraces what is know as the "fore and aft" principle—(i.e.) the connection between the axle and the steering gear runs parallel to the frame instead of across.

However important these changes may be, a very charming refinement is found with respect to the instrument board. This is possibly the first time to be noticed on entering the New Star Six models. The speedometer, oil guage and ammeter are located in a cluster and are illuminated by indirect lighting.

Walnut Finish.

The instrument board is all in walnut finish, in harmony with the garnish moulding around all doors and windows. All this ensures a very pretty effect and gives further ground for the claim that the New Star Car is the "aristocrat" of the low-price field.

Although previous models bore the earmark of quality, it is evident that no pains have been spared to make the new models just a little more distinguished, as to quality, than were their predecessors.

A new type of horn, and a combination tail and stop light, are added refinements for 1927. 1d.

WEDDING BELLS.

WOODS—RAE.

A quiet wedding took place in St. Paul's Presbyterian church on Tuesday, March 8th, when Stella, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Rae, of Peterboro, became the bride of Mr. Robert D. Woods of Toronto, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Woods, of Owen Sound. The ceremony was performed by Rev. William Allan.

The bride who wore a champagne Georgette crepe dress with hat and shoes to match, and carried a bouquet of orchids and lily of the valley, was attended by her sister, Marion Rae, wearing a blue crepe dress, with hat of the same shade, and carrying butterfly roses.

The bridegroom was attended by Mr. Norman Eliott.

The wedding march was played by the organist, Mr. M. B. Chonhall, and during the signing of the register, Miss Bertha Hill sang "All Joy be Thine."

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride. After a short honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Woods will reside in Toronto.

RECORDED IN TORONTO.

TORONTO, March 8. Canadian Press. — The earthquake which shook Japan Monday was well marked on the Seismograph of the Toronto Observatory, being about one quarter of the intensity of the great shock of 1923. OBITUARY.

DANIEL WEBSTER BLEWETT.

The death occurred this morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John A. Northey, North Smith, of Daniel Webster Blewett, aged 84 years.

The funeral announcement will be made later.

MAURICE J. CROWLEY.

The funeral of the late Maurice J. Crowley, who died on the 3rd inst., in an Ottawa hospital, after an operation, was held on Sunday afternoon at 2.30 from the residence of his sister, Mrs. Thomas J. McMurray, 185 King street, to St. Peter's Cathedral, and from there to St. Peter's cemetery.

The "Libera" was chanted by Rev. Father Finn, who also officiated at the cemetery. The funeral mass was celebrated on Monday morning at 8 o'clock by Rev. Father Costello.

The pall bearers were his brother, Charles, Leo and Thomas Tobin, cousins, and his brothers-in-law Felix Cournyea, Harry O'Rourke and Thos McMurray.

The surviving members of the family are one son, one brother and four sisters.

CHARLES BROWN

CAMPBELLFORD, March 8. — The death occurred on Friday night of Charles Brown in his 73rd year. Born in New York State in 1854, the late Mr. Brown migrated to Canada with his parents when he was three months old.

Forty-four years ago he came to Campbellford and engaged with the late Charles West as a brickmaker. When the brickmaking plant was discontinued, he continued in the employ of the late Mr. West at farming, and remained there till his death.

Surviving are four sons and one daughter: Hiram, Charles; John and Frank of town, and Minnie of Toronto, Ont.

The funeral took place yesterday. Service being conducted in the family residence by Rev. W. Elliott, and interment in Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

The pall-bearers were: Robert Innes, Richard McKelvie, Henry McKelvie, Duncan Thompson, Phillip Sloggett and George Elmhirst.

MRS. ISAAC BARLOW

HAVELOCK, March 8. — Early Thursday morning the Grim Reaper again visited Havelock and removed one of the best known residents in the person of Mrs. Isaac Barlow. Death was due to heart trouble and the deceased passed peacefully away at her home on Alexander Street after a few hours' illness.

The late Mrs. Barlow, whose maiden name was Janet Grey Muir, was seventy-two years of age and was born in Richmond, Que., shortly after the arrival of her parents from Scotland. In 1876 she was united in marriage to Mr. Isaac Barlow in Belleville, where they resided about ten years, moving to Havelock forty-one years ago.

The deceased was a member of St. John's Anglican Church. She possessed an amiable disposition, and in all her relations exemplified the highest type of Christian character and the ideal wife and mother. She was made a life member of the Toronto Diocesan Board of the Women's Auxiliary by the local branch of which she was honorary president.

There are left to mourn her loss: her husband; two daughters, Mrs. Samuel Cross of Toronto and Mrs. Edward Williams of town; four sons, William, John and Reginald of Toronto, and Ward of North Bay; five brothers, John Muir and William Muir of Belleville; Henry Muir of Toronto, James Muir of Republican City, Neb., and Hon. R. H. Muir of Cicero, Ill. Mrs. James Bunnett of Shannonville is a niece and adopted daughter. One daughter, Janie, and one son, Garnet, predeceased their mother.

The funeral took place from the family residence on Saturday at 2.15 p.m. The remains were conveyed to St. John's Anglican Church, where a very impressive burial service was conducted by the incumbent, Rev. T. H. Stanley, assisted by the grandson of the deceased lady, the Rev. Milton Williams, who read the lesson, following which the Litany was used, this being a favorite form of worship very dear to Mrs. Barlow. The hymn "God Moves in a Mysterious Way," which had been her lifelong favorite and in her daily thoughts through life, was sung. The chancel and pew where Mrs. Barlow formerly sat were respectfully draped in black and purple as a token of the great esteem which was given her as one of the first worshippers in the church when it was first built. Mr. Stanley based his address on Galatians, Chapter 6, and the last portion of Verse 8: "But he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting." He spoke in very touching words of the deceased. She was one whose ideals were spiritual, loyal to her home, loyal to her church, and loyal to her God. Lovingly she gave herself to helping every organization of her church. During one of Mr. Stanley's last conversations with her, she told him of a chancel chair which she had ordered to be made, to be given to the church, in loving memory of her youngest son, Garnet, who died about two years ago. The pall-bearers were the four sons of the deceased, Messrs. William, John, Ward and Reginald Barlow, and two sons-in-law, Messrs. Samuel Cross and Edward Williams.

Interment took place in Pine Grove Cemetery, where she was laid to rest beside her daughter.

The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful, testifying in a silent way of the love and esteem of a host of friends.

Those from out of town who attended the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. William Barlow and family, Mr. and Mrs. S. Cross, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Barlow, Mr. and Mrs. John Barlow, Messrs. Harold and Reginald Cross, Mrs. Stuart Price, Mr. Joseph Scriven, Mr. Joseph Dorricott, Mr. Henry Muir of Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. John Muir, Mr. and Mrs. William Muir, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Barlow, Mr. Jonathan Barlow, Mr. and Mrs. George Barlow of Belleville; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Buskard and Mr. Clint Barlow of Deloro; Mr. Clifford Barlow of Trinity College, Toronto; Mrs. George Frost of Frankford; Mr. James Barlow of Kingston; Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Barlow of Bonar Law; Mrs. James Beatty, Mrs. Garnet Barlow, and Mrs. Harry Grey of Trenton; Rev. and Mrs. M. LITERARY SOCIETY REGULAR MEETING

Good Programme Given at Norwood High School—Many Meetings.

NORWOOD, March 8.—The fourth programme under the group system was given on Friday by the Norwood High School Literary Society and was very favorably received. The programme opened with the singing of "Annie Laurie." After the reading of the minutes Miss Ruth Harper, who presided, in a brief opening address explained that the programme would be a musical one, under the supervision of Ford Stinson, and consisted largely of French, Scotch and Irish numbers.

Una Elliott sang a song, entitled "When the Whip-Poor-Will Will Sing Marguerite," and the following this, several French songs were sung and acted by the group. An instrumental duet, "Il Trovatore," played by Lillian Greenbank and Jack Kempt, was followed by an address by Stuart Neilson on the value and advantages of music.

The stunt which held the audience spell-bound throughout was a pantomine representation of the well-known fairy story, "Blue Beard." "When I Dream of Old Erin I'm Dreaming of You" was then sung by Winnifred Pearce, dressed in a dainty Irish costume. As a final number Mildred Golloher recited a humorous piece, entitled "Digesting the Newspaper."

The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

The critic, Principal Lawlor, complimented the members of Group IV. and expressed his pleasure in the afternoon's musical programme.

Day of Prayer.

A large number of the members of the local auxiliaries of the Women's Missionary Societies and the Women's Christian Temperance Societies observed the international day of prayer on Friday afternoon last. The meeting was held in the Sunday School room of the United Church.

Mrs. J. W. Rork, President of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Society, presided. The suggested programme prepared by the Interim Committee was followed. The Scripture reading, Psalm 72, was read by Miss C. Calder and the prayer of general confession was led by Mrs. Walter Bitten. This was followed by the Lord's Prayer in unison and a solo by Mrs. Scott Wildman. Prayers for China were offered by Mrs. W. D. Robson, Mrs. (Rev.) J. P. McLennan and Mrs. Webb; for China, by Mrs. W. Cuthbertson; Mrs. McNeil and Mrs. Roxburgh; for Japan, by Mrs. R. G. Lawlor and Miss Edith Tedford; for India, by Mrs. M. Dickson and Mrs. O. Buck; for the Moslem world, by Mrs. (Rev.) Peer and Mrs. T. Buck.

The hymn, "Jesus Shall Reign Wher'er the Sin," was sung and prayer was offered by Mrs. H. Robb, Mrs. Rutter and Mrs. (Rev.) Stillman for all other fields.

The League of Nations and international relationships were remembered by Mrs. Borland and Mrs. B. W. Squire.

Hymn, "O Spirit of the Living God," was sung and a prayer of thanksgiving said in unison.

The meeting closed with the National Anthem, the doxology and the benediction.

W.M.S. Meeting.

The last meeting of the W.M.S. of the United Church for this conference year was held on Wednesday afternoon in the Sunday School room. The meeting was in charge of Mrs. (Rev.) Stillman. After the devotional exercises, the Scripture reading was taken by Mrs. J. Humphries and a circle of prayer was taken part in by several of the ladies.

Papers were given on the several mission fields of the church, by Mrs. B. W. Squire on China, Mrs. Weir on Japan, Mrs. Dickson on India, home fields by Mrs. H. Robb and Indian schools by the Rev. Mr. Stillman.

The officers for the coming year were then elected and resulted as follows:

Every lodge in the county was represented at the meeting.

AVIATORS REPORT FIRES.

TOKIO, March 8. Canadian Press. —An Osaka despatch to the Mainichi Chimbun, says aeroplanes with photographers which flew over the Tango district to-day, saw much smoke, indicating that a number of the villagers have caught fire. Antlike swarms of refugees could be sighted from the plane walking along the railway tracks.

It was reported that no foreigners were injured at Osaak or Kobe except in the incident where the gangplank of the tourist steamer California fell.

DIAMOND WEDDING DAY IS OBSERVED

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Porter Married in 1867—All Children Living.

Sixty years of married life, all of which were spent in this district, is the record of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Porter, 144 Murray street, who celebrated their diamond wedding on Saturday, March 5.

They were married in Manvers township on March 5, 1867 and have spent the past thirty years in this city.

There are seven children, four sons and three daughters, sixteen grand-children and six great grand-children, all living. Only one break has occurred in the entire family, that of a grand-child, Norman Sproul, who died when he was six years of age.

The sons are D. W. Porter of Toronto; N. C Porter, of Norwood; M. W. Porter, of this city, and J. P. Porter, of Chicago. The daughters are Mrs. J. Sproul and Mrs W. Patten, of Toronto, and Mrs W. J. Caldwell, of Oshawa.

Members of Party Agree on Bill, Premier Says

CANAL CHARTER BEFORE HOUSE FOR FIFTH TIME

Talked Out Three Occasions While Down For Second Reading.

STILL UNDECIDED.

Member Says Practically All Papers in Ontario Oppose It.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 9 (Canadian Press) — For the fifth time this session, the bill for renewal of a charter to the Montreal, Ottawa and Georgian Bay Canal Company was under discussion in the House of Commons last night.

On three occasions, the measure was talked out with the bill still down for second reading; while late Monday night further debate on the subject was postponed on a motion to adjourn after the matter had been under discussion all day. Last night, the bill was once again talked out; and as to-day is private members' day the measure will probably be under further consideration this afternoon.

A. C. Casselman (Conservative-Grenville) held the stage during almost the whole hour allotted to private members' bills yesterday evening. He declared that practically all papers in Ontario were opposed to a renewal of the charter. The matter had been before the house on four previous occasions, and Mr. Casselman was of the opinion that it was time for the Government to give some intimation "whether they are going to support this bill or not."

Only Monday, continued Mr. Casselman, the Ontario Legislature had unanimously adopted a resolution opposing a renewal of the present charter. This action on the part of the Ontario Government should at least be a "guide" to the federal government in the course it should pursue.

It should be realized, stated Mr. Casselman, that under the charter the use of 1,25,499 horsepower was being given to this company.

This power, Mr. Casselman declared, belonged to the provincial governments, but if the charter was granted, the Dominion Government would be going over the heads of the provinces and permitting something which could only be detrimental to Canada. As long as the company could hold this charter it would have $5,000,000 a year.

Ewen McPherson (Liberal, Portage La Prairie) who was speaking when the hour for private members' bills expired, was opposed to the bill in its present state, although he favored renewal of the charter after some amendments.

HEN KIDNAPS PUPS

KINGSTON, N.C., March 8.—A white Wyandotte hen on a farm near here is mothering seven rat terrier puppies and making a good job of it. The mother dog made a home close by the hen's nest. The hen fought and finally chased her away, and then started mothering the pups. They follow her about all day and are said to be astonishingly developed for their age.

Syndicate Is Not Competing Against The City Council; Full Information Desired

The Central Ontario Power System is owned by the Ontario Government and the Hydro-Electric Power Commission is simply the manager of this System for the Ontario Government.

In the conduct of negotiations for the purchase of this property the Ontario Government have the final say, but before negotiations can properly be proceeded with it is necessary to have full information regarding the various properties and to ascertain the terms and conditions upon which they may be sold.

It is respectfully suggested that all this information should be furnished to the Citizens of Peterborough through the City Council. The information required is a statement of the assets and liabilities of the Gas Plant, the Street Railway, and the Auburn Power Plant and a statement of receipts and expenditures of each of these plants during this last three years. The expenditures particularly should disclose the amount paid in wages, local salaries, Toronto salaries, maintenance and general expenses in general detail.

It is most important and it must be clearly understood that the Syndicate I represent are in no sense competitors against the City. If this City finds in the course of negotiations that it is to the advantage of the City to buy the Street Railway, Gas Plant, and Auburn Dam, and to develop the two water powers to the north, then so far as the Syndicate is concerned it will gracefully withdraw in favor of the City.

The Syndicate is most insistent that the Auburn Power Plant should be purchased from the Ontario Government. The reason is that the Syndicate would then have control of 2,000 horse-power at Auburn, 3,000 horse-power at Dams 4 and 5, and 3,000 horse-power at Burleigh Falls, making in all 8,000 horse-power. That quantity of power would supply all the City's existing needs and would leave a surplus of over 2,000 horse-power to attract new industries?

There is no reason why either the Ontario Government or the Hydro Commission should offer any real objection to this proposal, because they will be relieved from all responsibility of supplying power to this City, and will have that extra power to supply the needs of power users on the lake front and elsewhere, and until this City requires from the Syndicate the surplus power it holds, the Hydro Commission would be able to obtain it on fair and reasonable terms.

It will be recalled that when the late Sir Adam Beck addressed the ratepayers of Peterborough, that he made the statement that this City could have for its own use any of the water powers upon the river and would receive the assistance of the Hydro Commission to develop these water powers if the City desired to own on its own account these water powers. Therefore the proposal that the Syndicate is making is practically upon the same line, because it must of necessity be on the request of the City to the Ontario Government that the Syndicate can acquire these properties at all, and a Syndicate can only acquire these properties on terms and conditions that are mutually satisfactory to the Citizens of Peterborough and the Syndicate, and it must be on terms and conditions that will be to the advantage of the tax-payers of this City.

There is no question whatever that the Syndicate can save this City a large and substantial sum in the wholesale cost of power during this next twenty-one years, and can also make a reduction in the price of gas and render much more satisfactory service in operating the Street Railway.

R. R. HALL.

SINCLAIR SCORES GOVERNMENT IN BUDGET DEBATE

No Genuine Reduction in Provincial Taxes Finds Liberal Leader.

GAS TAX HIGH.

Also Charges That Public Accounts Obscure Many Big Payments.

TORONTO, March 9. — To relieve the "nervous tension of people who have come here under misapprehension," Premier Ferguson, questioned by Hon. W. E. Raney, repeated to the House and crowded expectant galleries yesterday the statement he made following the Conservative caucus on the liquor bill—that the long expected bill would not be brought in until to-day.

Referring to the prediction in yesterday's Mail and Empire that the liquor bill would be introduced in the House yesterday, Hon. W. E. Raney Progressive leader ,enquired whether something had happened to the schedule. He commented that the Mail and Empire is supposed to be in the Government's confidence.

"May I congratulate my hon. friend for turning in his choice of reading from the Star to the Mail," Premier Ferguson rejoined. He stated that he expected to bring the bill into the House to-day.

Sinclair on Budget.

Resuming the budget debate, W. E. N. Sinclair, Liberal leader, chaffed the premier at the delay in the introduction of the liquor measure, and remarked that a second Conservative caucus had been found necessary in order to smooth out the differences of opinion in the party.

Objects to Reporter.

"I want to refer to an innovation in the budget speech," said Mr. Sinclair. He referred to the government having a reporter from the press gallery take notes on the floor of the House of the Budget speech—a procedure which had been objected to during the Drury regime. H could not see that Mr. Monteith had any right to have a verbatim account of his speech taken unless the same privilege were accorded to other members of the House.

He scored the provincial treasurer for the lack of information in the budget speech. Only one minister, outside of the provincial treasurer, had spoken on the workings of his department.

The Liberal leader criticized the composition of the public accounts, declaring that it was difficult in the first place to find any specific item and impossible in the second place to know for what it had been paid.

He referred to payment to several construction companies and also to E. L. Bedford, who had appeared before the public accounts committee last year, and had admitted having resold goods purchased from the Lyons Construction company.

The public accounts should show each payment; a mere list of names and figures instead of being a source of information to the public, was a means of concealment.

No Retrenchment.

The treasurer's statement about a "period of retrenchment", was all right for a good headline but there was no actual period of retrenchment, said Mr. Sinclair.

He referred to the five million dollar reduction in 1924 which Mr. Price, when treasurer, had announced as his goal. There had been a $295,000 reduction in 1924. But in 1925 he had increased the expenditures by $2,400,000 and in 1926 he had increased it by $2,550,000, while the budget of the present treasurer indicated an increase over 1923 expenditures of $4,109,000.

The government's "perfect control of expenditures" was criticized by Mr. Sinclair. The debt payment scheme might work all right in its infancy but when the province was four or five years older it would find that debt payment out of revenue would require immensely increased revenues.

"I have no expectation that this scheme will work successfully because the ordinary revenues of the province cannot be made adequate to meet the demands upon them," he said.

Misleading the Public.

Mr. Sinclair accused Dr. Monteith of attempting to mislead the public by claiming that the province had a surplus, outside of interest.

"How can the province avoid paying interest?" he demanded. "It is a legal debt. Many of us might have a surplus, if we had no interest to pay."

If the government wished to produce a real surplus, Mr. Sinclair advised them to cut down on such items as Ministers' travelling expenses which in some cases came to nearly $1,000. He felt that the Ministers, with their salary and indemnity, need not collect travelling expenses from the province.

RIOTS AT WUHU AS CANTONESE CAPTURE CITY

Foreign Women and Children Evacuated By Steamer.

ARMIES MOVING.

Southern Forces Moving On Nanking and Also Towards Railway.

SHANGHAI, March 9 (Canadian Press).—The British cruiser Emerald sailed today from Nanking up the river to Wuhu, where a mob yesterday looted the Customs House following occupation of the town by the Cantonese.

All the foreign women and children are aboard the steamer Kutwo, which apparently has not yet left for Shanghai, although the authorities consider it impossible for them to return to shore in view of the situation.

The United States destroyer Preble is standing by, the destroyer Noa is at Nanking within call, and others are at Chekiang and Kiukiang.

The majority of the women and children had been evacuated from Wuhu before the Cantonese took possession.

Interest has suddenly been attracted to Wuhu, two hundred miles west of here, because of its occupation by advancing Cantonese, and reports of riots in which the Customs House was looted by the mob. No casualties have been reported, but indications are that all foreigners will soon depart from the city.

Cantonese Move in Force

The latest military events seem strongly in favor of the Cantonese, who are moving in increasing strength down the Yangtse River in the direction of Nanking, from as far West as Hankow. They are reported to be advancing around both sides of Lake Taihu in their effort to attain the Nanking-Shanghai railway, and thus deal a severe blow to Gen. Chang Tsung Chang, chief defender of Shanghai, by cutting off his communications.

LONDON, March 9. — (United Press.)—An urgent order for mobilization of the Shanghai volunteers was issued on Tuesday night, the Morning Post's correspondent there reported to-day.

The authorities did not disclose the reason for the call to the foreign defence corps, the dispatch said.

Cantonese troops clad in mufti were reported to have made their way into Soochow and Chinkiang, hoping to destroy property on the Nanking-Shanghai railway and cripple communication between the two cities, the correspondents said, adding that credence was given the reports because similar attempts had been made near Shanghai.

Workmen Make Threat.

HANKOW, March 9.— (United Press.)—Striking workmen to-day threatened to take over the factory of the British American Tobacco Company at Chisokow to-morrow if their demands for an 85 per cent. increase in wages are not accepted.

The factory already has been occupied by pickets. It was closed by the strike several days ago.

MANITOBA PAPER IN DAMAGE SUIT

Winnipeg Publisher Enters Libel Action Against Manitoba Free Press.

WININPEG, Man., March 9.—(Canadian Press.) —,Claiming to have been greatly injured in his character, credit and reputation and to have been brought into public scandal, odium and contempt by an announcement and advertisement published in the Manitoba Free Press, February 26, 1927, a writ claiming $100,000 damages was issued in court of King's Bench to-day by William John Bulman, President of the Bulman Bros., Limited, local printers, against the Manitoba Free Press Company, Limited, and E. H. Macklin, its president and general manager. Another writ, citing the same reasons, and asking for damages of $100,000 from the newspaper has been issued by the Bulman Bros., Limited.

The court action follows evidence given before the Royal Customs Commission, during its recent sessions here, concerning the printing of liquor labels and reference made in an advertisement and display published by the Manitoba Free Press.

Citv Council Has Taken the "Ire" Out Of Fire Says Toronto Paper Commenting On Swearing Ban

The following appears in a Toronto paper today:

The police of Peterborough have been set to catch the firemen. It will be no strange sight for spectators at a fire to see a burly policeman yank a lithe fireman off a ladder and carry him to the cooler.

For the City Council has in its wisdom decreed that firemen shall not swear while fighting a fire. They must remember, whether in a smoke-filled cellar or clinging to a blazing roof, that they are gentlemen. The City Council has taken the ire out of fire.

The City Fathers did not summon the Fire Chief, administer the slipper and admonish him to make his merry men behave. Nor did it pass a resolution asking the firemen to restrain their language when there are respectable citizens gathered around to enjoy the spectacle of a fire. No, sir. All the machinery of Canadian Municipal Law is behind the order. It was voted on three times at the Council Meeting, and signed and sealed by the Mayor and Clerk. 'That firemen shall not use profane language when on duty,' is a by-law, for which future generations may rise up and call the 1927 Council blessed."

U. S. OFFICIALS EXPECT PARLEY

Despatches Indicate That Japan and Britain Will Take Part.

TO LIMIT NAVIES.

WASHINGTON, March 9 (Canadian Press).—London and Tokio news advices, clearly indicating that Great Britain and Japan will accept the Coolidge proposal for a conference with the United States at Geneva this summer on auxiliary war craft limitation, are taken by officials here to mean that such a project will be ultimately brought about.

While there has not been much doubt as to the Japanese attitude toward such an arrangement, British sentiment in the past generally has been against any limitation of anti-submarine craft as long as her continental neighbors refused to limit submarine construction and officials have looked to Great Britain to remove the greatest obstacle in the way of a three-power parley.

Japan to Accept.

TOKIO, Mar. 9 (Canadian Press) —Japan intends to accept the three power naval arms limitation proposal of the United States Government, the Associated Press learned to-day.

DEATH PENALTY FOR RUSSIANS

Charged With Spreading Propagandist Literature Among Northern Forces.

LEAD TO RUPTURE.

LONDON, March 9 (Canadian Press).—Marshal Chang Tso Lin, Manchurian War Lord, has ordered the execution of all the Russian prisoners, with the exception of Mme. Michael Borodin, seized aboard the Soviet ship Pamiat Lenina, says the Pekin correspondent of the Westminster Gazette.

The despatch says that the executions have been ordered on the ground that Chinese and Russian Communists were aboard the Pamiat Lenina with a mass of propagandist literature with the intent to aid the Cantonese, or southern Nationalists, whom Chang Tso Lin is fighting.

The correspondent says that the incident is expected to lead to a rupture in international relations between Soviet Russia and the Pekin Government.

The Pamiat Lenina was said to be en route to Hankow when she was seized. The passengers were said to include several diplomatic couriers. These were detained and the vessel immediately utilized as a troop ship.

Borodin, for several years, has held the post of adviser to the Canton Government. He is understood to dominate the radical wing of the Cantonese parties.

Of late there have been reports that some dissension was arising between the right and left wings of the Cantonese Government, Borodin being a strong figure in the left wing, with the Cantonese Commander-in-Chief, Chang Kai Shek, tending toward the more moderate wing.

Hundreds Of Diamonds Found On African Farm

CAPE TOWN, March 9.—Hundreds of diamonds are being found on another farm in the Lichtenburg district of the Transvaal, South Africa, near that on which diamonds were found recently. Diamonds totaling more than 3,000 carats were found while prospecting. The prospectors then bought claims for $65,000.

Negotiate With Tribes For Ransome Of Tribesmen

CASA BLANCA, Morocco, March 9. — Ransom negotiations for the release of the four Uruguayan aviators held captive by Moorish tribesmen, were under way here yesterday, advices from Cape Juby, Morocco, said.

Release of the four prisoners, captured after the plane in which they were attempting a trans-Atlantic flight, was wrecked 75 miles from Cape Juby, had been promised as soon as the money was available, it was understood.

GUEST APPEALS TO THE PEOPLE

Southwark North M.P. Accepts Challenge of Labor Party.

RESIGNS SEAT.

LONDON, March 9 (Canadian Press)—The challenge by the Labor party to resign his seat in Southwark North has been accepted by Dr. Leslie Haden Guest, member of parliament, who left the Labor party because he supported the governments' policy in China. Dr. Guest will contest the coming bye-election in his old constituency with general Conservative support. The other candidates will probably be E. A. Strauss, Liberal candidate in the last elections, and George Isaacs, unsuccessful Labor candidate in Gravensend, Kent, in 1925.

Dr. Guest proposes to concentrate his campaign upon the Labor party's attitude towards China, declaring that they went directly behind the British government with negotiations with the Cantonese general.

GOLD MOVEMENT TO U. S. CHECKED

Report Dominion Authorities Have Restricted Flow For Time Being.

NEW YORK, March 9.—The Herald-Tribune yesterday morning says:

"The movement of Canadian gold to New York, which made considerable headway in the last week, was halted Monday and unofficial advices were that the Dominion authorities had exercised their privilege of restricting the exports of the metal for the time being. At Monday's discount the Canadian dollar was worth less than 99.98 in New York, a rate at which gold exports would ordinarily be distinctly profitable.

"All of the 'ear marked' gold available for return shipment here, it was unofficially reported Monday, has now flowed back to this country, so that further shipments would draw on Canada's reserve. A possibility put forward in some quarters Monday was that the Dominion might anticipate some of its bond maturities and negotiate a loan here shortly."

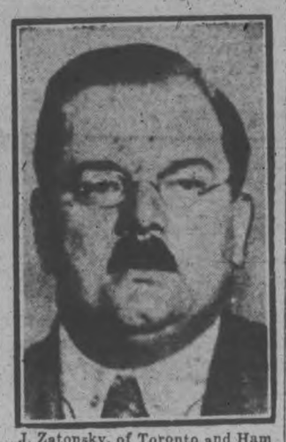
NO IMPROVEMENT.

Condition of Two Roman Catholic Cardinals Reported Worse Yesterday.

ROME, March 9. — (Canadian Press).—The condition of Cardinals Perosi and Delai, who have been ill for some time, was reported worse yesterday. Cardinal Delai, who has pneumonia, was delirious, and Cardinal Perosi underwent another operation during the day.

The Pope made repeated inquiries regarding their progress, and Cardinal Gaspari, papal secretary of state, visited both.

CHARGED WITH FRAUD



J. Zatonsky, of Toronto and Hamilton, who, it is alleged, fraudulently induced foreigners to come to Hamilton from Western Canada and elsewhere with promises that they would be given jobs and visas to the United States on the payment of $11 each.

JAPAN AT WORK RELIEVING THOSE MADE HOMELESS

Thousands of Refugees Roam 'Quake Stricken Tango Area.

BITTER WEATHER.

Expeditions From Many Cities Leaving Without Food, Clothing and Medicine.

TOKIO, Mar. 9 (Canadian Press) —All Japan was organizing to-day to send succor to the central part of the island, where Monday's calamitous earthquake brought death to at least 2,275 persons, injuries to thousands of others, and untold misery to about fifty thousand persons whose homes collapsed or were buried. The condition of the homeless is miserable, owing to the cold, snowy weather immediately following the 'quake and last night's rain. Army and navy expeditions are on the way with food, clothing, and medicines, and other relief parties are being rushed from Yokohama, Kobe, Osaka, and Kyoto. The exact number of casualties was still unknown this morning, but whether it proves greater or less than the present estimates, it is clear that the disaster was one of the gravest in Japan's history. Each succeeding report brings a fresh story of death and suffering.

Fifty Thousand Homeless.

Fifty thousand men, women and children, scattered throughout the 'quake area, are homeless, and in most cases without even temporary shelter. Government and charitable organizations are hastening help by land and sea, but it is feared much time must elapse before the terrible sufferings can be fully relieved.

Some idea of the sufferings of the refugees in Tango is had from the stories. Hundreds of them were compelled to seek shelter in the lee of snowdrifts, sleeping on mats spread on the snow. One private investigator reported that bodies were strewn about everywhere, in the streets of towns and open fields, and that hundreds of injured persons were pleading for medical attention.

Coast Town Burned.

A newspaperman who went to the coast town of Amino aboard a destroyer tells how refugees of all ages, seeing the approach of the vessel, gathered on the beach, weeping quietly. They said all the houses of Amino fell with the first shock, great numbers being buried under collapsing roofs. Fire broke out immediately, and soon the whole town was aflame. Police estimate that the death list at Amino will reach more than one thousand.

Missionaries Safe

NEW YORK, March 9 (Canadian Press):—Baptist missionaries in the Kobe and Osaka districts, centre of the earthquake in Japan, were reported safe in a cablegram received today by the American Baptist Foreign Mission Society.

Complete Investigations Of White Slave Traffic

GENEVA, March 9 (Canadian Press). — The League of Nations committee charged with investigating the white slave traffic has completed investigations into underworld conditions in various countries. The investigators said they found evidence of an organized international traffic system, by which thousands of women were affected.

PERFECT ACCORD SAYS PREMIER AFTER CAUCUS

"Everything Is Lovely" He Remarks—No Objection To Dropping Beer.

BIG CROWD COMING.

Extra Seats Being Placed in the Galleries For Spectators.

TORONTO, March 9. Canadian Press. — "There is nothing really to tell you," said Premier Howard Ferguson on coming out of the Conservative caucus, which considerde the bill for government control of the sale of liquor to-day.

"Were all the members in agreement with the provisions of the bill?" he was asked.

"There was perfect unanimity," he replied. "Everything is lovely."

"Was there any strong objection to the dropping of the sale of wine and beer with meals at hotels?" he was further questioned.

"No; that matter has been settled long ago," answered the Premier.

The Premier added that very likely it would be late in the afternoon before the liquor legislation would be introduced in the House.

Extra seats have been placed in the galleries and corridors to accommodate the large gathering of the public which is expected to attend the introduction of the legislation.

The first arrivals took their seats in the front row of the visitors' gallery at noon.

Final consideration of the bill was given by the Conservative members. The legislation will be introduced in the House by Premier Howard Ferguson late this afternoon, and it is the desire of the government that there should be an agreement on all points among its supporters before the details of the measure are made public.

While not offering any opposition to the measure it is still the hope of some of the Conservative members that an agreement will be reached by which the sale of wine and beer with meals in hotels will be permitted. It is more than probable that the views of certain members along these lines will be presented for consideration of the House when the legislation reaches the committee stage.

Hawk Defends Nest: Knocks Lineman Out

LOS ANGELES, March 9. — A hawk which evidently subscribed to the often expressed saying: the bigger they are the harder they fall put up a battle in defense of its nest which left a Los Angeles gas and electric company lineman in a hospital yesterday with a broken leg, two fractured ribs, and numerous cuts and bruises.

The lineman was working in a tower on power lines near Saugus, when he noticed the bird's nest and shoved it over with his hand. The hawk attacked so viciously that the man fell from the tower.

ENGLISH BANKER JOINS PARTNERSHIP

Gordon Leigh To Be Representative of Wall Street Bankers in London.

NEW YORK, March 9 (Canadian Press). — Gordon Leigh, widely known British banker, is to become a partner in the international banking firm of Kuhn, Loeb and Company, according to a report in Wall Street yesterday. Officials of Kuhn, Loeb and Company declined to comment. Otto Kahn, the usual spokesman for the firm, is in Europe.

A partnership in Kuhn, Loeb and Company, which ranks next to the house of J. P. Morgan and Company, is regarded as one of Wall Street's choicest plums.

It is understood that Mr. Leigh is to represent the Kuhn, Loeb firm in London, where it has extensive financial interests. Mr. Leigh was born March 19, 1879, and was educated at Harrow and Trinity College, Cambridge University. He entered the firm of Speyer Bros. in London in 1900, holding a partnership from 1911 to 1919, when he retired. He is now the head of the banking firm of Gordon Leigh and Company.

Mr. Leigh has a distinguished war record, having been commissioned as a captain soon after the outbreak of the war and later being promoted to a colonelcy. He achieved considerable publicity through his defence of his former partner, Sir Edgar Speyer, who was tried on charges of trading with the enemy and deprived of his title.

PITIFUL SIGHTS MARK SCENE OF JAPAN'S 'QUAKE

Despatches From Tango Describe Refugees as Suffering Untold Hardships.

RAILWAY DESTROYED.

Efforts Being Made To Send Aid To Devastated Area.

TOKIO, Mar. 9 (Canadian Press) —With their houses reduced to ruins or ashes by Monday night's earthquake, thousands of refugees in the stricken area, most of them in the district of Tango, yesterday struggled to reach safety and to care for the injured.

Despatches from Tango described the pitiful condition of the refugees, homeless, hungry and cold. In some places the snow was from one to five feet deep, and hundreds of men, women and children, possessing but a few blankets, found meagre shelter behind great snowdrifts.

The suffering of women and children was considerable, although the efforts of troops, police and young men's associations were alleviating the misery. Efforts to bring aid to the devastated region were retarded because of lack of railway traffic, only motors and wagons being available in addition to a few aeroplanes which are bringing in some relief supplies. The roads and paths were badly cracked everywhere.

Towns in Ruins.

A newspaper aeroplane observer described the smoking ruins of villages, numerous bodies lying about and priests reading the final rites. One observer said that conditions were pitiful beyond description.

The majority of residents of Tango district, who escaped death Monday evening, spent the night in the open, spreading mats on the snow. Policemen, doctors and nurses are being hurried to the scene with relief supplies and it is expected that the hunger and misery will be alleviated soon.

A reporter for the Asahi Shimbun who went to the scene in an aeroplane, said that most of the villages were reduced to ashes, that no houses were left standing and that roads were unuseable.

Bodies were lying about in the paths and fields, and many of the injured were crying out for medical aid and food. The cries of women and children were heard everywhere. He described the scene as "like a living hell."

It is believed that the economic damage may not be great owing to the fact that most of the damage was confined to small villages inhabitated by fishermen and peasants and that few factories and industrial establishments were injured.

Show Solicitude.

The Emperor and Empress have shown great solicitude for the victims, both of them remaining up most of Monday night and last night to obtain news. It is expected that Imperial relief funds will be granted, two Imperial commissioners already having been sent to the scene to obtain reports.

Both Kobe and Osaka yesterday were celebrating their fortunate escape from the 'quake, comparatively little serious damage being caused in them. Most of the dead and injured being the victims of falling tiles and panic, some of them jumping from windows.

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

THE STRUCTURAL STEEL WORKER

He spins a fabric in the air
As fairy as the fairy lace
That women weave with so much care;
And every span he puts in place
Is something more than something done,
Than one day's labor for a wage,
For even when his race is run
He lives in steel for many an age.

O artisan, I envy you,
Who work our wonders in the sky,
You think it but a task to do,
But poets pass, and singers die,
And this, the poem you have writ,
Aye, this the song that you have sung,
Shall stand when men forget our wit,
When silent is the singer's tongue.

However heavy are the hours,
Let this make lighter every span:
When underneath the wilted flow'rs,
Your hand shall go on serving man.
The rivet you have driven home
For centuries the steel shall bind,
Your monument a roof or dome,
Your wage your service to mankind.

CANTONESE MAY CUT OFF CHANG

Nationalists Trying To Destroy Railway Communications With Shanghai, ALLIANCE FORMED.

SHANGHAI, March 9 (Canadian Press). — General Chang Tsung Chang, Shantung leader, who rushed to the defence of Shanghai a few days ago, when the army of Marshal Sun Chuan Fang started crumbling before the assaults of the Cantonese, now is threatened with being isolated there.

The southerners, continuing their progress northward, have occupied Wuhu, about 200 miles west of Shanghai. They are reported advancing around both sides of Lake Taihu, trying to reach the Nanking-Shanghai railway and cut off Chang Tsung Chang's line of communication.

If Chang Tsung Chang eventually is defeated, the reverse will be attributed largely to his old enemy, Governor Chen Tiao Yung, of Anhwei Province. It was the alliance of Chen Tiao Yung with the Cantonese which became definitely known Monday that opened a path for the Cantonese to penetrate toward Nanking and Chang Tsung Chang's communications. The Anhwei governor's change of front is attributed here less to devotion to the principles of the Kuomingtang than to hatred of Chang Tsung Chang, the former Shanghai guerrilla, who now is regarded as the defender of foreign lives and property at Shanghai.

A new front was being formed yesterday in Northern Anhwei. With Wuhu occupied, Chen Tiao Yung and his Cantonese allies claim to hold Anhwei as far north as Luchow. Chang Tsung Chang still holds North-Eastern Anhwei and is bringing more forces into that region to protect his 600-mile line of communications from Shanghai to Tsinanfu, and especially its main artery, the railway to Tientsin.

APPROVE ESTIMATE.

Commons Consent To £950,000 For Shanghai Defence Forces.

LONDON, March 9.—(Canadian Press).—The House of Commons approved the army estimate of £950,000 for the Shanghai defence force last night by a vote of 303 to 124.

The vote followed a long debate in which the Laborites again challenged the Government with provocative actions in China. Sir Laming Worthington-Evans, War Secretary, defended the Government's course, saying it would have been impossible to evacuate the British population of Shanghai.

OLD MASTERS

Yet each man kills the thing he loves,
By each let this be heard,
Some do it with a bitter look,
Some with a flattering word,
The coward does it with a kiss,
The brave man with a sword!

Some kill their love when they are young,
And some when they are old;
Some struggle with the hands of Lust,
Some with the hands of Gold;
The kindest use a knife, because
The dead so soon grow cold.

Some love too little, some too long,
Some sell and others buy;
Some do the deed with many tears,
And some without a sigh;
For each man kills the thing he loves,
Yet each man does not die.

—Oscar Wilde: From "The Ballad of Reading Gaol."

PITIFUL SIGHTS

that there were nine after-shocks, and that it believed that the main shock was stronger than the Tajima 'quake of 1925.

Official Despatch.

WASHINGTON, March 9 (Canadian Press). — The Japanese Embassy yesterday received the following cablegram from the Tokio Foreign Office:

"On March 7, at 6.28 p.m., an earthquake shook the Tango region near Kyoto, resulting in considerable damage due to the collapse of houses and accompanying fire, but with less damage than that which resulted from the earthquake in the Tajima region in May, 1925. The above is hereby communicated to you for your correct information."

Although Kemal Pasha recently insisted on Turkish women coming out of their age-long seclusion and dancing in public, Turkish susceptibilities have not been able to stand the Charleston. It has, consequently, been forbidden at all public dances.

Automobile Hits Woman Lying On Operating Table

NEW YORK, March 9. — (United Press).—Mrs. Bertha Taubman, 29, received a broken ankle when an automobile and an operating table collided in a physician's office here.

Mrs. Taubman was lying on the table while Dr. Simon Brady tested her blood pressure. His office is on the ground floor. Abraham Cestribman, driving past in his automobile, tried to turn a corner, but hit a rut and lost control of his car, which crashed through the wall of Dr. Brady's office and hit the operating table. Surgical instruments, bricks and Mrs. Taubman were tossed about by the impact. Neither Cestribman nor Dr. Simon was injured.

BERGS MENACE STEAMER LANES

United States Sending Cutters To Grand Banks, Off Newfoundland.

WARN VESSELS.

WASHINGTON, March 9. — (United Press.)—Icebergs are drifting from the Arctic regions into the Atlantic steamer lanes and several derelicts of the recent storms are causing renewed efforts of the coast guard to safeguard shipping.

The cutters Modoc and Tampa have been ordered to proceed next week to the Grand Banks of Newfoundland to find icebergs, warn ships and to blow up the bergs with dynamite.

"The iceberg season," opens March 15, although one exceptionally large specimen was reported about 12 miles south of Cape Race yesterday.

A derelict schooner was reported in shipping lanes 375 miles east of Norfolk, Va., drifting partly submerged. A cutter was sent to sink it, by gunfire. It was said to be the Jesse E. Noyes, BJoston. The report did not tell the fate of the crew.

LEAGUE DEBATES IN SECOND ROUND

Cobourg Presbytery Debating Schedule Calls For Winner By August.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 9—The Bay of Quinte Conference Debating Trophy is open for competition among the Young People's organizations of the Conference in a debating series to be conducted by Presbyteries under general direction of a conference committee consisting of Rev. Charles D. Daniel, convener, Campellford; D. E. MacFarlane, Belleville, secretary; G. H. Hatton, Belleville; W. J. McKenzie, Napanee; Miss J. MacIovr, Kingston.

This committee has the power to make and alter the rules for debates, choose subjects for debates, be a court of appeal in disputes and issue certificates of recognition to all presbytery winners.

There is a deabting committee in each Presbytery composed of a president, secretary and convener of the Lit. and Rec. Dept. of the Presbytery Y. P. organization. The Cobourg Presbytery committee is: Rev. C. D. Daniel, Campbellford, president; Mr. Cecil Stephens, Campbellford, secretary, and Miss Mabel Harborn of Port Perry.

First Round of Cobourg Presbytery:

Any Y. P. group has the right to enter. Those who entered and the results were as follows:

Debate—"Resolved that the inventor has done more to promote human happiness than has the legislator."

Newcastle won at King street, Oshawa; Simcoe street, Oshawa, won by default from Brooklin; Port Perry lost at Claremont; Canton won at Port Hope; Bowmanville lost at Salem; Garden Hill won at Welcome; Bailieboro lost at Plainsville; Bethesda N. won at Camborne; Hilton defaulted to Brighton; St. John's, Campbellford, won from Zion, Seymour; Oshawa Mission a bye.

Second round now in progress:

Debate—"Resolved that the abolishing of the House of Senate at Ottawa is to the best interests of the growth of Canada's national life."

Trinity, Brighton, will debate at St. John's, Campbellford; Claremont will debate at Oshawa Mission; Plainville will debate at Garden Hill; Salem will debate at Simcoe street, Oshawa; Canton will debate at Newcastle; Bethesda N. a bye.

This debate will be finished by March 25th and Presbytery winners will be declared by August 15th. The final debate will take place at the 1927 annual conference at Smith's Falls during November, 1927.

ECCENTRIC MAN HANGS HIMSELF

Loss on the Stock Market Though Cause of Toronto Suicide.

KNOWN AS "DUKE."

TORONTO, March 9.—Henry S. Hunter, aged 64, who for years has been known among all with whom he came in contact as the "Duke of Mimico," was found dead in his apartment at 106 Bleecker Street yesterday, hanging by the neck by a rope from the door. It is believed that Hunter had been dead since last Saturday, when he was last seen about his apartment. The victim of the tragedy was discovered by Inspector Mackie and Sergt. Raney, of East Dundas Station, in response to a call sent in by a friend of Hunter, Gerald L. Bunyon, manager of the Imperial Bank, Bleecker and Wellesley Streets. It is thought that a recent heavy loss in the stock market caused Hunter to take his own life. Hunter had attached the rope to the knob and thrown it over the top of the door. Then he had stood on a stool, wound the rope about his neck, and kicked the stool away.

Hunter was wont to parade the streets clad in a grey silk hat and frock coat. He was a bachelor, and was at one time in comfortable circumstances.

Those Car Tickets

Hon. W. F. Nickle, the list showed, had spent the least of all the Ministers for travelling expenses—$38.40. An item of $2,217 for car tickets brought the question, "who gets the car tickets, and why so much travelling around the City of Toronto?"

"How do messengers get around the city?" asked the Premier.

"How do I get around the city?" replied Mr. Sinclair; "I pay my own way."

"They tell us the railways are not making money," Mr. Sinclair exclaimed. "If so, it is certainly not because officials of the Ontario government are not travelling. Their travelling expenses last year totalled $540,000."

The Treasurer's claim "that the consolidated revenue is well disciplined," was criticized. It was the only method by which a government could take in $54,800,000, spend $65,500,000, and still have a surplus.

The Provincial Treasurer wasn't the only person who was getting cheaper money today than in past years. Ontario was reaping the benefit of the Liberal administration at Ottawa.

Tax Drops Forced

"Don't you get all puffed up and think that you're the fellows that brought this cheap money," he said. "If there hadn't been an election last Fall, there wouldn't have been any tax reduction. But things were going rather uncertain early in the campaign and the Premier was rather anxious to please certain people, so he reduced automobile licenses, amusement taxes and income taxes.

"But these reductions only total $2,500,000, while the gasoline tax, imposed by the government, brought in $3,300,000 so there is really a taxation increase of $800,000. Yet the provicial Treasurer claims to have inaugurated an era of tax reduction."

"Hear, hear," Premier Ferguson commented.

"The Hon. Premier says, "Hear, hear,' showing that he doesn't know the meaning of the word 'reduction'," Mr. Sinclair shot back.

If the Provincial Treasurer followed the same policy as his predecessor, there would be no reduction, either in taxation or in expenditure.

Warns Treasurer.

"I say to the honorable provincial treasurer, 'beware,' lest when the bell rings for the next election, he may have to get out of the treasury and seek shelter in some other office."

He congratulated Hon. W. H. Price on having got out of the treasury department, remarking that the provincial treasurer was always the scapegoat for the expenditures of his colleagues.

Attacks Fee Reduction.

Mr. Sinclair attacked the government 85 reduction in the motor fee as a most sagacious and ingenious form of bribery "to induce voters to vote for the government on the instalment plan."

"What is the ordinary form?" asked the Premier, and Dr. Godfrey added, "It has been very successful over there" (in the Liberal opposition).

Reduction of highways taxation would result in a shortage of $3,000,000.

Mr. Sinclair criticized the putting through of two important bills — raising the speed limit and ordering lights on all vehicles—without proper opportunity for discussion.

"Sometimes I wonder if the Legislature sits here or at the King Edward," he said, in commenting on Hon. G. S. Henry's address to the annual meeting of the Ontario Motor League at the King Edward Hotel.

"The Legislature was entitled to receive information from the government first," he said, and added, "they let the government control bill out Monday night and pull it in again yesterday."

"Some Government."

The new legislation covering drivers' permits had been provided for in 1925 to be effective after July 1. The new act was passed to cover up the illegality of the government action or lack of action. Any judge could hold any member of the government liable for not having a permit, he claimed.

He quoted the Premier as saying during the election campaign that he would pass an act to establish a permit system for drivers while all the time the act was already in existence.

"The Minister of Highways at the King Edward Monday night announced that this was to be enforced. We have some government. (Applause).

Premier Ferguson: "That makes it unanimous."

Mr. Sinclair: "I knew you would applaud that. I haven't given you much to applaud so far."

BRITISH PEOPLE ARE PROTECTED BY U. S. TROOPS

Envoy Reported As Well Satisfied With Situation in Nicaragua.

WARSHIP NOT NEEDED.

Cruiser "Colombo" Had Sailed Saturday For Unknown Destination.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, March 9 (Canadian Press).—Harold Patteson, British Charge d'Affaires, said he felt reassured by the arrival of 1,600 more United States marines here on Monday.

Mr. Patteson said Monday's developments, together with assurances which he had received from the State Department at Washington and in his conversations with Admiral Lattimer at Corinto, March 2, satisfied him that British interests would be protected. He pointed out that there were large British holdings at Matagalpa.

Adequate Protection.

"His Majesty's government is satisfied now that the interests of British nationals in Nicaragua would be adequately protected hence forth," the Charge d'Affaires told the Associated Press, "and Great Britain does not contemplate any further moves such as the assignment of the cruiser Colombo to Corinto."

The Colombo sailed Saturday for an unknown destination after spending a week off Corinto to provide refuge, if necessary, to British subjects in Nicaragua.

PRESENT PETITION PREMIER BALDWIN

Delegation of British Women Seeking To Lower Voting Age.

LONDON, March 9 (Canadian Press). — A delegation of women fighting for equal suffrage legislation presented a petition to the Premier, Mr. Baldwin, yesterday afternoon.

Premier Baldwin told the women, who represented 24 suffrage organizations, that the Government had been carefully considering the suffrage problem since last year, but that the coal strike and the Chinese situation had monopolized official attention recently. However, he promised to give the women a more definite answer before Easter.

Lady Astor entertained the delegation at tea in the House of Commons after the conference, and said: "Don't be discouraged, I believe the Government means business."

Miss Eleanor Rathbone, president of the National Union for Equal Citizenship, which wants the ballot for women at the age of 21 instead of at the present age of 30, headed the delegation.

Lady Balfour of Burleigh and ten other members of the Executive Committee, who recently resigned their posts because they did not believe in connecting social legislation demands with suffrage demands wrote a letter approving the union's stand for equal suffrage. They will not resign from the union.

THE LIFE OF CHRIST : Receiving The Call

Synopsis Arranged by Dr. Wm. E. Gilroy, D.D., Sketches by Kroesen.

John the Baptist, seeing Jesus, said, "Behold the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world." Again, with two of his disciples, as they looked upon Jesus, he said, "Behold the Lamb of God!" (John I:29-36)

"The two disciples heard John speak, and they followed Jesus." One of them was Andrew. (John I:37-40)

Andrew found his brother Peter, and he brought him to Jesus. (John I:41-42)

Philip, who was probably the other of the two disciples to whom John spoke, found Nathanael, who said of Jesus, "Can there any good thing come out of Nazareth?" However, he responded to Philip's invitation, "Come and see," and became a disciple. (John I:43-51)

Why you need LIFEBUOY--the purifying Toilet Soap

Think of the adventures of a coin—or a piece of paper money in a single day. Think how unclean a thing can become by passing from hand to hand.

And money is only one of the objects you often touch that are touched by other hands—objects that carry invisible but dangerous germs.

Millions have turned to Lifebuoy Soap as a prevention against infection and as an all-sufficient, delightful Toilet Soap.

The orange red cake in the orange red carton is a familiar sight in countless homes where the truth is recognized of the old axiom that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

CLASS CONCERT WELL ATTENDED

Busy Bees Give Good Programme in Wooler Hall.

WOOLER NEWS.

WOOLER, March 9.—Notwithstanding the terrible stormy evening of February 25, a large crowd of people from the neighboring community, along with local people gathered at the town hall where, under the auspices of the 'Busy Bees' Sunday School class, a concert was given. Rev.H. B. Neal was chairman for the evening.

The programme was as follows:
Recitation, Doris McColl;
Vocal duet, Lucille Wait and Lucille Sharpe;
Recitation, Annie Conley;
Recitation, Hazel Gunter;
Vocal solo, Clifford Rogers;
Recitation, Lucille Sharpe;
Vocal solo, Mrs. Dr. Anderson;
Vocal duet, Frances Terrill and Loretta McColl.

The play by the class of girls, entitled "Leave it to Polly," provided an hour's entertainment and was much enjoyed.

Many of the Section School Board and ratepayers' meetings were held during the week to discuss the proposition of a High school in Wooler, and it was quite unanimous that the different sections give a bonus to help build the school.

One of the best annual meetings of the Women's Missionary Society was held on Tuesday in the church parlors of the United Church. Lunch was served at noon to nearly forty members and visitors by Mrs. Henry Curry and her group. Quilting and sewing was continued until 2:30 p. m. Then Mrs. W. A. McColl gave an interesting description of her short visit in Mexico.

The business part of the meeting over, Mrs. Sweetman, of Smithfield, was called on to give an address, and, in her usual bright manner, brightened the path of encouragement by telling of the importance of missionary efforts, and urging that the delegates attend the Presbyterial to learn about the new fields, and routine of this important work. She also congratulated the auxiliary on having organized a new band, as well as a 'Baby Band.'

The study book was given by Mrs. William Orius and this was a wonderful inspiration to every one. Vocal solo, Miss Frances Terrill. The Twenty-third Psalm, recited by Lela Arthur, age seven.

Rev. H. B. Neal was invited to take the chair and conduct the election of officers for the ensuing year.

President, Mrs. S. L. Terrill.
Recording secretary, Mrs. W. J. Lawson.
Corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. J. Way.
Treasurer, Mrs. A. W. Clarke.
Associate Helpers, Mrs. C. McMasters.
Supply secretary—Mrs. J. J. Way.
Mission Band superintendent, Mrs. J. W. Down.
Mission Band superintendent, Mrs. A. G. Austin.
Baby Band, Miss Frances Terrill.
Strangers' secretary, Mrs. Alden Arthur.
Missionary Monthly secretary, Mrs. W. W. McColl.
Literature secretary, Mrs. C. P. Wessels.
Press secretary, Mrs. W. A. McColl.
Secretary, Christian Stewardship and Finance, Mrs. W. C. Dorland, Mrs. A. W. Clarke, Mrs. J. J. Way, Mrs. H. B Neal, Mrs. S. L. Terrill.

Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Austin are spending a few days in Toronto.

The members of the Anglican Church held their social evening in the town hall on Monday. This will be the last dance for this season.

Miss Norma McMasters, of Trenton, spent the week-end with Miss Eva Masters.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Gooding entertained the "Altruist" class on Monday evening.

Mr. M. Dudley, teacher at Stone schoolhouse, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Terrill.

On Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Terrill, accompanied by Mr. Dudley, visited Mr. and Mrs. H. Orser, Mount Olivet.

On Wednesday afternoon, Leda Arthur entertained a number of her little friends to celebrate her seventh birthday.

Mrs. Alice Wessels is convalescing in Kingston hospital, and hopes to return to her home very soon.

The Murray Township Council met in the town hall on Wednesday afternoon.

Walter H. Smith, Brighton, was in town on Wednesday.

Mrs. Arthur Scott was in Belleville on Tuesday trying her musical examination.

The Horticultural Society held a meeting in the town hall on Tuesday evening. The report of the horticultural convention in Toronto was given by Mrs. D. Bull. Plans were made and committees formed to solicit new members, and to arrange for a floral exhibit during the coming season.

Mrs. E. M. Wessels is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. Wade, Brighton.

Mr. and Mrs. William Dawson are enjoying a holiday at Napanee and Tamworth.

Mrs. Hattie Marsh has returned to Belleville after spending a few weeks with Mr. and Mrs. E. Terrill.

STIRLING NEWS

STIRLING, March 9.—The L. O. B. A. (Ladies' Orange Benevolent Association) functioned a very pleasing evening's entertainment last Monday night, when they held their box social in the opera house. Dancing was indulged in by those who wished, while others enjoyed themselves at cards, or the usual social chat. The boxes were then sold, and the purchasers having found the lady who prepared the box they had secured, another pleasant period was spent while the contents of the boxes were being sampled.

The first part of the programme was again resumed and continued for some time.

All were well pleased and hope the L. O. B. A. will do the same some other time. The proceeds will be used towards the purchase of a banner.

The ladies of St. John's Anglican Church held their annual pancake tea on Tuesday last at the home of Mrs. W. E. Bailey. It was well patronized, the proceeds being $31.00.

The pupils of the high school held an enjoyable dance in the assembly room of the school on Friday evening.

The Ladies' Union, of the United Church, held a successful tea at Mrs. Geo. Rosebush's home on Wednesday afternoon. The receipts were $10.00.

A card party was given by the executive of the Ladies' and Men's Bowling Clubs last Tuesday night in the agricultural rooms. There was a good attendance. The prizewinners were: Ladies, Mrs. Walter Wright and Mrs. R. W. Meiklejohn; gentlemen, Messrs. J. S. Morton and W. J. Whitty.

The Ladies' Aid, of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, held their weekly sewing meeting at the home of Mrs. Sheldon McIntosh on Thursday afternoon, with a good attendance and a large amount of work accomplished.

The feedmills here are working overtime, as they are otherwise unable to cope with the volume of work they are called upon to do for the farmers of the surrounding district.

While the sleighing lasts, the farmers continue the hauling of sawlogs, wood and hay.

Mr. Robt. Chambers is unloading a car of wood, which he purchased in the north.

Personals.

Mrs. K. Valleau, of Bowmanville, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Eggleton.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Cottam, of Iroquois Falls, are visiting Mr. James Donnan and other relatives.

Mrs. Clarence Cooke, of Toronto, is a guest at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Coulter.

Mrs. E. C. McWilliam (nee Edna Archer) is the guest of Mrs. J. B. Belshaw.

On the eve of their departure from Wellman's, Mr. and Mrs. Stiles were agreeably surprised when their neighbors and friends invaded their home and presented them with an electric floor lamp; Ward was given a travelling set and a fountain pen.

Mrs. Thos. Donnan was a recent visitor at the home of her brother, Mayor Geo. A. Kingston, of Campbellford.

W.M.S. PRAYER DAY

Annual Day of Prayer Held March Fourth at Welcome.

WELCOME, March 9.—The annual Day of Prayer, which has been kept by women all over the world since its inauguration, six years ago, was held this year on March 4th.

The women of the W.M.Societies of the different appointments of the Welcome circuit met in the basement at Welcome on Friday afternoon.

The programme followed was that provided by the W.M.S. of the United Church of Canada.

Mrs. R. H. Martyn, President, occupied the chair.

In a few well chosen words, she emphasized the thought that in unity was strength. While those present was not a large gathering, when we realized that the women of Japan, China, Korea, had had a similar service and following the other countries around the world, each had had like gatherings in the past few hours, we realized the magnitude of the movement.

The value of prayer for definite purposes was felt during the meeting and the need of deeper consecration was emphasized.

Welfare Party.

On Friday evening the basement of Welcome church was well-filled with friends of Miss Grace Hallet, who had gathered to "wish her well" on the near approach of her marriage.

Rev. D. R. Clare was the chairman of the evening. A bright programme was given as follows:

Instrumental Duet, Ruth Symons and Jean Bosnell.
Chairman's Address.
Solo, Miss Hazel Bamsey.
Recitation, Marion Martyn.
Duet, Misses Jean and Evelyn Bosnell.
Instrumental Trio' Misses Elva Pearce, Ida Clare and Marion Martyn.
Recitation, Ida Clare.
Solo, Mr. R. C. Symons.

At this time Miss Hallet was called to the platform while Miss Hazel Bamsey read an address from the Sunday School and friends, which spoke of her faithful attendance at Sunday School, and her devotion to the church, and asked her to accept the accompanying gifts.

A large basket, over-flowing with parcels, was then placed in front of her. These, when opened, proved to be a miscellaneous shower of pretty and valuable gifts. Miss Hallet responded in a few well-chosen words and all joined in singing "For She's a Jolly Good Lady."

Brief addresses were given by a number of ladies and gentlemen present, conveying their good wishes.

Afterwards, a dainty lunch was served.

Personals.

Mrs. McCaig of Port Hope spent Sunday the guest of Mrs. Arthur Lewis.

Mrs. Bell and babe was the guest of her sister, Mrs. W. Bamsey, over the week-end.

Miss Gertrude Lewis of Peterborough Normal spent the week-end with her parents.

Mr. Ernest Bamsey had the misfortune to sprain his ankle on Thursday night, and has been confined to his home since then.

Mrs. W. Chestnut and son, Norman, are visitors in Toronto.

LAKEFIELD NEWS

LAKEFIELD' March 9.—Mr. Cameron Payne of Pointe Ann is visiting his home in the village.

Mr. Gordon Porter of Peterborough spent the week-end with his parents in the village.

Mr. J. S. Montgomery was in Toronto last week attending the annual meeting of the Standard Bank.

Mr. W. A. Simpson of Sudbury is visiting his mother, Mrs. T. A. Simpson.

Mr. W. H. Stabler is in Peterborough for a few days.

Mr. George Davey spent a few days at his home in Oakwood last week.

Mr. J. W. Stuart of Peterborough was in the village on business on Friday.

Mr. W. C. Harvey of Cleveland is visiting his mother in the village.

Miss Mary Johnston is visiting friends in Toronto.

Mr. J. C. Strickland of Peterborough was in the village on business, Friday last.

Mrs. E. M. Grier is visiting friends in Toronto.

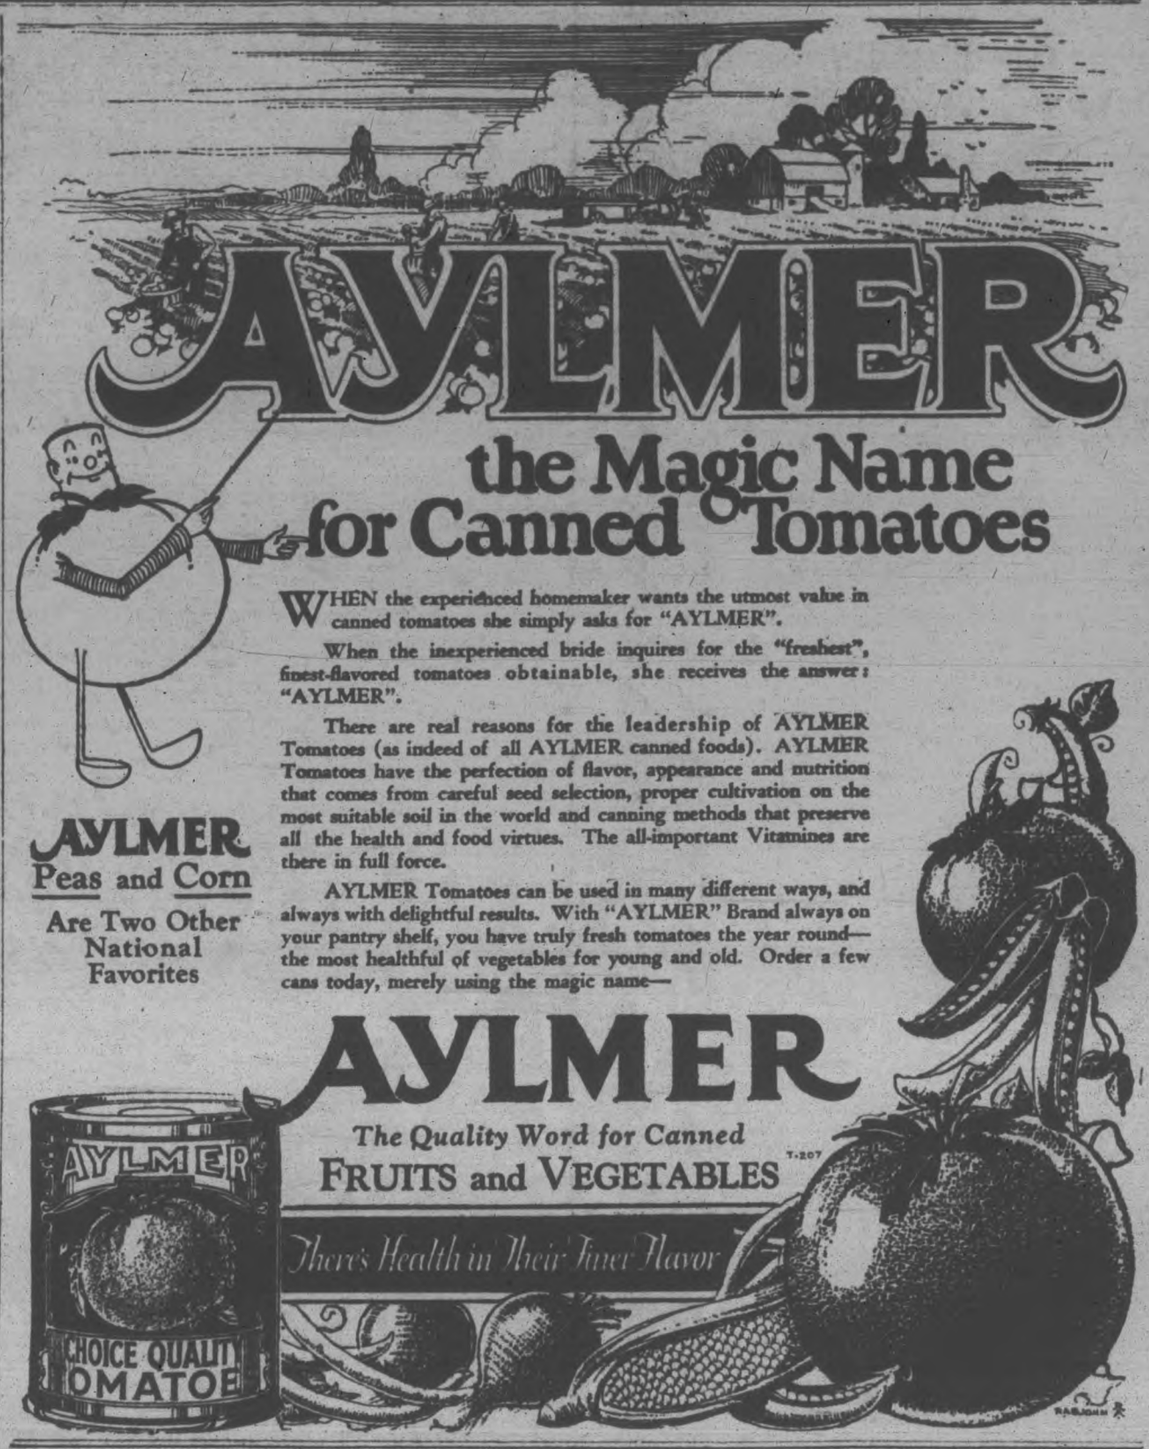
Mr. Frank Madill of Peterborough spent the week-end in the village with his parents.

Mrs. C. R. May has returned from a visit to friends in Toronto and Cleveland.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Webster are visiting friends in Toronto and Galt.

Friday was the Woman's Day of Prayer and a large meeting was held in the school room of Regent St. church in the afternoon, representing the Women's Missionary organizations of the village. This movement has grown enormously and now is a recognized part of women's work all over Canada.

Rev. Walter M. Loucks, M.A. of Holy Trinity Church, Toronto, will give a lecture in the Lakefield Memorial Hall on Thursday evening, March 31st at 8 o'clock. Mr. Loucks is not a stranger to the village and he will receive a hearty welcome. There will also be a number of musical selections and several moving pictures of local celebrities taken in the village streets. This latter will be an innovation which will, no doubt, be very popular.



LEAGUES DEBATE CAUSES OF CRIME

Trent River Branch Defeats Havelock—Trent River News.

TRENT RIVER, March 9.— An interesting debate was held at the United Church Friday night between Havelock Efficiency League and Trent River League. Four sleighloads came from Havelock and the edifice was filled to its capacity.

The subject for debate was: "Resolved that poverty causes more crime than anything else," Havelock taking the negative while Trent River supported the affirmative. The latter scored the most points. The judges were Messrs. John Ruttan, George Vanvolkenburg, and A. C. Denike, Havelock.

The Havelock Sunday School Orchestra furnished a few pleasing selections, and Miss Thelma Davidson, Havelock, also rendered a suitable solo.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Wight have returned to Peterborough for an indefinite time.

Miss Alice Gunn, Hastings, was a visitor over the week-end with Mr. John Ruttan and family.

The trappers are not all 'set" yet, owing to some change in being allowed on the marshland claimed by numerous landowners along the shores, the said land having been previously leased to outsiders.

Miss Margaret Brown and brothers Malcolm and Alexander, took a hiking trip to Norwood Sunday to visited their grandmother, Mrs. Hendren, making the return trip the same day.

SIGNS OF SPRING AT BAILIEBORO

Crows Arrive With Lusty Cawing—Bluejay Reported.

PUSSY WILLOWS OUT

BAILIEBORO, March 9. — The first real signs of Spring that have been noticed in this district, appeared on Friday and Saturday, with the return of a noisy flock of crows. The flock seemed to remain in the vicinity of Rice Lake, while odd stragglers could be seen scouring the surrounding country in search of food.

One of the villagers has reported seeing a blue-jay, while several have had the joy of seeing and listening to the songs of the robin redbreast;

The pussy willows are beginning to break from the bud, while the youngsters playing on the streets on Saturday were having a huge time making channels for the water.

The Spring spirit seems to be in the blood of everyone, and an almost sure sign of Spring is that the gang on the provincial highways is busily engaged in digging tunnels through the culvert and in the ditches, to allow the surplus waters to escape.

BOYS' WEEK.

Many local organizations have been asked by the Peterborough Rotary Club to send representatives to a conference in the Canadian Legion Hall tomorrow night at which Rotary's plans for a boys' week in Peterborough are to be explained.

The proposed programme sounds like good business both for the boy and for Peterborough, and it is hoped ,therefore, that the attendance will be large, inasmuch as it is obvious that there will have to be general co-operation with Rotary if the proposal is to be successfully undertaken.

In many cities in recent years similar boys' weeks have been staged with very gratifying results, and there is no reason why equal success cannot be obtained here.

It has been said so often that it is a worn-out platitude that a city's best asset is its children.

Monotonous as may be the repetition of that saying, it nevertheless has the merit of being true, and it furnishes the chief raison d'etre of boys' week.

IT WASN'T STRONG ENOUGH.

The Examiner wishes to humbly apologize for its editorial last evening in regard to motorists who drive fast through water-covered streets; that is, we desire to apologize for the mildness of the article.

It wasn't nearly strong enough to fit the situation, and if we had been called upon to write upon the same subject yesterday morning, just as after a speedily moving sedan had splashed several gallons of icy and far from immaculate water over ye editorial garments, the remarks in regard to such conduct would have been heated enough to have scorched the paper.

With sidewalks so low that it is a difficult matter to keep them clean, drains blocked up and conditions generally so bad that pedestrians are forced to compete with motorists for a right-of-way on the roads, drivers can do much to help a very disagreeable situation.

One citizen has suggested that The Examiner publish the number of cars the drivers of which have been discourteous and unmannerly enough to drive fast past pedestrians, and there is a strong temptation indeed to print a daily list of offenders.

That shouldn't be necessary, however; much of the trouble doubtless has been caused by lack of thought on the part of motorists, and these articles may cause a betterment in conditions.

A NEW POLICY.

The City Council in passing a bylaw providing that the appointment of a Deputy Fire Chief shall be subject to the approval of the Council is launching out into an experiment that, however it may be considered justified in view of particular conditions that exist, will be viewed with some trepidation.

The theory of departmental responsibility is not one to be lightly departed from.

In civic, as in private business, it is considered the safest course to hold the head of a department responsible for the operation of that department, with the obvious remedy that if the results are not satisfactory the executive who has failed can be replaced.

Generally speaking, it is not good business to interfere with the authority of a department head in so far as his selection of his staff and his methods of discipline are concerned.

In the case of the Fire Department it is argued that as the Assistant Chief takes charge of the department in the absence of the Chief, the Council is as much concerned in the appointment of an assistant as in the appointment of the Chief himself.

That line of reasoning followed to its logical conclusion would lead to the assumption that as the Captain takes charge in the absence of both the Chief and Assistant Chief, his appointment should also be approved by the Council, and so on down the line.

However the change in policy adopted by the City Council may work out, The Examiner is inclined to question the principle of the bylaw, feeling that if the Council is not satisfied with conditions in the Fire Department and with the results that are being obtained there the business-like method of dealing with such a situation does not lie in the adoption of a policy that means aldermanic interference with the operations of the department.

CANADIAN COAL FOR CANADIANS.

The failure of the Board of Railway Commissioners to investigate the cost of moving coal into Central Canada from the West and from the Maritime Provinces is giving grave concern to those who appreciate the importance of developing the Canadian coal industry.

In February of last year an order-in-Council was passed by the Federal Government directing the Railway Board to make a careful inquiry into the actual out-of-pocket costs of transporting coal from the West and from the Maritimes into Central Canada.

Although a year has passed since these instructions, no sitting of the Board on the matter has yet taken place, and if anything is to be done toward Canadian coal independence this year, it is vital that this hearing should take place immediately.

Canada spends enormous amounts of money in foreign fuel.

The buying power of our foreign coal purchases is in excess of $300,000,000 a year, or the total of the national debt of Canada every eight years.

It doesn't take a great deal of thought to realize what a wonderful difference it would make to Canada if all that money could be put into circulation on this, instead of on the other, side of the line.

It would support a million new population in Canada and assist in preventing the emigration of trained Canadian men and women.

The value to Canada of a Canadian fuel policy is so readily apparent that every effort to put into effect such a policy should be supported.

The problem is a challenge to Canadian ability, and it is surely not beyond the genius of Canadian statesmen and business men to co-ordinate the coal production of Western Canada and the Maritimes, the transportation facilities of the Dominion and the buying markets of Central Canada, and so save the larger part of the huge sums now being spent by Canadians for American fuel.

Team-work will do the trick.

OUR STREET RAILWAY—AND OTHER THINGS.

Quoting Premier Ferguson's figures as to the deficits or surpluses in the case of utilities in Central Ontario, operated by the Ontario Government, The Oshawa Reformer has the following interesting remarks to make about the situation:

"This statement outlines a procedure which is a real puzzler. The Cobourg gas plant produced a loss of three and a half thousands of dollars. The Oshawa gas plant made a profit of nearly eleven thousand dollars. Under these circumstances it might reasonably be supposed that consumers of gas in Cobourg might be asked to pay more for their gas so as to make up this deficit and to make the plant pay its own way, and that Oshawa consumers might be given a reduction. Not so. Instead, users of electricity in Oshawa are asked to pay more so as to make up for the deficit in Cobourg; and, of course, throughout this whole district, Hydro rates go up so as to pay losses in Cobourg, Campbellford and Peterborough. It is a peculiar system.

"But the waterworks in Cobourg show a profit which is a little larger than the deficit on the Cobourg gas plant. Then why should Hydro rates go up in that town? Or why should the users of water in Cobourg help to pay for the gas used in Cobourg? Would not the fair and just plan be to increase the rates for gas and to decrease the water rates in Cobourg so that every consumer would pay his own shot. Mr. Dash, of Cobourg, uses water, gas and electricity. Mr. Blank, of the same town, uses water and electricity. Mr. So-and-So, also of Cobourg, uses only electricity. But all three of them are now asked to pay more for their electricity, just because Mr. Dash is getting his gas at less than cost. Truly, it is a peculiar system. And more peculiar still, because Mr. Citizen in Oshawa, who is already paying the full cost and more of all services he uses, is also asked to pay more for his electricity so as to help out poor Mr. Dash in Cobourg with his gas bills.

"Peterborough shows a profit on its gas plant, but a huge deficit on its street railway. Then, says the Hydro, all you people in this part of the Province must chip in and help to meet that deficit. You may never even have had a ride on a Peterborough street car; you may never even have been in that beautiful city; but you must pay street car fares just the same—in your electric light bills.

"Why not raise the fares in Peterborough? Because then the citizens of that place would not use the cars and the deficit would be greater still. Why not abandon the street railway entirely, tear up the tracks, and let that city run buses? Because then the Hydro would have no market for that electric power. Therefore, the Toonerville trolleys must keep on chasing one another noisily up and down the streets of Peterborough and the citizens of Oshawa must help to pay for the power that keeps them on the move. Surely it is a peculiar system.

"A huge loss is incurred on the pulp mill at Campbellford. Just imagine that in this land of pulp and paper! Do pulp mills at Kapuskasing, Iroquois Falls and near Port Colborne show deficits? Not that one would notice. Why do privately-owned pulp mills thrive, while this public-ownership mill at Campbellford is weak and sickly to the extent of over forty-six thousand dollars per annum? Echo answers 'Why?' In Canada, the home of pulp, a pulp mill shows a big deficit! And the citizens of Oshawa, who have no concern with that mill any more than if it were in Timbuctoo, must, through their light bills, help to pay its deficits. Why not sell the mill?. Because, perhaps, the new owners might not provide so good a market for Hydro power. Why not manage the mill so that it would pay its pay? What's the use, so long as the people of Oshawa and of this part of the Province can be compelled to meet the losses? There is no motive for making it show a profit so long as there is an easy method of finding all the money needed. Who would bother exerting himself to earn money if he could force a kindly neighbor to pay all his debts? It is, indeed it is, a peculiar system.

"The Reformer's contention is that each of these Hydro enterprises should be made to stand on its own feet. If, for some as yet unexplained reason, this is impossible, why should not the whole Province take care of the losses? Surely Toronto and Hamilton and Ottawa and London are just as much interested in Peterborough and in Campbellford as Oshawa is. The Hydro-Electric Power Commission is one. It is a Provincial system. Then let the Province of Ontario bear its losses or enjoy its profits. There are no artificial units known as Central Ontario, Eastern Ontario, Western Ontario and Northern Ontario. The Province is one. The Hydro's geographical units are either the large or the small. The logical unit is either the municipality or the whole Province. The Reformer looks to C. A. Magrath, a big man, a wise man, a man in whom the people have confidence, to smash this Chinese puzzle of artificially allocated deficits and to put Hydro affairs on an equitable basis."

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, March 9 (Canadian Press).—The export trade in grain on the Montreal market yesterday was again very quiet, there being no demand from foreign buyers at prices that could be accepted.

The demand for cash grain was also limited and prices were unchanged.

The domestic trade in Spring wheat grades of flour was moderate and the undertone was firm. The movement of Winter wheat flour was slow and prices were unchanged.

A fairly active trade was done in all lines of millfeed and prices were firmly maintained. A moderate business was reported in standard grades of rolled oats, and prices ruled steady.

The trade in baled hay with the United States continued good, but the local demand was quiet. Prices were firm.

The market for eggs was without any special feature to note, the undertone being steady with a fair volume of business. The receipts were 2,137 cases.

The trade in potatoes was again of a limited character, but the tone of the market was steady. Car lots of Prince Edward Island were quoted at $1.50 to $1.60 per bag of 90 pounds, and Quebec varieties at $1.00 to $1.10 per bag of 90 pounds in bulk, ex-track.

A feature of the butter trade was the further display of strength and prices scored another fractional gain which was attributed to the good demand. New Zealand finest grades were quoted at 43c to 43 1-4c, and Canadian grades were quoted at the same figures. The receipts were 613 packages.

Extreme dullness again marked the cheese trade and the undertone was easy. The receipts were 263 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 9 (Canadian Press).—Wheat values underwent a quick setback yesterday after an official report that the reserve stock of domestic wheat on farms is larger than expected. Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled at the same as Monday's finish, to 3-4c lower; with corn 3-8 to 5-8c off; oats 3-8 to 5-8c down, and provisions varying from 20 cents decline to a rise of 5c.

Corn broke nearly two cents a bushel from the day's high point, official figures on farm reserves of corn being 64,000,000 bushels in excess of the highest private estimates. However, the report on corn showed only 71 per cent marketable, against 78 per cent a year ago. Oats paralleled the action of corn and wheat, ruling firmer most of the day, but receding at the last.

TOO MUCH SHOOTING.

The Editor of The Examiner:

Dear sir:

Would you mind writing to the Voice of the People about those people who go around shooting with rifles. There have been a lot of mail-boxes rifled, through the country, and advertising signs have been knocked to pieces by bullets. It is not hardly safe for anyone to travel the country with bullets flying through the air around you.

A resident of North Monaghan, who had a little camp in the bush, found the windows and door of it all broken. Is there no place that these sports can shoot without molesting the public? I have counted as many as twelve bullet-holes in one mail box. Thank you!

A RESIDENT OF CLARADAY.

Dear Mr. Editor:

I would like, through the medium of your paper, to give public expression to my appreciation of the sermon given last Sunday by the Rev. Mr. Allan at St. Paul's Church. It was indeed, to me, a pleasure and a privilege to have been present to hear such an able speaker, and if there were more ministers like him, preaching the Commandment, "Love thy neighbor as thyself," the world would be a much happier place to live in.

After all, we are all striving for the same goal, perhaps along different avenues of thought, but if a little of the spirit that emanated from Mr. Allan's sermon could only be planted in each one of us, religious differences could not be thought of, and there would be a brotherly contact one with another that, unfortunately, is not the case today.

Yours, etc.,

LOUIS GREEN.

A CALL TO SHOVELS.

The Editor, Evening Examiner:

Dear Editor:

We could easily get 75% of the population to join a "Knock Peterborough Club" by the way they clear off the walks. Many seem too lazy and slovenly to even shovel off the loose slush. Surely there is some way that this could be remedied and remedied not next year, or the year after, but in a day or two.

The drains seem to be pretty well neglected by the city. The whole situation is a bad "knock" for Peterborough. I have had my own walk bare for over a week and have also cleared that in front of the vacant lot next door which I do not even own. I remain,

Yours truly,

"WET-FEET"

SLUSHY SIDEWALKS.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Will you kindly allow me a space in your paper for the purpose of expressing my opinion—and no doubt the opinion of others—regarding the City's sidewalks.

A few days ago an article appeared on the front page of The Examiner complaints of "automobile drivers" to the Mayor about the bad ruts in the streets, which were an inconvenience to the drivers, as well as dangerous. The horses which are compelled to cross and recross these ruts, slipping in and stumbling out of them at the hands of merciful and some unmerciful drivers, were not even considered in that article. One wonders why the horses always seem to be a secondary or no consideration, by some people, compared to a car. But the writer wonders if citizens, who are forced to walk, ever think of the absolute imposition it is for the City of Peterborough to expect people to wade ankle-deep in slush and water or walk on the dirty road—all because of the failure on the part of our City fathers to pass a By-Law compelling tenants and property-owners to shovel their sidewalks through the winter, regardless of the snow-plow.

The writer has resided in two Cities half the size of Peterboro, which can shame Peterborough in this regard. In these smaller cities, the citizens are compelled to have their sidewalks shovelled by 9 a.m. after a storm, with a 12-inch trench at the road edge of sidewalk, which enables water to get away and not run all over the sidewalks like it does in the fair City of Peterborough. If citizens do not comply with the by-law a policeman calls at the door and asks the reason why? At the present time, the citizens in these smaller cities—yes, and larger ones too—are walking on dry sidewalks while the Peterborough citizens are wading. At the corner of George street and Simcoe street by the Dominion Bank, the water was so deep on the crossing Sunday night that people coming to and from church found it necessary to take the street. It may be that the Aldermen all drive cars and have not had the pleasure of getting their feet wet or splashed with dirty water by a passing car while walking in the street.

It is surely reasonable that the people, who have to walk, should have some protection in this regard. The citizens pay taxes on the sidewalks; why have them buried in six inches of slush and water? Some day we hope Peterborough will awaken and adopt some new by-laws before they become ancient history in more up-to-date cities.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

My, what an intelligent lot of human beings we are becoming! Radio is helping to impart wisdom, as we listen in on the erudite broadcasting of the great and near great. Cross word puzzling has helped to familiarize us with the expressive words that we never before knew or heard of. And now comes the new dictionary, in a section of which we are shown where we have been making all kinds of mistakes by writing and speaking.

The wise ones are taking advantage of the dictionary offer made through these columns; and the otherwise soon will become wise by following the example of those who are wise.

It makes no difference whether you are wise or otherwise, you need this new dictionary with its enlarged vocabulary and its wealth of new words. Look up the coupon printed elsewhere in this issue, clip it, and learn how easy it is to be classified as one of the wise ones.

LUMPS IN THE BREAST

There are many types of tumors which find lodgment in different parts of the body, but the kind which breaks down into a cancerous mass is caused by a collection of miscellaneous inert cells, which are gathered in a group at some definite location in the body. A bruise or injury may be sufficient to start an accumulation of these cells, or it may be due simply to a congestion produced by deficient functioning of that part of the body.

Physicians all over the world have decided that the best course to pursue when these lumps appear in the breast is to remove them surgically, or to attempt to burn them with radium or the X-ray. The average doctor considers that an unnatural lump in any place in the body is always a possible cancer, and that it should be removed as soon as it has been discovered.

There is not very much difference between the cells found in an ordinary tumor and those found in a cancer. The main difference seems to be that when the inert cells of a tumor start degenerating, the mass can be then called a cancer. When this degeneration starts, the white blood cells are called to the rescue, and pass along the accumulated line of dead cells which have been cut off from the normal circulation of the body.

There is no doubt but that in many cases where lumps have appeared in the breast or uterus, the patient's life has been prolonged by the removal of these lumps or the removal of the entire organ. Nevertheless, my experience has been that these lumps can be cured in their incipient stage by the use of the fasting and diet regime, which will get the blood into suitable condition so that the absorption of the deposits will take place, and the dead cells be entirely eliminated.

It is necessary to take quite a long fast in order to accomplish this result, as most of the soft tissue of the body, such as fatty tissue, must be reduced to the minimum before the blood will absorb any of the firmer growths or accumulation of dead cells. A suitable diet must then be followed, one which will be free from all such fatty products. The quantity of food must be kept to the minimum, so th at the cells of the body will be fairly well nourished. If too much food is used, The blood will be filled with this excess food material, and will not absorb the lumps or deposits which have accumulated.

There are many treatments which can be used to assist in the elimination of he dead cells by increasing the circulation of the blood through the affected parts. n a case of lumps in the breast, it is advisable to use a treatment several times laily with applications of hot, moist towels. This treatment should last ten to fifteen minutes at a time. An excellent way to dilate the capillaries in the neighborhood of the lump is to use powerful radiations from a high candle power therapeutic lamp, which can be secured in any surgical supply store.

Lumps in the breast are often only enlargements of the mammary glands, and will often disappear as soon as the irritation in the sexual organs is removed, which is often the cause of congestion of the circulation in the breast. Try the fast and diet regime with the heat treatments, before you decide upon an operation.

DR. FRANK CRANE'S DAILY EDITORIAL.

THE UNSUNG HERO

(By Dr. Frank Crane.)

It is an old story, but it is ever new.

It is the story of how a dog saved human life.

Particularly it is the story of Peggy, the Spitz mascot, on the fire boat George B. McClellan of New York.

A number of men and their families were aboard twenty-six barges one cold day. The barges slipped their moorings and headed for the dark, swirling waters of Hell Gate. Peggy, the dog on the fire boat McClellan scented something wrong. He sniffed the air and heard the screams of the women and children through the calm. Then he began to howl and jump around the deck. Members of the crew stuck their heads out of the hatches to see what was the matter. They heard the screams of the frenzied women and children and brought this fire boat to the rescue. Another tug boat came along and helped. They got a line to the barges and saved them from going into the whirlpool and being strewn upon the reef.

They brought them down the West channel of the East river in safety.

When the barges were tied up at the wharf many of the women and children; as well as men, went down on their knees and offered thanks for their deliverance by the crews of the fire boat and the tug boat.

The real hero of the occasion was the dog Peggy, who by his vigilance had perceived the danger and given timely warning.

An editor was once asked what was the most interesting story in the world and he said it was the story of the dog rescuing the child.

Men have always been fond of the dog because of his faithful attachment and his vigilance in keeping watch. Their natural fondness for the canine will not be lessened by the story of Peggy, the Spitz.

MISSIONS IN CHINA DOOMED BUT CHRISTIANITY CAN GO ON

All Asia Resents Foreign Political and Cultural Influence They Exercise.

WELCOME CHARITIES

Mission Graduates Lead Move to Take Philanthropies From Churches.

All Asia Is Resenting Foreign Political and Cultural Influence Which Missionaries Have Exercised—Welcome Philanthropy Divorced From Religious "Drives"—Mission Graduates Lead Movement to Take Schools and Hospitals Out of Religious Hands—Hardy Native Christian Church Will Survive Trouble.

BY UPTON CLOSE

"Christianity is to stop right now, so far as it is the wedge of foreign influence driven into our country by foreign money and organization, controlled by foreign personnel and backed by foreign guns. Christianity will have the same opportunity in our new China as, say, Buddhism in your America, so far as it is a teaching relying purely on intellectual and spiritual conviction. Although I and most of my associates are scientific agnostics, we will see that it has full protection, but it must start all over again on this new basis."

Dr. Wang Ching-hui, the president of the New Nationalist party at Canton, thus summed up for me the attitude of the dominant young minds over whose "inner councils" he presides.

This is the answer to the urgent question asked by Sunday schools and those interested in missions: "What is the future of missionary work in Asia." The peoples of South Asia, who were shown the way by Turkey when she expropriated mission properties and brought Christian institutions under rigid governmental control, are swinging into line behind the leadership of China.

All Religions of Asiatic Origin.

"Why," asked Mahatma Gandhi of India when I visited his headquarters, "should you self-styled whites get it into your heads that Christianity is your special largesse to distribute and interpret? You have made a mess of it yourselves. As a matter of fact, Christ was originally Asiatic, as were all founders of religions, and I think we understand Him much better than you do. We would have thanked Him for bringing His gospel before us had you not mingled it so much with your Western culture, dress and machinery. We will go on and present the true Christ to India."

Gandhi has ordered the New Testament read in all Swaraj schools, for which he is being roundly jumped on by old Brahmins in the Indian press.

Chinese leaders do not so much object to the Ford cars modern plumbing and button-down the-front trousers which missionaries have spread along with the Christian gospel. But they highly resent the influence foreign nations have exercised over Chinese officials and populace through their missionaries, the repeated infringements of the Powers on Chinese sovereignty "to protect the missionaries" and the sectarianism which the missions have tried to carry over into China.

It is significant that many native Chinese Christian churches have thrown off the mentorship of the foreign missionary and have vigorously joined in the Nationalist movement, as witness the recent anti-foreign proclamation of the Hankow group. Mission school graduates are in the forefront of the campaign to end the privileges of foreigners.

Taking Over Mission Property.

The great mission leaders of the past half century thought themselves strategists when they undertook educational and medical philanthropy to "put over" Christian dogma. It helped them collect money at home and got them favor in "heathen" lands. It has proved a boomerang.

The "natives" discovered the distinction between philanthropy and religious propaganda. In this they have been greatly aided in recent years by such non-religious works as the China Medical Board of the Rockefeller Foundation, which has virtually absorbed and "denatured" medical missionary work in China.

Now missionary investments of $80,000,000 to $100,000,000 in schools and hospitals in China, three-fourths American, are being taken away and secularized. Within the last three months, both the Peking and Canton governments have required that mission schools shall register with the Government and cease to make chapel attendance and Bible study compulsory for graduation. Japan has enforced such an idea for years and in Korea practically wiped out the mission higher schools system following the accusation that they were in part responsible for the Korean uprising.

Buddhists Use Methodist Hymns.

Although admitting that Christian schools have kept alive higher education during the period of disruption, Chinese educators object to their conduct under such titles as "Peking University," when there is a national university in Peking. Christian institutions have tried to avert feeling by taking the special religious connotation out of their names as well as curricula, "Canton Christian College" being changed last year to "Lungnam University."

Reaction against militant Christianity is shown by formation of the "Red Swastika Society," which I found supplanting the Red Cross in China, and the powerful Young Men's and Women's Buddhist Associations of Japan. Turkey has her "Red Crescent Society." Buddhism has taken a cue from Christians in Japan in forming church and conference organizations and conducting Sunday schools in which the good Methodist hymns are sung with Buddha substituted for Jesus.

These are symptoms of reaction against the general flood of foreign ideas overwhelming Asian peoples.

In addition to the general feeling, which is more anti-foreign than anti-Christian, there exists as well a definite but small anti-religious movement, affiliated with that in Russia, of which the head is Dr. Tsai Yuan-pei, chancellor of the National University, venerated for his learning and decried for his submission to Russian influences. The movement was given a big push by the British agnostic, Bertrand Russell, during his year's stay in China in 1921.

Objected to Favor to Mott.

Sentiment turned primarily against Christianity when the college built with Boxer indemnity funds due America suspended work and its buildings were turned over to the Christian student Volunteer international convention under Dr. John R. Mott. Had an association of any other religion or of agnostics asked for its use they would have been refused, maintained the anti-Christian students, and only the evident political influence of the Christian churches with the American and Chinese governments could have got this unusual favor, which they assailed.

The "Era of Missions" so lauded in modern church history is at its end as surely as is the era of the white man's political domination. The day of hundred-billion-dollars drives on heathenism, of the fund-raiser who promises that if contributions are raised from the grand total of ten million dollars a year to twenty million, China will be Christianized within this generation, is gone. Awakened, Asia will no longer submit to foreign "drives" of any kind, though these drives be most philanthropic and Christian.

Yet there is much left to encourage ardent followers of Christ's parting injunction to spread His gospel to every nation. There is now in every nation of Asia a hardy native church. Indigenous Christianity, which does not care longer to rely on the white man, has able and devoted leaders, and will survive the present wave against everything savoring of the West except material benefits. But it will break the hearts of our sectarian dogmatists.

A Benefactor

A public benefactor is one who helps people to be happy. Such a man was Dr. R. V. Pierce.

It is impossible to be happy if you are suffering—in pain or distress—ill. To restore health and strength to ailing people was Dr. Pierce's mission. During his lifetime, he gave to the world a priceless herbal remedy in his Favorite Prescription, for restoring the health of weak, nervous, over-worked women, and thereby increasing happiness in the home.

As a skilled physician, an honored citizen, Dr. Pierce was known far and near for integrity and fair dealing. His phenomenal success was due to the unquestioned purity of his medicines.

Women in every walk of life today say Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has relieved them of nervousness, weakness and kindred ills. KNOX W. M. S. ELECTS OFFICERS

Mrs. W. Watt Re-elected to Chair at Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of Knox United Church was held on March 3, with a good attendance. The president, Mrs. William Watt, occupied the chair.

The meeting opened with devotional exercises, Mrs. Perrin and Rev. Mr. McDonald assisting.

Reports were given of the different departments of our Society, the Missionary Monthly, Home Helpers, Social Service, Strangers and Finance Committee.

The annual report of the Society was given by Mrs. A. Long; the Treasurer's report by Mrs. J. Gerard, the Mission Band by Mrs. H. Clegg, and the Young Women's Auxiliary by Miss L. Holyman.

These reports were very encouraging, and report increased interest and givings.

The adoption of these reports was seconded by Mrs. Morrison in a few well chosen words.

Rev. Mr. McDonald then took charge while a motion electing the following officers was carried:

Pres.: Mrs. William Watt; 1st Vice Pres., Mrs. (Rev.) McDonald; 2nd Vice-Pres., Miss Dickson; 3rd Vice-Pres., Mrs. R. Laing; Secretary, Mrs A. Long; Cor. Secretary, Mrs. H. Baptie; Treasurer, Mrs. J. Gerard; Organist, Mrs. K. Denoon; Missionary Monthly Secretary, Mrs. J. McCurdy; Strangers' Secretary, Mrs. I. Ego; Home Helpers' Secretary, Mrs. J. F. Morrison; Literature Secretary, Mrs. E. Benson; Convenor of Finance Committee, Mrs. F. Gray.

HUNTSVILLE MAYOR TO SHOW CLOSENESS

Will Fly To Toronto and Back in Seven Hours.

HUNTSVILLE, Ont., March 9.—Mayor H. E. Rice left Huntsville at 9 o'clock this morning on a record-breaking trip to Toronto. He was to fly by plane and reach Toronto in time to have lunch with Mayor Foster at the King Edward Hotel at 12.30. After a half hour's greeting with Toronto's chief magistrate, the mayor of Huntsville was to start on his return journey and was scheduled to arrive here at 4 o'clock. The trip has been arranged by some citizens who will seek to demonstrate the proximity of Toronto to the central portion of the great Muskoka tourist centres. If the test flight is a success, it may be the forerunner of a regular service by air from Huntsville as a pivotal point in the Muskoka region to the capital of Ontario.

The proposition to cover the 300 miles return journey in six hours is something not heretofore attempted and will inaugurate a new conception of the annihilation of distance by the air route.

THEATRE

AT THE REGENT

"MILLIONAIRES."

"Millionaires," the Warner Bros. production which comes to the Regent Theatre to-morrow for a run of three days, is a free adaptation of E. Phillips Oppenheim's book, "The Inevitable Millionaires." It tells the story of a Jewish tailor who suddenly makes a fortune in stocks and finds himself in for golf, horses, divorces and other uncomfortable luxuries.

George Sidney, once famed as Bizzy Izzy in vaudeville, then the unforgetable Potash of the "Potash and Perlmutter" series, and more recently featured on the screen in "Kosher Kitty Kelly" and "The Cohens and the Kellys," has the leading role, as the tender-hearted tailor who is transported into a world of hard-hearted social striving.

Vera Gordon, who, since "Humoresque," has been the Jewish mother in every picture, for which her services can be obtained, appears once more in her favorite type of role. Only this time, she is not quite so tender as before. The tailor's wife in this picture is one who gets caught in a whirlwind of social ambition and swept off her feet; who listens to the serpent tongues of other social climbers and decides she must ditch her husband if she is to get on in society.

OLD RADIO PARTS ARE DEMONSTRATED

Roy Powell Exhibits and Lectures On Apparatus 20 Years Old.

Going back twenty years in wireless and demonstrating with a home-made transmitter and receiver, Roy Powell addressed the members of the Peterboro Radio Club last night on Progress in radio.

Years ago several men in the city formed what they called a wireless club. These men were all more or less wireless fans or experts, and each had equipment and call letters.

Mr. Powell was the president of that club, and last night he demonstrated his home made transmitter and receiver, showing how it could be used to light a bulb, ring a bell, and give an automatic fire alarm.

This equipment which he used is mostly made from odds and ends picked up, because wireless parts in those days were a small fortune to buy, and very often could not be bought anyway.

Mr. Powell at the beginning of the world war had a very complete and then up-to-date transmitter and receiver, but the authorities compelled him to dismantle it—in fact any one then operating one of these had to cease.

Wireless parts years back were very large and cumbersome, compared with the small compact ones used to-day, but still along the same principles.

This lecture was interesting and instructive, and a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Powell was moved by Mr. George Burchill.

THANK-OFFERING SERVICE HELD

Women's Missionary Societies of Millbrook United Church Gather.

FITTING ADDRESS

MILLBROOK, March 9. — Miss Marian Coon, of Peterborough, missionary on furlough from China, was the speaker for the special service held in the United Church on Sunday morning. The Women's Missionary Auxiliary, Mission Circle, and Mission Band attended in a body, and the annual Easter thankoffering for the three organizations was taken up, a generous response being made in each case.

The choir rendered the anthem, "Saviour, Thy Dying Love," and Mrs. G. W. Sayles and her daughter, Miss Marjorie, sang a duet, "If I could but tell," both numbers being much appreciated by the large congregation.

"No nation becomes any greater than its motherhood, or rises to any higher level than its womanhood. The women and girls in Canada waste more opportunities in one day than the women and girls of China have the advantge of in whole lifetime," stated Miss Coon, as she proceeded to tell of the sense of oppression she experienced for some time after arrival at her station in the city of Chungking, China, because of the sharp contrast between the happy homes, and well cared for lives of her own sex in this land, and the unhappy conditions under which her sisters in the Far East spend their lives from the cradle to the grave.

Miss Coon made a special appeal to the women and girls of the congregation, and related a number of incidents which had come to her knowledge through personal experience in connection with the strange marriage customs, the sale of little girls for immoral purposes, the ravages of disease through lack of proper medical attention, and even the terror of little children when brought to the temple for the first time to burn incense sticks before the ugly idols, all of which constituted a strong and touching appeal, and emphasized the need of the Gospel message.

"Fathers in China love their little daughters as much as fathers in Canada do, but I have hundreds of times seen a Chinese father walking down the street in Chungking carrying his little girl in his arms, with a 'for sale' sign pinned on her arm; not being able to keep the child because of economic conditions, he must take this way of disposing of her. Twenty-six centuries of teaching the inferiority of woman, and insisting upon the ideal of perfect submission to man, has brought about such fruitage as this.

"To train Christian, native leadership is the imperative objective of missions; ignorance and Christianity cannot go hand in hand. Christian homes are of supreme importance in the moral reform of China; they have houses and children but no real homes without the change wrought by the gospel."

In her concluding remarks Miss Coon gave a number of specific instances of the amazing change in the lives of girls with whom she had come into intimate contact through her work, as they had come to know Jesus Christ, often after a severe struggle because of the 'pull' of their heathen upbringing and relationships; these stories from real life were illuminating in character, and decidedly pathetic in detail.

Miss Coon is a daughter of the late Rev. C. W. Coon, at one time pastor on the Cavanville circuit, and a past president of the Bay of Quinte Conference; "a man greatly beloved" was the statement of the pastor, Rev. F. H. Howard, as he introduced the speaker of the morning.

Beginning next Sunday evening, Mr. Howard will take up the story of the life and ministry of Christ leading up to the cross and the resurrection, lantern slides illustrating the address, the series to continue throughout the Lenten season.

Mr. A. J. Fallis, ex-M.P.P., went to Toronto on Monday, and will attend the Ontario Legislature when the new liquor control bill is introduced by Premier Ferguson this week.

Miss Marian Coon, who spoke in the United Church here on Sunday morning, and at Cavanville at night, was the guest of Rev. F. H. and Mrs. Howard at the parsonage during her stay in town.

Miss E. Dixon, of Toronto, is visiting Mrs. C. M. Westmacott.

Mrs. B. H. Price, of Orillia, was the guest of her mother, Mrs. R. J. Doak, over the week-end.

Miss Drope, of Peterborough, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. McKee Bingham over the week-end.

Among those from here who went to Peterborough on Saturday and attended the final game for the Morrow Trophy between a local rink skipped by R. H. Edmunds and Dr. Harvie, of Orillia, were: Ex-Warden A. J. and Mrs. Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Bradley, Mrs. W. E. Ball, Mrs. R. H. Edmunds, Mrs. G. W. Sayles.

In Peterborough Churches

SALVATION ARMY TEMPLE.

Heading the story of the discovery of the two women when they arrived at the sepulchre to find Christ had risen, from the Gospel according to St. Luke, Mrs. Adj. Ham said, "That this was surely the story of a marvellous event" and when the women met the disciples and told their finding the stone rolled away, was it to be wondered that they were incredulous, after their associations with the Master in His ministry on earth. There is a table inscribed in Latin, on the wall of St. Paul Cathedral, which says: "If you would see my work—look around." If you are here tonight and require proof of the work of Jesus Christ, proof of His resurrection, I would say to you, look around. Let us for a moment think of the Cross—the emblem of all that is highest and noblest in our life. Those who carry the story of Jesus Christ to the heathen—their emblem is the Cross. Midst the blaze of the cannon on the battlefield those who minister the wounded, the dying wear the insignia of the cross. No, the death on the cross and the resurrection is not an idle tale and I want to bring one or two solemn truths before you to-night.

First it must be remembered that the indulgence in one small sin will lead to great sinning. If you could travel tonight through the Rocky Mountains we would in places witness the havoc wrought by an avalanche—and that little white peak of snow way on the top of the mountains was the beginning of that avalanche—and it is so with sin.

Then another solemn thought is contained in these words: In the midst of life we are in death". Many who rose this morning in the best of health will before the close of day have been ushered into eternity. A little while ago a young man, blind from birth, came to Toronto to study music and sit for his final examinations. A few evenings previous to the examination day I heard him play—wonderful music, a gift from God. Returning to his home after writing his papers he was knocked down by an automobile and when the emergency ward 'phoned us they said that it would be too late, he would be gone in fifteen minutes. Another incident: A soldier of the Temple, Toronto, present in a Saturday evening service drove the Adjutant home, expressed his regret at not being able to be with him the following day but he was going to visit his wifes' grave. Monday noon, a telephone call; Mr. J. dead. Came home from his office, had lunch, and was ushered into eternity sitting in his armchair. Who knows perhaps before this sight is out it may be your or may be me.

Then again "Be sure your sins will find you out". No matter how deeply buried in your own heart they will be found out. Recall the Bible stories of Akan, of Hezekiah, their sins were found out. However carefully you have planned to cover your sins, large or small, heed this solemn warning: "Be sure your sins will find you out." In that ghastly Chicago outrage of a few months ago, it was only a pair of spectacles, but it proved the guilt of those two boys. On another occasion in Chicago a man stopped the late Commissioner Estell and told this story, How that in a fit of frenzy he had thrown overboard a fellow seaman during a quarrel on his boat and that in that monetary realization of what had happened the mate had looked up at him. Oh, those eyes! I see them still. Remember, "Be sure your sins will find you out."

Another very solemn truth is expressed in the Word of God. "The soul that sinneth it shall surely die". There is ample backing for the statement in the Bible. But there is also this fact, "That Jesus Christ came into the world to save sinners." That is no idle tale. And I would say to you if you seek evidence of this truth, look around. It is a glorious truth that Jesus Christ and His power will break the strongest chain of sin. If you are bound tightly with an evil habit that you feel you do not come under the possibility of pardon remember that song you have often sung:

"He can break every fetter
He can set you free."

I have here a box containing a treasure. You wonder what it is? See its a morphine syringe. Listen to the story. It was the most treasured possession of a lady journalist in a city in this province and this was her story. In the arduous duties demanded by modern day journalism she had resorted to the use of this drug and needle until it had become impossible for her to be without it. One night she knelt at a Salvation Army penitent form and surrended her heart to God and game me this "treasure." I have seen her since and corresponded with her and she still, through the power of Jesus Christ, is able to conquer, not that it was easy, but she is a conqueror through His precious blood.

Maybe there is someone here with a similar craving, maybe some other habit that has you fast bound in its clutches, but remember it is no idle tale, but a glorious truth that you can be freed.

BURNBRAE MISSION BAND GATHERING

Regular Meeting Held by Girls of St. Andrew's Church.

The regular monthly meeting of the Burnbrae Presbyterian Girls' Mission Band was held at the home of Mrs. Charles Milne on Saturday, March 5, with a large number present. Miss Annie Hobbs and Miss Muriel Milne had charge of the programme. The meeting was opened by singing a hymn, after which the Bible reading, Mark 4 chapter, verses 35 to 41, was given by Miss Annie Hobbs. Prayer was given by Mrs. (Rev.) McKenzie. The programme was as follows:

Duet by Miss Violet and Evelyn Atkinson.
Reading by Miss Gladys Little.
Solo by Miss Annie Coggins.
Recitation by Miss Marion Walker.
Solo by Miss Ruby Collingwood.
Instrumental by Miss Bertha Wallace.
Solo by Miss Emma Bennett.

The roll was then called and collection taken. The meeting closed by repeating the Apostles' Creed. Mrs. Milne then served lunch.

Miss Nora Johnston, whose family have made church and cathedral bells in England for the past 100 years, has been asked to play carillons in America next year. Miss Johnston is distinguished as the first woman ever allowed to play the great carillon of Malines, Belgium, the finest in the world.

GAS IN STOMACH HURTS THE HEART

Thousands of Cases of Heart Failure Are Caused by Acute Indigestion, Says Medical Writer

Gas pressure from sour, acid, upset stomach is not only nauseating and highly uncomfortable but some day it may prove fatal!

When your meals are followed by bloating, a feeling of fulness or pressure, shortness of breath and pains around the heart, you may be sure that the acid condition of your stomach is producing a GAS that is pushing upwards and crowding your heart. That's the reason for the shortness of breath and sharp, shooting pains.

Whether young or old, the presence of stomach gas is truly serious and should always be given prompt and careful attention.

To quickly banish gas, cleanse and sweeten the stomach, neutralize the acidity—nothing is better than the daily or "as needed" use of ordinary Bisurated Magnesia. It gives almost instant relief.

Any good durggist can supply Bisurated Magnesia, in powder or tablet form, at very small cost—but be sure you get BISURATED Magnesia—recommended by Doctors and Druggists throughout the civilized world for more than 13 years.

ST. CATHARINES RATE 38 MILLS

School Taxes Amount To 44 Per cent. of Total Levy.

TAKE 16.83 MILLS.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., March 9.—Adjourning from regular business Monday night, the City Council here concluded its tax rate business for the year at three o'clock yesterday morning and unanimously decided on a thirty-eight mill levy, this being a reduction of one mill from last year.

For general civic purposes, 21.17 mills are required, and for educational 16.83, the difference being only 4.34 mills for the two requirements. It is the highest percentage of the revenue on record to be absorbed by the schools.

MURDER BILL IN ROBINSON CASE

Grand Jury Gives Decision On Shooting Near Madoc.

BELLEVILLE ASSIZES.

BELLEVILLE Ont., March 9.—The Spring Assizes opened here yesterday afternoon with Hon. Mr. Justice Logie presiding. There was only one case for consideration by the grand jury, that of Abraham Robinson, who is charged with the murder of Charles St. Charles, bailiff of Madoc village, who succumbed after being shot on Robinson's farm while in the exercise of his duty. A. B. Cunningham, K.C., of Kingston, is Crown prosecutor.

A true bill of murder against Abraham Robinson of Eldorado, Hastings County, was returned by the grand jury at the Spring Assizes this morning.

A Public Question

The Examiner, interested, as always, in the civic welfare, and eager to serve the public good, feels itself justified in offering the people of Peterborough an opportunity to express themselves on the issue raised by R. R. Hall, K.C.

There is no doubt but that the operation of the street railway and the other utilities are vital questions to every citizen, and by ascertaining the public mind on this matter, The Examiner believes that it will be rendering a public service.

Citizens are requested to signify on the appended form their opinion as to whether a public meeting should be held, at which they will have an opportunity to discuss these vital matters. The forms can be mailed, or dropped in The Examiner letter-box, addressed to "The Editor, The Examiner."

To the Editor of The Examiner:

I am in favor of a public meeting at which citizens can discuss ways in which to keep the street railway running, to reduce the gas prices, to reduce power prices, and to assure the city of a supply of power that will keep pace with industrial development.

FIRE PROTECTION IN SUBUABAN AREA

Proposition Supported by Councillors Hunter and Kent is Passed.

The regular monthly meeting of the North Monaghan Council was held on March 5 at the Court House during the afternoon and evening, with all the members present, Reeve Lillico presided.

E. B Fowler was present and presented his Auditor's report of the books and the accounts of the township treasury for the year 1926. It was moved by Mr. Hunter and seconded by Mr. Dobbin that the Auditor's report be accepted.

Re Township Scavenger Work.

Percy Little and John Gilroy came before the Council with regard to the scavenger question. Applications were received for township scavenging from the following: Percy Little, George Martin and A. Wright. T. B Henry, Sanitary Inspector, was present, and stated that he could not keep the sanitary conditions of the township in a satisfactory condition with the present scavenger. After a full discussion of the question, the following resolution was passed:

"Moved by Mr. Hunter and seconded by Mr. Kent, that the Clerk write to J. N. Gilroy and notify him that the Council grants him permission to carry on the scavenger work for one month, and that the Clerk also notify the said J. N. Gilroy that he must abide by and accept his instructions from Mr. Henry, and also call at Mr. Henry's house for instructions, and that this is the last warning the Council intends to give, and that if any more complaints are received in regard to work not being done in proper time that he will be dismissed without any further notice."

The following resolution was passed:

"Moved by Mr. Kent and seconded by Mr. Hunter, that the Treasurer pay to Frank Pratt the proportion of rate due him for the first eighteen days of January, amounting to $7.90."

The following charity bills were passed for payment, as approved by Mr. Henry, Relief Officer: A. E. Saunders, groceries, $13.17; A. Thompson, wood, $19.00; H. B. Taylor & Sons, coal, $3.25; H. Davidson, groceries, $20.19; W. J. Byers, groceries, $11.13; W J. Byers, groceries, $3.97; Dr. J. A. Morgan, $48.90.

Moved by Mr. Kent and seconded by Mr. Dobbin, that notices be ... printed by the Clerk for the Sanitary Inspector re dumping garbage on the public highway and vacant lots.

E A. Peck, M.P., Township Solicitor, and W. H. Bradburn, M. P. P., came before the Council re fire protection for the suburban area of the township of North Monaghan.

Moved by Mr. Kent and seconded by Mr. Waterman, that it be left with Reeve Lillico with power to act to arrange with Mr. Murray for the cutting of trees and brush on Concession 12, west of the Provincial highway, and that some spruce and evergreens be left for shade trees.

The Council adjourned for supper.

The Council met again at 7 p.m. with Mayor W. T. Holloway and Alderman R. S. Cotton, Chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, in regard to fire protection for the suburban area.

Under the present Municipal Act the township has no authority to assess any special area other than by virtue of the Suburban Area Commission.

This matter has been referred by Mr. Peck and Mr. Bradburn to Mr. Wilkinson, one of the law clerks of the Legislative Assembly, and as a result there is good reason to believe that if this matter is taken up during the present year that the Municipal Act will be amended next year to enable municipalities situated similar to North Monaghan with a large suburban area to levy for fire protection on the assessed value of the buildings only.

Moved by Mr. Hunter and seconded by Mr. Kent, that the Reeve and Clerk be authorized to enter into an agreement with the city of Peterborough for fire protection by chemical truck only for the suburban area section of North Monaghan at $50 per call for 1 year with the following boundaries, the cost to be paid by general levy on the township: Bounded on the north by Smith boundary for houses facing on Monaghan road only as far south as the Provincial highway; south and west on the Provincial highway to Western avenue; south on Western avenue to Lansdowne street; east on Lansdowne street to Park street; south on Park street to King George street; east on King George street to Lock street; bounded on the east by the Otonabee River and on the north by Lansdowne street.

This area will also include all houses facing east on the Provincial highway; houses facing east on Western avenue; houses facing north on Lanadowne street; houses facing east on Park street; houses facing north on King George street.

Calls on the suburban area must be made by telephone only.

Mayor Holloway and Alderman Cotton presented a bill for $505 for services rendered to residents of the township during the past years and which these residents neglected to pay.

The matter was fully discussed, and it was unanimously agreed by the representatives of the City and the Township Council that the township pay the city $250 for fire services up to date.

The Clerk reported and submitted the statement of expenditures under the provisions of the Highway Improvement Act for the year 1926. Maintenance and repair, $3,785.93; machinery, $145.46; superintendent, $257.50; total, $4,188.89. This was approved and passed by the Council and submitted to the Department of Public Highways for the usual subsidy of 30 per cent.

It was moved by Mr. Hunter and seconded by Mr. Waterman, that the meeting adjourn, and that the next meeting be held on Monday, March 14; at 2 o'clock p.m. at the Court House.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action, it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

5TH PETERBOROUGH TROOP.

Oh yes, boys, we are still on the map and going strong, but the scribe has been negligent and overlooking a good cause. Have you all heard about the hike on Sunday? Our scoutmaster and assistant scout master will be in charge and the competition for points on this hike is going to be big. The scoutmaster opened our last meeting by having the boys saltue the flag. Then the patrol leaders collected the fees. The scoutmaster then suggested the hike, which was met with hearty approval. He then dismissed the patrols to their corners, where each patrol leader instructed his patrol in Morse and semaphore. L. Peary is the only boy so far to pass his Morse The boys are advancing rapidly and the scoutmaster is greatly pleased with the work and congratulated the boys. The scouts were called up for games, which consisted of snatch the hat and a kind of dance in which each patrol took part. The boys were rather dizzy at the end of the games, but this did not mar their happiness and their laughter and yelling showed their approval. The scouts were then called up, and after repeating the scout promise and singing the National Anthem were dismissed. A court of honour followed and the meeting came to a close. Every scout is looking forward to Sunday's hike.

THIS CANADA OF OURS

LORD DURHAM'S REPORT.

Q.—What was Lord Durham's report?

A.—Lord Durhams' report made to the British Parliament in 1839 was based upon the recommendations for reforms following the rebellion of 1837-1838, in both Lower and Upper Canada, leading to a greater degree of self government and elected legislatures. One of the resolutions was the setting up of the United Parliament of the two provinces under a Union Act which was in effect until the federation of the provinces in 1867.

IDENTITY OF MAN IS STILL DOUBTFUL

Conflicting Records Regarding Death of John Wesley Smith.

HARRAH, Oklahoma, March 9.—(Canadian Press.)—Death's seal to-day continued to prevent positive identification of a man known here as John Wesley Smith, who friends believe left his family at Belleville, Ontario, to secretly start life anew as a produce dealer in this inland town after the vessel he commanded foundered ten years ago.

Captain Smith and eleven others, including his wife and five children, were listed as victims of the sea when his coal schooner, George Marsh, sank off Pigeon Island, near Kingston, Ontario, August 8, 1917. This report was accepted until relatives at Belleville made public a letter from Ben Wilson, master of the local Masonic lodge, telling of Smith's death here on February 22 last.

Smith died, Wilson said, without revealing experiences at sea and without reference to any relatives at Belleville, except to say two years ago that he learned his wife was dead. Smith, however, told Wilson the name of the Masonic lodge at Belleville with instructions to communicate with that Chapter only after his death. He swore Wilson to secrecy regarding the meagre details he gave of his life.

Wilson said he recently received a letter from a Harry Smith, son of the sea captain, telling of his father's disappearance. He assured Wilson he believed the dead man was his father and offered to come here if necessary.

Friends of the aged man questioned the identity when Wilson declared he had known him for more than a year before the schooner was wrecked. He said the man came here from Newalla, Oklahoma, in 1915. Previously he had lived at Oklahoma city. He was about sixty years old and had built up a small produce business here. His estate was estimated at upwards of $3,000.

The funeral will be held here to-night unless other instructions are received from Belleville.

Daughter Sole Heir.

TORONTO, March 9.— (Canadian Press.)—According to private advices Mrs. Neil McLennan, of Toronto, is the sole beneficiary of the estate left by Captain John Wesley Smith, who died last month in Harrah, Oklahoma, after a disappearance of about ten years. Mrs. McLennan is Captain Smith's only surviving daughter.

Capt. Smith was the skipper of the schooner George A. Marsh, which foundered in Lake Ontario in August, 1917.

It was thought at the time that he was drowned, but if present reports are correct he survived and went to Oklahoma, where he started life anew. It is said that Smith died in Harrah on February 22, though nothing was ever heard of him from the time of the wreck until a few days ago.

The estate is said to consist of a chicken farm and two motor trucks, in all worth about $8,000.

Neil McLennan, husband of Mrs. McLennan, was a member of the crew of the George A. Marsh and with his brother, was one of the two survivors.

News of the recent death of Captain Smith was received in Belleville through Masonic connections in Oklahoma, Capt. Smith having belonged to the lodge in Belleville.

While the story links together in remarkable manner, there is one circumstance which will have to be investigated. Ben Wilson, Master of the Masonic lodge in Harrah, states that he knew Smith in 1915, which is two years before the disappearance. He stated that Smith went to Harrah from Nervalla, Okla., in 1915.

Mrs. McLennan intends going to Belleville, to see if more records cannot be secured.

MOTHER SAVES THREE CHILDREN

Loses Two Others When Roof Collapses During Rescue Attempt.

MAY DIE HERSELF.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., March 9. — (United Press.)—A mother ran repeatedly through flames that were threatening the lives of her five children to-day and saved her three little girls, but lost her two sons. Her own burns may prove fatal.

Mrs. James Strickland and the children were in the chicken house at their home in Compton, Ark., near here, when the incubator exploded, setting fire to the building. She carried the three girls to safety, one at a time and was returning for Oscar, 7, and Billy, 5, when the roof collapsed and burned them both to death.

The father was not at home.

Women's Easier Hygiene

Discards like tissue—No laundry

By ELLEN J. BUCKLAND
Registered Nurse

THAT one can be fresh and charming, wear lightest gowns and frocks, dance or motor for hours, and yet be under the most trying of hygienic handicaps, is a fact most women know today.

Instead of old-time sanitary pads, 8 in 10 better class women today use Kotex.

✓ Discards easily as tissue. Thus no laundry. Absorbs 5 times as effectively as ordinary cotton pads. Hence no fear of embarrassment. Deodorizes instantly. And thus ends all danger of offense.

Obtain at any store, without embarrassment or hesitancy, simply by saying "KOTEX." Box of 12 costs only a few cents.

Obtain today. Once you try it, you'll never again risk the fear of old ways. Be sure you get the genuine Kotex; there is no other "like" it.

SAINT and SINNER

By ANNE AUSTIN

Newspaper city editors, reporters and feature writers must have been profoundly grateful to Martha Lane for dying so dramatically and opportunely—opportunely from their standpoint, at least—and they demonstrated their appreciation by packing their Wednesday afternoon and Thursday morning editions with many columns of sensational and sentimental accounts of the funeral, the conduct of the various members of the Lane family.

There were pages of pictures—pictures of the sorrowing family following the coffin to the hearse, pictures of the flower-laden coffin itself, pictures of the throngs gathered in the street before the Myrtle Street house; pictures of the cemetery and the crowds gathered there; pictures of the mourners grouped about the open grave; pictures of the coffin being lowered into the grave; a picture of Faith kneeling to take her hysterical little sister into her arms to comfort her; a picture of the fat, old Methodist minister reading the sonorous, beautiful lines of the burial service, and of course a picture of the grave banked high with floral tributes from friends and strangers.

But a brief news story in the Thursday morning papers took precedence, in the headlines and in the interest of the public, over the funeral, dramatic though it had been. "CHERRY AND WILEY TO BE ARRAIGNED TODAY" told the news in a line, and by nine o'clock Thursday morning police reserves had to be called out to manage the crowds that stampeded the county court house, fighting for a glimpse of the prisoners, one of whom the papers had unanimously described as "the most beautiful girl ever indicted for murder in this state." "Special correspondents" and "sob sisters," sent on from New York, Chicago and even Los Angeles and San Francisco, went still further in their printed estimate of her beauty, several of them stating boldly that Cherry Lane Wiley was the loveliest accused murderess in the history of criminology of the whole United States.

Cherry was to be brought before County Judge Grimshaw at ten o'clock. It was five minutes to ten when the father, sister and brother of the accused girl, with Bob Hathaway, took their seats in the section reserved for them. The packed auditorium buzzed with comments on the relatives of the prisoner who was so soon to appear to make her plea in answer to the indictment which the grand jury had found against her.

"Here comes the judge," Junior whispered hoarsely. "The first half of his name ain't no lie either."

Faith raised her heavy, grief-weary eyes to gaze for the first time upon the man who would eventually play so tremendous a part in deciding the fate of her sister.

While the court crier was intoning a rigamarole that meant nothing to the bewildered girl, she rose, along with every other person in the courtroom, to pay respect to his honor, the judge of the county court.

He was grim—as Junior had said. Judge Horace Benton Grimshaw! That name, which now sounded so strange in her ears, would soon be more familiar to her than that of the president of the United States. An enormous man. A white-haired, ruddy-cheeked old man, with a grim, turned-down mouth that looked as if it had never smiled. Drooping-lidded brown eyes, looking out wearily and without interest, from under beetling, incongruously black brows that had defied the frost of age.

There was an order, passed from the judge's lips to the bailiff, shouted by him to another official—"Bring in the prisoners!"

"Long" Lane nudged his sister when they had again taken their seats. "There's Stephen Churchill, bowing and smiling to you."

Faith forced her tight lips to smile at her sister's lawyer, who was busily assorting papers at a long table in the enclosure between the judge's box and the first row of seats.

"Banning's as busy as a pup with fleas," "Long" whispered with a determined effort to be cheerful. "Look, he's bowing, too, the dirty hypocrite!"

"Sh-h-h!" Faith implored him, as she inclined her head unsmilingly in acknowledgement of the district attorney's greeting.

"Don't hate him so," Bob's low voice begged her. "He's only doing his duty, dear. Ah, here comes Cherry. Brave girl!"

Faith gripped Bob's hand hard to restrain her impulse to rise from her seat and rush to the girl who stood for a moment, as if taking a deep breath before a plunge into icy waters. As she stood there, guarded on either side by a deputy sheriff, detailed to bring her to and from the county jail which adjoined the courthouse, she was a gallant little figure, head held high, a rich, natural color on her lovely little face, her golden eyes, shadowed by the violet circles of grief and lack of sleep, wide and bright with interest in the drama in which she had run away to be married to Chris Wiley, and crushed over the gorgeous copper-and-gold curls was the brown velour hat which was so extraordinarily becoming to her. A gasp of admiration rose from the completely filled auditorium—a great, gusty sigh of pure pleasure in the sight of a creature so wholly lovely. Chris Wiley, also guarded by two deputy sheriffs, was hardly paid the compliment of a glance.

Stephen Churchill hurried to greet her with ceremonious cordiality, but before he reached her side, her wide, grief-shadowed eyes had sought for and found her father, brother and sister. She raised her right hand in an almost gay salute, while her unrouged lips, colored a deep coral now by excitement, curved in their most adorable, little-girl smile. There was nothing of guilt in her face or manner—nothing of the crushed, remorseful, trapped criminal—but neither was there the reckless bravado, the unfeeling gayety, of which at least two feature writers later accused her. That she was not wearing mourning for her mother was also against her, even by the women writers who had been most friendly to her. It did not occur to them that there had been no opportunity for the imprisoned girl to purchase a mourning costume.

Faith was so absorbed in studying her little sister that her brain did not comprehend a third of what went on so rapidly after Cherry and Chris Wiley were led to the bar. District Attorney Banning read a legal document which Faith dimly realized was the indictment, Stephen Churchill, as defense counsel, entered a plea of "not guilty" to the charge of murder, and made the usual gesture of asking for a dismissal of the indictments, as well as of demanding bail for his prisoners, which was of course refused—as Churchill had knowb it would be. Within fifteen minutes after Cherry had entered the courtroom, Judge Grimshaw had set the case of the State versus Charity Lane Wiley—how odd her name sounded in Faith's ears!—and Christopher Agnew Wiley, for the January term of court.

"MAN IS A SPIRIT"
Wednesday
"The Spirit Should Dominate"

SCRIPTURE: Read Romans 8:5-17. "For if ye live after the flesh, ye must die: but if by the Spirit ye put to death the deeds of the body, ye shall live" (Rom. 8:13). "Ye therefore shall be perfect even as your heavenly Father is perfect" (Mt. 5:48). "And if thy hand or thy foot causeth thee to stumble, cut it off, and cast it from thee" (Mt. 18:8).

See—Romans 8:2; Ephesians 4:22-24; 1. Timothy 4:8.

MEDITATION: If it is a question between love and luxury, if it is a question between using possessions selfishly or magnanimously, the spiritual-minded man suffers from no uncertainty; he values the spirit above everything. Yet so strong are the bodily appetites and the lesser instincts that rigorous discipline is necessary to attain spiritual dominance.

"No man can steer his way through the ocean of life whose eye is not on the stars."

HYMN:

Christian, rise, and act thy creed,
Let thy pray'r be in thy deed;
Seek the right, perform the true,
Raise thy work and life anew.

Hearts around thee sink with care:
Thou canst help their load to bear,
Thou canst bring inspiring light,
Arm their faltering will to fight.

Come then, Law divine, and reign,
Freest faith assailed in vain,
Perfect love bereft of fear,
Born in heaven and radiant here.
—F. A. Rollo Russell, 1893.

PRAYER: Pray for—spiritual power; the alert mind that sees clearly; the discouraged.

Collect—O God, who dwellest in the beauty of holiness, we praise Thee for the beauty of the earth, for loveliness embodied in noble men and for the revelation of Thyself in Jesus Christ the incarnation of Thy conquering love. We are covered with shame at the at the thought of Thy faithfulness for we have not been ever true to Thee. Keep us from infidelity to Thy friendship. Save us from treachery of soul. From the choice of evil and from the enthronement of the lesser things deliver us. Awaken in us a living sense of Thy spirit. Give us hunger and thirst for righteousness. May our hearts burn with the presence of Christ in us. So would we enthrone Thee, trust Thee, love Thee, obey Thee; all by the grace of Christ. Amen.

IN REPLY TO THE KIDDIES' FRESH AIR FUND

By W. D. Packwood.

When I think of the thousands of kiddies,
Who live 'mid the City's slum,
With never a sight of God's country,
My heart grows weary and numb,
So I'm sending a little something,
Though it's only a trifling sum,
To help to cheer some youngster,
Whose life is sordid and glum.

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

Light as thistledown is this frock of pale green tulle trimmed with chiffon flowers with green feather leaves.

It was the boast of fine ladies centuries ago that their clothes weighed so much that they were actually fatigued through the wearing of them. Train bearers were necessary followers of queens and other ladies whose rank permitted them to wear costly clothes of rich, heavy fabrics. But fine raiment is no longer valued by its avoirdupois. Fine feathers are of feather lightness and "thistledown" is a word frequently used in connection with many of the new frocks designed for spring and the coming summer. Even woolen frocks must be very light in weight, and the makers of fabrics have been busy devising ways of making woolen materials that are scarcely heavier than chiffon or georgette. Beads, spangles and metal embroidery sometimes add some weight to evening frocks but there is a tendency at present to use even these trimmings sparingly and a reaction has certainly set in against the frock upon which these rather weighty ornaments have been spread with barbaric lavishness.

Many of the spring evening frocks are made entirely of georgette or chiffon. When bead embroidery is used it is wrought with small pearls and crystals of the lightest sort. There may be an effective pearl embroidery about the lower edge of the skirt. One clever spring evening frock from Paris is made with a sort of under frock of yellow chiffon cut in petal points about the bottom. Over this is a shorter over skirt of green chiffon also cut in petal points and a little bolero of the green chiffon. The only glint of beads consists in the belt of pearls placed slightly below the normal waistline.

Tulle which is one of the lightest of materials is used to make a number of the most charming spring evening frocks and even when this is worked into ruffles and frills it is of thistledown lightness. Artificial flowers used on evening gowns are also very light—frequently being made of chiffon, silk gauze or feathers.

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, but do not Compel.

For Thursday, March 10, 1927.
(Copyright, 1927, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Threatening stars are dominant today, according to astrology, which finds many sinister influences prevailing.

Under this planetary government there may be a tendency on the part of the public to find fault with persons in official position.

The President and Congress may be subjected to much unjust criticism, owing to half knowledge of public affairs on the part of the people.

Newspaper and magazines probably will contain many personal strictures concerning statesman and politicians, who are to meet many trying situations.

This is not an auspicious date for either private or public financial matters. It is wise to defer all payments of money, if possible.

The young now come under a direction of the stars, presaging for them the most marvelous adventures and the most extraordinary experience.

College men and college women are to assume big responsibilities, it is foretold, and many will service in foreign countries.

There is a sign read as indicating movement of our navy and great interest in long voyages.

A London astrologer predicts for the United States an important treaty with Central European and Mediterranean states.

Saturn, Uranus and Jupiter, now powerful in influence over Washington, D. C., may be expected to give the federal government plenty to do in 1927.

Crime will continue to increase and the organizations of the underworld will gain power, it is prognosticated.

Persia and Mesopotamia are to have trouble with Uncle Sam over oil interests, it is foretold.

Persons whose birthdate it is may suffer through slanders or unkind letters. They should safeguard themselves against possible enemies.

Children born on this day are likely to be exceedingly bright and intelligent but too talkative.

Wheat Drops Further On Reports Of Stocks

CHICAGO, March 9. Canadian Press. — Wheat underwent fresh downturns to-day, owing largely to bearish aspects of the government report about the domestic reserve stocks. Prediction of big Argentine wheat shipments was also a bearish factor. Opening unchanged to 5-8 off wheat suffered moderate general setback. Corn and provisions developed firmness but oats were easy, corn starting unchanged to 1-2c down and subsequently scoring gains all around.

Prices opening were: Wheat, May 140 1-8; uly 133 3-4, corn May 75 7-8; July 80 1-2; oats, May 46 1-2, July 46 1-2.

Toronto Market Active; Trading Covers Broad List

TORONTO, March 9. Canadian Press. — An active and broad market with general firming of the prominent stocks, featured trading on the Toronto stock exchange to-day. Brazilian, Massey Harris and Arnold Bros, attracted interest. The former led the market in activity and was a strong feature, advancing to 126 7-8, a gain of 2 1-4. Massey Harris came second in volume and sold upwards to 112 3-4, a gain of 1 3-4. It sold as high as 113 1-2 at the opening. Arnold Bros. weakened 3-4 under heavy selling pressure. International nickel was active and strong —scoring a gain of 1 at 42. City Dairy declined 1 1-2 to 101 3-4. C. P. R. in small lot trading sold upwards to 184, a gain of 2.

Gold Stocks Firm To-day In Quiet Mine Market

TORONTO, March 9 (Canadian Press).—Trading was quiet and irregular on the Standard Mining Exchange today. The gold stocks in the main were firm with price movements denoting nothing of interest. Teck Hughes was the weak feature of the dividend-paying golds, declining 10 to 6.45. Dome Mines sold off 10 to 8.60. Hollinger Consolidated and Lakeshore were stronger. The former sold up to 21.10, a gain of 10, while Lakeshore gained 5 to 18.45. Area was active and unchanged at 41. Barry Hollinger declined 1-2 to 38 1-2. West Dome Lake was an active feature and weakened 1 1-2 to 10 1-2. Nipissing continued to sell downwards and reached 8.20, a decline of 9. Amulet was most active amongst the unlisted stocks and was weaker at 133, off 2.

Rails Lead Market On Upward Movement

NEW YORK, March 9.—(Canadian Press.) — The stock market gathered strength to-day under the impetus of resumption of pool operations and short covering Rails again assumed the leadership of the up swing. The further retreat of an over extended short interest in Hudson Motors sent that stock up to 73 3-4, a new high for the year, and 25 points above the year's low. General Motors also was in good demand, as were Chrysler, Pierce Arrow, and some of the minor shares. Amusement shares moved upward under the leadership of Shubert Theatres, which was bought on reports of large current earnings.

Coca Cola jumped over five points to 188 1-2 and was followed into new high ground by Loew's, Jewel Tea, Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh, S. S. Kreage and several others. Sugars were galvanized into activity by the publication of the annual report of the American Sugar Refining Company, showing earnings from refining operations in excess of $7,000,000 as against nearly $4,500,000 in 1925, and calling attention to the first decline in raw sugar production in seven years.

Men Keep Up Artificial Respiration For Three Days In Effort To Save Youth With Paralyzed Diaphram

CHICAGO, March 9 (Canadian Press).—An endless human chain held Albert Frick in the land of the living today while doctors hovered over the twenty-two-year-old youth, who was still alive although he had not drawn a normal breath for three days as a result of paralysis of the diaphram. Frick was able to converse briefly with those about him, and physicians redoubled efforts to prevent a fatal instant's break in the rhythmic procession of men who had been inducing artificial respiration for the stricken salesman since Sunday morning.

Two by two they approached the bed, swayed back and forth for fifteen minutes, one on each side, working feverishly in exact rhythm pressing their hands down on the victim's lower chest, then relaxing them, in endless respirational effort. Physicians said they were witnessing one of the most remarkable achievements in medical history.

ST. ANDREW'S Y.P.S. ENTERTAINS GUESTS

Warkworth Members Visit Sister Society at Campbellford.

CAMPBELLFORD, Mar. 9—St. Andrew's Y.P.S. held a special meeting on Monday evening and a most enjoyable meeting it was. St. Andrew's members were privileged in having the Warkworth members present. Despite the terrible wealth er and bad roads about fifty visitors were welcomed and with a large number of St. Andrew's present the Sunday School room was crowded. The meeting was opened by singing, "Oh, Safe to the Rock." Miss Watson, president of St. Andrew's, was in the chair. Rev. Mr. Grier led in prayer after which Miss Watson addressed the members and welcomed the Warkworth Society. The scripture lesson was read from St. Matthew 25, verses 14-30, and was read alternately by the president. "I Love to Tell the Story," was then sung and the Mizpah benediction closed the first part of the meeting.

Miss Watson then called upon Mrs. Carlaw, president of the Warkworth Society, to take the chair. Mrs. Carlaw gave a short speech and then proceeded with the programme.

The first item was a piano solo by Master Everett Maycock and was much enjoyed. This was followed by a play entitled "A Case of Suspension." The characters were: Miss Judkins, Miss Gladys Weir; Prof. Egerton, Mr. Ivan Duncan; Jonas, Mr. Gordon McCubbin; Kathleen, Miss Annie MacKenzie; Alice, Miss Edith Richards; Mildred, Miss Anna Greenly; Dorothy, Cleora Cockburn; Harold, Everett Nelson; Tom, Lorne Greenly; Jack, Harry Weir. All players displayed wonderful ability to act and the play was an amusing one. Between acts Miss Heather Grant sang a solo, "I Wonder What's Become of Sally," accompanied by her ukulele. Miss Grant's encore was, "The West, a Nest, and You Dear." Everyone enjoyed Miss Grant's singing very much.

After the second part of the play Mrs. Grant rendered "Angus MacDonald." Anyone with Scotch blood must have enjoyed every note. Her hearty encore was another Scotch song "My Ain Wee Hoose," which was just as worthy an encore as the preceding selection. A vote of thanks was then tendered to St. Andrews' for the hospitality shown by St. Andrew's. This was responded to by Miss Watson.

Lunch was then served. All the members joined in a happy union forming large groups. There seemed to be no strangers; all seemed well acquainted. The social committee is not to be forgotten for the efforts made in preparing such an excellent lunch.

After lunch Mrs. Grant was almost forced to sing some more of her Scotch songs. Her two selections were, "Cam' Ye by Athol?" and "Will ye no come back again?" all joining in the chorus of the last selection. Mr. John Storie was then called upon and rendered two good selections, "I never can see Maggie alone" and "Hi Diddle Diddle."

Mr. John Anderson called upon Mr. Maycock of Warkworth for a solo. Mr. Maycock's selection was much enjoyed by all.

The happy meeting was then brought to a close by the National Anthem.

HOMUTH JOINS TORY CAUCUS

Labor Member of Legislature Greeted With Cheers On Entry.

BILL CONSIDERED.

TORONTO, March 9 (Canadian Press) — K. K. Homuth (Labor, South Waterloo) escorted by Premier Ferguson, whom he met by accident outside of the caucus door, was admitted into the Conservative fold this morning and attended the second caucus on the Government Control bill.

Led by W. H. Ireland, the Conservative whip, Mr. Homuth was received with "three cheers and a tiger" when he entered.

The Conservative party has now seventy-five members in the legislature.

FALLS TO DEATH IN FLOODED DON

Workman Clearing Ice From Bridge Timbers Dragged Away.

BODY NOT FOUND.

TORONTO, March 9.— Fleming Sinclair, aged 25, single, employed by the Roger Miller Company at the East York-Leaside bridge construction work, and rooming at 109 Bolton Avenue, was swept into the Don River from a temporary bridge at 3.15 p.m. yesterday and drowned. The body had not been recovered up to an early hour this morning.

The deceased, with two other men, F King, 21 Brock Crescent, and R. Williams, 161 Cedarvale Avenue, was trying to dislodge ice from beneath the temporary bridge —the Don River being in flood owing to the breaking of the ice jam —and a large cake struck the pike pole with which Fleming was trying to clear the bridge timbers. He was pushing on the pole with his body half turned when he was dragged into the river and disappeared beneath the ice pack. The water was travelling at a rate of between 20 and 25 miles an hour.

County Constable W. Masters, of East York, was quickly on the scene, and despatched gangs of men along the banks in the hope of rescuing the unfortunate man, but their efforts were futile. It is thought that the body may be entangled in the shrubbery at some curve in the river. Life-savers from Sunnyside Station were also called and are now searching the river banks. A constant watch was kept during the night, and hopes are expressed that owing to the river water receding the body may be recovered.

Fleming Sinclair was a native of Ireland, where his parents at present reside. It is believed that the only other relative of the deceased is a brother, residing in the district of North Toronto.

PETTY THIEVING OVER WEEK END

Omemee Citizens Report Small Losses—Youth Senteced.

FOR STORE ENTRY.

OMEMEE, March 9. — Petty thieving is again reported in Omemee. During the week end Mr. Arthur Williamson, the village constable had seven ducks stolen, and while the Sunday evening service was in progress in the United church, one of the male members had a good pair of gloves stolen, from the pocket of his overcoat in the basement.

On Wednesday evening about 10.30 o'clock, when Mr. Fred Parker, proprietor of the United Cigar Store and barber shop, went to attend to his fires after a meeting of the Orange lodge, he was attracted by voices in the back shop. He hurriedly opened the door leading to same only to see a seven or eight year old, being helped out the window by an older youth. He hastily took pursuit and having recognized his intruders, he immediately informed Detective Storey of Lindsay, who visited Omemee on Thursday and took the older boy into custody.

The case was tried in Lindsay on Saturday and he was given an indeterminate sentence of one year in the Ontario reformatory He is not an Omemee boy, nor is he known to many ,as he was only a visitor.

Worth More Than Money.

Controversy Started in Discussion of Foundation For Education.

A little group of serious thinkers recently discussed the subject of education. One claimed that what are known as the three R's—Readin', 'Ritin', 'Rithmetic—were sufficient to attain success in life.

Others of the group disputed this point. Said one: "There is hardly an exception in history where men have accomplished great things that they did not acquire a good education if they were so unfortunate as to start without one. What you call the three R's are in reality the three essentials. Transpose their positions— Reading, Arithmetic, Writing—and their initials spell 'raw,' because they are the raw materials from which you build your education."

Such a sound argument cannot be successfully controverted. Uneducated men are learning as they go along—self-education—and if greatness comes to them it is largely because their search for knowledge has been successful. What is meant by success must be left to the group of serious thinkers.

The success of the dictionary distribution announced in these columns is due to its being an ideal volume for use in self education—worth more than money. Look for the dictionary coupon in today's issue and learn more about it.

VOCAL RECITAL.

Mrs. H. F. Doig Gives Pleasing Programme, Assisted By Miss Hill.

(By Jeanette)

A very pleasing and artistic vocal recital was given in the Hall of the Conservatory of Music last evening, by Mrs. H. F. Doig, soprano, assisted by Miss Bertha Hill, contralto, both pupils of Mrs. Dorothy Allan Park. There was a very good attendance at this recital and the two singers received plenty of enthusiastic applause in response to an interesting, varied programme, rendered in excellent fashion.

Mrs. Doig has a flexible soprano voice of strong lyric quality and wide range. Sweet, vibrant and powerful, it is at its best in swelling, soaring cadences, delivered with free, graceful ease and ringing, rich timbre. A slight blurring in diction and darkness of coloring is noticeable in some instances, but the majority of Mrs. Doig's songs were attractive and effective in the extreme, rendered with charming assurance and a pleasing stage presence.

Th opening group sung by Mrs. Doig included a Bach number, "My Heart Ever Faithful," two of Schubert's charming songs, in "The Question" and "Morning Greeting," and two compositions by Brahms, which elicited much applause, illustrating the emotional genius of this composer and his originality in figure and harmony. These were entitled "Faithful Love" and "The Huntsman."

A second quintette was exceptionally attractive, composed of a French operatic aria, "Ah, mon Fils!" from Meyerbeer's "Le Phophete," sung beautifully; a dainty, whimsical bit by Grieg, in "Hidden Love"; an Arensky composition, "The Dancers," and two pastoral numbers that were very well rendered, "So Early in the Morning, oh!" and "At the Well." In the two latter numbers, Mrs. Doig's attractive soaring tone quality was admirably demonstrated.

The final group included four dainty songs, "Starry Woods," Sanderson's "Drumadoon," the sweet little composition entitled "A Fair Went a-Marketing" and "A Song of the Open."

Miss Bertha Hill, whose attractive contralto voice, with its mellow quality and smooth, clear diction, was at its best last night, sang, "Hark! What I Tell to Thee," by Haydn, and "How Changed the Vision," by Handel, followed later by two effective little songs, in "The Fairies Have Never a Penny to Spend" and "A Song of Thanksgiving."

Miss Mary Agnes Logan provided sympathetic accompaniments for the vocal numbers. Mrs. Doig received several beautiful boquets, and lovely floral tributes were also presented to Miss Hill, Miss Logan, and Mrs. Park.

The discovery of a statue of Minerva during recent excavations in Rome has revealed that the accordion-pleated jumper suit was known to women in early Grecian days. The statue, of beautiful transparent alabaster, has the silhouette of a new model of jumper dress. There are pleats in the skirt, and the upper part is beautifully decorated with painted embroidery.

Ex-Heavyweight Champion Looking For Training Camp

GIANTS HAVE GREAT INFIELD

Established by Oralists as Favorites to Win National Pennant.

COBB VISITS McGRAW

NEW YORK, March 9.—Some weeks ago after baseball had passed through the clearing house of Commissioner Landis with a white robe and a bigger salary for Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker, the Oralists, as they refer to the men who make bets on the tracks established the New York Giants as the favorites to win the National League pennant.

At that time the Giants had a great infield, a great outfield, a pitching staff that didn't worry John J. McGraw too much and a catching staff that was spotty, but promising with recruits.

Ty Cobb, who hadn't spoken to McGraw in years since a series of disorders during an exhibition trip between the Giants and the Detroit Tigers, was obliged to visit Sarasota, Fla., some days ago.

Greet Infield

Cobb went to the park where the Giants were training. He shook hands with McGraw and they turned out to be great friends.

"That infield out there, John", Cobb said, "is the greatest infield in the history of the game. I have never seen fellows who can work faster than that bunch."

Cobb referred to Bill Terry at first base, Rogers Hornsby at second, Travis Jackson at short, and Freddy Lindstrom at third base.

Cobb remarked that he had seen the famous infield of the Boston Red Sox, the million dollar combination that Connie Mack had once, and the famous "Tinker to Evers to Chance" trio, and that he figured the Giants' combination the best.

Outfield List.

The outfield at that time on paper was Pep Young in rightfield, Eddie Roush in centrefield and one of a dozen worthless in leftfield. It looked like an outfield almost as good as Detroit's—and Detroit never has been without a great outfield.

But since then Pep Young has been lost for a season, at least, Roush is holding out for the many reasons he always has for holding out, and the Giants haven't a regular working leftfielder.

Young, one of the greatest outfielders of the day, can't play this season. He is in a critical condition in a hospital in San Antonio suffering from Bright's disease and it is doubtful that he ever will be able to play baseball again if he recovers.

Roush says he will not play with the Giants unless he gets Babe Ruth money, but Roush will be with the Giants not long after the season opens if not before.

With Young out the Giants will have to play Harper in rightfield and Bevo Le Bouvreau in leftfield, and that trio is not a great outfield even with Roush in the centre.

The pitching staff is uncertain and the catching squad certainly is not one to excite anyone to superlatives.

The Giants, with those bad breaks even before the season starts, do not look like an odds on favorite to win—but they always hustle and—who's going to beat them? If you name the party, you win.

Four brothers were stars when the Jordan team defeated Oshawa in the O.H.A. intermediate series. They sprung the biggest surprise of the season in Ontario amateur hockey. The four Farrel brothers shown above, "Dad", Roy, Bob and Cal, have had a whole lot to do with this hitherto unheard of team's success.

BASEBALL GOSSIP

The Chicago Cubs' new $50,000 shortstop, Elwood English, is impressing his critical spectators by his sparkling work in the field at Catalina, but his batting against mid-season pitching is still to be tested.

The St. Louis Browns made very little preparation for their first exhibition game and Manager Dan Howley was not taken aback to speak of the New York Giants' 13 to 1 victory at Sarasota Monday.

The St. Louis Cardinals meet the Boston Braves at Avon Park, Fla., today.

Pitcher Joe Carroll, obtained from the West, has finally signed a Washington contract.

Babe Ruth stepped out in his first practice with the Yankees at St. Petersburg, Fla., Monday. One of his drives landed at the feet of a farmer at work in his patch outside the practice field. "I see Babe Ruth is in town again," the farmer remarked.

The return of Bill Doak, veteran pitcher, after a year's absence, and his fine showing in practice, together with the speed and condition of "Irish" Meusel, former Giant, are pleasing Wilbert Robinson at the Brooklyn camp.

The batting heroes of the New York Giants in their 13 to 1 trouncing of the St. Louis Browns were Rogers Hornsby and "Bevo" Lebourveau, late of the American Association, who cracked out a home run in his first trip to the plate.

M'DOUGALL STAR WHEN GREYS WIN JUNIOR CROWN

Local Player Plays Big Part in Capturing O.H.A. Honors.

SCORE ON ROUND 7-3.

Experience of Winners Enables Them To Overcome Newmarket.

TORONTO, March 9. — Owen Sound Greys regained the crown as champions of the Junior O.H.A. after a year's absence from the kingdom, but only a victory in the first game of the finals gave them the title as they were held to a two all tie by the lads from Newmarket at the Arena Gardens last night. The Greys took the championship round by a total of 7 to 3, the first game ending in their favor, 5 to 1. Experience, gained in four years of final play, proved a deciding factor in the series, the Greys knowing what to do it, all the time. They are worthy champions, a clever front line, steady defence, and a great goal-guardian, the regular six being able to go at top speed from the first to the final bell. Four times in the last four years, Owen Sound has teached the last stage in the O.H.A. race and only last year were their colors lowered.

Newmarket made a gallant effort last night to overcome the mighty margin that the Greys earned against them in the first meeting, and they went down fighting, every man being on the attack in the last period, and only cool defensive play by the winners, prevented them from reducing the lead. The youngsters from North Yonge Street played far better hockey than they did in the first game, and Owen Sound was forced to fight every minute to protect their advantage. The sensational work of "Shrimp" McDougall, at mid-ice, played a big part in sending the O.H.A. honors to Owen Sound, as he stopped "Sonny" Townsley, the Newmarket ace, and thus the jam-jay which had carried Bill Hancock's boys so far, was broken. Newmarket had few chances to work the clever passing plays, that defeated St. Michael's College and Niagara Falls with their pivot player, greatly outclassed. Newmarket met a master play maker in McDougall, who was brilliant going both ways.

McDougall Stars at Centre

It was a meeting of two tricky front lines last night, and the battle was decided at centre, where McDougall was outstanding. Markle, for Owen Sound, was much better along the rail than Murray, who patrolled the left side for Newmarket, while Marshall seemed to have a margin on Lauder, on the left board for the Greys. Both defences received great protection from their forwards, who back-checked every second. In goal, Ben Grant, for the Greys, made miraculous saves, giving a great exhibition between the pipes as Newmarket peppered him from every angle and distance. Grant appeared smothered in luck on some of his stops, but he played them all, and the pair that slipped behind him would have fooled any. Grant had far more to do than Corbett, the goalie at the other end of a defensive game, and were content to defend their lead.

DEMPSEY READY TO MAKE RETURN

Be in Condition to Meet All Comers in Another Month.

"FEELS FINE"

LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 9. — "I'll be ready in a month to meet anybody," declared Jack Dempsey, the former world's champion, on the eve of his departure here yesterday for San Diego, where he will set a training camp, preparatory to his return to the squared ring.

Dempsey had packed and was preparing to board a train for the southern city, when he was unexpectedly delayed by business.

"I feel fine and expect to be in condition in a month. If I am right by that time I'll meet anybody," the ex-champion told the United Press.

DESERONTO WINS SCHOOL LEAGUE

Beats Oshawa Collegiate 2-0 in Third Game of Play-off.

BETTER TEAM.

PORT HOPE, Ont., March 9. — Defeating Oshawa Collegiate here last night by 2 to 0, the Deseronto High School won the Interscholastic final for the Central Ontario hockey title. It was the third game of the play-offs, the teams each having won their home game 6 to 3, tying the round 9 to 9. Both schools brought large delegations of student supporters, Oshawa fans coming by 'bus and Deseronto on a special car attached to the C.N.R. train.

Deseronto were much the better team and an element of luck only kept them from increasing their two-goal margin. Doc Rowden of the Oshawa junior team, in company with Art Black and Ty Little, also of the Shamrocks, were literally checked dizzy for the full sixty minutes and the rain of body checks which were handed them reduced their effectiveness.

JUNIORS PLAY FOR CUP TO-DAY

Fast Hockey Promised in Game Between St. Peter's and St. John's.

FOR CITY TITLE.

To-Night in Brock Street Rink, St. Peter's and St. John's Juniors play for the Junior City League cup. Both these teams are composed of fast players, and the game is sure to be most interesting. The ice is reported as being in first-class condition, and the game will be started at 8.15, with Bert McLeod handling the bell.

FAST TEAMS IN LADIES' MATCH

"Y" Seniors Play "All Stars" at Y. M. C. A. To-night.

PLAY-OFFS START.

The following is the line up for the ladies' basket ball game at the Y.M. C.A. to-night:

All Star Team: Violet Langton, Dorothy Mortimer, C.G.E.; Myrtle Bradley, Lilly Slaughter, Woollens; Edna Forrester, Florence Giroux, De Laval; Lena Hamilton, Bell Telephone, Mildred Doucette, Brinton, Sybil Ecobichon, Y. Elementary, Jean McIlwain, Westclox.

This game promises to be interesting as the girls picked to play on the All-Star Team are some of the best players of the league and the "Y" combination is well known as a clever team.

On Friday, March 11th, the first games of the play off will be held at the Y.W.C.A. The 'Y' Seniors are scheduled to play the Woollens at 8 o'clock; C.G.E. and DeLaval at 8.15, Bell Telephone vs. Brinton's at 9 o'clock, Westclox vs. Y Elementary 9.15.

Mr. Doug. Loomis will referee the first two games wi Mr. Grayson as umpire. Mr. Scotty McLeish will referee the last two games.

BASKETBALL

The following players are requested to be at the Y.M.C.A. at 8 o'clock to-night: Goheen, Mitchell, Hardill, Redfern, McLeish, Johnston, Ruth, Dormer, Hamilton and Copping.

URGES ONTARIO DIVORCE COURT

Welland Lawyer Said To Be Making Suggestion To Ferguson.

ENOUGH REVENUE.

OTTAWA, March 9.—It was reported here yesterday that W. M. German, K.C., Welland, barrister and former Liberal member of Parliament, will approach Premier Ferguson with the suggestion that a divorce court be established in Toronto to deal with cases of domestic infelicity originating in Ontario. The majority of the 200 cases referred to the Senate Committee on Divorce this session have come from Toronto and other Ontario points, and the revenue of $40,000 or $50,000 derived from them would be adequate to maintain a divorce court in Toronto, it is argued. Several of the Western and Maritime Provinces have divorce courts, which accounts for the fact that most of the cases heard in Ottawa originate in Ontario. Quebec does not encourage dissolution of the marriage tie and few cases from that province are dealt with in the Dominion capital.

The number of divorces granted in 1926 by provinces was 167 in British Columbia, 113 in Ontario, 154 in Alberta, 85 in Manitoba, 48 in Saskatchewan, 19 in Nova Scotia, 12 in New Brunswick, 10 in Quebec and none in Prince Edward Island, where indeed only one divorce has been granted since Confederation.

Grandmother Knew

there was nothing so good for congestion and colds as mustard. But the old-fashioned mustard plaster burned and blistered.

Musterole gives the relief and help that mustard plasters gave, without the plaster and without the blister.

It is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. Gently rub it in. See how quickly the pain disappears.

Try Musterole for sore throat, bronchitis, tonsilitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest (it may prevent pneumonia.)

Little Technicalities Fail To Worry Trustees

SIMCOE, March 9. — Fergus is the only municipality in which the Board of Education is not legally constituted. Members of the local board, it is now discovered, were not sworn in at the commencement of their present terms, and, in fact, have never taken an oath of office in any year, if their memories are to be trusted.

When questioned about the omission, they maintained a philosophic calm. Legal advice had not been asked on the matter, said they, and the board intended to carry on as they have been doing.

"We'll probably comply with the statute next year," one of them observed.

A QUESTION.

Mr. Cummer manager of the Bank of Montreal, George Street, who has not as yet seen a robin this spring, asked The Examiner the question whether Mr. Frank Bradburn saw his robin at night or when coming down to the office in the morning. Mr. Cummer evidently is planning some kind of campaign to spot the next robin that arrives.

PLAY AT Y.W.C.A. IS WELL RECEIVED

'Neath the Sceptre of Susan Proves Interesting Comedy.

Under the auspices of the Wohelo Club, an interesting play, a comedy of boarding school life, entitled "'Neath the Sceptre of Susan," was presented at the Young Women's Christian Association last evening, before a large and appreciative audience. Miss Margaret Hamilton, president of the Y.W.C.A., was in the chair and welcomed the audience, also commenting on the ideals of the "Y" clubs and their efforts in developing an all 'round life.

A musical programme during intermissions was much enjoyed, and consisted of vocal solos by Miss Helen Macdonald, readings by Miss Betty Payne and Miss Gertrude Graham, a vocal duett by the Misses Genevieve Fowler and Lillian Simmons, a piano solo by Miss Velma Scott, a solo and reading by Miss Dorothy Cooney, and recitations by Miss Marion Dryland. Accompaniments were played by the Misses E. Webber and E. Sanderson.

The play, "'Neath the Sceptre of Susan," was a very good comedy of boarding school life, centering about Miss Scruten, the lady principal, Mr. Lester, the school minister, in whom Miss Scruten is interested, but who is really in love with Miss Thompson, one of the teachers, and Susan, the heroine, and leader of the girls. Susan swings the sceptre and all ends happily.

The cast was composed of the following members: Susan Virginia Jones, played by Loraine Coursey; Emmeline Ames, played by Freda Pavey; Mary Ann Simpkins, played by Mary Copperthwaite; Clarissa Peabody, played by Dorothy Copping; Louisa Perkins, played by Hazel Mayneord; Eliza Caroline Fairbanks, played by Myrtle Melrose; Jane Tilbury Chew, played by Velma Scott; Miss Samantha Scruten, played by Annie Shaw; Miss Alice Thompson, played by Lillian O'Grady; Rev. Josiah Lester, played by Mr. A. Grayson, and the twins, Peter and Pansy, played by Eleanor Westcott and Irene Delorme.

The proceeds of the play will be devoted to Y.W.C.A. foreign work and the Summer Conference. Leaders of the Wohelo Club are Miss G. Graham and Miss L. Brownscombe.

LOCAL BUSINESS BRANCHES OUT

The Merchants Press in New Quarters — Have Added New Branch To Business.

An amalgamation and expansion of two local concerns has been consumated, the particular of which will be of interest to citizens generally.

The Merchants Press formerly operated in a portion of the Peterborough Floral Co. Buildings, at 436 Water Street, and the Peterborough Paper Box Company, Limited, whose premises were situated in the Grand Central Building, George Street, have been united under the one management. The identity of both organizations has been retained in the new firm name.

The new firm has been obliged to find larger quarters, and are now located in the building formerly occupied as a portion of the foundry of Peter Hamilton Company, Limited, East side of George Street, immediately South of King Street.

In view of certain conditions which have arisen, the Peterborough Paper Box Co. and the Merchants Press wish all of their old customers to know the location of their new premises.

R. A. McKee is President of the new organization; M. G. Hardill, Secretary; while J. R. Hurst, formerly of The Meaford Times (replacing A. C. Miller), is Superintendent of the Composing Room of the printing department. The plant is well equipped both for the making of paper boxes and for general printing production.

MURDER CHARGE IS BEING HEARD

Death of Madoc Bailiff Is Being Probed at Assizes.

POLICE ACTIVE.

BELLEVILLE, March 9—A true bill was returned in the murder charge against Abraham Robinson, arising out of the fatal shooting of Charles St. Charles.

St. Charles went to the home of Abraham Robinson on November 15th to seize cattle to satisfy an account of taxes in arrears. While in the act of making the seizure, he was shot at three times from a knoll near the gate leading from the farm. The third shot took effect, and after lingering for about a month St. Charles contracted septic pneumonia which was aggravated by the wound through his back.

Provincial Police arrested Abraham Robinson the same day, and have been engaged in the meantime in preparing the Crown's case.

It is understood that statements were obtained from Robinson and St. Charles, which are expected to be presented to the court. The case was given to the Grand Jury early Tuesday afternoon. A. B. Cunningham of Kingston is the special Crown Prosecutor for this Assize, which has only the one criminal case on its docket.

WEDDING BELLS.

WALKER—EATON

BELLEVILLE, March 9.—Harry Lazier Walker of Warkworth, son of the late H. J. Walker, ex-M.P., was married here yesterday to Bertha Lazier Eaton, daughter of Mrs. George I. Lazier and adopted daughter of the late William L. Eaton of Hartford, Conn. The marriage was solemnized by Rev. Dr. E. N. Baker, at the home of the bride's mother, 267 William Street.

Mr. Walker is well known in Central Ontario and especially in Northumberland County, where his father was a stalwart of the Conservative party, and in business conducted a hardware store in Warkworth. The son has followed in the political footsteps of this father, is prominent in the councils of Northumberland Conservatives, and is a vice-president of the party.

NEWBERRY—WILSON

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized by Rev. J. E. Todd at George street United Manse, when Effie Pearl, eldest daughter of Mrs. Flora Wilson and the late Mr. Norman Wilson of Apsley, was united in marriage to Mr. Donavan Grant Newberry, son of Samuel Newberry, of Moose Jaw, Sask.

The bride was very becomingly attired in shell pink georgette trimmed with ecru lace with hat and shoes to match. She was attended by her sister, Miss Flora Wilson who looked charming in Harding blue georgette with hat and shoes to match. The groom was assisted by Mr. Walter Tucker also of Apsley.

After the ceremony a dainty repast was served to their immediate friends and relatives at the home of Mrs. George Thorne, 434 Driscoll Terrace. Amid showers of good wishes and confetti the happy couple left on the 3.20 train for Toronto where they will spend a few days en route to their home in Moose Jaw, Sask.

JURY AWARDS $250 DAMAGES

New York People Given Verdict Result of Automobile Crash.

BELLEVILLE ASSIZES.

(Staff Correspondence.)

BELLEVILLE, March 9.—After three hours' deliberation, a jury in the spring assizes here last night at 11 o'clock brought in a verdict awarding Mr. and Mrs. B. Raucovic of New York City, $250 damages in their suit against Mr. and Mrs. John Orrill, of Trenton, for $5,000 for injuries and loss suffered in an automobile accident in Trenton on September 10th, 1926. The jury found that Mrs. Orrill, driving her car, and the chauffeur of Mr. Raucovic's car had both been negligent, Mrs. Orill for excessive speed and the chauffeur of the other automobile for failing to taking necessary precaution in approaching the street inter-section where the cars collided. The verdict also determined that both parties were equally negligent on that account reduced the award by one-half the total of $500, which they considered would have been due the plaintiffs if there had been no contributory negligence by their chauffeur.

Defendants must also pay costs on county court scale.

T. J. Agar, K.C., of Toronto, represented Mrs. Orill, and H D. Graham of Trenton, was counsel for the plaintiffs.

A Bank President.

Bozo Raukovic and his wife Rose seemed to be typically successful products of New York's melting pot. Raukovic is a bank president, head of the Century bank. He is a native of Serbia, which since the war has been absorbed in the new kingdom of Jugo-slavia. His wife is a daughter of Czechoslovakia, another of the Balkan States. A rope of pearls, a rich fur coat, modish hat and dress bespoke a financial status far above the average, and both these emigrants of some twenty years ago commanded a vocabulary that indicated a rather high degree of culture. After all they are Americans in spite of the husband's Macedonian accent, but they were unusual figures in a Belleville court. Both were cool and self-possessed on the stand and appreciated the value of the retort courteous.

The Rankovics brought suit against the Orrills for $5,000 for injuries suffered in an automobile accident in Trenton in the afternoon of September 10, 1926, in which the New York car, a Cadillac seven-passenger touring, was overturned by the defendants' Hudson sedan, driven by Mrs. Orrill, who was its sole occupant, and likewise the only witness for the defence.

Tour For Relaxation.

Mr. Rankovic had been ordered by his doctor to take a holiday as a precaution against imminent nervous breakdown, and he decided upon a motor trip with his wife into Canada.

Near the town in Connecticut where they have a summer home, they hired Terence McManus, a chauffeur, as a pilot for the Canadian trip, and from Montreal they were loafing along the Kingston Road to Toronto.

The accident occurred at the corner of Dundas and Marmora Streets in Trenton. The defendants alleged that Mrs. Orrill's car flashed up the Dundas incline, and turned so swiftly that they did not see it until the crash. The chauffeur said he saw it first twenty feet from him. They swore that their car was close to the curb on the right side of the paved street. It was overturned by the impact. Mrs. Rankovic was bruised and cut about the legs and body, and three of her perfect thirty-two teeth were knocked out of the front of her mouth. Her husband's back was wrenched, but not seriously. Her lament was not only to her slightly impaired appearance but also to the alleged fact that an injury to her foot reduced her customary ten-mile "hikes" to only two, because of the pain caused by walking even that distance.

Defendant's Story.

Mrs. Orrill testified that she drove up the grade at about 20 miles an hour. She saw the other automobile approaching the intersection of the streets. It suddenly swerved, she alleged, cutting the corner sharply and crossed almost directly in front of her. It was implied by the defence that McManus did not notice the "Toronto turn" sign until he was almost past it, and that this swift observation caused him to make the turn as Mrs. Orrill described it.

McManus and the owners of the Cadillac declared that they did not see the sign at all, and in fact were driving past the corner, and that no attempt was made to turn into Dundas Street. McManus said the sedan loomed up as if it were travelling at 50 miles an hour. This conflict of evidence was the problem presented to the jury.

Mr. Justice Logie, in addressing the jury, referred to remarks by counsel to the fact that the plaintiffs were Americans. His Lordship quietly depreceated these statements and expressed his confidence that none of the jurors would entertain any prejudice of nationality. The plaintiffs, he said, had a perfect right to return to Ontario to press their suit if they so wished, and they were entitled to the same full measure of justice as any other persons appearing before the court. It was the proud boast of British people that justice was untrammeled under the Union Jack and in British courts, and that no discrimination of nationality, creed or color should be permitted to influence court decisions.

Sultan Buys Player Piano For Amusement In Harem

PARIS, March 9. United Press —Harem life in the palace of Sultan Moulai Youssef, the ruler of Morocco, at Rabat, is to know new joys through the medium of an American player piano.

"It is one of civilization's greatest accomplishments," the Sultan, who was married recently, declared when he heard one of these mechanical instruments while on a recent visit in Paris. He promptly ordered one and with it a library of the latest American jazz tunes and a few classical numbers just for variety. What the Sultans harem will do when the strains of American jazz fills the musty harem walls is a matter for conjecture.

VOL. LIX., No. 58 PETERBOROUGH, THURSDAY, MARCH 10, 1927 PRICE THREE CENTS

Premier Ferguson Introduces Government Control Bill

ABOUT HALF OF C. G. E. WORKERS HAVE INVESTED

Offer of Company Snapped Up By Many in Peterborough.

$125,000 INVESTED.

Dividends Coming To City First Year Will Be At Least $10,000.

The offer of the Canadian General Electric Company, made several weeks ago, to admit employees as shareholders of the firm, has proven a success is indicated by the fact that 42 per cent. of the employees in the Peterborough plant have subscribed for the stock. The subscription lists close on Tuesday next, and it is anticipated that the total will be up to 50 per cent. before that date, after which no further subscriptions can be issued. The average amount subscribed by those taking the stock is four shares and a total of 2,500 shares have been sold to employees in the Peterborough plant. This means an investment of $125,000, which will return $10,000 dividends to Peterborough employees the first year.

The plan was inaugurated by the C.G.E., not to sell stock, but to enable the employees to take a share in the business and to provide a safe investment for workers in the Company. No new stock issue was made, the C.G.E. having to purchase the shares at the current rate and these are now being sold to the employees at par, $50.00. The stock bears 7 p.c. dividends and is preferred. In addition, there is a guaranteed bonus of 1 per cent. for this year, with the probability that this will be higher.

E. G. Patterson, Superintendent of the Peterborough plant, expressed great satisfaction in conversation with The Examiner, yesterday evening. This is the culmination of a plan he has had in mind for many years, and he is delighted with the acceptance of what he considers a real investment by his employees in the Peterborough plant.

BLIZZARD BLOCKS COLORADO ROADS

DENVER, Colo., March 10 (Canadian Press).—A blizzard in Southern Colorado to-day delayed transportation, blocked highways, and blasted the hopes of Silverton and Eureka, San Juan Valley mining communities, to re-establish the transportation lines severed a month ago by snow slides. Both towns depended on mushers for medical supplies until Tuesday, when an aeroplane succeeded in reaching them.

Girl Who Tried To Rob Bank Gets 30-Day Term

VERMILION, S. D., March 10 (United Press). — Comely Marion Meyers, University of South Dakota co-ed, who attempted to rob a bank in order to complete her education, was sentenced to 30 days in the penitentiary yesterday.

The young woman pleaded guilty to attempting to rob the First National Bank of Vermilion.

Leniency was asked for her and this was granted in the judge's short sentence.

HOSPITAL LAWS OF THE PROVINCE TO BE ALTERED

Changes Concern Indigent Township Patients' Admission To Hospital.

M.O.H. SIGN ORDER.

Power Taken From Reeves and Councillors of Townships.

TORONTO, March 10.—Medical health officers of townships bordering on cities and chartered towns, not reeves nor councillors, will in future sign orders for admission of indigent patients to hospitals in those centres as a result of legislation agreed upon yesterday by the municipal law committee, and which goes on for approval of the legislature. In this amendment to the Hospitals and Charitable Institutions Act the cities lose a certain protection enjoyed for the past year, the change being made, as the committee sees it, first in the interests of the sick, and, secondly, of the municipalities, which contribute to patients.

Last session an amendment to the Act was passed providing that "no indigent person residing in a township bordering on the cities of Toronto or Hamilton shall be admitted to a hospital in such city without an order in writing signed by the reeve or deputy-reeve or councillor or medical health officer of such township."

Applies Generally.

The proposed amendment which came before the committee yesterday was sponsored by A. H. Acres, Carleton, and would have added Ottawa. Dr. Cameron Wilson pressed for inclusion of London. After long discussion, and a suggestion of the chairman, Hon. William Finlayson, it was decided to make the clause apply generally, after elimination of the provision for signing of orders by reeves and councillors and giving hospital superintendents discretion in cases of emergency, these to be checked up on notice from hospital to municipality in seven days.

Re-drafted Clause.

The committee will look over the re-drafted clause when presented by Law Clerk Wilkinson, on these lines:

Emergent admission on order of the local superintendent for a period of seven days; and apart from that, in all cities and separated towns, as to patients from adjoining townships, the order of the medical officer of the township shall be necessary.

Townships other than those touching on the cities come under the general law by which the hospital must notify the municipalities regarding admission of patients.

COMMISSION HAS GREAT POWERS

Will Fix Fees For Permits and Amounts of Liquor Sold at One Time.

MANY DETAILS.

TORONTO, March 10.—(Canadian Press.)—Many important details in the administration of the Government Liquor Control Bill offered by Premier Ferguson, for first reading in the Ontario Legislature, are left to the Control Commission, which has been named with D. B. Hanna as chairman, but not officially appointed. The matter of fixing the fee for residential and tourist permits is for the commission. It is also to decide the amount of liquor to be sold at one time and it has almost unlimted power of cancellation of permits for abuse of privileges.

Agreement With Britain Against Soviet Is Alleged Aim.

LONDON, March 10—Sir Austen Chamberlain's dealings with Benito Mussolini and the obvious understanding recently reached between Great Britain and Italy are arousing much suspicion and criticism in Liberal and Labor circles.

The Italian dictator's alacrity in sending a warship to China, following closely on the heels of the British foreign secretary's visit to Il Duce in Rome, and now Mussolini's assent to the treaty which confirms Rumania's hold on Bessarabia, making it necessary for the League of Nations to prevent Russia seizing this former territory of hers, is regarded as the result of Sir Austen's policy of closest co-operation with Italy in eastern Europe.

While Chamberlain is busy denying that there is any attempt to isolate the union of soviet republics, it is obvious that Italy's change of attitude toward the soviet is due to a desire to give Britain a helping hand in her difficulties with Russia and to create a feeling in the latter country that she cannot challenge Britain with impunity.

Close Co-operation

There is no longer any attempt in official circles to deny that Britain is working closely with Mussolini, but it is affirmed that this co-operation is directed against no nation in particular, but is merely the natural development of a foreign policy, which aims at preserving the balance of the Locarno treaty. It is also asserted that it is better to befriend Italy than to let her go her own way, which might lead to war, because Britain could exercise a restraining influence on Mussolini through friendship, which naturally she could never do through enmity or indifference.

France, it is said, fully understands the purpose of Britain's friendship for Italy, and in the main approves its object, which is the preservation of peace in Europe, particularly along the eastern Mediterranean, and therefore there is no suspicion on the part of France and no hostility.

Opposition Suspicious

The Labor and Liberal parties, however, view the whole scheme of co-operation with the deepest suspicion because of Mussolini's warlike activities and their dislike of his policy of internal administraton. Moreover, they assert that the understanding with Italy is far more comprehensive than is officially admitted in London, and that Britain is "playing with fire." They believe, despite the foreign secretary's denials, he is attempting to form an anti-soviet bloc.

Attacks on Reds

Meanwhile The Daily News is declaring that the violent attacks on the soviet by Sir William Joynson-Hicks, the home secretary, and the Earl of Birkenhead, constitute a policy of "kite flying" to see if the country is willing to give the government a mandate to eject the reds from Britain.

If the kites reveal that this is the tendency, The Daily News avers that Premier Baldwin will decide on a general election on this issue.

Diplomats In Trouble In Washington Traffic

WASHINGTON, March 10.—One diplomat is going home and several others have been taken to task as the result of traffic accidents in Washington in which they or members of their families figured.

Abdullah Entebam, Third Secretary of the Persian Legation, whose wife a Washington lady, was principal in a traffic accident which resulted in the death of an occupant of the other machine is going back to Teheran.

John Bryn, son of the former Norwegian Minister, figured in an accident recently in which one of the occupants of his automobile was killed. Young Bryn recently applied for naturalization papers here and the accident occurred shortly thereafter while his father was still minister. The State department announced yesterday that it has been ascertained to the satisfaction of all concerned that Bryn was in no way responsible for the accident.

An attache of the Serbian Legation got into a row with the Washington director of traffic, which blazed forth in the local press and got some notice abroad.

WOOLLEN GOODS HEARING OPENS BEFORE BOARD

Two Main Arguments On Increased Tariff Heard On Opening.

LONG SESSION.

Secretary of Woollen and Knit Goods Manufacturers First Witness.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 10. Canadian Press. — The hearing of the application by the Canadian woollen and knit goods manufacturers for increased tariff protection, which began yesterday before the advisory board of tariff and taxation, will be long drawn out.

Two main arguments were placed before the board yesterday, the one by the applicants and the other opposing the application on behalf of the British Agents Association, representing 400 British textile mills doing business in Canada. After the board had been informed that further opposition would come from individual British firms, private individuals and the Canadian Council of Agriculture, Chairman W. H. Moore called a halt to the presentation of briefs and placed Dougla. Hallam, secretary of the Woollen and Knit Goods Manufacturers' Association on the witness stand.

R. J. Deachman appearing for Geo. Spence, M.P., Maple Creek, in opposition to the proposed tariff increases, started examination of the witness. The whole afternoon session of the hearing was taken up by analysis of statistics presented in the applicants' brief. Mr. Deachman endeavored to show that these figures were incomplete and did not fairly represent the situation in Canada. He presented other figures designed to prove that the increase in woollen imports was due to the natural growth of the country, and had not been, as the applicants contended, excessive; in many cases, he pointed out, imports of various woollen products, had actually dropped. The witness refused to admit the contentions of counsel.

Mr. Deachman challenged figures presented in the brief, indicating that costs of production in Canada were much greater than production costs in England. Mr. Hallam admitted that his figures were incomplete but claimed that it was virtually impossible to get accurate statements with respect to costs because of the secrecy which the individual mills maintained on this subject.

At the conclusion of yesterday's hearing the chairman requested Mr. Hallam to secure more complete data on costs, if possible.

Mr. Deachman will continue his examination of the witness when the hearing is resumed to-day.

EXAMINATION DATES ARE ALREADY SET

Departmental Tests Begin on June 20 and End July 5.

The time-table for the midsummer examinations has just been issued by the Department of Education.

Those pupils taking the High School entrance examinations start writing on Tuesday, June 28, when they have grammar, writing and history. On Wednesday they have composition, spelling and literature and on Thursday arithmetic and geography.

The Lower School examination starts on Friday, June 24, when first and second year agriculture is on the schedule. Physiography, grammar and Latin grammar come on the 27th, history and geography on the 28th, art and botany on the 29th, and arithmetic and zoology on the 30th.

The Middle and Upper School pupils start on June 20 and write until July 5. Literature and chemistry come the first day, geometery and history on the 21st, physics and composition on the 22nd, algebra and ancient history on the 23rd, French authors and composition on the 24th, Latin authors and composition on the 27th, trigonometry and botany on the 28th, German authors and composition on the 29th, physics and zoology on the 30th, Greek authors and composition on July 4, and Spanish authors and composition on July 5.

POLICE SEIZE 79 LEADERS OF CHINESE UNIONS

Raid Meeting of Postal Workers Discussing General Strike.

FIND PAMPHLETS.

Steamer Brings Foreign Women and Children From Wuhu.

SHANGHAI, March 10 (Canadian Press).—The headquarters of the Postal Workers' Union was raided by the police last night while the meeting was discussing preparations for another general strike. Seventy-nine men were arrested, including a representative of the General Labor Union and the secretary of the Post Union. All but these two officials were released. The police seized pamphlets advocating a general strike and lauding the Kuomintang, or Republican revolutionary party, which has affiliations with the Cantonese.

Hand-bills printed in Hindustani urged Indian troops of the Shanghai defence force not to shoot Chinese found near Punjabi billets on the Yangtse.

The steamer Kutwo left Wuhu to-day with a group of foreign women and children who were taken on board several days ago as a consequence of mob riots which preceded the occupation of the town by Cantonese forces. The belief is generally held that order has been restored.

Britain Not Interfering.

LONDON, March 10 (Canadian Press). — The British Government has not been asked to intercede on behalf of Mme. Borodin, arrested on Saturday by Northern Chinese forces near Shanghai, it was stated at the Foreign Office to-day. Officials said Great Britain was not involved in the incident and it was doubtful whether the British policy of neutrality as between Northern and Southern factions would permit of interference.

AGED MAN DIES VERY SUDDENLY

Samuel Solmes, Antrim Street, Succumbs at His Home.

COLLAPSES ON FLOOR.

Samuel Solmes, a resident of Antrim Street, died with startling suddenness at his home about 5 o'clock last night.

Mr. Solmes, who was 72 years of age, has been suffering from fainting spells for some time, but it was not thought that the ailment was serious. He had just come into the house after being outside, and on reaching the kitchen collapsed on the floor and died within ten minutes.

Mrs. George Robins, who lives in the house, went out and called a doctor. On her return Mr. Solmes was still living but he died before the doctor's arrival.

Dr. T. W. H. Young, the coroner, conducted an investigation, and decided, as a result of his examination, that death was from natural causes.

STORY OF 'QUAKE HORRORS GROW

Each Report Adds To Toll of Suffering and Terror in Stricken Area.

THOUSANDS DEAD.

TOKIO, March 10 (Canadian Press). — Each succeeding report from the earthquake area in Central Japan furnishes a fresh chapter in the tale of horror. Bitter cold, snow, rain, overflowing streams and lack of food and shelter all have added to the trials of the terror-stricken Japanese whose homes either toppled about them when the earth rocked on Monday evening, or were burned in the fires that followed.

Communication with the region is still spasmodic and thus a complete list of casualties cannot be made. Figures compiled by the Home Office in accordance with latest information is that nearly twenty-three hundred persons were killed and about thirty-five injured. Newspaper reports estimate the number of dead at between three and five thousand. Estimates of the homeless range from fifty to seventy-five thousand. Observers believe the material damage may amount to seventy-five million dollars.

Peaches' Portrait Shown By Independent Artists

NEW YORK, March 10. — United Press. — Among the pictures to be exhibited by the Society of Independent Artists, at the Waldorf Astoria Saturday is one of Mrs. Edward West Browning — known to all the world as "Peaches"—in the nude. Reclining on a table beside her are three authentic peaches, and the honking gander is there also. Only "Daddy" is missing.

LEAGUE TROUBLES.

France Has Big Army, Germany and Russia Allied, England Hits League.

ROME, March 10 (United Press) —A disquieting "smell of iron" is abroad in Europe and the balance of power will crumble, "while perhaps not today, certainly by tomorrow," the semi-official newspaper Il Tevers said, in discussing the international situation facing the League of Nations Council at Geneva.

"France organizes in a military way as if it is not sufficient for her to have the largest post-war army," continued the newspaper. A curious understanding exists between Germany and Russia, and meanwhile Germany and England hit together at the League of Nations.

"Russia comes to Europe through Germany.

"These facts show that conditions are not stable."

Meanwhile the paper comments, "The young nation of Italy keeps her reserve."

GREECE FACED BY BIG STRIKE

Storekeepers Close Up In Protest Against Rent Law Changes.

MORE MAY JOIN.

ATHENS, March 10 (United Press).—Greek troops were mobilized today to deal with eventualities as dealers in food struck against government alterations of the rent and tax laws.

Bakers, grocers, restaurateurs, and other tradesmen closed their shops today. Public officials and private employees of railways were considering joining the strike movement and the government decided upon military mobilization of public officials if they attempted to utilize the strike weapon.

There was no precedent for the situation which existed today. It was Greece's biggest strike.

Man Kept Alive By Pals Is Becoming Exhausted

CHICAGO, March 10 (Canadian Press).—The spark of life kept aglow in the paralyzed body of Alfred Frick for four days by a resolute crew of men, working in shifts to provide artificial respiration, flickered feebly to-day as three score workers battled grimly against death.

Through the long night watches they toiled, two by two, compressing and relaxing, compressing and relaxing the lungs that became numb on Sunday morning, fighting to stay the end physicians feared was near. Except for a brief administration of oxygen, there were no breaks in the rhymtbic progress, but there were further signs of exhaustion in Frick's stricken body, and a bluish color spreading over the features of the 22-year-old patient told of the tide of battle against the straining heart.

No Public Drinking Or Druggist Supply Under Control Bill

Premier Ferguson Introduces New Government Control Bill in House Amid Tumultuous Applause From Supporters—Known as "Liquor Control Act."

PROVIDES FIVE CLASSES OF PERMITS FOR THOSE OVER 21 YEARS OF AGE

Drastic Penalties For Infractions of the Law, While All Prosecutions Shall Be Conducted Under Department of Attorney-General.

TORONTO, March 10 (Canadian Press).—Ontario's eagerly-awaited legislation providing for government control of the sale of liquor in the province, superseding the Ontario Temperance Act, and proposed in "the interests of real temperance," made its public appearance in the Ontario Legislature early last evening to the accompaniment of tumultuous applause from the government supporters.

The bill, which was introduced by Premier G. Howard Ferguson, is known as the Liquor Control Act, and it has a two-fold purpose: First, to prohibit transactions in liquor except through government agencies and under government supervision, and secondly, to provide the organization of a Liquor Control Commission, and the means by which such prohibition and control may be made effective.

Very wide powers will be given the Commission and the application of the principles of the legislation will be confided to this body within well-defined limitations. The Commission will be supreme in its powers and its actions cannot be reviewed or interfered with by any court or by any government.

Consumption at Home

In brief, the legislation forbids any public drinking of liquor, confines consumption to residences defined by the law, preserves the principle of local option prohibition, provides drastic penalties for infractions of the law, including imprisonment for first offence without the option of a fine for those convicted of "bootlegging," and for five classes of permits by which persons 21 years and over may purchase spirituous liquor through government agencies. These permits will be issued to a resident of Ontario, a tourist or temporary resident for a period not exceeding one month, to physicians, dentists, veterinaries and those in scientific or mechanical persuits, and ministers of the Gospel for sacramental purposes, while the Liquor Commission shall have authority to issue a special permit authorized by the regulations for a special purpose. In addition, druggists will not be permitted to dispense liquor. Stores will be established by the Liquor Commission for the sale of liquor at points deemed best in the public interest. A special staff will co-operate with provincial and local police in the enforcement of the law and all prosecutions shall be conducted under the department of the Attorney-general.

Outlines Bill

Premier Ferguson spoke for thirty minutes in outlining the bill and after the House had given first reading to the measure stated that the second reading would be taken up on Tuesday, March 15, when members of the House will open discussion on the legislation.

Four hours before the House opened at three o'clock, the public started taking up vantage seats in the galleries of the chamber, and when the business of the legislature began all available space in the corridors and balconies was filled to standing-room capacity by men and women anxious to hear the details of Ontario's new temperance policy, and the crowd even overflowed on to the floor of the House.

After several hours, during which the House listened to the introduction of private bills, and the passage of several measures through committee, W. E. N. Sinclair, Liberal leader, drew the attention of the Prime Minister to the crowded assembly and asked him if he was "teasing" the public by delay in placing the measure before the House. The Premier replied that he awaited the production of the bill by the printers. The Premier "warmed up" by taking a very active part in the discussion on private bills, and at 5.40 he arose in his seat and presented the Liquor bill to the House, a document approximating 21,000 words, and with the ink still wet on its numerous pages. He was received with vigorous desk-thumping and cheers by the government supporters and waited fully three minutes before he was permitted to speak.

SWAM TO SAFETY WHEN PLANE FELL

Details Of Uruguyan Flyers' Crash Are Revealed By Government.

MONTEVIDEO, March 10 (by United Press)—The four Uruguayan trans-Atlantic aviators who today were being held for ransom by Sahara desert Moors, fell into the sea and swam ashore after their plane had been damaged by rough water, the government announced yesterday. The government announcement was the first explanation of how the Uruguayan plane was destroyed without injuring Major Tadeo Laare Borges and his three companions.

Negotiations Begin

CASABLANCA, Mar. 10—Pilots Reine and Antone landed a representative of the governor of Rio de Oro at Puerto Cansado yesterday to begin negotiations with Moorish tribesmen for the release of four Uruguayan aviators who were stranded on the desolate coast March 2, after an accident which disabled their plane.

The relief plane was scheduled to return to Puerto Cansado Thursday to bring the Uruguayans to Cape Juby if the negotiations succeed.

SOVIET GOVERNMENT PROTESTS ARREST OF RUSSIAN COURIERS BY NORTH CHINA AUTHORITIES

Moscow Disbelieves Report That They Were Executed as Spies.

DEMAND RELEASE.

Charged With Spreading "Red" Propaganda Among Northern Workers.

SHANGHAI, March 10 (Canadian Press).—The drive of the Cantonese for the city of Soochow and the attendant threat on Shanghai yesterday were overshadowed momentarily by the possibility of strained relations between the Peking government and Moscow growing out of the arrest of Mme. Borodin, wife of the adviser to the Cantonese government, and three soviet couriers.

While Mme. Borodin is in the hands of General Chang Tsung Chang, who is now definding Shanghai, there are contradictory reports as to the fate of the three other Russian emissaries. Despite reports from Chinese sources that the three had been executed as spies, it is generally believed here that they have not been shot.

Chinese authorities declare that there have been increasing indications that large numbers of Cantonese emissaries have been bound northward in an endeavor to stir up trouble among the workers. Every precaution already has been taken to prevent an influx of these agitators into Shanghai, Tientsin, Peking and other northern industrial centres.

Spread Propaganda

It is charged here that the soviet steamer Pamist Lenina, on which Mme. Borodin and the couriers were seized by a squad of white Russians attached to the army of Chang Tsung Chang, had tons of red propaganda tracts board and only a few pounds of tea.

Representations have been made by the Soviet embassy at Peking to the government authorities there protesting against the arrest of the Russians and demanding their immediate release.

While the military situation between the Cantonese and the northern forces is developing steadily, the question of propaganda is troubling the northern commanders, since it is interfering with their transportation of troops.

Hinders Transportation

Intimidation is reported to be playing a considerable part in the southerners' propaganda campaign, the trouble spreading from the Shanghai-Nanking railway workshops to the locomotive drivers and firemen of the Shanghai-Hangchow line. Threats against the lives of non-strikers have been so numerous that the military authorities are placing escorts aboard locomotives. Nevertheless, many engineers are refusing to report for duty.

The Tientsin-Pukow line is now being devoted entirely to the movement of troops, all passenger traffic being suspended with the consequence that coastal steamers plying to the north are crowded.

The British steamer Emerald yesterday left Nanking for Wuhu, up the Yangtse River, where Tuesday the Customs House was looted by a mob shortly after the occupation of the town by the Cantonese. All the foreign women and children at Wuhu have been placed aboard the steamer Kutwo. The United States destroyer Preble is standing by, while the destroyer Noa is at Nanking within call. The normal foreign population of Wuhu is about 40.

The capture of Wuhu by the Cantonese and the action of Chen Tiao Yung, governor of Anhwei Province, in affiliating himself with the Cantonese, has placed Chang Tsung Chang in a precarious position, since his lines of communication are seriously threatened. The southerners are now rapidly progressing down the Yangtse River toward Nanking.

Deciding Factor

Marshal Chang Tso Lin, who is attempting a drive against the Cantonese through Honan Province toward Hankow, is now in a position where his efforts are likely to be a deciding factor in the civil war. His position is rendered difficult by the presence on the Honan-Shensi border of the Kuomintung force of Marshal Feng Yu Hsiang, while a further menace is in the doubtful attitude of Yen Shi Shan, military governor of Shensi, who is likely to co-operate with Feng.

Should Chang Tso Lin find it necessary to fall back across the Yellow River, the position of the Shantung forces of Chang Tsung Chang in the Shanghai-Nanking region would be almost untenable and might necessitate abandonment of the entire Yangtse valley to the Cantonese.

OLD MASTERS

Strange wares are handled on the wharves of sleep;
Shadows of shadows pass, and many a light
Flashes a signal fire across the night;
Barges depart whose voiceless steersmen keep
Their way without a star upon the deep;
And from lost ships, homing with ghostly crews,
Come cries of incommunicable news,
While cargoes pile the piers, a moon white heap—
Budgets of dream dust, merchandise of song,
Wreckage of hope, and packs of ancient wrong,
Nepenthes gathered from a secret strand,
Pardels of heartache, burdens of old sins.
Luggage sent down from dim ancestral inns,
And bales of fantasy from No-Man's Land.

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

PLAY THE GAME

Play the game, and play it hard.
Just to play is not the test,
For a loafer never starred—
Play the game, and play your best.
They who stand and watch the rest
Do not aid them, but retard.
Face to face and breast to breast,
Play the game, and play it hard!

Play the game, and play it through,
Even though you win with ease,
Do the best that you can do,
Train for other victories.
Or if foes the glory seize,
Let not conquest conquer you:
Baffled, beaten to your knees,
Play the game, and play it through!

Play the game, and play it fair,
More important than the game
Is the banner that you bear,
Free of blemish, free of blame.
Better lose and keep your fame
Thaan a laurel wreath to wear
Sullied with the mark of shame—
Play the game, but play it fair!

THE LIFE OF CHRIST : Jesus Begins His Ministry

Synopsis Arranged by Dr. Wm. E. Gilroy, D.D., Sketches by Kroesen.

The Miracle at Cana—The first recorded miracle of Jesus was the turning of water into wine at the marriage feast at Cana in Galilee. John says that Jesus "manifested forth his glory; and his disciples believed on him." (John II : 1-11).

From Cana he went with his mother, his brethren and his disciples to Capernaum, where he stayed a few days. (John II : 12)

Then he went to Jerusalem for the Passover—a feast in March, lasting eight days, commemorating the exodus from Egypt. (John II : 13)

Finding in the Temple at Jerusalem people buying and selling, and changing money, bent on gain and not on worship, Jesus took a whip of small cords and drove them out, saying, "Make not my Father's house an house of merchandise." (John II : 14-17)

Dancing Elephant Is Put To Death In Paris Zoo Crazy "Gaspard" Dies After Playing His Harmonica

PARIS, March 10.—Gaspard Gay, the young elephant of the Paris Zoo, whose dancing of the "Charleston" and "Black Bottom" to the accompaniment of his own music has been a source of joy to thousands of Parisian children, was solemnly put to death in his quarters at 10 o'clock yesterday morning in the presence of municipal dignitaries, fire department and police officials, physicians and a group of grief-stricken keepers.

After nineteen years of the happiest sort of life Gaspard suddenly went crazy last Saturday. He broke through the walls of his cage, fractured an arm of his German keeper, injured a woman and set up the wildest of cries, which aroused every animal in the park to a high pitch of excitement. Firemen, policemen, keepers and doctors all endeavored to quiet Gaspard, but to no avail, and after two days of insane behavior it was decided to put an end to Gaspard's existence.

Yesterday morning Gaspard was placed in a straitjacket, fed a last meal of his favorite food and allowed to play a favorite tune on his beloved harmonica. While he blew forth the mournful notes the room was made ready and a case containing 220 grains of hydrocyanic acid, ten times the normal amount required to cause death, was brought in.

Then the executioners and the witnesses withdrew, and the gas was turned on. Gaspard's keeper, although barely able to walk after the attack on Saturday, stood outside and wept as the unfortunte elephant uttered one last piercing shriek and died.

NO PUBLIC DRINKING

mier Ferguson said that there were three outstanding features of the legislation. The first and the most important was the appointment of a strong, capable and highly efficient control board, commanding public confidence in such a degree as to restore respect for the law, and make its operation effective. The personnel of this board, he said, had already been announced, and had been received with general approval. Secondly, he claimed that the Government had observed the pledges given the public in the recent general election campaign to the effect that the measure would be "in the interests of real temperance." Thirdly, the Government relied for the success of the law more upon wise and efficient administration than upon statutory enactments which, because of the fact that they were expressed in legal terms, were not easily understood by the public. The bill, therefore, did not propose to establish in detail the complete system of liquor control, but dealt rather in broad principles, and confided the application of these principles within well-defined limitations to the control board.

Pledges Observed.

The Premier said that the legislation followed strictly the policy enunciated by his Government during the last Provincial election campaign, and its object was to eliminate as far as possible the trafficking in intoxicating liquors that had in the past led to widespread and serious abuse. It was the sincere desire of the Government to put into operation a system of handling liquor what would meet with general public approval and create a more wholesome respect for the laws of the province. The Government did not claim perfection for the method provided and there would be inevitably some abuses and unforeseen situations, but it was its earnest hope that a policy, founded upon a sane, reasonable basis would have the support of the great mass of public opinion, so that in the light of experience it might be from time to time improved and made more effective in attaining better conditions that were desired by all good citizens. The purposes of the legislation were two-fold. It aimed to prohibit transactions in liquor except through Government agencies and under Government control and to provide the organization and the means by which such prohibition and control might be made effective.

"The Government has already repeatedly expressed its view," continued the Premier, "that wise and effective administration makes more for the success of a law than a multiplicity of rigid and irritating legal enactments. It will therefore be found that while the bill lays down definite, broad lines of policy and limitation, very wide discretion is given to the commission to improve the situation from time to time by regulation as in their judgment may appear to be best in the public interest."

Might Suspend Permits.

In connection with the permits for the purchase of liquor, the Premier stated that these might be suspended by a magistrate before whom prosecution took place, by a county judge and by the Liquor Commission at its discretion without giving any reason for its action.

Dealing with the clause which provides that no person shall keep liquor in the province without permission of the commission, Premier Ferguson said that it would be much easier to convict those who now kept liquor in their residences for illegal sale. The person having it would have to show that he purchased it from the commission or by some legal method before the coming into force of the new law.

"Eliminate Bootlegger."

Hon. Mr. Ferguson then explained to the House the means by which the Government, through administration of the law, hoped to eliminate the "bootlegger."

"By providing for imprisonment for first offence for the illegal salesman," he said, "we hope to make an effective effort to get rid of the bootlegger. It is intended that an official of the commission shall be stationed in every brewery warehouse and where beer is ordered by the case from a vendor, the latter transmits the order to the official in the brewery who will check it out and see to its proper delivery.

"There shall be one appeal to a county judge from any conviction and where imprisonment is imposed by certiorari (a writ) unless the Attorney-General certifies that the question involved is of sufficient importance to render it desirable to have the opinion of a higher court.

"I desire to emphasize," continued the Premier, "that the board is supreme in its powers, and its actions cannot be reviewed or interfered with by any court or by any government."

Liquor Commission.

The province was very fortunate, said Mr. Ferguson, in being able to secure outstanding men for the Liquor Commission, who were willing to undertake a great public service. The Government was content and confident that the public would be satisfied to leave to the commission the widest possible powers to enable them to handle a problem of grave importance and infinite difficulty. In his statement he added he had sought only to indicate the salient features of the legislation, that the public might realize the Government was adhering to its public declarations.

In conclusion the Premier appealed to all parties in the House, to temperance leaders and the public in general, to co-operate with the Government in making the new legislation a success. The people had spoken, he said, and had given the Government a mandate to take hold of the problem. He invited constructive criticism from the Opposition and welcomed helpful suggestions from any source, because the Government was determined to carry out the will of the people and try and improve the moral and physical condition of the province.

OBITUARY.

MRS. JOHN FEE.

EAST EMILY, Mar. 10 — The death occurred on Saturday night of Louisa M. Sommers, beloved wife of Mr. John F. Fee. The deceased who was in her 63rd year had been in failing health for the past few months. She was of a quiet disposition and loved by all who were fortunate enough to know her.

Besides her bereaved husband whom the sympathy of the whole community goes to. She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. W. J. Bragg and Mrs. Thomas Jackson, both of Bowmanville and one brother, Sayward Sommers of Toronto.

The funeral was held on Tuesday morning from her late residence to the 11.20 train at Omemee from where the remains were taken to Bowmanville where she was layed to rest. The service was conducted at the house by Rev. Mr. Weir, Anglican minister. The pall bearers were George Newman, Jos. Shields, Walter Moncrief, Kelly Mitchell, Frank Wilson, Alvin Fee.

FIGHT FAKE SCHOOLS.

CHICAGO, March 10—The American Association of Engineers declaring that "the country is overrun with misleading correspondence schools," is backing a drastic law to be submitted to Congress to eliminate frauds and provide a basis for the legitimate. Recent surveys indicated correspondence schools do an annual business of $70,000,000, much of which is spent for training that is of no value.

The United States was out of debt only once in its history—during Andrew Jackson's administration, in 1835.

For the first time in 35 years the number of pensioners on the government rolls declined below the half million mark during October, 1926.

YOUNG PEOPLE HOLD MEETING

Weekly Gathering of St. John's League Held on Monday.

AT CAMPBELLFORD.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 10 — The Young People of St. John's League held their weekly meeting on Monday evening. There was a good attendance and an excellent programme was given. The president, Mr. G. F. Phillips, presided over the opening exercises. The meeting opened with Hymn 258, after which Mr. Elliott led in prayer. Several business matters were discussed, after which Hymn 262 was sung. The programme was in charge of the Christian Endeavor Convener, Miss Verna Saunders. The Bible lesson was read by Miss Flora Cardell, after which sentence prayers were given. Miss Velma Runnels gave a reading which was enjoyed by all. The topic was taken by Mrs. W. H. Ashton and was very well given and very interesting. The subject of Mrs. Ashton's theme was: "How does our church provide for the worship of God?"

The grouping was then taken for the standing of the four groups of cars, and the Hudson car is still in the lead, but is now being closely followed by the other groups, thus making this attendance race very interesting towards the close.

The meeting closed with Hymn 291, each group singing a verse, after which the Mizpah Benediction was pronounced.

GIRL FOILS HOLD-UP MEN

Miss Dawe, Laura Secord Clerk, Frightens Off Bandits.

TORONTO STORE.

TORONTO, March 10.—An attempt by two would-be gunmen to hold up and rob Laura Secord's Candy branch store at Queen Street West and Fuller Avenue, Parkdale, yesterday afternoon was foiled by Miss Esther R. Dawe, 39 Bellecourt Road, clerk on duty, alone in the store, who bluffed the men out by saying the manager was in back of the shop.

"As I walked into the shop one man said 'Hands up. Hand over all you've got.'

"He did not show a revolver, but had one hand in his overcoat pocket and pushed the pocket out, lifted up his coat as though he had a gun.

"I said, 'You had better clear out of here. My manager is in the back of the shop.'

"Then the other man spoke up and said, 'This looks like trouble. We had better get out.'

"Without making any other threats or attempting to go around the counter they left the store.

"I was in the back of my store in the workroom," said Miss Dawe, "when two men came into the store.

"One man appeared to be under the influence of liquor.

"I watched to see what they would do. There is no telephone in the store and when they walked west on Queen I went out in next store and telephoned the police.

"The man who ordered me to hand over the money stood near the counter while the second man, who suggested that they get out, stood with his back to the store and kept his eyes on the street."

Miss Dawe said she would not have handed over the money anyway.

"They did not have a chance," concluded the lady clerk.

SUPPORT ACTION OF CWM MINERS

Attack on Baldwin Held To Be Justified By Welsh Council.

TAKE STAND.

LONDON, March 10 (Canadian Press) — The miners' council of South Wales expresses the opinion that in view of Premier Baldwin's conduct during the lockout of miners last year, his presence on the scene of the mine explosion at Cwm, where 52 miners were killed was at least "an act justifying resentment."

This is their attitude on the disturbance at the time when the premier and Mrs. Baldwin were threatened by crowds of angry miners and their families. The South Wales council takes this stand despite the fact that the Labor party has officially dissociated itself from the outburst against the premier.

TO INTRODUCE BILL FOR EQUAL RIGHTS

Britain May Introduce Measure Lowering Voting Age For Women.

LONDON, March 10 (Canadian Press)—The lobby correspondent of the Press Association understands unofficially that the government is likely to introduce a measure to give women the vote at 21 years of age under the same terms as men now receive.

Only Tuesday Premier Baldwin met a delegation of women who are fighting for equal suffrage legislation and told them that the coal strike and the Chinees situation had monopolized official attention recently, but that the government had been considering the suffrage problem since last year. He promised to give the women a more definite answer before Easter.

The Press Association correspondent says that the problem of repealing legislation which now gives women the vote only after reaching the age of 30 is receiving the immediate attention of the cabinet. He says that the matter involves a decision of but little less importance than that which had to be reached when the vote was first given to women at the age of 30, an as extension of suffrage to women between the ages of 21 and 30 would give women a majority in almost every constituency in the country.

HUNDREDS TRY TO ENTER HOUSE

Necessary To Lock Doors To Prevent Overcrowding of Galleries.

FOR CONTROL BILL.

TORONTO, March 10.—(Canadian Press).—Hundreds of people were refused admission to the Ontario Legislature Chamber yesterday afternoon for the most important event in Ontario's legislative programme, the introduction of the bill for government control of the sale of liquor. All available space in the galleries and corridors was filled to capacity when the House opened at 3 o'clock. Standing room was then at a premium and the public crowded on to the floor of the House. The doors leading to the chambers were locked and no further admittance was permitted.

The first business of the House was the introduction of minor bills by private members and the milk and cream bill by Hon. J. S. Martin, Minister of Agriculture, which aims to define the standard of cream and the percentage of cream in milk.

SPLENDID SERMON GIVEN AT CASTLETON

Pastor Continues Services of Special Revival Services.

CASTLETON, March 10.—On Sunday evening a fine discourse was given by Rev. James E. Beckel. The subject was God is a spirit. It was emphatically pointed out They that worship must worship in spirit and truth and they must think seriously not solemnly of life. There are very few people but who believe in God even though God is not seen only in the spirit and this spirit is wherever His children are.

No matter how hard one trys he can not get or hide away from God. It was stated that God loves his children and in sorrow gives comfort and also tries to show the sinner what wrong he is doing and urges the sinner to break away his will power and warns him of the danger when he does not become a Christian.

After the interesting address a fellowship meeting was held and a number joined in short prayers and testimonies.

Mr. Beckel has held seven weeks of revival services in which much good has been done. A large number have been converted and a there is yet much more to do for the kindom of God another week of special services are being held.

Mrs. Emma Gerow is visiting her brother, Dr. C. C. Armstrong, Warkworth.

JUDGE BELIEVES ACQUITTED MAN REALLY GUILTY

Jury Returns Verdict of "Not Guilty" In Robinson Case.

OUT FIVE HOURS.

Justice Logie Will Report On Matter—Brother Thanks Jury.

(By Examiner Reporter).

BELLEVILLE, March 10. — "I think you fired the shot that killed Charles St. Charles," was Mr. Justice Logie's brief but scathing denunciation of Abraham Robinson after the assize jury brought in their verdict of not guilty of murder as the clocks were striking twelve last night.

The jury had been out five hours, bu The Examiner was informed that they had been unanimous for acquittal virtually from the outset. A secret ballot taken early in their deliberations disclosed to them their agreement of opinion that Robinson, on the evidence, was not guilty of the murder of the Madoc bailiff who was shot on November 15th, 1926, while making a seizure of cattle on the Robinson farm in Madoc Township to satisfy a tax debt to the municipality.

St. Charles died on December 22 of septic pneumonia, aggravated by the bullet wound through his chest.

Brother Grateful.

George Wallbridge, foreman, announced the jury's finding. Immediately from his seat among the audience Lemuel Robinson, brother of Abraham, stood up and exclaimed, "Thank you, gentlemen of ——." An official's shout of 'Order' abruptly cut off his welling gratitude.

Without further delay His Lordship proceeded to liberate "Abe" Robinson.

"The jury has found you not guilty on evidence which would have equally served to find you guilty," said Mr. Justice Logie. "For myself, I think you fired the shot that killed St. Charles. I think some steps should be taken, and I shall do so when making out my report. I think you are not a safe man to be at large. I thank you, gentlemen of the jury."

The Final Climax.

To many, the sensation in the long day's trial was exploded in those last few minutes when His Lordship flatly declared his dissent from the jury's decision before its announcement was fully realized.

The jury took themselves out to the corridor where brother Lemuel was waiting with a full-hearted greeting for those jurors who were pointed out to him.

"And is this another?" he would say to some man at his side. Then to the juror, "Thank you, sir, thank you," shaking his hand. "Oh, it was good of you." And into this scene of thanksgiving and relief in the narrow, dimly lighted hall, staggered Mrs. D. J. Barry of Madoc, the only daughter of the dead bailiff, overcome by grief and seeking, unconsciously perhaps, some retreat from the glare and the staring eyes in the court-room.

Lemuel Robinson's ecstatic "Oh, Oh, Oh's" were for a moment mingled with the almost hysterical lament of Mrs. Barry in her tears and wailing "Oh, Oh," while men stood aside unable to offer comfort.

Meanwhile in the court-room Abraham Robinson emerged from his daze and fully realized his delivery in upon the greeting of his soficitor, Mr. Charles A. Payne of Belleville, who was heard to say, "Well, congratulations Abe, old boy," as he approached his client still standing in the dock where Mr. Justice Logie's blast had left him.

Court Room Crowded.

Such was the climax of the trial which had begun at 9 a.m. Wednesday. It attracted many from the Madoc district, and quite a number were unable to gain admittance to the crowded court-room at the afternoon session. Some held their seats from 1.30 p.m. until midnight without going down town for lunch.

One man in a lingering group as the crowd was dispersing remarked, "It looks as if you can shoot anybody in Hastings County and get away with it."

A. B. Cunningham of Kingston was the special prosecutor, with Crown Attorney Donnan assisting, and Chas. A. Payne of Belleville defended the prisoner.

The Jury's Return.

The jury came in at 8.45 and asked for all the exhibits. At 9.30 they filed in again, this time seeking information about the hour the first shot was fired, and also when Robinson returned home. The answer to the first question was approximately fixed at a little later than 10 a.m., and the second, the time Robinson returned, at 12.10 p.m.

Then at 11.20 the jury entered the court again and, through their foreman, George Wallbridge, asked that they be permitted to postpone their verdict until morning.

"The practice of the courts are against that in a case like this," Mr. Justice Logie informed them. "You will have to arrive at a verdict now or be locked up for the night, which I don't like to do. You can't be allowed to separate after you have once been charged. It would be an unheard of thing to allow you to go to a hotel. If the county had provided beds in your room I would have no objection to you deferring your verdict until morning."

Mr. Wallbridge said the jurors thought they could give the case that much better consideration, but upon receiving the Judge's answer they went back to their room at 11.30 with the intention of concluding their task.

Collecting $140 Tax Bill

Charles St. Charles, as bailiff, went to the Robinson farm near Eldorado on November 15 last to collect a tax bill for $140. While the cattle he intended to seize were being assembled in the yard a shot sounded from the direction of a broad knoll about 75 yards north of the gate. Twenty-five minutes later another shot was heard in the same quarter and about twenty minutes after that when as St. Charles was opening the gate to the concession road the third shot, also from the knoll, rang out.

St. Charles groaned in sudden pain and cried "Murder, murder, I'm hit, take me to a doctor quick." He was driven to Eldorado, and meantime one of the men in the yard saw a man crawling over the knoll, and a little later several saw presumably the same man "jumping from tree to tree" in the hardwood that ranged about the house. He disappeared in the woods.

Abe Robinson was seen about noon coming along a stone fence on the west side of the house, that is the side opposite the house. In the house his sister told him St. Charles had been shot. "Has he," was his comment, "I can account for myself;" to wich his sister added as an amen "thank God for that."

A Rifle Missing

Abe Robinson was arrested that afternoon and taken to Belleville where he made a statement to the provincial police.

Meanwhile a search of the house discovered two firearms a 44 calibre rifle and an old Snider military arm which the Robinson's called a shotgun. But there was no 38.55 rifle which Miss Robinson said was part of the domestic arsenal and which she had seen two days previously.

"And this rifle has not been found to this day," A. B. Cunningham emphasized in his address to the jury. But several 38.55 cartridges were found in the house and an empty 38.55 cartridge was found a few days later on the knoll.

The Lay of the Land

The Robinson house faces the east on a blind concession road that ends to the north in a hardwood bush. A lane from the house to this road extends to the east. A knoll from which the shots were fired is north of the lane about 75 yards and towards the hardwood bush which swept around the cleared property on the north side. The property is three miles from Eldorado in Madoc township and is off the Madoc-Bancroft road.

Mr. Payne's Argument

Mr. Payne asserted that in cases of circumstantial evidence the Crown must prove to the hilt its facts and circumstances. The case must be consistent with no other theory than the guilt of the accused.

"There is no evidence to connect the fatal shooting with Abraham Robinson," Mr. Payne argued. "There is no evidence that shows he knew St. Charles was at his farm. It is all a matter of suspicion and you cannot convict a man on that."

Mr. Payne reviewed the evidence in detail and finally said, "It is better that 99 guilty men should go free than that one innocent man should be condemned."

Cunningham's Charges

"In putting Abraham Robinson on trial," said Mr. Cunningham, "the theory of the Crown is that a terrible murder absolutely unjustified and with a motive behind it was committed that day."

The motive, pointing to Robinson, he continued, was the prisoner's belief that his property was being wrongfully seized to pay a debt of township taxes amounting to $140.

There was no doubt tha the fatal shot was fired from the knoll. Several persons saw the smoke of black powder and one witness saw a man crawling over the knoll.

"We are unable to say that the man in the woods was Abe Robinson. But Robinson wasn't seen around his farm unil 12.10 p.m., after St. Charles had been driven wounded to Eldorado And that day was one of the busiest in the farmer's whole year for it was the day the threshers were coming, But there were no igns of him until noon and then he appeared in his shirt sleeves. What was he doing out on that November day from 9 a. m. until a few minutes after noon?

When he entered the house and his sister told him about the shooting, what did he say? "I can account for myself." Why if he was innocent did he say that? How did he know that the man who shot at St. Charles was not arrested, or that there was any suspicion of him having fired the shot? I don't know, but a guilty conscience explains it all. There is no other reasonable explanation why he uttered those words."

Mr. Cunningham said there was no doubt that there were three firearms in the Robinson house.

Flatly Contradicted.

"There were three on the Saturday prior to the shooting. In his statement to the police Abraham Robinson said he took his rifle out that morning and brought it back again. He is flatly contradicted on that point. When he returned he didn't bring a thing. The third gun was there Saturday night but it was missing on Monday night and hasn't turned up to this day.

Where is the rifle Abe Robinson took out with him after breakfast that day? That question cries out for an answer. In his statement he says he saw cows in the lane and cattle in the field back of the house. Where was Robinson when he saw the two boys rounding up the cattle in the field?

He says he put his rifle in the kitchen when he returned to the house. He's cotradicted there even by his minister, Rev. Mr. Redding.

Then as to Mr. St. Charles' statement. It was made by a man who was about to die and the law considers it very improbable that a man would tell a deliberate falsehood to help send an innocent man to the gallows. Of course you must bear in mind that there was no possible cross-examination of Mr. St.Charles. He says he saw Robinson rise up on the knoll after the second shot was fired. It is true nobody saw Abe Robinson point a gun. True it is all circumstantial, but if you always have to show who fired the gun there would perhaps be many crimes unpunished. The true test is this: is it consistent with the guilt of the accused and is it inconsistent with the reverse?

Saw Robinson in Field.

Harold Long was one of the threshers at Robinson's on the day if the shooting. He drove to Bannockburn with Lemuel Robinson and arrived back about noon.

Mr. Cunningham: Where did you see Abe Robinson that day? He was coming along the fence from the pasture field.

What time? Around 12 o'clock.

Where did he go? He went up brough the yard and into house.

Mr. Payne: Did you see anything unusual about him? No.

Have dinner with him? Yes.

Rev. Albert Redding.

Rev. Albert Redding is the church of England rector at Bannockburn. He went to Robinson's with Lemuel at his request to try to smooth out the trouble with the bailiff.

Abraham Robinson came in about ten minutes after I arrived. His sister told him St. Charles had been shot. He replied, "Has he? I can account for myself." His sister said "Thank God for that."

Mr. Payne—The Robinsons are communicants of yours? Yes.

"They are good people, aren't they?" I found them excellent people, and the reports about them were of the best."

Miss Eliza Robinson

After preliminary questions about November 15th last, Miss Eliza Robinson said she had asked her brother to go to Bannockburn to get Mr. Redding. After the first shot, she went outside then returned to the kitchen. After hearing the second shot, she went out to the yard. She was also in the house when she heard the third shot. Witness swore she did not know were the shots came from.

Mr. Cunningham produced two firearms, an old Snider army rifle called a shot gun, and a 44 calibre. She was not certain as to the identity of them. Miss Robinson said there had been three guns in the house, one a 44 rifle, the other called a 38.55 rifle, and the third, the old Snider, was known as the shot gun.

When did you last see the two rifles before Monday, November 15? On the Saturday night.

Where did you see them? At the end of the sideboard.

His Lordship—Did you see either of them on Monday? On Monday night Mr. Donnon, Crown Attorney, searched the house. He brought out only one rifle, the 44, and the old Snider.

Alexander Sharkey

Alexander Sharkey said he was at the Robinson farm in November, 1925.

"Do you see either of the men now that you saw then?"

Mr. Payne objected to this question, and the jury retired during the discussion of the point he raised.

Mr. Payne held that it was improper to identify an accused person when alone in the dock. He should be included with others.

Mr. Cunningham said Sharkey saw the two men at Robinson's in 1925 and also saw them at Madoc and also here.

Mr. Payne said he had objected at the preliminary hearing in Madoc. His Lordship remarked that Mr. Payne would have the benefit in another court, if there was a conviction, and admitted the evidence subject to the objection.

Which one of the men do you see in court? The smallest one (Abraham).

Who sent you to Robinson's? Charles St. Charles. He sent me with a steer because it was more than the taxes. I untied it and let it loose in the yard. I went to the house to let them know. A woman came out first. She was giving me the devil. Two men came out. The biggest one asked me, had I a paper to show I brought the steer back. I said, I didn't need one. The smallest one started to talk pretty sassy. He said I had to take the steer back.

He asked me who gave me the authority to go on their place. I said St. Charles. He said "Old Charlie St. Charles." I said Yes. He said, If he ever comes back here again we'll put a ball or two in his —— heart.' He said, it three or four times.

Mr. Payne—Did you always say a word for word like that? Yes.

Mr. Payne read from the preliminary hearing. The only difference was the omission of the Deity in the police court trial.

"Come on it again," witness demanded of Mr. Payne in regard to former identifying the accused.

The audience laughed at this, and His Lordship threatened to clear the court and have some one arrested.

When you picked out Robinson at the police station his name was called out for him to stand up? Yes.

Several times His Lordship asked both lawyers to address the court and not each other.

Inspector Gurnett

Inspector E. C. Gurnett of the Provincial Police was at Belleville last November. He arrested Abe Robinson at his farm on the day of the shooting. The prisoner was taken with his brother to Dr. Thompson's at Eldorado where Charles St. Charles was being treated.

Mr. Payne objected to anything said then, and Mr. Cuningham did not repeat it.

At Belleville Abe Robinson was questioned by Gurnett at the police office. "I said, 'You understand you're under arrest. I'm going to ask you some questions. You don't need to answer unless you like. Whatever you do say will be taken down in writing and used in evidence at your trial."

He said: "I understand that." He made a statement. I took it down in writing and he signed.

Robinson's Statement.

Abe Robinson's statement follows:

Statement of Abe Robinson re shooting of Constable Charles St. Charles in Madoc township, on the morning of Nov. 15, 1926:

After being warned that I did not need to say anything and that whatever I said would be taken down in writing and used against me at my trial, I make the following statement:

I took my rifle out this morning with me when I went milking and I brought it out again after breakfast and brought it back in again, just before dinner, after Constable St. Charles left. The knoll to the north of the barnyard gate is about 75 yards distant. I saw young Sharkey near the barn and another boy. The cows were in the lane at the time. I also saw these boys in the field. I saw a car near the barnyard gate. A big man was standing beside it or near it. I went to the house and saw Arthur Thompkins standing on the doorstep. I shook hands with him. He did not say anything about St. Charles to me, but my sister told me as soon as I stepped into the kitchen that St. Charles had been shot. I put the rifle away in the kitchen and went to the barn. I did not go out to see them take him away. I did not go out to see how badly he was hurt. I do not know whether my sister Eliza or my brother Lemuel went out to see St. Charles or not. The rifle does not shoot smokeless powder, as it is too strong for it. I use black powder.

Signed Abraham Robinson.

Witnesses:

E. C. Gurnett,
Insp. Police.
M. R. Clarke,
Sergt. P. P.

Gurnett said a 44 rifle and an old Snider were taken from the Robinson house on the night of November 15th.

Mr. Cunningham—Did you see a 38?—No.

Mr. Payne—When you were questioning him did he say he didn't do the shooting?—Yes.

Why didn't you take that down?—I didn't consider it necessary to take it at that time

Wasn't that the most important statement he made?— I wouldn't say so.

His Lordship—It depends on the way you look at, whether as the cat or the mouse.

Sergeant Clarke.

Sergeant M. R. Clarke, of the Provincial Police, accompanied Inspector Gurnett on the trip to Robinson's on Nov. 15 and arrested both brothers.

On the following day Clarke, Constable McCoy, of Madoc, Stanley Lewis and young Sharkey searched the Robinson house and premises for a 38 rifle, but did not find one.

Did you find anything else?—Yes, a box of 44 ammunition in the woodshed.

Witness corroborated most of Gurnett's evidence and declared that Abe Robinson's statement denying that he had shot St. Charles was made after the written statement had been signed by the accused.

Mr. Payne—Wasn't that the most important thing he said?—I think there was something else just as important.

"Would Be Justified."

Mr. Cunningham— Did he say something after the statement was signed?—Yes, he said that anybody who'd seize cattle for taxes wrongfully collected, in his opinion he'd be justified in shooting.

What was it you asked him that made him give that answer?—I asked him if he did not think that anybody who would shoot an old man in the back was a sneaking, murderous hound. He denied repeatedly that he did the shooting.

Constable McCoy.

Provincial Constable McCoy, of Madoc, was with Inspector Gurnett's party that arrested Abe Robinson on Nov. 15.

"I found a 44 rifle beside a sideboard in the dining room and a Snider in the woodshed," witness told.

McCoy identified three rods for cleaning rifles which he found in the house.

Found 38.55 Shells.

What else did you find?—Two 38.55 shells in a sideboard drawer. On Nov. 28 I found empty 38.55 carton in the wood house.

Where did you search for a 38.55 rifle?—Through the house and around the farm. That was on Nov. 16th.

Anything found on Nov. 17th?—Yes, a coat, rolled up underneath a stone fence. (It was a gray coat).

How did you come to find it?—I was looking for a rifle and I found the coat bundled up under stones. It was damp, but no mildew on it. It seemed it was not there long.

Witness said many burs were on it. He searched for burs along the roadway and in the bush. He found the coat up the road from the knoll.

A box of burs was put in as evidence. They were gathered on Nov. 28 from a gully.

Found Empty Shell.

Did you find anything else of interest?—On the 18th I found an empty 38.55 shell on the road allowance near the knoll.

McCoy noticed about two inches of the bark of a lower fence rail was knocked off. Looking through that direction a line would lead directly to the gatepost of the Robinson farm.

To Mr. Payne witness said that burs similar to those produced were common on the Robinson farm. He found the empty 38 shell after searching 2 or 3 days around the knoll.

Inspector Gurnet, recalled, stated that he had unloaded one of the two 38 shells. It contained black powder.

Albert Tomlin, an ammunition expert, said 38-55 shells were packed in boxes of twenty. Mr. Cunningham showed him the spent bullet taken from St. Charles' body.

What would you say of the calibre of that? I'd say it was about 38.

What does 38-55 mean?. It means 55 grains of black powder.

Could that spent bullet be fired from a .38 rifle?. Yes.

To Mr. Payne witness said the .38 indicated the bore.

St. Charles' Accusation.

Crown Attorney Donnan said two rifles were taken from the Robinson house on the night of Nov. 15th. "We had no knowledge of a .38 on that occasion," he added.

Witness related the circumstances of the anti-mortem statement by St. Charles, which was read in court as follows:

Madoc, Dec. 14, 1926.

"I know I am about to die, and have no hope of recovery. While I was at Robinson's farm to seize for taxes and, after Lemuel had gone for the minister a shot was fired from behind the knoll on the roadway; I saw the smoke from the gun. A while after that another shot was fired from the same place. I saw the smoke from the gun and then I saw Abe Robinson raise up from where the two shots had been fired. a while later I went to the gate and another shot was fired from about the same place as the first two and the bullet struck me. I say Abe Robinson is the man who shot me.

C. St. Charles."

Didn't See Smoke.

Arthur Tomkins, one of the men in the yard when St. Charles was there said he didn't notice any smoke from the knoll after the shots were fired. He was under the impression the bailiff had been shot in the back. Mr. St. Charles said several times, "I'm shot in the back."

To Mr. Cunningham—"The reason I thought he was shot in the back was from the way he was standing at the post."

"The men were unanimous the shot came from the knoll?" Yes.

Hugh Tomkins, another of the assembling threshing gang, heard the first two shots but saw no smoke.

Witness said St. Charles had his back to the knoll when he was shot. To His Lordship he said the sound of all three came from the direction of the knoll.

Lemuel Robinson.

The brother of the accused, Lemuel Robinson, testified that Alex. Sharkey had visited their home only once on June 8, 1925.

Lemuel swore that Abraham was not at home the day Sharkey brought back the steer.

Mr. Cunningham: Did you ask Sharkey for a paper? Yes.

What did he say? He said he didn't need it.

Where was Abraham? I left him in the cellar.

His Lordship: He didn't come out? Not to my knowledge.

To recall the date of Sharkey's visit, Lemuel put on his glasses and brought out a paper.

"I've seen several of those documents. What are they?"

Mr. Cunningham asked him what it was.

"It was written by my sister."

So you'd get it the same way? Oh, no, mister.

His Lordship: You shock him.

Lemuel said there were two such papers, his own and the one his sister had.

Will you swear it was not written in a week? I'll not.

"Do you identify that coat?" Mr. Cunningham asked Lemuel, of the coat produced by the Crown.

"No. It looks like the coat Gurnet brought in from the woodshed."

Did Abe have a coat like that? I don't know.

Calvin H. Goddard, of New York City, small arms and ammunition expert, testified that it was impossible to determine whether the bullet in court was from a 38.55, 38.60 or 38.70 cartridge because manufacturers generally loaded the same bullet in the different makes of cartridges. This was particularly true of the Winchester company, manufacturers of the empty shell found by Constable McCoy.

"I'd hesitate to say what type of rifle it issued from," Dr. Goddard said.

Frank Cooper, armor-sergeant in the C. E. F., from 1914 to 1918, said he agreed with the evidence of Dr. Goddard, who, incidentally, holds a John Hopkins medical degree, but preferred to become a specialist in small arms.

A CODE NEEDED.

Not satisfied with looking after the physical welfare of Peterborough's fire fighters by regulating the speed at which the apparatus may be driven, the city fathers have also contributed to the department's moral safety by gravely passing a bylaw that firemen must not use profane language while on duty.

The bylaw does not go far enough.

It should have been accompanied by an official code so that the firemen would know just what is the proper thing to say under any particular set of circumstances.

For instance, what in the opinion of the Council should be the language of a hose carrier who has been suddenly knocked off a ladder because his mate who was supposed to have the nozzle under full control unexpectedly loses command of the situation—and of the hose?

The firemen should be supplied with a list of disinfected and antiseptic expressions, passed by the civic censors, for use in emergencies.

Let us by all means have our fires fought with decorum and courtesy, for after all the main purpose of a fire department may not be to extinguish fires in this world, but to dodge them in the next.

FUN NOT ENOUGH.

With the sentiments expressed by a contributor to the Voice of the People column a day or two ago in regard to the celebration here of the sixtieth anniversary of Confederation, The Examiner is in thorough accord.

The programme must be of a nature that will emphasize the historical significance of the occasion or the whole purpose aimed at will be lost.

The sport and fun associated with ordinary celebrations should, of course, have a place, but should be secondary to other features of the programme.

The Examiner, of course, is in no position to speak for the local committee, but feels safe in assuming that in planning the ceremonies in connection with the observance of Dominion Day it will be guided by the recommendations of the National Committee, which is to be convened next week for the purpose of drafting a programme that will fittingly mark the celebration of this most important occasion.

There is no doubt that the National Committee will see to it that the ceremonies will be to a large extent educational in their nature, seeing that in this celebration it will be necessary to make up for a long series of neglected Dominion Days.

BE ONE OF THE 2,000.

The Peterborough Industrial Exhibition is seeking a membership of 2,000 this year, and there is no reason why this objective should not be attained.

In the first place, membership in the Industrial Exhibition is good business for the individual, because his membership fee entitles him to admission as often as he wishes, and in the second place, every membership is good business for the Exhibition, as it means a contribution to the treasury at a most welcome time and gives the Exhibition as well the moral support of a larger body of workers.

The Peterborough Industrial has made great progress in recent years and is known as one of the finest exhibitions in the country.

Its record, in fact, has been so outstanding that citizens of Peterborough and the whole district should be glad to ally themselves with such a organization and to assist in some degree at least in making further advancement and progress possible.

The campaign that is being inaugurated now should be a success from the start; it is a drive on behalf of a live organization of which everybody should be glad to be known as a member.

A RUM-RUNNER WANTS WAR.

The indignation of the Skipper of the Canadian-owned steamer "Federalship," registered in Panama, over his seizure by United States coast guards 300 miles off shore on the Pacific Coast with a cargo of Scotch whiskey, can be understood even by those who most roundly denounce his alleged crimes. The "Federalship" was suspected—probably not without cause—of being a rum ship engaged in illegal business, and was taken into custody after two American coast guard boats had fired five shells, two of them taking effect on the "Federalship's" decks. Skipper Stone, who was put under arrest, said he would ask the Panama Government to declare war on the United States—perhaps to seize the canal and make the Pacific safe for rum boats.

We do not propose to waste any sympathy on the persons engaged in the commercial smuggling of liquor into the United States. They are engaged in an illegal traffic, they are quite without scruples in their methods, and for the most part they are violating treaties and agreements made by their own Governments. At the same time, the United States Government has no reason to feel particularly proud of some of its own methods in the prosecution of the Volstead war.

The official attitude towards the prohibition law is one of utter indifference, or one of high-handed insolence, or it descends to slimy, underground channels such as the recent operation of a trap "speakeasy" by New York enforcement officials. While tens of thousands of resorts in all parts of the country are selling spirits without molestation, one may question the official discretion which permits shelling 300 miles off shore of even a notorious rum runner.

The argument that the source of overseas supply must be cut off before the retail places can be closed is not effective. It is well known that the percentage of genuine whiskey sold in the United States is so small as to be of little practical importance in the whole problem. The great river of the supply comes from sources within the United States compared with which the inflow over the Canadian border or from across the Atlantic is but a trickle.—Ottawa Journal.

THE INFLUENCE OF UNITY.

The political field of opportunity is always an open one; its exemplification is presented to us by almost every organization. It is more strongly presented to us through military units than it possibly may be by any other branch of public activities. That is attributed to the fact that politics is the cause which has given us military units. If it were not for the political thought of the country there would be no military organizations. There is something—it is a touch of human nature—it is a bond that gives a close companionship, and from unity comes action and conviction.

There has been held in Winnipeg a gathering in convention of the Canadian Legion, and it has made many beneficial suggestions which will demand public attention. The object of the Legion, among other subjects, is to bring all those who have served their country in any of her wars into the national life of the country for the purpose of mutual comradeship and, if necessary, for mutual support. Upon these conditions alone it must be recognized that they deserve to be given the most serious consideration in their necessities and demands, and the state, and the country, as a whole must unitedly grant to them a place that they may continue to be of service to the country.

There is no history of any country scarcely worth recording that has not historical events to record of sacrifice and valor of her soldiers. The formation of the Canadian Legion gives to the military forces, the veterans of Canada, an opportunity to be of service to each other—their country and themselves.

There were many proposals put forward by the delegates to the Legion. The necessity of the proposals is brought about mainly from the experience under which the veterans have been handicapped in their efforts to be recognized as not being normal since serving their country at the risk of their lives. It is evident to all who are open-minded, and all who have the gift of the power of observation, to see that there has been a large amount of unfair treatment passed to the veterans of our wars. The most contributary cause has been the want of fairness to the returned men, and it is brought about at the hands of our politicians. As we view the situation, it is the first step forward to make the veterans a political factor in the country. We do not want to be understood to mean "party politicians," but we must confess it has a "political significance."

We commend the united actions of the Canadian Legion in making demands upon the Government for better treatment and better service to many of the veterans now living, and not for any delay in acting in a procrastinating manner, placing upon those who have passed beyond our co-operation, pain of leaving those dependent upon the good-will and charity of their comrades. A large number of our veterans have suffered through the administration of the restrictions placed upon them by political and parliamentary action.

The granting of pensions to the widow and orphan has now been long over-due, and the long waiting caused by political indifference has forced the veterans, through their unity of action, to seek political recognition to remedy the injustice from the parliamentarians of the Dominion.

The old cry, that the letter of the law was against any relief to the situation, is not giving to those who have suffered any satisfaction—the thoughts of pain and distress are still lingering. The letter of the law may not be administered, but the spirit of the law, or its intentions should be carried out. We congratulate the Canadian Legion upon the stand it has taken in demanding a reconsideration of the pension laws relating to the soldier and his widow and orphans, and all who may be dependent upon him.—The Khaki Call.

POETIC PROTEST.

The following from The Manchester Guardian has been sent to The Examiner by one of our readers. In view of conditions that have prevailed here recently, it is timely and certainly of interest:

A MILD REMONSTRANCE.

(On being splashed from top to bottom by a motor lorry.)

For one wild moment all was red,
And I was mud from toe to head;
Then, as I scraped myself, I said:

"O driver and that stoker pup,
Who filled for me this bitter cup,
I hope your beastly thing blows up!

"I hope you get a skid that wrecks
The whole machine and clears the decks;
I hope you break your wicked necks!

"I hope that vengeance, stern and just,
May fall on all concerned; I trust
The firm that owns the thing goes bust.

"I hope its trade is dead as dead,
I hope that bankruptcy's ahead;
I hope its chairman begs his bread!

"I also hope the fates may bring Within this ruin's widening ring
The firm that made and sold the thing.

"I hate the bus, I hate its crew,
Its owners, makers, hirers, too;
I hate them all, I do, I do!

"And nothing that is bad can be Too bad in any small degree
For those who splashed this mud on me!"

By this time the thing was out of sight;
However, I perceived a slight
Improvement in my wretched plight!

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Que., March 10 (Canadian Press) — Business in grain on the Montreal market for export account continued slow owing to the indifferent attitude of foreign buyers. The trade in cash grain in the domestic market was also of a limited character, but the undertone was steady.

In sympathy with the recent strength in the Winnipeg cash wheat situation, a stronger tone developed in the local market for spring wheat grades and prices were marked up ten cents per barrel. The export business was quiet, but the local trade was fair.

The undertone to the winter wheat flour market was firm but prices showed no change. The trade was fair.

The millfeed market continued active and firm. The market for standard grades of rolled oats was steady with a moderate trade passing.

Prices for all grades of eggs were well maintained under a good demand. The receipts were 2,550 cases.

The turnover in potatoes was small and prices ruled steady. Car sales of Quebec varieties were made at $1.00 to $1.10 per bag of ninety pounds in bulk, ex-track. There was no Prince Edward Island or New Brunswick Green Mountains in car lots offerings on the market.

The feature of the butter trade was the pronounced strength that prevailed and prices scored another advance of 3-4c per pound. This was attributed to the continued good demand. A fairly good business was done. New Zealand finest creamery butter and eastern townships re-graded No. 1 pasteurized sold at 43 3-4c to 44c per pound. The receipts were 678 packages.

The cheese trade continued quiet and the undertone was easy. The receipts were 59 boxes.

DR. FRANK CRANE'S DAILY EDITORIAL.

FOOTBALL

By Dr. Frank Crane.

Many say that the country has gone "football crazy."

They point out the fact that Rome's downfall was preceded by the gift to the people of games and bread.

The parallel between the bloody amusements of ancient times, however, and the football of today is not very close.

Football is a clean sport and the more energy people put out in sport of this strenuous kind the less energy they will be disposed to spend in war.

Football calls for the last ounce of physical strength, together with intellectual alertness.

Recently there was an attendance of 79,500 at the game between Stanford and Southern California. Fifty-five thousand saw the Harvard play, 70,000 watched Ohio State and about 75,000 seats were sold for the U.S.C.-Notre Dame game in Los Angeles. Many applicants were rejected for lack of space.

The attendance of large groups at football games is a good omen and those who gather from this that the country is going to the dogs are mistaken.

One difference noted between other countries on the one hand and England and the United States on the other, is that England's people play. Sport is an institution and to be a good sport is a synonym of having a good disposition.

The children of France and Italy and Germany need to be taught more how to play, for play is the natural outlet of youthful exuberance and the more a nation plays intelligently the better off it is.

One of the excellent efforts of the Y.M.C.A. and similar organizations abroad has been to organize the boys and girls into play groups. Play of children abroad seems to take a more destructive tendency. A movement has made considerable headway in the United States to have teachers upon the play grounds and to instruct the children in healthy sports as well as the three R's.

Altogether play is a good thing and should be encouraged.

The more the principles of fair play are introduced into business the better off for business, and the more business becomes a sport the more it will attract followers.

REMEDY FOR DEAFNESS

Dear Sir.—Some time ago a lady had a simple remedy in your paper for deafness and head noise. If she sees this letter write to The Examiner and tell all about it.

Joseph Walker, Keene.

HERE'S A HINT.

The Editor, The Examiner:

Dear Sir:

Referring to the good advice you gave in a recent issue, on how to write a Want Ad., it seems a pity, considering the amount spent on publicity, that so few, even of the big advertisers, know how to write a good one.

A good announceent should, so far as possible, take the place of a personal interview, by telling the potential buyer just what he wants to know.

Now I am a potential buyer of an auto, and, like every one else, I have a price field. If I can satisfy my requirements at the bottom—so much the better, if not, then there is an approximate price limit, beyond which I cannot afford to go. But I have no use for prices f.o.b. Factory, plus Excise tax, or sales tax, or Transportation, or any other additions, more especially as these additions seem to vary in different cases.

For the purpose of picking two or three models for further consideration and examination, I have read through a good many Ads, but not one of them gives the information I want, very few of them even the price, which to me is an all important matter.

Instead of specifications, I generally find beautiful prose poems and very artistic but, sometimes, very fancy drawings, not always exactly the real thing. These may elevate our minds, but do not always lead to business. In the end the buyer probably fixes up with a model which gives him at least some of the things he wants, and possibly passes over one which would have suited him better.

What the buyer wants to know is—how much the car will cost him, right where he is, or at least, what is the price f.o.b. Factory, free of everything except transportation, which will be so much for every 50 or 100 miles. He also wants to know what better or different constructional features it has—what exactly is included in addition to the stripped car—and the exact appearance it presents.

Probably his family will also be interested in the color scheme; to announce that it is finished in a 'Mandarin' yellow, picked out with a 'Jupiter' purple may furnish ground for much speculation, but will not convey definite knowledge whether it is a dark yellow or a light yellow car.

No sir, I am sorry that I cannot sign my name, or indicate my location, as I do not want the whole bunch parked down the street tomorrow morning before I am out of bed, so I must conclude merely as a

UTERINE TUMORS

There are many kinds of tumors which form in the uterus, ovaries or fallopian tubes. These are always caused by the congestion of the circulation in these organs.

The cystic form of tumor is often not discovered until it is of considerable size, as such tumor does not show any distressing symptoms until it is large enough to press upon the other organs and cause discomfort.

Fibroid tumors, however, give notice of their presence by certain definite symptoms. The first indication of the disorder will usually be an acceleration of the pulse, with heart palpitation and a dragging-down feeling, as if something were lying on the rectum. It is generally impossible for the patient to know whether or not she has a fibroid tumor by any examination she can make herself, until it has grown to a considerable size. If you have been examined by a competent physician and told that you have a fibroid tumor of the uterus, you will probably be told that an operation for the removal of the organ is the only course that will save your life.

I do not believe that surgical measures are always necessary or advisable in the treatment of fibroid tumors. There are several factors which must be considered in understanding a possible cure without surgery. The immediate cause of every one of these growths is a congestion in the uterus of morbid material, deposited from a sluggish circulation. This sluggish circulation in the uterus is caused by either malposition of the organ or by a repression of the normal sexual functions. Statistics that I have gathered in the last ten years have shown that in every case of either fibroid tumor or cancer of the breast or uterus, the patient lacked sexual desire entirely, or was so improperly mated that the sexual function could not be properly expressed. There has been no exception to this rule.

However, I have found that a long fast will absorb this enlarged an[illegible] growth, so that with sufficient exercise of the abdominal muscles, c[illegible] hot sitz baths and hot douches, the uterus can be made to remain [illegible] even though the sexual repression is not removed. It is necessary to c[illegible] fast for several weeks, and the body must be reduced greatly in weight before much absorption of the fibroid growth will take place. During the fast it is advisable to take daily treatments with radiations from a high candle power therapeutic light over the entire abdomen. This will increase the circulation around the uterus, which will help to carry away the accumulated foreign material which has been deposited.

After the fast has been completed, it is necessary to take a large amount of physical culture exercise, in order to keep the blood flowing through the affected parts at a rapid rate, so that the change will take place more quickly.

There is danger of cancer developing with this kind of tumor if it is not removed by surgery, or if you are not persistent enough in following these instructions over the period of time necessary to effect a cure. I have had many cases where it took two or three years to complete a cure. If the tumor is steadily reducing during that time, it is wise to continue the fasting and diet treatment as long as you can notice reduction in size. If you feel that you do not have enough will power to stick to instructions, you will be forced to fall back on surgery as the only relief.

Uncle Wiggily

To-day's Bedtime Story.

By Howard R. Garis

Copyright, 1927, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.
(By Howard R. Garis.)

"When you come home from school this afternoon, my dears," said Uncle Wiggily to his forty 'leven rabbit boys and girls one morning, "I shall have a little game for you to play, and a little work for you to do, also."

"Oh, Daddicums," said Jingle, "I love to play games!"

"And if you want me to work, like brushing the snow off the front steps or bringing in some wood for the fire I could do that, and if you wanted to," said Bumble, a little rabbit boy, "if you wanted to you could pay me for working. Course you don't have to if you don't want to," he was kind enough to add.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the bunny gentleman. "Well, we'll see about it. Hop along to school now. The work will not be very hard."

"And what sort of a game are we going to play?" asked Tumble, who was Bumble's brother. Then he slipped and stumbled, falling down, which he often did on account of his name.

"Oh, you'll see when you come home from school," promised Uncle Wiggily. "But mind you!" and he shook a paw at the little bunny boys and girls, "you must do well at your lessons. I shall telephone the Lady Mouse teacher to find out about that before you come home from class."

The little rabbit boys and girls were so excited, wondering what sort of a game it would be, and what kind of work their Daddicums wanted them to do, that they could hardly say their lessons. However, they did fairly well, and when school was out they hurried to the hollow stump bungalow to find Uncle Wiggily waiting for them.

"Now the work you are to do," said Uncle Wiggily as he met the bunch of bunnies, "is to sweep some paths in the back yard so Nurse Jane can hang up the clothes to-morrow morning. There are so many of you it will not take long to make the paths." Some late snow had fallen in Woodland near the Orange Ice Mountains where Uncle Wiggily lived, and had covered the ground.

"I like to sweep snow!" exclaimed Cutter, taking one of the brooms his father had made. The brooms were bunches of bushes and twigs tied on sticks.

"I've found the first green leaf!"

"But what game are we to play?" asked Tingle.

"Yes, what game?" added Tangle.

"We could play tag in the snow," suggested Jingle.

"Or we could make snow-cream with sugar in it and eat it," said Jangle.

Uncle Wiggily, "is to find the first leaf—the first green leaf of spring. It will soon be spring," he went on, "and perhaps, even now, there may be a little green leaf of clover or a green blade of grass beneath the snow. So weep paths in the back yard. That will be work. And at the same time look under the snow for a green leaf. That will be a game. Whoever finds the first leaf will the prize of a lollypop!"

"Oh, goodie!" cried all the little bunny boys and girls. With their brooms they began sweeping paths in the back yard so that Nurse Jane could hang up the clothes without getting her tail cold or wet. Bright eyes looked here and there for green leaves.

All of a sudden Baby Bunty shouted: "I've found it! I've found the first green leaf! Look!" As the others crowded around her the little orphan rabbit child swept away more snow until she had uncovered a large, green leaf—bright green it was. "Look, Unkie Wig!" cried Bunty. "I win the prize!"

The rabbit gentleman hopped to the place. He reached a paw down and pulled on the green leaf. Out from under the snow it came, and with it more green leaves and then a bunch of red flowers.

"Ha! This is queer!" exclaimed Mr. Longears. "I thought there might be one tiny green leaf of early spring, but I never expected any one to uncover a whole bouquet!" And just then Nurse Jane came into the yard and when she saw the green leaves and the flowers she laughed and squeaked.

"Oh, those are the artificial cloth flowers and leaves off my hat. The wind blew them off the other day and they must have been snowed under. Those are the flowers off my hat!" And so they were. Bunty hadn't found a real leaf at all—just the artificial three and four cent store kind. She was much disappointed. But as no one else found a first green leaf under the snow it wasn't so bad.

"I guess it's a bit early yet for spring leaves," said Mr. Longears. "However, you all did very well so you shall each have a lollypop."

So he gave every little bunny boy and girl a lump of candy on a stick.

TEN LITTLE FIREMEN.

Ten little firemen, getting along fine, one said "Bother the luck!" then there were nine.

Nine little firemen, trying to be straight, one drove the truck too fast, then there were eight.

Eight little firemen, hoping all for Heaven, one swore at a fire, then there were seven.

Seven little firemen, guiltless all of tricks, one didn't salute the Mayor, then there were six.

Six little firemen, glad to be alive, one kidded a traffic cop, then there were five.

Five little firemen ,left of half a score, one growled at a citizen, then there were four.

Four little firemen, careful as could be, one forgot to say "Sir," then there were three.

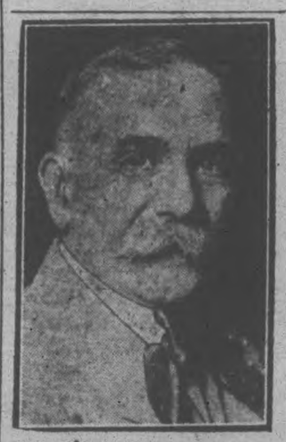
Three little firemen with the rest all through ,one parked near a hydrant, then there were two.

Two little firemen, with much to be done, one let the hose slip, then there was one.

One little fireman, reading bylaws one by one, said "To heck, with this!" then there was none.

Girl Scout Is Killed Doing Daily Good Turn

LEXINGTON, Neb., March 10 (United Press).—As a Girl Scout, Mildred Soretson always tried to do her daily good turn. She saw a flag lying on a forty-five-foot derrick after sunset. She climbed to the top and took it down. On the descent she lost her balance, fell to the ground, and was killed.



Dr. Thomas O'Hagan, poet and author, whose sound contribution to Canadian verse is largely contained in his "Collected Poems," says that he can relate the circumstances of every poem he has written. "Intimacies in Canadian Life and Letthers," is the latest book from the pen of Dr. O'Hagan.

JOLLY JINGLES By Graham Hunter

THEATRE

AT THE CAPITOL

HAROLD LLOYD IN "THE KID BROTHER."

Harold Lloyd, as Harold Hickory, in "The Kid Brother," has a role somewhat different to his usual run, and the type in which he made his name, although it bears a resemblance to his work in "Grandma's Boy." In this feature, he essays the part of a somewhat woolly-witted weakling brother to a couple of hard-boiled yokels who have a very hard-boiled father, the "Sheriff Hickory" of the piece. They bear with him tolerantly, as a rule, and he does the family wash and the family dish-washing in a manner all his own. The lady performer of a travelling "medicine show," Mary Powers, a role assigned to Jobyna Ralston, intrigues his fancy, and after her show has been broken up by the sheriff's orders, he brings her home for the night. A neighboring lady takes her off to her home, and then Harold gets some fun out of the situation, when his elder brothers mistake his couch for the lady's, and bring her several breakfasts. Harold, screened carefully from view, accepts their offerings with gratitude and all goes merry as a wedding bell until the real lady appears on the scene, and the brothers proceed to chase the "kid." However, when the money consigned to the sheriff's care has been stolen by the men of the "medicine show," he does some good work in its recovery, and the final scenes are full of thrills, when the real criminal chases Harold over the rotting hulk of "The Black Ghost," an anchored boat on which the thieves have taken refuge. A monkey wearing Harold's boots helps him out in these episodes, and he takes his enemy home by means of wrapping him securely with life-preservers and then riding him home over the water by means of a broom. This is the type of fun-making incident in which the picture abounds, showing the departure from the atmosphere of real comedy in which the star made his name.—Jeanette.

AT THE REGENT

A LAUGH SHOW.

"Millionaires," the Warner Bros. production which comes to the Regent Theatre to-day for a run of 3 days, is a picture that goes out frankly to get laughs, and, according to all reports, it gets them in hearty measure. With George Sidney, Louise Fazenda and Vera Gordon heading the cast, it has a trio of rib-tickling fun-makers, who have long since demonstrated that real laughs are pretty close to real tears; a trio of comedians who are above all things always "human."

Helene Costello, Nat Carr, Jane Winton and Arthur Lubin are among others in the cast who add to the gaiety of the entertainment.

The picture, suggested by E. Phillips Oppenheim's book, "The Inevitable Millionaires," was adapted by Graham Baker and Edward Clark, and produced under the direction of Herman Raymaker. The story, written by Raymond L. Schrock, concerns a Jewish tailor, whose placid, happy life is nearly wrecked on the shores of social ambition, when he suddenly comes into a fortune.

Two hundred and fifty tons of steel will be used in making the new roof of the White House.

Topic for the Week
"MAN IS A SPIRIT"
Thursday
"Death is not to be Feared"

SCRIPTURE: Read — Matthew 10:16-39.

"And be not afraid of them that kill the body, but are not able to kill the soul" (Mt. 10:28). "O death, where is thy victory? O death where is thy sting? . . Thanks be to God, who giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ" (I Cor. 15:54,55). "He that soweth unto the Spriit shall of the Spirit reap eternal life" (Gal. 6:8).

See—Hosea 13:14; Hebrews 2:14, 15; Philippians 1:23; Revelations 21:4.

MEDITATION: Man shares the animal love of life. Observation teaches him to expect death. What if the physical life were all? Then we could only say, it cannot be helped: let us eat, drink and be merry. But our confidence is in the spiritual. Because God is spiritual and man is spiritual, death need not be feared. Jesus Christ has shown us the truth. When we look upon him until we see what God is like, we are "born from above," and have no need to fear physical death. How I need to be gripped by these convictions!

"Life would be too much for thee if thou didst not see ahead of it; thou art saved by hope."

HYMN:

Sun of my soul, Thou Saviour dear
It is not night if Thou be near;
Of may no earth-born cloud arise
To hide Thee from thy servant's eyes!

When the soft dews of kindly sleep
My wearied eyelids gently steep,
Be my last thought, how sweet to rest
Forever on my Saviour's breast!

Come near and bless us when we wake,
Ere through the world our way we take,
Till in the ocean of Thy love
We lose ourselves in heaven above.
—John Keble, 1820.

PRAYER: Thanks for our hopes. Pray for—deliverance from the fear of death; the dying.

Collect—Our Father in heaven, whose patience knows no bounds, we thank Thee for the oncoming of Thy kingdom in the world, and for the means of grace in our lives. We bless Thee for the Son of Man; serving in Galilee, loving in Judea, triumphing in Gethsemane, dying on Calvary and rising from the grave. We rejoice in our redemption through Him and in the hope of immortality brought to light by Him. Yet in our weakness we have set our hearts on things on the earth. We have thought success better than righteousness and ease desirable above service. In Thy patience brood over our dull spirits till love awakens in us We commit ourselves to the Son of Man in holy living and loving service, for His name's sake. Amen.

The World's Favorite Milk

CARNATION Milk could not be the largest selling brand of evaporated milk in the world did it not appeal to more people than any other brand. And it does. It appeals because of its wonderful smoothness and richness, its purity and uniformity. Carnation quality is tested and protected right from the cow to your pantry shelf.

Carnation is the most completely useful milk you can buy. Use it undiluted in place of cream at one-third the cost of cream. Diluted, Carnation adds richness to all cooking and is superior for other milk uses. Carnation is pure, fresh milk—evaporated to double richness and kept safe by sterilization. Order several tins or a case of 48 tins from your grocer.

When March Winds Blow—

When uncertain, stormy weather makes the going difficult—then the man who drives a car can best realize the advantages of Firestone Gum-Dipped Balloons—their safety and comfort.

Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires, with the scientifically designed tread composed of many small crosses and squares, permitting the tread to yield to depressions and cling to the road, give greatest non-skid surface. This tough, pliable tread has the wear-resisting qualities that give thousands of extra miles of service.

The tread however, is not the only important feature of Firestone tires. The gum-dipping process—every fibre of every cord impregnated and saturated with rubber, reduces internal friction, makes the thin side walls stronger and more flexible, builds greater endurance in the cords and delivers more mileage with extra comfort and safety.

If you want the economy, comfort and safety of Gum-Dipped Tires—see the nearest Firestone Dealer. He will gladly explain the many features that make Firestone Tires better.

Railways and Parks Committee Report.

The Railways and Parks Committee reported and recommended as follows:

That tenders be asked for removing three buildings from the James Stevenson Park, namely the two houses and the building occupied by the Nu-Art Kera Tile Co., the material to be removed from the park and become the property of the successful tenderer, and that the tenants of these buildings be notified to vacate them by the 1st day of June, 1927, and that A. W. Wray be notified to remove his building from the park by June 1st, 1927.

All rentals for the above named properties, due or past due, must be paid by May 1, 1927.

Committee of The Whole Council Report.

The committee of the Whole Council reported and recommended as follows:

That a reply be sent to the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario, to their letter of February 24th, that this Council is not satisfied with the information given regarding the street railway and gas plant, as the Council and people cannot properly consider the matter without full information, as was asked for in the resolution of February 14th and given in the Council's letter of February 15th, and that that information be again requested; further, that this Council wishes to say that the statement that the City is unfair in permitting other busses to operate should not have been made or repeated, as the Council last year wrote the Commission that they were advised that it was doubtful whether the Council had power to stop the other busses and did not want to take an action that would cause the City to be involved in litigation; and also that it should not be said that the citizens of Peterborough were unfair because they did not pay any part of the street railway deficit as they do pay part of it in the surplus the Commission receives from the gas plant in this city and as the street railway was not purchased by the Commission or the Government for the benefit of the citizens of Peterborough but in order that the people of the whole of Central Ontario should be provided with publicly owned power.

That the Canadian General Electric Company be permitted to connect a three-inch drain from their platform scales to the sewer on Albert Street under the supervision of the City Engineer.

That the action of the Mayor and Chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee in purchasing wire for renewing the fire alarm system in the western part of the city be approved.

Legal and Reception Committee Report.

The Legal and Reception Committee reported and recommended as follows:

That no action be taken on the claim made by John A. Bertram for breaking the spring in his motor car on the Monaghan Road.

That a letter from the City Clerk of Brantford asking the Dominion Government to pass a legislation to require shoes to be stamped to show the material of which they were constructed be received.

RELIEVES STIFFNESS CAUSED BY CHILL

Pressman tells how newspaper workers keep fit

The pressmen working in a newspaper office at Dorchester, Mass., used to have great trouble with rheumatic stiffness owing to frequent sudden draughts of cold air when the doors were opened to take in rolls of paper.

One of their number began using Sloan's Liniment and now they all chip in to keep Sloan's always on hand for the entire shop.

"After my day's work I rub a little Sloan's Liniment on my back and legs. It never fails."

Sloan's gives real help because it doesn't just deaden the pain. It gets at the cause.

Apply gently, without rubbing. Right away you feel the comfortable, glowing warmth as the new blood is brought to the sore spots, and soon the aching stops. Get a bottle today. All druggists—35 cents.

ONE BOTTLE BEATS 16 YEARS OF BATHS

"Have been trying for 16 years to get my colon cleaned out. Have taken internal baths and used all kinds of medicines. Have taken a bottle of Adlerika, and am thankful that I have found something to restore my health."—Frank Ott.

Because Adlerika acts upon BOTH upper and lower bowel, it gives the system a REAL cleansing and clears out old poisons which usually cause sour, gassy stomach, nervousness, sleeplessness, headache. Just ONE spoonful stops GAS, and relieves that full, bloated feeling so that you can eat better and sleep better. Even if bowels move daily, Adlerika brings out much additional poison which you never guessed was in your system and which may have long caused trouble. No matter what you have tried for stomach and bowels, Adlerika will surprise you. At leading druggists. In Peterboro at McDermid & Jury and other druggists.

Modern Women Need the Modern Dye

Up-to-date women enjoy home dyeing by the wonderfully clean, successful methods of SUNSET—the real dye in cake form.

SUNSET is fast—boiled in, the only way to make home dye fast. Colours are brilliant and penetrating. Cotton, silk, wool or mixed goods dyed same shade at same time. No need to take garments apart, work over buttonholes, etc., when you use

SUNSET Soap DYES

Material dyed with SUNSET looks like new because SUNSET preserves the finish on cotton and wool, the sheen on silk; and cleans as it dyes. There's no re-dyed look.

SUNSET is safe; no acids used to set colours, just ordinary table salt. SUNSET does not stain hands or spoil utensils. Insist on SUNSET—there's only one SUNSET and it's different from any other dye. It is patented!

SUNSET colours can be combined to produce all the fashionable shades. It tells how in the SUNSET "Season's Colours" folder. Free where you buy SUNSET. If your dealer hasn't SUNSET ask him to get it for you. Or send to us direct, 15 cents per cake, postage prepaid.

STRANGE SIGHTS IN BOOM TOWN

Flivvers Much Used By Claim Stakers and Prospectors.

WATER EXPENSIVE.

TONOPAH, Nevada, March 10. —(Canadian Press.)—Weepah, the new gold town of little tents and big dreams, built on the hope that the ore recently unearthed there, which assayed seventy-eight thousand dollars to the ton, may be plentiful, to-day offered scenes seldom witnessed in romantic gold rushes of the west. The dominant factor in the town's life is the "flivver." Battered old automobiles, tires wrapped with hay wire to give a good grip on sandy soil and to guard the rubber from occasional boulders, were climbing hills on which even a burro could have balked. Dust or mud, sand or gravel, the flivvers climbed up with much sputtering and skidded down with great rattling.

Life in Weepah has been reduced to routine. Miners rise before daybreak, cook breakfast at camp fires, fed with sage and brush, hop into flivvers and hurry off to their claims, if they have claims, and to hunt claims if they are new arrivals.

Water for cooking and drinking purposes must be hauled to camp from Tonopah and was selling today at ten cents a gallon.

THE MARKETS.

MARKET.

The Mining Market for the past week has been very reactionary in tone, which we believe is due to lack of public interest. Undoubtedly there have been quite a few unsettling influences which have had a direct bearing on the market; but notwithstanding these conditions there has been nothing happening in the mining district which in itself would create this lack of confidence. Our opinion of the various stocks is based primarily on conditions as they exist at the mines, and as far as we know there is absolutely no reason why the majority of the issues should not be selling higher at the present time, instead of lower; unless the reactions have been largely sympathetic and due to a general weakness. At the present time we believe that there are a great number of issues which are selling below their intrinsic worth, and we believe that those who are in a position to avail themselves of present opportunities will be amply repaid in the very near future.

ONTARIO.

The outstanding feature of the Ontario list for the week was Wright-Hargreaves, which had a short run-up to $11.00; this price, however, could not be sustained. In the rest of the list the market was lower at the end of the week than at the beginning, and it is hard to judge what its general trend will be for the coming week. General conditions force us to be very optimistic over an uprising in the market, and in our opinion now is the time to buy.

QUEBEC.

The weakness in Noranda presumably came from New York, as locally the stock is very well regarded, and much higher prices are freely predicted. In the case of Area and Amulet probably lack of news is responsible for the sagging of these prices, but personally we are very optimistic over the future of Amulet, and believe that Area has certain speculative possibilities. Bourlamaque has held very steady throughout the general weakness, and the progress of its subsidiaries is such that warrants much higher prices. North American Lead will soon have its machinery installed, and production should follow almost immediately. Everything is ready for the electrical survey on Calartic Mines, and the engineers of the company are very optimistic as to the probable outcome.

With the spring break-up getting closer to hand we look for tremendous strides to be made by the various prospects in all sections, and, from what we know of the general geological conditions, we look for much higher prices in a large number of cases.

Our daily bulletin service is available upon request, without charge, and we believe that this service will keep investors closely in touch with general market conditions.

Morgan U. Kemerer, member of Standard Stock and Mining Exchange, 29-33 Melinda Street, Toronto 2, Ont.

Dr. Charles W. Colby, Montreal, newly elected Director Canadian Shredded Wheat Company.

NEW SHREDDED WHEAT DIRECTOR

At the Annual Meeting of the Stockholders, Dr. Charles W. Colby of Montreal was chosen to succeed the late Joseph Henderson of Toronto—The Sales in Canada Greatest in the History of the Company—New Factory is Planned for Canada.

While Canada has had a hard time pulling itself together since the Great War, there are many hopeful signs of increased industrial activity. There is one industry that has prospered in spite of all adverse conditions, and the growth of which has been a source of pride and satisfaction to all Canadians. At the annual meeting of The Shredded Wheat Company, held Tuesday, March 8th, the report submitted to the stockholders shows that the sales of Shredded Wheat in Canada last year were the greatest in the history of the Company, and together with the net profits, shows the regular increase that is always characteristic of The Shredded Wheat Company.

The Shredded Wheat Company, Ltd., of England, which has been doing business for many years, has just built a beautiful, sanitary, sunlit factory at Welwyn Garden City, Herts, England. This model factory, built of marble and white glazed brick, is set in a verdant landscape of seven acres with scenic surroundings of unusual beauty. Since its opening it has been visited by thousands of pilgrims from all over the British Isles. The first year's operation of the new English plant as reported at the stockholders' meeting showed a gratifying increase in sales, notwithstanding the coal strike and other adverse conditions.

The Directors were re-elected as follows: William C. Breed, New York City; Paul A. Schoellkopf, Niagara Falls, N.Y.; Robert W. Pomeroy, Buffalo, N.Y.; George A. Mitchell, Buffalo, N.Y.; de Lancey Rankine, Niagara Falls, N.Y. ;Ogden L. Mills, New York City; Ogden M. Reid, New York City. The Canadian vacancy on the Board caused by the death of Mr. Henderson, Vice-President of the Bank of Toronto, was filled by the election of Dr. Charles W. Colby of Montreal. In the death of Mr. Henderson the Company lost a Director who had always manifested the deepest interest and pride in the growth of the Shredded Wheat business in Canada. The new director, Doctor Colby, may very properly be referred to as one of the most distinguished citizens of Canada; he is an historian of wide reputation; he is the Honorary President of the Historical Society of McGill University; Chairman of the Board of the Noiseless Typewriter Company; Director of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Wm. A. Rogers, Ltd., American Sales Book Company, F. M. Burt Company, Ltd., and Pacific Burt Company, Ltd.

Of interest to Canadians is the report of The Canadian Shredded Wheat Company. Since 1904 the parent company has operated the Canadian Shredded Wheat Company as a subsidiary, but it is now a real Canadian industry. Shredded Wheat for Canadian consumers is made in Canada of Canadian wheat, by Canadian labor. All supplies and labor are procured in Canada, notwithstanding the fact that an additional expense was placed on the company owing to the smaller volume of its production and the fact that the cost of supplies in Canada was greater than bringing them from the American plant. It had never been possible, therefore, to have the same selling price in Canada as in the States. With the very satisfactory increase in sales in Canada, the directors decided to increase the Canadian plant to meet the demand. Wheat elevators were completed early last year and a new powgr house has just been put into operation. The plans for a new, beautiful, sunlit factory have been approved by the directors and construction will start in the near future.

It is an interesting coincidence that the percentage of Canadian stockholders is about the same as the percentage of the company's business that is done in Canada, indicating that the increased consumption of the product in Canada has a corresponding increase in the number of Canadians who have invested in the business.

With the increased production and sales, and figuring on the economies of the new plant, the sales department announces that beginning March 3rd the selling price in Canada is to be the same as in the United States. Thus the object which the Board has sought to attain since 1904 has at least been reached. This is very gratifying to the stockholders and should result in largely increased business in the Dominion.

Toronto Market Irregular With Massey-Harris Leader

TORONTO, March 10.—(Canadian Press.)—Trading was narrow and decidedly irregular on the Toronto stock exchange to-day. Massey-Harris led in activity and gained one to 113, after selling as low as 107 3-8. Brazilian was the second most active issue and after opening at the new high for all time at 129 1-4, it receded to 128 3-4, but firmed at the close to 129, a gain of 3-4 over the previous close. Consolidated Smelters was an active and outstanding strong feature, selling up as high as 254 at the close, a gain of five. Noranda, with a gain of eighty cents a share to 21.95, featured the trading in the unlisted department.

Liverpool Quotations Firm Chicago Wheat Moves Up

CHICAGO, March 10 (Canadian Press).—With Liverpool quotations decidedly firm and with reports received that European Continental buyers are re-entering the market, wheat averaged a little higher here early today. A material increase of offerings, however, when prices advanced, tended to hold gains in check. Starting at 1-8 cents to 3-8 cent up, Chicago wheat kept near to the initial range. Corn and oats were easy with provisions firm. Corn opening unchanged to 3-8 cent higher and soon sagging all around to below yesterday's finish.

Opening prices were: Wheat, May 140 7-8, July 134 3-8; Corn, May 77 1-8, July 81 1-2; Oats, May 46 3-8, July 46 7-8.

Stock Prices Continue To Go Up On Wall Street

NEW YORK, March 10 (Canadian Press).—The upward movement of stock prices was resumed to-day, with rails again in the forefront of the advance. There was no change in the credit situation, and an apparent abundance of funds was available at the four per cent. renewal rate on call loans. The Bank of England rate was announced as unchanged at five per cent. The directors of the New York Federal Reserve Bank meet after the close of the market, but no immediate change in the four per cent. rate is looked for.

The tonnage report of the United States Steel Corporation showed a drop of slightly more than 200,000 tons in unfilled orders last month, and was slightly better than expected in view of the relatively high rate of operations. Wall Street apparently regarded the report as bullish, because United States Steel Common crossed 161 and the new "when issued" stock touched a new high record at 117 1-8.

General Motors again changed hands in large blocks at advancing prices, duplicating the high record of 17335 established since the declaration of the stock dividend. Mack Trucks also received good support, but Hudson, a recent strong spot, quieted down and moved within rather narrow limits. Stromberg Carburetor touched another new low record at 33. Remington Typewriter soared eight points and certificates of deposit 4¼, both touching new record highs. Baldwin, Federal Mining and Smelting Common and Preferred, Norfolk and Western, Lehigh Valley and Wabash also recorded large gains, but Commercial Solvents 'B' was heavy.

Irregular Trading To-day; Most Mine Stocks Decline

TORONTO, March 10.—(Canadian Press.) — Irregular trading again featured the standard mining exchange to-day. Practically every issue to make its appearance on the board declined at some stage of the market. Noranda, amongst the unlisted issues, was an exception to the general trend of weakness which prevailed. This stock sold up 22.00 at the close for a gain of 90. The dividend paying gold stocks were all weaker. Wright Hargreaves sold off 19 to 6.42, McIntyre declined 40 to 26.20, and Lake Shore weakened five to 18.40. Nipissing sold down 25 to 7.90.

Y.W.C.A. WORK UNDER REVIEW

Officers Report On Activities At Regular Meeting of Board.

PREPARING PAGEANT.

The monthly board meeting of the Y.W.C.A. was held on Monday. Miss Hamilton, the president, presided, and conducted the devotional exercises. The matter of installing the swimming pool filtration plant was left to the swimming pool and finance committees.

The financial reports were read by Mrs. H. R. H. Kenner, and a motion passed to pay the outstanding coal accounts.

Two hundred dollars, to be paid quarterly, was voted to be paid as Peterborough's share to National work.

Miss M. Hamilton and Miss C. Littlefield will represent the Y.W.C.A. on the city committee planning for the 1st of July celebration. Mrs. N. D. Drummond was appointed to attend the next meeting of the local council.

The dates of the Gymnasium Pageant, April 29 and 30, and the Association annual meeting on May 12 were announced.

Mrs. E. E. Harvey reported for the last meeting of the Local Council and also the Educational Committee of the Y.W.C.A. The special classes for the month were English Literature, Ukulele, Wood Carving, Red Cross, Home Nursing, Junior Cooking, and Junior Story Hour, and the registration for these being 301.

The General Secretary reported for the religious work and club department. The Sunday evening song services have an average attendance of thirty-five. Friendly Hour Services have included talks by Miss M. Storey, Miss C. Davidson, and Miss E. Outram. The Bible Study discussion course is in charge of Rev. J. D. Paterson, and has an enrollment of 25.

One hundred and nine-five girls belong to the seven clubs. Special club programmes were, party by Junior for their mothers; making of Valentines for sick children and residents of the Protestant Home, taking charge of Friendly hour, and arranging for a play. A new club for new-comers to Canada was organized by Miss Storey. All clubs have a devotional period as has the Saturday Story Hour.

Eight different outside organizations use the Association regularly for meetings.

The physical director reported for the basketball league, which is proving a great success, the Y. Seniors' team leading. Two large Valentine parties were held for members of gymnasium classes. The Junior party in the nature of a fancy dress party, ond the Senior party took the form of a snow-shoe party with sing song and refreshments around the fire later. Four hundred and seventy are now enrolled in classes beside the basketball teams and junior club classes which have half hour for drill and games under gymnasium leaders.

The sewing committee has already made many costumes and will be busy right up to the end of April. The Pageant promises to be even more attractive this year than in the past. The advertising committee, ticket committee, and other committees are all planning special work in promoting this big pageant which is annually enjoyed by such large audiences.

Mrs. E. Morrison reported for the residence department, giving a comparison of buying values for a few years ago and now, showing that prices are higher though rates for board have not increased. The residence has been filled to capacity all winter, with seventy permanent boarders and many transients. A special Valentine High Tea was given February 14 with interesting programme. Several showers have been arranged by the girls for members who are leaving to be married.

The meeting closed with prayer. Tea was served by Mrs. Morrison.

A century ago there was not a single horse in New Zealand. Now the leading sport of the island is horse racing.

1,000 Years of Successful Business in Canada

THE experience and assets of more than 1,000 years' business success have been capitalized in the formation of the Canadian Department Stores, Limited. Each of the twenty-two stores united in this organization has had an average of more than forty-four years' prosperity. None has ever shown a financial loss.

• • • • •

Generations ago these were the "general stores" that catered to the needs of a pioneer civilization, and promoted the growth of sparsely settled communities. And as the villages and towns became thriving cities, these stores prospered accordingly, and blossomed forth as up-to-date department stores.

• • • • •

Today, recognizing the great advantages of large volume buying, the department stores have pooled their resources and founded the greatest chain store system in Canada. Through the Canadian Department Stores, Limited, they have greatly multiplied their purchasing power, and now offer their customers the newest and best of goods at notable savings.

• • • • •

Even in the worst business years Canada has experienced during the past decade audited statements bring out the remarkable fact that all of these stores showed splendid earning power—in fact, actual net earnings were much in excess of all interest requirements. How many investment fields have shown such a record?

• • • • •

An opportunity for prudent investors to share in the future prosperity of this consolidation is afforded by the issuing of First and Refunding Mortgage Income Gold Bonds that yield 7 per cent. Bonds may be secured in denominations of $100, $500 or $1,000. More than 60 per cent. of this issue is being taken by the former owners of the stores, who continue as managers.

Canadian Department Stores, Limited, the largest chain store system in Canada, includes the following stores:—

Duncan Ferguson Co., Limited, Stratford
Dundas & Flavelle, Limited, Lindsay
The Ritchie Co., Limited, Belleville
E. J. Coles Co., Limited, Woodstock
The Chas. Austin Co., Limited, Chatham

WARSAW LADIES GIVE GOOD PLAY

Effort To Raise Money For Church Is Very Successful.

WARSAW NEWS.

WARSAW, March 10.—The play given by the United Church Ladies' Aid was one of the very best ever given in Warsaw. "The Last Loaf" is really a temperance play with a good moral and some very amusing incidents. Not only did the actors do their parts well, but they looked their parts.

The first act showed Mr. and Mrs. Arkell and their daughter in their home. The daughter is just sixteen and has a lover, young Harry Harrison, whose mother is dead and whose father is a hard-hearted schemer and will not allow the son to learn a trade or profession. He has a chance to go to China. His father, a pretended friend of Mark Arkell's, wants to marry Miss Arkell, and when her parents refuse he warns Mrs. Arkell to look out for he will see that her home is ruined. Paddy Jones is Mrs. Arkell's maid, and has two lovers, a baker who wishes to be a philosopher and a butcher who stutters terribly. She does not particularly care for either. The baker hides under the sofa and hears Mr. Hanson declare the wrong he will do the Arkells. The result is he accompanies young Hanson to China.

In the second act, after five years, a poverty-stricken wife and daughter in a poor home appear and the drunken father lies on the sofa. Hanson comes, again seeking the daughter, but the mother is firm. The faithful Paddy Jones can get no more food. Mrs. Arkell gives her last dime and she gets a poor loaf. The butcher offers Paddy Jones to provide for the family at cost if she will marry him, but she is done with him. The baker appears and gives her a good loaf for the poor one. The half-drunken Arkell hears Hanson tell the evil he has done and will do and comes to his senses. Harry Hanson returns and claims his bride. Paddy accepts the baker, and Mr. and Mrs. Arkell are happy once more.

The cast was: Mrs Weller, as Mrs. Arkell; Fred. Crowe, Mr. Arkell; Mrs. Digweed, their daughter; John Sargent, Mr. Hanson; Hector Thompson, his son, Harry Hanson; Mrs. Anderson, Paddy Jones; Ralph Selby, the butcher, and Mr. Herrington, the baker.

During intermission Messrs. Henry Batten, Clarence Watts, Rufus Payne and David Miller sang, "The Wayside Cross," Mr. Batten taking the tenor solo.

The ladies have about $65 clear to pay on the roofing of the shed.

Rufus Payne's Sale.

The sale of Rufus Payne's stock and implements, which took place on March 3, drew an immense crowd of men, from many miles, in all directions. The only way a would-be buyer could do was to go ahead of the crowd and stand by the desired article. The prices on some of the things were: Manure-spreader, $21; mower, $64; binder, $41; cultivator, $61; scufflers, $16 each; roller, $31; cows averaged $70, the highest price being $76; calves, one thorough-bred animal brought $62, year-olds $26 each, two-year-olds $40 each; pigs, $50, $29 and some younger ones at $14 each; hens, $1.50 each; turkey hens, $6 each; hay, $12 ton; oats, 74c bushel; a colt, $150, and horses at $140 and $135

News Briefs.

After ninety years in business in Warsaw the Choate store is shortly to pass into other hands. Mr. Choate has sales bills out to reduce the stock before their successors, Rufus Payne and Hilliard Darling, take the business over.

The ladies of St. Mark's Church have their material for their bazaar on the 17th about ready. Many who once attended the church and are now far away have sent articles.

Mrs. Joseph Tedford has returned from the hospital very much improved in health.

Miss Laura Bowen has secured a position in the Bell Telephone office in Toronto. She attends a training school for two weeks.

James Tighe returned from the hospital on Saturday. He looks very much better.

New members joined the nursing class for this last week.

A PATHETIC APPEAL.

As I gazed from my window
Upon the fair scene,
I was suddenly startled to see a machine
Moving down Georg street so stately and slow,
Scraping away at the ice and the snow.
I rushed out of doors,
And I called to the driver
And asked him the reason
For this strange array.
He answered: "I've orders from our city council
To clear off the street for the autos to-day!
So I sadly returned to my place of abode,
And pondered the fact of a nicely cleaned road,
For those who could use it—but I wasnt one—
I have to depend on our own gracious sun
To clean off the plebeian sidewalk for me,
Where the slush and the water is up to one's knee.
So you lucky beings who ride in your cars,
On a well scraped off pavement, without any ars,
Just think of the fellow who is plodding his way
To his ankles in slush every hour of the day.
That's all. WALKER.

SIGNS OF SPRING

AT WOOLER.

Theres something magical about the spring to wake our hearts to gladness more than all the happy year. Is it the robin's call as on the branch he now begins to sing with such rejoicing in his caroling. The crows, chickadees, and phoebes are also reminding us spring is coming. The sleighs and cutters are being laid aside for the carriages and automobiles, as the streams of water are rushing down the roads and to hear and see this makes every one say: "How like Spring". One of our young farmers has a nest of young chicks, brought out by the mother hen.

Then, the golden glint of sunbeams as they fall, and the pussy-willows, so soft and pretty. In every neighborhood you will find men, splitting wood in their woodyards, and piling it in order, for the summer use. The farmer cleaning his seed grain making ready for the spring sowing. All these, but most of all within the soul, the magic lies; a spell to make us see the world reborn in beauty out of pain.

Spring is coming, rich beauty after winter's grey, fair blossom, bird or bee, how could we help but love it.

IN MARMORA.

MARMORA, March 10.—Signs of spring's advance are noticeable in the Marmora district as early as anywhere in the county. The woodchuck has already ventured forth according to the testimony of a well known farmer who encountered one last Saturday afternoon.

Crows have been seen and heard daily for the past few days. Flickers also have made their appearance. A swarm of mosquitoes coming to light recently in the crack of a tree occasioned by lightning may suggest to some what is all too rare in recent years, an early summer.

IN STIRLING.

STIRLING, March 10.—Sap buckets and other utensils for the making of maple syrup are on display in the hardware stores. You can also see in the same stores any quantity of clover and timothy seed for sale. All kinds of garden seed are also shown in their brightly colored packets. Robins were seen a couple of weeks ago. Crows are becoming a common sight. The ice harvest is ended. Preparations are being made at the different cheese factories by the maker's getting their fuel provided for and other incidental work in view of the fact that their season's work will soon begin.

AT WARSAW.

WARSAW, March 10.—Signs of spring are more felt than seen. There is an indefinable something in the air that makes one feel spring is pushing in. The trees have a misty look as though the buds were swelling. Animals are more frisky, as though they realize nice pasture will soon be ready for them.

Crows, blue-jays, chickadees, and even the melancholy phoebe are around.

Preparations are being made for tapping, which will surely be done within the next three weeks. Men are rushing their teaming to have their necessary trips before the snow goes. The sleighing has been good all winter. There has been some winter short-cuts, but no blocked roads so far, and now they cannot remained blocked long.

Though much snow has fallen, much has melted, and there is much water in the snow still on the ground.

The Nujol method is the modern Scientific treatment for Constipation

THAT is the verdict of an extensive inquiry recently conducted among practising physicians. We found that 8 doctors out of 10 recommended the Nujol type of treatment. We found seven out of ten thought laxatives and cathartics harmful if used frequently.

Here are typical statements made by doctors. "Preferable to laxatives because it does not cause patients any pain or discomfort." "Not habit-forming." "Now recognized by all physicians to be better because it is not absorbed." "Ordinary laxatives are too drastic in reaction, too exhausting." "Helps to establish habit-time." "Is a rational corrective for constipation."

Doctors Advise Nujol

Eight doctors out of every ten told us they were advising the Nujol type of treatment for their patients in place of laxatives—and for these reasons:

1. Nujol is not habit-forming.
2. A more natural method.
3. A lubricant is better than a laxative.
4. Does not gripe.
5. Is not irritating.
6. Nujol gives lasting relief.

Unlike Laxatives

Laxatives and cathartics act by irritating the intestinal tract. They cause the bowels to frantically expel the contents of the intestines and thus rid the system of the drugs that pills and potions contain.

Nujol acts entirely differently. It contains no drugs, no medicine. Its action is mechanical. It merely softens the dried waste matter in the intestines and lubricates the passage so that the muscles of the bowels can expel the waste matter regularly, naturally and thoroughly.

Nature-given Remedy

Nujol appeals to the medical man because it is a simple, scientific and safe remedy for constipation, no matter how severe the case may be. It is gentle in its action and pleasant to take. Children love it!

Get a bottle of Nujol from your druggist today. Doctors advise it for constipation, whether chronic or temporary. Avoid substitutes.

RABBITS IN TREES.

OTTOUPLANT, Ark., March 10.—Hundreds of rabbits in the flooded districts near here have been removed from trees where they found refuge as they were being swept along in the current. They even jumped into boats filled with people and many were killed to provide food for refugees. Two negroes set out to rescue dogs which were stranded on house-tops and in trees. They found more than a dozen panic-stricken animals.

REGULAR SESSION STIRLING COUNCIL

Tribute Paid to Late T. G. Clute by Councillor Meiklejohn.

STIRLING, March 9.—The Village Council met in regular sesion on Monday night, all the members being present. The minutes of the last meeting having been read and confirmed, Councillor L. Meiklejohn gave a synopsis of his relations in connection with the late Mr. T. G. Clute. In business life, as he knew him when he (Meiklejohn) first came to Stirling as a young man, to serve in the general store of the late James Milne, then as a partner in the firm of which Mr. Clute was a member. Mr. Meiklejohn also spoke of his connection with Mr. Clute as a servant of the Village Council, for a great number of years, and he doubted if the same good words could be said of any other resident of the village, as of the late Mr. Clute, upon his passing from his labors here. Reeve Montgomery also stated that he had known Mr. Clute all the years of his career here, and could fully endorse every word Mr. Meiklejohn had stated. Mr. E. T. Williams and Mr. W. S. Martin being present vouched for all the former speakers had said. A resolution, moved by Mr. Meiklejohn and seconded by Reeve Montgomery was then read by Clerk G. H. Leury, expressing the regret at the loss of a faithful and honored servant of the village, also expressing their sympathy with the friends and relatives of the late Mr. Clute. The Council unanimously concurred.

The auditors of the village, Messrs. E. T. Williams and C. W. Thompson, having completed their work, their report was briefly dealt with, and the recommendations they made are to be carried out in order that better service may be rendered by some of the officers. The report as compiled will prove of value as a future reference. Miss L. Smith of Mr. H. C. Martin's insurance office was the typist who did this part of the work.

Reeve Montgomery gave a report of his connection with the committee which waited on the Minister of Agriculture re an Agricultural School for Central Ontario, also regarding the proposed route of the Belleville - Peterborough highway. Plans for the new hall and theatre are being prepared, so the communication from the department relative to this matter could be satisfactorily answered.

The collector of taxes presented a list of unpaid taxes of 1926, and was ordered to collect the same forthwith. An important matter was then dealt with: the appointing of a successor to the late Mr. Clute as treasurer of the village. There were several applicants for the position, and on motion of Councillors Meiklejohn and Hatton, Mr. Robert Patterson was appointed to the vacancy.

HUGE LOSS FOR AMERICANS WHEN CHINA TAKES CONTROL

Property Built Up By Foreigners Faces Heavy Depreciation.

TITLES CONTESTED

Credits and Collections Endangered—Bonds Will Lose Value.

Property Built Up by Foreigners Faves Heavy Depreciation—Many Private Titles Will Be Contested in Chinese Courts—Credits and Collections Endangered—American Owned Bonds Will Lose in Value—If Boycott Should Strike Our Trade Large Industries Will Suffer Sericusly.

BY UPTON CLOSE

Regardless of what Chinese faction takes over Shanghai, foreign properties must suffer for a time there, as elsewhere, heavy depreciation. This will be equally so if the foreign administration is merely "denatured" by giving the 500,000 Chinese residents of the settlement a proportionate share in the municipal government.

When I was in Peking recently I looked up some summer houses and lots at the beach resort of Peitaino, which when I left them four years before had a market value of $11,000. They are in an area chartered from the Chinese Government by a resident's association, originally missionary, which in its subleases to individuals prohibits Chinese ownership or residence. The idea was to create a little "white man's sanctuary."

I tried to sell my lots, but not a foreigner would buy, at any price. "We are not taking on any unmovable property in this country now!" was the answer.

Sells Land at Half Price.

I went to an old Chinese friend, graduate of an American university. 'I don't believe your 'No dogs and Chinese' regulation for that area will hold long," he said. "But, of course, there is some risk and you cannot now give me a full title. All this foreign property must go on the market for practically nothing, because it is no longer of use to any but Chinese, and there aren't many Chinese who want this type of thing. But I'll buy your property at half its original value," I sold.

There are a score of such foreign-owned areas about China: beach and mountain resorts, port settlements and great cities like the concessions and settlements at Tientsin, and Shanghai. In all of them the foreign owner stands to lose nearly all his investment, which in many cases represents the savings of a lifetime of labor and hardship and peril to health.

Abolition or compromise of foreign sovereignty in Shanghai and consequent uncertainty about the upkeep of the city's streets, harbor facilities and administration will cause great depreciation. Owners of the $50,000,000 of American property investment in Shanghai fear a loss in value of 50 to 80 per cent.

Capricious Taxes Possible.

Realization of these actualities jarred the State Department out of its first sleepy inclination to "protect Americans in Shanghai by transporting them all to Manila" and brought the reverse counsel from President Coolidge to our Shanghai community to "sit tight."

Americans trading in China face the prospect of other losses. Should extra-territorial protection be given up they would be subject to danger of capricious taxation. Their credits, contracts and collections would depend on Chinese courts. And the Chinese are apt to recall the justice they have had in the foreign consular courts, where up to now they have had to sue aliens.

Germans, who lost their extraterritorial privileges during the war, told me that they had no complaint to make on personal treatment by Chinese police and officials, but cheating customers could no longer be forced to pay.

America's trade with China was a quarter of a billion dollars last year, one-sixth of China's whole foreign trade. If any clash arises between the North or south, the weapon of the boycott will cut it off almost completely as happened to England's trade.

Bonds Face Depreciation.

A leader of our varnish industry was talking with me in New York. Chinese tung oil, coming from far Szechuan on the Upper Yangtze, is one of the essential raw products of his industry. Foreign boats are no longer running on the Upper Yangtze, but his tung oil is still shooting the rapids in the old style sampan. Will something occur to cut off the supply?

The same situation exists with bean oil for our soap industry, peanuts for our baseball games, and hairnets for our bobbed women.

Great firms like the Standard Oil Company of New York and the Singer Sewing Machine Company, which do business throughout China on a basis of small credits, face grave difficulties during the period of readjustment. Chinese Government and railway bonds held by Americans to the extent of $30,000,000 to $50,000,000 face as likely a depreciation for the time being as do skyscrapers in Shanghai.

For these reasons our Government, as it becomes better informed, grows more conservative toward the Chinese demand for point blank cancellation of the treaties. But China, irritated by previous experience, is impatient. She is more likely to act summarily, as did Turkey, than again to enter tortuous negotiations.

May Match Mexican Dispute.

After China regains full sovereignty there will remain the problem of many private titles to be settled in Chinese courts. Disputes over such titles are capable of bringing us into just the controversy which we have in Mexico.

For instance, the huge city property of the Peking University and Methodist Mission within Hatamen Gate will be claimed by descendants of owners from whom it was taken by the Manchu dynasty to give to the mission as indemnification for damages and insults. A Chinese widow holds a claim against the French owners of the original Peking hotel site. Foreigners after the Boxer uprising, believing they would always have the protection of their governments, were very careless about procuring conventional Chinese titles to the properties that came into their hands.

Some of these were simply "squatted on," under the protection of invading force, but the squatter has improved them with many-storied buildings and modern streets and sewerage and often transferred them to other persons buying in good faith.

"Forget" to Return Land.

A great British mining company, to which Herbert Hoover was once technical expert, is accused of having "got its start" by taking over properties from scared Chinese as an accommodation during the Boxer affair and forgetting to give them back. On the other hand, it has probably made those Chinese, as honorary officials of the company, more money than they would have had by holding and exploiting the coal fields themselves.

There is even the story of an Italian mission which, through its tremendous influence and the force behind it, was able to dispossess Chinese who had held property since the ninth century and absorb it on the claim that it was once in the possession of the medieval Nestorian Christian Church, to which their mission claimed a divinely-sanctioned heirship!

Injustices have been committed by one side; they will be committed by the other.

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

The next article in this series will appear in tomorrow's Examiner. It will tell how the ancient Chinese courtesy, pacifism, and non-resistance are being swept away by "modernism" copied from America.

VIOLINISTE DEAD

Canada lost one of its best-known musicians in the death of Mrs. Roy H. Cook, formerly Miss Hilda Alcock at Oakland, California. She was a graduate of the Toronto Conservatory and the Hambourg Conservatory, having her degrees of A.T.C.M. and L.C.C.M., and married about four months ago to Roy H. Cook, of Oakland, chief engineer of radio station, KFWM, of the Oakland Educational Society. Mrs. Cook was the regular violin artist of that station. She was chosen for the Canadian broadcast to England, in the international experiments in radio broadcast.

WHAT'S A HUNDRED YEARS, AFTER ALL?

BERLIN, March 10.—The oldest man and woman in the world are engaged to be married. Ivan Chatowsky, 145, is the man; Olga Marlewa, 131, is the prospective bride. A traveler met Mme. Marlewa and shortly afterward told Chatowsky that the world's oldest woman was living nearby. Chatowsky wrote, proposing in his first letter. He was accepted. If there is no rift in the romance, the wedding will be this spring.

FINAL CARNIVAL OF 1927 SEASON

Enjoyable Evening Spent at Rink in Spite of Soft Ice.

COSMOS AUSPICES

MILLBROOK, March 10.—The third, and probably the final, carnival of the season was held, under Cosmos Club auspices, on the open air rink on Thursday evening, the attendance being quite satisfactory, though the number of skaters in costume was somewhat smaller than on previous occasions.

Considering the recent soft weather, the ice was in good condition, and the music furnished by the Citizens' Band, under the leadership of G. A. Duncan, added much to the pleasure of the evening.

The "Darktown" hockey match was a fun-provoking feature of the proceedings, brooms and a football being used for the play; the referee, H. Lancashire, was carried bodily off the ice more than once when his decisions met with disapproval from the "darkey" enthusiasts. This was the second time this season when the "Darktown" players were in evidence at a carnival, adding decidedly to the hilarity and popularity of the event.

The prize winners were: Best Representative Costume, Carmen Ingram (nun); Best Comic Costume, men, B. Freelove (hobo); Best Ladies' Representative Costume, Gwendolyn Hutchison (gypsy); Best Ladies' Fancy Costume, Miss S. Miur; Best Gentlemen's Fancy Costume, H. Syer (clown); Best Boys' Fancy Costume, Jack Hutchison (page); Best Boys' Comic Costume, H. Raper (Tramp).

Men's Race: S. Sloan; Ladies' Race, Elizabeth Russell.

Boys' Race (under 12): D. Brown; Girls' Race (under 12); Margaret Russell; Obstacle Race, L. Ingram.

The judges were Messrs. R. J. McKnight, T. H. Harkness and J. W. Hutchison.

The Cosmos Club is to be congratulated upon its enterprise and initiative in providing the rink, with good hockey facilities for local play and several excellent games with outside teams during the winter, besides carnivals, and other attractions, and is deserving of liberal support from the community and vicinity in its efforts to wipe off the financial obligations involved.

A booth where hots dogs, and coffee were sold was well patronized throughout the evening, while the carnival was in progress.

H. Jordan is president of the Cosmos Club, D. Sheppard vice-president, C. B. Sutton, Secretary, and B. B. Dawson, treasurer.

GHOULS EXHUME MISER.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., March 10—Shortly before his death, 15 years ago, Calhoun Miler, aged eccentric put all his cash into $10 gold pieces and secreted them in secret compartments in a coffin which he made himself. Recently a heap of fresh earth was noticed near the grave and the coffin was dug up by authorities. It was found that ghouls had reached the casket and removed several thousand dollars worth of gold.

Never did a Cup of Coffee taste as good as this....

Such a remark is a tribute to any hostess—but it is deserved when coffee is served with Eagle Brand Condensed Milk instead of cream and sugar.

Eagle Brand improves the finest cup of coffee, gives it a richer "body," a delicious mellow flavour, a tempting golden color. Eagle Brand is pure creamy milk, thoroughly blended with granulated sugar. It is not only more satisfactory in coffee than ordinary cream, or top-milk, and sugar, but more economical, as well. It keeps perfectly in the open tin until used. Your grocer can supply you.

An EAGLE BRAND Recipe

Cocoanut Macaroons

Melt 2 squares of chocolate and mix well with 1 can of Borden's Eagle Brand Condensed Milk. Add slightly over ½ pound desiccated cocoanut, mix thoroughly and add 1 teaspoonful vanilla. Drop on greased pan 1 teaspoonful at a time, about an inch apart. Bake in a moderate oven until nicely browned. This makes 30 macaroons. Omit chocolate for plain macaroons.

Send for Free Recipe Book

Scores of dainty, appetizing dishes which call for milk and sugar can be made better if Eagle Brand is used.

OMEMEE UNITED W.M.S. MEETING

Special Observance Held on "World's Day of Prayer."

OFFICERS ELECTED.

OMEMEE, March 10.—Owing to the world's day of prayer having been arranged by the Women's Missionary Boards of Canada, for Friday afternoon, March 4th, the regular meeting was called for the same day in Trinity United Church, when a fair representation of members were in attendance.

The president of the Society, Mrs. E. W. Rowland, conducted the meeting and the programme outlined in the missionary monthly was followed. At the opening of the programme, Mrs. Rowland made a brief explanation of "Why we observe the day of prayer," which object is to unite all Christian women in a fellowship of intercession for every woman of every land.

The Scripture lesson found in Psalm 72, was read by Mrs. E. Bradburn. During the meeting prayers were offered by Mrs. A. Staples of Lindsay, Mrs. S. Vaughan, Mrs. R. Poast, Mrs. William Brandon, Mrs. Rowland and Rev. E. W. Rowland.

Following the benediction pronounced in unison, a short business session followed.

A general letter was received from Miss Dunoon, the president of the Lindsay Presbyterial, also a note of appreciation from Mrs. T. A. McConnell for a remembrance during illness, Mrs. Rev. Coon, of Peterborough and others.

The Easter thank-offering which has to be held during March so that all monies may be sent to headquarters before the church year closes the last of March, was discussed at length. The committee previously appointed is to communicate with Rev. Howard Veals should he arrive home in time or with Rev. Fred Reid of Woodville in an effort to secure their services for the Sunday evening service. Both are missionaries home on furlough. Ladies were appointed to distribute the thank-offering envelopes and also to lift the offering at this special service.

Mrs. G. Haygarth consented to be responsible for the missionary topic in Sunday school the first Sunday in April.

The election of officers then followed with Rev. E. W. Rowlnad in the chair, resulting as follows:—

President—Mrs. E. W. Rowland.
1st Vice-President—Mrs. H. Lamb.
2nd Vice-President—Mrs. J. Bushnell.
Treasurer—Mrs. T. C. Ivory.
Asst. Treasurer—Mrs. J. Shields.
Secretary—Mrs. E. Bradburn.
Asst. Secretary—Mrs. L. A. Mahood.
Corr. Secretary—Mrs. J. Widdis.
Pianist—Miss E. Race.
Treas. Supply Fund—Mrs. C. L. Morcombe.
Secretary, Missionary Monthly—Miss Lillian Race.

Tucks are Modish on the New Frocks

Indubitably smart is this charming frock suitable for many occasions, and would be particularly attractive if fashioned of georgette or silk. The bodice has tucks at each shoulder, a shaped collar, long sleeves gathered to wrist-bands, or short and finished with cuffs. The jabot may be added for dressy occasions and makes a becoming addition. The skirt, having tucks running to a point at back and front, is joined to the bodice, simulating the two-piece effect, while a narrow belt fastening with a front-closing buckle completes this chic frock. NO. 1539 is for misses and small women and is in sizes 16, 18 and 20 years. Size 18 (34 bust) requires 3¾ yards 39-inch material, or 2¾ yards 54-inch. Price 20 cents the pattern.

The designs illustrated in our new Fashion Book are advance styles for the home dressmaker, and the woman or girl who desires to wear garments dependable for taste, simplicity and economy will find her desires fulfilled in our patterns. Price of the book 10 cents the copy.

SAINT and SINNER

By ANNE AUSTIN

"I'm sure you understand, Miss Faith," Stephen Churchill spoke in a low, gentle voice to the girl who was watching with staring, tragic eyes her little sister being led away by deputy sheriffs, "that bail is not permitted in this state where the indictment charges first degree murder. She's bearing up remarkably, Miss Faith. A wonderful little girl, a remarkable girl."

"Thank you." Faith did not look at him until the door had closed upon Cherry. Then she turned her beautiful, dark eyes imploringly upon him. "You do believe in her, don't you, Mr. Churchill?" Her voice was so low that not even Bob just behind her could hear the words.

Churchill nodded his great, grizzled head emphatically, too emphatically, Faith thought miserably. His voice boomed out so that reporters could hear him distinctly. "As innocent as she is beautiful, Miss Faith. I wish all of my cases were as easy as this one."

"He doesn't really believe she's innocent," Faith told her despairingly, but, knowing that alien, curious eyes were upon her, she managed to smile brilliantly. "Thank you, Mr. Churchill. May I see you—privately? I—I want to talk things over with you."

"I'll be glad to see you and your father any time you say," Churchill answered in a more discreet voice. "May I express my deep sympathy with you in your bereavement?"

"The flowers you sent were very lovely," Faith answered. "I don't think my father is feeling well enough to consult with you today, but I—I've got to talk with you, Mr. Churchill. I'd like to come as soon as possible with—with my fiance, Mr. Hathaway." It was the first time she had referred to Bob in just that way, and she was rewarded by a quick pressure of Bob's fingers upon her arm.

"The quicker the better," Churchill answered cheerfully. "I'm going to my office now. Shall I drive you there?"

"I have my car, thanks," Bob interposed quickly. "Miss Lane and I will follow you immediately, if it is convenient for you now."

After they had elbowed their way through the still dense throng on the courthouse steps and lawn, Bob hurried Jim Lane and Junior into the back seat. "I'll drive you home," he told them, "and then Faith and I are going for a conference with Churchill."

Jim Lane sat in a huddled heap of dazed misery as the car threaded its way through the crowded streets. Looking over her shoulder at them occasionally, with a tremuous, reassuring smile, Faith saw that Junior had his arm about his father's shoulders, and that one of his strong young hands was tightly clamped over the trembling old man's gnarled fist. The sight of these two—father and son—brought together in despair and sorrow, tightened Faith's throat with tears, but there was a little throb of gladness in her heart. The twenty-one-year-old "sheik" rather notorious for his wildness, had suddenly become a man on whom his father could lean.

Stephen Churchill's fame and prosperity as a criminal lawyer were attested by the spaciousness and luxurious furnishings of his suite of offices in the Prudential Building. A grim-faced, efficient looking woman of middle age, who introduced herself as Mrs. Soames, Churchill's secretary, received Bob and Faith and conducted them to Churchill's private office. The lawyer's leonine head was almost concealed behind dense layers of cigar smoke, which lay like a pall above the massive mahogany desk at which he worked.

"Glad to see you," he said briskly, rising and thrusting out a hand first to Faith and then to Bob, and indicating chairs drawn close to the desk. "I've got an important case coming up for trial day after tomorrow, and I'm snowed under with work, so we'd better get down to brass tacks."

Faith nodded, her eyes seeking his through the fog of smoke. He seemed dismayingly formidable, seen here in his own luxurious quarters—luxury bought by the successful defense of those accused of crime. She told herself that she should take heart by that very fact—that his success was so great as to be almost a legend in criminal court annals.

"In the first place, Miss Lane," Churchill waved a big hand in a futile effort to clear away the smoke, "I think you will agree with me that circumstantial evidence is very strong against your sister."

"She is innocent, Mr. Churchill. You must believe that!" Faith leaned forward in her distress, her eyes pleading with him. "You are to be her counsel, Mr. Churchill. You, of all people, must believe she is innocent."

"I have defended a good many people—successfully—of whose innocence I was not entirely convinced," Churchill retorted. "Now, don't jump to conclusions, Miss Lane. And you, Hathaway—" he turned to Bob, who was indignantly trying to interrupt—"keep your shirt on. What I say in the privacy of this room will have nothing to do with my conduct of the case. That is, any doubts I may have of Cherry's innocence will not interfere in any way with my efforts to free her. That understood?" he barked.

"I don't like the way you put it Mr. Churchill," Faith protested. "But—"

"All right. Now let me have my say. I think Cherry's best bet is self defense. I can clear her—a pretty girl like Cherry—before any male jury in the land, if she'll tell a straightforward story of what took place in Cluny's bedroom that night. Wait—" he commanded them both— "Cherry goes to break her engagement with an old man so that she can marry a young one. She tells the old man that she's made a mistake, begs to be let off. He is furious with her, insane with anger. He locks her in the room, tells her she can't leave until she promises to go quietly with him to the church. They struggle. He strikes her. To protect herself, she hurls the vase at him, not intending to kill him, of course, but in anger at him for striking her, and for his attempting to force her into marriage which she has determined not to go through with. Unfortunately the blow kills him. He falls. She runs from the room in a panic, not even realizing that he is dead. She makes her escape, joins her lover, they speed away and are married. Terror keeps her from telling the truth before the coroner's jury, but on the witness stand, under oath, she decides to tell the truth, throw herself on the mercy of the judge and the jury. Result—another beautiful girl is acquitted of justifiable and unpremeditated homicide." He spread his big hands with a gesture of satisfaction.

Faith rose, trembling so that she could hardly stand. "Cherry is innocent, Mr. Churchill. She will never in the world consent to such a defense. She would rather go to the gallows or to prison for life than to secure her freedom in the way you suggest. We'd better go, Bob," she turned to Hathaway who had risen too. "Surely we can find a lawyer who will believe in the innocence of an innocent girl."

TOMORROW: Faith wins a victory over Churchill's skepticism.

BENEATH THE SURFACE

By W. D. Packwood.

Beneath the surface hidden from our eyes,
Lie beauties, that we seldom realize.
'Neath the earth and fathoms deep in sea,
Are precious stones, who only seek may see.

And so beneath the surface of men's lives,
There is a something true, which upward strives.
'Tis true we only often see the gall.
But beauty 'neath the surface, lies in all.

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

Mauve lace and chiffon are simply yet smartly used in this new spring evening gown.

In Paris it is often possible to get foresight of the frocks that will be worn in spring and summer in noting the clothes worn by women who have recently returned from the Riviera or who have come north—only to fly south again after a few days In our own Northern cities it is worth while to notice the clothes worn by the women who have returned from Palm Beach and other Southern resorts—not only the clothes but the manner of wearing them, for new tricks in fashion are frequently originated in these Southern resorts where women are inspired with the spirit of spring months in advance.

This year there is a decided contrast in the evening clothes worn by the women who have already caught the spirit of the new season and those who are still clinging to the fashions of the winter. Women dressed in the new evening clothes look like butterflies, in frocks that are bright in color but at the same time soft and lovely. These simple airy frocks are in marked contrast to the rather gorgeous, heavily beaded, elaborately ornamented frocks that were in favor during the winter. There is something very light and butterfly like even in the frocks that are embroidered in beads made of metal tissue.

The fashion for lames and other metallic tissue has not passed, but the new materials of this sort are surprisingly light. Taffetas in clear light colors suggestive of flower petals are frequently used, too, for the new evening frocks but the new taffetas conform to the present demand that all evening fabrics must be as light as butterflies' wings. Mauve lightly trimmed with silver, yellow often with a greenish cast, every shade of pink, blues that suggest the color of forget-me-nots, delphiniums or hydrangeas—these are colors that may appeal to you for the spring evening dress. But perhaps there is nothing more distinctive among them all than white.

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, but do not Compel.

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

FOR FRIDAY, MARCH 11, 1927

Astrologers read this as rather an unimportant day in planetary direction. It is a time for pursuing routine duties.

Aviators should be cautious today, for the sway is threatening for air travel.

The day is read as not lucky for journeys of any sort, but there will be a great inclination to make short trips which may be unlucky.

Under this direction of the stars there may be a feeling of discontent and a tendency to criticize one's condition in life. There should be determined self discipline while this configuration prevails.

Gossip may be prevalent under this sway and the tendency to believe the worst may cause heartaches. It is wise to bridle the tongue.

Prohibition is to become ever more bitterly discussed in the next few months than previously, it is prophesied.

Trade with South America and China is to develop amazingly, despite all signs to the contrary, astrologers predict.

Foreign intrigue is to present new problems to American diplomats and to command attention in Washington.

Again it is foretold that America will add many new millionaires to the already long list, for there will be speedy wealth accumulated in 1927, unless the signs are misread.

Earthquake shocks are foretold for many parts of Texas, Georgia, and Florida, Milwaukee and Ottowa, also may suffer.

Engineers are to be in great demand, for there is to be much railroad building in foreign countries.

Persons whose birthdate it is may have a year that is rather unsettled, but nevertheless fortunate.

Children born on this day may be fond of travel and adventure. They are likely to be rolling stones unless wisely directed.

THE SWISS FAMILY ROBINSON

The Captain's Plans

Bright and charming is the rule
Always in the "Kruschen" school.

What Grandpa Told Mabel

Mabel: Grandpa, I really don't know how I can begin to thank you. I can never be grateful enough to you for——

Grandpa: Credit where credit is due, my dear. Kruschen did it!

Mabel: But if you hadn't told me about Kruschen, I should still be a moping, miserable nuisance, instead of——

Grandpa: Instead of the brightest, jolliest young thing you could wish to find in a summer day's march!

Mabel: I'd never have believed that a tiny thing like the "little daily dimeful" could turn the semi-invalid that I was into the girl that I feel—and am—to-day.

Grandpa: That's the six salts of course. You don't get a single action from Kruschen, as you do with Epsom or Glauber, but the benefit of six different treatments, as it were, all at once. But it isn't merely that each of the six salts has a separate and distinct effect; they all help each other — tune up your system from a number of different angles.

Mabel: Where one salt can't get, another can and does. Isn't that the notion?

Grandpa: That's just it. Every doctor knows that disease of any kind has got to be attacked "Right, left and centre," and the only way to do it is to use a combination remedy. In taking Kruschen you get a tenfold increase in the beneficial effect of each of its ingredients. That's a proved fact. And the beauty of it is your inside never gets stale to it — you never need increase the little daily dose.

Mabel: Well, Grandpa, after what you've said nobody shall ever point the finger of scorn at me and say, "Who's been missing her Kruschen?"

Kruschen Salts

Good Health for Half a Cent a Day

The ingredients of Kruschen Salts are necessary for healthy life. Your body must of necessity extract these ingredients from somewhere, or you could not live. If you led an ideally healthy life in the open air, with plenty of exercise and no worries, your body would extract these six vital salts from your food. But the artificial life you lead prevents this. Hence the need for the "little daily dose" of Kruschen, which, unlike any other saline preparation, is a scientific combination of the six salts your body needs for its proper health. "As much as will cover a 10 cent piece" every morning, tasteless in your breakfast cup of coffee or tea, expels all clogging waste matter, purifies and invigorates your blood, and sets you all a-tingle with "that Kruschen feeling." Every druggist sells Kruschen. A 75c bottle contains 150 doses — nearly enough for six months. Get a bottle to-day and begin a new life to-morrow. It's the "little daily dimeful" that does it.

LOCAL OPTION LAW RETAINED UNDER NEW ACT

Districts Dry Before 1916 To Be Dry Under Control Bill.

MANY AFFECTED.

Residents There May Buy Liquor For Consumption In Own Homes.

TORONTO, March 10. Canadian Press.—A feature of the new liquor legislation introduced into the Ontario Legislature last evening by Premier Howard Ferguson is that it will revive local option in those areas which operated under this system previous to the Ontario Temperance Act becoming effective.

Under the local option law the main provision prohibited the sale of liquor, but did not prevent the consumption of liquor in private residences.

Questioned regarding position of a person, resident in a local option area, who purchased liquor under a permit outside the prohibited centre, and brought to his home, legal officials of the Attorney-General's department stated to-day that he would be quite within his rights as long as the liquor was consumed in his private residence.

In 1916 municipalities in the following districts operated under a system of local option:

Addington, Algoma, Brant North and South, Bruce Centre; North and South Carleton, Dufferin, Durham East and West, Elgin East and West, Essex North and South, Frontenac, Glengarry, Grenville, Grey Centre, North and South, Haliburton, Haldimand, Halton, Hastings East, North and West, Kent East and West, Lambton East and West, Lanark North and South, Leeds, Lennox, Lincoln, Middlesex East, West and North, Monck, Muskoka, Nipissing, Norfolk North and South, Northumberland East and West, Ontario North and South, Perry Sound West, Perth North and South, Peterboro East and West, Port Arthur, Prescott, Prince Edward, Rainy River Renfrew North and South, S. S. Have Same Privileges.

Residents of dry areas in Ontario will have the same privileges in the matter of liquor permits as those in districts where the Government's liquor dispensaries will be established, according to Premier Ferguson, discussing this point to-day. "A man living in a dry municipality may take out a permit, purchase liquor from the nearest vendor and take it home in perfect safety," said Mr. Ferguson.

The Premier said that the rights of municipalities which were dry before the introduction of prohibition in 1916, or which vote dry subsequent to the new law coming into effect, will be "absolutley respected." The commission was given power to determine "where liquor stores shall be established" only in wet areas, Mr. Ferguson pointed out.

No Price Reduction.

There is no expectation of an immediate reduction in the prices of liquors now charged at the Ontario Government dispensaries, where the Control Commission takes charge about May 1, following the expected adoption by the Legislature of the Government control bill offered for first reading by Premier Ferguson in the Legislature yesterday. This is the opinion of the authorities in charge of the present dispensaries.

PRESENTATION TO DR. AND MRS. ROSE

Purse and Table Cover Presented By People of Murray Street Church.

The members of the Murray street Baptist church gathered in large numbers at the prayer service last night to do honor to their pastor and his wife, who will soon be leaving the city.

Dr. and Mrs. Rose have during their stay of four years in the city, won the high regard of all classes of the community. Expressions of regret have poured in from members of every church in the city, testifying to the esteem in which they are held. At the conclusion of the prayer service, at which Dr. Rose welcomed eight new members into the church, A. J. Raddon, the church clerk, was voted into the chair.

The following address was then read by W. G. Shiner:

Peterborough, March 9, 1927

To Dr. and Mrs. Rose:

Dear Friends: Before the days of your ministry amongst us are over, and you leave us to journey again to the Land of Evangeline, we wish to assure you once more of our sympathy and good will.

"The members of the church have already by resolution expressed their appreciation of your labors during the past four years, their admiration for your Christian characters and their love for the personality which has endeared you both to the whole community.

"The expressions of regret have been so general and so real that they have taken a tangible form in this purse which we give you, in the hope that it may be the means in a small measure of helping you regain your old time strength and vigor, and also this gift for your home, which will always be a reminder to Mrs. Rose of her association with this church.

On behalf of the membership of Murray street church we ask you to accept these gifts as a token of our deep and abiding love for you both.

(Signed) The Committee.

The presentation of a handsome purse to Dr. Rose was made by A. J. Madill, and the presentation of a beautiful Madiera table cover to Mrs. Rose was made by Mrs. L. J. Pettit.

Dr. Rose, in replying, expressed on behalf of himself and his wife their surprise and gratitude for this expression of love and appreciation. In leaving Peterborough they would take away many pleasant memories, and would leave behind many friends whose fellowship during the past years had been a great joy and privilege.

THANK OFFERING SERVICE HELD

George Street W.M.S. Holds Annual Service in Sunday School.

INSPIRING ADDRESS.

The annual Easter thankeffering service of George Street United Church Women's Missionary Society was held in the Sunday School Hall on Wednesday evening, March 9. The chair was taken by the president, Mrs. S. R. Armstrong. After a hymn and prayer by Rev. Dr. Brown, the responsive reading, specially prepared, was read, and Rev. Mr. Todd gave a very inspiring address. During the evening a male quartette, consisting of Messrs. Bryan, Lillow, Kenmuir, and Cunningham, gave a delightful number, and Mr. Bryan was also heard in a pleasing solo. Mrs. C. H. Cunningham and Mrs. Harold Elliott were accompanists during the evening.

Experiments recently conducted at Johns Hopkins University revealed that rabbits lived 21.4 days on alcohol while those on water survived 17.5 days.

HEALTH BROKEN—LOST 66 LBS. NOW WELL, WON BACK 82 LBS.

Ottawa Merchant, Formerly City Officer Rundown By Kidney Trouble. Wasted From 201 To 135 Lbs. Tanlac Restored Robust Health; Now Weighs 217 Lbs. and Feels Fine.

Philias Sequin's grocery at 285 St. Patrick St. is well known in Ottawa. Mr. Sequin was formerly a police officer. When ill-health seized him he lost weight rapidly. "I had kidney trouble for 6 years," he tells, "and was given up as a hopeless case. Many times, from sheer weakness, I have fallen where I stood, and had to be helped to my feet.

"Pains racked my entire system, especially my back, which felt like splitting. Needless to say, I could neither eat nor sleep normally. Weaks spells and nervousness would leave me trembling all over. I faded away from 201 to 135 lbs., and tried endless treatments and remedies in these 6 years, without result.

"I had begun to despair, and when a friend advised Tanlac I was skeptical. But one month's regular use of this wonderful medicine convinced me that I was on the road to health. I kept on taking Tanlac and to my delight and surprise it made me a new man in a surprisingly short time. Now I weigh 217 lbs., eat and sleep like a healthy boy, and feel like a different man altogether."

If neglect or overwork are taking toll of your health, try Tanlac. It is nature's own tonic, made from roots, barks and herbs. Your druggist has it. Over 52 million bottles sold.

Two-Headed Snake Brought From Orient By Tourists

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., March 10. — Bringing first reports of the existence of a deadly two-headed snake, the terror of natives in the mountainous regions of the Province of Burma, India, Mr. and Mrs. Perry T. Wolfe of Fort Worth, Texas, arrived here yesterday from the Orient. With them they brought a specimen of the strange reptile.

The snake, known as the Sinpwemoie, has a head at each end of its body and, according to the Wolfes, can travel in either direction.

From three to five feet in length and thin of body, the reptile can hurl itself a distance of thrice its length and can bite with either head.

So deadly is the serpent, according to the Wolfes, that its bite is known to have ended the life of elephants within the space of half an hour. Human beings are killed almost instantly by it.

Wolfe, an oil driller for interests in Burma, explored the Burma wilds near Minbu, 500 miles inland, with Mrs. Wolfe and a party of other Americans. It was on this trip that they encountered and killed the Sinpwemoie. Natives, they said, shrunk in terror at sight of the reptile. It is impossible to tell in what direction it is going, to strike or with which head it is going to bite.

JAPANESE WELCOME ARMS CONFERENCE

TOKIO, Mar. 10 (Canadian Press) —Leading vernacular newspapers are virtually unanimous in welcoming the proposed three power conference of Great Britain, the United States and Japan for limitation of naval armaments not included in the Washington agreement. A Tokio despatch yesterday said the Japanese Government intended to accept the conference proposal made by the United States.

The millennium is surely at hand. Two opera singers are disputing as to which is the greater. John McCormack in England is having one of the most amiable pitched battles ever recorded with Edward Johnson, Canadian opera artist, in New York, as to which is the finest tenor in the world since Caruso's death. McCormack insists that the Canadian is pre-eminent.

15 TO BE HEARD.

The Federal Appeal Board, representing the Department of Justice, Ottawa, is holding a session at the City Hall to-day and to-morrow, hearing appeals of ex-service men against decisions of the Pension Board and D.S.C.R., refusing them recognition of alleged war disabilities. The board consists of Col. C. W. Belton, Col. J. H. Roy, and Captain C. W. E. Meath, and appellants are being represented by J. V. Conroy, district soldiers' advisor; Harry Bray, Soldiers' Aid Commission, and other counsel. The accompanying secretary is A. Bedingfield, and some fifteen appeals are being heard at this session of the board in Peterborough. The board leaves for Ottawa on Friday at noon.

HOME AND SCHOOL SOCIETY MEETING

Queen Mary Association Is Addressed By Rev. William McDonald.

The regular monthly meeting of the Queen Mary Home and School Association was held in the Kindergarten room on Tuesday evening. After the regular routine business had been concluded an interesting programme was given with an instrumental duet by the Misses McCannan, a reading by Miss Irene Cox, and a piano solo by Miss Lillico.

The speaker of the evening was the Rev. William McDonald, pastor of Knox church, who gave an interesting address on the Possibilities and Wealth of Northern Ontario. A hearty vote of thanks was passed to all those taking part in the programe.

VARICOSE VEINS REDUCED OR MONEY BACK SAYS BOND'S

This Simple Home Treatment Giving Amazing Results.

The world progresses. To-day ailments that took weeks to treat can now be ended in a few days. If you have varicose veins or bunches you can start to-day to bring them back to normal size, and if you are wise you will do so.

Just get an original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil at any dispensing pharmacist and apply it night and morning to the enlarged veins. It is very powerful and penetrating, and only a little is required.

After a few days' treatment the veins will begin to grow smaller and by regular use will soon reduce to normal.

Moone's Emerald Oil is also a marvelous healing agent.

One application for instance stops the itching of eczema, and a few applications cause the eruptions to dry up, scale off and completely disappear. It is equally as effective in barber's itch salt rheum, redness and inflammatory skin trouble.

People who want to reduce varicose veins, or get rid of eczema, ulcers, or piles in a few days should not hesitate to get a bottle at once. It is so powerful that a small bottle lasts a long time. Any pharmacy can supply you. For sale at Bond's Drug Store.

PEOPLE "ALL NERVES"

What To Do If You Find Yourself In This Condition.

The sort of things that specialists speak of as nervous debility in the run-down condition caused by overwork, household cares and worries. The sufferers find themselves tired, morose, low-spirited and unable to keep their minds on anything. Any sudden noise startles and sets the heart palpitating violently. The are full of groundless fears, and do not sleep well at night. The hands tremble and the legs feel as if they would give way, following a walk or any exertion. The whole condition of such people, may be described as pitiable.

Doctoring the nerves with poisonous sedatives is a terrible mistake. The only real nerve tonic is a good supply of new rich blood. Therefore the treatment for nervousness and run-down health is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which promptly build up and enrich the blood. The revived appetite, the strong nerves, improved spirits, and new strength which come after a course of these pills will delight every sufferer.

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

ORPHANAGE LIFE.

"They are noisy kids," little Billy said reprovingly, peeking around a protecting black skirt at the small boys who were playing marbles in the boys' room on the third floor of St. Vincent's Orphanage, one afternoon this week. Billy is a tiny three-year-old, with a tow head and blue eyes. He carries a "hanky" triumphantly pushed up one sleeve and pulls it out and uses it with flourishes whenever possible. He came lately from the House of Providence, where older people are housed, and at first he referred to the other little boys as the "old men." "The old men are putting on their boots," he would say in the mornings when his small companions were getting ready for school.

Billy, who is one of the smallest of the little boys who live at the Orphanage on top of the hill, is the beloved of tiny three-year-old Helen, who lives with the other little girls on the second floor of the big building. She adores him and wants him to come down to see her, but her excessive affection is not welcomed by the small man, and he pushes her away. This small Helen is a black-eyed baby, with the straight cut bobbed head that the other little girls wear, and she recited a "piece" for a visitor with many bashful downward looks. It was the little piece about "The Last Crust," the discarded bread edging that rose up in wrath and pursued a small child through dreaming night hours. Helen also mimics a "mama" doll, bending over at right ankles to say "Mama" in a squeaky falsetto.

There are fifteen small girls and twenty-six little boys, in ages ranging from three to fourteen years, now housed at St. Vincent's Orphanage. At the beginning of this week, there were forty-four children there. Some years ago, when the Orphanage at Cobourg was purchased, it was intended to house all the little girls there, but that institution now holds twenty-eight girls, and the local house must once again do double duty.

In the small dining-room downstairs where the children's meals are served, their tiny checked red and white napkins are placed beside each plate. In the girls' dormitory upstairs, spotless white spreads and pillows are on each small cot, and individual towels hang over the foot-railings. Warm-looking red comforters are on the boys' beds on the third floor, all arranged with extreme tidiness and precision. The children have their small duties in this house. The boys sweep and dust their quarters, each making his own bed, and there is a little prefect for each room, who takes pride in the good condition of the interior.

There are small people from many nationalities here, with a tiny Indian lad, several of Italian parentage, and a group of girls of Ruthenian blood.

Gleeful over the fortuitous headache of their teacher, which prevented the sufferer from giving them any home work that night, the boys assembled for the beloved games of marbles in their upstair room, which, with the bare boards that are encountered throughout the building, with its sparse but always clean furnishings, serve as a study room and play room alike for these stirring little lads. But they were ready enough, with smiling faces to sing, "Bottle Up the Sunshine for a Rainy Day," for the chance visitor, and one small, bright-eyed lad recited, "The Overworked Elocutionist," all about the poor child that tried to remember too many things all at once and got the "Curfew Bell" and the "Wreck of the Hesperus" all mixed up with the boy who stood on the burning deck. In the dormitory, a small victim of a cold looked gravely out from behind the rails of his tiny white bed.

Downstairs, with nice formal little opening and closing curtseys, the girls sang about "Good Saint Nicholas" and what he brings them for Christmas Day, and they recalled, with many cheerful smiles, sundry outings and treats they had been given during the year. They are a happy lot, these youngsters, growing up under kind and careful tuition, even the face of the little lame lad who sits so much lighting up over a funny section of a paper or the rusty strains of the overworked gramaphone that abides on the third floor.

WELCOME NEWS

WELCOME, March 10. — The general greeting these days is "It looks like spring." On Sunday immense flocks of crows arrived and gathered in the woods south of the school house and made the air resound with their noise.

Another flock of birds were seen in Welcome which resembled the grosbeak but could not be definitely placed.

Petty thieves broke into the home of Mr. Heron on Sunday, in the absence of the family. Considerable money, a watch, flash light and other articles were stolen.

Foot-prints were traced to the swamp south of the house. The police are investigating.

Rev. W. J. H. Smyth of Wellington and Rev. Dewey Stinson of Demorestville, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clare on Tuesday.

Mrs. Arthur Lewis spent Tuesday with friends in Newtonville.

The annual Sunday school meeting of the Morish church was held on Monday night and an efficient staff of workers appointed.

Rev. and Mrs. Clare motored to Colborne this week.

MISSIONARY TALKS AT W.M.S. SERVICES

Annual Thank Offering Service Held March 6th at Welcome.

WELCOME, March 10.—The Morish Women's Missionary Society held their annual Thank-offering Sunday services on Sunday, March 6th.

In the afternoon Mrs. (Rev.) Mears of Port Hope, gave an address on Christian Stewardship. Mrs. Mears is the Christian stewardship Secretary of the Cobourg Presbyterial, and was well versed in her subject.

She said the tithe was an old institution in heathen days and was the form of giving under the old dispensation.

She said salvation was free but organized religion was expensive and organization was necessary for progressive work.

Giving is part of the worship of God. The church is the bank for heaven and future happiness.

"Will ye rob God?"

Giving should not be from duty, but should be a pleasure. Duty should be translated into love.

Religious begging is out of the fashion.

Paul was a systematic giver; we should give until we feel it. W.M.S.'s main object was not alone to tithe funds, but our talents, time and spiritual life.

The opportunities to give are a challenge to faithfulness.

In the evening Mrs. (Rev.) Daley of Port Hope, who is the President of the Bay of Quinte Branch of the W.M.S. was the special speaker.

Mrs. Daley gave a review of the different foreign fields and gave the number of W.M.S. missionaries in each. In China, 83 missionaries are carrying on the evangelistic and educational work. In Japan, 40 missionaries; they do educational work and specialize on kindergarten work, also social service work and among the prisoners. In Korea there is great need for new buildings.

In India there are 34 missionaries in 10 centres. India is especially before the people this year on account of it being Jubilee year. Dr. Endicott and Dr. and Mr. Gunn have left for India to carry greetings from the United Church of Canada.

In Africa there are three mission stations and a school for girls.

The work among the women is especially difficult. The women are so sad-faced that they work to bring a smile to their faces. In Trinidad there are five missionaries in educational work.

Then there are the home missions in Canada, among the Indians, Japanese, Chinese, Italian.

She said there were three ways in which societies meet their allocations.

(1) To say, we can't, and not try;
(2) To try their best: even if they do not make it.
(3) To make an effort until they meet it.

She said the problem could best be met by systematic giving and by all the ladies of the church helping. At present only 200,000 women are members out of 600,000 members of the church. She urged for service and United prayer for the work.

The Morish choir, assisted by Miss Raybee, rendered splendid service in special music. A liberal thank-offering was received.

BUSINESS CHANGE.

Elmer and Reg. Brown Take Over Brown Hardware Store.

Two enterprising Peterborough boys have just taken the reins of management of a thriving business on Simcoe street. They are Elmer G. Brown and Reg. W. Brown, and they have taken on their own shoulders the business known as A. P. Brown and Co. The change was effective on March 1st and the store will now be run under the name, Browns' Hardware.

Both young men have practically grown up in the business, and are right at home with its every phase.

Their many friends will wish them all success, in their undertaking. Their announcement in this issue looks like the beginning of an aggressive policy.

PORT HOPE FINDS LIGHT BILLS HIGH

Increase In Many Cases Amount To Nearly 100 Per Cent.

PORT HOPE, March 10.—Under recent increases in rates for Hydro-Electric lighting and power made throughout the Central Ontario Hydro system, local householders are receiving bills for the past two months' service which are in many cases increased from 50 to 100 per cent. Power rates are now heavily increased although some local plants face 10 to 15 per cent increases. Street lighting rates have been raised from $11 per lamp to $14.

Strong protests have been made and the municipality will send a deputation to Toronto on March 16.

ALBERTA MINISTER

Hon. O. L. McPherson Has Farm Extending Over 2,400 Acres.

Honorable Oran L. McPherson, of Vulcan, Alberta, who came to Canada in 1907 from Kingman, Kansas, has been appointed Minister of Public Works for the Province of Alberta. Since 1921, when he was first elected to the Alberta Legislature on the Progressive or Farmers' Party ticket, he has been, up to the time of his recent appointment, Speaker of the Legislature. Soon after he came to Alberta Mr. McPherson began to identify himself in an active way with the United Farmers of Alberta, the largest and most influential of the farmers' organizations in the provinces.

When the Alberta Wheat Pool was formed in 1924, Mr. McPherson was elected a director. He continued to serve on the pool directorate until he took over his present position. Partly as a result of his own efforts he has seen the Alberta Wheat Pool membership grow to it present strength of over 30,000 farmers and the wheat pools of the three Prairie Provinces enroll a total membership of over 137,000.

His farm at Vulcan now extends over 2,400 acres and is estimated to be worth 75,000.

BIG LUMBER INDUSTRY

More than 50,000 men are engaged in lumbering operations in Quebec, and more than 4000 camps are being used to accommodate them, according to a report from the Provincial Department of Lands and Forests.

BIRDS ELIMINATE PESTS.

Without birds the country would be overrun with insect pests, in the opinion of many ornithologists and entomologists. Credit for eating obnoxious insects is also given to a number of other vertebrates, especially toads, lizards, shrews, moles, bats and skunks.

ANNUALS DISPLAY PERENNIAL BORDER

Group of African Marigolds Mixes Well With a Colony of Delphiniums.

Annuals are an essential in the perennial border. This may seem paradoxical, but if the border is to yield a fair display for the space occupied, annuals must be used to give bloom when the perennials have finished, as few of the latter have more than a month of bloom. The usual plan is to arrange colonies of annuals to mask a colony of perennials that has done its duty, such as a group of African marigolds to conceal the delphiniums, the marigolds coming along in July and being at their best in August when the delphiniums have been cut down.

Oriental poppies, which die down after blooming, leave a bare space. Seeds of Shirley poppies may be scattered for another flash of beautiful bloom in late summer. Spaces should be left between the colonies of perennials with a view to providing annuals or summer bulbs, such as gladiolus, to be inserted to furnish the border after the great flood of June bloom. Then, too, at the front of the border annuals that come into bloom quickly are needed to give color while waiting for the season of late bloomers, such as the phlox.

It will be obvious that the tallest plants must go to the back of the border, as most of our small yard borders are against a boundary fence and can be viewed from only one side. For this purpose the cosmos, annual sunflowers of the cucumber leaved type, not well enough known, the spider plant (cleome), the tall flowering tobacco, Nicotiana sylvestris; the tall African marigolds, the colossal zinnias and others are excellent materils.

Voice Of The People.

SOIL FACTORS AFFECTING PLANT GROWTH

To the Agriculture editor of The Examiner,

Dear Sir:—

In my recent letter I tried to impress a few thoughts on soil improvement and in this letter I wish to call attention to some soil factors affecting plant growth. It is self evident that a plant must have favorable conditions around it before it can grow to the fullest development. These conditions must be favorable, from the time the seed is planted to maturity. The life history of a plant is divided into four periods, viz,, the seed or dormant period, the germination period, the vegative or growing period and the fruiting period. The average farm plant passes through three of these periods in contact with the soil during which time it is subject to various conditions beyond the control of man. The dormant period is the time the seed is usually in the bag, bin or box, etc. Heat, light, temperature, dampness, insects and such things can all affect it at this period, but these all can be controlled by the use of average care and attention. It is at this dormant period that the harvest is truly in the bag, and when buying seeds every one should keep this thought clearly before him. Your are not just buying a bag of timothy seed, you are buying a crop of hay. Of course you've got to sow the seed first, but your whole harvest good or bad, is right there in that bag. You cannot harvest what you don't sow, and you certainly cannot harvest anything that is not already in the bag. And every time you buy seed, keep this in mind, it's the harvest in the bag that counts. That is why some seed costs more than others and is worth it. Get a high power microscope some time and examine closely samples of seed bargains that you sometimes see advertized or secure a sample of any ordinary grade and compare it with a sample of high grade grown scientifically and you will be surprised at what you find, and the kind of harvest some people are going to grow. The germination period is a very critical period and many poor crops are to be explained by the unfavorable conditions which prevailed during this time. Seeds frequently become moldy and fail to germinate when conditions are too unfavorable. Remember that when seed is planted in the soil it is placed in a medium just teaming with bacteria and fungi which will certainly kill it if it offers no resistance. At once the struggle for existance begins and here is where the breed plays an important part. Conditions must be fairly favorable if even the strongest and hardiest seeds are to send forth shoots. The weak seed has no chance at all, it simply delays. For best germination, seeds require a favorable moisture supply, sufficient oxygen favorable temperature and good tilth. Note that a germinating seed requires no plant-food elements from the soil or carbon dioxide from the air. It does not need them, since nature has surrounded the germ of the seed with a storehouse of food which is drawn on to nourish the seed, while its dormant life quickens. Water, oxygen and warmth are also just as essential in promoting life processes in a germinating seed as in animals, and just like some animals can tolerate lower temperatures than others, so it is with germinating seeds. Tilth is the physical condition of the soil, seedbed and influences in a large degree the supply of moisture and temperature conditions. It does not indicate a rich or poor soil. Good tilth is when the soil has a certain degree of mellowness and firmness favorable to seed germination and plant growth, and is of vital importance since it determines the ease which the planted seed secures moisture. Water, you know, is the only substance a germinating seed takes from the soil. It continues to absorb water from the time it is planted until it swells to its fullest extent and germinates. The factors which influence this rate of absorption are contact between seed and soil, amount of moisture in the soil, temperature, and salts. The better the contact the better the moisture supply which explains why a firm seed bed and rolling is so desirable Seeds cannot germinate in dry soil of course, and on the other hand too much water is not desirable either because it shuts out oxygen and creates unfavorable temperature conditions. Warmth favors and cold retards, absorption of water by seeds. When absorption is retarded, germination is also retarded. Many alkali soils will not permit germination of seeds at all. This explains why in rich soils like conditions some seeds will germinate much more slowly than in poor soils and sometimes a farmer completely kills his seed—corn for example, by using too much strong manure in the drills or hills. I remain,

W. H. MERRIL.

MANY VARIETIES OF EARLY CORN TO CHOOSE FROM

Old Kinds Are Still Popular Among the Gardeners Today.

PICKANINNY LEADS

Is Hardy and Matures in Less Than Seventy Days.

For many years the varieties of early garden corn were limited in number. In fact, Early Cory, Early Mayflower, and Malakoff were the leading sorts, and strange to say these varieties are still quite popular with many growers. Then Golden Bantam was added but was not early enough in maturing to supplant the early white sorts. These sorts all enjoyed the first place in the corn list until corn breeding methods were applied to the production of sorts that would mature earlier and yet possess sufficient good quality to meet the needs of at least the people living in regions where sweet corn could not be grown successfully, even when the earliest maturing of the older early sorts were used.

Fortunately, indeed, the efforts to produce earlier sorts have resulted in success, and there are to-day three varieties that have been proven by repeated tests to be earlier and of better quality than some of the older sorts.

Many of the seed houses are now handling in a commercial way two of these sorts, namely, Pickaninny, and Early Malcolm. Banting, a variety of more recent origin, has not as yet become so well known as the former two, but is being propagated extensively to meet the requirements, and it is hoped will be available this season.

Pickaninny.

This is a dwarf, hardy, prolific, early-maturing variety found to mature for green corn under Ottawa conditions in less than seventy days. The ears are about five inches in length, principally eight-rowed, with kernels that are broad, deep, tender and very sweet. When ready for use the kernels are white with a slight purplish tinge which increases in density until complete maturity is reached when the color is dark purple.

Early Malcolm.

This is an intermediate grower developing to a height of about five and a half feet, and maturing for green corn in less than ninety days. The ears average about six inches in length, are twelve rowed and produce tender, broad, deep, white, sweet kernels. This variety is far superior in quality to any of the early white sorts, besides being earlier in maturing.

Banting.

Banting is a dwarf hybrid corn, very much like Pickaninny in habit, but producing ears like Golden Bantam. This variety has been found to be ready for use as green corn in less than seventy days. From all indications this promises to be a very valuable corn on account of possessing earliness and producing rich golden colored kernels of exceedingly good quality.

STUDY OF SOIL

Successful Gardener Makes Thorough Diagnosis of His Garden Soil.

Fertilizing and soil study is now an elemental problem in the making of the home garden. The successful gardener makes it his business, first of all, to get a diagnosis of his soil. He can tell general characteristics as to heaviness, lightness, presence of too much clay, lack of drainage, and other obvious features, by casual inspection. What he cannot tell is the chemical elements necessary to vegetable growth that are lacking in the soil. He cannot tell without a test as to whether it is acid and sour or alkaline and sweet.

Simple devices make this now a simple test, and the first thing a good gardener wants to know and finds out is whether he needs to apply lime. After that the rest of the fertilizing is a simple matter. He knows that the ideal all-around fertilizer, which furnishes plant food and helps the texture of the soil, is well-rotted stable manure. He also knows that this is now a luxury for the ordinary gardener, and hard to get at any price.

He must depend for the most part on synthetic manures and commercial fertilizers. The latter do not add anything in the way of texture to the soil. This is provided by humus, decayed vegetable matter. This must be produced at home or bought from dealers who specialize in providing it. A supply of fertilizers should be the first item to be considered in making out the spring order.

When planning the cropping system for the coming year, remember that legumes, such as alfalfa and the clovers, reduce the need of protein-rich concentrates and thereby save money for the dairyman.

Dairymen should investigate the advantages of buying an Advanced Registry sire when looking for a bull. Advanced Registration in the dairy breeds has removed a lot of the uncertainty in herd sires.

12 HERDS OF CATTLE WERE ENTERED IN NORWOOD MILK-TESTING CONTEST

The Average Production Per Cow for Cheese Factory Season of Six Months Was Slightly Over 4,000 Pounds.

The importance of increasing the average production per cow can not be too strongly or too often emphasized. In increasing production per cow there are two main facts to be considered, quantity and quality of milk. A large quantity of milk per cow is of great importance but to-day, with the prices paid in the whole milk trade, and also in the cheese factories, depending on the test, quality is therefore of considerable importance. It was found that in this district in 1925 the average production per cow for the cheese factory season of six months was slightly under 4000 lbs and this was a fair average for Ontario.

A cow testing association under the plan announced by the Ontario Department of Agriculture in February 1926 was organized at Norwood and began operations on May 1st. Each member of this Association agreed to purchase the necessary equipment for weighing his milk and taking the samples. This included scales, bottles, box and dipper. He also agreed to weigh each cow's milk three times a month and also take a sample at the same time. A nominal fee of 50 cents per cow was made to help finance the work. There were 12 herds in the work, making a total of 100 cows.

The following are the results obtained:

	No. Cows	Lbs. Milk	Average Test	Pounds Butter Fat

BOYS' CLASS HEARS ABOUT APPLE SCAB

Spores Remain in Sac-Like Receptacles During Winter.

FRUIT DISEASES.

Railroad Worm One of the Latest Pests in the Apple Orchard.

On Tuesday last Mr. Crews, of Brighton, gave a most illuminating talk to the boys' class of the Short Agricultural Course in Fruit and Vegetables, and their diseases and how to combat them.

Speaking of the apple scab, he stated that it is carried over from year to year in the fallen leaves with the spores in a sac-like receptacle somewhat like a pea-pod. A heavy rain of eight or nine hours or an all day's rain makes the spores swell in the sac or pod, and the wind carries them far and wide. These spores are so minute that there is room for about 10,000 of them on the head of a pin. These, carried by the wind to the trees, start new growth on the new leaves.

Spraying is the best remedy, and this should be done before the spores have a chance to light on the leaves. This spray will last for ten days, or possibly two weeks, and will control the apple scab about that long. Lime and sulphur should be used for this, with one gallon of lime sulphur to thirty gallons of water. Under favorable weather conditions, it is not necessary to spray again until the blossoms show pink. You can't spray when the blossom opens on account of the bees. If the season is late and wet it may be necessary to put on a supplemental spray before the pink spray, using one gallon lime sulphur to every thirty-five gallons of water, and two pounds arsenate of lead to every forty gallons of water. If arsenate of lime is used instead of lead, use two and a half pounds. If it is absolutely necessary to spray while the blossoms are out, use lime sulphur alone, as it is against the law to use the poisonous lead that would kill the bees.

After the blossoms have fallen comes the calyx spray, which should be put on before the calyx is closed; for this use one gallon lime sulphur to 35 or 40 gallons of water and 2½ pounds arsenate of lead to each forty gallons water. This will kill the codling moth which enters the apple through the calyx end. There is the side worm which enters the apple at the side and appears sometime between the first and last codling moths. Many growers only put on three sprays, but, if the season is a wet one, a spray of one gallon lime sulphur to forty gallons of water should be put on in mid-June.

The railroad worm is bothering the grower at present. It is particularly noticeable in the Talman Sweet and Snow. The egg is laid just inside the skin of the apple. A spray of arsenate of lead about July 12-15 controls this pest.

Cherries and plums do not require as much spraying as apples. Lime-sulphur sprays control the pests of these fruits. Arsenate of lead is used principally in Ontario in spraying. Arsenate of lime is just as effective, but when it was produced for use it was found necessary to add hydrated lime to every forty gallons and there were so many impurities that it was found that it choked the hose of the sprayers, so it was dropped, but a new firm is advertising an improved brand which sells at about eleven cents a pound, whereas arsenate of lead costs 20 cents.

Some growers have dusted their trees, preferring it to spraying, but it is much more expensive. When thoroughly done, it is quite as effective. The American growers were strong on dusting until the last few years, when they have gone back to spraying, using power sprayers.

Regarding raspberries, the two standard varieties are the Cuthbert and the Marlborough. There is a new variety, the Viking, which promises to be one of the best. The Hubert is a hardy prolific berry but is inclined to be soft and not suitable for shipping.

The mosaic is a disease which has spread through the province among berries and is noticeable because the infected leaves are small and curl up and have mottled spots. No spray can control this and the only remedy is to tear out the infected bushes and burn them. The disease is spread by insects.

For the Columbia, or blue berry, new bushes are produced by layering, lay the bushes on the ground and covering with earth, the upper ends will take root and, when the stalk is cut, there are the two bushes. There is a disease which infects the leaves similar, in some ways, to mosaic, but there is no mottling, only on very small leaves. This can be dealt with by use of Black Leaf 40, with full directions for use on the can.

Nicotine and sulphate will control aphis. Three years ago the aphis did considerable damage to the apple crop.

Strawberry plants (new ones) should be set out in the spring or summer. It is very important to get the land in good shape before setting out plants. White grubs are found in clover soil.

Worms in gooseberries can be prevented by use of arsenate of lead, but if used the berries must be washed. In picking time use helabore.

Asked if staking tomatoes was a good thing, the speaker said that one got a better quality of tomatoes by doing so and a cleaner variety. One grower in the Niagara district stakes half an acre for the early market. It is a great deal of extra work and not many commercial growers do it. Tomatoes in a field are set three feet apart. In a garden they are planted closer. Favorite kinds with the canners are the John Bear, Bonny Best, and Early Jewel; a new variety, the Canadian, promises well.

In spite of objections the producer may raise to health regulations, the trade in milk and milk products will demand and get clean goods. The producing end of the dairy industry might as well recognize this fact and prepare for the inevitable.

BETTER TYPE OF HOGS BEING RAISED BY PETERBORO AND VICTORIA FARMERS

Local Canadian Packing Company Plant Received Some Fine Car-Lots of Hogs During the Past Week From County Shippers.

During the past week the Counties of Peterborough and Victoria shipped to the local packing company some extra good loads of hogs. These carlots are the results of improved breeding, feeding and marketing, but particularly breeding, for during the past year or two a number of good sires were placed in these counties, and the results are no doubt becoming evident, for a glance at the following grades is certainly evidence that improvement is taking place and that the farmers are trying to produce what the present markets demand.

From Penelon Falls	50	hogs,	33	selects,	1	heavy,	1	shop, 15 thick smooth

There were very few out-weight hogs in these loads, viz., shops and heavies, which goes to prove that the farmers are becoming good judges as to when their hogs are ready to market.

FARM PRODUCE FOR DISTRICT IS WORTH MILLIONS

Average Wheat Yield for 1925 Was 30 Bushels to Acre.

VALUED AT $517,000

Two Hundred and Thirty Thousand Bushels of Barley Were Harvested.

One does not need to be a thought-reader to be able to give an estimate of the reaction of the Peterborough farmer towards Henry Ford's recent criticism of the agricultural worker as one who does not work hard enough. The perusal of the accomplishments of the modern farmer of this country is in itself an effectual counterblast to the censure of the automobile "croesus."

Less than a century ago, the agricultural lands of this country were literally worth nothing. To-day, largely as the result of the labors of men and women, who came to this country destitute of worldly goods, possessing only undaunted hearts and a vision of a great fortune, the farms of this country are assessed at a total valuation of 14 million dollars; erected on them are buildings worth seven million dollars, housing livestock, produce, and implements representing 36 million dollars—the sum total reaching the figure of 57 million dollars, which is worthy of attention, even from a billionaire.

Taking, as the average, the year 1925—the latest for which complete Provincial agricultural statistics are available—we find that Peterborough farmers raise annually 389,000 bushels of fall wheat, worth $517,000, from 12,900 acres—the average yield being 30 bushels to the acre. A much smaller acreage was sown in spring wheat, 99,000 bushels were raised, with an average yield of 20 bushels per acre—the total value being $126,000. Fifty-six thousand acres sown in oats yielded two million bushels, making the average crop 38.5 bushels per acre, and enriching the growers to the extent of close on a million dollars. From seven thousand acres, 230 thousand bushels of barley were harvested, representing in cash value of $154,000, the average yield per acre being 32.4 bushels. Peas were grown on 3,400 acres, and 66 thousand bushels were gathered worth 92 thousand dollars and representing an average return of 19.5 bushels per acre.

Very little attention appears to be paid to the cultivation of beans within Peterborough County. In 1925 only 68 acres were given over to this crop, of which 1,020 bushels were garnered. The average yield of rye is 19.5 bushels per acre. Three thousand acres were sown in this crop and 58 thousand bushels were reaped to be sold for $51,000.

Seventy-nine thousand dollars' worth of buckwheat—109 thousand bushels were grown on five thousand acres. The average yield was 19.4 bushels an acre. Eight hundred acres were devoted to the raising of corn for husking. Corn for the silo was grown on 6,400 acres, which produced 65,000 tons—10.23 tons an acre—valued at $276,000. Peterborough potatoes were grown on 2,400 acres. There were 202,000 bushels of them—84.7 bushels to the acre—worth $306,000.

Sugar-beet cultivation was limited to 17 acres, from which 3,400 bushels were raised, worth $612—not a bad return from such a small patch. Nearly one and a half million bushels of turnips—401 bushels to the acre—and worth quarter of a million dollars, were raised from 3,300 acres. Six thousand, five hundred tons of alfalfa were drawn in from 2,300 acres—2.44 tons per acre, and worth $80,915, while Peterborough farmers piled on their wagons 100,000 tons of hay and clover grown on 56,000 acres—which shows the average to be 1.75 per acre. The value of this hay and clover crop was $1,087,529.

PROCESSED EGGS MUST BE MARKED

Impossible Now to Treat Storage Stocks and Sell as Fresh.

Processed eggs from the United States, which have been selling in that country as fresh, and which were offered in Canada under the same guise, will in future offer no competition to Canadian producers. Officers of the egg inspection service of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa have been able to detect these eggs which, following processing, are placed through a sand-blasting operation, and, as a result, they are now required to be marked "processed" when offered for sale here. The detection of these eggs by egg inspectors has resulted in one Canadian importer, refusing to accept delivery of a car of eggs which he had bought as fresh and in several others re-routing cars in transit which came from the same source. One Canadian importer, who had bought these eggs as fresh, insisted on and received a reduced price when they were discovered to be processed.

Carefully Disguised.

The method by which these eggs are handled makes their detection very difficult. At the point of production they are placed through a process of dipping in oil which, according to the Canadian egg regulations, required them to be classified as "processed" eggs when sold in this country. At this stage of the process the eggs can be identified very easily by a metallic sound when tapped together, and by an oily touch on the surface of the shell. The eggs are sent in this state to Chicago, where they may be held in storage, and just previous to selling are passed through a sand, blasting operation. Here the eggs are placed on an endless belt, and pass under a machine from which fine streams of sand spray over them. This operation removes the oily coating from the surface, does away from the metallic sound and restores a natural bloom to the shell. To all appearances the eggs are as if they had come direct from the farm.

Caught at Montreal.

A recent shipment of fresh eggs to Montreal attracted the attention of the egg inspectors at that centre, some of the eggs having characteristics which suggested "processing." When the ability of the inspectors to determine that class of egg was questioned, the car was held on the track while a sample was taken and the eggs, submitted to chemical analysis. This analysis sustained the suspicions of the inspectors, a thin film of oil being found between the shell and the inner membrane. The eggs were accordingly required to be marked "processed" as a protection to Canadian producers and consumers.

Planning For Spring

Although winter still "lingers in the lap of spring" it is not too early to start plans for the garden that one has dreamed of during the winter months. Experience is not necessary, for there is really no mystery about growing flowers and vegetables. With a little planning, some healthy exercise and a small outlay of cash, the ordinary backyard of weeds and spindly grass-flanked by unsightly fences and leading up to a garage or chicken house may be changed into something upon which the eye will delight to dwell. Those beautiful vistas of broad lawn sweeping up to an informal bed of flowers, or those prim rows of green topped vegetables are not hard to obtain. Given a seed catalogue, a spade, and a bit of vision, anything in the garden line is possible.

Planning the Garden.

One can put in a garden without a plan, but the results are apt to be disappointing. It is advisable to take an evening off this week and lay out the vegetable plot on paper. Even if the backyard is only a matter of a few feet each way, it is surprising the amount of crisp vegetables which may be grown, particularly if one uses a little care in laying out. Of course where space is less limited, a full year's supply may be grown easily. Where the garden is large enough to permit horse cultivation, the job is a simple one. Make all rows thirty inches apart, except those for some of the taller or more spreading sorts such as corn, tomatoes or cucumbers, which should have a full yard between. When it is not possible to use a horse, carrots, beets and such can be cut down to twelve inches and beans and peas to fifteen or eighteen. This, of course is rather narrow. It is a good plan to have alternate rows of quick maturing stuff like lettuce, spinach, or radishes, which will be used before the rows of later maturing vegetables spread out. In order to get the most of the sunlight, run the rows north and south. To conserve space, stake tomatoes and have all climbing vegetables next the fence. It is advisable to grow the flowers for cutting in with the vegetables as these plants are seldom allowed to reach the ornemental stage. Many of them, such as sweet peas are not attractive and do best under regular vegetable garden conditions. A few showy annuals such as poppies, zinnias, and perhaps a few cosmos in the corners or at the end of the rows will not be wasted here as they add a touch of color to the otherwise solid green.

Laying Out the Flowers.

Little planning is necessary in laying out the annual flower garden. Here straight rows, so desirable in the vegetable patch, must be avoided at all costs. The most attractive lay-out is the informal one. This, however, does not mean a jumbled mass. Best results are obtained by grouping several specimens of one type and color in clumps, with the shorter stuff such as alyssum and ageratum at the front, zinnias, marigolds, asters and a score of other medium sized sorts farther back, and along the rear the cosmos, dahlias, and similar plants. Another point to remember in planning the annual flower garden is that a succession of bloom is most essential. A good flower garden should make a show from early June until frost. California poppies and cornflowers or bachelor's buttons may be counted on for early bloom, and these, along with the annual larkspur and cosmos may be sown on the late snow. Calendulas, candytuff and coreopsis, which also can be planted early, will start blooming in early summer. Nasturtiums and marigolds, if the flowers are kept picked off, will be covered with bloom throughout most of the season. Zinnias, salpiglossis, verbena, scabious, cosmos and petunias will supply plenty of late summer and fall bloom.

Keep Plants Covered.

This is the hardest season of the year on perennial plants. Just now when the sun is mounting higher and becoming warmer, climbers and shrubbery on the south side of the house particularly are liable to start bringing sap up from the roots. After sundown there is an abrupt drop in temperature, and this sap may freeze and burst the tiny cells inside the stems. This damage is not noticed until later on when but weakly sprouts are sent out or perhaps none at all. On the shady side of the house there is less danger but it is well in every case to make sure that roses, ivy, and shrubbery are well covered around the roots. The perennial border too, may need some attention in this connection. Straw, old flower stocks, leaves, and snow make the best cover.

Order seeds early if you want to be sure of getting the best varieties.

It is time to look over cold frame and hot bed sashes to make sure that all the glass is in good shape.

Pick out a few novelties in both flowers and vegetables, but let the proved varieties be the main crops.

Seed labels, stakes, and trellis work may be prepared now.

Look up last year's garden plan and study it for improvements.

LARGE COLONIES VALUABLE ASSET IN MAKING HONEY

Good Queen Lays Average of 2,000 Eggs Per Day in Spring.

The value of a colony of bees is usually judged by the amount of surplus honey it produces. There are, however, a number of factors that are all important in the production of a crop of honey, some of which can only be brought about by the skill of the beekeeper while the others are entirely beyond his control. One of the most important of these factors is that the colony shall have at the commencement of the honey flow as large a force of field bees as it is possible to get. All other conditions may be ideal for the secretion and ingathering of nectar, but unless there is a strong force of bees of the right age and at the right time, it is impossible for the colony to store surplus honey. In every colony there is a certain amount of routine work that must be done, no matter whether there is a crop of nectar ready to be gathered or not. This work consists of feeding and caring for the brood, wax building, etc.; and the amount of surplus honey stored by the colony will be in direct proportion to the number of bees there are over and above those required to do this routine work.

This extra force of field bees is all spring and early summer, just prior reared during the six or eight weeks of to the main honey flow, but the preparations for procuring them must be begun approximately ten and a half months before the flow. In the first place, the colony must be headed with a prolific queen throughout the months of August and September, so that it may be strong in young bees for the winter. There must be a strong force of bees when the colony is packed away in the winter quarters because it is impossible to bring out more in the spring than are put away for winter. During the winter the bees must have an abundance of wholesome stores and adequate protection from the cold, so that there will be no waste of energy during the winter months. To produce the field bees for the harvest the colonies must be numerically strong in the spring and the bees themselves must be comparatively young. Bees that are old when going into winter quarters will either perish during the winter or be so weakened that they will die in the spring faster than young bees can take their places; this is known as "spring dwindling." The same holds true of weak colonies, or colonies that are improperly fed or protected; the bees wear themselves out with useless activity during the winter months and are old when spring brood production starts. The strength of the colony in the spring then depends on the care given during the previous autumn and winter and no spring management can completely rectify any mistake made during those two periods.

Why is it so important that the colony be strong in the spring? Because it is during this period of the year that the greatest amount of brood must be reared in order to furnish a force of field bees of the right age and at the right time for the harvest. The queen is responsible for the production of the eggs but it is the bees that are responsible for the care of the brood,—they must feed and care for it to maturity. During the spring and early summer a good queen will lay an average of nearly 2,000 eggs per day and, as it takes 21 days from the egg to the mature bee, there will be approximately 42,000 cells occupied with eggs and brood at one time. This reduced to the most compact area of comb space would require about eight combs which must be covered with bees. During the spring the weather is very changeable and the temperature often drops to freezing point. During such periods the bees cluster very closely to keep up the temperature of the colony. Should the queen of the colony be a prolific one and laying to her full capacity, but the colony weak so that there are not enough bees to cover all the brood during one of these cold snaps, it means that all the brood outside of the cluster will become chilled and die. This condition may occur several times before warm, settled weather is assured, and every killing means a smaller working force when the harvest is ready. Again it often happens that a good queen in a weak colony may, instead of expanding her brood nest beyond the capacity of the bees to cover it, deposit several eggs in each cell, only one of which will develop. Every wasted egg is one worker less for the harvest. Weak colonies cannot be expected to yield as high returns as strong colonies, therefore, it is advisable for the beekeeper to either unite all the weak colonies in the spring or reinforce them with package bees. Weak colonies in the spring also give the most trouble during the swarming season. They usually build themselves in with honey from the early sources, thus reducing the size of the brood nest. In such a condition they fail to expand normally and soon have a feeling of strength and prosperity which leads them to make early attempts at swarming. Strong colonies break through these early honey barriers and expand their brood nest to one or more brood chambers and thus give far less trouble through swarming.

The cost of producing milk can not be reduced to any definite figure; it depends on the yield of crops on the farm and the yield per cow. On two farms, lying side by side, there might be a difference of 50 cents per cwt. in the cost of milk production. Farm and herd management are the deciding factors.

St. Peter's Captures City Junior Hockey Championship

PETER'S DEFEAT ST. JOHN'S OR JUNIOR CITY HOCKEY HONORS

Loss Church League Champions Have Suffered This Season.

SCORE 3-2.

Teams Play Close Game on Rough and Sticky Ice.

In a very close game of hockey on rough and sticky ice St. Peter's defeated St. John's last night and won the junior city hockey championship, the final score being 3 goal to 2.

It was the first loss the junior city church league champions have suffered this season in 13 starts. The St. Peter's team was composed of four junior O.H.A. players, and with this line up they showed more finish on the ice. The game was very close throughout with the losers getting the most shots, but only to be beaten by Mein, who turned in one of his best games of the season. It was a fine exhibition of individual hockey as the condition of the ice did not permit combination.

Both teams checked very ha and fourteen pe... were handed out by Referee Bert McLeod. The play was fairly even in the first period; in the second St. Peter's had the edge and in the final stage saw a rally on the part of the Anglicans which, only for the good goalkeeping of Mein, would have given them the win.

Kenneally and Jones teamed well together for the winners and these boys gave some splendid exhibitions of fast skating. Jarvis was the most dangerous man on the St. John's team as he packs a driving shot and is a fast skater. Johnston, who scored the second goal for St. John's, gave some fine exhibitions of stickhandling. St. John's covered up around the mouth of the net well, robbing the winners of some nice goals, but they lacked the finish and team play to score goals when they were needed.

The play broke fast with Kenneally scoring the first goal for St. Peter's when Johnston was in the penalty box. In this period seven penalties were handed out, four of them going to St. John's. In the second period Teo LeBarr was robbed of a nice goal after stickhandling the puck up the ice and through the St. John's defence. Sowden threw his stick just as he was going to shoot. Hall scored the goal which tied the game when each side had a man in the penalty box. Carrol scored the second goal for St. Peter's when they were one man short on the ice. In the third Kenneally opened the scoring from the face off and a few minutes later Johnston scored the second goal for St. John's. In the remaining part of the period St. John's carried the play right into St. Peter's territory, but although they had many shots on the goal they were not able to score.

The line up:

St. Peter's—Mein, goal; LeBarr and Carrol, defence; Wolfe, centre; Kenneally and Jones, wings; Archambault and Meagher, subs.

St. John's—Hutchinson, goal; Sowden and Johnston, defence; Hartley, center; Jarvis and Hall, wings; Hewitt, Woodgate and Dorrington, subs.

Penalties—St. Peter's: LeBarr 2, White, Wolfe, Jones 2, Archambault and Kenneally—8. St. John's: Hartley 2, Johnston, Jarvis 2, and Hall—6.

Goals:

St. Peter's: Kenneally 2, and Carrol—3.

St. John's: Hall and Johnston—2.

Referee—Bert McLeod.

ST. GODDARD LEADS PRINCE ALBERT RUN

Breaks All Previous Records On First Day of Heat.

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., March 10 (Canadian Press). — Emile St. Goddard, youthful musher from The Pas, Man., jumped into the lead again yesterday in the Prince Albert dog derby, which started on Tuesday and finishes to-day. At the end of the first ten miles he was thirty seconds ahead of Harry Olensky, who was in second place. Leo St. Goddard, Emile's brother, was holding third position.

With a sharp west wind blowing over the course and the temperature standing at 10 above zero, the track was much slower yesterday and the drivers were not forcing their teams. It was officially announced yesterday that Emile St. Goddard's time in the first heat of the 160-mile derby Tuesday—forty miles in three hours 52 minutes and 30 seconds—beat all previous records over the route by twelve minutes.

Second Day's Race

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., March 10 (Canadian Press)—Harry Olensky of Prince Albert won yesterday's leg of the 160 mile dog derby, completing the 40-mile grind in 4 hours, 1 minute, 44 seconds. Emile St. Goddard of The Pas, Man., was second in 4:13:47. The other entrants were trailing far in the rear.

The two leaders had considerable difficulty with their dogs yesterday, and both crossed the finishing line carrying one dog on their sleigh.

The huskies at the end of the race were near exhaustion and their feet bleeding, the recent thaw having made the course rough and treacherous. Three times St. Goddard's dogs bolted into the crowd and he had considerable difficulty untangling them.

You'd Be SURPRISED!

BY BILLY EVANS

The career of Bobby Jones, most famous of all amateur golfers, fairly teems with remarkable performances.

Asking him to name the most unusual golfing feat of his meteoric career, for that reason, makes it a most difficult question to answer.

Last winter when Jones was meeting Walter Hagen in a special match in Florida, I heard Bobby tell of an extraordinary round that he played over the East Lake course at Atlanta, Ga., which to any one but Jones would be the last word in golfing.

The exhibition match was played about five years ago, even before Jones had reached the position he now holds of "champion of champions," because of his many victories in major golf events.

All Jones did that afternoon was play the East Lake course, one of the sportiest in the south, in 63. When you consider the course is 6,570 yards long and is a par 72, the uncanny play of Jones is at once apparent.

In compiling his record-breaking 63, Jones had nine birdies and nine holes in par. Here is how Jones modestly explained what is generally regarded as one of the greatest golfing feats of all time.

"Never played an easier round. Everything broke for me. Not until the last hole did I begin to fret. It was getting dark as I teed off and I feared something might go wrong with that shot. It didn't.

"I was simply on my game and mighty lucky. You have to be to get a 63 on a par 72 course."

OLDEST PENSIONER DIES

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Death took No. 1 from the federal pension rolls when Mrs. Mahala Huff, 108, died recently near Louisa, Ky. She was one of 17 surviving widows of veterans of the War of 1812 and was the oldest pensioner of all.

SEATTLE, Wash., March 10.—Steps are being taken by the board of health here to compel pulp and paper mills to purify their acidulous waste before dumping it into waters of the sound. It was found that the chemicals were rapidly destroying valuable oyster beds in the vicinity.

PETERBOROUGH "Y" JUNIORS LOSE TO KINGSTON ON ROUND

Unable To Overcome 17 Point Lead From First Game.

WIN SECOND GAME.

Victors Will Represent Eastern Ontario in O.B.A. Play-offs.

Fighting desperately to overcome a 17-point lead, a legacy from last week's game in Kingston, the Peterboro Y.M.C.A. Junior basketball team defeated the fast Kingston Collegiate Institute aggregation by a score of 27-20 at the local Y. last night, thus losing the round by 10 points. As a result of winning the round Kingston will represent Eastern Ontario in Toronto in the O.B.A. playoffs.

The local boys, who last week appeared to be suffering from stage fright, proved superior to the Kingston team and if the time allowance had been longer there is no doubt but they would have overcome the lead and emerged victors of the round.

Kingston roused the ire of the Peterborough fans by their continued stalling for time. Every time the ball went to their end a man would seize it and hold it tempting a Peterborough man to approach. The locals each checking a man were loath to go up with the result that valuable minutes were lost.

The game started at a furious pace which kept up for the entire session, the locals obtaining the edge when McLeish scored the first basket shortly after the start. The game see sawed from end t end, the spectators getting thrill after thrill as many of the shots grazed the basket. Kingston obtained a lead which they held until a few second before the end of the first half when Dormer put the locals one point ahead with a beautiful shot. The first half ended with the score 12-11 in favor of the locals.

The second half started in ding dong fashion, the Petes putting every effort into the game. Some splendid combination plays were witnessed, the Petes working a smooth bouncing pass that fooled the visitors time after time. McLeish and Dormer were always prominent, several of their baskets being feature shots. Hardill the strong man of the team proved a tower of strength, smothering the opposition in effective style when they came down to shoot.

The Petes obtained a lead of three points which Kingston reduced to one in quick fashion only to have the locals pile into the scoring column again, scoring two in quick succession.

The line up was as follows:

Kingston—Buck, Smith, McMahon, Elliott, Drew, Thompson, Pollock; subs, Connolly and Waugh.

Peterborough— Hamilton, Dormer, Johnston, McLeish, Hardill, Mitchell, Goheen, Redfern; subs Copping and Ruth.

Referee—A. McLeish.

All Stars vs Y.W. Seniors.

The preliminary game between the All Stars and the Y.W.C.A. Seniors developed into a sparkling exhibition, the smart playing of the teams drawing many favorable comments from the fans. Miss Gimblett and Miss Graahm for the Y were always prominent. Miss Langton and Miss Forrester starred for the losers. The Y seniors came out winners by a score of 23-13.

The line up was:

All Star Team—Violet Langton, Dorothy Mortimer, Myrtle Bradley, Lilly Slaughter, Edna Forrester, Sybil Ecobichon.

VICTORY MEANS PLAY-OFF BERTH

Canadiens To Play Toronto Maple Leafs at Montreal To-night.

SECOND PLACE.

MONTREAL, March 10 (Canadian Press).—Victory here to-night for the Canadiens over the Toronto Maple Leafs at the Forum will clinch a play-off berth for the local club and will leave them in a position where the worst that can possibly happen would be a tie for second place in the race, provided they lost all their remaining games and either Americans or Maroons took all their final fixtures.

Canadiens will enter the tilt conceded a big edge in the odds. In their victory over the Maroons Tuesday night, the Canucks were forced to championship hockey to down the titleholders at their best and, if anyting near the same form tonight should clinch their play-off post.

With Canadiens as good as second place winners in the Canadian group, chief interest for Montrealers will centre in the game at Ottawa, where the Maroons meet the Senators.

A win will put the Montrealers in a much more comfortable position in third place than they at present hold, with the New York Americans but two games behind them and with a game less played.

VARSITY GRADS PLAY TIE GAME

St. Francois Nationals Surprise O.H.A. Champs—Intercollegiate Team Wins.

BEATS OTTAWA.

MONTREAL, March 10. — St. Francois-Nationals, Quebec amateur hockey champions, and Varsity Grads, Ontario titleholders, battled to a one-all deadlock here last night in the first game of the home-and-home series in the Allan Cup playdowns. The second match will take place at Toronto on Friday.

Four thousand people packed the Mount Royal Arena to witness the game. They saw the team that has battled through four games in as many days, and five in the last six, fight with a spirit and dash that disarmed the Ontario titleholders, and enabled them to match attacks with the Grads and which carried them through to the tying goal in the third period.

The result of the one-goal deadlock is that the Saints will go to Toronto after a day's rest to meet the Grads on level ground in the final tilt of the series to-morrow, instead of facing the deficit that it was freely predicted they would have. Doubtless the Grads were taken aback by the speed of the Frenchmen after what they had been through, but the fact remains that Grads got the first goal and it was the Saints who rallied to knot the count.

Thrilling rushes, uncanny stickhandling, dazzling speed, goals missed by hear-breadths, all were repeated time and again, and despite the furious character of the play and the importance of the issue, Referee Cooper Smeaton inflicted but a single penalty, and that for a minor infraction.

VARSITY BEATS OTTAWA.

TORONTO, March 10. — Varsity intercollegiates defeated New Edinburghs, champions of the Ottawa District Hockey Association, 3 to 1, in the first game in the Allan Cup eastern semi-final series at the Arena Gardens last night, and will carry a two-goal lead to Ottawa to-morrow night for the return fixture. The Students had speed and condition on their opponents, and their close checking was too much for the Burghs' attack. The Collegians' play improved as the game went along, and in the last period they had the tiring Ottawa team backed into their own defensive area the greater part of the time. By actual account, Jack Dunn's men had two real shots on goal, and they were from a distance out.

Varsity, on their opportunities, should have a greater lead to work on in the return game. In the first period Richards went through alone, but Beveridge made one of his many sensational stops. Whitehead and Harley were outlucked in the second frame, and in the third King batted one at the net, only to have Beveridge kick the puck out, and a minute later Whitehead and Kirkpatrick combined through the defence only to waste the opportunity; King also missed the rebound.

The Blue men did drive the puck into the net on two occasions, but both times it was called back for offside. The Burghs' chances were not helped any in the final session, when Harry O'Neill and Ted Reid drew penalties. Just before Reid was jugged Whitehead, who drew the applause of the crowd every time he started a charge on goal, went through the centre and snapped a shot that hit the post. The rubber did not raise more than six inches off the ice.

A Public Question

The Examiner, interested, as always, in the civic welfare, and eager to serve the public good, feels itself justified in offering the people of Peterborough an opportunity to express themselves on the issue raised by R. R. Hall, K.C.

There is no doubt but that the operation of the street railway and the other utilities are vital questions to every citizen, and by ascertaining the public mind on this matter, The Examiner believes that it will be rendering a public service.

Citizens are requested to signify on the appended form their opinion as to whether a public meeting should be held, at which they will have an opportunity to discuss these vital matters. The forms can be mailed, or dropped in The Examiner letter-box, addressed to "The Editor, The Examiner."

To the Editor of The Examiner;

I am in favor of a public meeting at which citizens can discuss ways in which to keep the street railway running, to reduce the gas prices, to reduce power prices, and to assure the city of a supply of power that will keep pace with industrial development.

OLD RIVALS TO MEET TO-MORROW

Raybestos and De Laval Teams To Play For City Honours.

A fast article of hockey should be provided at Brock street rink tomorrow night, when the old rivals, De Laval and Raybestos will meet in a battle for the city championship. The two teams include in their line up many of this year's intermediate and junior players, and on paper they look to be very evenly matched.

There is enough rivalry between the two teams to ensure a fight from start to finish and the game, likely the last local fixture of the season, should be well worth seeing. The Hobberlin Cup won last night by St. Peter's, will be presented to the winners between periods at to-morrow night's game, while the presentation of the senior trophy will be made immediately after the game.

ST. PETER'S WINS HOBBERLIN CUP

Emblematic of Junior Hockey Championship of City.

SENIORS TO PLAY.

Last night, when St. Peter's Hockey crew defeated St. John's, they not only carried off the Junior City Hockey Championship, but they also retained the Hobberlin Cup which is donted by the Hobberlin Clothing Company for competition in this city. This is the second time in succession that St. Peter's have won the Hobberlin Trophy, and another win next year will give them the ownership of the cup.

Tomorrow night De Laval and Raybestos Seniors meet in a sudden death game for the Senior city trophy. This game will also be played on Brock Street Rink.

SOFTBALL LEAGUE MEETS NEXT WEEK

Plans For 1927 To Be Discussed and Officers Elected.

On Monday, March 21, the annual meeting of the Softball Association will be held. Last year was the most successful year that the association has ever had, and it is expected that a large attendance will be present at the meeting. All those who are interested in softball are asked to attend, also the teams which will compete in the 1927 season are asked to send a representative. It will be for the election of officers and the transaction of important business.

Penniless War Veteran Falls Heir To Rich Legacy

FORT WILLIAM, March 10.— After eight years of hand-to-mouth existence, Roy Gilmour, a returned soldier, out of work, in ill health, with few friends and less money, suddenly finds himself to-day heir to $100,000, bequeathed to him by a rich uncle who died recently in the Argentime worth $360,000. Gilmour was in the Black Watch during the war, was wounded four times and taken prisoner.

NOTICE OF REGISTRATION OF BY-LAW.

Notice is hereby given that a by-law was passed by the Council of the Corporation of the City of Peterborough on the 7th day of March, 1927, providing for the issues of debentures to the amount of $6,000.00, for the purpose of purchasing a Rock Crusher and Road Maintainer, and that such by-law was registered in the registry office of the County of Peterborough on the 9th day of March, 1927. Any motion to quash or set aside the same or any part thereof must be made within three months after the first publication of this notice, and cannot be made thereafter.

Dated the 9th day of March, 1927.

WATCH THE KIDNEYS

Fatigue and that tired feeling is the result of poison in the blood. When the kidneys fail to remove this poison from the system it leads to backache, rheumatic pains and sometimes to that fatal ailment known as Bright's disease. When this condition exists, don't delay, go to your druggist and get a box of Dr. Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills and they will quickly correct the cause of your trouble.

Mr. Arthur Pinch of Smith Township states that Dr. Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills give him more speedy relief than any other preparation that he had tried.

KNOX CHOIR.

Knox church choir will meet for practice to-night at 7.15 instead of 8.00, owing to the production of the play, "Our Mother," in the Assembly Hall. Music for Easter services will be rehearsed.

LEADERS HAVE NO COMMENT YET ON LIQUOR BILL

Will Have Something To Say in Debate on Second Reading.

MANY TO SPEAK.

Organization Will Be Taken Up By Board When Bill Passes.

TORONTO, March 10 (Canadian Press).—The leaders of the opposition groups in the Ontario Legislature had no comment to make today on the liquor legislation which was introduced last evening by Premier Howard Ferguson but promised that they would have plenty to say after the bill comes up for second reading in the Legislature on Tuesday next.

W. E. Raney, Progressive leader, stated that he preferred not to give any opinion on the bill at the present time, while W. E. N. Sinclair, Liberal leader, said he could not make any comment as he had not had time to read its many provisions.

The real fight on the bill will be reached when it enters the committee stage and it is understood that the great majority of the members of the House will speak on the measure.

When the bill has passed third reading in the House and is given royal assent, the Liquor Control Board will proceed with its organization. Power to secure sites for stores and warehouses will rest with the Board and will not be a matter of Government programme. To a large extent the existing plant in Toronto will be utilized under the new law and the headquarters of the Board will very probably be in the main dispensary and warehouse here.

Premiers Ferguson stated this morning that the salaries of the Commission had not yet been discussed. The salaries, he added, would be fixed by order in council.

BRITAIN REDUCES NAVY ESTIMATES

Will Spend Hundred Thousand Pounds Less.

LONDON, March 10 (Canadian Press).—Great Britain's navy estimates for 1927, announced to-day, call for an expenditure of fifty-eight million pounds. This is a decrease of one hundred thousand pounds as compared with last year. The estimates provide for a personnel of 102,275, a decrease of four hundred.

During this year, two new battleships, replacing the four scrapped in accordance with the Washington agreement, will join the Atlantic fleet. They are the "Nelson" and the "Rodney."

GIRLS ENTERTAIN CHAMPION TEAM

Prince of Wales Boys Are Guests at Luncheon at School.

The members of the Prince of Wales hockey team were entertained at a luncheon yesterday afternoon by the girls of the Entrance classes in honor of their winning the Public School Hockey League championship and trophy. Other guests were Principal G. S. Mattice, Vice-Principal F. E. Kerr, who trained the team, and the boys of the Entrance classes.

A very pleasant hour was spent in partaking of the dainties provided and so well served by the girls and some of the lady teachers.

At the close a hearty vote of thanks was tendered the hostesses on behalf of the team and the other guests.

LITTLE GIRL HURT BY AUTOMOBILE

Teresa Mulvihill, 6, Knocked Down and Slightly Injured.

Teresa Mulvihill, aged six, daughter of J. Patrick Mulvihill, of 301 Maitland avenue, was knocked down by a car at noon to-day, and her head was slightly injured.

A car from the country was proceeding east along Charlotte street, when the little girl ran out in front of it, at the corner of Maitland avenue. The little tot was in front of the car before the driver noticed her. He immediately applied the brakes but on the slippery street the car skidded in the ruts, and struck the girl down, but did not run over her. Dr. Eastwood was called to the scene of the accident and on examination he found the injuries were not serious.

The quota of the United States National Guard calls for 174,560 men.

OBITUARY.

SAMUEL SOLMES.

The death occurred last evening of Samuel Solmes, aged 72, of 168 Antrim street. Mr. Solmes moved to this city two weeks ago from Bancroft. He leaves to mourn his loss one brother, five sons and one daughter.

The funeral will be held to-morrow at 2.00 p.m from the family residence, 168 Antrim street, with interment taking place in Little Lake cemetery, the Rev. R. K. Mills officiating.

ROBERT THORNTON.

One of the best known retail merchants of the Norwood district of St. Boniface, Man., Robert Thornton, aged 70 years, died on Saturday at the family residence, 233 Eugenie Street. Mr. Thornton had been engaged in the hardware and tinsmithing business for the past 22 years in the district, and was highly esteemed, being a member of Norwood United Church and of Court Norwood, Canadian Order of Foresters. Mr. Thornton was born in Peterboro, Ont. He is survived by a widow and one son, Gordon, barrister, Winnipeg, and two daughters, Mrs. E. W. Wood and Miss Ethel Thornton of Norwood. The funeral was held at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon from Gardiner's funeral home, burial taking place in Elmwood Cemetery. Rev. J. E. Ramsden conducted the service. — Winnipeg Free Press.

French Thoroughbred Gets Cod Liver Oil and Milk

LINCOLN, Eng., March 10.—(Canadian Press).—Cod liver oil and milk are included in the diet of the French horse Asterus upon which the French trainers have pinned their faith for winning the Lincolnshire handicap on March 23. He also gets a little powdered sugar now and then as dessert. Several specially selected cows supply the milk and cream for this thoroughbred, which is treated like a spoiled boy.

LADIES ALWAYS FIRST

In Court As Well As Elsewhere Men Come Second.

It is being told around town that a newly elected officer of the law, in a small community not so very far distant from here, rather "got off on the wrong foot" as it were, when he was about to try his first case.

Although this new arbiter of justice is somewhat "short" on education, he doubtless is "long" on chivalry, as the story makes its appear.

When the Court was called to order, the new justice instructed the clerk to read the docket, so that he might call the first case. The clerk drolled out:

"John Jones, alias Davis, Miller, Brown, Carter——"

"Hold on!" said the new magistrate. "Wait a minute! We can't try 'em all at once. Ladies always first. Call that Alice Davis case and let the rest of 'em wait. Where is she?"

Of course it was partly the clerk's fault for mispronouncing the word "alias." Both of these dignitaries should have a copy of the New Universities Dictionary, which is being offered to readers. The dictionary coupon printed elsewhere in this issue explains the plan.

". . . . The cast as a whole sang well and acted well, although no one sang brilliantly except Jeanne Dusseau as the 'Young Shepherd,' whose lovely voice was the first which Tanhauser heard at the end of the first act. . . . Miss Dusseau made his return to earth a most pleasing affair for the audience."—"New York World."

". . . . She showed herself a marvelous 'Marguerite.' Her delicately polished and powerful voice, combined with a grace and elegance of pose, made her from the very start the favorite of the audience who greeted her work with uproarious applause."—"Italian Press."
